

Get Rich Schemes

Direct mail solicitations for get-rich-quick schemes and easy money ploys continue to exist. See Page 7.

Partly Cloudy

Partly cloudy today high in the low to mid-70s. Clear tonight, low in the upper 40s.

5 DIGIT 66612
164 5/1/87  8
Kansas State Historical Soc
Topeka, KS 66612

jht
K-State javelin thrower Doug Brown leads the team in distance and is ranked third in the Big Eight Conference. See Page 9.

Kansas State

Collegian

Thursday
April 16, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 137

Will castigates U.S. leaders, society

Columnist stresses tax necessity

By CHAD L. SANBORN
Staff Writer

In a critical and sometimes humorous address, columnist George Will said politicians and the public are ignoring the need for taxation. Will delivered the 74th Landon Lecture on Public Affairs to about 1,200 people in McCain Auditorium Tuesday.

Will criticized both Democrats and Republicans for their "inability to propose policies proportionate to means, or means commensurate with policies."

"The public is not being brought face-to-face with the price of its needs and appetites," he said. "The cost of that bill will come due, down the road, if the price is not paid responsibly. The political class has not been telling the public the truth."

He accused the Democratic Party of seeking programs that enhance equality of condition, while being unprepared to ask the country to pay for them.

Will also had harsh words for the Republican Party.

"Republicans have come to think that the world is their oyster and the promise of low taxes is their oyster fork."

The conservative administration of the 1980s "has been cheerily telling the country that it need not pay for all the government it is getting," he said.

Furthermore, Will criticized the public for its one-sidedness concerning taxation.

"Everybody is clamoring for services, but no one is clamoring to pay for them. That leads to a deficit."

Will sees taxes as the blood that makes the body politic live and stressed that the U.S. Constitution confers the right to pay taxes.

In keeping with spreading the blame for lack of taxation, Will also said the lobbyists' bending of public power to private interests is also responsible for the lack of taxation.

"If you want to know how the government works, forget about the Constitution and...pick up a Washington (D.C.) phone book."

Due to America's neglect to pay for what it uses, Will said, the old political axiom of "tax, tax; spend, spend; elect, elect" has changed to "borrow, borrow; spend, spend; elect, elect."

Will said he believes it is the nature of governments to grow. The concept of government shrinkage goes against the natural instincts of politics.

However, the central argument of today, Will said, is how to make the welfare state compatible with the rate of economic growth necessary to finance it.

Will contended that conservatives, who believe the welfare state is not permanent and will dwindle, are ignoring the demographics of society. He cited the elderly as an example.

By the year 2000, the age

Staff photos/Steve Wolgast

President Jon Wefald meets Wednesday with Pulitzer-prize winning political columnist George Will in his office before Will delivered the 74th Landon Lecture. Will said Americans are ignoring the need for taxation.

demographics of the United States will correspond to that of Florida today — the retirement location of many elderly Americans.

"It is idle to say the demographics of the welfare state are not going to grow," he said.

Will had both good and bad things to say about President Ronald Reagan's approach to welfare state issues.

In regard to Reagan's proposal that federal health insurance cover catastrophic illness, Will called Reagan a "New Deal Conservative" who is reconciled to modern government's steady impulse to build a social insurance state.

"(Reagan's) legacy will include one of the most important post-New Deal enrichments of the welfare state," Will said.

However, he was critical of Reagan's continuing practice of financing the expanding government with tax cuts.

"What you put into his head, you may never get out."

However, government expansion should be directed toward striving for equality, Will said. For this, there are two categories of action the government must take.

George Will

The first category includes actions pertaining to equality of condition. As an example, Will cited a government's responsibility to ensure clean air for the public.

However, he said, that does not mean all air in all areas of the country is to be equally clean.

"City air is going to contain more impurities than air elsewhere, and people who choose to live in cities choose that cost of their choice," he said.

The second category includes actions that, rather than establishing equality of freedom, equip people for the adventure of freedom. As an example, Will cited education, primarily the Morrill Act of 1862 that established the land-grant college system and gave rise to K-State.

Will concluded the lecture by calling for Americans to be less afraid of taxes.

"The equality we should tax ourselves to, that (which) government can provide, is equality in the capacity for striving."

"Americans need the equality to choose their own individual inequalities. It is for that that we pay taxes. It is for that that we should be thankful for the privilege of paying them," he said.

The lecture series was set up in honor of former Kansas governor and 1936 presidential candidate Alfred M. Landon of Topeka. The next Landon Lecture is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in McCain and will feature Nobel Prize-winning economist Franco Modigliani.

Hayden signs drinking bill

From Staff and Wire Reports

Beginning July 1, Kansans in 36 counties may find reciprocal club memberships to be a thing of the past.

A multi-faceted bill which legalizes the sale of liquor by the drink at public restaurants and overhauls a variety of Kansas liquor laws was enacted Wednesday by Gov. Mike Hayden.

Hayden signed the bill into law at a ceremony in Overland Park, calling it landmark legislation which makes "historic changes" in state liquor policies.

The new law takes effect next week upon publication in the Kansas Register. However, the actual start of public drinking will be delayed until licenses for the new drinking establishments are issued July 1.

Upon receiving a license, any bar or restaurant which derives 30 percent of its profits from the sale of food will be able to serve liquor to customers on a per-drink basis. The establishments also could sell 3.2 percent beer on Sundays.

The law is a response to overwhelming voter approval last November of an amendment to the Kansas Constitution which lifted the ban on open saloons.

"I commend the Kansas Legislature for its hard work and dedication in responding to the voters' wishes by sending me this enabling legislation," Hayden said in prepared remarks. "One of the main goals I set for this session of the Legislature was passage of legislation enacting the three constitutional amendments for liquor by the drink, pari-mutuel wagering and the lottery."

Manhattan retailers have mixed plans and opinions concerning the liquor bill passage.

"It shouldn't affect us too much," said Kelly Sincox, manager of Kennedy's Claim, 2304 Stagg Hill Road. "We're probably planning on going open saloon, but it depends on what the law reads."

By open saloon, Sincox said the establishment would open its doors to the public.

"We'll get rid of the private club system," he said.

The Cotton Club, 418 Poyntz Ave., will also be abolishing the membership system, said manager Bob Limbocker.

"We'll do away with the memberships," Limbocker said. "The general public can come in to dine and drink."

Limbocker said he assumed the plan would be instituted July 1, but said he would have to wait until he got the information from the Legislature.

Like Hayden, Limbocker commended legislators for passing what he called a "long-awaited" bill.

"It's good for Manhattan, and it's

See LIQUOR, Page 12

Police admit error in handling suicide

From Staff and Wire Reports

The Riley County Police Department failed to respond to the emergency call made early Saturday morning at 2000 College Heights Road where Stephen Lohmeyer, freshman in pre-medicine, was found dead Saturday morning of an apparent suicide.

Natalie Darfler, senior in computer science and information systems, said she called 911 Friday night because she saw Lohmeyer passed out in the front seat of his running car across from her apartment.

Martin Wesemann, 1986 graduate in mechanical engineering, was with Darfler and said Lohmeyer was moving and appeared semi-conscious.

Les Bieler, assistant director of the RCPD, said the call was received at 12:05 a.m. Saturday, but there was an error on the part of the dispatchers and an officer was never informed.

"One dispatcher took the call and passed it to the person operating the radio," he said.

"The officer closest to the vicinity became involved in an arrest situation in Aggieville, so the dispatcher waited," Bieler said.

"The nature of the call did not indicate an emergency, just a young male passed out in the front seat of a running car. That is not an unusual event on a Saturday night in Manhattan," Bieler said. After the shift change, the new dispatcher thought the call on the blotter had already been responded to, he said.

Bieler said it is debatable whether police could have saved Lohmeyer if they would have responded to the call.

Bieler said police received another call about 10:30 a.m. Saturday from a pedestrian, who reported a horse running into the car.

"From our experience, it shows that he had been dead between 10 and 12 hours," he said. "That would have put the time of death right around the time the (12:05 a.m.) call was made."

Bieler said although he is sorry it happened, the RCPD is not planning on taking disciplinary action on anyone involved.

"We are just going to make sure our procedures are being reviewed to make sure it doesn't happen again," he said.

A garden hose was found running from the exhaust pipe of Lohmeyer's car into the interior. A computer floppy disk marked "Suicide" was found with the body, but police have not released the contents of the computer disk. Lohmeyer died from carbon monoxide poisoning.

Funeral services for Lohmeyer, who was born in Garden City, were held Wednesday at St. Dominic Church in Garden City.

Individual income taxes not expected to rise, Slattery says

By CHRIS DOLL
Staff Writer

The federal budget passed by the House does not include the 40 percent cut in student financial aid President Ronald Reagan requested, but does decrease military and domestic spending and requires an increase in federal revenues, U.S. Rep. Jim Slattery, D-Kan., said at a Wednesday morning news conference.

Slattery, who represents Kansas' 2nd congressional district (including Manhattan) spoke at the Manhattan Public Library as part of a five-day visit to the district.

The budget resolution cuts federal spending by $18 billion — $9 billion each from the military and domestic budgets — and adds $18 billion to the amount the government collects, although Slattery said this would probably not be accomplished through an increase in individuals' taxes.

The House-passed budget meets the requirement of the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings budget-balancing law specifying that $36 billion must be cut from the federal deficit this year.

The congressional budget does not include cuts from student financial aid programs, and the president's request to do so was "roundly rejected in a bipartisan way," Slattery said.

The House is considering legislation to correct some of the problems expected to arise from the changes made last year in the Higher Education Act, he said.

"Some children of farmers and small businessmen are not eligible for aid because their families may lose a significant amount of money, but they still own too much," he said. "We need to look at more than just assets."

Instead of cutting $36 billion from the federal budget, representatives decided to cut $18 billion and raise an additional $18 billion. Slattery said how this money will be raised "is not clear at this point."

"I'm confident there will be no increase in the federal taxes — especially on the individual," he said. "But it depends on the president's leadership and involvement."

Slattery said enough money could be raised by additional "sin taxes" — taxes raised on liquor and tobacco products — as well as increases in fuel taxes and import taxes.

The president has indicated he may support a trade or import fee, but he probably will not accept the cut in defense, Slattery said.

The budget must pass the Senate, where Slattery said he "does not anticipate any major changes." After the budget has been passed by both houses, it must receive approval from the president.

Another issue Slattery discussed was a possible reduction in nuclear arms. Slattery said he is "seriously concerned" about the zero-option nuclear agreement in Europe being discussed by the Soviet Union and the United States.

Zero-option refers to the elimination of all nuclear forces in Western Europe — a plan Slattery said would destroy the nuclear deterrence which is the basis of current U.S. defense policy.

"The situation in Western Europe (if nuclear forces were eliminated) would be an enormous imbalance between NATO nations and Warsaw nations," he said. "For the past 20 years, we have been relying on nuclear deterrence."

To make up the difference, the United States would need to correct the imbalance between U.S. allies and Soviet bloc countries by increasing its conventional weapons in Europe.

On other topics, Slattery said he believes those responsible for the insecurity of the American embassy in Moscow should be punished.

"It's absolutely unthinkable (that

See SLATTERY, Page 12

Briefly

By The Associated Press

REGIONAL

Police uncover Kansas cocaine ring

EDWARDSVILLE — The police chief of this eastern Kansas town says the leaders of a suspected million-dollar cocaine ring were wrong when they thought they could escape police detection in his town of 3,500.

"They said they chose our city because it was away from large cities with big vice squads," Police Chief Dennis Robertson said Tuesday. "I think they thought we were a bunch of bumpkins from Hootersville. We're a little bit backward, but we're not altogether stupid."

Police from Edwardsville and Kansas City, Kan., April 8 raided an Edwardsville house and arrested three men, seizing more than $1 million in cocaine, submachine guns and nearly $40,000.

Authorities called it the biggest drug bust in the Kansas City metropolitan area in years.

Bernie E. Stuteville, 24, and Salvatore Guerricagotia, 25, were charged Tuesday with possessing cocaine. Stuteville and Richard Fisher, 22, were also charged Tuesday with possessing a firearm. Stuteville and Guerricagotia were being held Wednesday in the Wyandotte County Jail, while Fisher was free on bond, prosecutors said.

After a Kansas City, Kan., man said his 17-year-old runaway daughter was at the house, police knocked on the door and a woman invited them in, Robertson said.

"In plain sight, we saw a Uzi (submachine gun) and white powder," Robertson said.

Officers later found a safe containing about three pounds of pure cocaine, cash and gold jewelry, and two personal computers and pagers, thought to have been used in the business.

Dole to campaign on deficit issue

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan. on a campaign swing through Missouri Wednesday to boost his presidential aspirations, said the deficit will be the top issue of the 1988 campaign.

Dole says a lot of people "go to sleep" when he talks about the deficit, "but it's still very important to talk about the future of the country."

Dole, on a nine-state campaign tour, was scheduled to stop in St. Louis later Wednesday, before going to Chicago.

He met with southwest Missouri business and political leaders at noon in Springfield, and told them he thinks the race for the Republican nomination is "wide open."

He called Missouri a key state in the campaign.

"There's a lot of reasons that I hope I might do well in Missouri," Dole said.

Attorney to pay malpractice fine

PRATT — The Pratt County attorney has been ordered to pay $256,000 in connection with a legal malpractice case involving an estate he handled before becoming the county attorney.

Judge Steven Flood issued the judgment Tuesday in Pratt County District Court on a suit filed in March 1985 by the sons of the late Helen M. Kerich.

Phil Lunt, the county attorney since 1985, could not be reached for comment. He was reported to be handling a bankruptcy case in Wichita Wednesday morning and did not return a call from The Associated Press Wednesday afternoon.

Flood also awarded Kerich's estate and sons a judgment of $5,410 against Douglas McEntarfer, a Pratt accountant who was a codefendant in the case.

"It's unfair and unjust. A lot of things were proven in the trial that the judge disregarded," McEntarfer said.

NATIONAL

Jury clears Amy Carter of charges

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. — A jury found Amy Carter, Abbie Hoffman and 13 other protesters innocent Wednesday of charges stemming from a demonstration last fall against CIA recruiters at the University of Massachusetts.

The six-member jury announced the verdict to a courtroom packed with 130 spectators about three hours after they began deliberations. Hampshire County District Court Judge Richard Cannon cleared the chamber after the reading of the first verdict was greeted with thunderous applause.

"The people of Northampton, a jury of six in Northampton, have found the CIA guilty of a larger crime than trespassing and disorderly conduct and decided we had a legitimate right to protest that," the daughter of former President Jimmy Carter said as she left the courthouse.

"I don't know what is in the future, but I am sure I am going to be involved in this sort of thing for the rest of my life," she added.

Jobless skeptical of Hart's promises

HOMESTEAD, Pa. — The Rainbow Kitchen, a Depression-style eatery for the jobless, has become a magnet for politicians, and so has the idle steel plant beside it.

But when Gary Hart took a turn Wednesday serving up compassion for down-and-out steelworkers, he encountered skepticism from people who have heard promises again and again.

"Since 1980, there have been three presidential candidates through Homestead and dozens of congressional candidates," said Michael Stoudt, a grievance officer at United Steelworkers Local 1397, who confronted the Democratic presidential candidate outside the gate of the shuttered U.S. Steel Homestead Works.

"We're just as unemployed. We're just as broke. We're just as bankrupt," Stoudt said. "Are you going to do anything?"

Hart, standing in the rain on a plywood plank supported by concrete blocks, said, "I'm not going to make promises like everybody else. If I get elected in 1988, you're going to see the steel mills of this country come back up."

Joseph Michel, 75, of nearby West Mifflin, wasn't buying it.

"He can't do it. The mills are never coming back," said Michel. "It's just a political strategy to get the people interested. It's not going to happen. It can't happen. It's impossible."

Blacks demand speech cancellation

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — A black student group at the University of Michigan wants the school to cancel CBS News reporter Mike Wallace's scheduled spring commencement speech because of comments he made six years ago.

The United Coalition Against Racism, an umbrella organization of black and white campus groups, on Tuesday said Wallace is "an unacceptable commencement speaker."

Wallace, a 1939 Michigan graduate, called the students' request "absolute foolishness" and said he had apologized at the time.

The journalist made the controversial remark in 1981 when "60 Minutes" was preparing a documentary accusing a savings and loan association of tricking poor people into signing their homes as collateral to borrow money for air conditioners, the Detroit Free Press said.

One of the victims was black, and another was Hispanic.

During a break in the interview, a savings and loan official admitted the contracts were difficult to read.

Unaware that the savings company's film crew was still taping, Wallace said, "You bet...they're hard to read if you're reading them over the watermelon or the tacos."

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT in Holtz Hall has many services available to students, including career counseling; letter, data sheet and resume preparation advisement; and others.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT students who will be completing requirements for their degrees in the spring or summer to report employment or other plans if firm, or solicit help in Holtz Hall if seeking employment.

COORDINATED UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM IN DIETETICS applications are available in Justin 107 and are due May 1.

TODAY

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF BLACK ENGINEERS meets at 6 p.m. in Durland 161.

I/O PSYCHOLOGY CLUB meets at 7:30 p.m. in Blumont 5102. Jeff Blair, personnel director for Jackson County Circuit Court, will be the guest speaker.

ECKANKAR CAMPUS SOCIETY meets at 7:30 p.m. in Union 203.

EATING DISORDERS GROUP THERAPY meets at 7:30 p.m. in Lafene Student Health Center basement.

A CELEBRATION OF EASTER will be at 12:30 p.m. in All Faiths Chapel.

OMICRON NU meets at 7 p.m. in Justin 150.

ICTHUS CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP meets at 8 p.m. in Union Little Theatre.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CIVIL ENGINEERS meets at 7:40 p.m. in Throckmorton 132.

FRIDAY

STUDENT GOVERNING ASSOCIATION applications are available for the position of Elections Committee Chairperson in SGS office and are due by 5 p.m.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Linda J. Edwards at 4 p.m. in Blumont 368. The dissertation topic is "A Study of the Relationship of Parent Involvement, School Climate, and Student Achievement."

Groups to seek funds during Senate meeting

By The Collegian Staff

Student Senate will continue tentative allocations of student fees at 6 tonight in the Union Big Eight Room.

Organizations requesting funds this evening are Students Against Driving Drunk, U-Learn and the Coalition for Human Rights.

SADD is asking for $1,428 for the 1987-88 term. Senate Finance Committee is recommending, however, that the group receive $197.30. The majority of the discrepancy results from SADD's request for $1,184 in advertising funds.

U-Learn has requested $16,009.99 for 1987-88, up from the $12,123.40 it received last year. Finance Committee is recommending U-Learn receive $12,934.39.

The Finance Committee approved the Coalition for Human Rights' request for $409.30 for 1987-88.

In other business, Senate will address a bill calling for a uniform policy for student fee changes. The bill originally came before Senate on April 2 but was postponed so Senate Operations Committee and Student Affairs and Social Services Committee could do further evaluation.

Ford Motor Co. & Long McArthur Inc.
ANNOUNCE
The College Graduate Purchase Program

$400 CASH REBATE
SPECIAL FINANCING PLAN

Eligible to anyone graduating between October 1, 1986 and September 30, 1987 from an accredited 4 year college with a bachelor degree.

CALL FOR MORE INFORMATION
823-2237

LONG-McARTHUR INC.

340 N. Santa Fe Salina, Kansas

45 Years Serving America's Children

Support the
March of Dimes
BIRTH DEFECTS FOUNDATION

Dark Horse Saloon

Yes, we do play rock!

The Houserockers

$1.75 Wells
$2.50 Pitchers

BONKERS

TONITE
ALL DRINKS
$1.50

1216 Laramie
537-9591

THURSDAY

DOG GONE GOOD DEALS

- $1.50 Mixed Drinks (Any Brand)
- Juicy Burgers and Crispy Curly Q's until Midnight.

RIP & MO'S
agieville's rock-n-roll bar

Sub8 Staff Sandwich Shop

We Deliver!
537-DELI

B.B.A.M.B. burgers
burgers
and more
burgers

Free Munchies 5-7:00!

THURS.

$1.25
BURGERS
AND FRIES
5-9

PLUS $1.50
PREMIUM POUR
MIXED DRINKS!

MIKTES
BAR AND GRILLE

Auntie Mae's Parlor

AGGIEVILLE

THURSDAY
$2
Pitchers
$1 Drinks
50¢
Draws

616 N. 12th 539-9967

ROCKY FORD TAVERN

Old Milwaukee Light
Night
$1.75 Pitchers
Old Milwaukee Light
and Pickled Eggs
It Just Doesn't Get
Any Better Than This!

No dress code, no cover charge, where it just doesn't make any difference!

Go North on Tuttle Creek Blvd. then on the back road to the Rocks

Rt. 5 The Finest Little Tavern by a Dam Site! 537-3133

Bobby J's

Restaurant and Fundrinkery

3240 Kimball
Candlewood Shopping Center
539-1571

Ladies Night
50¢ Tacos
$1.50
Margaritas,
Wines,
Wine Coolers
&
Fruit Drinks

Playing the hits that made Rock 'n' Roll what it is today!

Brother's KSU
IN AGGIEVILLE USA

TONITE
ΠΒΦ & ΠΚΦ
Pole Sit Charity
After Party

$2.25 Pitchers
75¢ Draws

No Cover Charge

ATTENTION

Where Can You Get:

- 2 weeks of total fitness?
- Free tanning sessions?
- $2.50 Pitchers?
- $1.75 Well Drinks
- All ladies in FREE 7-9 p.m.?
- Drinks in Aggieville's largest beer garden?
- The Classic Rock sounds of

THE HOUSEROCKERS?

Office 776-6638 Bar 539-9081

619 N. Manhattan Ave.

DARK HORSE SALOON

Open 24 Hours
776-7874

BUSCH

The Kappa Sigma—Busch Beer

Benefit Softball Tournament

April 25-26

Entry fee: $70 and 2 Blue Dot Balls

Contact Phil Ham at 539-9023 by April 17

Entry forms available at the Kappa Sigma House, 1930 College Heights

Proceeds go to Big Brothers: Big Sisters of Manhattan

Superpowers close to arms accord

Shultz optimistic about agreement

Gorbachev's offer seen as positive

By The Associated Press

BRUSSELS, Belgium — Secretary of State George P. Shultz expressed optimism in Moscow on Wednesday about reaching an accord on eliminating medium-range nuclear missiles from Europe and flew to Brussels to consult with NATO allies.

"We will consult, and I am sure, come to a good conclusion," Shultz said before leaving Moscow, where he held three days of meetings with Soviet officials, including Kremlin leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev, who made new arms proposals.

A senior official in the Shultz delegation told reporters here at a midnight briefing, "We are very close to a deal. It all depends on how the discussions come out (today) and afterward." The official spoke on condition of anonymity.

In Moscow, Shultz said Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze told him the Soviets would eliminate their shorter-range missiles in the Soviet Union within a year, apparently meaning within a year after Senate ratification of a proposed treaty to rid Europe of hundreds of U.S. and Soviet medium-range missiles.

The Soviets have about 80 shorter-range missiles on their territory.

In addition, they have about 50 shorter-range launchers — with a range of 350 to 600 miles — in East Germany and Czechoslovakia. Those weapons would be scrapped on the signing of the proposed treaty on medium-range missiles, which have a range of 600-3,000 miles.

Gorbachev made the proposals during a 4½-hour meeting Tuesday with Shultz in the Kremlin. They could remove a major obstacle to a treaty on medium-range missiles.

"Very considerable headway had been made, and it should be possible to work out an agreement in this field (medium-range missiles) with hard work and creative effort," Shultz said in a Moscow news conference.

"I think we made quite a lot of progress and perhaps we can see prospects, with hard negotiations ahead, but prospects close at hand of reaching agreement in that area," Shultz said of the outlook on medium-range weapons.

'Very considerable headway had been made, and it should be possible to work out an agreement....'

— George Shultz

But in a meeting with a visiting U.S. congressional delegation headed by House Speaker Jim Wright, Gorbachev complained that he felt "frustrated" because there was no immediate U.S. acceptance of his proposals.

Edward Rowny, senior arms control adviser to President Reagan, headed for China and Japan to brief their governments. Thomas Simons Jr., a Soviet affairs expert in the State Department, went to Eastern Europe for meetings in Soviet bloc nations.

Tass said the Foreign Ministry summoned ambassadors from Moscow's East European allies for a briefing, but the agency gave few details. Shultz and Shevardnadze met for several hours Wednesday afternoon before the news conference, and the Soviet official said later that chances for a Washington summit were "rather good."

Shevardnadze added, however, that the two sides must "tuck up our sleeves and work."

In a similar assessment, Shultz said: "It's fair to say that we and the Soviets have similar views that such a meeting ought to be associated with important content and has to be a well-prepared meeting."

Gorbachev's offer to combine constraints on short-range missiles with eliminating medium-range rockets appeared to address Western demands that the two issues be dealt with in a single agreement.

According to Shultz, the Soviet leader's proposal sticks to the formula of last October's Reagan-Gorbachev summit in Iceland by allowing the Soviet Union 100 medium-range warheads in Soviet Asia and the United States 100 on its territory.

He said the Soviets would be willing to include elimination of their shorter-range missiles deployed in Czechoslovakia and East Germany.

The United States has no weapons comparable to the Soviet SS-12 and SS-23. The Western alliance has demanded they be considered in any agreement eliminating medium-range missiles.

U.S. allies in Europe generally are reluctant to see all nuclear missiles removed, fearing the superior Soviet strength in conventional forces that would remain.

Shultz said the goal of the negotiations on the shorter-range missiles would be to eliminate them completely within a year.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The offer by Kremlin leader Mikhail Gorbachev to remove short-range nuclear missiles from Czechoslovakia and East Germany could be a significant step toward an arms control deal and superpower summit, although U.S. and Soviet officials say some obstacles remain.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz carried the offer with him to NATO headquarters in Brussels to ask whether it met West European concerns that removing U.S. medium-range nuclear missiles could leave the region vulnerable to stronger Warsaw Pact conventional forces.

Settling the issue would end a rancorous eight-year chapter in the history of relations between NATO and the Soviet Union, and between America and its NATO allies, and could set the stage for agreements on strategic weapons by the end of the Reagan administration.

The progress on intermediate nuclear force, or INF, confirmed recent signals that Gorbachev and President Reagan are eager for an accord, for their own political reasons, and that arms control issues are important enough to override other bilateral disputes, such as recent accusations of Soviet spying on U.S. diplomats.

Gorbachev this week reiterated his opposition to visiting the United States, as agreed at the Geneva summit in November 1985, unless he can sign an arms deal.

And Reagan, battered by the Iran-Contra affair, appears eager to reach the first arms control agreement of his presidency.

After three days of talks in Moscow with Gorbachev and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze, Shultz said an agreement was "close at hand" in on-again off-again INF talks.

The breakthrough was Gorbachev's promise to enter negotiations aimed at eliminating, within a year, shorter-range Soviet missiles, SS-12s, SS-22s and SS-23s.

The United States has no comparable weapons, and the Western alliance has demanded they be part of an INF deal. The Soviet Union previously insisted they be considered separately. And the Kremlin previously balked at Washington's demand that it be allowed the right, as part of an INF agreement, to match the Soviet shorter-range missiles.

The stalemate over medium-range missiles dates to the NATO decision in 1979 to confront the Kremlin over the deployment of Soviet triple-warhead SS-20 missiles, weapons with a range of 3,000 miles, capable of hitting Western Europe.

In a "two-track decision" NATO agreed to deploy 572 U.S. cruise and Pershing 2 missiles in Western Europe while seeking negotiated withdrawal of the SS-20s.

In November 1981, President Reagan offered the "zero solution," whereby the United States would not deploy its missiles if the Soviets dismantled their SS-20s.

The Kremlin refused, and the U.S. missile deployment went forward, prompting massive street protests in Western Europe, straining the NATO alliance.

At the same time, Moscow buttressed its shorter-range SS-12s with two new missiles, the SS-22 and SS-23, with ranges of 350 to 600 miles, capable of hitting Western Europe from bases in Czechoslovakia and East Germany.

At the superpower summit in Reykjavik last October, Reagan and Gorbachev adopted a variant of the "zero option," agreeing that the Soviet Union would remove all its SS-20s from Europe, but retain 100 warheads in Asia. The United States would keep 100 similar weapons on its own territory.

At Reykjavik, however, Gorbachev insisted that no agreement was possible unless Reagan would restrict research on his "Star Wars" missile defense system to the laboratory.

Last Feb. 28, Gorbachev reversed himself, saying a separate INF deal was possible. After the meeting this week in Moscow, Shultz said the Soviet leader was still seeking curbs on Star Wars, formally known as the Strategic Defense Initiative.

ST. ISIDORE'S CHURCH

711 Denison

Holy Thursday: 8 p.m.

(Celebration of the Lord's Supper & washing of the feet.)

Good Friday:

3 p.m.

Liturgy of the Word (Passion) & intercessory prayers.

7 p.m.

Veneration of the Cross and Communion Service (Stations of the Cross)

Easter Vigil:

9 p.m.-Sat. eve.

(Blessing of new Fire, Light Service, Easter Proclamation and Mass)

Sunday Masses: 9:30 & 11 a.m.

No 5 p.m. Mass

Elkins
BUICK • PONTIAC • NISSAN • GMC

KSU GRADUATES
START LIFE IN THE FAST LANE
WITH A NEW
PONTIAC, BUICK or GMC TRUCK

•Very low down payment needed.
•No payments for 90 days.
Or $400 off with discount coupon.
•If you'll graduate within six months or if you've graduated in the past year, you may qualify. See us for details.

FACTORY REBATES & LOW FINANCING

Elkins 2312 STAGG HILL
(across from Holidome)
MANHATTAN
537-8330 Elkins

UPC

Thursday, April 16, 1987

For more information on any UPC event, call 532-6571

UPC

UPC ISSUES AND IDEAS

PRESENTS A

FORUM ON ABORTION

Tuesday April 28 — 8 p.m.

UNION LITTLE THEATRE

k-state union
upc issues & ideas

Mona Lisa

Bob Hoskins won the Best Actor award at the Cannes Film Festival and recently received an Academy Award nomination for his portrayal of a small-time hood caught up in a web of violence and love. Recently released from prison, Hoskins gets a job chauffeuring a beautiful black prostitute from client to client. As his contempt for her turns to love, he agrees to help her search for her friend, a young prostitute in trouble. Also stars Cathy Tyson and Michael Caine. Rated R

WEDNESDAY 7:30 p.m. Forum Hall & THURSDAY 3:30 p.m. Little Theatre, 7:30 p.m. Forum Hall, KSU I.D. required. $1.75

k-state union
upc kaleidoscope

Too Thick to Drink... Too Thin to Walk on

Graf Brothers

The Graf Brothers are a progressive acoustic duo from Chicago. Recognized as accomplished writers and musicians, critics have compared their style to artists such as Paul Simon, Elvis Costello and Sting.

See the Graf Brothers perform in the Catskeller.
Next Wednesday, April 22nd!!!!

11:30 a.m. Free Admission

k-state union
upc eclectic entertainment

Backpack

THE ADIRONDACKS
IN UPSTATE NEW YORK
MAY 17-24, 1987

Only $39

Trip includes meals on trail, cooking equipment, and road maps.

Sign-up through April 28
8 a.m.-4 p.m.

Activities Center—Union 3rd floor.

k-state union
upc outdoor rec.

Media not attempting to glamorize suicides

Once again, readers have picked up their morning papers to note that another young adult has taken his life. Unfortunately, this time the reality is hitting closer to home. K-State freshman Stephen Lobmeyer apparently committed suicide Friday by poisoning himself with the exhaust from his car.

The trend of teen suicides, unfortunately, has evoked criticism of the press for its coverage, which some say sensationalizes the problem and glamorizes a quick escape from life. The news media has brought an increased amount of publicity recently to the issue but not without weighing the consequences.

The problem of suicide among young adults can't be ignored by the public. It's a sad thing caused by mysterious provocations, and the result has been brought into public light in newsprint. The goal is not to condone it but to say, "Wait a minute, these people are killing themselves. There's something wrong."

Certain teens are sending out cries for help, which, in some cases, are not being heard. Broadcasters and the press have publicized the suicide stories with the intent of providing more appropriate assistance to those who may be sending out a cry.

Action must be taken to help. Attempts at recognizing suicidal tendencies and what can be done to prevent more individuals from seeking the wrong end is a mutual goal of all, including the news media.

Parents, counselors and peers need to be responsive to those who most need moral support in difficult times. Instead of readers turning their heads in the direction of the end — suicide — they should start by looking back and trying to discern what was wrong.

The news media isn't glamorizing these tragedies but begging attention to a serious reality that often begins long before victims take their last breath.

Siding with S. Africa doesn't flatter Reagan

While the Reagan administration sits idly by, the white government of South Africa continues its war against the black majority. This week, another abhorrent violation of human rights was heaped upon its citizens — the revocation of the right to protest the detention of persons under the 10-month-old state of emergency decree.

The new restrictions prohibit signing petitions, sending telegrams and displaying T-shirts or stickers calling for the release of detainees. The decree also bans acts of solidarity with detainees. Groups estimate that more than 30,000 people, 10,000 of them children, have been detained since the state of emergency was put in effect.

South African Prime Minister P.W. Botha is becoming ever defiant toward the idea of black rule in his country. In an interview Sunday, he stated in no uncertain terms that there will never be black majority rule or a black head of state in South Africa.

This is the same person the Reagan administration was claiming would surrender power to the blacks through "constructive engagement."

The irony of this is that Reagan can justify using violent means in Nicaragua to fight much-disputed claims of human rights abuses while siding with the South African government. Perhaps the best example of these Draconian measures is the editor's note accompanying a recent article about South Africa.

It says: "This article was written under South African government censorship rules." Collusion with a government that does this is inexcusable.

Girl's rape claim met with doubt in Wichita

Teachers and officials at a public high school in Wichita are unwilling to recognize there might be a problem in a case where a 16-year-old girl has accused two male 15-year-old classmates of rape.

Instead of investigating the girl's charge, teachers say it is an issue better left alone, and administrators claim since the girl didn't tell them before she told a close friend what happened, it couldn't possibly be true.

Several parents also interviewed said they thought the girl's story was implausible.

It seems the entire school community is unwilling to believe two elements of the girl's story. First, they believe a normal reaction to being raped is screaming. But at least one parent recognizes this is not a reaction defense instructors condone. Police and other officials say victims have a better chance for survival if they remain silent.

The other myth is that if the two individuals know one another the possibility of rape does not exist. The director of the Wichita Area Sexual Assault Center disagrees. She said between 50 percent and 75 percent of rapes are committed by people who know their victims.

The teachers, administrators and community members who base their disbelief of the girl's story on these elements are suffering from a severe case of ignorant judgment and a sad lack of common sense.

The goal: Top Column

Only worst writers invited here

In 1987, due to a lack of serious and responsible editorials coming forth from the writers of collegiate newspapers, a school was formed. The school is a two-week training program designed to teach the young but misguided authors how to be tactful, truthful, meaningful and less full — of it, that is. Its name: Top Column.

John Lett, called Tab by his friends, entered the newsroom cautiously, trying to avoid being seen by any of the regular staff writers. He was three hours late with his column and hoped he could type it into the computer before his editor realized it was missing. As he walked to the row of terminals, Tab noticed a fellow columnist sitting at one of the terminals staring blankly at the sentences on the screen.

"What's wrong Ditto?," Tab asked, more out of curiosity than concern.

Ditto was a nickname arriving from the fact that he had a tendency to write on the same subject repeatedly. Ditto gazed at the screen, clutching a newspaper in his hand. Ditto tried to speak, but couldn't. His hands were unable to push the keys.

Suddenly from around the corner appeared another columnist, the sandy-haired Jeff Bartals. As he stepped next to the pair, Tab asked him about Ditto. Jeff explained that the paper contained a letter to the editor commenting on Ditto's 13th consecutive column on Central America. The person apparently called Ditto a capitalist, a Reagan supporter and a true American. Ditto was crushed.

"Don't even think about it Ditto, they're just trying to tee you off," Tab insisted, trying to cheer him up.

"Is he going to be able to finish his column?," Jeff asked.

"I don't know. It's due today; he'd better hurry."

At that moment the editor stepped into the room. "Tab, where's your column — and what's wrong with him?," the editor said, pointing to Ditto.

Jeff looked closely at Ditto. "We have a little problem here, that critic really screwed him up. I don't think he's going to be able to file his column."

Tab had already taken a seat to type in his article. The editor looked at Tab. "You have a half hour and then we run a white spot with your name on it." The editor stormed out of the room shaking his head.

"Man, what are we going to do about Ditto?," Jeff blurted.

"We're going to have to finish it for him,"

RON HONIG
Collegian
Columnist

Tab stated bravely.

"We don't know anything about Central America, Tab."

"That doesn't matter, neither does Ditto."

Tab and Jeff spent the next 20 minutes finishing the column. Unfortunately, Tab became the proud owner of a personalized scratch-pad on Page 4.

The next day Ditto stepped into his editor's office and delivered the long-awaited message.

"I'm quitting Boss. I've lost it; I can't take the criticism any longer."

"Oh Ditto, you're overreacting. Forget it," the editor reluctantly pleaded.

"No Boss, this time I'm really giving up. I'm going to do the kind of writing I was born to do."

The editor squinted. "Reaganomics?"

"No, greeting cards." Ditto tossed his key to the staff washroom on the desk and left.

At that moment, Tab was passing through to check his mailbox when the editor spotted him wandering aimlessly stroking his mustache and summoned his presence.

"Lett, get your tail in here. Now!"

"What you did yesterday was a very honorable thing," the editor commented.

"What you should have done was finished your column. Face it, that piece you wrote on the Contras was trash. I will admit though, it was better than your article on small towns."

"Thanks, I..." Tab's eyebrows dropped and a confused look invaded his face.

"I can't believe I'm going to do what I'm about to do. I've got to pick my worst columnist and send them to Top Column. Ditto was the worst, you were second. Ditto quit, now you're the worst. Pack your bags, you leave tonight. Oh, one more thing, Tab — if you mess this up you'll be editing underwear ads for the Walmart newsletter."

As Tab left the office he ran into Terri Wilkins, one of the female columnists at the paper. Terri made a name for herself with her sensuous columns on important campus issues.

JERRY ANDERSON
Guest
Columnist

Pornography has become a popular social issue lately and it seems we are constantly being bombarded with demands to "do something" to rid America of this filthy business. The usual exhortation is something like: "Ban it! Keep it out of the stores and away from our children!"

This is an emotional argument and an effective one, since our automatic reaction is to protect the children of America. But there are actually two potential evils lurking here: censorship and pornography. Do we have the right to stop pornography, and even more importantly, do we have reason?

Supreme Court Justices William O. Douglas and Hugo Black state in the historic decision of Ginzberg vs. the United States that the government lacks the constitutional power to "put any type of burden on speech and expressions of ideas of any kind." If we bow to the pressure of the anti-pornography groups, we would be giving up a little bit of our constitutionally guaranteed rights.

If we say "yes, we are going to let this group decide what is right and wrong for us and deny us access to whatever they think is bad," where does it end? Will these people be satisfied to clean up our magazines for us or will they then decide to "help" us in other areas? Already their attention has turned to textbooks and rock 'n' roll. When will they get to popular books, newspapers, radio and television?

Some people argue that these questions of censorship are outweighed by the effects of pornography. So let's look at the effects of pornography in the real world today. In "The Report of the Commission on Obscenity and Pornography" we find five very interesting facts. One, exposure to erotic stimuli has little or no effect on established attitudes toward sexuality or sexual morality.

Two, exposure of young people to erotica has no impact on moral character. Three, in Denmark, the increased availability of explicit sexual materials has been accompanied by a significant decrease in sexual crimes.

Four, in the United States during the period in which there has been a large increase in the availability of erotic materials, the rate of juvenile arrests for sex crimes

"Hey Terri," Lett exclaimed, "I really liked your column on carpet fibers."

"Thanks," she returned.

Top Column began, but for poor John Lett, school was out.

The instructor stood at the front of the class.

"People," the instructor began, "during the early years, college newspaper columnists wrote articles on subjects they had a workable knowledge of or subjects important to the student body. In recent years these columnists have slipped, now writing just to fill the page or work out feelings on a subject they are stuck on."

"We're going to teach you to comment right to the edge of the page, writing with more tact and responsibility than ever before. You'll write two columns a day with classes and spelling tests in between. Do what we say, and we'll make you better than you ever imagined you could be. However, break our rules and you won't be able to get a job writing personalized stationery."

"I've done that," Tab whispered to the girl seated next to him.

The first morning, concentration was given to picking a worthy subject. Tab was called into the instructor's office that afternoon.

"So tell me, Mr. Lett, how many times do you feel you need to mention Mamma or puppies in one column?"

Needless to say Tab learned a valuable lesson that day.

That night, in a restaurant, the students discussed the day's events.

"Hey, I won today. They loved my article on suicide," boasted a dark-haired girl.

"I won too. Got 'em with an article on discrimination," said a young man.

One girl looked at Tab slurping on his Cherry Coke. "I heard things didn't go so well for you Tab," she said quietly.

"No my story on money matters went bankrupt," Tab answered.

"Where's the guy who wrote on Irangate?," a man asked.

"He's gone, they shipped him out this morning," a voice explained.

That night, before Tab fell asleep, he thought about what he had learned and about what he was going to learn. It came to him finally. He realized people don't have to agree with everything he writes. He just gives another side of the story. His only responsibility is to keep the facts straight, be tactful and give his honest opinion. The rest is up to the reader.

Pornography fears unwarranted decreased even though juvenile arrests for non-sexual crimes increased by more than 100 percent. And five, research shows that sex offenders have had less adolescent experience with erotica than older adults — a relative lack of experience is an indicator of atypical and inadequate sexual socialization.

The report of the commission concludes that research "has found no evidence to date that exposure to explicit sexual materials plays a significant role in the causation of criminal or delinquent behavior among youth or adults."

Most arguments for controls on pornography carry the implicit conviction that pornographic materials pose a greater threat to society than other exercises of free speech. It might be wise to remember, however, that this conviction has been shared by every other group that has ever argued in favor of abridging the First Amendment.

It is clear that the government has no right, as well as, no reason to control pornography and that pornography poses no threat to the well being of the children or the adults of America. Before we decide to accept any form of censorship, we should learn from example of our friends to the East. After all, pornography is no problem in Russia.

Jerry Anderson is a senior in computer engineering.

Letters

Successful drive

Editor,

Many thanks to the University faculty, staff and students who cooperated with community volunteers in the recent K-State Bloodmobile drive. There were 1,313 useable units of blood collected. More than 5,000 people will benefit from the generous blood donations given by the K-State/Manhattan community.

Please know that I deeply appreciate every effort and sacrifice you made in order to ensure a successful and productive bloodmobile drive.

Let's do it again in October!
Phyllis M. Hammond
Bloodmobile coordinator

Shady past

Editor,

I would like to thank Scott Miller for his invigorating column in the April 8 Collegian. It was heartwarming to witness my political views being echoed in our own University newspaper. I too must confess that in my shady past I identified with organizations that any true, conformist and bigoted American would deem a radical threat to the security of our vision of Utopia.

Humanitarian groups such as Amnesty International and the Coalition for Human Rights are most probably infested with despicable pinko communists and subversives and therefore can in know way be trusted. I am currently more comfortable in more respectable and honorable groups such as the KKK, the American Nazi party and my dear friend and idol Jerry Falwell.

As far as Miller's opinions on the death penalty, I agree with him wholeheartedly. Of course, it should be supported, as should all other activities that generate violence in the name of social justice. The inevitable logical arguments against it, such as high cost (more expensive than life imprisonment), racism (higher percentage of blacks executed than whites) and silly humanitarian issues (who has the moral prerogative to take away the life of a fellow human being?), should obviously be ignored. So what if people die as a result of this Legislature, just as long as we personally don't have to do the killing?

There isn't much else to say. I think I'll go home, pull out a cold six-pack of Coors and catch some live satellite coverage of good old-fashioned violence in racist South Africa.

Michael A. Nichols
sophomore in political science

Keep status quo

Editor,

I am in sympathy with the plight of the athletic department wanting its athletes to register first because of the demands on their time. On the other hand, there are many students within the University who could make the same argument. In the speech department, for example, our theater students, forensics team and debate team could all argue for receiving special consideration based on the demands on their time.

Perhaps our older students should be given special consideration based on pressing family and job obligations. In short, there could be as compelling a case made for dozens and dozens of various groups of students. Therefore, it is probably fairest to remain with the present system.

I think the Deans' Council erred in establishing this sort of precedent at K-State. I would sincerely hope that the Faculty Senate firmly expresses its opposition and that the Student Senate consider the same action.

Phillip Anderson
temporary instructor,
Department of Speech

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR
Jonie Trued
MANAGING EDITOR
Sue Dawson
NEWS EDITOR
Erin Eicher

EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
Deron Johnson
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson
ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinett

EDITORIAL BOARD: Susan Baird, Kirk Caraway, Sue Dawson, Jim Dietz, Erin Eicher, Judy Goldberg, Ron Honig, Pat Hund, Deron Johnson, Sarah Kessinger, Judy Lundstrom, Margaret May, Scott Miller, Andy Nelson, Patti Paxson, Julie Reynolds, Chris Stewart, Teresa Temme, Jonie Trued. Unsigned editorials represent the majority opinion of the editorial board.

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291-920) is published by Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, daily except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-4555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Governor signs bill for $3 million census

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — Gov. Mike Hayden signed a bill into law Wednesday that calls for a $3.3 million state census to be conducted next year to aid in reapportioning the Kansas Legislature in 1989.

The census, which will be conducted by the secretary of state's office, is part of a plan promoted by Republicans to redraw the boundaries of Kansas' 165 legislative districts twice during the next five years.

Under the plan, the special state census will be used for the 1989 reapportionment while another round of redistricting in 1992 will be based on data from the 1990 federal census.

The Legislature was last reapportioned in 1979 with information from a census conducted by the state Department of Agriculture a year earlier, just before it was abolished.

An amendment voters approved in 1974 called for redistricting in 1979 and every 10 years thereafter. However, a federal court decision in 1983 warned the Legislature it cannot reapportion in 1989 using figures from the 1980 U.S. Census because they would be too old.

The GOP reapportionment plan also calls for amending the Kansas Constitution to allow redistricting in 1992, when the 1990 federal census figures are still fresh, and every 10 years after that. A resolution to submit the proposed constitutional change to voters is stalled on the Senate debate calendar.

Democrats in the Legislature opposed the census bill, saying the task could cost as much as $5 million and might lead redrawing the boundaries of Senate districts twice between the time senators are elected in 1988 and when they come up for election again in 1992.

The measure directs the secretary of state to count Kansas residents where they lived on Jan. 1, 1988 and to certify the census figures by the following Nov. 1.

As was the policy with the old agricultural census, the special census will not count out-of-state students at Kansas colleges and universities and out-of-state residents stationed on military bases. Kansas resident students would be counted in their home towns, not in the communities where they attend school. Supporters of the census bill said the only alternative to the state census was to ask the U.S. Census Bureau for a special headcount of Kansas residents.

Board favors mandatory sex education

Religious, pro-life advocates disagree with measure's goal

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — Lt. Gov. Jack Walker told the Governor's Task Force on AIDS Wednesday he hopes the state could be ready to require an AIDS prevention curriculum in local schools as early as this fall.

"Time is a factor in education and a year's delay may be almost unacceptable," Walker told the organizational meeting of the 16-member task force, which was charged with developing a statewide strategy to combat the AIDS epidemic.

Walker's comments came as religious and right-to-life groups opened fire on a proposal the State Board of Education is considering to require sex education programs in the state's 304 public school districts.

The proposed requirement is aimed at slowing the spread of acquired immune deficiency syndrome and lowering the incidence of teen-age pregnancy.

More than a dozen opponents of mandatory sex education appeared before the board Wednesday to denounce recommendations the board took under consideration this week that call for requiring some form of "comprehensive" sex education in all public schools by September 1988.

The lieutenant governor, who also is serving as the temporary secretary of health and environment, warned members of the task force there may be a price to pay for dealing with the topic of AIDS.

"I think the bottom line is it's going to be a lot of tough work," Walker said. "I think it could be sensitive work and you could come out with some bruises from this."

Walker handed out a list of six areas he and Gov. Mike Hayden want the task force to study. However, he said one of the panel's charges — to develop a state education policy concerning knowledge, prevention and treatment of AIDS — might be the most difficult to address.

Noting that the State Board of Education grappled with the sex education recommendations for more than an hour Tuesday without coming to a conclusion, Walker said the topic has never been an easy one for Kansans.

"Traditionally, Kansas has been less than forward in dealing with this issue in the public schools," Walker said.

Among the other goals Walker set for the task force are:

- A review of all existing state departmental policies on AIDS and formulating a set of uniform guidelines and policies.
- Developing a statement containing factual information about AIDS to combat misinformation.

— Recommending who should be responsible for medical care and ways to pay for it. The panel also should develop ideas for any legislation state lawmakers need to consider in 1988.

— Evaluating the "root causes" of AIDS and a number of other social ills such as teen-age pregnancy, drug and alcohol abuse, child abuse and violence. Walker said Hayden had asked the panel to cover that topic in its final report, due by late October.

Earlier in the day, more than a dozen opponents of sex education denounced plans to require such courses in local schools during a "public forum" segment of the State Board of Education meeting.

"You are being asked to implement a social engineering scheme that is the culmination of years and years of social and political planning with the goal of changing the sexual values and behavior of parents and children," Helen M. DeWitt, of Hays, a spokeswoman for Right to Life of Kansas, told the board.

DeWitt told reporters later she believes AIDS is a "smoke screen" to bring sex education into the public schools.

However, about five people told the board they support sex education as the only means of curbing the spread of AIDS, which has no cure.

Carolyn Schmitt, president of the Kansas-National Education Association, told the board it should require that local school districts provide "comprehensive, developmentally appropriate" human sexuality programs that include information on birth control, sexually transmitted diseases, and problems from preteen and teen-age pregnancies.

The board is scheduled to act on an eight-point proposal concerning sex education in May, when members also are to take up a proposed change in the board's current sex education guidelines to delete language discouraging instruction on specific birth control methods.

TODAY
$DAZES
coming May 2nd
4th Annual Wet T-Shirt Contest

1800 Claffin • 539-9619

FORGET SOMETHING?

New yearbooks
will arrive soon
(May 4-6)

We need to clear space
for the 1987 yearbook!

These are just a few of the people who still haven't picked up their 1986 Royal Purple Yearbooks:

Patrick Odonnell
Brad Ogden
Constance Ogle
Elizabeth Olson
John Olson
Todd Olson
John Opat
Sixto Ortiz
Gena Osterberg
Clinton Oyler

Kelly Pacha
Maritene Pactiece
Gregory Palmer
Nancy Palmer
Aileen Parkinson
Susan Parrott
Thomas Patterson
Warren Paul
Dawn Paulsen
David Payne

Jenifer Pence
Bob Pender
Leigh Perry
Tamra Perry
Craig Peter
Karna Peterson
Paula Peterson
Lisa Pfannenstiel
Lori Pflughoff
James Phalen

Rex Philbrook
James Phillips
Kathy Phillips
Laura Phillips
Mark Porter
Carlos Powell
Jacqueli Pravecek
Jay Prawl
Jeffery Prose
Barry Queen

Lori Radke
Jessica Ramsey
Susan Ramsey
Jeffery Rapp
Joanne Rauth
Bryan Rebel
Mike Reed
Stacia Reed
Mark Regenhart
Cary Renfro

Chong Rexford
Merle Rhoads
Russ Rhodes
Blaine Rice
Kevin Rice
Rebecca Rich
Jerry Ricke
Melinda Rickert
Michael Rinella

Bring your KSU ID to Kedzie 103 M-F 8-5 p.m.

It's as easy as renting a Ryder truck, one way.

Compare costs before you make plans for moving at the end of the semester.

EXPIRES
9-30-87

$10 OFF any local move

NEIGHBORHOOD DEALERS

•2707 Anderson
539-4791
Manhattan
•121 McCall Rd.
776-9465
Manhattan
•1214 S. Washington
238-8534
Junction City
•HWY 24 & 99
456-7875
Wamego

$50 OFF
any one way move out of
MANHATTAN

FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE

Dutch Maid
Super Markets

1522 Poyntz

539-5346

2309 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

539-2351

NOW ACCEPTING

For Your Groceries,
Gasoline, and other purchases

Campus

College breaks Telefund record

Students and faculty volunteers from the College of Arts and Sciences received $114,831 in alumni pledges during the college's recent Telefund.

The amount is the largest ever received in pledges by a University college and is about $10,000 more than last year's total.

The money raised will help provide scholarships and educational materials for students in the college.

Jada Allerheiligen, senior in journalism and mass communications, accumulated the largest pledge amount with 37 pledges worth a total of $905.

Professor to head regional society

Robert Helgesen, head of the Department of Entomology, has been named president of the North Central Branch of the Entomological Society of America.

Helgesen, currently president-elect of the society, will assume the one-year position next March.

Helgesen said his duties as president will include planning and coordinating the activities of the society, assigning programs, handling committee business, helping plan the society's budget and presiding over meetings.

Cancer fund to aid undergraduate

The University's Center for Basic Cancer Research received the VFW Auxiliary Post Award from the members of the women's auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Lee Pierson Post No. 1786.

The $500 award will be given to an undergraduate student in a health-related field to help fund the student's cancer-related studies with a faculty member.

Professor receives national award

Jerry Horn, associate dean of the College of Education, has received the 1987 Faculty Service Award.

The award, given by the Conference and Institutes Division of the National University Continuing Education Association, was given to Horn at the NUCEA's 72nd annual conference in Kansas City, Mo.

The purpose of the award is to acknowledge contributions made by faculty members who have done exemplary work with conferences on their campus.

Farmer saves mailman from submerged truck

By The Associated Press

CONCORDIA — A farmer used an ax to shatter the rear window of a U.S. Postal Service vehicle and dragged a substitute rural mail carrier to safety Wednesday after he became submerged in flood waters.

"I thought I was going to die," said Donald Hutchinson, 64, a retired grocer who was substituting for a sick mail carrier.

The truck disappeared in the swirling water of Buffalo Creek in north-central Kansas just minutes after Hutchinson chatted with two farmers, David Walker and Greg Thoman. Hutchinson said he took a wrong turn and was swept into the creek.

Walker rescued Hutchinson. "All of a sudden I just felt his arm," said Walker, 25. "It was moving back and forth. I just grabbed it and pulled him out."

"All I thought about was how glad I was to feel that arm," Hutchinson said.

Hutchinson said he was worried about the seven bags of mail left underwater in the truck, which postal officials said wouldn't be recovered until the high water recedes.

SISCA sponsors satire, panel

By KARI COMPTON and KIM GREER
Collegian Reporters

A satirical play, sponsored by Students in Solidarity with Central America, was presented Wednesday afternoon at Seaton Court in conjunction with the appearance of political columnist George Will, who presented the 74th Landon Lecture on Public Issues.

The production, "Breakfast with George and Nancy," takes place in the breakfast nook of the White House strategic-planning bomb shelter. Nancy Reagan, played by Kelli Wondra, graduate student in speech, and Will, played by Don Hedrick, associate professor of English, are shown having breakfast with Vac Headroom, played by Jim Hamilton, associate professor of philosophy. Headroom is the host of a morning television talk show and takes calls from the viewer.

The breakfast conversation included a satirical view of Will's address on the "Star Wars" defense project. Will, as portrayed by Hamilton, said he considered it the single most important moral and political anti-communist thrust ever proposed, a variable contraception against the evil empire. He said the Star Wars program offers the security of sterility — a sterility of environment that will help the United States sustain its natural and God-granted immunities to the evil empire.

"Star Wars" is nothing short of a prophylactic for democracy and freedom, he said.

However, when a question on condom advertisements as a means to prevent AIDS was posed by a caller, he said he did not believe the disease was much more than a pretext for the "condomization" of television.

Other cast members portrayed Ronald Reagan and a Secret Service agent.

Hamilton said there were two primary reasons for presenting the production: To make a visual commentary to show there is disagreement with the dominant political view being presented by Will; and to provide the casual passerby some kind of education on how these speakers actually think.

"Most of what Will said (in the play) were his own words," Hamilton said. "We just dug up some of his articles over the past few months (and put a script together)."

Wednesday evening, SISCA sponsored a four-member panel of campus activists who warned of the problems of stereotyping and the pitfalls of overdoing political awareness activities.

"You need to be careful not to go overboard," Doug Benson, associate professor of modern languages, said to the 15-member audience. He urged people not to develop a narrow focus by ignoring the opinions of others.

"Don't feel guilty if you can't go to every meeting...this (activism) can be a life activity," Benson said. "Keep pushing outward."

The scheduled topic of the panel was the role of activism on the college campus. Instead, the subject of political apathy became the main focus. The panel suggested that U.S. citizens pay should more attention to international activities.

"We need to wake up to world events before they involve Americans," Benson said.

Jan Flora, professor of sociology, compared the activism of today with the activism of the 1960s. He said the difference between the two movements is a matter of diversity, because the '60s movement was basically a student movement. Today's movement "allows for diversity in the way people approach things and...willingness to learn from people of different ages and backgrounds," he said.

Margaret Conrow, associate professor of English, said she was not really that active politically in her earlier years.

"I don't actually consider myself a politically active person. I've been involved in education," Conrow said. "The experience of the Vietnam War made me more politically active. You discover things have been going on that you didn't know were going on," Conrow said.

She said it is up to an individual to decide how many of the vast number of issues are worth the devotion of time and energy.

Cia Verschelden, director of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, said she has been active in a non-political aspect. She participates in the Manhattan Friendship Cities organization, which sets up communication with a sister city in another country. Ideally, the organization involves people in Manhattan relating "in a humanistic way" to the citizens of the sister city, she said.

"The goal is to help them (sister city inhabitants) improve their lives," Verschelden said.

Benson said the press is often ignorant of world political issues. He said this ignorance leads of self-censorship because the reporter is unable to comprehend the issue.

"If I were a reporter, and I knew I would have to report on it (world politics), I would go research it," Benson said.

He said reporters often take only journalism classes, rather than political science or sociology, courses that would provide them with the knowledge they need to cover such events.

Conrow said she would prefer that the reporter simply state what was said and admit to ignorance on the subject.

Furthermore, the panel opposed political apathy. Benson said the cause of political inaction could be that people become so entrenched in their own beliefs that, to them, everyone else is wrong.

"You have an influence whether you do anything or not," Conrow said. "It just depends on where you want your influence to go."

Suspense ends

K-Staters receive Truman scholarships

By The Collegian Staff

Two K-State students were nationally recognized Wednesday by receiving the prestigious Truman Scholarship.

Janice Norlen and Jeff Wing, sophomores in political science, were among the 100 Truman scholars announced.

"I am pretty excited," said Wing, who has been flooded with telephone calls and visits to his residence hall room since winning the award.

"It's really good to have the results," Norlen said. "The whole thing has been a good experience."

While Norlen and Wing followed different academic routes, the end result proved to be identical.

The 33-year-old Norlen almost didn't apply after beginning college only three years ago.

"I had decided a year ago that I wouldn't apply," she said. Norlen is a mother to four children and commutes to the University daily from Concordia.

However, Norlen said faculty members, her husband, David, and friends encouraged her to apply for the scholarship.

"I finally decided to go ahead and do it," she said.

A self-proclaimed, non-traditional student, Norlen said she has developed a bond of friendship with Wing, whom she considers "the traditional sophomore student."

Wing said he had "almost given up (receiving the award) from the standpoint of the time factor," because he had expected to be contacted on Tuesday. "I was trying to prepare myself to not get the scholarship."

Wing said he eventually plans to attend law school after graduation, but in the meantime he plans to maintain "a decent GPA."

Norlen, who plans to work in the state or federal government as a political aide and has a particular interest in women's issues, attributed winning her award to Nancy Twiss, chairwoman of the Truman Scholarship Committee.

"I give Nancy Twiss a lot of the credit for the scholarship program," she said. "She deserves the recognition."

With Twiss's assistance, several other K-State students have received the prestigious scholarship.

The Truman Scholarship provides up to $26,000 for four years of study in government and public service.

The financial aspect of the award is nice, but Norlen said there are many other great experiences involved in winning the award.

Because she is a non-traditional student, Norlen said she hopes other students like her will apply for such scholarships and achieve the goals they set for themselves.

"It's never too late to dream and do what you want to do," she said.

Looking for an apartment?
Check Collegian Classifieds

PUTT-PUTT
GOLF COURSES
For the Fun of It!
(as seen from Wal-Mart)

Freshman & Sophomore
Summer Job Opportunity
available with
The United States
Marine Corp.

No obligation to be a Marine!

Earn between $1300
& $2100 a month
plus meals & housing.

Call
913-841-1821
(collect)

$10 Introductory

Vicki, top hairdresser with years experience. Specializes as perm artist. For introduction Vicki is offering $10 (reg. $16) cut with style through May 15. Call Vicki for your personal appointment.

776-8830

TINA'S Studio 32
FOR HAIR

Candlewood Shopping Center

KINKO'S
COPIES RESUMES

Copy your resume at Kinko's. We have a wide selection of fine papers, matching envelopes, and other stationery products that help you look good.

kinko's®
Great copies. Great people.
1110 Laramie
537-7340

K-State Players
presents
She Stoops
To Conquer
April 16-18 & 22-25
Nichols Theatre
8 p.m.
Call 532-6398
Mon.-Fri. 12-5

MANHATTAN
VO-TECH
Manhattan Area Vocational Technical School

Has the PERFECT opportunity for YOU . . .

- Air conditioning
- Auto Body Repair
- Auto Mechanics
- Building Trades
- Computer Repair
- Data Processing
- Draft Technology
- Electric Power
- Food Service
- Graphic Arts Technology
- Marketing Education
- Office Technology
- Practical Nursing
- Welding

PLUS:
Job readiness in 24 mos. or less, Low cost, Placement service, Night Classes available, Programs approved for Veterans, GED Preparation & Testing, Financial aid available.

MANHATTAN AREA VO-TECH SCHOOL
3136 Dickens Ave., 539-7431
Toll Free 1-800-358-3079 ext. 373

إلى الطلبة العرب:
استقام في الساعة السادسة مساءً 4/17/87
في كاساس سينت بوبوب: عرفة 8 Big
بمنازل: "حقوق الإنسان العربي في الوطن العربي"
وسوف نستمع المحاضرة الدكتور: علي الأياحي
رئيس جمعية حقوق الإنسان في الوطن العربي

A lecture on human rights in the Arab world
By: Dr. Ali Alyami At: Union Big 8
Time: 6 p.m.
Date: Friday, April 17, 1987
Sponsored by: The Coalition of Human Rights.

DELIVER?
Yes we do!

- 5 p.m. to Midnight
- Within Manhattan City Limits
- $5 Minimum Order (50¢ Delivery Charge)
- Over $10 DELIVERY FREE

Sub & Stuff
Sandwich Shop

just phone . . .
537-DELIVER

VP AUTO WASH

Automatic Car Wash—All Shammy Cloth
We Clean Cars, Pick-up Trucks & Vans

New Summer Hours:
Mon.-Sat. 9 a.m.-7 p.m.
Sun. 11 a.m.-5 p.m.

Located in Village Plaza Shopping Center
Across From ALCO

KSU Credit Union offers you

Car
loans

Boat
loans

RV
loans

Financing as low as
9.5% APR

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
FEDERAL CREDIT UNION
A service for faculty, staff and qualified graduate assistants

KSU
KANSAS
STATE UNIVERSITY

Anderson Hall, Room 24A
Open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Monday through Friday
532-6274

Mail offers victimize readers

By JENNIFER LINDSEY
Staff Writer

Three hundred dollars of extra income is an attractive idea, especially if it can be earned leisurely at home. For this reason, direct mail solicitations on get-rich-quick schemes and easy money plays continue to exist.

Everyday, thousands of people get bombarded with advertisements on "how to earn millions" easily.

These get-rich-fast offers have a great appeal to the poor and uneducated who are interested in earning money on their own time in their own home. Unfortunately, they don't make money. Sometimes, they even lose it.

In 1980, the Council of Better Business Bureaus investigated 55 "easy money" offers and discovered that those who invested their time in these businesses were losing money to unscrupulous promoters, said Marilyn White, operations manager at the Topeka BBB.

The most common form of easy-money scheme advertised through the mail is the envelope-stuffing method. The advertisement says the recipient can earn up to $300 a week just by stuffing envelopes. The recipient of the solicitation is instructed to send the company $1-$5 to get other people and pay for the envelopes and stamps," White said.

American Heritage & Liberty Publishing in California, earned $650,000 from 50,000 people who innocently sent in their money expecting to become rich by stuffing envelopes, according to an article in the New Yorker magazine on Jan. 19, 1987.

This company was eventually shut down by the U.S. Postal Inspection Service.

Another company had an advertisement that read, "$356 Weekly Guaranteed. Work two hours daily at home."

The investigation by the BBB disclosed, however, that the guarantee didn't apply to the earnings. The guarantee was that $15 would be refunded if the worker's efforts didn't produce the weekly income.

The owner of Nature Control, Clarksburg, W.Va., made money by sending letters to people claiming he made a fortune after learning God's secret way, according to the same article.

"Yes, I made a fortune working with nature in my spare time," the man claimed in the ad. Clients of Nature Control were simply instructed to send in money for more information.

The Postal Inspection Service put Nature Control out of business by returning all mail addressed to the company.

Other work-at-home scams advertise to pay for assembly work done at home. In these schemes, the participant must initially pay hundreds of dollars to purchase the needed instructions and materials.

After the worker has purchased the materials and done the work, the company is under no obligation to purchase the products and usually doesn't, White said.

"One company that was having people make (toy) clowns wasn't paying the people because the finished clowns didn't meet the company's standards," she said.

Another unscrupulous company sent letters to people claiming they could earn up to $300 a week by clipping coupons.

The ad stated "you clip them and we'll buy them at 25 percent of the face value of every coupon," White said. The BBB investigated this claim and figured the worker would have to clip $1,200 worth of coupons in a week in order to earn $300.

"This includes all those little 10-cent coupons," White said.

Even if a person would actually

See MAIL, Page 12

Facilities finalist says autonomy important

By The Collegian Staff

If he becomes the next general manager of University Physical Facilities, Edward Rice said he would like to delegate more responsibility and authority to the people under him, making those individuals more efficient and effective.

"There must be an equal balance between authority and communicating with your people," he said.

Rice, the last of four finalists for the general manager's position, toured campus and met with University officials Wednesday after an open question-and-answer session in the morning. Currently, Rice is the director of the physical plant at Montana State University, Bozeman.

"I'm a strong believer in enjoying your job, and I am frustrated with working with very little (Montana State budget)," Rice said. "I see K-State as being a great opportunity to use my abilities and experience to have an effective physical facilities operation."

Rice said he was most impressed with the documentation of all the buildings and the internal and external working of the buildings.

One asset Rice said he has is being a people-oriented person.

"I believe in being honest with people, whether the news is good or bad," he said. "I have an open-door policy with my people, but I also am a firm believer in the use of chain of command before going to the top."

Rice said serving in the U.S. Navy has instilled this methodology in him, and he is confident it will work.

Rice said he follows two philosophies — the first being "it's difficult for one person to generate ideas and answers for many, so it's important to listen to all ideas." Second, setting goals is very important, but reviewing them often is even more important, he said.

Rice stressed that he has a strong background in physical facilities. He was associate director of the physical plant at Montana State from 1978-81.

GLAFLIN
Books & Copies

- Professional Resumes
- 4¢ Self Service Copies
- Full Service Copy Center
- Quality Dissertation Copying

OPEN DAILY
M-F 8-9 Sat. 9-5 Sun. 12-9
FirstBank Center Denison & Claflin
776-3771

RUSHWACKERS
THE FUNDRIKERY

TONIGHT
All
Mixed Drinks
$1.50
ΔΥ

Calendar Girls Competition

Watch the Calendar Girls contestants compete for hundreds of dollars in prizes!!!

HAPPY EASTER

531 N. Manhattan

YAMAHA INTO SUMMER SIZZLE SALE

You're Invited

Brooks Yamaha is celebrating with an incredible Sizzle Sale. We've got the hottest deals on Yamaha wheels. Like Radian 600 only $2199. You save over $300.

Come to Brooks Yamaha for dynamite prices that will blow you away.

Brooks Yamaha
Hwy. 24, East Manhattan, KS
Tues.-Sat. 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
776-6371

YAMAHA
We make the difference™

Multi Million Dollars Sale

CHARGE IT!
Apply For Your World Radio Charge Card Today!
NO DOWN PAYMENT*!
NO PAYMENT TILL AUGUST!

S.S. WORLD RADIO

You'll have to hurry to join the hundreds of people who've saved thousands!
HURRY...SALE ENDS SATURDAY!

CLOSEOUT
Quantities May Be Limited

$228 SHARP
Cable Ready VHS Video Recorder with Wireless Remote
Has great features like 14 day 2 event programmable timer 15 times normal speed high speed video search and more! Model VC-6730

VCRS

TOSHIBA $277
Cable Ready VHS Stereo VCR with Wireless Remote has 7 day 4 event programmable timer Model M-2430

ZENITH $368
4 Head VHS HQ Cable Ready VCR with wireless remote and 14 day 4 event programmability VR-1820

Panasonic $949
"Omnimovie" VHS HQ Color Video Camcorder with auto focus, 6 to 1 power zoom and more. PV-210

PORTABLES

Panasonic $88
Now Only
Everyday Low Price $99
Auto Reverse AM/FM Stereo Cassette with XBS bass system Model RXFM-40 List $125

SHARP $26
Designer AM/FM Stereo Cassette in vibrant red, blue or yellow JCF-3 List $39

TAPES

maxell 75 $399
Everyday Low Price $4
Your choice Beta or VHS Video Cassette Tape. T-120 or L-750 List $9.95 ea

SONY UX 90 $149
High Bias 90 Minute Audio Cassette Tape. Stock Up now. Model UX-90

PHONE-MATE $77
Mini-Mate Telephone Answering Machine with beepless remote control Model 5050

Panasonic $399
SOLAR POWER
Everyday Low Price $5
8 Digit LED Solar Power Calculator that fits in your pocket JE-376U List $8.95

SAVE $70!
$199 EACH harman kardon
Now The Absolute BEST is On Sale! Get Your Choice...
Harman Kardon AM/FM Stereo Receiver OR Stereo Cassette Deck
Receiver features discrete component amplifier section with ultra wide frequency response. Cassette deck has full logic controls and Dolby NR 385 TD-102 List $275

STEREO

SONY $248
Everyday Low Price $299
Programmable Compact Disc Player with Remote Control Low person 100 watts RMS per channel Model CD-121

FISHER $99
15" 3 Way Audio Video Home Stereo Speakers with 100 watts RMS per channel Model CS-121

YAMAHA $799
Everyday Low Price $999
Yamaha Remote Control Stereo System with 100 watts RMS per channel Model CS-121

CAR STEREO

SANYO $59
Now Only
Everyday Low Price $79
AM/FM Auto Reverse Car Stereo Cassette features locking fast forward rewind FTU-50 List $99

KENWOOD $199
Everyday Low Price $219
Digital AM/FM Auto Reverse Car Stereo Cassette Great sound for the road with seek tuning and 12 station presets. Model KRC-2000 List $259

FREE PAIR OF KENWOOD QUALITY CAR STEREO SPEAKERS
With The Purchase Of Our Best Selling Kenwood KRC-2000 Car Stereo Cassette

15 DAY MONEY BACK GUARANTEE!
World Radio wants you to be completely satisfied with your purchase. If you are not satisfied within 15 days from the date of purchase, you can exchange it or we'll refund your money. Ask a salesperson for details.

NO LEMONS, GUARANTEED!™
Any equipment backed by World Radio's extended warranty program is covered by our NO LEMONS, GUARANTEED™ policy. If the product needs repairs more than 3 times during this extended warranty period, we will replace it FREE!

The Right Store.
WORLD RADIO

Some quantities may be limited. Sale prices good thru Saturday April 18 or while quantities last. No dealers please.

MANHATTAN
11th & Moro in Aggieville
537-4190

VISA
MasterCard
Discover
American Express

Seasonal change 'springs' allergic reactions

By SANDRA SIEBERT
Collegian Reporter

Spring is the time when a young person's fancy turns to love, and the fancy of many trees turns to pollen production.

Pollen, necessary to the reproductive cycle of plants, can cause itching, watering eyes, swelling of the sinuses, persistent sneezing and other allergic reactions. Hay fever is not the only type of allergic reaction, but it is one of the most common.

Allergies are caused by malfunctions in the immune system, said Dr. Daniel Martin, resident physician at Lafene Student Health Center. Certain cells in the body make antibodies that attach themselves to invading organisms and make it easier for the white blood cells to destroy them, he said.

"The cells that make these antibodies are prepared to make antibodies against literally everything except themselves," Martin said.

Normally, the body has a "key" that turns off the immune system so it won't make antibodies against non-dangerous irritants such as grass pollen, he said. But for some people that system fails.

A person's body makes antibodies, and some can cause the white blood cells to release histamine.

Histamine causes the symptoms of swelling of the sinuses, mucus production, sneezing and itching eyes common to hay fever, Martin said. Histamine also causes other symptoms of some allergies, including welts, hives and asthma, he said.

Martin said most trees have airborne pollen, but people are most commonly allergic to elm tree pollen and cottonwood pollen during the spring. The most common airborne allergy is ragweed, while the most common allergy is probably milk.

Other than taking antihistamines, which keep histamines from attaching themselves to cells, or receiving shots to decrease the severity of the reaction, there isn't much a person with a pollen allergy can do but tolerate it, Martin said.

"If you can avoid it, you avoid it," he said. "If you're allergic to feathers, you use a pillow that doesn't have feathers.

"If you're allergic to tree pollen, you can either move away from where that tree is, or you can become a merchant seaman and spend that season (of pollen production) at sea," he said. "Otherwise you just cope with it, treat it and put up with it the best you can."

About 20 percent of the population has some kind of allergy, although many people are not aware of it. Some people suffer from allergies for years thinking they are just getting a lot of colds, Martin said. Sometimes allergies contribute to a person coming down with a viral infection.

"Allergies create a nice culture for viral infections," Martin said. When people have frequent attacks of bronchitis or contract colds, they may have allergies which make them more susceptible to the infections.

Martin said if a person has a cold that lasts more than two weeks or gets a cold at the same time every year, he or she is probably suffering from an allergy. Viral infections last from about seven days to two weeks, Martin said.

Three types of tests are used to determine if a person has allergies and what the allergies are, Martin said.

One is a scratch test, in which a large area of the skin surface, such as the back or forearm, is cleaned, and small areas are scraped lightly. A small drop of a sterile solution of each antigen, the substance that may be causing the allergy, is dropped on the scraped areas.

After 30 minutes, a swelling or other skin reaction may appear, indicating the person is allergic to that substance, Martin said.

When the skin test seems unproductive, the physician may choose to do a blood test. Blood drawn from the patient is sent to a laboratory for a radio-immunoassay test. Radioactive antibodies are mixed with the blood sample to detect the presence of antibodies that may be causing the allergy, Martin said.

One test similar to a tuberculosis test is the intradermal test, in which a sterile solution of the antigen is injected directly under the skin. If there is a skin reaction, the person is allergic to the substance, Martin said.

The allergy clinic at Lafene offers the scratch test and the blood test, but does not use the intradermal test. Martin said the intradermal is more difficult to do and more expensive, but those who use it think it is the best test.

The antibodies that cause an allergy react to one specific thing, Martin said. But a person with one allergy is more likely to develop an allergy to something else, he said.

"It is unusual for a person to have one single allergy," Martin said. "They usually have several. For a few people, the list is very long."

There is some evidence that susceptibility to allergies is hereditary, but that is difficult to substantiate, Martin said. If a person has 25 relatives and five of them have allergies, that is a normal average because 20 out of every 100 people will have some sort of allergy, he said.

People do not lose an allergy once they have it, though there is often a lessening in the severity of the symptoms after several years, Martin said.

The immune systems of some people can change after they have received allergy shots for a number of years, but this is not common, Martin said. Young children may grow out of allergies, but they may recur when they reach the mid- to late-20s, he said.

Martin said no one is born with an allergy. A person must be exposed to a substance before the body produces antibodies that cause an allergic reaction, Martin said. A person has a reaction the second time of exposure to a substance, but never the first, he said.

A person who has a prescription for an antibiotic to treat an infection may not have a reaction to it if this person has never used the substance before, Martin said.

PERM SALE

Gals
Warm & Gentle $38
Apple Pectin $30
Feels So Lively $25

Guys
Curly $25
Body $20
Partial $18

*All Perms Include
Cut and Style*

539-TAME or 539-8601

404 Humboldt

Exp. 5/6/87

THANK YOU

The Men of Theta Xi Fraternity would like to thank all the volunteers who helped in the Taxi Triathlon.

TEE'ZERS

Aggieville's Newest Fun Store
620 N. Manhattan, 776-1360

✓ OUT OUR HOT NEW LINE

Balloons
$1.98
We Deliver!

Custom
Silk-Screening
(for less)

Sweats
$.77

AUDITIONS

FOR
'87-88

K-STATE SINGERS

APRIL 21-24
FINALS APRIL 25
SINGERS, GUITAR

Information in McCain 229
Open only to non-music majors

Congratulations to the newly tapped members of Order of Omega Greek honorary

Leslie Coleman—Alpha Gamma Delta
Janie Lauer—Gamma Phi Beta
Darren Lippe—Lambda Chi Alpha
John Bayouth—Alpha Tau Omega
Lisa Gast—Delta Delta Delta
Kathleen Gould—Alpha Chi Omega
Robin Harnden—Alpha Chi Omega
Helene Higbee—Alpha Delta Pi
Steven Johnson—FarmHouse
Susan Navrat—Delta Delta Delta
Kevin Ney—Lambda Chi Alpha
Jerry Pritchett—Sigma Phi Epsilon
Tim Ridder—Kappa Sigma
Nancy Stone—Delta Delta Delta
Shelly Wakeman—Alpha Chi Omega

NEED EXTRA MONEY?

Sign up to work
Summer Registration
Apply NOW:
ENROLLMENT CENTER
4-A
BASEMENT OF FARRELL LIBRARY

Closed Classes — Fall 1987

00930	08070	26720	31330	34920	03630	20760	29560	33960
01250	08260	26730	31450	35010	03640	21020	29570	34020
01640	08690	26750	31850	35020	03660	21300	29740	34030
01950	08849	26770	31870	35050	03670	21430	29880	34120
02110	08850	26780	32040	35810	03680	22830	29890	34190
02290	08950	26790	32090	36260	05470	23650	29910	34200
02340	09060	26800	32110	36370	05500	25400	29960	34210
02360	09290	26810	32230	38060	05590	26170	30000	34220
02410	09490	26820	32940		05610	26220	30450	34240
02460	11210	26840	32960		05700	26260	30630	34260
02490	11340	26870	32990		05820	26380	30650	34440
02990	11360	26900	33000		07550	26390	30720	34810
03040	11370	26910	33020		07590	26420	31010	34840
03300	11380	26920	33060		07690	26600	31090	34870
03310	11390	26960	33070		08020	26700	31250	34890
03320	11400	27000	33080		08050	26710	31320	34900
03330	11410	27010	33090
03350	11420	27020	33110
03360	11430	27030	33250
03370	11440	27040	33290
03380	11910	27050	33300
03390	13090	27060	33310
03470	14440	27070	33320
03480	14870	27090	33340
03490	15130	27210	33350
03500	16920	27230	33370
03510	17180	27680	33440
03530	17810	28090	33450
03540	19610	28350	33460
03550	19750	28940	33470
03560	20090	28950	33480
03570	20120	28990	33770
03610	20270	29060	33790
03620	20690	29200	33810

K-STATE SUMMER SESSION

June 9-July 31, 1987

Enjoy smaller classes, concentrated study, accelerated degree progress, relaxed atmosphere, and a head start on college work.

K-State Summer Session offers
Quality undergraduate and graduate courses
Workshops and short courses
Child care
Elementary age enrichment program
Campus housing
Social and leisure time activities

K-State Summer session catalogs are available from the Admissions Office and your advisor. Or contact: Summer Session, Division of Continuing Education, 317 Umberger Hall, Manhattan, Kansas 66506, (913) 532-5566 or 1-800-432-8222.

K-State second baseman Guy Greco reaches to catch the ball before he tags out Tarkio College's Kevin Mattson during the second game of Wednesday's double-header at Frank Myers Field. Mattson tried unsuccessfully to steal third base and was crawling back to second when Greco caught him. The Wildcats defeated the Tarkio Owls 11-1 and 5-3.

NBC officials planning new Global Series

By The Associated Press

WICHITA — National Baseball Congress officials are attempting to set up an August Global World Series at the Superdome in New Orleans to supplement a scaled-back July national tournament in Wichita.

The 53-year-old annual NBC tourney will have to reduce its field from 34 teams to about 24 because only 12 days are available this summer for Lawrence-Dumont Stadium. Normally, the event takes 15 days.

The scheduling problem developed because the Texas League AA affiliate of the San Diego Padres, the Wichita Pilots, are playing their first season at Lawrence-Dumont. The Texas League schedule restricted the open stadium dates.

Because of the Pilots' schedule, there are no open dates for a Kansas state NBC tournament this year, Davis said.

There still will be a Jayhawk League, however, that will include teams from Wichita, Liberal, Hays, Hutchinson, Clarinda, Iowa; Fort Smith, Ark.; Red Oak, Iowa; and Nevada, Mo. The Wichita games will be played at Eck Stadium on the Wichita State University campus.

Both the Pilots and the NBC say they hope more Lawrence-Dumont dates are available for the national tournament in 1988.

This year, Davis said he expects Fairbanks, Alaska; Anchorage, Alaska; Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Santa Maria, Calif.; to skip the Wichita tournament and head directly to New Orleans if arrangements there can be finalized.

The Aug. 7-21 tourney in the Superdome also would involve teams from outside the United States, Davis said. NBC co-owners Joe Ryan and Robert Rich are trying to make the new tournament an extravaganza that includes country music concerts, a major league old-timers game and a golf tournament.

Davis said the Wichita tournament champion and possibly as many as four other teams from the national tournament might be invited to New Orleans.

The NBC is comprised of teams of professional players and college stars.

'Cats play Jekyll, Hyde in victories

By BILL LANG
Sports Writer

K-State's baseball Wildcats played Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde with the Tarkio College Owls but still came out the victor with an 11-1 and 5-3 double-header sweep Wednesday at Frank Myers Field.

In the first game, the 'Cats opened up their half of the first inning by sending 12 men to the plate and scoring nine runs on five hits — all of them for extra bases — on their way to the 10-run win.

"We had five extra base hits (a double by Leo Seiler, three triples by Mike Hinkle, Jim Donohue and Guy Greco and a home run by Tom Parsons)," said K-State coach Mike Clark.

But Clark, ever the perfectionist, still wasn't quite satisfied.

"We still have to swing the bats a little bit better here and little better there."

Tarkio's pitcher Butch Crozier, 2-2, in the first game helped K-State to its offensive show by putting on the first two batters courtesy of walks. Hinkle followed with a triple and the run parade began after Jeff Turtle and David Chadd recorded outs.

"He just couldn't get into a groove," said Tarkio Coach Rick Eberly of Crozier. "K-State is a good hitting ball club and they showed it."

Midway through the first game, though, K-State's change from Jekyll to Hyde started to show.

In the second and third innings, K-State's offense was unable to score — let alone get a hit. But in the fourth, the 'Cats scored the winning pair of runs on hits from Hinkle, Otto Kaifes and Jim Donohue.

Paul Iseman, 2-3, limited Tarkio to just one run and three hits to chalk up the win.

In the second game, the 'Cats struggled in the early going and fell behind 2-1 after 2½ innings of play.

"We didn't play a good second game at all," Clark said. "We've got a big weekend series with Missouri coming up. That's no excuse to play the way we did."

In the bottom of the third inning the 'Cats erupted for four runs to grab a 5-2 lead. But K-State returned to its Hyde form once again in the top of the seventh as Tarkio mounted a rally scoring one more run off reliever Hinkle. K-State held on to take the second game by two.

It wasn't the cleanest game in the world for either team. Tarkio left 13 men on base; K-State stranded eight. Five errors were committed, and an unbelievable total of 12 bases were swiped.

Clark said he was happy with the wins but admitted his team was a little rusty.

"Traditionally K-State has lost the games — the ones between the big ones — and I'm not wanting that to happen," Clark said. "We'll have to come out tomorrow and have a good intense practice."

With the loss, Tarkio falls to 13-15 on the season. K-State, 19-15 and 3-6 in the Big Eight Conference, will travel to Columbia, Mo., this weekend for a four-game series with Missouri. The Tigers, 24-14 and 8-4, are ranked third in the Big Eight behind Nebraska and Oklahoma State.

First Game				K-State
Tarkio	ab	r	h	bi	ab	r	h
Lopenac	1	0	0	0	Braddock	1	2
Acosta	1	0	1	0	Parsons	2	2
Heller	3	0	1	0	Hinkle	3	2
Mattson	2	0	0	0	Turtle	3	0
Gadbois	1	0	0	0	Chadd	3	0
Zweierink	2	0	0	0	Kaifes	1	2

See BASEBALL, Page 12

Teams commemorate Robinson's 1st game

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — The hand-scrawled letters stood out among the Jackie Robinson bats, gloves, uniform and computer-generated statistics displayed at the New York Historical Society.

"We have already got rid of several like you. One was found in the river just recently," read one, written during Robinson's rookie season in 1947.

"We are going to kill you if you attempt to enter a ball game at Crosley Field," said another, written on the occasion of Robinson's first trip to Cincinnati.

America commemorated the 40th anniversary of Robinson's first game as the first black player in baseball's major leagues Wednesday, a commemoration that in some instances seemed less aimed at the threatening letters and racial bias of 1947 than indications of the subtle bias that exists today.

It came a week after Al Campanis, vice president of the Los Angeles Dodgers — Robinson's Brooklyn team, transplanted west after the 1957 season — was forced to resign after suggesting on national television that blacks "may not have some of the necessities" for baseball management positions.

Rachel Robinson, Robinson's widow, was on hand at the Historical Society to officially open "Jackie Robinson: An American Journey," an exhibit on her husband's life that will run from Saturday until July 15 in New York.

Mrs. Robinson said she vividly recalled April 15, 1947 as she prepared to go to the ballpark with her husband, who died at 53 in 1972, 10 years after becoming the first black elected to baseball's Hall of Fame.

Each of the 26 major league teams had ceremonial "42s" painted on second bases to commemorate Robinson's number and position — although he made his major league debut at first base. Rachel Robinson threw out the first ball at the opener Tuesday in St. Louis.

Royals announce plan to hire black managers

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Ewing Kauffman, majority owner of the Kansas City Royals, met Wednesday with black leaders and announced the Royals will form a plan to get minorities into management positions.

"This has been one of the most interesting days in my life because it brought up a problem I had overlooked," Kauffman said at a news conference with Dr. Joseph Lowery, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. "Our front office management has worked hard to give Kansas City a winning baseball team. And we overlooked some of the finer things in life, which was that we did not have some of the minorities working in our front office that we should have. And the Royals have made a commitment to do something about it."

Kauffman said no timetable or details of the program had been set.

"I challenge Dr. Lowery and his people to give me some guidance, and I and my people at the Royals will take it and run with it and do something about it," he said.

"We gratefully accept your challenge, Mr. Kauffman," Lowery said, noting that Wednesday was the 40th anniversary of Jackie Robinson's breaking baseball's color barrier.

"I am indeed pleased that on this day so significant in baseball history, that we've had this meeting with Mr. Kauffman," he said. "I'm grateful to his commitment to embark on this journey with us, which we firmly believe will lead to a significant upgrading of black participation in the executive and managerial levels of the Royals."

"We will work just as fast as we can," Kauffman said. "But nobody's going to be fired because they're white."

Friendly folks attracted Brown

By DAVE WAGNER
Sports Writer

For javelin thrower Doug Brown, it wasn't the track program that made him want to come to K-State but rather the friendly atmosphere in Manhattan.

Brown said he was assured there was a certain cordiality about the University community after a literal run in with a football player in Aggieville.

"We went to Dark Horse (Tavern) and there was this one guy who had tried out for the USFL, he was just huge. I bumped into him and spilled beer all over him, and I thought he was going to beat the thunder out of me," Brown said. "Instead, he just came over and said, 'Hey, how are you doing.' It was just stuff like that that made me want to come here."

'I have always dreamed of getting a chance to throw in the Olympics. But I think that every serious athlete has that as a goal.'

—Doug Brown

Since that incident and his decision to come to K-State, Brown has certainly taken full advantage of the athletic program. He currently leads the team in the javelin throw with a toss of 211-8, a mark achieved in a victory at the Texas A&M Invitational. Currently, the toss is good enough to rank him third in the Big Eight Conference.

As well as his victory at College Station, Brown captured first place at the John Jacobs Invitational in Norman, Okla., last week with a throw of 202-½ and second place at the KSU-Pepsi Invitational with a toss of 210-4.

Although feeling stronger this season than in those past, Brown has yet to approach his personal record of 220-2 achieved in the first meet of the season last year.

"I think I can throw farther than I have so far," Brown said. "This year not only am I older, but I'm stronger, faster and overall a better athlete."

Brown said he worked hard lifting weights in the off-season than he has in years past and attributes his recent success to his better physical condition. He said the mechanics of his throw are keeping him from hitting a really good throw.

"Right now, I think that I'm doing a few things mechanically wrong."

The mechanics and technique of his throw, he said, have brought him to the point where he is at now. Much

Staff/John La Barge

Javelin thrower Doug Brown leads the K-State team in distance and is ranked third in the Big Eight Conference. Brown will have the chance to equal last year's personal record this weekend in Lawrence at the Kansas Relays.

of the improvement he attributes to his coach, Ray Hansen.

"(When I started throwing the javelin at K-State) Ray did a lot to my technique and within six weeks he added 40 feet to my throw," Brown said.

Looking down the road, Brown said this season he would like to finish in the top two in the Big Eight outdoor track championships and the upcoming Kansas Relays and thus qualify for the NCAA Outdoor Championships.

As for long-term goals, Brown said he would like to qualify for the 1988 Olympic Trials.

"I have always dreamed of getting a chance to throw in the Olympics," he said. "But I think that every serious athlete has that as a goal."

North's files 'shred' machine

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Before Lt. Col. Oliver North was fired last November, he and his secretary destroyed so many documents their White House shredding machine broke down under the load, government investigators have been told.

The shredder got backed up and jammed as North and his secretary Fawn Hall shoved memos and other documents into it, a source familiar with the Iran-Contra investigation said Wednesday.

Meanwhile, sources said that investigators for both independent counsel Lawrence E. Walsh and congressional committees have obtained a wealth of material from North's office, including a record of his telephone calls, meetings and other contacts, and original versions of four documents altered by his secretary.

These sources said the alterations appeared to be an attempt to conceal North's program for raising money and supplying arms to the rebels opposing Nicaragua's government. The sources, who were familiar with the investigations, spoke only on condition of anonymity.

In a fresh disclosure, sources said Miss Hall had turned over to North documents she removed from his White House office on Nov. 25, the day he was fired by President Reagan.

Investigators also have copies of those documents, sources said.

With congressional hearings on the Iran-Contra affair set to begin May 5, investigators are discussing the possibility of having former National Security Adviser Robert McFarlane as the lead-off witness. Sources said that McFarlane has been spending much of his time in recent weeks meeting with investigators for the special counsel and the House and Senate committees.

Investigators also disclosed they are negotiating with lawyers for Albert Hakim to obtain his testimony, including records of his financial dealings. Hakim, an Iranian-American businessman, has been named as a key figure in the military supply operation to the Contras. He has been linked to North and retired Maj. Gen. Richard Secord as one of the joint holders in a Swiss bank account.

The White House memos that were altered were written by North in 1985 to McFarlane, who was Reagan's national security adviser and North's boss at the time, sources said.

They said that North and his secretary destroyed documents as North's activities as a National Security Council aide came under scrutiny last November by Attorney General Edwin Meese III, who led an investigation by Justice Department officials.

That investigation, which did not include FBI agents or other criminal investigators, was begun the weekend before North was fired for his role in the sale of arms to Iran and possible diversion of profits to the Nicaraguan rebels known as Contras.

Hall has been granted immunity from prosecution in return for her cooperation.

The altered memos were dated in March and April of 1985, one source said, and were understood to have been recently recovered in NSC offices.

The discovery of the originals was reported Wednesday by the Los Angeles Times.

First brain graft apparently successful

By The Associated Press

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — A victim of Parkinson's disease who last week became the first person in the United States to undergo brain graft surgery said Wednesday she is optimistic about the novel treatment.

"I'm not shaking at the moment; you do not know how grateful I am," said Dickie Baggett, an insurance clerk who lives in the Nashville area.

Baggett, 42, wearing a pink robe and a white turban to cover marks of the brain surgery, appeared at a news conference at Vanderbilt University Medical Center less than a week after the five-hour operation.

She said she first developed symptoms of the degenerative disorder 10 years ago. Parkinson's, which causes tremors and a loss of balance, afflicts nearly 1.5 million Americans.

"I had to learn how to stir pots with my left hand, and I'm right-handed," Baggett said.

"It affects your thinking, your moods," she said. "You wake up thinking, am I going to shake today as bad as I did yesterday?"

Brain graft surgery is a breakthrough in treatment of central nervous system diseases, said Dr. George S. Allen, professor and chairman of the department of neurosurgery at Vanderbilt.

"We hope that it will be effective in improving the symptoms and perhaps delaying the progression of Parkinson's disease," Allen said.

Baggett said she'd advise other sufferers of the disease to "go for it" if they could undergo the procedure.

R. Stanley Burns, a member of the surgical team, characterized the operation as "really the start of an era, where neurosurgeons will be transplanting other tissues into the brain."

Allen said researchers may not know for months what effect the brain graft will have on Baggett.

"It's important to point out from a scientific standpoint...that it is too early to make any statement about the success of the transplant."

Classifieds

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3.25, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

ANNOUNCEMENTS 01

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour products. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (119-150)

FIELDS OF FAIR—We are now open for the season and are taking bookings for barn parties, hail and farewell parties, barbecues, cookouts, promotion parties, reunions, graduation parties and weddings. Phone 539-5328. (125-150)

COTTON WRAP ROBES
available at UNDERCOVER
1224 Moro Aggieville
Mon.-Fri. 10-5:30
Sat. 10-5
OPEN THURS. TIL 8
SUNDAY 1-5

SUMMER WORK—Find out how two K-State students made over $11,000 between them in a sales and business management program last summer. Must be willing to relocate. Call 776-2564. (136-140)

ATTENTION 02

73 OVERWEIGHT people needed to try new chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Call 776-5114. 776-1485. (120-139)

OVERWEIGHT? WANT to feel better? New chocolate, vanilla and strawberry herbal weight control program available. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Get away from diet jitters. On campus daily. 784-6065 evenings/weekends. (132-150)

THURSDAYS FAMILY NIGHT
Dad gets a free dessert
Senior Citizens get double discount (20%)
Kids eat at 1/2 price
Mom gets a free breakfast

FOR RENT—MISC 03

RENTAL TYPEWRITERS—Correcting and non-correcting. Typewriter ribbons for sale, service available. Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-1413. (271f)

FOR RENT—APTS 04

FOR AUGUST, luxury, furnished two-bedroom apartment across street from KSU. For three students, $130 each. Also, one-bedroom apartment. (539-2482 after 4 p.m.). (971f)

TWO AND three bedroom near campus. Central air, one and one-half bath. Available June and August. 537-8800. (1101f)

LOOKING FOR nice but reasonably priced apartments? One, two, three and four bedroom apartment complexes and houses for now, summer and fall. Most nearby new and close to campus. 537-2919. 537-1666. (111-146)

AVAILABLE JUNE or August, almost new, three-bedroom, one and one-half bath, fully equipped kitchen. Call 537-2255. (1121f)

ONE LARGE bedroom, completely furnished, laundry facilities in the complex. One block from the campus. $300. Call 537-7900. (1121f)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, close to campus. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities in the complex. Available August. $420. Call 537-7810. (1121f)

LUXURY, HUGE unfurnished two-bedroom, two-bath, all carpeted, luxury appliances, three blocks from campus. No pets. $360 plus utilities. Call 537-4000 or 776-7572. (119-138)

FREE RENT last month of yearly lease. Ten months available in August. Various locations, no pets. After April 1 call 537-8389. (1191f)

(Continued on page 11)

COUNTRY GIFT SHOP
Bears • Dolls • Folk Art • Home Decor
"East of Holidome"
Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30 539-3854
2208 Ft. Riley Blvd. Manhattan, KS. 66502

Enjoy smooth, creamy
Frozen Yogurt
that tastes like Ice Cream
but with 80% less fat!
—FREE SAMPLES—
I Can't Believe It's
YOGURT!
Frozen Yogurt Skins
OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily
Noon-11 p.m. Sundays
Nauticus Towers—Aggieville

BRIDAL GIFT REGISTRY
We are pleased to announce that the following couples have registered with us:

- Janette Gomez & Michael Streit
- Martha Ebert & Carl Reed
- Karen Thierer & Bob Galde
- Elaine Kemnitz & Dennis Wilson
- Christy Anderson & Brett Mermis
- Erin Puls & Doug Dunham
- Kelly Sistrunk & Rob Friesen

MIDWEST APPLIANCE SERVICE
400 TUTTLE CROSS BLVD. MANHATTAN, KANSAS
PH. 776-9454

The Station THURSDAY

NEW LOOK, NEW FUN, NEW SOUNDS
WELL DRINKS, $1.50 (ANY BRAND)
FREE HORS D'OEUVRES, 5-7 DAILY
1115 Moro, Aggieville 776-0030

1 DAY ONLY—Tuesday, April 21st
10 a.m.-7 p.m.

CLOTHING CONCEPTS
presents
A Manufacturer's Direct
Clothing Sale
1 DAY ONLY
Save 50%-70%

Ladies' & Juniors' Swimwear by: Jantzen•Sassafras•Too Hot Brazil
Reg. $34 Now $14.99
Hobie•Coca Cola•Palmetto's•Union Bay•Outback Red•Forenza

From $19.99

Men's & Ladies' Leather Basketball Tennis-Running-Training Shoes

NIKE New Balance PONY
adidas PUMA

All Shoes $19.99-$24.99

Coca-Cola
Rugbys • Jerseys • Tees • Fleece
50% Off Regular Retail

Palmetto's JACK
MEN'S PRINTED NOVELTY TOPS & SCRUBS
Now $9.99
Reg. $22

Men's Izod & Other Status Brand SHIRTS
—Stripes & Solids—
Now $5.99
If Perfect, to $38

Ocean Pacific & Hobie
Short & Long Sleeve Tees
(Latest 3 & 4 Color Prints)
$3.99
If Perfect, to $15

Palmetto's JUNIORS'
Denim Prairie & Mini Skirts
Reg. $23.00 Now $12.99

FORENZA SPORTWEAR
Save 50%-60%
Skirts-$12.99
Shorts-$12.99

Men's Ocean Pacific and Union Bay
Shorts & Woven Sportshirts
NOW $9.99-$12.99
Reg. $28.00

Men's Tropical Print Jams & Kneebusters
$9.99

University Inn
(Across from Campus)
Ballroom Downstairs
Manhattan, KS

VISA

(Continued from page 10)

BLOCK WEST of campus, June or August, one-bedroom, furnished, $240. Call 539-5051 after 1 p.m., or see Dave, apartment 4, at 1024 Sunset. (131f)

ONE-HALF block east of campus, 1212 Thurston, for June, two-bedroom, furnished, up to three people, $330. Phone 539-5059 after 1 p.m. (131f)

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM, five blocks from campus. Air conditioning. Available August 1. No pets. $325. Phone 776-0181. (121f)

PRE-LEASING ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. One bedroom, near campus. $275 to $290. Two-bedroom near campus, $335 to $355. Call 776-9124. (122f)

GOOD SELECTION of one and two-bedroom apartments available for June or August leasing. Call McCullough Development, 776-3804. (123-146)

NOW LEASING for Fall, next to campus. Centennial Apartments—1832 Clafflin Road (across Grodnow Hall). Fully furnished luxury one-bedroom, balcony, complete kitchen. $339-2702, evenings. (123-138)

KSU CLOSE, spacious, furnished one bedroom. Laundry, parking. Available June 1, $275. Call 776-7814 or 539-3803. (124-146)

AVAILABLE NOW and August. Unfurnished one-bedroom, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, $265 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

AVAILABLE FOR June or August—Furnished, large two-bedroom with off-campus location. Dishwasher, disposal, central air, carpeting throughout. No pets. $350 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

LARGE THREE-bedroom in a nine-plex with large closets, living room, dining area, fully-equipped kitchen. $150 each for three, $125 each for four. 822 Fremont. Available June 1, 1987. Call 537-7087. (127f)

UNIVERSITY TERRACE—Two- and three-bedroom apartments, swimming pool, spacious yard, laundry hookups and facilities. On the bike path to University. 537-2096. (127-147)

LARGE, TWO-bedroom apartment, nice, close to campus and park. Private courtyard and parking. Phone 537-4648. (128f)

ONE, TWO, THREE and four bedroom. Available June 1. Within one and one-half blocks campus. Phone Dixie, 539-1498. (130f)

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT. $190 per month. Gas, heat, and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (132-142)

FOR JUNE and July, one-bedroom, unfurnished apartment, close to campus and Aggieville. Rent very reasonable. Call 537-9080. (132-138)

LIFE and Times

by Doug 'n' Dick

Bloom County

By Berke Breathed

Garfield

By Jim Davis

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Crossword

ACROSS
1 Bother
4 "Blood" (novel)
8 Electrified
12 Actress Ullmann
13 Actor Alda
14 Norse god
15 Act the moocher?
17 Requisite
18 "Brother"
19 Hammerstein's partner
21 Drooping, as flowers
24 Network's last words?
26 Tier
28 Knocked 'em dead
32 Ark captain
34 The present
36 "She" — a Yellow Ribbon
37 Senior
39 Kin of "nope"

41 Brooklet
42 Equip
44 Salt site
46 Dupe
50 "Take Romance"
51 Eastern nurse
52 Cargo, at times
56 Angry
57 Actor Rob
58 Past
59 Waiter's need
60 Place of bliss
61 Actress Sandra
DOWN
1 TV alien
2 "Wie geht es —?"
3 Electrical surge cause
4 Maude's hubby
5 World labor org.
6 German river
7 Bequeath
8 Archer's weapon
9 — fix
10 Zwei und zwei
11 Make both — meet
16 Consume

Solution time: 24 mins.

REIF ADIT RAIL
AWF TUNA EURE
MET HENPECKED ARENA SKI
HMAS ESTATE
HENPARTY ERIA
ULU SCRAP ONT
ESNE HENHAWKS
SASIN WARD
HENHAWKS ADLER
HENHAWKS ALA
OGEE DUNE VAN
BOAR EINDS ASK

Yesterday's answer

4/16
Yesterday's answer

CRYPTOQUIP

4-16
N F H R X R Z M H X L N R M T G L
Y R T L I X S V H G I Z Z F W R -
G R L M H N R T S G F H V G S V
Y Z X S W L L I
Yesterday's Cryptoquip: INGENIOUS HALFBACK LIKED TO SKETCH COULD HE BE THE ARTFUL DODGER?

Today's Cryptoquip clue: G equals T

Great Apartments

- * Close to KSU & Aggieville
- * 1 & 2 Bedrooms
- * $290-$365
- * Unfurnished or Furnished (New)
- * Dishwasher/Central Air/Carpeted

Call 776-1222 or 539-7260

MAY OR JUNE, one-bedrooms. $205-$235. Phone 539-8423 after 6 p.m. (135-150)

1200 RATONE—Two bedrooms, stove refrigerator. No pets. $320. Karen/Vickers, 539-1640 or 539-6945. (135-139)

DUPLEX, TWO bedroom, very nice. Furnished, air, carpeted. No pets. June 1st. Phone 537-7334. (136-140)

ACROSS FROM campus. Two-bedroom apartment, $120 each. Available June 1st. Call 537-9370. (136-138)

NOW RENTING for 1987-88 school year. Two-bedroom unfurnished apartments. 1026 Blue-mont. Call 776-2092 for appointment. (136-150)

Now Renting

HORIZON III

(across campus & Aggieville)

- 2 Bedrooms
- All appliances
- Extended Bath
- Quality throughout
- June & August Occupancy

CALL 776-6791 or 539-8401

NEAR K.S.U., three-bedroom, furnished basement apartment. Rent air, washer and dryer, utilities paid. $480. Call 539-0368 after 6:30 p.m. (137-146)

COMPLETE FIRST floor of large apartment house, 724 Poyntz. Will accommodate three-four students. Unfurnished, no pets. 537-8389 for appointment. (137f)

1 1/2 BLOCKS from campus, across from Aggieville, two-bedroom apartments, available June 1st. Furnished or unfurnished. 539-5702 after 5 p.m. (137-141)

FOR RENT—HOUSES

ONE—TWO—THREE bedroom houses, starting June occupancy. Unfurnished, good condition, clean, appliances. 537-1269. (107f)

AVAILABLE JUNE, four-bedroom, two-bath, one block east of campus. $500/month, lease and deposit. 539-3672. (130-140)

AVAILABLE JUNE, one bedroom in duplex, two blocks east of campus. $260/month, lease and deposit. 539-3672. (130-140)

THREE-BEDROOM house with two baths. Partially furnished. $375 deposit, rent $375/month. Graduate or veterinary students. No pets. 539-8608. (132f)

FIVE BEDROOMS, two baths, located at 824 Laramie. Washer and dryer provided. $550/month. Lease and deposit. 539-3672. (132-140)

SMALL HOUSE near campus in June. Fireplace, laundry hook-ups, offstreet parking. $390, yearly lease. 537-8389. (133f)

NICELY REMODELED four-bedroom house near campus, two baths, washer, dryer, fireplace, available June 1, 539-4994 or 539-2106. (133-137)

THREE BLOCKS east of campus—Three-bedroom house, washer/dryer, appliances, unfurnished. August 1, twelve-month lease, garage, prefer upper classmen. $450/month. 539-3497. (136-137)

FOUR-BEDROOM house, garage, close to Aggieville, one-year lease. 537-8928 after 6 p.m. (137-146)

TWO-THREE girls to share house. $150, plus utilities. Own room. Nice and close to campus. 776-1406. (137-141)

HUGE THREE-level duplex. One block from campus. Three bedrooms, two baths. $400/month plus utilities. Available now. Call 1-823-3040. (137-150)

FOR SALE—AUTO

1980 DATSUN pickup. AM/FM cassette, aluminum topover with nice bed. Sharp truck. $2,900. Phone 532-2115. (134-138)

1976 GRAND PRIX, L.J. loaded, good condition, $1,000. Deb. 537-9282 evenings. (135-138)

1984 FIERO, red, sharp, loaded. (913) 457-3458. (136-138)

FOR SALE: 1978 FORD Fiesta. Great m.p.g. Call 776-1930 after 5:30 p.m. (136-137)

FOR SALE—MISC

1980 DATSUN pickup. AM/FM cassette, aluminum topover with nice bed. Sharp truck. $2,900. Phone 532-2115. (134-138)

1976 GRAND PRIX, L.J. loaded, good condition, $1,000. Deb. 537-9282 evenings. (135-138)

1984 FIERO, red, sharp, loaded. (913) 457-3458. (136-138)

FOR SALE: 1978 FORD Fiesta. Great m.p.g. Call 776-1930 after 5:30 p.m. (136-137)

THURSDAYS

TNT
3 tacos $1
99c Margaritas
4-7 p.m.

DOD "DELAY" and "Distortion" effects pedals. Also Kustom speaker cabinets. 776-4702. (133-137)

I MEDIUM

TWO TOPPING
PIZZA $6.50
FREE DELIVERY

707 N. 12th 539-4888

YAMAHA DRUM kit: 900 series hardware. Zilonian cymbal. Also Fender bass guitar. 539-8187 or 776-4702. (133-137)

HOUSE FOR sale, one-half block from campus. Two bedrooms, attached garage, fenced yard. For couple, single or couple with child. Call 539-2860. (136-137)

FOR RENT or For Sale: 10 x 50 mobile home. Stove, refrigerator, air. Unfurnished. 537-7622 after 5 p.m. (134-147)

NICE THREE-bedroom, 12 x 65 mobile home. Central air and heat, washer, dryer, garbage disposal. Close to campus. Partially furnished if desired. Call 539-1315 after 5 p.m. (135-139)

FOR SALE, 1972 Revere, excellent condition, two-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, washer/dryer, air, partially furnished. Call 316-241-6054, working hours. (135-144)

1977 SHULT 12 x 55, two bedrooms, central air, washer/dryer, shed, dog pen, nice, great for student or couple. 532-6285 or 494-8391. (137-139)

FOR SALE—MOTORCYCLES

1971 HONDA CL350, excellent condition. Helmet and manuals included, asking $500 negotiable. Call Calvin, 537-9533. (134-138)

1970 HONDA CL100 four-stroke single-cylinder motorcycle. $200. Phone 776-7017 evenings. (134-138)

1981 HONDA C-70 Passport. Yellow. 3,450 miles. Campus cruiser. Bought car. need money. $400. Phone 532-5497. (136-139)

1980 KAWASAKI 750 LTD, low miles, excellent condition. $850. Phone 776-4266, afternoons and evenings. (137-141)

FOUND

FOUND—SMALL female cat, black with white spots on chest and stomach. Very friendly. 537-1249. (135-137)

MEN'S WATCH found outside of Kedzie Hall. Claim in Kedzie 103. (136-138)

HELP WANTED

EARN $480 weekly—$60 per hundred circulars mailed. Guaranteed. Work at home and participate in our Company project mailing circulars and assembling materials. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to JKB Mailcompany, P.O. Box 25, Castaic, California, 91310. (117-148)

PART-TIME staff position working with young adults. First Lutheran Church. Phone 537-8532. (129-138)

IMMEDIATE OPENING for part-time youth director. Coordinate youth ministry program for 7-12 grades. 15 hours per week/$250 per month. Send resumes to First United Methodist Church, 612 Poyntz, c/o Amy Bipes. (131-138)

FLEXIBLE HOURS and work mostly on your own for apartment owner. Work will include mowing yards, trimming bushes, cleaning apartments, carpentry repair, maintenance, roof repair and/or painting and other similar work. Work can begin immediately and through the summer months and could continue for the next school year. Preter college student who qualifies for college work study program. Please send name, address, phone number, number of hours of work desired, wages expected and previous work experience to Box 5, Collegian. (133-142)

NEED PART-TIME work? We list your services to 105,000 people, $9 a month. Tele-Find, 539-CALL. (133-137)

BASEMENT APARTMENT in taking applications for Assistant Instructors. Minimum qualifications: completion with high grades of Engineering Physics II or at least one physics course above the 300-level and ability to communicate. Duties: teach one or two laboratory sections, grade homework papers or exams, help students in the Activities Center. Appointment: nine months at $130/month. Application forms are available in Cardwell Hall Room 116. Deadline: April 17th. K-State is an Equal Opportunity Employer. (135-137)

TO STACEY, Mouse, and Fern. Let's party!! From Mike, Steve, and Dave. (137)

ROOMMATE WANTED—Non-smoking female to share a two-bedroom apartment, one-half block east of campus. $150 a month plus utilities. Call 537-0911. (132-147)

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for summer. Own room, laundry. $130/month. Call 539-2975. (134-138)

NON-SMOKING ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom apartment, own room. June to August, rent negotiable. Call 539-4784 or 537-2967. (134-138)

NICE HOUSE, close to campus, fireplace, summer and/or fall occupancy. $130/month plus utilities. 776-1948. (136-139)

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted to share spacious house near campus, summer and year leases. 539-1820. (136-142)

NON-SMOKING FEMALE—$180/month/year, all utilities paid. Large house, central air/heat, washer, dryer, sundeck, lots of room. No pets. 539-6628. (136-150)

TWO/THREE male summer students, $125/month plus utilities. One block from campus, 1829 College Heights. Also, jobs for summer available. Call 776-4528. (137-138)

PRIVATE BEDROOM in Candlewood home for non-smoking female. $195/month plus deposit and share of utilities. Call 776-0433. (137-142)

MAKE-OVER MODELS WANTED

Free Cuts-Perms-Color

Great Opportunity Female & Male Models

Show Sponsors: PEEL'S FRIENDLY SUPPLY & REDKEN LABS

Show Date April 28, 6:30-10 p.m.

For Further Information Call Hair Experts, 9-5 776-4455

FULL AND part-time help! National Firm is preparing for Spring and Summer work. If accepted, you will earn $8.10 starting. Some evening and weekend positions are available and some flexibility is allowed during final exams. If you qualify, corporate scholarships are awarded. Internships are possible, and you may earn 2, 3, 4 credits/quarter or semester. During summer break full-time work is available. Call (913) 345-9675 Monday-Friday between 9 a.m.-5 p.m. (135-148)

LIVE-IN NANNY Wanted—Need mature adult, non-smoker, driver's license, enjoys children, room and board, good salary, weekends free. 9-12 month commitment, Kansas City area. Call collect 913-648-7404. (136-140)

EARN $2,500-4,000. Gain unbeatable experience. Be the KSU Sales and Marketing Director for Campus Connection, our nationally expanding, innovative advertising guide. Currently at 42 universities—we will provide complete training, materials, and support. Call Jay Wilkinson, Manager, at (402) 477-1402 for complete information. Ideal for ambitious, personable freshman-junior. Start earning soon. (136-138)

WANTED STUDENT applicants for "Troubleshooter" positions. Will hire to start this summer/fall 1987. Job requirements include: full time student—must live in especially designed residence hall room w/private entrance—able to work eight hours per week, days, some nights, weekends, and holidays. Apply at the Housing, Maintenance office, 1548 N. Denison or call 532-6466 Monday thru Friday 8 a.m.-5 p.m. for an appointment. (136-140)

SUMMER WORK—Is your work challenging? Are you being paid what you're worth? Make $3,000 to $6,000 plus gain experience. Call 776-2564. (136-140)

STUDENT to work as electronic technician, 12 to 20 hours/week, full-time between semesters. Primary work in support of Equinox Data Switch. Help repair micros and printers. Knowledge of RS232 data communications helpful. Contact Jackie Melsner, Cardwell 23, by Tuesday, April 21, 5 p.m. EOE. (136-140)

NEEDED BABYSITTER to come to my home several evenings a week to watch five-year-old. Will have time to study. 537-0074. (136-137)

WANTED FAMILY wants college girl to live in for fall. Help take care of yard and house in exchange for board and room. Respond to Box 3, Collegian, Kansas State University. (136-140)

BARTENDER PART-TIME, apply in person, Bobby T's, 3240 Kimball. (137-141)

COOK PART-TIME, apply in person, Bobby T's, 3240 Kimball. (137-141)

BANQUET SERVER. Must be available some weekdays and weekends. Apply University Inn, 17th & Anderson. No phone calls. (137-139)

HORSE PERSON wanted to help with chores and light riding in exchange for room and board. Call after 7 p.m. 293-5273. (137-139)

LOST 14

LHASA APSO dog, white with tan, lost near north side of campus. Please call 776-9326. (133-137)

LOST—METAL frame prescription glasses in Ahearn Men's Locker Room, April 10, 1987, 7:30 p.m. Reward 537-8185. (137-138)

NOTICES 15

Maundy Thursday Service 9:30 p.m.

1402 LeGore Lane

Good Friday Services 12:10 p.m. & 2:30 p.m.

Danforth Chapel

St. Francis Episcopal

MALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom apartment, 1800 block Laramie. Deck, fireplace, air conditioning, large yard. 1 1/2 blocks from campus. 537-4304. (136-140)

ROOMMATE WANTED. Non-smoking female to share a two-bedroom apartment, one-half block east of campus. $150 a month plus utilities. Call 537-0911. (132-147)

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for summer. Own room, laundry. $130/month. Call 539-2975. (134-138)

NON-SMOKING ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom apartment, own room. June to August, rent negotiable. Call 539-4784 or 537-2967. (134-138)

NICE HOUSE, close to campus, fireplace, summer and/or fall occupancy. $130/month plus utilities. 776-1948. (136-139)

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted to share spacious house near campus, summer and year leases. 539-1820. (136-142)

NON-SMOKING FEMALE—$180/month/year, all utilities paid. Large house, central air/heat, washer, dryer, sundeck, lots of room. No pets. 539-6628. (136-150)

TWO/THREE male summer students, $125/month plus utilities. One block from campus, 1829 College Heights. Also, jobs for summer available. Call 776-4528. (137-138)

PRIVATE BEDROOM in Candlewood home for non-smoking female. $195/month plus deposit and share of utilities. Call 776-0433. (137-142)

MAKE-OVER MODELS

Liquor

Continued from Page 1

good for the state," he said.

Valentino's Pizza, 3019 Anderson Ave., may begin serving drinks, said manager Bruce Hoisington.

Currently, the restaurant is not a club and can only serve 3.2 beer.

"I would assume we would (serve drinks) at some point in time," Hoisington said.

One restaurant that probably will not be making changes is Mr. Steak, 1305 Westloop Place.

"Mr. Steak will probably not go to hard liquor by the drink until we get a feel for what the liability on insurance will do to us," said manager Harold Carr.

Carr said insurance would be a "tremendous cost" for the restaurant. In addition, a liquor license will cost about $2,000 a year, he said.

Because of the expenses, Carr said it would be questionable whether a dinner house would be able to profit from liquor sales.

Mr. Steak has a malt beverage license, he said, which allows for the sale of 3.2 beer.

Carr said he would like to be able to sell dinner wine, but because it requires the same license and insurance as hard liquor, added that he probably would not.

"The question is whether it's worth it or not," he said. "I'm sure that I'll hold off until I get all my costs researched."

With the passage of the liquor bill now complete, only pari-mutuel wagering has not completed its journey through the legislative process. It has passed both houses of the Legislature and is expected to be sent to Hayden during the wrap-up session later this month.

"The constitutional amendment allowing for liquor by the drink was overwhelmingly approved in several Kansas counties, including Johnson, Leavenworth and Wyandotte," Hayden said, explaining his decision to sign the bill in Overland Park. "The amendment also carried in 33 additional counties where this enabling legislation will take effect."

The bill will only affect the 36 counties in which the constitutional amendment carried last November. In the other 69 counties, the private club system will remain for those wanting to drink with their meals. The liquor question can be resubmitted to voters in those 69 counties in 1988, giving them another chance to join the ranks of the wet communities.

"This 78-page bill represents historic changes in our liquor laws," Hayden said. "The Legislature is to be commended for its work in putting forward a measure which reflects the wishes of the voters."

Besides allowing public drinking and Sunday sales of weak beer, the new law will:

- Require liquor-by-the-drink establishments to close from 2-9 a.m., and they could be open seven days per week and on Sundays.

- Allow wholesalers to sell beer and wine to private clubs and liquor-by-the-drink establishments. Currently, clubs have to buy their liquor from retail liquor stores.
- Authorize the 69 dry counties to hold an election every two years on the question of public liquor by the drink. County commissioners could call the election or petitions signed by 10 percent of the voters in the last election could force the question to a vote.
- Permit retail liquor stores to advertise by price and brand beginning July 1, 1989.
- Allow a person to hold a tavern license and retail liquor license at the same time.
- Prohibit stores from selling liquor below acquisition cost.
- Ease state laws governing the distribution and sale of beer to make operation of microbreweries practical.

Baseball

Continued from Page 9

DeNamur	2 0 0 0	Seiler	2 1 1 2
Winebold	0 1 0 0	Donohue	3 0 1 2
Alvarado	2 0 1 0	Greco	2 1 1 1
Gerwitz	2 0 0 0	xxx	x x x x
Totals	16 1 3 0		20 11 x 10

Tarkio	000 01-1
K-State	906 2x-11

E—Gerwitz, Kaifes, Greco. Game-winning RBI—Hinkle (2). DP—K-State 3, LOB—Tarkio 5, K-State 4. 2B—Seiler. 3B—Hinkle, Greco, Donohue. HR—Parsons (1), SB—Braddock (2), Greco, Hinkle.

Tarkio	IP H R ER BB SO
Crozier (L 2-2)	4 8 11 11 6 0

K-State	IP H R ER BB SO
Iseman (W 3-3)	5 3 1 0 4 1

WP—Crozier, Iseman. HBP—Kaufes (by Crozier). T—1:16. A—25.

Second Game

Tarkio	ab r h bi	K-State	ab r h bi
Lopane	4 0 0 0	Gleason	3 0 1 0
Acosta	3 0 1 0	Greco	3 1 1 0
Heller	4 0 0 0	Hinkle	3 1 1 0
Mattson	1 0 0 0	Kaufes	2 0 1 1
Navarro	1 0 0 0	Chadd	3 1 1 1
Gadbois	4 2 2 1	Parsons	0 0 0 0
Zweirink	4 1 3 0	Seiler	1 2 0 0
DeNamur	3 0 0 0	Spangenberg	0 0 0 0
Alvarado	4 0 2 1	Hulse	2 0 0 0
Gerwitz	2 0 1 0	Donohue	3 0 1 3
Bollinger	0 0 0 0	Meis	2 0 0 0
xxx	x x x x	Ringgenberg	0 0 0 0
Totals	30 3 9 2		22 5 6 5

Tarkio	011 000 1-3
K-State	014 000 3-5

E—Gray, Gerwitz, Greco, Lopane, Hulse. Game-winning RBI—Chadd (4). LOB—Tarkio 13, K-State 8. 2B—Alvarado, Gadbois. HR—Gadbois. SB—Hinkle (2), Acosta, Zweirink (3), Bollinger (2), Meis, Greco, Navarro, Gleason. SF—Kaufes.

Tarkio	IP H R ER BB SO
Gray (L 2-2)	2 2 5 4 5 2
Noyes	3 4 0 0 0 5

K-State	IP H R ER BB SO
Kimball	3 3 2 2 4 2
Darnell (W 2-0)	3 3 0 0 2 0
Hinkle (S-1)	1 3 1 1 1 0

HBP—Meis (by Gray), Hulse (by Gray), Hinkle (by Noyes). WP—Kimball, Gray, Noyes. T—2:35. A—25.

Mail

Continued from Page 7

earn the advertised money, most coupons are void if sold or transferred.

All work-at-home schemes have one thing in common, White said: the worker has to buy something before the work can begin.

The BBB offers the following tips in identifying fraudulent work-at-home scams:

- They never offer regular salaried employment.
- They promise huge profits and big part-time earnings.
- They use personal testimonials but never identify the person.
- They assure guaranteed markets and a huge demand for the work done.

Marine's trial recesses without decision

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A pre-trial hearing for a Marine embassy guard accused of espionage recessed Wednesday without any decision on whether he should be bound over for court-martial.

Lt. Col. John Shotwell, a Marine Corps spokesman, said the pre-trial hearing for Sgt. Clayton J. Lonetree recessed at about 4:30 p.m. EDT. He said proceedings would likely be completed Thursday morning "because they only have one or two witnesses left."

Lonetree, 25, is a former guard at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow. He has been accused of becoming involved romantically with a Soviet woman while working in Moscow and then allowing Soviet agents to frequently roam the embassy late at night last year.

Lonetree and his defense attorneys went behind closed doors at 9 a.m. Wednesday to hear prosecuting attorneys present witnesses and other evidence in a bid to justify the start of a court-martial.

During a break in the proceedings, one of Lonetree's defense attorneys told reporters his client had not denied having a relationship with a Soviet woman who worked at the embassy, Violetta Seina.

But Michael V. Stuhff, the attorney, added he was prepared to present evidence that such fraternization was "a very common accepted practice."

"Among the things which will be introduced in evidence, we'll have photographs from the Marine Ball in November of 1985 showing the NCO (non-commissioned officers) in charge with two Soviet women, one under each arm on a sofa, one of them being a KGB colonel, as well as a State Department official with another Soviet woman," Stuhff said.

Lonetree "has been grievously and dangerously chastised, denigrated for engaging in something that he quite frankly was encouraged to do," the attorney said.

"We're very confident that if we have an opportunity to present the facts fairly, that it will be clear to everybody, to the American people, to the public, to the media, to the Marine Corps, that Sgt. Lonetree is a patriotic, young Marine," Stuhff said.

William Kunstler, another Lonetree attorney, said the defense had offered two legal motions on Wednesday, both of which were denied by the hearing officer. The first was a motion to open the pre-trial proceedings to the press and public. The second was a bid to obtain Lonetree's release from the brig on grounds he had been unconstitutionally held for more than 90 days without starting a trial, Kunstler said.

The hearing was held at the Quantico Marine Base in Virginia, just south of Washington, where Lonetree has been held behind bars since the end of December. The Marine Corps imposed a news blackout on the proceedings.

Lonetree's arrest sparked an investigation that has unraveled a major sex-and-spy scandal. Two other

Marines have been charged with espionage as a result of the probe and another has been charged with improper fraternization with Soviet women.

In a related development, the New York Times reported Wednesday the Marine Corps was having trouble gathering evidence to prosecute Lonetree and an alleged accomplice, Cpl. Arnold Bracy. The paper said much of the case against the two men was based on conflicting statements given by the two.

Officials who weren't identified in the story were cited as saying the Reagan administration was now divided over whether to grant immunity from prosecution to Bracy to improve the case against Lonetree.

Robert Sims, the Pentagon's chief spokesman, declined to comment on that report Wednesday, saying only that the pre-trial hearings would decide the adequacy of the government's case.

Slattery

Continued from Page 1

Tarkio	011 000 1-3
K-State	014 000 3-5

E—Gray, Gerwitz, Greco, Lopane, Hulse. Game-winning RBI—Chadd (4). LOB—Tarkio 13, K-State 8. 2B—Alvarado, Gadbois. HR—Gadbois. SB—Hinkle (2), Acosta, Zweirink (3), Bollinger (2), Meis, Greco, Navarro, Gleason. SF—Kaufes.

Tarkio	IP H R ER BB SO
Gray (L 2-2)	2 2 5 4 5 2
Noyes	3 4 0 0 0 5

K-State	IP H R ER BB SO
Kimball	3 3 2 2 4 2
Darnell (W 2-0)	3 3 0 0 2 0
Hinkle (S-1)	1 3 1 1 1 0

HBP—Meis (by Gray), Hulse (by Gray), Hinkle (by Noyes). WP—Kimball, Gray, Noyes. T—2:35. A—25.

we) spend $30 billion to secure this nation, and we can't secure our Moscow embassy," he said.

"Heads should roll," he said. "People should be held accountable for these kinds of stupid mistakes."

Slattery, who went on a fact-finding tour in Nicaragua earlier this year, said he sent a letter with 111 congressional members' signatures to the president.

The letter advocated a 90-day ceasefire so the United States and Nicaragua could discuss U.S. participation in security for the region. The Contras would also be able to negotiate lifting the state of emergency and the date of national elections, he said.

Quit smoking.

WE'RE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE

American Heart Association

Piñata
Restaurante

BREADBASKET NIGHT
Bring us any canned food item & we'll exchange it for a Taco!
All canned goods will then be donated to the Flint Hills Breadbasket (Offer good Thurs., Apr. 16, from 5 p.m. till close)
1219 Bluemont 539-3166 Open Daily at 11 a.m.

LORDS'n LADY'S
Hair Design & Skin Care Studio

2-for-1 haircuts
Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday Mornings Only!
Bring a friend and split the cost with this coupon
218 S. 4th Expires 4/24/87 776-5651

new BEGINNINGS

12 Sessions for $27.50
(with coupon) Expires 4-18-87

1107 N. 3rd, 537-1003
(with coupon)

CLAFLIN
Resumé Service
($10.50-$15 per page)
When we type your resumé, 5 FREE Copies on fine quality paper
Expires May 15, 1987 FirstBank Center
Please present coupon 1814 Claflin
Limit one per customer 776-3771
Open 7 Days

COMPLETS
614 N. Manhattan 539-7021

Perms, Colors, Design Cuts, Manicures & Nails

2-For-1 Wednesdays and Thursdays
Bring in a friend and split the cost of a Design Cut on Wed. and Thurs.
with this coupon—expires 4/24/87
Mon.-Fri. 8-8, Sat. 8-5

GLAMOUR WORLD BEAUTY SUPPLY

20% STORE WIDE Coupon

433 Town East Center, just East of Food 4 Less 537-3233

YOUR NUMBER 1 BEAUTY STOP

Devoted Exclusively to Selling Professional Beauty Products Public Welcome
Expires 4-30-87

50% off
1 p.m. Haircut Appointments with coupon
Monday through Friday
Expires 4/24/87

Crum's beauty college
512 Poyntz 776-4794

Speedy FREE Delivery

1-2-3 OFFER
$1 off a small pizza
$2 off a medium pizza
$3 off a large pizza

NOW SERVING THIN CRUST
Mark Fournier, President Pyramid Pizza
Now Accepting Visa & MasterCard

PYRAMID PIZZA
539-4888
"We Pile It On!"

$7.99 FOR A LARGE SINGLE TOPPING PIZZA
(original crust)
•dine in •carry out •delivery
Add $1 for delivery

GODFREY'S PIZZA
WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?
539-5303
Expires 4-24-87

Crum's Beauty College Perm Special
Perm Wave or Chemical Relaxer
50% off w/ coupon
Monday-Friday 8:45 appts. only
Call 776-4794
Expires 4/24/87

Speedy FREE Delivery

TWO MEDIUM TWO TOPPING PIZZAS $10
TWO LARGE TWO TOPPING PIZZAS $13.50

NOW SERVING THIN CRUST
Mark Fournier, President Pyramid Pizza
Now Accepting Visa & MasterCard

PYRAMID PIZZA
539-4888
"We Pile It On!"

$5.99 FOR A MEDIUM SINGLE TOPPING PIZZA
(original crust)
•dine in •carry out •delivery
Add $1 for delivery

GODFREY'S PIZZA
WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?
539-5303
Expires 4-24-87

Inside

National Champ

Vincent Bly won the first place national championship award in dramatic interpretation in San Diego. See Page 5.

Weather

Mostly Sunny

Mostly sunny and warm today, high 80 to 85. Clear to partly cloudy and continued warm tonight, lows in the low 50s.

Sports

164 5/1/87  8
Kansas State Historical Soc
Topeka, KS 66612

K-State's head football coach Stan Parrish expects Tony Jordan to be the best tailback in the Big Eight Conference this year. See Page 6.

Kansas
State

Collegian

Friday
April 17, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 138

President to consider arms offer

By The Associated Press

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — President Reagan said Thursday that he is optimistic about reaching an agreement this year to limit U.S. and Soviet medium-range nuclear missiles but that there must be a "substantial agreement" ready for signature before a summit can be held.

"We've narrowed the gap a little more," the president said after meeting for more than an hour with Secretary of State George P. Shultz at Reagan's mountaintop Rancho del Cielo.

Shultz briefed the president about the Kremlin proposal to eliminate U.S. and Soviet medium-range missiles from Europe. The secretary flew to California after meeting in Brussels with NATO allies following three days of talks with Soviet leaders in Moscow.

Reagan said the Soviet proposal would be thoroughly discussed with America's West European allies.

"It's clear to me...the visit was very useful," Reagan said in a brief statement to reporters after his meeting with Shultz.

"I look forward and am hopeful that we can have a summit but it must be one carefully planned and prepared and there must be something that we can agree on," Reagan said.

The president added that there would "have to be some substantial agreement that would make it worthwhile to have a summit."

Asked by a reporter whether he could sell it to the Europeans, Reagan said, "that's what we're working on."

Shultz, asked whether Soviet Leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev had put the alliance in a potentially divisive situation with the proposal of removing nuclear weapons from Europe, said: "I don't think that at all."

The secretary said his meeting in Brussels had been "very good."

Shultz left foreign ministers from nine North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries behind in Brussels to ponder whether the Soviet proposal should be accepted.

It would mean the elimination of about 50 shorter-range Soviet nuclear missiles in East Germany and Czechoslovakia, and could also involve the dismantling of about 85 other Scaleboard and Spider missiles in the Soviet Union.

Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev offered to include those weapons, which have a range of 350 to 600 miles, in a treaty to scrap medium-range U.S. and Soviet nuclear missiles except for 100 warheads on each side.

Staff/Greg Vogel

Craig Swenson, freshman in architectural engineering, adjusts his sleeping bag Wednesday evening during his time slot on the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity and Pi Beta Phi sorority pole sit. The event began at noon Sunday and concluded Thursday. The money raised went to Play Units for the Severely Handicapped.

Greeks camp out atop pole

By JEANNETTE O'CONNELL
Collegian Reporter

For 100 hours this week, students slept, did homework and used a telephone while sitting atop a 5-foot square platform more than 12 feet above the ground.

The pole sit, sponsored by the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity and the Pi Beta Phi sorority, began at noon Sunday and continued until 4 p.m. Thursday in front of the Union. This aspect of the philanthropy project raised about $400 in donations.

"The only complaints we got were about the weather," said Mike Seufert, sophomore in agricultural engineering and philanthropy chairman.

The pole was equipped with electricity from the Union, and a telephone was also installed for ordering pizza and calling friends, said Susan Rouse, sophomore in radio-television and philanthropy chairwoman.

The groups had no problem recruiting about 200 volunteers for the two-hour time slots, although the weather dampened the situation, said Bryce St. John, senior in mechanical engineering.

"It's hard to study up there," said Greg Fraizer, freshman in fine arts, "but I've had a blast."

As many as nine people could fit on the platform at a time, even during the rain, Seufert said. A tent was set up to keep pole sitters dry.

All donations will be divided between

See POLE, Page 8

Senators OK groups' funds

By The Collegian Staff

Student Senate tentatively approved the allocation of $13,550.99 in student funds Thursday night.

The organizations requesting funds were Students Against Driving Drunk, U-Learn and the Coalition for Human Rights.

Senate debated for more than one hour on funding for SADD. The group had requested $1,428 in student funds for the 1987-88 school year, while Finance Committee recommended $197.30.

Much of the debate was over the possible redundancy of the SADD program. Several senators questioned whether SADD's focus was too similar to service's offered by the Lafene Student Health Center, U-Learn and the Alcohol and other Drug Education Service.

After a roll call vote, SADD was awarded $207.30. The motion passed 37-9 with 3 abstentions.

U-Learn's request for $16,009.99 was also substantially cut. Senate approved Finance Committee's recommendation that U-Learn receive $12,934.39, an increase from the $12,123.40 the program received last year.

Graduate assistants at U-Learn received a 3 percent increase in salary, short of the requested 30 percent increase.

Finance Committee is recommending that all student salaries paid with student funds receive a uniform

3 percent increase for 1987-88, said Doug Leming, junior in business administration and Finance Committee chairman, before the meeting.

Salaries for U-Learn's Outreach program were eliminated. The program trains and provides student speakers to give presentations on current issues.

Coalition for Human Rights received all of its requested $409.30.

In other business, a bill establishing a uniform fee policy in Student Governing Association Bylaws was postponed indefinitely.

The bill called for changes in student fees to be voted on by Senate at the same time each February, allowing the Kansas Board of Regents time to examine the changes. Fees not covered would have been capital outlay fees and fees to be decided by referendum.

Michelle Benoit, junior in agricultural economics and Senate chairwoman, said the change would clutter the bylaws. If included in Senate Standing Rules, the change would be just as binding and senators wouldn't be hindered should the need arise to make changes in the policy, she said.

Justin Sanders, graduate student in physics and Senate parliamentarian, said a bylaws revision would make it almost impossible for policy exceptions to be implemented. If the policy were included in the standing rules, Senate could make one-time exceptions more easily, he said.

Judge turns down request for records

By The Associated Press

U.S. District Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr. denied a request by the Senate panel investigating the Iran-Contra affair that he order Secord to sign a directive releasing records of foreign bank accounts in Switzerland, Panama and the Cayman Islands.

Lawyers for the Senate committee told Robinson on Monday that investigators believe the accounts were used in the sale of U.S. arms to Iran and diversion of profits to the Nicaraguan rebels known as Contras.

Secord and Albert Hakim, an Iranian-American businessman who was his partner, have been linked by the presidentially appointed Tower commission to foreign bank accounts that were used to facilitate the arms sales.

Robinson ruled that forcing Secord to sign the document would violate his constitutional protection against self-incrimination.

"The court need not resort to conjecture to determine how the communication sought from Secord could potentially incriminate him," Robinson said in the brief opinion that he filed.

During the hearing Monday, Robinson indicated he was troubled by language in the directive stating that Secord was consenting to the release of the bank records. In fact he was being compelled to sign the document, the judge suggested.

Senate lawyers argued that the word "consent" in that context was merely a legal term to satisfy the requirements of foreign bank laws.

The Senate had sought an order threatening Secord with imprisonment for contempt of court if he refused to sign the directive releasing the records.

Swindlers use, abuse communications field

Postal inspectors deter mail fraud

By JENNIFER LINDSEY
Staff Writer

From sweepstakes to travel club offers, Americans receive mail these days that is not always legitimate or legal.

For this reason, several federal agencies keep a close watch on suspicious offers that go through the mail.

The U.S. Postal Service has 300 full-time inspectors who investigate approximately 2,500 civil and criminal cases every year, according to an article in the August 1986 issue of USA Today magazine. Nearly 1,000 of these cases are prosecuted, and 98 percent of them are won by the prosecution, the article stated.

In addition to prosecuting fraudulent companies, the U.S. Postal Inspection Service sometimes puts the companies out of business simply by returning all their mail to the senders. If the companies never receive the money from the innocent bargain-hunters, they can't survive and eventually will close down.

"Unfortunately, these companies are notorious for changing their names and addresses and opening up business somewhere else," said

Marilyn White, operations manager at the Topeka Better Business Bureau.

Although the Postal Inspection Service inspectors cannot be responsible for all the fraudulent offers that go through the mail, they try to make all consumers more aware of the deceit by sending out "gotcha letters" to people who often respond to fraudulent ads.

The letters are deliberately planted by the post office.

One postal inspection letter warned people who sent away for a European Reducing Formula, a fraudulent weight-loss scheme.

The letter stated, "This advertisement is similar to others which the Postal Inspection Service has determined to be fraudulent, according to an article in New Yorker magazine, Jan. 19, 1987."

"Those who responded learned too late that they had become a victim of

See MAIL, Page 8

Jury indicts 3 in telephone scheme

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Three men accused of bilking about 800 investors out of nearly $7 million in what authorities called a discount long-distance telephone service scheme have been indicted on fraud charges.

Named in a 28-count indictment issued Wednesday by a federal grand jury were Larry M. Cheney, founder, sole owner and president of Telecom Management International Inc.; Kenneth C. Briggs, the firm's vice president of operations; and Joseph A. Burkart II, vice president for finance.

Cheney, 37, and Burkart, 46, are from Grain Valley, Briggs, 59, is from Independence. If convicted on all counts, the defendants each would face maximum sentences of 140 years in prison and fines of $154,000.

TMI was set up to sell interests in limited partnerships in cities in Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Illinois and Oklahoma, said Robert Schneider, assistant U.S. attorney.

The limited partnerships were named for the city in which they were set up — St. Joseph Telecom Ltd., for instance — and were to provide discount long-distance telephone service to individual subscribers.

From late 1983 to June 1985, TMI formed 30 limited partnerships in cities in the five states. The defendants sold up to 35 interests in each of the limited partnerships for $7,000 to $8,000 each, Schneider said. About $7 million from about 800 investors was raised, he said.

There was a corporate general partner in each of the general partnerships, and Cheney was president of each of the general partner corporations, according to the indictment.

The general partner was to acquire the telephone equipment and provide the billing and other services for the limited partnership's operation.

Prospective investors were told that proceeds from the sale of limited partnership interests were to be used solely for that partnership and not be commingled with funds of other partnerships, the indictment said.

The investors also were told that money from the sale of limited partnership interests would be held in escrow until at least 20 interests were sold in that partnership.

Prospective investors were told that no money would be disbursed to the general partner until the partnerships were operating and the equipment was installed.

The defendants told investors that each limited partnership would retain either $39,400 or $48,400 as operating capital when all 35 interests in each partnership had been sold, the indictment said.

Investors also were told that the general partner's income and

See PHONE, Page 8

Briefly

By The Associated Press

INTERNATIONAL

Reagan to impose import tariffs

NEW YORK — The United States is expected to slap steep tariffs on a grab bag of Japanese imports today as part of what international business executives call the most serious trade conflict between the economic powers since Japan's postwar reconstruction.

Nevertheless, the executives said prospects remain remote for the sanctions escalating into a trade war, partly because Japanese officials know their nation could not afford one.

"My personal opinion is the Japanese are smart enough to understand this problem. They are deeply concerned that any confrontation with the United States is very detrimental to the Japanese," said Sam Kusumoto, president of Minolta Corp., maker of cameras and copiers.

President Reagan is expected to announce the tariffs today in retaliation for alleged Japanese violation of a 1986 agreement to open Japan's home market to American-made computer chips and to avoid "dumping" chips at unfair low costs in other countries.

Argentine leader urges surrender

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — President Raul Alfonsin on Thursday urged a renegade army major and his backers holed up for a second night in a Cordoba infantry camp to surrender rather than fight.

The confrontation represented the worst crisis of Alfonsin's 40-month-old administration.

The major, Ernesto Barreiro, took refuge in Regiment 14 late Wednesday in defiance of federal judges seeking his testimony in connection with the abductions, tortures and disappearances of suspected leftists from 1976-83 at La Perla detention camp.

"There is nothing to negotiate. The Argentine democracy is not negotiable," Alfonsin said in a nationwide radio and television address before a cheering Congress. "Obey the orders of your superiors (and give up)."

He said Argentina is not willing to surrender "so much as a millimeter in its support of democracy," and said an outpouring of popular support across the nation Thursday "demonstrates the firmness of the decision to consolidate democracy and the isolation of (the rebels)."

REGIONAL

Murder case rests for Parsons man

SALLISAW, Okla. — The state rested its case Thursday against a Parsons man charged with first-degree murder in the death of his wife, who prosecutors allege was pushed off a cliff.

Patrick Ryan is charged in the Aug. 11, 1985, death of his wife, Diane, at Tenkiller State Park.

A medical examiner testified Diane Ryan died of internal injuries, including broken ribs that punctured her lungs.

Leslie Reans testified Wednesday that she and her friends met the Ryans at the campground and that she provided cocaine for Diane Ryan the night of her death.

Reans said she later heard sounds like a struggle from the direction of the Ryans' tent. Then she said she heard Patrick Ryan scream.

When she went out, Reans said, she knew "it was something horrible by the expression on his face. He kept repeating 'Diane.'"

Ryan was looking down the cliff in the direction Diane Ryan had fallen, Reans said. She said when she got to where Diane Ryan was lying on the ground, "I thought she was already dead. There wasn't a place where she wasn't lying on a rock."

NATIONAL

K-State graduate wins Pulitzer

DES MOINES, Iowa — A K-State graduate was the recipient of a 1987 Pulitzer Prize for feature photography, awarded Thursday.

David Peterson of the Des Moines Register said he cried after hearing he won the award for a moving series of pictures depicting "the shattered dreams of American farmers."

Peterson, 37, said he was returning to Des Moines from a freelance assignment in Ottumwa when he heard of his award on a radio newscast, pulled over and called Sherry Riccahiardi, the reporter who had worked on the series.

Peterson has been on the Register staff since June 1977 and previously worked for the Topeka Capital-Journal. He has a degree in education from K-State and a journalism degree from the University of Kansas.

He said nothing professionally compares with the feeling he has about receiving the Pulitzer.

In the journalism category, the top award winner was The Philadelphia Inquirer, which won three prizes, including two for investigative reports that revealed pervasive court corruption and helped win a prisoner a new trial.

The Pulitzer Prize Board also awarded a special citation to Joseph Pulitzer Jr. for his 31 years as chairman of the Pulitzer board and for his accomplishments as an editor and publisher. Pulitzer is the chairman of the Pulitzer Publishing Co.

FCC to tighten obscenity control

WASHINGTON — The Federal Communications Commission, in actions against three radio stations and an amateur broadcaster Thursday, put broadcasters across the country on notice that it will impose a broader definition of indecency over the airwaves.

The commission asked the Justice Department to consider prosecuting a California radio station for broadcasting an allegedly obscene program and issued warnings to two other stations — including one airing controversial morning-show personality Howard Stern.

The FCC also warned all broadcasters it would no longer limit its definition of indecency to the "seven dirty words" broadcast in a George Carlin monologue of the same name, which led to a Supreme Court decision. The agency also said broadcasting after 10 p.m. was no longer safe harbor.

"What we are doing is correcting an altogether too narrow interpretation of indecency," said Commissioner Dennis R. Patrick, who will take over as FCC chairman next week, succeeding Mark S. Fowler.

Official reveals NASA 'slush fund'

WASHINGTON — One of the Morton Thiokol engineers who tried to stop the fatal launch of the space shuttle Challenger claims the company received money from NASA to hire 18 quality control and safety people but "the money was used instead as a slush fund for Thiokol."

In a paper filed with U.S. District Court, engineer Roger Boisjoly also said his warning in July 1985 of possibly catastrophic failure of seals on the shuttle booster rockets was immediately classified as "company private" by Thiokol and withheld from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The Challenger exploded on Jan. 28, 1986, after 73 seconds of flight, killing the crew of seven. The Rogers Commission that investigated the disaster found it was caused by a leak of hot gases streaming from the ship's right booster rocket.

Boisjoly is suing the company on his own behalf and on behalf of the taxpayers.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT in Holtz Hall has many services available to students, including career counseling, letter, data sheet and resume preparation advice.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT students who will be completing requirements for their degrees in the Spring or Summer to report employment or other plans if firm, or solicit help in Holtz Hall if seeking employment.

COORDINATED UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM IN DIETETICS applications are available in Justin 107, and are due May 1.

STUDENT GOVERNING ASSOCIATION applications are available for the position of Elections Committee Chairperson in SGS office. They are due today by 5 p.m.

TODAY

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Linda J. Edwards at 4 p.m. in Blumont 368. The dissertation topic is "A Study of the Relationship of Parent Involvement, School Climate, and Student Achievement."

INTER VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP meets at 7 p.m. at the south doors of the Union.

TUESDAY

STUDENTS IN SOLIDARITY WITH CENTRAL AMERICA meets at 9 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

AG AMBASSADORS meets at 6 p.m. in Waters Reading Room.

NATIONAL AGRI-MARKETING ASSOCIATION meets at 7 p.m. in Union 207.

ASSOCIATION OF ADULTS RETURNING TO SCHOOL meets at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

GLAFLIN Books & Copies

- Professional Resumes
- 46 Self Service Copies
- Full Service Copy Center
- Quality Dissertation Copying

OPEN DAILY

M-F 8-9 Sat. 9-5 Sun. 12-9
FirstBank Center Denison & Claflin
776-3771

Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

Sub Stuff Sandwich Shop

We Deliver!
537-DELI

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat!

—FREE SAMPLES—

I Can't Believe It's YOGURT!

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily
Noon-11 p.m. Sundays
Neutius Towers—Aggieville

إلى الطلبة العرب
ستقام في الساعة السادسة مساءً 4/17/87
في كاساس سنيت يوميون عرفة 8 وعظيمة
بمنازل: حقوق الإنسان العربي في الوطن العربي
وسوف نقدم المحاضرة الدكتور: علي أليامي
رئيس جمعية حقوق الإنسان في الوطن العربي

A lecture on human rights in the Arab world
By: Dr. Ali Alyami At: Union Big 8
Time: 6 p.m.
Date: Friday, April 17, 1987
Sponsored by: The Coalition of Human Rights.

أنا جميع الطلبة العرب
في مناهل كاساس
ستقوم جمعية الطلبة العرب بفتح
اجتماع يوم الجمعة 17/4/87
في قاعة المساء 6:30
"International Student Center"
ودلكا لنسبح الفرصة للجميع
للمشاركة في الانتخابات.

The Arab Student Association will hold a meeting this Friday, at the International Student Center, at 6:30 p.m.

Congratulations to the 1987-88 Officers

President: Brett Sowers
Vice President: Royalee Rhoads
Secretary: Karen Sauer
Treasurer: Paul Stamy
Ag Council Rep: Doug Triplett
Reporter: Patrick Splichal
Football Parking: Mike Legleiter & Jeff Naysmith
Photographer: Susan Howard
Advisor: Dr. Halvin

COUNTRY GIFT SHOP

Books • Dolls • Folk Art • Home Decor
"East of Holidome"
Mon.-Sat. 10-4:30 539-3854
2208 E. Riley Blvd. Manhattan, KS. 66502

BALLARD'S SPORTING GOODS COMPETITIVE EDGE! SOFTBALL & BASEBALL HEADQUARTERS

For all your equipment needs: Bats, Balls, Gloves, Bases, Bage, Scorebooks, Rule Books, Umpire Equipment, Catchers Equipment, Bat Grips, Pine Tar, Glove Oil, Batter's Gloves, Batter's Helmets, Sliding Pads.

Ballard's

Saturday, April 18
1-5 p.m.

Meet Steve Martin; author of Flint Hills Bicycle Journeys. Steve will autograph your copy of his book and chat with you about favorite local bike rides

Tuesday, April 21
7 p.m.

Free Seminar- "Cycling in the Flint Hills—Getting Started"

at

1111 Moro Aggieville

BONKERS

TONITE & SATURDAY
$2.50
PITCHERS
1216 Laramie
537-9591

SPAGHETTI SUNDAY

ALL YOU CAN EAT
SPAGHETTI AND GARLIC BREAD!!
ONLY $3.25
SERVING 5-8 p.m.

SUNDAY LUNCH TOO

619 N. 12TH, Aggieville

K-State Players presents

She Stoops
To Conquer
April 17, 18, 22-25
Nichols Theatre
8 p.m.
Call 532-6398
Mon.-Fri. 12-5

Celebrate Easter at Dairy Queen

Come to scrumdillyishusland for all your favorite Dairy Queen Treats!

Dairy Queen Brazier

1015 N. 3rd • Manhattan
12th & Moro • Aggieville

The Station

FRIDAY

THE BAR
FREE TGIF BUFFET

ROUND OF BEEF CARVED TO ORDER
DOO-DAHS
CHEESE AND CRACKERS

THE RESTAURANT
SURF AND TURF SPECIAL

6oz FILET BUTTERFLY SHRIMP, SALAD BAR, POTATO & BREAD, ONLY $8.95

1115 Moro, Aggieville 776-0030

Auntie Mae's Parlor

AGGIEVILLE

FRIDAY

VODKA

DRINKS

$1.50

DRAWS

75¢

Free

Hors D'oeuvres

616 N. 12th

539-9967

Auntie Mae's Parlor

AGGIEVILLE

SATURDAY

TONIC

DRINKS

$1.50

SCHNAPPS

$1.00

616 N. 12th

539-9967

Backyard barber

Dagmar Fischer, graduate in business administration, receives an afternoon trim Thursday from Ingrid Hoffmann, graduate in foods and nutrition science. Temperatures in the 80s made the backyard of their residence at the corner of Ninth and Laramie streets inviting for a haircut.

Staff/Chris Stewart

Mail saved from flood water

By The Associated Press

CONCORDIA — Add submersion to the list of hazards that won't deter postal officials in north-central Kansas from delivering the mail.

More than a thousand pieces of mail submerged when a U.S. Postal Service truck and a mail carrier went into the flood waters of the Buffalo Creek Wednesday have been recovered, according to Richard Mason, superintendent of postal operations in Concordia. The mail will be delivered Saturday, he said.

Farmer David Walker, 25, dove into the creek and used an ax to shatter the rear window of the truck and drag substitute rural mail carrier Donald Hutchinson, 64, to safety.

"I thought I was going to die," said Hutchinson, a retired grocer who was substituting for a sick mail carrier.

"This may be the last day to file income taxes, but this is the first day of the rest of my life," Hutchinson said Wednesday.

Hutchinson had been talking with Walker and another farmer, Greg Thoman, minutes before he took a wrong turn and was swept into the creek. Thoman threw Walker the ax used in the rescue.

Heavy rain sent flood waters to their highest levels since 1951 on the Saline and Solomon rivers this week.

Mason said a sheriff's vehicle towed the mail truck and seven bundles of mail out of the creek Wednesday night. Newspapers wrapped around other mail soaked up most of the water and protected the rest of the mail, Mason said.

"It's not as bad as you might think," Mason said. "We've got it in the basement, drying out."

Two electric fans were used to speed the drying of the mail, which contained only one income tax return, Mason said. The person filing the return was aware of its submersion, and filed a duplicate, Mason said.

Collegian Classifieds
Where K-State Shops

BUSHWACKERS
THE FUNDRINKERY

Don't Miss...
COMEDY INVASION
Monday at 9 p.m.

Jack Simmons
531 N. Manhattan

Every Bunny Loves RUNZA!

Italian, Cheese and Original Runzas!

French fries,
onion rings and sensational shakes!

HAPPY EASTER!

We're In To Something Good At

1101 Moro

RUNZA
DRIVE IN RESTAURANT

Aggieville

FORGET SOMETHING?

New yearbooks
will arrive soon
(May 4-6)

We need to clear space
for the 1987 yearbook!

These are just a few of the people who still haven't picked up their 1986 Royal Purple Yearbooks:

Netipo Rithisorn
Ryan Robertson
Larry Rodgers
Mitchel Rodriguez
Jolene Rohleder
Susan Ross
Gregory Rudiger
Mary Rule
Jennifer Rutter
Aaron Ryan

Shelly Saathoff
Sari Sambawa
Linda Sanchez
Laura Sargent
Beatr Satterfield
Catherine Saylor
Hassan Sayyar
David Schaefer
Jon Schaefer
Bruce Schaefer

Wolfgang Schaller
Angel Scharnhorst
Tracy Schemper
Richard Schenk
Scott Schmoker
Michael Schnelle
Krist Schnobellen
Kelly Schoen
Shawn Schrader
Lee Schruck

Jeff Schroeder
Rochell Schroeder
Michael Schussler
Li Schweitzberger
Timothy Schwering
Diego Segui
Gary Sepulveda
Jeff Setzer
Frederi Severance
Christina Shannon

Michael Sharpe
Shelly Shaw
Angela Shell
Denise Shepherd
Brian Sherwood
Willia Sheverbush
Kelly Shoemake
Heidi Shults
Jeffery Silkman
Kelly Simcox

Chad Simpson
Brett Sims
Ellen Sinclair
Stan Skwarlo
Nanette Sloan
Cara Smith
Kathleen Smith
Porter Smith
Wendy Smith

Bring your KSU ID to Kedzie 103 M-F 8-5 p.m.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

announces

Collegian & Royal Purple Editing, Photography,
Reporting & Sales
Opportunities

Applications & Job Descriptions
Available in Kedzie 103

SUMMER COLLEGIAN Advertising Positions

Assistant Manager
Tearsheet Manager
Sales Representatives (5)

SUMMER COLLEGIAN News Positions

Managing Editor
Photo Editor
Campus/Business Editor
Summer Life/City Editor
Opinions/Copy Editor
Staff Writers (5)
Columnists (2)

1988 ROYAL PURPLE Positions

Assistant Editor
Photo Editor
Copy Editor
Academics/Organizations
Editor
Sports Editor
Housing/Index Editor
Student Life Editor
Production Supervisor

APPLICATIONS DUE
KEDZIE 103
TODAY

Hardee's delicious regular roast beef sandwich. Now just 99¢, plus tax! Every day.
But only for a limited time!

Hardee's

We're out to win you over™

Offer good at participating Hardee's restaurants.
© 1987, Hardee's Food Systems, Inc.

*Our Aggieville restaurant delivers.
537-2526

People should beware of mail-order schemes

The setting: a mailbox. A person withdraws a solitary brown envelope from the tin box and reads the message inside:

"Congratulations! You are the lucky recipient of a free, fabulous, fun-filled weekend to the wintry paradise of Berkner Island, located just inside the Antarctic Circle."

This mail-order excursion may sound like the dream vacation for snowphiles, but mail-order travel bargains can transform a vacation from work into a nightmarish adventure.

The free vacation often has an expensive, useless price tag, such as membership in a travel club, that the unsuspecting client must pay after accepting the trip.

Fraudulent mail-order promotions come in other styles and possess a variety of misperceived advantages.

Get-rich-quick schemes prey on the poor and uneducated who believe they can earn a fortune clipping coupons, stuffing envelopes or making handmade toys while relaxing in their easy chairs.

Sweepstakes and giveaways look easy to enter. All a person needs to do is put the stickers in the appropriate boxes and mail the card. But the anxious contestants don't realize they will be competing against 1 million other eager bodies.

Mail-order offers seem to have terrific bargains on junk a person normally wouldn't consider buying.

Unfortunately, the $13 bargain toy piano could have been purchased off the shelf for $3, while the grapefruit diet pills and starch blockers turn out to be more examples of medical quackery.

These fraudulent schemes will only continue if the public remains ignorant of the companies' true natures.

To protect themselves from mail-order rip-offs, people should take advantage of the Better Business Bureau's services and educate themselves.

'Harmless' jokes often become gravely tragic

A bad sense of humor combined with a lack of judgment could easily be a deadly combination. When contemplating a prank, a basic guideline to follow is: Don't do it if it could kill somebody.

Unfortunately, this is a lesson students at Wesley College in Dover, Del., are learning the hard way. An 18-year-old student at the college died this week when he was trapped in his dorm room by a fire started by a prankster's smoke bomb. Four others were injured in the 2 a.m. fire.

Although the joker didn't intend to kill anyone, his actions can't be dismissed lightly. The obvious danger of the bomb's toxic smoke, and its hazard to the sleeping students, should have been enough to stop a sensible person from pulling this prank.

Too often, someone can get hurt as a result of what was meant to be a "harmless" prank. Unfortunately, college campuses are hotbeds for this kind of trickery. If college could teach people to think before they act, more than one life could be saved.

The smoke from a fire can be as dangerous as the flames. It's hard to find the humor in lighting a smoke bomb in an enclosed dormitory where hundreds of people are sleeping. It's not hard to find the stupidity in a "joke" that proves fatal.

Drunk-proof autos not best solution to crisis

At least one manufacturer is developing its own solution to combat the drunk driving problem — drunk-proof autos.

These cars have locked ignitions that won't unlock until the driver breathes into a device that measures if the driver has had too much to drink. If the driver isn't sober, the car won't start. Some states, including Ohio, Maryland and Michigan, have already put the breath-test ignition lock into effect and about a dozen other states are considering it as well.

While the device sounds like a long-awaited solution to the problem of drunk driving, there are disadvantages that warrant further research of this machine. The biggest disadvantage is that the inconvenience would outweigh its usefulness, which is itself in doubt. There would be nothing more inconvenient — not to mention unsanitary — than having to blow into a mouthpiece before starting your car. In addition to the annoyance, these machines have been proven to not always be accurate. There is evidence that mouthwash can set it off.

There is also the problem of fooling the machines. Researchers say the machines aren't foolproof, although steps have been taken to make tampering difficult.

Still, what's to keep a sober friend from breathing into the machine? Of course someone who would do that on behalf of a drunk driver is no friend, but that's another sad situation.

Another problem would be preventing an intoxicated individual from borrowing or taking a car not equipped with the device.

The problem of drunk driving definitely needs to be confronted, but designing drunk-proof cars, at this time, is not the magical, elusive solution.

Eternal hope exists for suicidal

The tragic, untimely deaths of a K-State freshman and a 37-year-old Manhattan man last week really trouble me. I was very saddened when I heard about Stephen Lobmeyer apparently taking his own life, and again a few days later, when Larry McCormick apparently did the same. What I find ironic is that Easter — the day we celebrate the resurrection of Jesus Christ — is just around the corner. It is the greatest day of hope in history.

When Jesus walked on the earth some 2,000 years ago, He was not living what you might call the "American dream." He was rejected, very poor, did not receive any degrees, did not have a place of His own and wasn't even "attractive" (Isaiah 53:2). But before He became a man, Jesus existed with His Heavenly Father in paradise. He chose to give up all His riches in Heaven for our sake and live a life of poverty so that we could become "rich."

Of course, we all know the story about how Jesus went throughout the land healing every kind of sickness, giving sight to the blind, restoring the bodies of those who were handicapped and even raising the dead. Because of these miracles, many believed and followed Him, but He also made a lot of people angry...especially the religious leaders!

Most religious leaders thought they were "all right" with God; after all, they worshipped regularly and did good to their fellow man. But Jesus preached a different message to them: a message of repentance, of turning 180 degrees back to God and receiving His free gift of living eternally with Him. He said we all have done at least one thing in our lives that is displeasing to our Heavenly Father; therefore, we are "all wrong" with Him.

PAULA ENLOW
Guest
Columnist

Some people living at that time did not like this idea. They didn't want to believe Him, they didn't want to change, they didn't want to consider the hereafter — they were happy enough as it was. They tried to stone Him because "He claimed equality with God." Ultimately, they crucified Him for that very reason.

But the good news is that His death made possible the complete forgiveness of our sins, and that on the day we've come to know as Easter, after three days in the grave, Jesus rose from the dead. More than 500 people saw Him during the next few weeks, until He eventually ascended into Heaven and sat down at the right hand of His Father. At this special place, He is constantly defending the members of God's family — ALL those who believe — and declaring each one "not guilty" and "all right." This is a great comfort to me and could be to others who are also struggling with painful shortcomings.

This reminds me of Stephen's arrest last week. Maybe among his last thoughts was his standing in front of a municipal court judge, hearing the verdict "guilty" and seeing his world come crashing down around him. But we need not fear mere man; rather we should be certain that when we stand before the judge of all the earth, our hearts are pure.

Maybe Larry, being recently divorced, could not stand the thought of being "alone" the rest of his life. But we can be assured that we are NEVER alone, no matter how alone we feel. Jesus can be, and would love to be, our constant companion and friend. How many of us knew Stephen or Larry but missed the opportunity to pass on this hope that is within us?

This Easter weekend, consider this: If Jesus is who He says He is, then He truly is Lord and we can turn to Him for help and guidance. If what He said is not true, He was either intentionally lying or a complete maniac.

Is He Lord, liar or lunatic? You be the judge.

(NOTE: While I am well aware that some who read this column may not agree with one word in it, I also know the ideas and truths presented here have literally changed the lives of millions of people throughout the world. My intention is not to stir up any big controversy, but to offer hope to those who feel there is none).

Paula Enlow is a junior in exercise science.

"WHEN WE WANT CITIZEN PARTICIPATION, WE'LL ASK FOR IT!"

Eating disorders can be solved

I haven't felt very good about myself lately. I've managed to keep just one step ahead of classes, work and everything I have to finish in order to graduate. But the feelings of inadequacy, insecurity, anxiety and loneliness have been haunting me almost continuously.

I can tell when I'm losing control of my life. I panic very easily. I withdraw from social activities, yet I want and need companionship. I put down my own accomplishments and abilities. I sleep too much, exercise too little and eat all the wrong things or don't eat at all.

And that's what has been bothering me the most. My weight and my eating habits.

My preoccupation with my weight is somewhat normal. I've always had problems with that and probably always will. It's how I've been dealing with the preoccupation lately that's starting to get to me. I can see myself heading toward a solution which is not a solution but more of a problem.

It's not uncommon for college students, particularly women, to be overly concerned with weight and appearance. But what is becoming more prevalent and more dangerous is how we are dealing with the concern. I'm talking about the pervasiveness of eating disorders — anorexia nervosa and bulimia.

Studies have indicated these two disorders are reaching almost epidemic proportions among women from the early teens to the early 30s. It has been estimated 20 percent of the college population is affected by one of the disorders. Those estimates range from as low as 10 percent to as high as 33 percent. Chances are you know someone who is currently suffering from one of these disorders or who is recovering from one of them.

The majority of the reported cases of either anorexia or bulimia are women — 90-95 percent of all cases. Cases have been reported of women older than 30 being affected or children in grade school showing signs of the disorders. One study indicates

JEAN TELLER
Collegian
Columnist

bulimia as the primary means of controlling weight among college women.

What are these disorders?

Anorexia nervosa is self-imposed starvation characterized by the intense fear of becoming obese, the disturbance of body image (claiming to feel fat even when emaciated), the loss of at least 25 percent of original body weight within a relatively short period of time and the refusal to maintain weight over a minimal weight for age and height.

Bulimia is characterized by recurrent episodes of binge eating followed by purging through self-induced vomiting, laxatives, fasting, severe dieting and/or vigorous exercise. The binges may last from a few minutes to a couple of hours and the number of calories consumed can range from 1,000 to 55,000 per binge. Many bulimics will binge and purge up to 10 times a day, while others may show the signs only on certain occasions.

Why are women primarily affected by the disorders? It has been theorized that men have more acceptable avenues to express extreme emotions — especially anger — and as a culture, we demand more from women, especially when it comes to weight and appearance. The women who develop either of the disorders are usually emotionally isolated, are more often overachievers or perfectionists, tend to make greater demands on themselves and may have problems dealing with emotions.

Most of those who suffer from the disorders have a distorted body perception, have low self-esteem and are unable to deal with or identify uncomfortable feelings. Studies have also indicated the role of the family affects the anorexic or bulimic. Families of a person with an eating disorder may have difficulty in communicating; may be overprotective of the individual; may be very rigid in attitudes toward weight, perfection, social conformity, etc.; may be overemotional or emotionally unresponsive; and may have difficulty in resolving conflicts.

Women who fall into the patterns of either eating disorder report an almost addictive quality of the disorder. They feel anorexia and bulimia are easy methods of controlling weight. They report the feeling of food losing its reality and that their perception of food changes. Food becomes an enemy rather than a necessary consumption.

Both disorders can cause serious physical and psychological damage. Both can ultimately result in death. The disorders are usually symptoms of underlying emotional stress but can also cause more stress and depression on top of the original problem. Anorexics usually do not realize there is a problem and most often must be brought by family or friends to seek help. The bulimic is more apt to know something is wrong and will often seek help on his or her own.

Both disorders are difficult problems for an individual to work on alone. Professional assistance is needed to overcome the problems of the disorders and the underlying causes.

There are professionals who understand and are available to help. There is no reason why anyone should continue on the roller coaster of eating disorders, there is no reason why anyone should risk her life to maintain an unrealistic and unhealthy attitude toward herself and her weight. There is no reason why anyone should feel guilty or bad about herself. There are people who can help.

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR
Jonie Trued
MANAGING EDITOR
Sue Dawson
NEWS EDITOR
Erin Eichler

EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
Deron Johnson
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson
ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinett

EDITORIAL BOARD: Susan Baird, Kirk Caraway, Sue Dawson, Jim Dietz, Erin Eichler, Judy Goldberg, Ron Honig, Pat Hund, Deron Johnson, Sarah Kessinger, Judy Lundstrom, Margaret May, Scott Miller, Andy Nelson, Patti Paxson, Julie Reynolds, Chris Stewart, Teresa Temme, Jonie Trued. Unsigned editorials represent the majority opinion of the editorial board.

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291-620) is published by Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, daily except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-4655. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Staff photos/Steve Wolgast

Vincent Bly, senior in theater, won first place in dramatic interpretation from a field of 92 entrants in a national competition at San Diego State University this week. Bly wants to attend Julliard or another East Coast school to work on a master of fine arts degree.

Drama student captures national title

By JEANNETTE O'CONNELL
Collegian Reporter

Speech Unlimited traveled to San Diego and returned this week with a national champion from the American Forensics Association National Individual Events Tournament.

Vincent Bly, senior in theater, won the first place national championship award in dramatic interpretation. Ninety-two students from schools across the nation competed in the event.

"Once I got back, I started freaking out (about the award)," Bly said.

Bly qualified for the national competition at the district tournament in March at Stephen F. Austin State University, Nacogdoches, Texas. Four other students who competed in the national tournament were Brad Atchison, junior in speech; Jon Mertz, senior in speech; Lara Dillinger, freshman in secondary education; and Andrea Jarvis, freshman in modern languages. Atchison advanced to the quarter finals in his event, after dinner speaking.

Bly said his piece was taken from George Wolfe's play "The Colored Museum," a satirical rendition of a black stereotype.

"It was a humorous and yet serious piece," said Lynne Ross, instructor in speech and forensics director, who accompanied the students to the competition.

In the piece, a 10-minute compilation from three vignettes of the play, Bly portrays seven distinct characters.

"I've always done pieces with a variety of characters," Bly said. "Once I got bored I could move on to another character and another section of the play."

This is the third year Bly has competed at the national tournament. In 1984, Bly received second place in poetry.

"(Bly's) biggest challenge was to stay in control," Ross said. "The whole event is such a long process, sometimes you think it's an endurance contest."

Overall, 120 schools and 427 students participated in the four-day competition.

K-State tied for 25th place overall, Ross said. Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., was first, followed by Southern Utah State College, Cedar

City and George Mason University, Fairfax, Va.

Funding for the event is allocated through the Arts and Sciences Council, but students paid for their own food and entertainment on the trip. But, with all the events taking place, the group had little time for entertainment, Ross said.

"Preparations for the tournament began last fall. Students must fulfill rigorous qualifications, and those who make it (to the national competition) are really good," Ross said.

To qualify for the national competition, an entry must place either first, second or third in an event for three meets during the year or place in the top 10 percent in an event at the district tournament.

"It's pretty exciting just to be there," Ross said.

Bly, who considers himself a performing artist and not solely an actor, said he plans to attend graduate school and receive a master of fine arts at Julliard School in New York or other school in the east.

Long-distance charges to see increase in July

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Federal Communications Commission voted Thursday to increase the monthly line charge paid by residential telephone subscribers by $1.50 over the next two years, beginning with a 60-cent boost in July.

The increase — which sets the charge at $3.50 by April 1989 — won unanimous support of the five-member commission as a way to further reduce long-distance rates and discourage large business users from leaving the public telephone network to build their own networks.

FCC Chairman Mark S. Fowler said the increase in combination with other changes in telephone cost allocations will mean "the American public can continue to look forward to affordable telephone service provided by the most modern, efficient telecommunications network in the world."

"The American public will come out ahead," said Fowler, who will leave the commission this week after nearly six years as chairman.

The first increment will add 60 cents to customers' bills on July 1, an additional 60 cents in December 1988 and up to 30 cents in April 1989.

The increase will be used in part to finance a program called Linkup America, an aid program that will pay half, or up to $30, of the cost of telephone installation charges for low-income households. The commission estimates that about 5 million American households could be eligible for the program.

The proposal was approved last month by an advisory board of FCC members and state telephone regulators, who voted to begin the plan June 1.

The commission voted to delay the first increment one month to give additional time to review tariffs that will pass through the increase to reduce long-distance rates and to provide skeptics in Congress more information to justify the increase.

The FCC, in another compromise with congressional opponents, also agreed to delay the second increment until Dec. 1. The commission said it would provide additional time to review the impact of the first increase.

Introducing

New rigid gas permeable contact lenses that offer sharp vision, long-term comfort and the convenience of daily or extended wear—to anyone who can wear contact lenses, even those with astigmatism. They are firm and easier to handle than soft lenses and will last longer and save you time and money.

PAYMENT PLANS AVAILABLE

Drs. Price, Young, Odle, and Horsch, P.A.
Optometrists

1119 Westloop Place, Manhattan, KS 66502 (913) 537-1118

537-1118

CELEBRATE RESURRECTION with the Easter People

First Presbyterian Church

801 Leavenworth

Three Services of Christ's Resurrection

7:00 Sunrise Service in the Church Park Led by the Senior Highs
8:00 a.m. Easter Breakfast in Fisher Hall
8:30 & 11:00 Special Services of Worship
Sermon by Rev. Dr. Philip S. Gittings
"Though The Powers Seal The Tomb"
9:30 Sunday School for all ages
Special Childrens Easter Event
C.O.R. Bible Study meets Tuesdays at 5:30 p.m. Room 204 K-State Union
Christ Is Risen Risen Indeed

KLEPPER KORNER STORE

206 Leavenworth
Phone 776-7512

OPEN

6 a.m.-11 p.m.

SPECIAL
32 oz. PEPSI
AND

Your Choice Of

DELI EXPRESS SANDWICH
ONLY

Offer Good
4-12 to 4-19

$1.29

Regular Price
$1.67

COUPON

32 oz. PEPSI
and DELI EXPRESS SANDWICH

ONLY $1.29

Please
Present
This
Coupon

Coupon Good 4-12 to 4-19

OUR NEIGHBORHOOD

Harddee's

DELIVERY SERVICE

537-2526

Student Publications
announces

Collegian
Reporting & Sales
Opportunities

Applications & Job Descriptions available in
Kedzie 103

FALL COLLEGIAN NEWS POSITIONS

Managing Editor	Government Editor
News Editor	Agribusiness Editor
Campus Editors	Staff Writers
Copy Editors	Sports Writers
Editorial Page Editor	Columnists
Feature Editor	Reviewer
Special Projects Editor	Cartoonist
Sports Editor	Graphic Artists
Arts & Entertainment Editor

FALL COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING POSITIONS

Assistant Manager
Sales Representatives
Regional Representative
Campus Representatives
Classified Representative
Graphic Artists

Applications due
Kedzie 103
Friday, April 24th

THIS WEEKEND
RIP & MO MAKE THE DEALS

What's the Deal?

-99¢ Well Drinks Fri. & Sat.
-FREE Cover Fri. & Sat.
-Bar Burgers ONLY 39¢, or 3 for a $1, 11 p.m.-1 a.m. Fri. & Sat.
-FREE TGIF Taco Bar, 5-7 p.m.

RIP & MO's
aggieville's rock-n-roll bar
710 N. Manhattan, Aggieville tel. 539-9706

Relays first 'major' outdoor meet for 'Cats

By DAVE WAGNER
Sports Writer

What has become known as the rainy days Kansas Relays most likely will be a sunny day relays this year if the weatherman's forecast of clear skies prevails through the weekend.

In the last decade it has almost become a tradition for foul weather to accompany the Kansas Relays, one of the Midwest's biggest outdoor track meets, head coach John Capriotti said.

"It really is a funny thing. I would say that it has rained there at least seven of the last 10 years."

Even so, Capriotti said that the relays are still one of the biggest meets in the country and have consistently attracted outstanding competition.

For the K-State men's and women's track teams this will be the first "major" meet of the outdoor track season, Capriotti said.

"The Kansas Relays is always one of the biggest meets of the year for us because we have so many runners from the state of Kansas, both men and women," Capriotti said. "This weekend we're looking for some real good performances across the board."

K-State will field a full team for the two-day non-scoring meet. Capriotti said the Wildcat squad will have several athletes in most of the individual events and several relays.

"We're running what we feel are some good relay teams and some good individual people, like our All-Americans (Kenny) Harrison, (Pinkie) Suggs and Felicia Carpenter," Capriotti said.

Capriotti isn't intentionally holding anyone out of the meet, but expressed displeasure over several rule changes the Kansas Relays officials have recently implied on qualifying standards for the meet. One of the new rules is keeping Steve Henson from participating in the decathlon, one of his premier events.

"Steve was second best in the country last year in the decathlon," Capriotti said. "He was held out of the decathlon because they said that his mark wasn't good enough. All that I can say is that if Steve Henson isn't good enough for their meet, who else is?"

Capriotti said that there were two other athletes whose qualifying marks were two days late and they weren't allowed to enter.

Many of the rule changes, he said, were made in an attempt to have a higher-quality meet. Instead, Capriotti believes that the changes are taking away from the meet.

"(The Kansas Relays) was one of the biggest meets in the country," he said. "But it has gone down a bit because of some of the rules they are putting on it.

"If I can't get my best people in the meet then it's not a meet we're going to want to go back to in the future and there are a lot of other coaches who are mad about it too," he added. "(KU relays officials are) going to have to make some concessions...and they know it."

The Kansas Relays will host approximately 3,500 athletes in high school, college and an open divisions. Opening ceremonies for the relays are scheduled for 1 p.m. Saturday at the Jim Hershberger Track.

Other universities slated to compete this weekend are: Air Force, Arkansas State, Bradley, Colorado State, Drake, Illinois State, Iowa, Iowa State, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, Oklahoma State, Southern Illinois, Southwest Missouri, University of Montana and Wayland Baptist.

Past Olympians to appear during 62nd Kansas Relays

By The Associated Press

LAWRENCE — Former Olympians is the theme this year of the 62nd annual Kansas Relays, which will feature appearance by a number of former greats, including Jim Ryun and Al Oerter.

Competition began Wednesday in the decathlon and heptathlon and will conclude late Saturday afternoon with the finals of the men's one-mile relay. Boys and girls high school competition will again be included among the collegiate and senior events in this event, a mainstay in the spring track circuit.

Five University of Kansas Olympians will be inducted into the school's sports hall of fame — Al Oerter, Sam Colson, Bill Alley, Bill Nieder and Terry Beucher.

Oerter, 50, is the only person ever to win four gold medals in four different Olympics. Beginning his remarkable run in the 1956 Games, Oerter captured the discus at Melbourne, Rome, Tokyo and Mexico City. As a Kansan, he also won the 1957 and '58 NCAA discus.

In addition to Oerter, the Relays will include performers from every Big Eight school except the Missouri men's team and the men's and women's team from Colorado.

Ryun, 41, a record-holder in the mile run while starring at Kansas in the '60s, will compete in the Master's Wildcats to battle Missouri in 4-game baseball contest for upper conference spot

By JENNY CHAULK
Sports Writer

When one thinks of the top three teams in Big Eight Conference baseball, Nebraska, Oklahoma State and Oklahoma nearly always come to mind.

This year, however, Oklahoma is riding the crest of a five-game losing streak, leaving one of the upper-division slots open. K-State's opponent this weekend, the Missouri Tigers, has stepped to the forefront to fill that slot.

The Wildcats, 19-15 overall and 3-6 in conference play, will play the Tigers in a four-game series starting tonight at 7 p.m. in Columbia. Saturday the teams will tangle in a twin-bill starting at 5 p.m. The series will conclude Sunday with one game at 12:30 p.m.

"They're usually third or fourth, behind Nebraska, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State," K-State Coach Mike Clark said. "Year in and year out, Missouri is in the post-season playoffs more than any of the other (lower division Big Eight) teams."

Missouri, 24-14 overall and 8-4 in conference play, is coming off an impressive victory over college baseball's No. 1 team, Oklahoma State. The Cowboys, ranked first in the ESPN/Collegiate Baseball poll, lost to Missouri 5-4 Saturday in Stillwater.

Missouri's win snapped a 24-game Cowboy winning streak, as well as a streak of 54 straight Cowboy victories over the Tigers.

Tony Russo (4.25 earned run average) was the Tigers' winning pitcher in Missouri's win over OSU. Russo is scheduled to pitch the first game of Saturday's double-header with K-State.

Tonight, Larry Pierson (3.33 ERA) will start against the Wildcats. Mitch Ingold (5.8 ERA) will be on the mound in Saturday's second game. Either Mike Potthoff (2.82 ERA) or John Schnurbusch (5.08 ERA) will pitch Sunday.

"They're (Missouri) getting good pitching performances out of their top three pitchers," Clark said. "They may have a weakness in depth like we have. They drop off with their relief pitchers."

Clark said K-State watched the Tigers play in New Orleans in March.

"In New Orleans," Clark said, "we saw they had the makings of a quality team. But we can compete with them. If we put four good games together, we can play with them."

"They're a great hitting ballclub," said Mike Hammacher, K-State's starting pitcher tonight. "They crunch."

The Tigers are batting .313 as a team, compared with K-State's .307 average. Missouri is led by Mike Rogers, who is batting .451 and has 46 runs batted in.

"Rogers is a great hitter," Clark said. "He has 12 home runs this year. I really liked watching him in New Orleans. (Tim) Dressler (.390 average) also swings the bat pretty well."

Saturday, Darryl Rowley and Zack Kimball will throw for K-State. Mike Hinkle is scheduled to pitch Sunday.

"We're hoping to get five innings out of Darryl," Clark said. "His pitching arm is pretty fatigued."

Clark said Jim Donahue and Eric Haines will probably alternate at third base for the Wildcats. He added that outfielder Tom Parsons, who is "hitting really well," will also be in K-State's lineup "a little more this weekend."

After this weekend, K-State comes back to Manhattan for games with Creighton and Washburn Tuesday and Wednesday, respectively.

BIG EIGHT STANDINGS Through April 13

Team	Conference				All Games
	W	L	Pct.	GB	W	L	Pct.
Nebraska	8	9	1.000	—	27	6	.818
Oklahoma State	4	1	.800	2½	33	2	.943
Missouri	8	4	.667	2	24	14	.632
Oklahoma	4	4	.500	4	24	11	.686
K-State	3	6	.333	5½	17	15	.531
Iowa St.	1	3	.250	5	13	17	.432
Kansas	1	11	.083	9	11	23	.329

This Week in the Big Eight

Friday

Oral Roberts at Nebraska.

K-State at Missouri.

Saturday

Oklahoma State at Kansas.

Iowa State at Oklahoma.

Oral Roberts at Nebraska.

K-State at Missouri.

Sunday

Oklahoma State at Kansas.

K-State at Missouri.

Iowa State at Oklahoma.

Parrish, Phillies suffering

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA — The frustration shows on his face, and the anxiety is evident in his voice.

Lance Parrish, the free agent catcher who signed with Philadelphia after a prolonged and controversial negotiation, is suffering.

So are the Phillies, off to a 1-7 start.

Manager John Felske, a low key, stoic type, lost his cool after Tuesday night's giveaway to the New York Mets. He snapped bat handles, stormed into his office and wrecked it. Desk, chairs, and the wastepaper basket all felt the wrath of Felske's frustration.

The manager came to the ball park Wednesday night, his calm restored. He held a five minute team meeting in which he told his players to just relax. He never raised his voice. Gone were the unprintable words with which he described the team's performance the night before.

Parrish is hitting .180, with just four hits in 25 at bats and only three RBIs.

His defensive skills also have deserted him. He has three passed balls and has been unable to throw anyone out. Opponents are 16 for 16 in stolen bases.

"I'm just trying to do my job as best I can," said Parrish. "If that isn't enough for these people than I don't know what to do."

'Cats show optimism for Jordan

By JEFF RAPP
Sports Writer

Amid the high expectations for K-State's football team next season, spring workouts are boiling over with optimism about senior Wildcat starting tailback Tony Jordan.

"Basically, we're expecting Tony (Jordan) to be the best back in the Big Eight," head coach Stan Parrish said. "He had a great year (last season) playing on a team that really struggled. He gained almost 800 yards."

Specifically, Jordan gained 738 yards last year — more than half of the team's total rushing yardage. This earned him second team All-Big Eight honors, and Parrish said Jordan's performance won't go anywhere but up.

"He's bigger, he's stronger, he's more competent and I expect him to be a leader," Parrish said. "I'll be very, very disappointed if he isn't one of the best backs in the Big Eight next year."

K-State football followers may remember the beginning of the '86 campaign, when Jordan was performing dismal at best as the No. 2 tailback.

That's when Parrish decided to let Jordan step in as his No. 1 tailback. Jordan responded by upping his rushing average to the fourth best in K-State history.

"We gave him a chance," Parrish said. "We started featuring him and letting him carry the ball a lot of times each game. As he did (start carrying the ball more) his confidence grew and our confidence grew in him."

"We let his talents come out," he added.

"I think he had been somewhat tentative and probably pressed before, because he knew if he went in and didn't do well he might not play. But we told him we were going to go with him and I think our commitment to him and his commitment to us equaled a heck of a season for him."

Jordan, selected by Parrish as an All-American running back this season, said more playing time last season gave him confidence to be a superb tailback at K-State.

"Basically, I just got a chance to play more and started doing the things I was supposed to do and doing them right," Jordan said. "I started reading the holes the correct way and started working harder and the coaches gained confidence in me."

Much like Parrish, Jordan explained his bad stint last season by citing his lack of confidence.

"Now Coach Parrish has a lot of confidence in me and that gives me the confidence to work hard. When I make a mistake I know I'm not going to be going to the sideline," he said. "That makes me feel better, it makes me work harder and helps me to be a wider player instead of being paranoid about making mistakes," Jordan said.

Jordan's expectations for himself this season are not flashy. He only wants to work hard to be the best tailback he can possibly be.

"I just want to be a constant performer

Staff/Rob Squires

K-State tailback Tony Jordan runs the ball during practice Thursday afternoon. Jordan gained more than half of the team's total rushing yards last year and head coach Stan Parrish expects him to be the best back in the Big Eight Conference this year.

and not be up and down," he said. "Hopefully I can do my part to help the team win and not vary (in performance) week to week."

NOTES: Parrish said last Saturday's intrasquad scrimmage went very well the spring has brought the team a lot of give and take. Parrish said sometimes the offense looked good and sometimes the defense looked good, but usually not simultaneously.

The K-State varsity will scrimmage an alumni team at 1 p.m. May 2 in KSU Stadium. Lynn Dickey, Paul Coffman, Gary Spani and Dan Manucci will be among alums returning for the game.

Tailback Tony Jordan suffered a hip pointer in Thursday's practice, but the injury is not serious and Jordan will resume practice in a short time.

Rugby squad advances to regionals

By JEFF RAPP
Sports Writer

K-State's rugby squad is now among the final 32 collegiate teams in the nation, as they travel to the Western Regional Collegiate Championships in Colorado Springs.

Last year, when the Western regionals were held in Los Cruces, N.M., the K-State team took second in the championship, coming one victory away from the Final Four and losing to eventual third place national finisher, the Air Force Academy.

Assistant coach and former head coach senior Gregg Barnes said the team is eager to do well, but is up in the air about predictions for the tournament.

"Basically, a lot of guys are really anxious to go, but we don't know

'We've had some key injuries and sometimes that takes the life out of a team, but we're playing our healthy guys and we've got a fearless bunch.'

—Gregg Barnes

what to expect because we've only got eight of the 32 players we had last year returning, so we've got a lot of guys going for the first time," Barnes said.

Because the participating teams in the regional championships haven't played each other before this season, Barnes said the teams don't know a lot about each other.

"The teams don't know what expect from each other, so they go off what they saw last year," he said. "Keeping that in mind, the favored teams in my mind will be K-State, Air Force, Oklahoma."

Other teams in the western regional include Texas A&M, Missouri-Rolla, New Mexico State and South Dakota State. The Wildcats' first-round opponent is yet to be determined, Barnes said.

"Everybody's pretty up for the tournament," Barnes said. "We've had some key injuries and sometimes that takes the life out of a team, but we're playing our healthy guys and we've got a fearless bunch."

"We've got grizzled veterans and talented, young enthusiasm and sometimes that will beat a team with just experience," he added.

It will take exceptional performance from the whole team for K-State to roll into the Final Four according to Barnes.

"The veterans will have to play their best every game and the younger guys will have to play a little above their heads for us to win the western regional," he said. "Every team that goes to the tournament loads up and gets really pumped, so we'll have to do that, too."

As far as the team's season record indicates, Barnes said playing such tough competition should be a helpful factor.

"We really loaded up and played a tough schedule this season, so that should be a great boost against collegiate competition at the tournament."

ISU, NU last matches for 'Cat tennis squad during regular season

By The Collegian Staff

This is the critical time of the season for the K-State women's tennis team, said K-State Coach Steve Bietau. Today the Wildcats face the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. K-State wraps up the regular season Saturday against Iowa State University in Ames.

"These are the critical matches for us if we are going to be where we want to be for the (Big Eight Conference) tournament," Bietau said.

"(Nebraska and Iowa State) are the teams that we have to beat," he added. "They've had similar results against the other schools in the conference as we've had."

K-State, 6-8 overall, picked up its first conference win last Friday against the University of Missouri, 9-0, but then lost 9-0 Saturday to the University of Colorado. The Wildcats are 1-4 in conference play.

"We've played real well up to this point," Bietau said. "Colorado was our fifth match in eight days and the team was just exhausted. We played progressively better in four of the five matches so I'm not too concerned about the loss to Colorado."

"We've been a little bit hurt this week...but I think everything will be worked out for this weekend," he added.

Briefly In Sports

Crew looks to state rowing championship

The K-State men's varsity-eight crew is looking to keep its win streak alive at the Kansas State Championship this Saturday in Topeka.

The men's varsity-eight has not lost a race since the Big Eight Conference Championships last year and possesses a 2-0 season record.

"This is one of the best varsity crews in the history of K-State crew," said Coach Don Rose.

KC receiver pays $46,785 in back taxes

Kansas City Chiefs veteran wide receiver Henry H. Marshall was fined $40,000 in federal court Thursday for failing to file federal income tax returns.

Marshall, 32, pleaded guilty to two counts of failing to file tax returns for 1982 and 1983, and was placed on probation for three years and ordered to perform 320 hours of community service by U.S. Magistrate Calvin K. Hamilton.

Marshall's attorney, Philip J. Adams Jr. said Marshall has paid the Internal Revenue Service $46,785 in back taxes, interest and penalties. Adams said all of Marshall's income — $124,277 in 1982 and $139,182 in 1983 — came from the Chiefs, and he was actually entitled to a $3,500 refund for 1983.

Marshall had no comment after the sentencing. His attorney said "Henry apologizes for his error."

Bengtsson wins Kansas Relays decathlon

Peder Bengtsson of Wichita State overcame a 71-point deficit in the final event Thursday to capture the decathlon at the 62nd annual Kansas Relays.

Rosie Wadman of Kansas defeated defending champion Lizz Barringer of Southeast Missouri State by 19 points to win the heptathlon. The men's and women's competitions climaxed the first two days of the Relays, which continue Friday and Saturday.

Bengtsson finished second in the 1,500 meters to win the decathlon with 6,986 points, 12 points ahead of Brian Schweitzer of Illinois State. Schweitzer finished sixth in the 1,500 meters.

After eight of the 10 events, only two points separated Bengtsson and Schweitzer. Schweitzer took a commanding lead by winning the javelin.

John Schwepker of Southeast Missouri State finished third with 6,853 points. Jim Strafuss of Kansas finished fourth with 6,401 points, and Todd Schultze of Kansas was fifth with 6,301 points.

In the heptathlon, Wadman totaled 4,957 points to Barringer's 4,936. Wadman led almost from the start, moving into first place after the second event. Barringer, who tied Wadman and Jackie Metzger of Kansas in the high jump at 5-6 1/4, remained in second place after the second event.

Susan Carter of Texas-Arlington was third with 4,881 points, and Andrea Schwartz of Kansas finished fourth with 4,599 points. Sue Anderson of Southern Illinois finished fifth with 4,540 points.

Hayes sets record, leads Heritage Classic

Mark Hayes set a course record on the way to a 7-under-par 64 that staked him to a 2-stroke lead after Thursday's first round of the $650,000 Heritage Classic.

Hayes, 37, birdied the first three holes and went on to a 6-under-par 30 over the front nine, a record for the difficult little Hilton Head Golf Links. The score broke the course record of 31 set by Jack Nicklaus in 1975 and equaled several times since.

Hayes scattered eight birdies across his card, using only 24 strokes on the tiny greens — and said he could have played better.

Although the weather was blustery, with gusty winds and occasional brief showers, scoring was exceptionally low on the course.

Five players — former Heritage winner Bernhard Langer of West Germany, veteran Howard Twitty, Scott Hoch, John Cook and Mark Calcavecchia — were tied for second at 66.

Staff/Greg Vogel

Spring spiker

Thursday afternoon's warm weather brought out the sporting fever in many people, including Pat Kellerman, sophomore in finance, who spikes a volleyball Thursday afternoon at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house. Warm temperatures and clear skies will continue through Sunday, with high temperatures in the low- to mid-80s.

IN-DEPTH UNDERSTANDING

THE WORLD & I is the magazine for people who want to know more: more about current issues; more about people; more about science, culture and art; more about current academic trends. Each month exciting, state-of-the-art photo-journalism complements penetrating commentary by today's leading thinkers, such as, in recent months:

Ben Stein on the feminist takeover of TV ■ David Horowitz on the anti-Vietnam War movement ■ Mangosuthu Buthelezi on South Africa's future ■ Lewis Branscomb on American science policy ■ Dinesh D'Souza on PBS ■ William Bennett on education ■ Tom Wolfe on socialism ■ Jack Kemp on foreign policy ■ Robert Nisbet on de Tocqueville

THE WORLD & I is making a special one-time subscription offer to college teachers and students. The first 200 people from your campus to mail in the attached form will receive a free copy of our next issue with no further obligations. Should you then decide to subscribe, our special college discount rate will be $20 for six months, a very substantial savings over any previous offer. The regular newsstand price of THE WORLD & I is $120 per year, and our regular yearly subscription rate is $90. So have a free copy on us and take advantage of this unprecedented offer.

THE WORLD & I
We Put The World In Your Hands

FREE COMPLIMENTARY ISSUE

For a free complimentary issue, clip and fill out this coupon and send it to:

THE WORLD & I, Circulation Department, 2850 New York Ave., N.E., Washington, D.C. 20002

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
University _____ Department _____
Signature _____ Date _____

30 MINUTES GUARANTEED!

Two Small For The Price of a Large!

Get two 12" small pizzas for the price of a 16" large pizza. One coupon per pizza. Good at listed locations only. Expires 4/23/87. Fast Free Delivery.™

Name _____
Address _____

ES/KSUC

When you call Domino's Pizza, we guarantee that you'll receive your hot, delicious pizza within 30 minutes, or we'll take $3.00 off the price of your order. Taste all the quality of a pizza from Domino's Pizza, custom-made with select ingredients and delivered in less than 30 minutes, guaranteed.

Call us!
Manhattan
539-0561
517 N. 12th Street

Hours:
4:00 pm-1am Sun.-Thurs.
11:00 am-2pm Fri. & Sat.

DOMINO'S PIZZA DELIVERS FREE.

Prices include sales tax. Limited delivery area. Our drivers carry less than $20.00. Prices are subject to change. 1987 Domino's Pizza, Inc.

Mail

Continued from Page 1

a mail-fraud scheme. The Postal Inspection Service wants to alert you to be cautious of this kind of a promotion. If you see an ad like this one which sounds too good to be true, report it to the Postal Inspection Service."

Another letter sent out by the Postal Service offered people the chance to "earn $750 a month in your spare time from your own home."

The Postal Inspection Service office had elicited 425 responses to the advertisement, the article stated.

In addition to the Postal Service, the Federal Trade Commission has some jurisdiction over some areas of mail commerce. While the Postal Service is in charge of the protection of the general public against fraud or misrepresentation by mail, the FTC has rules and regulations governing the delivery of mail-order items and unfair or deceptive acts and promotions.

According to a pamphlet supplied by American Express Company, the FTC has a rule that all mail order companies must ship orders within the time promised or within 30 days of the time it was ordered. The seller must refund all the money within seven working days if the buyer should decide to cancel the order.

In addition, if a product is damaged or spoiled upon delivery, the buyer can write, "refused," on the wrapper and return it to the seller. No new postage is needed.

Because no federal agency can be responsible for all acts of deception, the Better Business Bureau offers the following tips in answering mail offers and promotions:

— If entering a sweepstakes promotion, follow the directions carefully. It has been reported to the BBB that approximately 25 percent of all entries are discarded because the specific rules weren't followed.

— Remember the fair-market value of every prize won must be claimed as income taxes.

— When sending for work-at-home material, investigate the company through the BBB, demand proof of earnings claims and understand the terms of any contract.

— When ordering through direct mail offers, don't send for a product from a company that only lists a post office box number. The company might use this ploy so that people will not know its actual location.

— Avoid ordering merchandise from companies that require the use of toll-free numbers and charge cards.

— In the case of travel offers, determine all costs involved in using the certificate.

If consumers feel they have received some fraudulent or deceptive mail, Marvin Roth, Manhattan Post Office postmaster, said they should bring it to the post office.

"I have no authority to say whether something is fraudulent or not, but I will send it to the Postal Inspection Service," he said.

Kansas enforces the Consumer Protection Act which prohibits deceptive or misrepresented activities or promotions. Provisions under this act also can be used to recover money when deceptive advertising or solicitations have occurred, said Neil Woerman, chief of staff for Robert Stephan, Kansas attorney general.

Unfortunately, Woerman said, mail fraud coming from out of state is sometimes hard to handle.

Phone

Continued from Page 1

management fees would be paid only from revenue from operating revenue.

Investors were told that they would have a return of their investment plus 10 percent within six months, and as time went on, they were told that five of the initial partnerships had a net profit from telephone revenue in the first quarter of 1984.

In fact, the indictment said, it was part of the scheme to use money from the sale of new partnership interests "to create a facade that the limited partnership's discount telephone business operations were successful," which would be a classic pyramid scheme.

The indictment said the defendants diverted "substantial sums of money from the sale of limited partnership interests for their own personal use and benefit."

Several of the partnerships began operations, but none was profitable, authorities said. The company filed for bankruptcy in June 1985 and became defunct. That triggered an investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the U.S. Postal Inspection Service, which led to the indictment.

Burkart is the pastor of the Grain Valley congregation of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

In January, the church dismissed Burkart and three other pastors in the Blue Valley Stake for opposing the church's policy of ordaining women to the priesthood. He was reinstated in a compromise with church leaders.

Pole

Continued from Page 1

ween the event's co-sponsors for their respective philanthropies, or charities.

The Pi Kaps are donating money to Play Units for the Severely Handicapped, a program sponsored by the fraternity's chapter. Various philanthropy projects will receive the Pi Phi's portion of the funds.

The amount raised was less than last year, Rouse said, "probably because there have been so many philanthropy projects going on in the last week, and a lot depends on how much money is budgeted for philanthropies (by other greek organizations)."

This is the fourth year the Pi Kaps have co-sponsored the event with a sorority. Last year the fraternity and the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority raised $1,400.

Letters asking for donations were sent to area merchants as well as sororities and fraternities. A raffle of gifts donated by area merchants was held Thursday evening at Brother's Tavern, 1120 Moro St., with about 10 percent of the money raised from pitcher sales going toward the project.

The names of merchants sponsoring the event were posted on the pole hourly, while local radio and television stations gave the event free publicity, Seufert said.

The platform belongs to the Pi Kaps and was designed by an alumni for the annual project.

Classifieds

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3.25, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

01

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour products. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (119-150)

FIELDS OF FAIR—We are now open for the season and are taking bookings for barn parties, hall and farewell parties, barbecues, cookouts, promotion parties, reunions, graduation parties and weddings. Phone 539-5328. (125-150)

SUMMER WORK—Find out how two K-State students made over $11,000 between them in a sales and business management program last summer. Must be willing to relocate. Call 776-2564. (136-140)

MARY KAY Cosmetics. Check out our new individual lip and eye colors, 539-9469, Janet Milliken. (138-150)

ATTENTION

02

73 OVERWEIGHT people needed to try new chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Call 776-5114, 776-1465. (120-139)

OVERWEIGHT? WANT to feel better? New chocolate, vanilla and strawberry herbal weight control program available. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Get away from diet jitters. On campus daily. 784-6065 evenings/weekends. (132-150)

FOR RENT—MISC

03

RENTAL TYPEWRITERS—Correcting and non-correcting. Typewriter ribbons for sale, service available. Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-1413. (271f)

INEXPENSIVE. SELF-storage units. Why take all your stuff home this summer? Three months storage only $60. Amherst Self-Storage, 776-3804. (138-150)

FOR RENT—APTS

04

TWO AND three bedroom near campus. Central air, one and one-half bath. Available June and August. 537-8800. (110f)

LOOKING FOR nice but reasonably priced apartments? One, two, three and four bedroom apartment complexes and houses for now, summer and fall. Most nearly new and close to campus. 537-2919, 537-1666. (111-146)

AVAILABLE JUNE or August, almost new, three-bedroom, one and one-half bath, fully equipped kitchen. Call 537-2255. (112f)

ONE LARGE bedroom, completely furnished, laundry facilities in the complex. One block from the campus. $300. Call 537-7980. (112f)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, close to campus. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities in the complex. Available August. $420. Call 537-7810. (112f)

LUXURY, HUGE unfurnished two-bedroom, two-bath, all carpeted, luxury appliances, three blocks from campus. No pets. $360 plus utilities. Call 537-4000 or 776-7572. (119-138)

FREE RENT last month of yearly lease. Ten months available in August. Various locations, no pets. After April 1 call 537-8389. (119f)

LARGE THREE-bedroom in a nine-plex with large closets, living room, dining area, fully-equipped kitchen. $150 each for three, $125 each for four. 822 Fremont. Available June 1, 1987. Call 537-7087. (127f)

UNIVERSITY TERRACE—Two- and three-bedroom apartments, swimming pool, spacious yard, laundry hookups and facilities. On the bike path to University. 537-2096. (127-147)

LARGE, TWO-bedroom apartment, nice, close to campus and park. Private courtyard and parking. Phone 537-4648. (128f)

BLOCK WEST of campus, June or August, one-bedroom, furnished, $240. Call 539-5051 after 1 p.m., or see Dave, apartment 4, at 1024 Sunset. (131f)

ONE-HALF block east of campus, 1212 Thurston, for June. Two-bedroom, furnished, up to three people, $330. Phone 539-5059 after 1 p.m. (131f)

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM, five blocks from campus. Air conditioning. Available August 1. No pets. $325. Phone 776-0181. (121f)

PRE-LEASING ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. One bedroom, near campus, $275 to $290. Two-bedroom near campus, $335 to $355. Call 776-9124. (122f)

GOOD SELECTION of one and two-bedroom apartments available for June or August leasing. Call McCullough Development, 776-3804. (123-146)

NOW LEASING FOR Fall, next to campus. Centennial Apartments—1832 Claflin Road (across Goodnow Hall). Fully furnished luxury one bedroom, balcony, complete kitchen. 539-2702, evenings (123-138)

KSU CLOSE, spacious, furnished one bedroom. Laundry, parking. Available June 1, $275. Call 776-7814 or 539-3803. (124-146)

AVAILABLE NOW and August. Unfurnished one-bedroom, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets. $265 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

AVAILABLE FOR June or August—Furnished, large two-bedroom with off-campus location. Dishwasher, disposal, central air, carpeting throughout. No pets. $350 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment. $340 per month. Across street from Ahearn Field House. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (134-142)

FIVE-BEDROOM, two-bath house at 1015 Blumont. Washer/dryer included. Available August 1, no pets. $650. Phone 776-3804 or 537-0631. (134f)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, one block from university. Available June 1. Phone 539-2857 or 539-0410. (134-142)

NICE TWO-bedroom duplex, two blocks from campus. Available June 1. Call Thomas at 776-9420 after 6 p.m. (135-138)

ONE, TWO, THREE and four bedroom. Available June 1. Within one and one-half blocks campus. Phone Dixie, 539-1498. (130f)

AVAILABLE, LARGE two-bedroom apartment, newly decorated. June 1, $360, plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, nice, large three-bedroom basement apartment, newly remodeled. $330 plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE, THREE-bedroom apartment, June 1, $400 plus utilities. Nice, newly decorated. 776-8393. (130-146)

LARGE TWO-bedroom. Nice, close to park and Aggieville. Private courtyard, parking, dishwasher, disposal. Available August 1. Phone 537-4648. (131f)

NICE, ONE-bedroom in complex on the corner of Lee and Hunting. $325 or $340 with fireplace. June or August leasing. No pets, please. 776-3804. (131f)

915 1/2 CLAFLIN, walk-out basement, completely furnished two-bedroom. Redecorated August 1986, ample parking. Heat, water, trash paid. $340/month. One-year lease June 1st. 539-3085 or 539-6133. (131f)

COMPLETELY FURNISHED, large basement apartment, suitable for two or three. Available June 1. (131f) Everything paid. $400/month. 539-6133. (131f)

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT $190 per month. Gas, heat, and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (132-142)

FOR JUNE and July, one-bedroom, unfurnished apartment, close to campus and Aggieville. Rent very reasonable. Call 537-9080. (132-138)

NOW LEASING for fall—Next to campus, (near Haymaker Hall), two bedrooms in luxury apartment complex, fireplace, laundry, modern kitchen, natural gas heating. Evenings, 539-2702. (134-150)

LARGE ONE-bedroom basement apartment available June 1. Three blocks south of University Inn. Free washer and dryer, off street parking. $260. Phone 539-5921. (134-138)

ZERO BLOCKS to campus. Large, quiet, well-maintained, furnished one-bedroom apartment for two serious, single students. Dishwasher, patio. June lease, $290/month. 537-9686. No pets, waterbeds. (134-138)

MAY OR June, one-bedrooms, $205-$235. Phone 539-8423 after 6 p.m. (135-150)

1200 RATONE—Two bedrooms, stove refrigerator. No pets. $320. Karen/Yockers, 539-1640 or 539-6945. (135-139)

DUPLEX, TWO bedroom, very nice. Furnished, air, gas, carpeted. No pets. June 1st. Phone 537-7334. (136-140)

ACROSS FROM campus. Two-bedroom apartment, $120 each. Available June 1st. Call 537-9370. (136-138)

FOUR-BEDROOM, furnished apartment, ground level, fireplace, $520 plus utilities. Three-bedroom, basement apartment. $330 plus utilities. Close to Aggieville. 632-5211. Steak supper for those who rent. (135-138)

THREE-BEDROOM, furnished basement apartment, $330 plus utilities. Very close to campus. 632-5211. Steak supper for those who rent. (135-138)

NICE TWO-bedroom furnished apartment, central air/heat, $300, utilities paid. Paula or Deb. 537-9282. (135-138)

Fall and Summer Apartments

Great Location—Close to KSU

City Park and Aggieville.

Good Quality, New Carpet, Central Air, Dishwashers, 1, 2 & 3 bedrooms, furnished & unfurnished. (New, Good Quality)

$290-$445

Call 776-1222 or 539-7260

KSU Students Top Quality

Summer and Fall apartments now available, 1/2 block from KSU in newer building. Central A/C, dishwasher, decks (w/ or w/o). Parking permit, furnished and unfurnished.

$360-$399

Lease now while we have our best units available

776-1222

1 1/2 BLOCKS from campus, across from Aggieville. Two-bedroom apartments, available June 1st. Furnished or unfurnished. 539-5702 after 5 p.m. (137-141)

FOR AUGUST, next to KSU, deluxe furnished two-bedroom apartment. Also, one-bedroom apartment. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (138f)

(Continued on page 9)

VANDERBILT'S

Levi's New Shape Is Making News

Reshaped Preshrunk 501 Jeans For Ladies

It's still the authentic button-fly, Red Tab jean, but with a completely new shape that flatters the female form. So the fit is terrific from the first wearing, and only gets better with repeated machine washings. The waistband fits snugly against your waist, and the curved hipline follows your curves. Soft, heavyweight denim is preshrunk so buy your regular size.

501 Levi's

Compare to $29.95

$17.77

MasterCard DOWNTOWN WAMEGO • HWY 99 • 456-9100 OPEN DAILY Mon.-Sat. 9-8 P.M., Sun. 12-5 P.M. VISA

NEED EXTRA MONEY?

Sign up to work Summer Registration

Apply NOW:

ENROLLMENT CENTER

4-A

BASEMENT OF FARRELL LIBRARY

Closed Classes — Fall 1987

00930	08070	26720	31330	34920	03630	20760	29560	33960
01250	08260	26730	31450	35010	03640	21020	29570	34020
01640	08690	26750	31850	35020	03660	21300	29740	34030
01950	08849	26770	31870	35050	03670	21430	29880	34120
02110	08850	26780	32040	35810	03680	22830	29890	34190
02290	08950	26790	32090	36260	05470	23650	29910	34200
02340	09060	26800	32110	36370	05500	25400	29960	34210
02360	09290	26810	32230	38060	05590	26170	30000	34220
02410	09490	26820	32940		05610	26220	30450	34240
02460	11210	26840	32960		05700	26260	30630	34260
02490	11340	26870	32990		05820	26380	30650	34440
02990	11360	26900	33000		07550	26390	30720	34810
03040	11370	26910	33020		07590	26420	31010	34840
03300	11380	26920	33060		07690	26600	31090	34870
03310	11390	26960	33070		08020	26700	31250	34890
03320	11400	27000	33080		08050	26710	31320	34900
03330	11410	27010	33090
03350	11420	27020	33110
03360	11430	27030	33250
03370	11440	27040	33290
03380	11910	27050	33300
03390	13090	27060	33310
03470	14440	27070	33320
03480	14870	27090	33340
03490	15130	27210	33350
03500	16920	27230	33370
03510	17180	27680	33440
03530	17810	28090	33450
03540	19610	28350	33460
03550	19750	28940	33470
03560	20090	28950	33480
03570	20120	28990	33770
03610	20270	29060	33790
03620	20690	29200	33810

(Continued from page 8)

MONT BLUE APARTMENTS

2 & 12 month leases

- 1 & 2 Bedroom Apartments and Townhouses
- Close to campus

539-4447

NICE THREE bedrooms. One block to campus. August lease, furnished. Call Larry, 539-4641. (138-140)

ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment. Near City Park, deposit, no pets. $200/month. Call 539-7677. Available June 1st. (138-142)

1219 KEARNEY. Available June. One-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $195/month. 539-5136. (138-141)

Now Renting HORIZON III 1212 Bluemont (across campus & Aggieville)

- 2 Bedrooms
- All appliances
- Extended Bath
- Quality throughout
- June & August Occupancy

CALL

776-6791 or 539-8401

1219 KEARNEY. Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138-141)

1219 KEARNEY. Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $230/month. 539-5136. (138-141)

LIFE and Times

by Doug 'n' Dick

Bloom County

By Berke Breathed

Garfield

By Jim Davis

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 Cartographer's product
4 Mineral spring
7 Bravery
12 In the manner of 13 Spanish gold
14 Wear away
15 Card game
16 Like some ribs
18 Rink surface
19 Common exercise
20 Con's place
22 Actor
23 Upper case letters, for short
27 Dined
29 Catfish feature
31 Tiny bits
34 Suspicious
35 Like some wire
37 Oolong
38 Pool needs
39 — de cologne

41 Halloween prop
45 Baseball's Yogi
47 "Willard" sequel
48 Tonsorial arts
52 — "Maria"
53 Sonora send-off
54 Envision
55 Homo-
56 Take on 57 Before
58 Terminus
DOWN
1 Leger-demain
2 Carroll heroine
3 Talk show group
4 Blubbers
5 Laud
6 Heart connection
7 Bush, for one
8 Curve
9 Bud's partner
10 — to the West
11 Blush
17 Tulip-to-be 21 Flock members
23 Coffee additive
40 Stand
42 Lower
43 Lucky number
44 Work dough
45 Defeat
46 Writer
48 Cry from 49 Affix
50 Southern resort
51 Jazz style

Solution time: 24 mins.

ADO WISE LIVE
LIV ALAN ODIN
FREELOAD NEED
RAT RODGERS
WILTED WEB
JDO ROW WOWED
NOAH NOW WORE
ELDER NAW RIA
RIG SHAKER
CATSPAW ILL
AMAH BOATLOAD
SORE LOWE AEG
TRAY EDEN DEE

Yesterday's answer

CRYPTOQUIP

V J C B F J G J M J G Z K P Z B U
B J K Z R R J F G C P X Z F P Z
X R E B Z Y J Y X U X Z F E V J F
P M Z L U J J L Z Z G ?
Yesterday's Cryptogram: MUSICIANS COMING TO BIG ORCHESTRA AUDITIONS MIGHT USE THE BACH DOOR.
Today's Cryptogram clue: J equals E

FOR RENT—HOUSES

05

ONE-TWO-THREE bedroom houses, starting June occupancy. Unfurnished, good condition, clean, appliances. 537-1269. (107-11)

AVAILABLE JUNE, four-bedroom, two-bath, one block east of campus. $500/month, lease and deposit. 539-3672. (130-140)

THREE-BEDROOM house with two baths. Partially furnished, $375 deposit, rent $375/month. Graduate or veterinary students. No pets. 539-8608. (132-11)

SMALL HOUSE near campus in June. Fireplace, laundry hook-ups, offstreet parking. $390, yearly lease. 537-8389. (133-11)

FOUR-BEDROOM house, garage, close to Aggieville, one-year lease. 537-6928 after 6 p.m. (137-146)

TWO-THREE girls to share house. $150, plus utilities. Own room. Nice and close to campus. 776-1406. (137-141)

HUGE THREE-level duplex. One block from campus. Three bedrooms, two baths. $400/month plus utilities. Available now. Call 1-823-3040. (137-150)

ONE-THREE non-smoking roommates. Prefer Vet or Animal Science majors to share modern farm-house. Free stall and pasture for horse, cow, dog, Beef, eggs, wood, skiboat furnished. Reply P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan. (138-150)

FOR SALE—AUTO

06

1980 DATSUN pickup. AM/FM cassette, aluminum top with nice bed. Sharp truck. $2,900. Phone 532-2115. (134-138)

1976 GRAND PRIX, L.J. loaded, good condition, $1,000. Deb. 537-9282 evenings. (135-138)

1984 FIERO, red, sharp, loaded. (913) 457-3458. (136-138)

1975 VOLVO 245, new injectors, water pump, struts, cassette stereo, seats. $1,950 or best offer. 537-0660. (138-140)

FOR SALE—MISC

07

BABY BUNNIES for sale. All sizes and colors ($5 each). Call 539-7520 or 539-8815. (133-138)

1 MEDIUM
TWO TOPPING
PIZZA $6.50
FREE DELIVERY

707 N. 12th 539-4888

PEAVEY BASS with hard case. Excellent condition, $250. Call 539-2387. (138-140)

COTTON WRAP ROBES

available at

UNDERCOVER

1224 Moro Aggieville

Mon.-Fri. 10-5:30

Sat. 10-5

OPEN THURS. TIL 8

SUNDAY 1-5

LEATHER MEMBERS Only jacket, size 40, excellent shape. $90. Retail, $160. Call 539-4307, evenings (138-140)

FRIDAY
Fried Chicken or Spaghetti w/meat sauce
all you can eat
$3.95
with salad bar

FOR SALE—MOBILE HOMES

08

1983 OAKBROOK 16 x 60. Range, refrigerator, central air, ceiling fans. Deck on two sides. See to appreciate. 539-6252. (134-143)

FOR RENT or For Sale: 10 x 50 mobile home. Stove, refrigerator, air. Unfurnished. 537-7622 after 5 p.m. (134-147)

NICE THREE-bedroom, 12 x 65 mobile home. Central air and heat, washer, dryer, garbage disposal. Close to campus. Partially furnished if desired. Call 539-1315 after 5 p.m. (135-139)

FOR SALE. 1972 Reverse, excellent condition, two-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, washer, dryer, air, partially furnished. Call 316-241-6054, working hours. (135-144)

1977 SHULT, 12 x 55, two bedrooms, central air, washer/dryer, shed, dog pen, real nice, great for student or couple. 532-6285 or 494-8391. (137-139)

FOR SALE—MOTORCYCLES

09

1971 HONDA CL350, excellent condition. Helmet and manuals included, asking $500 negotiable. Call Calvin, 537-9533. (134-138)

1970 HONDA CL100 four-stroke single-cylinder street motorcycle. $200. Phone 776-7017 evenings. (134-138)

1981 HONDA C-70 Passport. Yellow, 3,450 miles. Campus cruiser. Bought car, need money. $400. Phone 532-5497. (136-139)

1980 KAWASAKI 750 LTD, low miles, excellent condition. $850. Phone 776-4266, afternoons and evenings. (137-141)

1983 KAWASAKI 550LTD. Low mileage. Call 539-9395 for details. (138-142)

1983 MIDNIGHT Maxim 750. New coil, battery, slipstream, 4,000 miles. Sharp. Must see. 537-1550. (138)

HELP WANTED

13

EARN $480 weekly—$60 per hundred circulars mailed. Guaranteed. Work at home and participate in our company project mailing circulars and assembling materials. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to JKB Mailing Company, P.O. Box 25, Castaic, California, 91310. (117-148)

PART-TIME staff position working with young adults. First Lutheran Church. Phone 537-8532. (129-138)

IMMEDIATE OPENING for part-time youth director. Coordinate youth ministry program for 7-12 grades, 15 hours per week/$250 per month. Send resumes to First United Methodist Church, 612 Poyntz, 4th Ave. Bldg. (131-138)

FLEXIBLE HOURS and work mostly on your own for apartment owner. Work will include mowing yards, trimming bushes, cleaning apartments, carpentry repair, maintenance, roof repair and/or painting and other similar work. Work can begin immediately and through the summer months and could continue for the next school year. Prefer college student who qualifies for college work study program. Please send name, address, phone number, number of hours of work desired, wages expected and previous work experience to Box 5 x Collegian. (133-142)

BASEMENT APARTMENT in exchange for afternoon supervision of two school-age children, plus light housekeeping. Seeking serious student. Please call 776-9401 days, or 776-8037 evenings. (134-138)

JOIN OUR "Nanny Network" of over 500 placed by us in Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Boston. One year commitment in exchange for top salary, benefits, room and board, airfare. All families pre-screened for your satisfaction. Many families for you to choose from. Contact Helping Hands, Inc. at 203-834-1742. P.O. Box 7068, Wilton, Connecticut 06897. As featured on NBC's Today Show and Hour Magazine. (134-138)

FULL AND part-time help! National Firm is preparing for Spring and Summer work. If accepted, you will earn $8.10 starting. Some evening and weekend positions are available and some flexibility is allowed during final exams. If you qualify, corporate scholarships are awarded, internships are possible, and you may earn 2, 3, 4 credit hours or semester. During summer break full-time work is available. Call (913) 345-9675 Monday-Friday between 9 a.m.-5 p.m. (135-148)

LIVE-IN NANNY Wanted—Need mature adult, non-smoker, driver's license, enjoys children, room and board, good salary, weekends free, 9-12 month commitment, Kansas City area. Call collect 913-648-7404. (136-140)

EARN $2,500-4,000. Gain unbeatable experience. Be the KSU Sales and Marketing Director for Campus Connection, our nationally expanding, innovative advertising guide. Currently at 42 universities, we'll provide complete training, materials, and support. Call Jay Wilkinson, Manager, at (402) 477-1402 for complete information. Ideal for ambitious, personable freshman-junior. Start earning soon. (136-138)

WANTED: STUDENT applicants for "Troubleshooter" positions. Will hire to start this summer/fall 1987. Job requirements include: full time student—must live in especially designed residence hall room with private entrance—able to work eight hours per week, days, some nights, weekends, and holidays. Apply at the Housing Maintenance office, 1548 N. Denison or call 532-6466 Monday thru Friday 8 a.m.-5 p.m. for an appointment. (136-140)

SUMMER WORK—Is your work challenging? Are you being paid what you're worth? Make $3,000 to $6,000 plus gain experience. Call 776-2564. (136-140)

STUDENT to work as electronic technician, 12 to 20 hours/week, full-time between semesters. Primary work in support of Equinox Data Switch. Help repair micro and printers. Knowledge of RS232 data communications helpful. Contact Jacques Meisner, Cardwell 23, by Tuesday, April 21, 5 p.m. EOE. (136-140)

WANTED: FAMILY wants college girl to live in for fall. Help take care of yard and house in exchange for board and room. Respond to Box 3 x Collegian, Kansas State University. (136-140)

BARTENDER PART-TIME, apply in person, Bobby T's, 3240 Kimball. (137-141)

COOK PART-TIME, apply in person, Bobby T's, 3240 Kimball. (137-141)

BANQUET SERVER. Must be available some weekends and weekdays. Apply University Inn, 17th & Anderson. No phone calls. (137-139)

HORSE PERSON wanted to help with chores and light riding in exchange for room and board. Call after 7 p.m., 293-5273. (137-139)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen, LERN, 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (138)

NEEDED: SUMMER nannies. Free room and board. Live in Denver. $400-$800 a month salary. For more information call 303-671-7011 or write P.O. Box 147. (138-142)

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT—Travel up the wheatbelt—Deaver Custom Harvesting, Levant, KS. Farm experience preferred but not required, 30 years experience—references available. Phone (913) 586-2305 mornings (before 9 a.m.) and noon hours. (138-140)

NEED SITTER for three children from June 1 to July 31, two days a week. Must genuinely enjoy kids, be dependable, have own transportation. 539-7101. (138-139)

LOST—METAL frame prescription glasses in Alcorn Men's Locker Room, April 10, 1987. 7:30 p.m. Reward. 537-8185. (137-138)

NOTICES

15

GAY/LESBIAN? Write for Kansas/Missouri information. Personally, P.O. Box 218, Daly City, California 94016-0218. Mailed discreetly/confidentially. (131-150)

MAKE-OVER MODELS WANTED

Free Cuts-Perms-Color

Great Opportunity
Female & Male Models

Show CANCELLED
ONLY SUPPLY
&
REDKEN LABS

Show Date

April 28, 6:30-10 p.m.

For Further Information Call

Hair Experts, 9-5

776-4455

DESPERATELY SEEKING ride to/from Dallas for Easter weekend, will pay half expenses. Mike, 539-1793. (138)

PERSONAL

16

PHI KAPP Ho Man—We've had our highs and lows but off to formal we will go! (138)

JENNIFER S.—Here's your Personal. Be ready! 7 p.m. tonight! Jack Daniels. (138)

GORGEOUS DELT (with blue biker's shorts) in rec center weight room Wednesday. We saw you, did you see us? Say hi. Blonde and Brunette in turquoise Mustang. (138)

SO LONG sheep. Look out L.A. Kenny has a sheik. Love the non B-sucks. (138)

TRUMPETER CHRIS—Last weekend was awesome. If we do a repeat I get my earring back? JB. (138)

WANDA H.—Happy Birthday! You're a real sweetie (can't imagine what I would do without you?). Hope your day is special. Remember—we have a date to celebrate (the first one is on me). Love, Mufin. (138)

BLONDE, WEARING tight Lee jeans and ropers on Wednesday at 9:25 outside of Ward Hall, I'm in love. Blue Jacket. (138-139)

YOUNG STUD, looking for graduation present preferably blonde or brunette, must be female. Apply in Personals to Brian soon to be in Germany. (139)

TKE DAN S.—The shirt is in the bag! The Ringer. (138)

SAE'S, PREPARE yourselves! It's that time of the year. I'm on my way. Phi Alpha, Paddy Murphy. (138)

TO THE guy running in the park just after 9 p.m. Wednesday. Her bark is worse than her bite. The girl on the other end of the leash. (138-139)

T. GUIDE: Showed up at 8 and must've been late. Sorry I missed you! Lynn. (138)

BOB—HAPPY year anniversary ILY. Timi. PS. California here we come. (138)

HEY GUYS! It's been a year Saturday. Have you missed me? PS. ILY Timi! RHN. (138)

STACEY C.—THESE four months have been wonderful, hope to share many more! Happy Easter. Love ya! Michelle. (138)

Handsome new Sigma Chi president with blonde hair, I saw you walk through Kedzie Tuesday, and I really think you're HOT! Meet me today at Kite's at 4 p.m. From the girl with the funny last name.

LISA, HAPPY 20th Birthday! May your day be happy and bright. Pits, JB, JB. (138)

THE MEN of Delta Upsilon—To my favorite guys, thanks for the wonderful surprise Saturday night. Joanne. (138)

RAZI, HERE'S to a great Topeka Tuesday, parking without interruptions, the flowers, and tonight. Nikki. (138)

TO THE Women of KSU, Be warned—Paddy Murphy is on his way. Lock your doors and sleep with one eye open!—Fred Postelwaite. (138)

ELAINE—HAPPY 20th! I hope it is special! Love, Frank from the Dating Service. (138)

KAYLA KAY—Today is the day, you turn 21, now we're going to have fun! Happy Birthday sweetheart. ILY. T. (138)

ROOMMATE WANTED

17

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two bedroom apartment, 1800 block Laramie. Deck, fireplace, air conditioning, large yard. 1 1/2 blocks from campus. 537-4304. (136-140)

ROOMMATE WANTED: Non-smoking female to share a two-bedroom apartment, one-half block east of campus. $150 a month plus utilities. Call 537-0911. (132-147)

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for summer. Own room, laundry. $130/month. Call 539-2975. (134-138)

NON-SMOKING ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom apartment, own room. June to August. Rent negotiable, call 539-4784 or 537-2967. (134-138)

NICE HOUSE, close to campus, fireplace, summer and/or fall occupancy. $130/month plus utilities. 776-1948. (136-139)

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted to share spacious house near campus, summer and year leases. 539-1820. (136-142)

NON-SMOKING FEMALE—$180/month/year, all utilities paid. Large house, central air/heat, washer, dryer, sundeck, lots of room. No pets. 539-6628. (136-150)

TWO/THREE male summer students, $125/month plus utilities. One block from campus, 1829 College Heights. Also, jobs for summer available. Call 776-4528. (137-138)

PRIVATE BEDROOM in Candewood home for non-smoking female. $165/month plus deposit and share of utilities. Call 776-0433. (137-142)

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for summer and/or fall. Own room, swimming pool, laundry, dishwasher, plus more. Very nice, $200 (includes utilities). Barbara, 539-7464. (138)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom apartment. Own room. Close to campus. $165 plus utilities. June to August. Call 532-2126 or 532-5417. (139-142)

CHRISTIAN ROOMMATE wanted for summer session or next school year. Call Shirley at 537-2261, Ext. 327 until 4:30 p.m. (138-142)

SERVICES

18

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S. Fourth St., Suite 25. (11)

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. 913-841-5716. (391)

Television—VCR—Stereo Repair

We service ALL BRANDS!

In business since 1970

HERE'S

1917 Ft. Riley Blvd. 776-9259

EXPERIENCED TYPIST—Disc storage, letter quality printer, resumes, reports, etc., reasonable rates. 532-5961, 537-9205. Dorinda. (129-147)

TYPING—TERM papers, reports, resumes and cover letters. Call Lori, 776-8627, anytime. (136-140)

TYPING—RESUMES, cover letters, term papers, forms, etc. Call 539-2411. (136-140)

MARTIE'S TYPING Service. Word Processor. 1011 Juliette, 537-3314. Term papers, theses, dissertations. (137-138)

WORD PROCESSING. Letter-quality printing. Type from draft or cassette transcription, data entry, IBM-PC compatible. Cathy, 539-5998 evenings. (124-138)

Governor appoints Manhattan liaison

By CHAD L. SANBORN
Staff Writer

Jose "Joe" de la Torre, the newly appointed special assistant to Gov. Mike Hayden for public liaison, will be seeing a lot of Kansas. In fact, he will be seeing all of it.

De la Torre will serve as a link between the governor's office and the people of Kansas. He will travel throughout the state's 105 counties, meeting with groups and organizations who want specific ideas brought to the governor's attention.

The 43-year-old Manhattan resident had been director of the local Retired Senior Volunteer Program since 1978.

In his new position, de la Torre will concentrate his efforts on small-town groups, rather than larger groups which may already lobby at the Capitol.

"I will meet with groups that traditionally don't have access to the governor," de la Torre said. "Most of the larger, statewide groups have lobbyists at the state Legislature."

De la Torre said his new job is an extension of the openness the Hayden administration has already shown Kansans. It is with that openness that de la Torre hopes to relate to the Kansas public.

"I want the people of Kansas to perceive this administration as open," he said. "Mike Hayden is a caring, open individual."

De la Torre said two meet-the-governor sessions, which allowed individual Kansas residents to spend five minutes with Hayden, were evidence of his open attitude.

"Someone might ask: 'What good is five minutes?' But five minutes is long enough to get an idea across," he said.

However, de la Torre said his new job is a two-way street. Besides relaying the ideas of Kansans to the governor, he will also express the ideas of the governor to Kansans.

"Besides bringing the ideas of the common person to the attention of the governor, I will also bring to the communities around the state programs that have been instituted in Topeka."

The new job will also offer the chance for de la Torre to propose solutions to problems communities may have, he said.

De la Torre will assume his duties April 20. He and his family will remain in Manhattan for a while, but the move to Topeka is inevitable, he said.

A graduate of Lake Superior State College in Michigan, de la Torre served in the Office of Services for the Aging in Michigan from 1972 to 1974 under Michigan Gov. William Milligan.

However, that position was a volunteer position, de la Torre said.

Regents opt to alter universities' budgets

By The Associated Press

EMPORIA — The Kansas Board of Regents approved Thursday the concept of a major change in budget strategy proposed by staff members for universities under the regents system.

"This plan may be ambitious," said Stanley Koplik, executive director of the board, adding that the new strategy is based on the philosophy that higher education is critical to economic development in the state.

Although several regents disagreed with some budget figures presented during the meeting at Emporia State University, the board approved the basic concept. The proposal covers the fiscal years 1989-91.

Koplik said the proposal would be further discussed by the board during other meetings this spring and summer. The presidents of regents institutions have endorsed the proposal.

The total projected cost of the three-year plan is $115.8 million. Funding would come from state general funds, $83.8 million; student fees, $20 million; and revenue from the University of Kansas Medical Center, $12 million.

UFM hosts weekly TV forum

By The Collegian Staff

In its 40th year, a weekly television program sponsored by University For Man offers a forum for discussing campus and community interests.

Begun by UFM in 1947 in an effort to address community and University concerns, the program is coordinated by a University faculty member or student usually in a volunteer capacity.

With each new coordinator, the program has taken a different approach because that individual is responsible for designing the program format, said Eunice Dorst, campus community coordinator at UFM.

"We have recently changed the concept of the program from covering arts and crafts and nature-type topics to discussing social issues which impact on the community," Dorst said.

Thayne Emrich, junior in theater, is currently producing the program and developed the new concept.

"Before I took over the show, the person who was doing it strictly covered UFM classes," Emrich said. "I wanted to make it more of a forum for community interests."

Emrich is in charge of developing topics, contacting experts on the topics and designing the format for the program.

Under Emrich's format, each program addresses one topic in a question-answer format between Emrich and a local expert on the subject.

Program topics have ranged from the Flint Hills Bread Basket program and home schooling to date rape and the role of Student Governing Association and how it aids University students.

"For the first time, we received calls from community members asking for more information on home schooling," Dorst said.

The 30-minute program is taped twice a week in cooperation with Manhattan cable Channel 6 and airs every Monday at 6 p.m.

At the end of the program viewers are encouraged to call UFM for more information on the topic discussed or to offer suggestions, she said. UFM will connect the caller with experts in the topic which interests them.

Emrich said he volunteered for the position to gain experience in front of the camera.

Emrich, who is leaving the position in May because of summer out-of-state commitments, said he hopes the program will increase viewership by continuing to present a wide variety of common community interests.

He said students in any area of study should consider the position because it offers many opportunities and educational experiences.

"The position has offered me the chance to conduct interviews, which is an asset in everyday communication," he said.

The position will be open in May and students are encouraged to apply.

KSU WILDCAT

SOCCER

KSU vs. KU
Saturday, April 18
2 p.m.
Old Stadium

PUTT-PUTT
GOLF COURSES
For the fun of it!
(across from Wal-Mart)

THE GREAT WESTERN SMOKEHOUSE

INTRODUCTORY OFFER
1/3 lb. Char-Broiled HAMBURGER
99¢
(Regularly $1.95)
OFFER EXPIRES 4-18-87

Buy One SANDWICH
Get the SECOND SANDWICH for 99¢
OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

FREE
Quart of Pepsi
WITH A PURCHASE
OF ANY SANDWICH
& FRENCH FRIES
OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

SOUP, SANDWICH & SOFT DRINK
$2.75
OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

$1.09
HAM & CHEESE SANDWICH
OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

THE GREAT WESTERN SMOKEHOUSE
901 Seth Childs Rd. 776-0300
Village Plaza Shopping Center
For catering call 776-2222

1 DAY ONLY — Tuesday, April 21st
10 a.m.-7 p.m.

CLOTHING CONCEPTS
presents
A Manufacturer's Direct Clothing Sale
1 DAY ONLY
Save 50%-70%

Ladies' & Juniors' Swimwear by: Jantzen • Sassafrass • Too Hot Brazil
Reg. $34 Now $14.99
Hobie • Coca Cola • Palmetto's • Union Bay • Outback Red • Forenza

From $19.99

Men's & Ladies' Leather Basketball Tennis-Running-Training Shoes

NIKE New Balance PONY
adidas PUMA

All Shoes $19.99-$24.99

Coca-Cola

Rugbys • Jerseys • Tees • Fleece
50% Off Regular Retail

JACK
MEN'S PRINTED NOVELTY TOPS & SCRUBS
Now $9.99
Reg. $22

MEN'S IZOD & Other Status Brand SHIRTS
— Stripes & Solids —
Now $5.99
If Perfect, to $38

MEN'S OCEAN PACIFIC & HOBIE
Short & Long Sleeve Tees
(Latest 3 & 4 Color Prints)
$3.99
If Perfect, to $15

Palmetto's
JUNIORS'
Denim Prairie & Mini Skirts
Reg. $23.00 Now $12.99

FORENZA
SPORTWEAR
Save 50%-60%
Skirts-$12.99
Shorts-$12.99

Men's Ocean Pacific and Union Bay
Shorts & Woven Sportshirts
NOW
$9.99-$12.99
Reg. $28.00

Men's Tropical Print
Jams & Kneebusters
$9.99

University Inn
(Across from Campus)
Ballroom Downstairs
Manhattan, KS

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy today with a 30 percent chance of rain or possibly thundershowers, high around 60. Winds northeasterly 10 to 20 mph. Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with a 30 percent chance of showers, low in upper 40s.

Inside

Offbeat Humor

"Raising Arizona" is one of the most ingenious comedies to come along in years says reviewer Gary Johnson. See Page 9.

Sports

K-State aims to break six school records and three meet records during competition this weekend at the Kansas Relays. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Tuesday
April 21, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 139

Lawsuit continues in U.S. prison camp case

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration said Monday the World War II detention of Japanese-Americans in U.S. prison camps shamed the nation, but it still urged the Supreme Court to kill a lawsuit stemming from the internment.

Solicitor General Charles Fried, the administration's top-ranking courtroom lawyer, argued that "ordinary rules of law" should apply to the lawsuit "no matter how much balm we would like to apply to the wound."

He said a 1983 suit, which seeks

compensation for property losses suffered by those imprisoned, was filed in the wrong federal court and was filed too late.

But Fried also used the administration's strongest language to date in condemning the internment, in which 120,000 U.S. citizens and resident aliens of Japanese ancestry were taken from their homes and put in concentration camps for up to four years.

He called the banishment "a deplorable episode," adding, "The allies did not always adhere to the values for which they were fighting."

Fried said the suffering inflicted on Japanese-Americans was based on a political judgment — "a wrong judgment" — that their loyalty to the United States could not be trusted.

Fried said the internment program was tainted by "a racial caste, which was our shame."

A federal appeals court ruled that the government must defend itself at trial against the property-loss claims, estimated in the billions of dollars. The Supreme Court's decision is expected by July.

Although its decision may center on questions of legal jurisdiction and a statute of limitations, the case represents the court's first opportunity to comment on its own 1944 decision condoning the internment.

Benjamin Zelenko, the lawyer representing those who sued the government, said his clients "seek their day in court." He urged the justices to let the lawsuit proceed.

Zelenko argued that the suit was not filed too late — beyond a six-year statute of limitations written into a federal law covering such claims — because, he said, government concealment and fraud hid the government's liability until 1982.

Those listening to the 60-minute argument session before the court included William Hohri, a computer

programmer from Chicago who as a teen-ager was interned with his family in a California camp.

Emerging from the session, Hohri criticized the administration's position. "I am sorry we have a Department of Justice we have to fight to affirm our constitutional rights," he said.

"I think the justices recognize this is not the time to duck the issue. We lost our freedom, which is very precious to us."

After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, the federal government forcibly removed from their homes Japanese-Americans and

Japanese citizens living in California and parts of Oregon, Washington and Arizona.

Such action was authorized by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, advised by military leaders that people of Japanese descent could not be trusted.

Before the Roosevelt administration decided to end the internment program, the Supreme Court upheld it as a military necessity.

Government documents discovered later suggest no such military necessity existed. But Fried said government lawyers did not conceal that from the high court.

Dispatcher's error lead

By JUD

For failing to follow procedure in what was a notorious 911 dispatcher error, suspended for pay, said Alva the Riley County

Lichtenhan prematurely re which resulted Johnson said. mation reports responding to

The call was night April 10 senior in computer system report what a conscious man car at 1941 C Her boyfriend 1986 graduate engineering, a semi-conscious before Darfler

Stephen Lobb pre-medicine admitted suicide, car from carbo about 12 hours The RCPD four ing from the e terior of Lobb

A dispatcher call and, fol cedure, passed Lichtenhan. I said the messa state Lobbme

Lichtenhan night, and beca "suspicious" a out the informa ficer would ar

Entertainment Plus

A Viewer's Guide to Leisure Arts — A Weekly Feature of the Collegian

Friday, April 17, 1987

ft/Jim Dietz

as able to

AS

985. doctorate in ell Universi- 1 as dean of 4. He also is of Chemical nces. Department ved his doc- University of a member of AN, Page 12 liberation of inians would without Abu d "still has faculties with "

7

it of the PLO

terrorist war promote the lowers have attacks in the massacres at . 27, 1985. atah and the greed Sunday nderstanding ing for a joint

Linna face in U

By T

WASHINGTON — ing a Soviet of supervi camp execu Soviet Unio Supreme Co ment turned the United S said.

Linna was jail cell by f ment source tion of anony Czechoslova Soviet Unio Linna bo p.m. and wa New York of off at 7:55 p Holtzman, t torney.

As Linna Supreme Co Rehnquist r nas, one of Preparing for, Curtain Call

See Page 4

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy today with a 30 percent chance of rain or possibly thundershowers, high around 60. Winds northeasterly 10 to 20 mph. Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with a 30 percent chance of showers, low in upper 40s.

Inside

Offbeat Humor

"Raising Arizona" is one of the most ingenious comedies to come along in years says reviewer Gary Johnson. See Page 9.

Spo

K-State athlete sets six school records and three meet records during competition this weekend at the Kansas Relays. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Tuesday
April 21, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 139

Lawsuit continues in U.S. prison camp case

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration said Monday the World War II detention of Japanese-Americans in U.S. prison camps shamed the nation, but it still urged the Supreme Court to kill a lawsuit stemming from the internment.

Solicitor General Charles Fried, the administration's top-ranking courtroom lawyer, argued that "ordinary rules of law" should apply to the lawsuit "no matter how much balm we would like to apply to the wound."

He said a 1983 suit, which seeks

compensation for property losses suffered by those imprisoned, was filed in the wrong federal court and was filed too late.

But Fried also used the administration's strongest language to date in condemning the internment, in which 120,000 U.S. citizens and resident aliens of Japanese ancestry were taken from their homes and put in concentration camps for up to four years.

He called the banishment "a deplorable episode," adding, "The allies did not always adhere to the values for which they were fighting."

Fried said the suffering inflicted

on Japanese-Americans was based on a political judgment — "a wrong judgment" — that their loyalty to the United States could not be trusted.

Fried said the internment program was tainted by "a racial caste, which was our shame."

A federal appeals court ruled that the government must defend itself at trial against the property-loss claims, estimated in the billions of dollars. The Supreme Court's decision is expected by July.

Although its decision may center on questions of legal jurisdiction and a statute of limitations, the case represents the court's first opportunity to comment on its own 1944 decision condoning the internment.

Benjamin Zelenko, the lawyer representing those who sued the government, said his clients "seek their day in court." He urged the justices to let the lawsuit proceed.

Zelenko argued that the suit was not filed too late — beyond a six-year statute of limitations written into a federal law covering such claims — because, he said, government concealment and fraud hid the government's liability until 1982.

Those listening to the 60-minute argument session before the court included William Hohri, a computer

programmer from Chicago who as a teen-ager was interned with his family in a California camp.

Emerging from the session, Hohri criticized the administration's position. "I am sorry we have a Department of Justice we have to fight to affirm our constitutional rights," he said.

"I think the justices recognize this is not the time to duck the issue. We lost our freedom, which is very precious to us."

After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, the federal government forcibly removed from their homes Japanese-Americans and

Japanese citizens living in California and parts of Oregon, Washington and Arizona.

Such action was authorized by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, advised by military leaders that people of Japanese descent could not be trusted.

Before the Roosevelt administration decided to end the internment program, the Supreme Court upheld it as a military necessity.

Government documents discovered later suggest no such military necessity existed. But Fried said government lawyers did not conceal that from the high court.

Dispatcher's error lead

By JUE

For failing to follow procedure in what was a routine call, a dispatcher for the Kansas City Police Department was suspended for 30 days, said Alvin Lichtenhan, police chief.

The call was made on April 10, when a senior in computer science reported what appeared to be a car accident at 1941 S. Her boyfriend, a 1986 graduate of engineering, was semi-conscious before Darlene Lichtenhan, a dispatcher, called and, following procedure, passed the message to the police.

Lichtenhan, 31, said the message was "suspicious" at the time she received it, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

Lichtenhan, a pre-medical student, said she was "suspicious" about the information, but she followed the standard procedure.

2

Friday, April 17, 1987

Television Index

Manhattan Cable
KSNT (NBC)	7
WIBW (CBS)	3
KLDH (ABC)	2
KSHB (IND)	8
KTWU (PBS)	11
WGN (IND)	10
WTBS (IND)	12
Premium cable:
HBO, Showtime, CINEMAX, ESPN
Additional cable channels not listed in guide: Manhattan cable channels 4 (NBC), 5 (CBS) and 9 (ABC) correspond to channels 7, 3 and 2, respectively.

Entertainment Plus

EDITOR
Jonie Trued
ARTS EDITOR
Sarah Kessinger
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson
ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinett

On Our Cover

"She Stoops To Conquer," the K-State Player's latest production, allows students a taste of the genteel mannerisms of 18th century English society. Hoop skirts, gliding footsteps and proper English make up this "comedy of mistaken identities." See Page 4.

Cover by Gary Lytle

FRIDAY, APRIL 17, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom and Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jannie Bewitched	Movie: "Secrets Of A"	"Mad Max Beyond"	"The Emigrants"	Business SportsCenter
8:00 " "	Program	" "	Defenders Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Heathcliff	Down To Earth Movie: "The Great Dictator"	Movie: "East Of Eden"	" "	" "	Women's Volleyball
9:00 Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	"Mildred Pierce"	Movie: "Young Man With A Horn"	" "	" "	Cross Country
10:00 Jeopardy Scramble	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hathia Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	" "	"Johnny Dangerously"	Movie: "The First Legion"	" "	Aerobics Getting Fit
11:00 Password Wheel Fortune	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Ecology Ecology	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	Movie: "Trancers"	" "	" "	Stanley Cup Playoffs
12:00 News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & B'ful	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke Hillbillies	Sesame Street	News	Movie: "The Last Days Of Pompeii"	Movie: "The Aviator"	Movie: "D.A.R.Y.L."	Movie: "The First Legion"	Division Semifinal
1:00 Lives Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Mystery!	Baseball Montreal	Angry Man: WomanWatch	"The Aviator"	Movie: "D.A.R.Y.L."	Movie: "The First Legion"	Division Semifinal
2:00 Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoobles Zoo	At Julia's Painting	Expos at Chicago	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Tale Of The	" "	"Ghoulies"	" "
3:00 Happy Days	Magnum, P.I.	Ghostbusters Dennis	Scooby Doo Smurfs	We're Cooking Aerobics	Cubs	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Bunny Picnic Seabert	Movie: "Isaac"	Movie: "Isaac"	Wrestling
4:00 Diff. Strokes Facts Of Life	Donahue	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flinstones Jetsons	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	Transformers	Rocky Road Safe At Home	Barbra Streisand: One	Littlefeathers' Dream	"Weird Science"	Auto Racing
5:00 3's Company NBC News	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Facts Of Life WKRP	Hillbillies Andy Griffith	Voice Movie: "Continental Divide"	Rookie Of The Year	Movie: "Bronco Billy"	SportsCenter Shooting
6:00 News Wheel Fortune	News Newsweds	Benson M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	Sanford Honeymooners	"Continental Divide"	Tall Tales & Legends	" "	SportsCenter Wrestling
7:00 Andy Williams & NBC Kids	Nothing Easy Popcorn Kid	Movie: "New York, New York"	Charmings	Wash. Week Wall St. Wk.	Movie: "The Story Of"	NBA Basketball	Movie: "The Final Conflict"	Brothers G. Shandling	Movie: "What Comes"	" "
8:00 Miami Vice	Movie: "Table For Five"	"Jaws 2"	New York	American Easter	Jacob And Joseph	Mavericks at Rockets	Conflict	Movie: "S.O.B."	Arround Movie: "S.O.B."	Top Rank Boxing
9:00 Stingray	"Five"	" "	" "	" "	News	Baseball	"Howling II... Your Sister"	"Taps"	"Taps"	John Meekins vs. Sergio
10:00 News Tonight Show	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Honeymooners Magnum, P.I.	Atlanta Braves at San	Movie: "Blow Out"	Movie: "The Emerald Forest"	Movie: "The Emerald Forest"	Aguirre SportsCenter
11:00 MTV Video	Lifestyles	Ask Dr. Ruth Nightline	Movie: "Cowboy"	MacNeil / Lehrer	Movie: "Give Us Barabbas"	Night Tracks - Power Play	Movie: "Blow Out"	Movie: "The Emerald Forest"	Movie: "The Emerald Forest"	SportsCenter Karate
12:00 Countdown Gene Scott	Studio 34 CHIPS	700 Club	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	Road Racing

SATURDAY, APRIL 18, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Kiseyfur Gummi Bears	B'tain Bears Wildlife	Wuzzles Care Bears	Tom And Jerry Kideo TV	Culture Algebra	Farm Report World Tom.	Wrestling	Movie Cont'd Movie: "Mrs. Soffel"	Movie: "Jim Thorpe: All American"	Movie: "King Richard And The Crusaders"	SportsCenter Hydroplane
8:00 Smurfs	Muppet Babies	Flinstone Kids	" "	Bodywatch People	Charlando People	National Geographic	"Mrs. Soffel"	All American	And The Crusaders	Racing Dance Teams
9:00 Alvin	Pee-wee Teen Wolf	Ghostbusters P.D. Puppies	New Gidget Puttin' On	S. Previews Old House	Business Wild Kingdom	Explorer	"Night The Lights Went Out In"	Movie: "Latin Lovers"	Movie: "Lone Wolf McQuade"	Outdoors Fishin' Hole
10:00 Footur Universe	Galaxy High Circus	Bugs Bunny Ewoks	Solid Gold	Motorweek Animals	Superman Wild, Wild	Movie: "Crash"	Movie: "Crash"	Father Guido Sarducci	"Mad Max Beyond"	SpoCtr. Skiing
11:00 Forgotten Children	Hulk Hogan	Weekend Health Show	Lifestyles	Painting Vict. Garden	West World	" "	Georgia's "Crash"	Movie: "Father Guido Sarducci"	Movie: "Mad Max Beyond"	SpoCtr. Skiing
12:00 Baseball Boston Red Sox at Toronto Blue Jays	News Future Flight	Bandstand Abb. & Cost.	Lost In Space	Sesame Street	"Flame Of The Barbary Coast"	Movie: "Against A Crooked Sky"	Movie: "Against A Crooked Sky"	Movie: "Life On The Mississippi"	Movie: "Crazy About The Movies"	Women's Tennis
1:00 Sox at Toronto Blue Jays	To Be	Dukes Of Hazzard	Incredible Hulk	New Literacy New Literacy	Coast: "Tarzan's New Adventure"	Gunsmoke	Movie: "Long Day's Journey Into Night"	Movie: "A Woman Called Golda"	Movie: "A Woman Called Golda"	Basketball Nike Classic
2:00 " "	Announced	PBA Bowling	Bionic Woman	Write Course Write Course	Soul Train	World Of Audubon	Hagler vs. Leonard	" "	" "	LPBA
3:00 Baseball W. Sox at Tigers or Dodgers at	PGA Golf MCI Heritage	Wide World Of Sports	Buck Rogers	Houdini! Other Bridge	Music Mach. It's A Living	R. Martin O. Wilson	Sports Upeets	Movie: "Gotchal"	Movie: "The Money Pit"	Bowling U.S. Open
4:00 Padres	Your Backyard CBS News	ABC News Illustrated	GEO: A Ticket To The World	GED GED	Charles Big Family	Wrestling	Movie: "Gotchal"	Movie: "The Money Pit"	Movie: "Smooth Talk"	Scholastic Horse Racing
5:00 Hee Haw	Mama's Family Crook & Ch.	Buddies 9 To 5	Buddies Big Family	All Creatures Coast: "Tarzan's New Adventure"	Country At The Movies	" "	" "	Movie: "The Money Pit"	Movie: "Smooth Talk"	Ark. Derby SpoCtr.
6:00 Facts Of Life Sw. Surrender	Outlaws	Starman	Lifestyles	WdrWks. "Here Comes Mr. Jordan"	Movie: "Here Comes Mr. Jordan"	Movie: "Charley Varrick"	Movie: "After Hours"	Movie: "Nomads"	Movie: "At Close Range"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
7:00 Golden Girls Me And Mrs. C	Movie: "Christine"	Ozma	Movie: "Butch And Sundance: The Early Days"	Austin City Limits	Ctry. Express Bobby Jones	News	Movie: "Head Office"	Father Guido Sarducci	Movie: "Lone Wolf McQuade"	Division Semifinal
8:00 Hunter	" "	Spenser: For Hire	" "	Tales Movie: "The Horror Of Frankenstein"	Stains: The Red Taz	"Allo 'Allo Movie: "4 For Texas"	Night Tracks: Chartbusters	Movie: "The Perils Of Grendoline"	Movie: "The Road Warrior"	NFL Films SpoCtr.
9:00 News Skeel & Ebert	News Solid Gold	"Wait Until Dark"	" "	Dorothy Healy	"4 For Texas"	" "	Night Tracks: Chartbusters	Movie: "The Perils Of Grendoline"	Movie: "The Road Warrior"	Wrestling
10:00 Saturday Night Live	It's A Living	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	Night Tracks: Chartbusters	Movie: "The Perils Of Grendoline"	Movie: "The Road Warrior"	Women's Tennis
11:00 At The Movies Look At Me	Rifleman	Solid Gold	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "
12:00 " "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "

Kentucky Fried Chicken.

2 pieces of chicken, biscuit, potatoes & gravy

For Only

$1.89!!

901 N. 3rd

Offer expires 4/30/87

3002 Anderson

Dental Associates

of Manhattan

- 24 Hour Emergency Service
- Saturday and Evening Appointments
- Here to serve you when you're away from home

1133 College Ave.
Bldg. D
Manhattan, KS 66502
(913) 539-7401

By Jim Dietz

as able to

S

985. ictorate in ell Universi- 3 as dean of 4. He also is of Chemical nces. Department yed his doc- University of a member of AN, Page 12

7

iberation of inians would without Abu d "still has faculties with " it of the PLO terrorist war promote the lowers have attacks in the nassacres at . 27, 1985. atah and the greed Sunday nderstanding ing for a joint

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy today with a 30 percent chance of rain or possibly thundershowers, high around 60. Winds northeasterly 10 to 20 mph. Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with a 30 percent chance of showers, low in upper 40s.

Inside

Offbeat Humor

"Raising Arizona" is one of the most ingenious comedies to come along in years says reviewer Gary Johnson. See Page 9.

Spo

K-State athlete sets school records and three meet records during competition this weekend at the Kansas Relays. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Tuesday
April 21, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 139

Lawsuit continues in U.S. prison camp case

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration said Monday the World War II detention of Japanese-Americans in U.S. prison camps shamed the nation, but it still urged the Supreme Court to kill a lawsuit stemming from the internment.

Solicitor General Charles Fried, the administration's top-ranking courtroom lawyer, argued that "ordinary rules of law" should apply to the lawsuit "no matter how much balm we would like to apply to the wound."

He said a 1983 suit, which seeks

compensation for property losses suffered by those imprisoned, was filed in the wrong federal court and was filed too late.

But Fried also used the administration's strongest language to date in condemning the internment, in which 120,000 U.S. citizens and resident aliens of Japanese ancestry were taken from their homes and put in concentration camps for up to four years.

He called the banishment "a deplorable episode," adding, "The allies did not always adhere to the values for which they were fighting."

Fried said the suffering inflicted

on Japanese-Americans was based on a political judgment — "a wrong judgment" — that their loyalty to the United States could not be trusted.

Fried said the internment program was tainted by "a racial caste, which was our shame."

A federal appeals court ruled that the government must defend itself at trial against the property-loss claims, estimated in the billions of dollars. The Supreme Court's decision is expected by July.

Although its decision may center on questions of legal jurisdiction and a statute of limitations, the case represents the court's first opportunity to comment on its own 1944 decision condoning the internment.

Benjamin Zelenko, the lawyer representing those who sued the government, said his clients "seek their day in court." He urged the justices to let the lawsuit proceed.

Zelenko argued that the suit was not filed too late — beyond a six-year statute of limitations written into a federal law covering such claims — because, he said, government concealment and fraud hid the government's liability until 1982.

Those listening to the 60-minute argument session before the court included William Hohri, a computer

programmer from Chicago who as a teen-ager was interned with his family in a California camp.

Emerging from the session, Hohri criticized the administration's position. "I am sorry we have a Department of Justice we have to fight to affirm our constitutional rights," he said.

"I think the justices recognize this is not the time to duck the issue. We lost our freedom, which is very precious to us."

After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, the federal government forcibly removed from their homes Japanese-Americans and

Japanese citizens living in California and parts of Oregon, Washington and Arizona.

Such action was authorized by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, advised by military leaders that people of Japanese descent could not be trusted.

Before the Roosevelt administration decided to end the internment program, the Supreme Court upheld it as a military necessity.

Government documents discovered later suggest no such military necessity existed. But Fried said government lawyers did not conceal that from the high court.

Dispatcher's error leads

By JUDY

For failing to

cedure in what

nocuous 911 c

suspended for pay, said Alvan

the Riley County

Lichtenhan w

prematurely rec

which resulted

Johnson said. A

mation reported

responding to a

The call was night April 10

senior in comput

mation systems

TUESDAY, APRIL 21, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom and Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeannie Bewitched	Movie: "Trancers"	Movie: "Taps"	Movie Cont'd Comedy	Business SportsCenter
8:00 " "	Program	" "	Defenders Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Heathcliff	Down To Earth I Love Lucy	Cinema	Cont'd	Movie: "Joey"	Women's Tennis
9:00 Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	Movie: "Blindfold"	Movie: "That's"	Movie: "Don't Go	" "	" "
10:00 Jeopardy	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hathia Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	" "	Dancing"	Near The Water"	Movie: "Transylvania	Marathon SportsLook
11:00 Password	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Write Course Culture	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	Movie: "The Great	Movie: "Time	6-5000"	Aerobics Getting Fit
12:00 News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & B'tul	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke Hillbillies	Sesame Street	News	Movie: "Abandon	Muppet Caper"	Bandits"	Movie: "The Man Who	Stanley Cup Playoffs
1:00 Lives Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Masterpiece Theatre	Dick Van Dyke Andy Griffith	Ship"	Sports Upsets	Movie: "My Science	Came To Dinner"	Adams or Patrick
2:00 Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoobilee Zoo	Modern Maturity	Beaver Bugs Bunny	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Movie: "Savage	Project"	Movie: "Montana	Division Final Game One
3:00 Happy Days	Magnum, P.I.	Ghostbusters Dennis	Scooby Doo Smurfs	We're Cooking Aerobics	Ghostbusters Smurfs	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Harvest" Movie:	Who Am I This Time?"	Movie: "Territory"	Wrestling
4:00 Diff. Strokes Facts Of Life	Donahue	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flintstones Jetsons	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Transformers	Gilligan Beaver	"Kid Cotter" Movie:	"Kidco"	"The First Legion"	Wrestling Scholastic
5:00 3's Company NBC News	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Facts Of Life WKRP	Hillbillies Andy Griffith	Movie:	" "	Comedy Movie:	SportsLook NBA Today
6:00 News Wheel Fortune	News Baseball	Benson M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	Sanford Honeymooners	"Say Yes"	Paper Chase	Movie: "What Comes Around"	SportsCenter Greatest Hits
7:00 Matlock	Kansas City Royals at	Growing Pains S. Hammer	Movie: "Marathon	Nova	H's Heroes Baseball	Honeymooners Baseball	Linda Ronstadt	Movie: "Time	Movie: "Act Of Love"	Diving American
8:00 Gimme Break The Tortellis	Boston Red Sox	Moonlighting	Man"	Frontline	Chicago Cubs at St.	Atlanta Braves at	Sports Upsets	Bandits"	" "	Cup Volleyball
9:00 NBC News Special	Magnum, P.I.	Max Headroom	Success	Tenko	Louis Cardinals	Houston Astros	The Hitchhiker Movie:	Brothers G. Shandling	Movie: "Cocoon"	U.S. vs. Brazil
10:00 News Tonight Show	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	News	Movie: "Rage"	"Trancers"	Movie: "Taps"	" "	In The PGA SportsCenter
11:00 David	Simon & Simon	Ask Dr. Ruth Nightline	Benny Hill Hitchcock	MacNeil / Lehrer	Movie:	" "	Sam Kinison	" "	Movie: "Enemy Mine"	SportsLook Top Rank
12:00 Letterman Gene Scott	Movie	700 Club	Movie	"Backlash"	Movie: "Last Safari"	Movie: "Final Conflict"	Movie	" "	" "	Boxing

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 22, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom and Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeannie Bewitched	Movie: "Kiddo"	Meet The Wombles	Movie: "Bronco Billy"	Business SportsCenter
8:00 " "	Program	" "	Defenders Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Heathcliff	Down To Earth I Love Lucy	" "	Movie: "It's Showtime	Cont'd	LPBA Bowling
9:00 Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	Movie: "Doomsday	Movie: "A Matter Of	Movie: "The Devil	Movie: "The Great Dictator"	U.S. Open Auto Racing
10:00 Jeopardy	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hathia Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	Flight"	Life And Death"	Makes Three" Movie:	" "	NBA Today SportsLook
11:00 Password	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Literature Algebra	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	"Seven Minutes In	"Life On The Mississippi"	Movie: "Ride,	Aerobics Getting Fit
12:00 News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & B'tul	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke Hillbillies	Sesame Street	News	Movie: "The Juggler"	Heaven" Movie:	Movie: "Vaquerol"	Movie: "Maxtrax	Women's Volleyball
1:00 Lives Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Nova	Dick Van Dyke Andy Griffith	" "	"Cold River" Pit"	"The Money Pit"	Movie: "Young Man	Teams TBA Soccer
2:00 Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoobilee Zoo	Tenko	Beaver Bugs Bunny	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Seabert Workin' For	Bin, The Little Donkey	With A Horn"	Karate
3:00 Happy Days	Magnum, P.I.	Ghostbusters Dennis	Scooby Doo Smurfs	We're Cooking Aerobics	Ghostbusters Smurfs	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Peanuts Movie:	Friend Of N. Nickleby	Movie: "Kim"	Wrestling
4:00 Diff. Strokes Facts Of Life	Schoolbreak	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flintstones Jetsons	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Transformers	Gilligan Beaver	"Quicksilver"	Movie: "Red Balloon"	" "	Australian Football
5:00 3's Company NBC News	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Facts Of Life WKRP	Hillbillies Andy Griffith	Can't Happen	Movie: "Revolution"	Movie: "Revolution"	SportsLook In The PGA
6:00 News Wheel Fortune	News Baseball	Benson M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	Sanford Honeymooners	One Too Many	" "	" "	SportsCenter Stanley Cup
7:00 Our Planet Tonight	Kansas City Royals at	P. Strangers Head Of Class	Barnaby Jones	Skating Spect.	H's Heroes Baseball	Honeymooners Baseball	Barbra Streisand	Movie: "Dangerously	Movie: "... And	Playoffs Adams or
8:00 Night Court Easy Street	Boston Red Sox	Dynasty	Movie: "Harry And	Looking Back To The Future	Chicago Cubs at St.	Atlanta Braves at	Movie: "Close It's Showtime	Justice For All"	Movie: "Patrick Dr. Final	" "
9:00 Bronx Zoo	Houston Knights	Mariah	Tonto"	Mark Russell Its Your Turn	Louis Cardinals	Houston Astros	" "	Movie: "The Money	Movie: "At Close	Fishin' Hole
10:00 News Tonight Show	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	News	Movie: "Seminole"	Movie: "The Last	Pit"	Range"	SportsCenter
11:00 David	T.J. Hooker	Ask Dr. Ruth Nightline	Benny Hill Hitchcock	MacNeil / Lehrer	Movie:	" "	Innocent Man"	"Happy Hooker Goes	Movie: "Crossroads"	SportsLook Cheerleading
12:00 Letterman Gene Scott	Movie: "Title Shot"	700 Club	Movie: "Picnic"	"Bend Of The River"	Movie	Movie	Movie	Hollywood" Movie	" "	NBA Today

Friday, April 17, 1987

Video view

By ANDRE KELLEY
Collegian Reviewer

Keep Your Eye On Me" by Herb Alpert

In the past year and a half alone, Grammy award winning duo Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis have produced hit albums for Cherelle, S.O.S. Band, Human League and Janet Jackson. Now receiving their musical Midas touch are the jazzy sounds of Herb Alpert.

Aside from their upcoming Pia Zadora project (Ha! Good Luck), Alpert is their biggest producing task yet. Marketing jazz to the masses is no easy feat, especially to mostly youth-oriented radio and video markets that cater to them.

His single "Keep Your Eye On Me" is making a killing in clubs and on airwaves alike. The 12 inch single has been around for months, and the video is causing a sensation as well. The clip stars Alpert blowing his beautiful best plus a dozen models jumping and jamming with former Time member, Jerome Benton.

The cast is suspended in mid-air on various tightropes above a city skyline, pulling every imaginable stunt they can get away with. For a video, some of the special effects are pretty convincing. What's most impressive is that all of Lewis' samples (short recorded edits) are included: a dog's barking, a buzzing-saw blade and a pounding hammer.

"Don't Disturb This Groove" by The System

This high tech twosome is well-known for its smart electro-groove sound and light rock imagery. Their latest video is simple but gets its point across.

It's filmed at a remote desert motel and set in one of the rooms. The two are playing away while serenading two girls next door who later (of course) end up in their arms.

The clip was done in black and white with some segments in color. Its roving camera and swaying backgrounds mixed with slow-fast scenes underscore the main strengths of the song. The overlapping synthesizers, lurking guitar and lazy melody sound much like the Isley Brothers' classic "Footsteps in the Dark."

Since Robert Palmer snatched their first single and made it his, maybe this time the dynamic duo will get more notice.

ff/Jim Dietz

as able to

S

985.

ctorate in ell Universi-

4. He also is of Chemical

neces.

Department

ved his docu-

AN, Page 12

7 beration of inians would

without Abu

d "still has faculties with

it of the PLO

terrorist war

promote the lowers have attacks in the massacres at 27, 1985.

atah and the

gred Sunday

nderstanding

ing for a joint

Lin

By Th

WASHINGTON

ing a Soviet of supervisi

camp execu

Soviet Union

Linna's bo

p.m. and wa

New York of

off at 7:55

Holtzman,

torney.

As Linna's

Supreme Co

Rehnquist r

nas, one of

The Hair Experts
FORMAL EVENING SPECIAL
Get a •Design Cut
•Gentle Redken Support Perm
•And Styling
Plus: Receive FREE Redken Amino Pon Shampoo and Phinal Phase Conditioner Value $62.75 for only $50 (Expires 4-25-87)
1209 Moro Place—Aggieville 776-4455

Sub & Stuff
Sandwich Shop
OPEN 'TIL 2 A.M. DAILY!
FREE MEDIUM SOFT DRINK with the purchase of any sub
12th & Moro—Aggieville
Expires 4-30-87 Void with any offers

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy today with a 30 percent chance of rain or possibly thundershowers, high around 60. Winds northeasterly 10 to 20 mph. Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with a 30 percent chance of showers, low in upper 40s.

Inside

Offbeat Humor

"Raising Arizona" is one of the most ingenious comedies to come along in years says reviewer Gary Johnson. See Page 9.

Sports

K-State athletes break six school records and three meet records during competition this weekend at the Kansas Relays. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Tuesday
April 21, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 139

Lawsuit continues in U.S. prison camp case

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration said Monday the World War II detention of Japanese-Americans in U.S. prison camps shamed the nation, but it still urged the Supreme Court to kill a lawsuit stemming from the internment.

Solicitor General Charles Fried, the administration's top-ranking courtroom lawyer, argued that "ordinary rules of law" should apply to the lawsuit "no matter how much balm we would like to apply to the wound."

He said a 1983 suit, which seeks

compensation for property losses suffered by those imprisoned, was filed in the wrong federal court and was filed too late.

But Fried also used the administration's strongest language to date in condemning the internment, in which 120,000 U.S. citizens and resident aliens of Japanese ancestry were taken from their homes and put in concentration camps for up to four years.

He called the banishment "a deplorable episode," adding, "The allies did not always adhere to the values for which they were fighting."

Fried said the suffering inflicted

on Japanese-Americans was based on a political judgment — "a wrong judgment" — that their loyalty to the United States could not be trusted.

Fried said the internment program was tainted by "a racial caste, which was our shame."

A federal appeals court ruled that the government must defend itself at trial against the property-loss claims, estimated in the billions of dollars. The Supreme Court's decision is expected by July.

Although its decision may center on questions of legal jurisdiction and a statute of limitations, the case represents the court's first opportunity to comment on its own 1944 decision condoning the internment.

Benjamin Zelenko, the lawyer representing those who sued the government, said his clients "seek their day in court." He urged the justices to let the lawsuit proceed.

Zelenko argued that the suit was not filed too late — beyond a six-year statute of limitations written into a federal law covering such claims — because, he said, government concealment and fraud hid the government's liability until 1982.

Those listening to the 60-minute argument session before the court included William Hohri, a computer

programmer from Chicago who as a teen-ager was interned with his family in a California camp.

Emerging from the session, Hohri criticized the administration's position. "I am sorry we have a Department of Justice we have to fight to affirm our constitutional rights," he said.

"I think the justices recognize this is not the time to duck the issue. We lost our freedom, which is very precious to us."

After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, the federal government forcibly removed from their homes Japanese-Americans and

Japanese citizens living in California and parts of Oregon, Washington and Arizona.

Such action was authorized by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, advised by military leaders that people of Japanese descent could not be trusted.

Before the Roosevelt administration decided to end the internment program, the Supreme Court upheld it as a military necessity.

Government documents discovered later suggest no such military necessity existed. But Fried said government lawyers did not conceal that from the high court.

Dislead

By JU

For failing to follow procedure in which a 911 dispatcher was suspended for pay, said Alvin Riley Court Lichtenhan prematurely which results Johnson said nation report responding to

The call on night April senior in communication system report what conscious man car at 1941 Her boyfriend 1986 graduate engineering, semi-conscious before Darle Stephen Le pre-medicine mitted suicide car from car about 12 hours The RCPD for ing from the terior of Lobe

A dispatch call and, procedure, pass Lichtenhan. said the mess state Lohmey Lichtenhan night, and be "suspicious" out the information would

Lin face in U

By

WASHINGTON — ing a Soviet of superv camp executive Soviet Un Supreme Court ment turned the United said.

Linnas w jail cell by ment sour tion of and Czechoslov Soviet Uni Linnas 1 p.m. and w New York off at 7:55 Holtzman, torney.

As Linn Supreme Rehnquist nas, one o

Friday, April 17, 1987

Making of A Comedy

Costume class teaches basics

By DANA BRADLEY
Collegian Reporter

Lydia Aseneta and her Fundamentals of Costuming and Makeup class run a tight ship in the McCain Auditorium costume shop.

Students in the class have been working on costumes for the production of "She Stoops to Conquer," presented in Nichols Theatre tonight and Saturday evening and resuming April 22-25.

Aseneta, associate professor of speech, has been working with costumes and makeup for University productions for 25 years. Over the years, she has produced quality work with attention to detail and a flare for perfection.

The requirements for Aseneta's class are 30 hours of work in the costume shop and 30 hours involved in a show, said Tim Ahlenius, freshman in theater.

"We spend all our spare time doing it," he said. "It is really pretty easy to do the hours, though."

"The students do or die in this room," Aseneta said. "When they leave, they know how to sew on buttons, and strangely enough, the guys are more interested and more willing to put in the hours."

"We all come into this class pretty much on an equal level," said Matthew Mazur, freshman in music theater.

The students do not know how to sew, but in the class they learn the basics.

"I get help when I teach this course because we have so much to do and it gets busy during a production," Aseneta said. "The more dedicated students are the theater majors."

Theater is diverse. One needs to learn how to do everything involved with a production, and the actors need to know what goes on behind the sets, Ahlenius said.

"I think theater and music majors should take a course in costumes," Aseneta said. "They learn that all parts of the body are involved in sewing, and they find out that fashion sewing is different than theater sewing. Theater involves so much rigorous movement."

Stages are another important factor to consider in making decisions about costuming. Nichols Theatre and the Purple Masque Theatre are different from McCain.

The stage differences that matter in costume planning involve how close the audience is sitting in relation to the actors, Aseneta said.

"The closer the audience sits to the stage, the more they notice the costumes," she said.

The costume shop has an organizational order that must be followed for work to be completed successfully.

"Everything here has an order, and you have to keep it in that order," Ahlenius said. "Keeping the work area clean is very important."

"Order is important because it is a small work area. I even have scraps put into order by color."

"It is important to be cheerful in the work area. A pleasant atmosphere is easier to work in," Mazur said. "The evenings of productions produce high tensions. Everything has to work right."

The older costumes that have been used in other productions require patchwork, hemming, shortening, lengthening and reconstruction.

"When we need to have new costumes or have the old ones reconstructed, we get an experienced seamstress to do the work," Aseneta said.

"Some costumes we are repairing for economy; others we are repairing for art's sake," she said.

By Jim Dietz

as able to

S

985. ictorate in ell Universi-1 as dean of 4. He also is l of Chemical nces.

Department ved his doc-University of a member of AN, Page 12

7

iberation of inians would "without Abu d, "still has ficulties with "

it of the PLO

terrorist war promote the lowers have attacks in the massacres at 27, 1985. atah and the greed Sunday nderstanding ing for a joint

Photos by Gary Lytle

ABOVE: Tom Overmyer applies his make-up on his way to becoming the character of Young Marl Matthew Mazur, far left, Tony Soucek, center, and Tim Ahlenius learn to construct costumes for the of "She Stoops To Conquer," in the costume shop in the basement of McCain Auditorium.

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy today with a 30 percent chance of rain or possibly thundershowers, high around 60. Winds northeasterly 10 to 20 mph. Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with a 30 percent chance of showers, low in upper 40s.

Inside

Offbeat Humor

"Raising Arizona" is one of the most ingenious comedies to come along in years says reviewer Gary Johnson. See Page 9.

Spo

K-State athlete sets six school records and three meet records during competition this weekend at the Kansas Relays. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Tuesday
April 21, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 139

Lawsuit continues in U.S. prison camp case

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration said Monday the World War II detention of Japanese-Americans in U.S. prison camps shamed the nation, but it still urged the Supreme Court to kill a lawsuit stemming from the internment.

Solicitor General Charles Fried, the administration's top-ranking courtroom lawyer, argued that "ordinary rules of law" should apply to the lawsuit "no matter how much balm we would like to apply to the wound."

He said a 1983 suit, which seeks

compensation for property losses suffered by those imprisoned, was filed in the wrong federal court and was filed too late.

But Fried also used the administration's strongest language to date in condemning the internment, in which 120,000 U.S. citizens and resident aliens of Japanese ancestry were taken from their homes and put in concentration camps for up to four years.

He called the banishment "a deplorable episode," adding, "The allies did not always adhere to the values for which they were fighting."

Fried said the suffering inflicted

on Japanese-Americans was based on a political judgment — "a wrong judgment" — that their loyalty to the United States could not be trusted.

Fried said the internment program was tainted by "a racial caste, which was our shame."

A federal appeals court ruled that the government must defend itself at trial against the property-loss claims, estimated in the billions of dollars. The Supreme Court's decision is expected by July.

Although its decision may center on questions of legal jurisdiction and a statute of limitations, the case represents the court's first opportunity to comment on its own 1944 decision condoning the internment.

Benjamin Zelenko, the lawyer representing those who sued the government, said his clients "seek their day in court." He urged the justices to let the lawsuit proceed.

Zelenko argued that the suit was not filed too late — beyond a six-year statute of limitations written into a federal law covering such claims — because, he said, government concealment and fraud hid the government's liability until 1982.

Those listening to the 60-minute argument session before the court included William Hohri, a computer

programmer from Chicago who as a teen-ager was interned with his family in a California camp.

Emerging from the session, Hohri criticized the administration's position. "I am sorry we have a Department of Justice we have to fight to affirm our constitutional rights," he said.

"I think the justices recognize this is not the time to duck the issue. We lost our freedom, which is very precious to us."

After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, the federal government forcibly removed from their homes Japanese-Americans and

Japanese citizens living in California and parts of Oregon, Washington and Arizona.

Such action was authorized by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, advised by military leaders that people of Japanese descent could not be trusted.

Before the Roosevelt administration decided to end the internment program, the Supreme Court upheld it as a military necessity.

Government documents discovered later suggest no such military necessity existed. But Fried said government lawyers did not conceal that from the high court.

Dispatcher's error leads

By JUDY Staff

For failing to follow procedure in what a dispatching error led to the death of a man, a dispatcher was suspended for 30 days, said Alvina Lichtenhan, the Riley County

Lichtenhan was prematurely released, which resulted in the death of Johnson said. A motion reported responding to a

The call was made on the night April 10 by a senior in computer systems report what appeared to be a conscious man in a car at 1941 Col. Her boyfriend, a 1986 graduate in engineering, said he was semi-conscious before Darfler called.

Stephen Lobmeyr, a pre-medicine student who committed suicide, was found in his car from carbon monoxide about 12 hours after the RCPD found him. The RCPD found him from the exterior of Lobmeyr.

A dispatcher's call and, following procedure, passed the message to Lichtenhan. He said the message was state Lobmeyr.

Lichtenhan said on the night, and because "suspicious" about the information, the officer would arrive

No Laughing Matter

ABOVE: Constance Neville and Hastings, portrayed by Jennifer Hays and Paul Honigs, make plans to elope, against the wishes of Constance's guardian Mrs. Hardcastle. LEFT: Stephanie Sikes, a member of the fundamentals of stage costuming and make-up class, works on attaching the wig of cast member Jeff Schrag.

Cast adapts to 'proper' ways

By SARAH KESSINGER
Arts & Entertainment Editor

Hoops, britches and proper manners bring new meaning to "staging a production" for the K-State Players in their latest offering, "She Stoops To Conquer," to be performed at 8 p.m. today and Saturday and April 22-25 in Nichols Theatre.

Set outside London in 1773, the Oliver Goldsmith comedy "hinges on a series of mistaken identities," said director Charlotte MacFarland, instructor of speech.

The comical production features language, characterizations and costumes from a period when formality was of utmost importance in high society. Returning to this period required certain adjustments for director and cast, she said. The action and movement proved a pronounced obstacle to overcome.

"It's very physical, very demanding.

There's a lot of carrying people off and falling on each other," MacFarland said. "With five petticoats and a hoop, it's a little different than when you have jeans on."

Movement, as in all productions, must seem natural.

"The actors need to make it seem to the audience as if they've always worn these clothes," the director said.

"We've had to watch our mannerisms," said Victor Force, graduate student in theater. "Gestures are more genteel. The women need to walk as if they're floating and the men also kind of glide across the floor."

Mary Hale, freshman in journalism and mass communications, said it was a matter of carrying herself in a different way, walking differently and putting herself in a totally different place in society.

There's "immense femininity," Hale said. "The heels and lace are a change from jeans and tennies."

"All importance is placed on appearance," said Paul Craig, junior in theater. "You have to appear to be at your social standing. You have to at least appear to be rich and proper."

MacFarland said the blocking was very important for this show. "The staging has to be quite precise if you want the show to look nice."

While blocking "She Stoops To Conquer," MacFarland said she had to pre-block everything, or decide the characters' stage movements, so they would have room for women to move in the hoop skirts and for the men to navigate around them. In order to sit down, the men have to fold one leg and sit.

"It's part stylish and part so they wouldn't rip their pants," MacFarland said.

With costumes arriving only a week before the production opened, the cast did what it could to substitute hoops and rolled up jeans for the real dresses and britches.

"By working in rehearsal costumes, we came as close as we could to the real costuming," MacFarland said, chuckling that no tennis shoes were allowed.

Some of the costumes were designed by Lydia Aseneta, associate professor of speech, others were special ordered. For one scene where a dress needed to appear torn and soiled, two of the same dress were ordered. One costume was kept in good condition, while they did what MacFarland called "distressing a costume" to the other dress.

"This means we rumple it, throw mud on it, do whatever we need to mess it up," she said.

Because the audience sits much closer to the stage in Nichols Theatre, the materials had to be authentic, such as real satins, MacFarland said. The cost for the elaborate dresses, large amounts of material for the hoops, petticoats, wig rental and props required for a look of the 18th century were expensive compared with other productions.

Linn face in U

By The

WASHINGTON — A Soviet diplomat of supervising camp executive Soviet Union Supreme Court turned the United States said.

Linnas was jail cell by federal sources of anony Czechoslovak Soviet Union. Linnas was p.m. and was New York off at 7:55 p.m. Holtzman, the attorney.

As Linnas Supreme Court Rehnquist re-nas, one of the production

df/Jim Dietz

as able to

AS 985. doctorate in ell Universi-

d as dean of
4. He also is of Chemical nces.
Department
ved his doc-University of a member of
AN, Page 12

liberation of inians would without Abu
d "still has faculties with
"

it of the PLO

terrorist war
promote the lowers have attacks in the massacres at 27, 1985.
atah and the greed Sunday understanding
ing for a joint

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy today with a 30 percent chance of rain or possibly thundershowers, high around 60. Winds northeasterly 10 to 20 mph. Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with a 30 percent chance of showers, low in upper 40s.

Inside

Offbeat Humor

"Raising Arizona" is one of the most ingenious comedies to come along in years says reviewer Gary Johnson. See Page 9.

Spo

K-State athlete sets six school records and three meet records during competition this weekend at the Kansas Relays. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Tuesday April 21, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 139

Lawsuit continues in U.S. prison camp case

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration said Monday the World War II detention of Japanese-Americans in U.S. prison camps shamed the nation, but it still urged the Supreme Court to kill a lawsuit stemming from the internment.

Solicitor General Charles Fried, the administration's top-ranking courtroom lawyer, argued that "ordinary rules of law" should apply to the lawsuit "no matter how much balm we would like to apply to the wound."

He said a 1983 suit, which seeks

compensation for property losses suffered by those imprisoned, was filed in the wrong federal court and was filed too late.

But Fried also used the administration's strongest language to date in condemning the internment, in which 120,000 U.S. citizens and resident aliens of Japanese ancestry were taken from their homes and put in concentration camps for up to four years.

He called the banishment "a deplorable episode," adding, "The allies did not always adhere to the values for which they were fighting."

Fried said the suffering inflicted

on Japanese-Americans was based on a political judgment — "a wrong judgment" — that their loyalty to the United States could not be trusted.

Fried said the internment program was tainted by "a racial caste, which was our shame."

A federal appeals court ruled that the government must defend itself at trial against the property-loss claims, estimated in the billions of dollars. The Supreme Court's decision is expected by July.

Although its decision may center on questions of legal jurisdiction and a statute of limitations, the case represents the court's first opportunity to comment on its own 1944 decision condoning the internment.

Benjamin Zelenko, the lawyer representing those who sued the government, said his clients "seek their day in court."

He urged the justices to let the lawsuit proceed. Zelenko argued that the suit was not filed too late — beyond a six-year statute of limitations written into a federal law covering such claims — because, he said, government concealment and fraud hid the government's liability until 1982.

Those listening to the 60-minute argument session before the court included William Hohri, a computer programmer from Chicago who as a teen-ager was interned with his family in a California camp.

Emerging from the session, Hohri criticized the administration's position. "I am sorry we have a Department of Justice we have to fight to affirm our constitutional rights," he said.

"I think the justices recognize this is not the time to duck the issue. We lost our freedom, which is very precious to us."

After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, the federal government forcibly removed from their homes Japanese-Americans and

Japanese citizens living in California and parts of Oregon, Washington and Arizona.

Such action was authorized by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, advised by military leaders that people of Japanese descent could not be trusted.

Before the Roosevelt administration decided to end the internment program, the Supreme Court upheld it as a military necessity.

Government documents discovered later suggest no such military necessity existed. But Fried said government lawyers did not conceal that from the high court.

Dispatcher's error leads

By JUDY Staff

For failing to procedure in what a nocoous 911 dispatcher Ron L. Lichtenhan was prematurely re which resulted i Johnson said. A mation reporter responding to a

The call was night April 10 senior in computa mation systems report what ap, conscious man car at 1941 Col Her boyfriend, 1986 graduat engineering, sai semi-conscious before Darlfer e

Stephen Lohm pre-medicine v mitted suicide. v car from carbor about 12 hours The RCPD found ing from the ex terior of Lohme

A dispatcher call and, folk cedure, passed Lichtenhan. He said the messag state Lohmeyer

Lichtenhan s night, and becat "suspicious" ab out the informat ficer would arr

Linr face in U

By The WASHING ing a Soviet d of supervisi camp executi Soviet Union Supreme Cou ment turned t the United St said.

Linnaas was jail cell by fe ment source tion of anony Czechoslovak Soviet Union. Linnaas boa p.m. and was New York off off at 7:55 p Holtzman, th torney.

As Linnaas Supreme Co Rehnquist re nas, one of

Film Review

Local 'grad' success story right for Fox

By ANDRE KELLEY Collegian Reviewer

Michael J. Fox has two things going for him a lot of actors don't: his boyish charm and a capacity to redeem himself to movie audiences over and over again.

He won us with "Back to the Future" and barked up the wrong tree with "Teen Wolf." He stumbled in the dark with "Light of Day" and now he's hit pay dirt with "The Secret of My Success."

Fox plays an ambitious K-State graduate named Bradley Foster. The film opens in western Kansas with him pitching hay and toying with the idea of leaving for New York. He feels the only way to get to the top is to start in the Big Apple.

With slick editing and help from the thunderous title track by Night Ranger, he rockets from the plains of Kansas to the gleaming spires of New York. Alas, he even gets away with the hackneyed line "Well, Toto..." you know the rest.

Once there, he finds that city life is far from "successful." His apartment has enough rats and roaches to make a Raid mini-series. And it's here, when he hits the pavement, that he truly learns about survival in the corporate jungle.

Out of desperation, he drops in on a very far removed relative who happens to be the president of a major conglomerate. This man is volcanic as far as his temper goes and proves it by chewing out a score of his top executives. He gives Bradley a break and starts him in the mailroom, beginning a hilarious and shrewd climb to the top.

Fox has a lot of help from a wild and equally funny cast of supporting characters.

He falls for the prim, beautiful ice maiden, Christy Willis (Helen Slater). She has no interest in him, especially since she's sleeping with the president. And then there's "Auntie Vera." She is the "neglected wife" of the company president, resident nympho and relative to Bradley. All she can think about is jumping his bones. Instead of the make-up, they should have tied a mattress to her

See SUCCESS, Page 7

SUNDAY, APRIL 19, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTCA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 James Kennedy	Jerry Fawell	Jimmy Swaggart	Easter Mass	Culture Algebra	R. Schuller Heritage	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Fraggle Rock Seabert	Innocents Easter Story	Movie: "The Silver Chalice"	SportsCenter Golf
8:00 L. Lundstrom	Discovery Truth	Kenneth Copeland	Wrestling	Sesame Street Easter Is	Sunday Mass Easter Is	Cont'd Andy Griffith	Movie: "Brewster's Millions"	Faerie Tale Theatre	Chalice"	In The PGA SpeedWeek
9:00 Schuller Jimmy	Oral Roberts Larry Jones	It Is Written Wrestling	Wild, Wild West	Mister Rogers Special	Bugs Bunny Jam	Good News Movie	"Back To The Future"	Movie: "Spies Like Us"	Movie: "Spies Like Us"	One On One Scholastic
10:00 Swaggart Auction	Sunday Morning	Walt Disney	Maverick	Sesame Street	Cisco Kid Lone Ranger	"The Shoes Of The Fishermen"	The Talk Show Movie: "Just One Of The Guys"	Paper Chase	Movie: "Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House"	SportsCenter Sunday
11:00 World Tom. Forgotten	Conversation	World's Happy Easter Parade	Star Trek	Sherlock OWL / TV	Rawhide	Fishermen"	"Seven	Movie: "The Great Gatsby"	Movie: "The Great Gatsby"	SpoCtr. Golf
12:00 Children Drag Racing	NBA Basketball	Movie: "The Green Berets"	Movie	Wash. Week Owl / TV	Wild, Wild West	"	Movie: "The African Queen"	Movie: "The African Queen"	Movie: "The African Queen"	Women's Tennis
1:00 Auto Racing	PGA Golf	"Smurfs And The Magic Flute"	"Smurfs And The Magic Flute"	Money World Computer	Baseball Montreal	Movie: "The African Queen"	Movie: "The African Queen"	Movie: "The African Queen"	Movie: "The African Queen"	MISL Soccer Tacoma Stars
2:00 Modified 200 In Baseball	PGA Golf	Generation	Movie: "Moses"	Kansas Literature	Expos at Chicago	Queen"	Movie: "Back To The Future"	Movie: "Back To The Future"	Movie: "Back To The Future"	at San Diego Sockers
3:00 SportsWorld Superstars	MCI Heritage Classic Final	Boxing McCallum vs. McCrory	"	American Easter	Cubs	Baseball Atlanta	Future"	Movie: "The Road Warrior"	Movie: "The Road Warrior"	Swimming And Diving
4:00 Final	Round	McCrory	"	"	Kung Fu	Braves at San Francisco	Tale Of The Bunny Picnic	Faerie Tale Theatre	Movie: "The Road Warrior"	Fishing
5:00 Motorsports NBC News	CBS News	Fame	"	"	Puttin' On	Giants	Fraggle Rock Movie: "Oh God! Book II"	Future"	Movie: "The Road Warrior"	SpoCtr. Truck And
6:00 Our House	60 Minutes	Movie: "The Ten Commandments"	21 Jump Street	Wild America Nature Profiles	Movie: "The Robe"	New Beaver Movie: "The Robe"	"Copper Canyon"	Movie: "The Last Verdict"	Movie: "The Last Verdict"	Tractor Pull Drag Racing
7:00 Rags To Riches	Murder, She Wrote	Commandments"	With Children Tracey Ullman	Nature	"	"	Movie: "The Last Verdict"	Movie: "The Last Verdict"	Movie: "The Last Verdict"	Bodybuilding
8:00 Bob Hope Special	Movie: "High"	"	Duet Duet	Masterpiece Theatre	"	National Geographic	Innocent Man"	"	Movie: "The Last Verdict"	Mr. Olympia Competition
9:00 This Is Your Life	Mountain Rangers"	"	It's A Living Runaway	Great Performances	News	Explorer	Movie: "Brewster's Millions"	Movie: "The Road Warrior"	Movie: "The Road Warrior"	SportsCenter Sunday
10:00 News Throb	News High Q	News	Mama's Family Best Of Nat.	Last Not Least TV Classics	Tales Lou Grant	Sports Page Jerry Falwell	Millions"	"The Road Warrior"	Movie: "The Road Warrior"	Women's Volleyball
11:00 D.C. Follies Community	Big Family Today's	Movie: "Shout At The Devil"	Geog. National	Silk Screen Tony Brown	Country	J. Ankerberg	Movie: "Back To The Future"	Movie: "April Fool's Day"	Movie: "April Fool's Day"	Teams TBA SpoCtr.
12:00 Gene Scott	Business	Devil"	Geographic	"	At The Movies Success	Jimmy Swaggart	Future"	Movie	Movie

MONDAY, APRIL 20, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTCA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom And Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeannie Bewitched	Movie: "Turk 182"	Movie: "Turk 182"	Movie: "Turk 182"	Business SportsCenter
8:00 " "	Program	"	Defenders Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Heathcliff	Down To Earth I Love Lucy	"	"	"	Women's Tennis
9:00 Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	Movie: "The Death Of Adolf Hitler"	Movie: "The Money Pit"	Movie: "April In Paris"	Movie: "April In Paris"	Golf
10:00 Jeopardy Scramble	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hatha Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	Richie"	Adolf Hitler	Paris"	"Mask"	SportsLook Boston
11:00 Password Wheel Fortune	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Literature Algebra	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	Movie: "Running Brave"	Movie: "D.A.R.Y.L."	Movie: "D.A.R.Y.L."	Marathon Live from Boston
12:00 News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & B'ful	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke Hillbillies	Sesame Street	News	Movie: "The Big Game"	Movie: "A Test Of Love"	Movie: "Off Beat"	Movie: "Off Beat"	"The Master Of Ballantree"
1:00 Lives Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Nature	Dick Van Dyke Andy Griffith	"	Movie: "A Test Of Love"	Movie: "Off Beat"	Movie: "Off Beat"	Marathon
2:00 " "	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoolibee Zoo	Nature Profiles McLaughlin	Beaver Bugs Bunny	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Love"	"	"	Road Racing Ball Run
3:00 Happy Days	Magnum, P.I.	Ghostbusters Dennis	Popples Smurfs	We're Cooking Aerobics	Ghostbusters Smurfs	Scooby Doo Flintstones	"Adventures Of Huckleberry	Bernice Bobs Her Hair	Movie: "11th Victim"	Wrestling
4:00 D.H. Strokes Facts Of Life	Donahue	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flintstones Jetsons	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Transformers	Gilligan Beaver	Finn"	Tall Tales & Legends	"	Dance Teams
5:00 News Wheel Fortune	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Facts Of Life WKRP	New Beaver Down To Earth	"Time Bandits"	Movie: "Turk 182"	Movie: "Turk 182"	SportsLook Outdoors
6:00 News Wheel Fortune	News CBS News	Benson M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	Sanford Honeymooners	Fraggle Rock	Movie: "The Money Pit"	Movie: "The Money Pit"	SportsCenter Stanley Cup
7:00 ALF Valerie	Innocence Lost	MacGyver	Innocence Lost	Adventure	Innocence Lost	Movie: "Dark Victory"	Sisters In The Name Of Love	Movie: "Off Beat"	Movie: "Off Beat"	Playoffs Adams or
8:00 " "	" "	Movie: "This Wife For Hire"	" "	American Playhouse	" "	" "	"The Money Pit"	Hard Knocks	Movie: "Off Beat"	Patrick Div. Final
9:00 The Red Bedroom	West 57th	Hire"	Barnaby Jones	"Story of a Marriage"	News	Movie: "Down And Out In Beverly Hills"	Movie: "Down And Out In Beverly Hills"	Movie: "Down And Out In Beverly Hills"	Movie: "Down And Out In Beverly Hills"	Greatest Hits
10:00 News Best Of	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Honeymooners P.I.	"Portrait Of Jennie"	"Hollywood Knights"	Out In Beverly Hills"	Comedy	Marathon SportsCenter
11:00 Carson David	Night Heat	Ask Dr. Ruth Nightline	Benny Hill Hitchcock	MacNeil / Lehrer	"All That Heaven Allows"	National Geographic	Movie: "Angel"	Joan Rivers	Movie: "Absolute Beginners"	SportsLook Fishin' Hole
12:00 Letterman Gene Scott	Movie	700 Club	Movie	" "	" "	Explorer	Movie	Movie: "D.A.R.Y.L."	Movie: "D.A.R.Y.L."	Greatest Hits

YOU'RE INVITED TO A MAGIC BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION Starts: April 19th at Long John Silver's WIN ONE OF 100 TRIPS TO WALT DISNEYWORLD or millions of dollars in cash or food prizes

Long John Silver's

Over 50 YEARS

Spring SAVINGS... USE THE COLLEGIAN COUPONS!!

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy today with a 30 percent chance of rain or possibly thundershowers, high around 60. Winds northeasterly 10 to 20 mph. Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with a 30 percent chance of showers, low in upper 40s.

Inside

Offbeat Humor

"Raising Arizona" is one of the most ingenious comedies to come along in years says reviewer Gary Johnson. See Page 9.

Spo

K-State athlete sets six school records and three meet records during competition this weekend at the Kansas Relays. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Tuesday
April 21, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 139

Lawsuit continues in U.S. prison camp case

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration said Monday the World War II detention of Japanese-Americans in U.S. prison camps shamed the nation, but it still urged the Supreme Court to kill a lawsuit stemming from the internment.

Solicitor General Charles Fried, the administration's top-ranking courtroom lawyer, argued that "ordinary rules of law" should apply to the lawsuit "no matter how much balm we would like to apply to the wound."

He said a 1983 suit, which seeks

compensation for property losses suffered by those imprisoned, was filed in the wrong federal court and was filed too late.

But Fried also used the administration's strongest language to date in condemning the internment, in which 120,000 U.S. citizens and resident aliens of Japanese ancestry were taken from their homes and put in concentration camps for up to four years.

He called the banishment "a deplorable episode," adding, "The allies did not always adhere to the values for which they were fighting."

Fried said the suffering inflicted

on Japanese-Americans was based on a political judgment — "a wrong judgment" — that their loyalty to the United States could not be trusted.

Fried said the internment program was tainted by "a racial caste, which was our shame."

A federal appeals court ruled that the government must defend itself at trial against the property-loss claims, estimated in the billions of dollars. The Supreme Court's decision is expected by July.

Although its decision may center on questions of legal jurisdiction and a statute of limitations, the case represents the court's first opportunity to comment on its own 1944 decision condoning the internment.

Benjamin Zelenko, the lawyer representing those who sued the government, said his clients "seek their day in court." He urged the justices to let the lawsuit proceed.

Zelenko argued that the suit was not filed too late — beyond a six-year statute of limitations written into a federal law covering such claims — because, he said, government concealment and fraud hid the government's liability until 1982.

Those listening to the 60-minute argument session before the court included William Hohri, a computer

programmer from Chicago who as a teen-ager was interned with his family in a California camp.

Emerging from the session, Hohri criticized the administration's position. "I am sorry we have a Department of Justice we have to fight to affirm our constitutional rights," he said.

"I think the justices recognize this is not the time to duck the issue. We lost our freedom, which is very precious to us."

After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, the federal government forcibly removed from their homes Japanese-Americans and

Japanese citizens living in California and parts of Oregon, Washington and Arizona.

Such action was authorized by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, advised by military leaders that people of Japanese descent could not be trusted.

Before the Roosevelt administration decided to end the internment program, the Supreme Court upheld it as a military necessity.

Government documents discovered later suggest no such military necessity existed. But Fried said government lawyers did not conceal that from the high court.

Dispatcher's error leads

By JUDY

For failing to

cedure in what

nocuous 911 c

dispatcher Ron suspended for

pay, said Alvan

the Riley County

Lichtenhan w

prematurely re

which resulted

Johnson said.

mation reported

responding to a

The call was sent April 10

senior in compu

mation systems

report what ap conscious man

car at 1941 Col

Her boyfriend,

THURSDAY, APRIL 23, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom And Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeanie Bewitched	"Night The Lights Went	Movie: "Back To The	Movie: "A Woman	Business SportsCenter
8:00 " "	Program	" "	Defenders Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	" "	Down To Earth I Love Lucy	Out In Georgia	Future	Called Golda" Cont'd	Swimming And Diving
9:00 Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	Movie: "My Friend	Movie: "Running	Movie: "The Last	The Big Break	In The PGA
10:00 Jeopardy! Scramble	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hatha Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	Irma	Brave	Time I Saw Paris	Movie: "Scream Of	Skiing SportsLook
11:00 Password Wheel Fortune	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Write Course Culture	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	Movie: "Head Office"	Long Day's Journey Into	Fear	Aerobics Getting Fit
12:00 News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & B'tul	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke	Sesame Street	News Baseball	Movie: "Fire Over	Not News	Night	"King Richard And The	Stanley Cup Playoffs
1:00 Lives Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Anna Karenina	Chicago Cubs at St.	Africa	Movie: "Oh God!"	" "	Crusaders	Adams or Patrick
2:00 Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoolibee Zoo	New Literacy New Literacy	Louis Cardinals	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Book II	Rookie Of The Year	"Mr. Love"	Division Final Game Two
3:00 Happy Days	Magnum, P.I.	Ghostbusters Dennis	Scooby Doo Smurfs	We're Cooking Aerobics	Smurfs	Scooby Doo Flintstones	"Secrets Of A Mother And	I'm A Fool	Movie: "Lone Wolf	Horse Racing Blue Grass
4:00 Diff. Strokes Facts Of Life	Donahue	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flinstones Jetsons	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	Gilligan Safe At Home	Gilligan Safe At Home	Daughter Around The	Faerie Tale Theatre	McQuade	Fishin' Hole
5:00 3's Company NBC News	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Facts Of Life WKRP	Hillbillies Andy Griffith	World Movie: "The Money Pit"	"Mad Max Beyond	"Mad Max Beyond	SportsLook H. Racing
6:00 News Wheel Fortune	News Newsweds	Benson M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	NBA Honeymooners	"The Money Pit"	Thunder-dome	Thunder-dome	SportsCenter SpeedWeek
7:00 Cosby Show Family Ties	Wizard	Our World	Barnaby Jones	America And Lewis Hine	Movie: "Captain	NBA Basketball	Liza In London	Long Day's Journey Into	"Absolute	Greatest Hits Stanley Cup
8:00 Cheers Not Common	Movie: "Doubletake"	Jack And Mike	Movie: "Hustle"	Mystery!	Blood	Playoffs First Round	Movie: "Killer Party"	Night	Beginners	Playoffs Norris or
9:00 L.A. Law	" "	Jennings	" "	Houdini! S. Previews	News	Game NBA	" "	Movie: "Alfie"	" "	Smythe Div. Final
10:00 News Tonight Show	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Honeymooners Magnum, P.I.	Basketball Playoffs	The Hitchhiker Movie: "Nomads"	" "	" "	SportsCenter
11:00 David	Adderly	Ask Dr. Ruth Nightline	KCPD Auction	MacNeil / Lehrer	Innocence	First Round Game	"After Hours"	Movie: "Crazy About The Movies"	Crazy About The Movies	SportsLook Boardsailing
12:00 Letterman Gene Scott	Movie	700 Club	Movie: "Mr. Billion"	Lost	Baseball	Movie: "Blow Out"	Movie: "Back To The Future"	Movie	Movie	Australian Football

Friday, April 17, 1987

7

Success

Continued from Page 6

back. Actually, this film could have easily been titled "Alex Keaton goes to New York" except that the character he plays is void of his conceit and shallowness.

The situation Bradley gets himself into is mindless but believable. The relationship between him and Wills is cute but not so much so that it'll make you sick. And some of the frenetic scenes (including a "musical beds" sequence) are imaginative and are sure to leave you wanting more.

As to the lack of depth of characters and plot (which many critics have leveled toward this film) they'd better look at flicks like "The Three Amigos" and the never ending "Police Academy" schlock sagas for that claim to stick.

Michael J. Fox has the juice, the script is in the right gear and even the complimentary soundtrack has juicy musical nuggets. College students will eat this film up. The only thing "secret" has to be why there aren't more films like it.

All shows starting before 6 p.m.—all seats $2.50
Movie info. 539-1291
Tuesday is bargain night!

CAMPUS

RAISING ARIZONA

DAILY AT 7 AND 9
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 3 AND 5
RATED PG-13

WESTLOOP

FROM ANOTHER STAR
DAILY AT 4:30-7-9:30
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2
RATED PG

OUTRAGEOUS FORTUNE
DAILY AT 4:45-7:20-9:25
MAT. SAT. & SUN.
AT 2:20
RATED R

LETHAL WEAPON
DAILY AT 4:30-7-9:30
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2
RATED R

TIN MEN
DAILY AT 4:45-7:15-9:25
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:20
RATED R

MANNEQUIN
DAILY 4:40-7:10-9:20
MAT. SAT. & SUN. 2:10
RATED PG

ARISTOCATS
DAILY AT 4:40-7:10
MAT. SAT. & SUN. 2:10
RATED G
THREE FOR THE ROAD
DAILY AT 9:20 ONLY
RATED PG

Litchfield Theatres

WE HAVE BARGAIN MATINEES EVERY SAT./SUN. ALL SHOWS STARTING BEFORE 6 p.m. ADULTS ONLY $2.50

SETH CHILDS CINEMAS
Seth Childs At Farm Bureau Rd.

BURGLAR WHOOPI
GOLDBERG
DAILY 9:35 ONLY
SAT./SUN. 4:50, 9:35

BOOSTERS
Gene Hackman
Barbara Hershey
Dennis Hopper
DAILY 7 ONLY
SAT./SUN. 2, 7

PLATOON
WINNER of 4
ACADEMY AWARDS
Best Picture
Best Director
Best Film Editing
Best Sound
DAILY 7:10, 9:40
SAT./SUN. 2:10, 4:40

CITIZENS ON PATROL
POLICE
ACADEMY 4
Take off with the original cast...
DAILY 7:15, 9:15
SAT./SUN. 2:30, 5

MICHAEL J. FOX
THE SECRET OF MY SUCCESS
DAILY 7, 9:25
SAT./SUN. 2, 4:25

Quality Is Our Promise

Linn face in U

By The

WASHINGTON — ing a Soviet d of supervisi camp executi Soviet Union Supreme Cou ment turned t the United St said.

Linnas was jail cell by fe ment sources tion of anony Czechoslovak Soviet Union.

Linnas boa p.m. and was New York off at 7:55 p Holtzman, th torney.

As Linnas' Supreme Co Rehnquist re nas, one of t aff/Jim Dietz

as able to

25

1985. octorate in sell Universi-d as dean of 14. He also is 1 of Chemical mces. Department ved his doc-University of a member of

IAN, Page 12

7 liberation of tinians would without Abu d "Still has faculties with

at of the PLO terrorist war promote the flowers have attacks in the massacres at 1. 27, 1985. 'atah and the greed Sunday understanding ling for a joint

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy today with a 30 percent chance of rain or possibly thundershowers, high around 60. Winds northeasterly 10 to 20 mph. Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with a 30 percent chance of showers, low in upper 40s.

Inside

Offbeat Humor

"Raising Arizona" is one of the most ingenious comedies to come along in years says reviewer Gary Johnson. See Page 9.

Sports

K-State athletes set six school records and three meet records during competition this weekend at the Kansas Relays. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Tuesday
April 21, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 139

Lawsuit continues in U.S. prison camp case

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration said Monday the World War II detention of Japanese-Americans in U.S. prison camps shamed the nation, but it still urged the Supreme Court to kill a lawsuit stemming from the internment.

Solicitor General Charles Fried, the administration's top-ranking courtroom lawyer, argued that "ordinary rules of law" should apply to the lawsuit "no matter how much balm we would like to apply to the wound."

He said a 1983 suit, which seeks

compensation for property losses suffered by those imprisoned, was filed in the wrong federal court and was filed too late.

But Fried also used the administration's strongest language to date in condemning the internment, in which 120,000 U.S. citizens and resident aliens of Japanese ancestry were taken from their homes and put in concentration camps for up to four years.

He called the banishment "a deplorable episode," adding, "The allies did not always adhere to the values for which they were fighting."

Fried said the suffering inflicted

on Japanese-Americans was based on a political judgment — "a wrong judgment" — that their loyalty to the United States could not be trusted.

Fried said the internment program was tainted by "a racial caste, which was our shame."

A federal appeals court ruled that the government must defend itself at trial against the property-loss claims, estimated in the billions of dollars. The Supreme Court's decision is expected by July.

Although its decision may center on questions of legal jurisdiction and a statute of limitations, the case represents the court's first opportunity to comment on its own 1944 decision condoning the internment.

Benjamin Zelenko, the lawyer representing those who sued the government, said his clients "seek their day in court." He urged the justices to let the lawsuit proceed.

Zelenko argued that the suit was not filed too late — beyond a six-year statute of limitations written into a federal law covering such claims — because, he said, government concealment and fraud hid the government's liability until 1982.

Those listening to the 60-minute argument session before the court included William Hohri, a computer

programmer from Chicago who as a teen-ager was interned with his family in a California camp.

Emerging from the session, Hohri criticized the administration's position. "I am sorry we have a Department of Justice we have to fight to affirm our constitutional rights," he said.

"I think the justices recognize this is not the time to duck the issue. We lost our freedom, which is very precious to us."

After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, the federal government forcibly removed from their homes Japanese-Americans and

Japanese citizens living in California and parts of Oregon, Washington and Arizona.

Such action was authorized by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, advised by military leaders that people of Japanese descent could not be trusted.

Before the Roosevelt administration decided to end the internment program, the Supreme Court upheld it as a military necessity.

Government documents discovered later suggest no such military necessity existed. But Fried said government lawyers did not conceal that from the high court.

Dispatcher's error

Friday, April 17, 1987

For f cedure nocuous dispatel suspend pay, sai
the Rile
Lichte
premat which r Johnson mation respondi
The e night A senior in mation report w consciou car at 1
Her boy
1986 gr engineer semi-con before Di Stephe
pre-medi
mitted su car from about 12
The RCP
ing from terior of 1
A dispe
call and cedure, p Lichtenha said the m state Lobi
Lichtenl night, and
"suspicio out the inf
ficer woul

Lin fac in

By WASHI
ing a Sov of supe camp ex
Soviet U
Supreme
ment tur
the Unite
said.
Linnas
jail cell b ment sou tion of an Czechoslo
Soviet Un
Linnas
p.m. and
New York
off at 7:5
Holtzman,
torney.
As Linn
Supreme C
Rehnquist
nas, one o

All Videos 99¢ Every Day

All videos are only 99¢ every day of the week!

Coming this month:
Soul Man Peggy Sue Got Married Legal Eagles
Ferris Bueller's Day Off True Stories Nothing In Common

Over 1500 Titles—All at 99¢

Now open 10-8 Mon.-Thurs., 10-9 Fri.-Sat., 12-5 Sun

1122 Laramie St.
next to Godfather's Pizza
in Aggieville
539-8786

WORK-OUT AND WIND-DOWN

with NAUTILUS and THE STATION

Upon completion of your NAUTILUS WORK-OUT . . . WIND-DOWN with a complimentary draft beer, margarita, or soft drink at THE STATION! (Offer good through April 30)

1115 Moro, Aggieville

1100 Moro, Aggieville

Don't Miss

CABLE IS CHOICE TV

Back To
The Future
Travel back to the 1950's with Michael J. Fox in his plutonium powered time machine.

Manhattan Cable TV

610 Humboldt
776-9239

Community Health Care

Think of

- Out-patient services
- Surgery
- Day/Stay Surgery
- Laser Surgery
- Intensive Care
- Obstetrics
- Level II Intensive Care nursery
- Birthing room, Birthing chair
- Rooming-in
- Pediatrics
- X-ray services
- Mammography
- Nuclear medicine
- C.T. scanning
- Respiratory Therapy
- Physical Therapy
- Durable Medical Equipment Center

EMERGENCY CARE CENTER

913-776-3300
Full Physician Coverage
Weekends and Holidays

Working together for a healthier you

SUNSET AVENUE AT CLAFLIN ROAD, MANHATTAN, KS

GUND NEWS!

20% OFF
ALL STUFFED ANIMALS

Gotta Getta GUND®

Sale ends Sunday, April 26

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggieville • 539-7654
Mon.-Thurs. 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m. • Fri.-Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Sun. Noon-5 p.m.

ces

ince 1985.
is doctorate in Cornell Universi-served as dean of e 1984. He also is urnal of Chemical Sciences.
State Department received his doc-te is a member of e DEAN, Page 12

ty ie Liberation of alestinians would sily without Abu said "still has difficulties with ent."

ment of the PLO

a terrorist war
t to promote the followers have 100 attacks in the massacres at
Dec. 27, 1985.
Fatah and the t agreed Sunday
5 understanding calling for a joint

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy today with a 30 percent chance of rain or possibly thundershowers, high around 60. Winds northeasterly 10 to 20 mph. Mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with a 30 percent chance of showers, low in upper 40s.

Inside

Offbeat Humor

"Raising Arizona" is one of the most ingenious comedies to come along in years says reviewer Gary Johnson. See Page 9.

Sports

K-State uniforms k six school records and three meet records during competition this weekend at the Kansas Relays. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Tuesday
April 21, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 139

Lawsuit continues in U.S. prison camp case

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration said Monday the World War II detention of Japanese-Americans in U.S. prison camps shamed the nation, but it still urged the Supreme Court to kill a lawsuit stemming from the internment.

Solicitor General Charles Fried, the administration's top-ranking courtroom lawyer, argued that "ordinary rules of law" should apply to the lawsuit "no matter how much balm we would like to apply to the wound."

He said a 1983 suit, which seeks

compensation for property losses suffered by those imprisoned, was filed in the wrong federal court and was filed too late.

But Fried also used the administration's strongest language to date in condemning the internment, in which 120,000 U.S. citizens and resident aliens of Japanese ancestry were taken from their homes and put in concentration camps for up to four years.

He called the banishment "a deplorable episode," adding, "The allies did not always adhere to the values for which they were fighting."

Fried said the suffering inflicted

on Japanese-Americans was based on a political judgment — "a wrong judgment" — that their loyalty to the United States could not be trusted.

Fried said the internment program was tainted by "a racial caste, which was our shame."

A federal appeals court ruled that the government must defend itself at trial against the property-loss claims, estimated in the billions of dollars. The Supreme Court's decision is expected by July.

Although its decision may center on questions of legal jurisdiction and a statute of limitations, the case represents the court's first opportunity to comment on its own 1944 decision condoning the internment.

Benjamin Zelenko, the lawyer representing those who sued the government, said his clients "seek their day in court." He urged the justices to let the lawsuit proceed.

Zelenko argued that the suit was not filed too late — beyond a six-year statute of limitations written into a federal law covering such claims — because, he said, government concealment and fraud hid the government's liability until 1982.

Those listening to the 60-minute argument session before the court included William Hohri, a computer

programmer from Chicago who as a teen-ager was interned with his family in a California camp.

Emerging from the session, Hohri criticized the administration's position. "I am sorry we have a Department of Justice we have to fight to affirm our constitutional rights," he said.

"I think the justices recognize this is not the time to duck the issue. We lost our freedom, which is very precious to us."

After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, the federal government forcibly removed from their homes Japanese-Americans and

Japanese citizens living in California and parts of Oregon, Washington and Arizona.

Such action was authorized by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, advised by military leaders that people of Japanese descent could not be trusted.

Before the Roosevelt administration decided to end the internment program, the Supreme Court upheld it as a military necessity.

Government documents discovered later suggest no such military necessity existed. But Fried said government lawyers did not conceal that from the high court.

Dispatcher's error leads to suspension

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

For failing to follow correct procedure in what appeared to be a innocuous 911 call, Riley County dispatcher Ron Lichtenhan, has been suspended for two months without pay, said Alvan Johnson, director of the Riley County Police Department.

Lichtenhan was reprimanded for prematurely recording a disposition, which resulted in inaction by police, Johnson said. A disposition is information reported by an officer after responding to a 911 call.

The call was made around midnight April 10 by Natalie Darfler, senior in computer science and information systems. She called 911 to report what appeared to be an unconscious man parked in an idling car at 1941 College Heights Road. Her boyfriend, Martin Wesemann, 1986 graduate in mechanical engineering, said the man appeared semi-conscious about 15 minutes before Darfler called 911.

Stephen Lohmeyer, a freshman in pre-medicine who apparently committed suicide, was found dead in his car from carbon monoxide poisoning about 12 hours after Darfler's call. The RCPD found a garden hose running from the exhaust pipe to the interior of Lohmeyer's car.

A dispatcher answered Darfler's call and, following normal procedure, passed the information to Lichtenhan. However, Lichtenhan said the message he received did not state Lohmeyer was unconscious.

Lichtenhan said it was a busy night, and because there was nothing "suspicious" about the call, he typed out the information, expecting an officer would arrive at the given address and the man would be "GOA" (gone on arrival).

He said he intended to tell an officer about the call when one became available, and he would have changed the information if necessary. The sheet was mixed in a pile of paperwork, and because it appeared finished, it was filed with the completed forms, he said. Because the sheet was filed and because he received an influx of calls, Lichtenhan said, he forgot about Darfler's call.

"It (prematurely filling out a disposition) is not Riley County standard procedure," Lichtenhan said. "The reason I did that...was more or less an effort to stay ahead of calls."

He said people often call 911 when they see a unfamiliar person in a car who may be waiting for a friend. Assuming this was a similar situation, he did not deem the call serious. Other events, including a fight in Aggieville, took precedence over this call in light of the information given, Lichtenhan said.

If he had been informed that Lohmeyer was unconscious, "that would have made a big difference," he said. However, even if this incident had taken precedence, all officers were on assignment until about an hour after Darfler's call was received, he said.

Regardless of the situation, Johnson said a dispatcher is never supposed to write out a disposition before information is obtained. He said he will question the female dispatcher who took the call to determine whether she recorded that Lohmeyer was unconscious because "certainly it should have been in-

See POLICE, Page 12

Staff/Jim Dietz

Small wash

Although generally used for larger vehicles, Hasan Alijawad, 7, found Monday that the car washing area in Jardine Terrace was quite adequate for washing his toy truck. When done with the cleanup, Hasan was able to get back to the important business of playing.

Linnaas to face death in U.S.S.R.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Karl Linnaas, facing a Soviet death sentence on charges of supervising Nazi concentration camp executions, was deported to the Soviet Union on Monday after the Supreme Court and the Justice Department turned down his bids to remain in the United States, government sources said.

Linnaas was taken from his New York jail cell by federal agents, and government sources, commenting on condition of anonymity, said he was put on a Czechoslovakian airliner bound for the Soviet Union.

Linnaas boarded the airliner at 7:20 p.m. and was the last person on board, New York officials said. Flight 601 took off at 7:55 p.m. EDT, said Elizabeth Holtzman, the Brooklyn district attorney.

As Linnaas' plane was taking off, Supreme Court Chief Justice William Rehnquist rejected a bid from Anu Linnaas, one of his daughters, for a tem-

See LINNAAS, Page 12

Finalists chosen for dean of Arts and Sciences

By BECKY HOWARD
Staff Writer

Five finalists for the position of dean of the College of Arts and Sciences were announced at a meeting of college faculty called by University Provost Owen Koepple Friday afternoon.

William E. Carpenter, Thomas L. Isenhour, Kenneth J. Klabunde, Edward L. McGlone and William P. Weber are the group of candidates from which a replacement will be chosen for William Stamey, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences for 18 years. Stamey will retire July 1.

The search committee for the dean position will be meeting this morning to establish a schedule for the applicants to meet with University officials during the interview process, said Burton Kaufman, professor of history and chairman of the search committee.

"Currently, no dates or times have been set. We hope to have everything established after the meeting," Kaufman said.

Carpenter has been associate dean of the K-State College of Arts and Sciences since 1974. He received his doctorate in English from the University of Kansas in 1967 and is a professor of English.

He is currently on the Faculty Senate ad hoc committee to study a University core curriculum, the University Long Range Planning Committee and a member of the Board of Student Publications.

Isenhour has served as dean of science since 1984 and professor of chemistry and associate director for biotechnology at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Utah

State University, Logan, since 1985.

Isenhour received his doctorate in analytical chemistry from Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y. He has served as dean of science at Utah State since 1984. He also is the current editor of the Journal of Chemical Information and Computer Sciences.

Klabunde, head of the K-State Department of Chemistry since 1979, received his doctorate in chemistry from the University of Iowa, Iowa City, in 1969. He is a member of

See DEAN, Page 12

PLO parliament meets; Arafat calls for unity

By The Associated Press

ALGIERS, Algeria — Yasser Arafat, cheered wildly by supporters, opened a congress of the PLO's parliament-in-exile Monday with a defiant speech calling for a Palestinian state "with Jerusalem as its capital."

Arafat, buoyed by the end of a rift with two hardline Palestinian factions, cried, "We now all stand together, united until the final liberation of Palestine."

It was the first meeting of the 426-member council in four years. The session was called to map a new strategy to establish a homeland for the 5 million Palestinian.

Monday morning, six hard-line Palestinian groups announced they were dissolving the Palestine National Salvation Front, a two-year-old Syrian-based coalition that opposed Arafat. The announcement followed a walkout by terrorist Abu Nidal's Fatah Revolutionary Council after they unsuccessfully challenged Arafat's rule in the Palestine Liberation Organization.

"We will maintain our armed struggle against Israel, not because we seek war, but because we want peace, a just and comprehensive peace on the basis of the Palestinian right to self-determination and to an independent state with Jerusalem as its capital," Arafat said.

He called for an international Middle East peace conference, but only if it included the PLO and permanent members of the United Nations Security Council.

Arafat delivered special thanks to Algerian President Chadli Bendjedid and Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi for their efforts in the Soviet-sponsored drive to unite the Palestine Liberation Organization.

The PLO chairman has recently taken a more radical stance on the Palestine issue, abandoning the so-called moderate policies he adopted when Israel drove him out of Lebanon in its 1982 invasion.

A statement issued in the name of Abu Nidal said his group was pulling out of the Palestine National Council, the Palestinian parliament-in-exile, because the council's leaders rejected efforts to restrict Arafat's "unlimited prerogatives."

Abu Nidal, whose real name is Sabri al-Banna, was believed to have come to Algiers for the session, but he made no public appearance.

Nayef Hawatmeh, leader of the hard-line

Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine, suggested the Palestinians would reach agreement more easily without Abu Nidal's group, which he said "still has political and organizational difficulties with the mainline Fatah movement."

Fatah is the main component of the PLO and is led by Arafat.

Abu Nidal, 51, advocates a terrorist war against Israel and the West to promote the Palestinian struggle. His followers have been blamed for more than 100 attacks in the last decade, including the massacres at Rome and Vienna airports Dec. 27, 1985.

To heal the split between Fatah and the hard-line movements, Arafat agreed Sunday to formally abrogate his 1985 understanding with Jordan's King Hussein calling for a joint peace effort involving Israel.

Briefly

By The Associated Press

INTERNATIONAL

Castro denounces debt payments

MEXICO CITY — President Fidel Castro of Cuba opened a meeting in Havana of Third World countries by denouncing the burden that foreign debt payments place on developing nations, Cuba's news agency reported.

More than 600 delegates from about 100 countries are attending the sixth ministerial meeting of the Group of 77 to try to form a unified position for a July meeting in Geneva of the U.N. Conference on Trade and Development.

Castro said world military spending accounts for $1 billion a year, and there is not enough money spent on greater economic justice, Prensa Latina said in a dispatch received in Mexico City.

An increase in the Third World's buying power, he said, would greatly alleviate unemployment and underuse of industrial capacity in some developed countries, the agency said.

Castro said developing countries were financing the industrialized world, citing as an example the transfer of nearly $120 billion from Latin America to the industrialized world in the past five years, Prensa Latina said.

Declines in prices for raw materials have more than offset any benefit to Third World countries from falling interest rates, Castro was quoted as saying. In 1959, he said, a 60 horsepower tractor cost the equivalent of 24 tons of sugar. In 1982, it took 115 tons of sugar to buy the same tractor and now it would take 133 tons, he said.

REGIONAL

Lawyer to pursue 'silence' legality

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — A Topeka lawyer says she will continue to challenge the constitutionality of Kansas' "moment of silence" law pertaining to public schools, despite a setback in U.S. District Court.

Lawyer Margie J. Phelps said she was considering a new lawsuit as well as appealing a ruling Friday by Judge Dale E. Saffels, who denied Phelps' bid to reconsider a Feb. 12 ruling by the judge. Saffels had ruled that the statute could be unconstitutional but that Phelps failed to show that the students had been subjected to "moments of sectarian silence."

The judge reiterated that opinion in Friday's ruling.

State law allows brief periods of silence in public school classrooms at the beginning of each school day. It is not, the law says, "a religious exercise" but "an opportunity for silent prayer or for silent reflection."

"My goal is to show that it's unconstitutional," Phelps said.

Missing boy, 10, found dead

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — A body found in a tributary of the Blue River was that of a 10-year-old diabetic and epileptic boy missing since last month, a Jackson County medical examiner said Monday.

Autopsy results indicated that Timothy Limbach drowned a few hours after he ran away from the Marillac Center on March 20, Dr. Bonita Peterson said.

A hiker found the boy's fully clothed body lying face down in about 18 inches of water in the southern part of the city Saturday. The body was found about two miles southwest of the school.

Peterson said she based her identification on the autopsy and a note containing medical information that was found in the boy's pocket.

The boy's disappearance prompted a search by about 100 people. Volunteers continued to look for the boy and about 75 people were searching at the time the body was found, said Susan Caldwell, executive director of the Marillac Center.

NATIONAL

Spy case witness pulls testimony

WASHINGTON — A defense attorney for a Marine embassy guard accused of espionage said Monday a second, previously unidentified witness against his client had withdrawn a statement given to investigators suggesting wrongdoing.

Michael V. Stuhff, in a telephone interview, identified the witness as a Cpl. Robert Williams. Stuhff said he had been notified last week by prosecutors that an incriminating statement given by Williams implicating Sgt. Clayton J. Lonetree had been withdrawn by the Marine.

"Williams has recanted his statement and told the prosecutors that he was tricked or coerced into making that statement," Stuhff asserted.

The lawyer added the notice of Williams' recanting was "one of many factors" that led to a defense decision last Thursday to seek a delay in pre-trial hearings for Lonetree until next month.

Stuhff declined to identify Williams further, beyond saying he had served as an embassy guard in Moscow and Vienna, Austria — the two posts where Lonetree served.

The Marine Corps refused to discuss the matter, citing the closed nature of the proceedings against Lonetree.

The 25-year-old Lonetree worked as an embassy guard in Moscow in 1985 and 1986 and then was transferred to Vienna, where he was arrested in December. He and another guard, Cpl. Arnold Bracy, allegedly became sexually involved with Soviet women while posted to Moscow.

Post office issues 'special' stamps

ATLANTA — Taking a cue from greeting card companies, the U.S. Postal Service on Monday issued a series of "Special Occasions" stamps, with messages including "Happy Birthday," "Get Well" and "Love You, Mother."

The 22-cent stamps, issued in Atlanta and available in post offices around the country starting Tuesday, are packaged in booklets of 10 for $2.20. Each booklet contains stamps reading "Get Well," "Thank You," "Love You, Dad," "Love You, Mother," "Best Wishes" and "Keep In Touch," plus two each of the "Happy Birthday" and "Congratulations" stamps.

Artwork for the new issues, by designer Oren Sherman of Boston, includes flowers, balloons, fireworks, birthday cake and — on the "Love You, Dad" stamp — eyeglasses, a newspaper crossword puzzle and a steaming cup of coffee.

The Special Occasions stamps are being issued as a USPS "special issue" and will remain on sale longer than limited-issue commemorative stamps honoring people, places and achievements, postal officials said.

Teen skips classes to give sermon

NASHVILLE — A 13-year-old preacher hurried home to his eighth-grade classes in Chicago on Monday after bringing a capacity crowd of 1,000 worshippers to its feet during an Easter sermon here.

The Rev. William Hudson III, who started preaching at the age of 3, packed them in Sunday at First Baptist Church of South Inglewood.

"I don't know what you've come for, but I've come to praise the Lord," he told members of the congregation who paid a $6 donation each to attend the service.

The youth, wearing a white linen suit and later a blue robe, had many in the crowd dancing and singing in the aisles and on the podium to the music of the Nashville gospel group Free Spirits.

Hudson was ordained by Zion Temple Baptist Church in Chicago at the age of 12. He was barely visible in a large oak chair behind the pulpit before he began his sermon.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT in Holtz Hall has many services available to students, including career counseling; letter, data sheet and resume preparation advisement; and others.

COORDINATED UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM IN DIETETICS applications are available in Justin 107 and are due May 1.

TODAY

STUDENTS IN SOLIDARITY WITH CENTRAL AMERICA meets at 9 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

AG AMBASSADORS meets at 6 p.m. in Waters Reading Room.

NATIONAL AGRI-MARKETING ASSOCIATION meets at 7 p.m. in Union 207.

ASSOCIATION OF ADULTS RETURNING TO SCHOOL meets at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

BOARD OF STUDENT PUBLICATIONS INC. meets at 4 p.m. in Union Stateroom 2 to discuss the opening of 1988 Royal Purple Bid/Contract/Sales Presentations.

HORTICULTURAL THERAPY CLUB meets at 6 p.m. in Waters 18A for officer elections.

Regents announce new Fort Hays State leader

By LAUREN BRUNO
Collegian Reporter

A University of Louisville administrator and former Kansan was named the eighth president of Fort Hays State University Saturday by the Kansas Board of Regents.

Edward Hammond, associate professor of education and vice president of student affairs at the Louisville, Ky., institution will replace Gerald Tomanek as president of the university beginning July 1.

Tomanek, 65, who will retire at the end of the semester, has been a student, teacher and administrator at Fort Hays State since 1938.

Hammond was selected from an original list of 80 candidates after the Regents had narrowed the field to two. The other finalist was an administrator from West Texas State University in Canyon, Texas.

"Among the people the Regents interviewed, (Hammond) was the most articulate, poised and the most attractive in his preparation for the interview," said Stanley Koplik, executive director of the Board.

The Regents were also pleased with Hammond's sense of competitiveness and strong understanding of the needs of Fort Hays State and of western Kansas, he said.

"He understands what needs to be accomplished, and the Regents are confident he can do it," Koplik said.

Regent Norman Jeter of Hays said he thinks Hammond will have a tremendous rapport with both the students and the public.

"He has great experience in fundraising, and outside, private funding is very important now to support state universities," Jeter said.

Hammond has a bachelor's degree in speech and master's degree in guidance and counseling, both from Emporia State University. He also has a doctorate in counseling and personnel services from the University of Missouri, Columbia.

Bob Lowen, director of university relations at Fort Hays State, said the Regents selection was great for western Kansas because Hammond grew up in Kansas and brings back with him a wealth of knowledge about Kansas.

"(Hammond) has great warmth and understanding," Lowen said. "He follows Jerry Tomanek's mold as president but with a different administrative style."

Lowen said Hammond plans to return to Fort Hays State, in May to visit off-campus institutions, including media outlets in Dodge City, Garden City and other cities in western Kansas. This will enable Hammond to gain a better understanding of the people in western Kansas, Lowen said.

Prior to his position at Louisville, Hammond was vice president for student affairs and assistant professor of education at Seton Hall University in South Orange, N.J.

Hammond, 42, is a native Texan and grew up in the Kansas City, Kan., area. He and his wife, Vivian, have three children: Kelly, 16, Lance, 14, and Julie, 12.

Buy, Sell or Trade in Collegian
Classifieds

JOYCE'S
HAIRCUTTERS

Haircuts
HERS..... $8.50
Includes Shampoo & Style
$6.50

539-TAME or 539-8601
404 Humboldt

THE LOU DOUGLAS LECTURES
1987

RENNY GOLDEN REFUGEES: LINCHPIN
IN LOW INTENSITY CONFLICT

7:30 P.M.
FORUM HALL
APRIL 21

Sponsored by: UFM, Ecumenical Christian Ministries, Dept. of Political Science, Division of Continuing Education, SGA, Pre-Law Club and Others

65¢

1/4-Pound RUNZA HAMBURGER

Now for a limited time get our award-winning 1/4-pound, freshly-ground hamburger for just 65¢!! That's half off our regular price ($1.30). Try the best-tasting, freshest burger in town today.

Come on and get a taste

Coupon expires May 10, 1986
One coupon per customer
per visit
Not valid with any other offer

10:30 a.m.-10 p.m.
1101 Moro, Manhattan

K-State Players
presents
She Stoops To Conquer
April 22-25
Nichols Theatre
8 p.m.
Call 532-6398
Mon.-Fri. 12-5

BONKERS
Rocky Mountain
99¢ KAMIS
We play the latest in dance music, including:
CLUB NOUVEAU
PRINCE
PETER WOLF
1216 Laramie 537-9501

RUSHWALKERS
THE TUNING FORK
TONIGHT
ALL MIXED
DRINKS
$1.50
Any Name
Any Brand
Office: 539-4321 531 N. Manhattan 539-9727 Bar:

Dark Horse
Saloon
$1.25
Vodka Wells
$2.25
Pitchers
619 N. Manhattan

SISCA announces
A Candlelight March for peace in Central America
following tonight's Lou Douglas Lecture
in Union Forum Hall

Sponsored by Students in Solidarity with Central America and Manhattan Pledge of Resistance

GRAND OPENING
APRIL 23-24-25
KLEPPER KORNER STORE
206 LEAVENWORTH 776-7512

FREE: $10 Gasoline Each Hour
FREE: Popcorn & Coffee

Register for Many
FREE Prizes

Auntie
Mae's Parlor
AGGIEVILLE
Tuesday
Import Beer
Night
Featuring bottles of Mae's favorite beers from across the seas.
Only
$1.25
616 N. 12th 539-9967

Brother's
KSU
IN AGGIEVILLE USA
Quote Nite
$2.25 Pitchers
75¢ Draws
Best quote of the week wins a free keg, courtesy of Southern Sun!
Last week's winner:
"Don't pet your dog
when it's on fire."
—Cynthia—

The Station
T.N.T.
TUESDAY

THE STATION'S TUESDAY
LUNCH AND DINNER
TRADITION FEATURES:
FRESHLY PREPARED CRISP
FLOUR SHELLS!
TACOS - 99¢ EACH OR 3 FOR $2.75
MARGARITAS - $1.25 ($1.00 OFF)
1115 Moro, Aggieville tel. 776-0030

Tamil rebels massacre kills 18 more Sinhalese

By The Associated Press

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka — Tamil rebels killed at least 18 Sinhalese on Monday at a jungle hamlet not far from the spot where Tamils slaughtered 127 civilians three days earlier, the government reported.

Many political observers said the two massacres demonstrate that Tamil radicals are unwilling to negotiate, and set the stage for increased fighting between the military and rebels.

Government sources, speaking on condition of anonymity, said Monday that guerrillas invaded Vanella, a jungle village in the eastern Trincomalee district, and killed 18 people, including five women and five children.

Vanella is 18 miles southwest of Trincomalee port and only 10 miles from the place where guerrillas stopped three buses, two trucks and a car last Friday.

Sinhalese were segregated from Tamil and Moslem passengers. Most of those killed were Sinhalese, including children and a 70-year-old woman. At least 65 people were reported wounded.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Charles Redman said: "We call on all parties, especially the Tamil militants, to enter into meaningful negotiations without delay."

Tilak Ratnakara of the government Media Center confirmed at least 10 deaths in Monday's attack on Vanella. He said both massacres were the work of rebels who seek a separate Tamil homeland in predominantly Tamil northern and eastern Sri Lanka.

Tamils, most of whom are Hindus, account for 18 percent of the 16 million people who live on this island just south of India. Sinhalese, who are Buddhists, make up 75 percent of the population.

Rebels often have killed Sinhalese villagers in predominantly Tamil areas of Sri Lanka, which formerly was named Ceylon. Tamil rebels, the human rights organization Amnesty International and citizen groups accuse government security forces of attacks and reprisal raids on Tamils suspected of being extremists.

India has been trying to mediate peace between Sri Lanka and the rebels. India is influential because it serves as political headquarters for all the exiled Tamil militant groups. It is also a powerful northern neighbor to the island nation of Sri Lanka, 18 miles off India's southern tip.

In the southern India city of Madras, a Tamil rebel group said Monday it had begun a "large-scale military offensive" against a police commando camp in the Mullaitheevu district in northern Sri Lanka.

All Tamil rebel groups have headquarters in southern India, where 50 million Tamils live, and most formerly had training camps there.

The Eelam Revolutionary Organization said it began a drive on the police camp Sunday. It claimed at least 100 men in the camp were killed, many fled and a building was destroyed by rockets and grenades, but there was no official confirmation of an attack.

President Junius R. Jayewardene's government has proposed provincial councils to give greater autonomy to the north and east, but refuses to consider an independent Tamil nation.

Tamils traditionally were a privileged, well-educated, prosperous elite, especially under British rule but now claim they are the victims of discrimination by the Sinhalese majority.

Virtually all Tamils want autonomy in the north and east, but the rebels demand independence.

Both Tamils and Sinhalese migrated from India, the Sinhalese from the north in the 3rd century B.C.

Tamils, of Dravidian stock, came from southern India, first as adventurers and warriors.

Staff/John Thelander

Catch the wind

With impeccable wind conditions for a sailing class, windsurfers practice their skills Monday at the Tuttle Creek State Park's River Pond Area.

Warm weather during the weekend enabled area residents to enjoy the outdoors, but cooler conditions are forecast for today with a high of 60.

Additional farm loan funds will allow growers to plant

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — An additional $542.5 million in farm loan funds should be made available by the government to enable growers to proceed with spring planting, a House subcommittee chairman said Monday.

"As the time for spring planting approaches, thousands of farmers across the nation are facing the very real possibility that they will not obtain sufficient credit to finance their operations this year," said Rep. Ed Jones, D-Tenn.

Jones, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee's credit subcommittee, said in a letter to Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Lyng that the $542.5 million could be made available through a transfer of funds authorized under the 1986 farm law.

The law authorizes the secretary to transfer 25 percent of the funds available for loan guarantees to use for direct Farmers Home Administration loans. Such an action would still leave nearly $1 billion available for loan guarantees, Jones said.

Jones issued a statement saying that FmHA had "virtually exhausted" April-June operating loan accounts by April 17 in 21 states. It identified the states as Alabama, California, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Maine, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Washington, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Under the program in which FmHA guarantees 90 percent of bank loans to farmers, he said, 635 loans totaling $57.5 million have been made thus far this year compared to 550 for $43 million in the same period last year.

"Our position is that we have the lending authority to take care of them," Aycock said.

Jones said in his letter, however, that FmHA has made "commendable progress" in using the loan guarantee program in some states.

Senate to review allocations

By The Collegian Staff

Student Senate will review the funding requests of Association of Adults Returning to School, Students for Handicapped Concerns, FONE Crisis Center and Sports Club Council as tentative allocations for fiscal 1987-88, continue at 6 tonight in the Union Big Eight Room.

AARTS will be seeking funding from the Senate for the first time.

The Association requested $273.90; however, Senate Finance Committee has recommended a $124 reduction in its tentative allocation.

The funding recommendation for Students for Handicapped Concerns is $399.30, reduced $6 from the group's request. About $200 of the budget will be spent on advertising. Last year the group received $403.

FONE Crisis Center will seek $10,584.10, a $60 reduction of the group's 1986-87 budget.

Finance Committee recommended $4,023.89 for Sports Club Council. In addition to the council receiving operating expenses, clubs funded through the umbrella organization are rugby, parachute, sailing, rodeo and men's and women's soccer.

During last year's appeals for tentative allocations, the council of all previously mentioned sports clubs except rodeo received $2,240.40.

K-STATE SUMMER SESSION

June 9-July 31, 1987

Enjoy smaller classes, concentrated study, accelerated degree progress, relaxed atmosphere, and a head start on college work.

K-State Summer Session offers Quality undergraduate and graduate courses Workshops and short courses Child care Elementary age enrichment program Campus housing Social and leisure time activities

K State Summer session catalogs are available from the Admissions Office and your advisor. Or contact: Summer Session, Division of Continuing Education, 317 Umberger Hall, Manhattan, Kansas 66506. (913) 532-5566 or 1-800-432-8222.

Closed Classes — Fall 1987

00160	04160	11430	25360	27230	33030	34950
00170	05020	11440	25760	27250	33040	35000
00370	05140	11530	25770	27680	33050	35010
00930	05160	13050	25890	28350	33060	35020
01250	05180	13060	25910	28940	33070	35050
01340	05430	13090	25920	28950	33080	35630
01640	05460	13480	25960	28990	33090	35690
01950	05470	13590	26020	29060	33100	35810
02110	05500	13620	26030	29200	33110	36120
02290	05590	13630	26070	29560	33150	36170
02340	05610	13710	26080	29570	33190	36180
02380	05690	13760	26090	29740	33250	36260
02410	05700	13950	26100	29800	33270	36370
02460	05820	14440	26170	29880	33290	36510
02470	07550	14580	26220	29890	33300	36800
02480	07590	14590	26260	29910	33310	36810
02490	07690	14870	26350	29930	33320	36840
02540	08020	15130	26360	29960	33340	38060
02560	08050	16920	26380	29970	33350
02990	08070	17180	26390	30000	33370
03040	08180	17700	26400	30030	33440
03060	08260	17740	26420	30510	33450
03300	08690	17810	26600	30630	33460
03310	08849	18910	26670	30650	33470
03320	08850	19590	26700	30720	33480
03330	08950	19610	26710	31010	33750
03350	09060	19750	26720	31020	33770
03360	09290	20090	26750	31090	33790
03370	09480	20120	26770	31250	33810
03380	09490	20170	26780	31320	33960
03390	09510	20180	26790	31330	34020
03470	09520	20260	26800	31440	34030
03480	09530	20270	26810	31450	34040
03490	09560	20520	26820	31850	34120
03500	09610	20760	26840	31870	34190
03510	10990	21020	26900	31970	34200
03530	11080	21300	26910	32040	34210
03540	11180	21430	26920	32090	34220
03550	11190	22530	26940	32110	34240
03560	11200	22830	26960	32140	34260
03570	11210	22850	27000	32230	34420
03610	11340	23650	27010	32560	34440
03620	11350	24780	27040	32940	34490
03630	11360	24920	27050	32950	34610
03640	11370	24950	27060	32960	34840
03660	11380	25000	27070	32970	34850
03670	11390	25210	27080	32990	34870
03680	11400	25310	27090	33000	34890
03750	11410	25320	27210	33010	34900
03850	11420	25330	27220	33020	34920

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR
Jonie Trued

MANAGING EDITOR
Sue Dawson

NEWS EDITOR
Erin Eicher

EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
Deron Johnson

CAMPUS EDITORS
Susan Baird
Pat Hund

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson

BUS./AGR./GOV'T. EDITOR
Julie Reynolds

FEATURES EDITOR
Margaret May

SPORTS EDITOR
Tom Morris

ARTS/ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
Sarah Kessinger

COPY EDITORS
Laurie Fairburn
Valerie Johnson
Jim Schmidt

STAFF WRITERS
Jeff Bielser
Chris Doll
Judy Goldberg
Becky Howard
Jennifer Lindsey

SPORTS WRITERS
Jennifer Chaulk
Chase Clark
Jeff Rapp
David Wagner

REVIEWERS
Andre Kelly
Gary Johnson

COLUMNISTS
Kirk Caraway
Ron Honig
Scott Miller

CARTOONIST
Richard Broadfoot

PHOTOGRAPHERS
Jim Dietz
Brad Fanshier
Brett Hacker
John LaBerge
Gary Lytle
Steve Rasmussen
Rob Squires

EDITORIAL BOARD
Susan Baird
Kirk Caraway
Sue Dawson
Jim Dietz
Erin Eicher
Judy Goldberg
Ron Honig
Pat Hund
Deron Johnson
Sarah Kessinger

ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinet

ASSISTANT ADVERTISING MANAGER
Todd Schultz

CAMPUS ACCOUNTS/TEARSHEET REP.
Jada Allerheilgen

SALES REPRESENTATIVES
Kim Greenwood
Judy Haeefe
Mark Holly

ADV. GRAPHIC ARTISTS
Greg Crawford
Alex Menez

Pat Muir
Patti Paxson
Jean Teller

John Thelander
Julie Thompson
Jeff Tuttle
Greg Vogel
Jeff Weatherly
Steve Wolgast

Judy Lundstrom
Margaret May
Scott Miller
Andy Nelson
Patti Paxson
Julie Reynolds
Chris Stewart
Teresa Temme
Jonie Trued

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, daily except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 322-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

DEAR CHARLES MANSON,
JUDGE PARKER,
I AM ALL BETTER NOW.
I DO NOT NEED TO BE HERE ANYMORE.
I JUST WANT TO HACK A PLANE & ESCAPE WITH PENNY.
JODIE FOSTER IS A GONER. NO LONGER WANT TO KILL THE PRESIDENT.
MY PSYCHIATRISTS. THEY'RE VERY TRUSTING-TRUSTWORTHY PEOPLE.

JOHN HINCKLEY

UNIVERSAL PRESS SYND.
©1987 THE BUFFALO NEWS

...IN A VERY ABSTRACT
EXACT SCIENCE.

Department's reaction to suicide inexcusable

The safety of all citizens in Manhattan was dealt a major setback in the wake of what some consider to be the single worst incident in the history of the Riley County Police Department.

The sequence of police procedure following a 911 call of an apparent suicide of a K-State student last week has had students and city residents shaking their heads in bewilderment, leery of a service which many people have come to depend on in emergency situations.

Stephen Lobmeyer, a K-State freshman, died from carbon monoxide poisoning in his idling car. His suicide might have been prevented if police had responded to a call from a student who called the city's emergency 911 service after noticing him in his car.

After one dispatcher received information from the person who answered the 911 call, correct procedure wasn't followed.

The dispatcher filed away a report of a student in an idling car, which he assumed was a "typical response" case. Officers failed to follow up on the call because they never received notification.

The report got lost in the shuffle and no police officers were available at the time of the call, and the dispatcher forgot about the call.

Such a mistake during a life-threatening crisis is inexcusable. The dispatcher should have acted more responsibly.

It is unknown whether correct procedure would have saved Lobmeyer's life. All this colossal failure does is compound the grief his family and friends are suffering right now. There is nothing more tragic than a potentially preventable death.

Nonetheless, proper methodology would at least assure residents that the 911 service is a reliable emergency service. It is designed as a system suited to deal with strictly emergency situations, and citizens depend on it as such.

It is also a system that shouldn't be taken for granted. Many communities don't have the luxury of the 911 system, and that makes its importance even more essential to those communities that do have it.

Now, the service has lost much credibility, but this is the only 911 incident that has gained media exposure.

If the press had not uncovered the concerned citizen's testimony, would the procedure still be occasionally administered incorrectly?

To prevent such a mix-up from occurring again, the RCPD has suspended the dispatcher who filed the incorrect report. This action was necessary not only to reprimand the dispatcher but also to underscore that divergence from standard procedure will not be tolerated.

Unfortunately, correcting the procedure might have come at the expense of a K-State student.

It is imperative the RCPD does everything possible to make certain that next time a "serious" predicament arises, quick and responsible action will follow.

Letters

Innocent laughs

Editor,

Re: Julie Zimmerman's letter "Sexist comic strips" in Wednesday's Collegian. After reading your letter, we sat down with our roommates and discussed thoroughly the issue at hand. We basically all came to the same conclusion — WHY?

We don't see how anyone can take a piece of entertainment that is meant to amuse the masses and turn it into a sexist argument. Do people really care if the characters are male or female? Or do they care whether the characters are dull or amusing? Comic strips are meant for entertainment — not to be analyzed whether they are sexist or not.

We did a little research ourselves and looked at a few back issues of the Kansas City Star's Sunday comic section. Out of the 19 comic strips in the section, 17 were written by men and one was written by a woman. There was another comic strip in which the author's first name was omitted. Giving you the benefit of the doubt, 90 percent of the strips were written by males.

What does this mean? Does it mean that comics are sexist? No, it simply means that there are more males writing comic strips. What do these men write about? They write about their lives and their experiences in life. Most comic strips are reflections of their author's past (with a little humor thrown in). A male will obviously write about his life as a male.

This same "phenomenon" occurs with the few female writers there are. An example of this can be seen in the comic strip "Cathy," which is found in many Sunday papers. This comic strip, which we have read a few times, deals with the author's experiences in life and, on more than one occasion, female dominance.

Instead of us writing to the Kansas City Star and blowing an innocent source of entertainment out of proportion, we took it in a humorous way because it was funny due to its contents, not because the main character was male or female (to repeat a previous point).

The point we're trying to get across is that no matter what the sex of the main character or what the sex of the object of the joke, a comic strip is meant to make you laugh, not make you sit back and analyze it like it was some illegal activity. What's happening to the women's liberation movement when it has to start picking comic strips apart when it should be fighting for the equal rights women so well deserve?

Maybe they should loosen up and read a comic strip for its amusement, not for what it isn't or shouldn't be. So relax and have a few laughs.

Spencer W. Sechler
senior in marketing and one other

Permanent blight

Editor's note: Following is a letter written to Gov. Mike Hayden. The letter was sent to a number of newspapers, including the Kansas State Collegian.

Dear Gov. Hayden,

Well, your first season in office seems to have placed at least one tough, controversial choice before you. I'm referring to the radioactive waste issue and whether Kansas should remain in a compact which seems to be riddled with flaws and inequities. It must be very trying for you, what with the kind of public opposition there has been to the compact's planning activities and the intense scrutiny of the press.

No doubt there have been other pressures on you, less public perhaps but no less urgent. I'm sure there are people in the federal government who would be very upset were Kansas to decide not to remain eligible to receive nuclear waste from five states. The nuclear industries have, after all, a very powerful lobby and are in a position to make very attractive offers to get the dumps they so badly need. It has been said that power corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely.

Now, take this super-collider research center. It is certainly being presented as a prize worth winning. Personally, I have my doubts about that. But the question is, governor, at what price? There are those of us out here who feel that placing a dumping ground in Kansas to accommodate the nuclear industries in exchange for this kind of "economic development" would be a sellout, a violation.

Now, there may well be people in Kansas who could be persuaded to accept a dump in their area for the right financial arrangement, and if you look at it just from the point of view of the dollar, economic advantages and cash flow, it all makes real good sense. But what I would urge you to do, governor, is to look at it from another point of view.

Is it worth inflicting on Kansas a permanent blight, a monumental concentration of poison? Would you bow to the wishes of the seemingly all-powerful? This kind of progress isn't always what it's cracked up to be. Consider this: Economic development and cash flow may have been on Judas' mind when he took the 30 pieces of silver.

John Kostick
Frankfort, Kan., resident

Restored faith

Editor,

On April 10, I received a small box in the mail which contained a university class ring I had lost a few days earlier while attending a meeting on the K-State campus. At the point when I noticed the ring was missing, I was convinced I had seen the ring for the last time. Since the ring was to me symbolic of a considerable expenditure of energy and hard work, not to mention a financial challenge, the empty feeling was not soon alleviated.

Prior to leaving K-State, I checked several times with the personnel on duty at the Information Desk in the Union. On my third visit to see if a ring had been found, a young lady behind the counter suggested I might have better luck trying the Business Office in the Union. I followed this suggestion and found myself leaving my name with Edie Bailey, an employee in the Business Office.

A K-State student found the missing ring and took it to the Business Office. Thanks to the ethics and thoughtfulness of the student and Bailey, I have both my ring and a restored faith in people, K-State style.

Jerry Hamm
Coffeyville resident

Grads shouldn't be asked for donation

Scholarship's premise proves unfair, obscene

It never fails. I miss a few editorial board meetings and later regret it. This time, my dismay was the result of an editorial in the April 10 issue of the Collegian titled "Seniors should donate $20 to K-State's future."

According to the editorial, the University is asking graduating seniors to give $20 a year for the next three years as part of the administration's newest idea: the Pacesetter scholarship. The $500 scholarship offers graduating K-Staters a way to demonstrate their purple pride by handing over their green.

The editorial is generally supportive of the plan: "It's only $20 a year and the first payment isn't due until a year after you graduate." It also adds, "This program isn't asking you to give until it hurts." But as former Student Body President Steven Johnson said just before he vetoed the Student Representation Enhancement Bill, "Is this the best alternative?"

Now, don't get me wrong. One of my long-standing convictions is that those of us who attend the institutions of higher learning, especially those of us who receive government aid to help cover the outlandish costs of attending these institutions of higher learning, would do well to remember what makes it possible for us to do so.

Or, as literary critic Terry Eagleton has pointed out, "Men and women do not live by culture alone, the vast majority of them throughout history have been deprived of the chance of living by it at all, and those few who are fortunate enough to live by it now are able to do so because of the labour of those who do not." I mention this conviction so the reader will not misunderstand me when I say the Pacesetter scholarship is nothing short of obscene.

Forget for just a moment that the administration is asking graduating seniors, the same seniors who have paid the outlandish costs of higher education for the past four or more years, to continue giving money to the University. Forget also that these seniors have been paying for the outlandish costs of building an ill-planned and unneeded coliseum they never agreed to pay for.

Forget also that the University has spent who knows how much painting trash cans purple, and forget that the University has spent a good deal of money on other equally senseless projects. All of this is mentioned in the hope that you can momentarily overlook from whom the administration is asking for money and concentrate on to whom it will be going.

SCOTT MILLER
Collegian Columnist

The requirements of the Pacesetter scholarship include the usual 3.2 or better grade point average, full-time enrollment and, of course, the obligatory "being involved on campus" — whatever that phrase means. But nowhere in the requirements do we find anything about need. That's right, NEED, as in students who need financial help to pay the outlandish costs of higher education (not to mention the coliseum, the trash cans, etc.).

It seems awfully strange to me to ask students to help out the University in these hard economic times while at the same time the University is ignoring the people who are most affected by these hard economic times — lower income students and would-be students. If the University is justified in asking for scholarship money due to financial pressures, are not the students who need it most justified in receiving that scholarship money?

But let's return to the matter which I asked you to momentarily forget — whether the administration is, in fact, justified in asking graduating seniors to give up their hard-earned cash. In asking students for the money, the administration has proved once again one of those universal truths. That is, it is always easy to give away money when it doesn't belong to you in the first place.

Why did the administration target students for contributions? Why not someone else? One alternative could be to hit up the alumni — then we could call it the Pacemaker scholarship. Or, better still, why couldn't the University officials, apparently the same lot who came up with this idea in the first place, give part of their salary to a scholarship fund?

For example, let's invent a hypothetical situation. Let's say a student earns $10,000 a year. I realize most students don't earn as much as our hypothetical one, but let's just say this one does. Now, if she gives $20 a year, that's 0.2 percent of her annual income.

Now, let's take a hypothetical University official. Most University officials seem to be males so let's call our hypothetical official Jon. Jon has a hypothetical annual income of $92,000 (although the people at U-Learn were quick to point out that a hypothetical University official earning $92,000 a year would have been taking a 3.8 percent pay cut for the last six months).

Be that as it may, if we could get Jon to give 0.2 percent of his annual income, then we would have $184 — more than one-third of $500 for the Pacesetter scholarship. Of course, like the case of our hypothetical student, not all University officials earn as much as our hypothetical one, but if all University officials earning more than, say, $40,000 annually gave 0.2 percent of their annual income, we would have enough to set up any number of scholarships — with enough left over to paint a few trash cans.

In the words of the Collegian editorial, "This program isn't asking you to give until it hurts." After all, if a hypothetical student earning $10,000 annually or a real-life student earning probably much less can give $20 a year for three years, why couldn't some administration members shell out a few bucks for a tax-deductible worthy cause?

Debate crew brings home honors

By The Collegian Staff

Two K-State debate team members placed in the top 25 of 448 speakers at the Cross Examination Debate Association National Tournament.

Ted Payne, sophomore in political science, received an award for ranking 17th, while Steve Woods, senior in political science, also ranked among the top 25 at the April 4-6 tournament at Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge.

Since awards were given only to the top 20 debaters, Woods does not know his exact ranking, said Edward Schiappa, instructor of speech and debate team coach.

Payne and Woods, debate partners, finished 6-2 in the first eight rounds of preliminary competition. In the first of seven elimination rounds, the duo lost to a team from the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla., Woods said.

K-State's second team, of Marsha Gribble, junior in speech, and Mike Krueger, junior in economics, were 4-4 in the preliminaries but did not qualify for the elimination rounds. However, they did well for national tournament competition, Woods said.

From among the coaches of the 67 schools in K-State's region, Schiappa was chosen as a panel judge for the final rounds. It is an honor for a coach to be chosen as a judge, Woods said.

K-State is a member of the Cross Examination Debate Association, a national debate group. Schiappa said in the overall standings for the year, K-State's debate squad ranked 41st out of the 326 CEDA schools. Their goal for the year was to be in the top 40, he said.

"We have had a real good season, given that I have approached it as a rebuilding year," Schiappa said. "All but one debater is new to K-State." All squad members were freshmen or transfer students.

K-State debaters have consistently placed in tournaments throughout the year, Schiappa said, adding that this was unusual since none of them had known each other before joining the squad.

"We've got the talent next year to be in the top 10, if the travel budget holds," Schiappa said.

Group to promote state

Kansas Navy stresses safety

By The Collegian Staff

Kansas boating lovers are recruiting more members to fulfill the Kansas Navy's self-proclaimed duty of promoting Kansas.

In conjunction with the navy's recruiting efforts, the organization made Gov. Mike Hayden its chief officer Friday morning in Topeka.

Kansas Navy admiral Dale McCollum made the presentation of the certificate and admiral's hat along with Frederick Rice, director of K-State's small business development center, and four students from Rice's small business strategy class.

"The Kansas Navy was formed twelve years ago as a private organization to promote tourism and safe recreational boating in the state," Rice said.

"Our purpose is to sell Kansas to Kansans," said Dale McCollum, Manhattan resident and founder of the Kansas Navy.

The students, under the direction of Rice and McCollum, are developing a marketing plan to help the Kansas Navy expand its programs to attract additional members, Rice said. McCollum said the current membership is about 150.

"The members are made up of a group of people who love boating," he said.

One reason for establishing the landlocked fleet was to increase the amount of money spent in Kansas, McCollum said.

"The navy is a publicity tactic to help people become more aware of what Kansas has to offer," he said.

McCollum said the navy is a major benefit to Kansas because it promotes Kansas at no cost to the state's citizens.

"The navy isn't costing the taxpayers any money," he said.

Rice said the navy hopes to have a flotilla providing a variety of services and activities on each of the state's major lakes.

Rice said one of the goals of the navy is to have access to radio-equipped patrol boats to aid law enforcement and public safety authorities. In addition, McCollum said the navy would like to eventually work more closely with the K-State Crew team to help it raise money.

Trade leader addresses U.S.-Japan meeting

By The Associated Press

OISO, Japan — New U.S. tariffs on some Japanese products should not affect the over-all relationship between the two allies, American trade representative Clayton Yeutter said Monday.

He said imposition of the duties last Saturday was not a protectionist act and the U.S. trade deficit will not be eliminated by solving individual issues, but he urged Japan to increase imports and drop quotas on foreign goods "as a matter of principle."

Yeutter said the new tariffs imposed by the Reagan administration represent "a relatively small blip ... on the screen of economic relationships between the two countries" and should not be permitted "to cloud the much more important economic and political relationship."

He spoke at a privately organized meeting of Japanese and U.S. government and business leaders at Oiso, a seaside city southwest of Tokyo.

Earlier Monday, Yeutter told

Foreign Minister Tadashi Kuranari that Japan's stimulation of its domestic market has been "insufficient" and declared: "Frankly speaking, we need action rather than debate."

The United States wants Japan to stimulate its domestic economy so the market for both foreign and Japanese products will expand.

At a meeting with Agriculture Minister Mutsuki Kato, Yeutter and Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng asked Japan to import rice and end quotas on beef and citrus products.

Yeutter arrived Sunday, a day after the United States imposed tariffs worth $300 million on selected Japanese goods in retaliation for Japan's alleged violation of a 7-month-old agreement on trade in semiconductors.

Washington accused Japan of selling computer chips at unfairly low prices in third countries and of failing to open its semiconductor market sufficiently to American products.

Japan denied the charges and has asked the United States for consultations under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

"The action that was taken on semiconductors last week is not protectionism," Yeutter said. "It is not in any sense of the word protectionist."

"That is intended to be a temporary action. Whether or not it will be temporary depends on the response on this side of the ocean."

"If the spirit of that (semiconductor) agreement is carried out, I give you my word tonight, in blood if you want it," that the tariffs will be canceled, the trade representative said.

He urged Japan to drop quotas on 12 food products, including tomato juice and peanuts. Yeutter said only about $80 million worth of those goods was involved, but "I just think it's important as a matter of principle."

Japanese consumers have not been enjoying lower import prices appropriate to the lower dollar, which has fallen about 40 percent against the yen since a September 1985 agreement among major nations to push it lower, he said.

"We cannot expand American exports into Japan if the benefit of the falling dollar is never perceived by the Japanese consumer," Yeutter said.

Although Japan pays about $130 a ton for American wheat, he said, the government's Japan Food Agency marks the price up to $400 a ton before selling it. "One must wonder about the wisdom of a policy that does that," Yeutter declared.

Kato, the agriculture minister, said Japan cannot import American rice, which is much cheaper than the domestic product, because of over-production by Japanese farmers. He said the government is trying to increase imports of beef and citrus without lifting the quotas on them completely.

Japan buys almost 20 percent of all U.S. agricultural exports, for a total in 1986 of nearly $6 billion, according to Japanese government statistics.

According to American figures, Japan had an over-all trade surplus of $58.6 billion with the United States last year.

Have story or photo ideas?
CALL 532-6556

TUESDAYS JAZZ RIPS MANHATTAN

Every Tuesday 8 p.m.

—Presenting 17 Piece KSU Concert Jazz Ensemble

—Plus . . . All You Can Eat

Boiled Shrimp

$5.95 6-8 p.m.!!!

RIP & MO'S
aggieville's rock-n-roll bar
710 N. Manhattan, Aggieville tel 539-9706

KSU Credit Union offers you

Car
loans

Boat
loans

RV
loans

Financing as low as

9.5% APR

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
FEDERAL CREDIT UNION

A service for faculty, staff and qualified graduate assistants

Anderson Hall, Room 24A
Open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Monday through Friday
532-6274

The New College of Business Administration Ambassadors are:

Jim Phalen	Joe Karlin
Bryan Camerlinck	Karen Clamons
Scott E. Darger	Sieve Read
Janel L. Lee	David Sell
Angela Ahlstedt	Jeffery Muirhead
Lauren E. O'Connor	Karma Jo Sieck
Michael Toedman	Teresa Butler
Ben McLane	Chris Mellage
Tammy Hawley	Stacy Smith
Laurie Brown	Steve Holmstrom

Congratulations!

Godfather's Pizza™ Coupon Specials

Use these coupons and invite the gang over for a Giant 16" special pizza loaded with toppings. Or, treat yourself to a delicious Hot Slice™. You'll love the taste and the savings! But hurry, offer ends soon!

1118 Laramie / 539-5303

Early Week Special

$10.99/$8.99 plus tax

LARGE MEDIUM

COMBO PIZZA

or up to 4 toppings

Original Crust

Plus FREE 20 oz. drinks!

4 drinks with large

3 drinks with medium

Offer good Monday through Wednesday only.

Dine-in, carryout or delivery (no added delivery charges). Not valid with Tapper or other promotional offers. Limited delivery area.

Expires 4-29-87

Offer good in Manhattan only

GODFATHER'S
PIZZA

Anytime Special

Pizza & Pop plus tax

for $14.99!

Get TWO Giant 16" special pizzas (The Super Pepperoni or The Four Topper) and FOUR 20 oz. soft drinks for just $14.99!

Dine-in, carryout or delivery

On Sunday, choose either this coupon special or take advantage of our free drink offer. Sorry, can't do both. Not valid with Tapper or other promotional offers. Limited delivery area.

Expires 5-1-87

Offer good in Manhattan only

GODFATHER'S
PIZZA

Luncheon Special

Hot Slice™ 2 for $2

with this coupon

Mon.-Fri. 11:30-1:30

Dine-in or Carryout Only

Not valid with other promotional offers.

One coupon per person per visit.

Expires 5-1-87

Offer good in Manhattan only

GODFATHER'S
HOT SLICE
PIZZA

Weekend Special

Any Large, 2-Topping

Original Pizza Plus

3 / 20 oz. Soft Drinks

For Only $10! plus tax

Friday, Saturday or Sunday Only.

Dine-in, carryout or delivery.

On Sunday, choose either this coupon special or take advantage of our free drink offer. Sorry, can't do both. Not valid with Tapper or other promotional offers. Limited delivery area.

Expires 4-26-87

Offer good in Manhattan only

GODFATHER'S
PIZZA

Anytime Special

Buy any LARGE

pizza for the price of a MEDIUM

Dine-in, carryout or delivery

On Sunday, choose either this coupon special or take advantage of our free drink offer. Sorry, can't do both. Not valid with Tapper or other promotional offers. Limited delivery area.

Expires 5-1-87

Offer good in Manhattan only

GODFATHER'S
PIZZA

LSAT GMAT GRE

WHAT IF YOU DON'T GET INTO THE GRAD SCHOOL OF
YOUR CHOICE?

Sure, there are other schools. But why settle? Kaplan prep courses help students raise their scores and their chances of being admitted into their first-choice schools. Fact is, no one has helped students score higher!

KAPLAN

STANLEY H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER LTD.

OTHER COURSES: MCAT, DAT, NCLEX, NTE, CPA, BAR REVIEW, & OTHERS

Take the heat off! This summer study with KAPLAN Now—2 centers

in Kansas City 341-1220

Lawrence 842-5442

—Scholarships Available—

TODAY ONLY

Tuesday, April 21st
10 a.m.-7 p.m.

CLOTHING CONCEPTS

presents

A Manufacturer's Direct

OUTBACK

Clothing Sale
1 DAY ONLY
Save 50%-70%

OUTBACK

Ladies' & Juniors' Swimwear by: Jantzen•Sassafrass•Too Hot Brazil

Reg. $34 Now $14.99

Hobie•Coca Cola•Palmetto's•Union Bay•Outback Red•Forenza

From $19.99

Men's & Ladies'
Leather Basketball
Tennis-Running-Training Shoes

New Balance

adidas

All Shoes $19.99-$24.99

Coca-Cola

Rugbys • Jerseys • Tees • Fleece

50% Off Regular Retail

Jack

MEN'S PRINTED
NOVELTY TOPS & SCRUBS

Now

$9.99

Reg. $22

MEN'S IZOD &
Other Status Brand
SHIRTS

—Stripes & Solids—

Now

$5.99

If Perfect, to $38

MEN'S
OCEAN PACIFIC & HOBIE
Short & Long Sleeve Tees
(Latest 3 & 4 Color Prints)

$3.99

If Perfect, to $15

Palmetto's

JUNIORS'

Denim Prairie & Mini Skirts

$12.99

Reg. $23.00 Now

FORENZA
SPORTWEAR

Save 50%-60%

Skirts-$12.99

Shorts-$12.99

Men's Ocean Pacific and Union Bay

Shorts & Woven Sportshirts
NOW

$9.99-$12.99

Reg. $28.00

Men's Tropical Print
Jams & Kneebusters

$9.99

University Inn

(Across from Campus)
Ballroom Downstairs
Manhattan, KS

Director to be named

Finalists to meet with campus officials

By The Collegian Staff

Five finalists for the position of director of personnel services selected by a search committee are scheduled to visit the campus to meet with University officials.

Deborah Birney, G. Thomas Bull, Jerre Fercho, Lucius C. Jones and Richard J. Rehmer were selected from a field of about 70 applicants, said James Coffman, dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine and chairman of the search committee.

Coffman said one of the criteria for selecting the finalists was previous experience in personnel-related services.

"We considered their previous experience in personnel and also their experience in an academic setting,"

Coffman said.

Coffman said the seven-member search committee also considered leadership qualities, organizational and communication abilities and accomplishments of the applicants.

"(The finalists) demonstrated the ability to work with a broad array of people," he said.

The finalists will begin interviews with University officials this week and continue into next week.

Bull will be on campus today to meet with officials, and he will field questions at an open meeting from 8:40 to 9:40 a.m. in Union 207. He is the manager of industrial relations for the LTV Missiles & Electronics Group, Mishawaka, Ind. He had been the director of personnel at the University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Ind., from 1976 to 1985.

Birney, the second finalist, will have an open meeting from 9:50 to 10:50 a.m. Thursday in Union 213. She has been the acting director of personnel services at K-State since February. Previously, she served as assistant director of personnel services-operations, manager of personnel services-benefits and records, and manager of personnel services-employment services on campus.

A third finalist for the position is Jones, who will speak at an open meeting from 9:45 to 10:45 a.m. Friday in Union 213. He has been the director of the university personnel/affirmative action office at Central State University, Wilberforce, Ohio, since 1979. He has also been a consultant to the Elder Beerman Stores Inc., Dayton, Ohio.

Rehmer has been scheduled as the fourth finalist to visit campus. He will have an open meeting from 9:45 to 10:45 a.m. Monday in Union 213.

He has been director of personnel support services at Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio, since 1976. Before that he was the district director of employee and labor relations for the U.S. Postal Service in Toledo, Ohio.

Fercho is the fifth finalist and will have an open meeting from 9:45 a.m. to 10:45 a.m. next Tuesday in Union 213. He has been director of personnel at North Dakota State University, Fargo, since 1978. Previously, he was the assistant business manager at NDSU.

Economist to present 75th Landon Lecture

By The Collegian Staff

Pulitzer Prize-winning economist Franco Modigliani will present the final Alfred M. Landon Lecture Series on Public Issues of the academic year at 1:30 p.m. today in McCain Auditorium.

Modigliani's speech, "What Have We Learned From the Reagan Economic Experience?" will focus on the economic policies and philosophies instituted during President Ronald Reagan's term at the White House.

"I'm sure he will be critical of Reagan's economic policy)," said Roger Trenary, instructor of economics.

Trenary termed Modigliani's economic views as being "strict Keynesian."

He adheres to the economic theories of John M. Keynes, Trenary said, and has developed the theory that people "make consumption and savings decisions based on a lifetime."

This has been labeled the "life-cycle hypothesis."

"He was one of the few economists responsible for developing and expanding the Keynesian theory," Trenary said.

Lecturer to criticize policy on Nicaragua

By The Collegian Staff

Renny Golden will deliver "Refugees: Linchpin in Low Intensity Conflict" at 7:30 tonight in Union Forum Hall as the fourth of the Lou Douglas Lectures on Public Affairs.

Golden, associate professor of criminal justice at Northeastern Illinois University, is a member of the Chicago Religious Task Force on Central America. She has worked on Sanctuary's underground railroad since its inception and co-authored "Sanctuary: The New Underground Railroad."

"Sanctuary is a movement of religious people in this country to give refugees from military dictatorships in Central America a place to go," said Doug Benson, associate professor of modern languages.

Benson said Golden would be speaking about President Ronald Reagan's policy of non-involvement in Nicaragua by American troops and how the policy is affecting the civilian population.

The United States government is trying to isolate the Nicaraguan government politically and economically and is sending money to the Contras so they can do the fighting, Benson said.

Golden's contention is that the United States' low intensity conflict is making it difficult for the people to obtain loans or grain without going to Eastern bloc countries, Benson said.

Paper publishes Soviet letter

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW — A paper has published a letter from a former prisoner criticizing Soviet labor camps and asking that more information about them be released.

Western diplomats said it may be the first letter published in official mass media criticizing the camps, about which almost no official information is available.

The letter was signed by former convict V. Stavrovsky of Smolensk and said the camps, estimated to hold at least one million prisoners, turn people into hardened criminals.

"It is high time to say what is going on in the corrective labor camps," the weekly Literary Gazette, which published the letter in its current edition, said in an accompanying commentary.

Publication of the letter appears to be part of a review of the criminal justice system. Soviet media have published examples of miscarriages of justice over the past year, and some high-ranking officials have called for better protection of citizens against false arrest and imprisonment.

"It's possible something like this appeared before in legal publications, but that something with a critical tone of the camps should show up in the Literary Gazette is

Former labor camp prisoner condemns system in writing astonishing," a Western diplomat said privately.

Literary Gazette is one of the country's largest newspapers, with a circulation of 3-4 million.

Its commentary said some readers probably would be upset by publication of a convict's letter, but "the rules of glasnost (openness) tolerate no exceptions." The reference was to Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev's program of publicizing some social problems.

Stavrovsky's letter said little about camp conditions, which have been described in detail by former political prisoners freed in a recent review of dissident cases, but he wrote of the inability of a common criminal to reform himself in the camps.

"The development of vicious inclinations in the individual flourishes," he said. "They say this is a formal re-education, but in reality it is a continuation of the process in which one constantly feels suspicion and mistrust, either in himself or others. The so-called political and education work is just wretched."

"Having served his term, the person is simply incapable of keeping to the norms of life common in society."

He did not say where he was imprisoned or for what offense. Stavrovsky said he had "several convictions" and believes repeat offenders are much more numerous than those serving first terms.

"A letter like mine can't be sent from the camps," he said. "I learned from my own experience. The rules say you must be sent to a punishment cell for 'illegal mailing of letters containing slanderous statements about the administration'."

In the accompanying commentary signed by Yuri Shekotchikhin, the paper said: "It is time to make public the statistics of the corrective labor camp results. Is the system effective? Is it turning people who made mistakes once into hardened criminals? There are many questions around this closed topic. It is necessary to investigate them."

No statistics are published in the official press about the number and capacity of prisons and labor camps or how many prisoners they hold. According to Western estimates, there are more than 1,000 prisons and labor camps holding between one and two million inmates.

The most widely noted example of recent publicity about abuses in the justice system was a report in December by the Communist Party daily Pravda that the KGB arrested a Ukrainian journalist on trumped-up charges after he wrote articles critical of local officials.

Stories in other publications have told of ineffective defense lawyers, corrupt judges, beatings during interrogations and convictions of innocent people.

Alexander Yakovlev, a candidate member of the party's governing Politburo, proposed several reforms of the legal system last fall.

One of his recommendations was that defendants be provided with lawyers during pre-trial proceedings. Under current practice, a defendant often does not meet his lawyer until the trial starts.

The Politburo said in October that "a consistent restructuring of the work of the prosecutor's office, the police, courts and other law enforcement agencies" was needed.

Collegian Classifieds
Cheap, but Effective

Start A Collection

Coke Glasses

89¢ filled with Coke

It's Simply Good Taste!

Dairy Queen brazier.

1015 N. Third
Manhattan

*Reg. U.S. Pat. Off. A.M. D.Q. Corp.
© Copyright 1974 A.M. D.Q. Corp.

Piñata

Restaurante

IT'S TUESDAY FOR TACOS!

Buy Any Taco & get the second one FREE!

(Offer good Tues., Apr. 21, from 5 p.m. til close)

1219 Bluemont 539-3166 Open Daily at 11 a.m.

LATE NIGHT with COLLEGE LIFE

Dave laughs it up with Paul and the band, and special guest Terry McKinney speaking on "Maximum Living In A Pressure Cooker World."

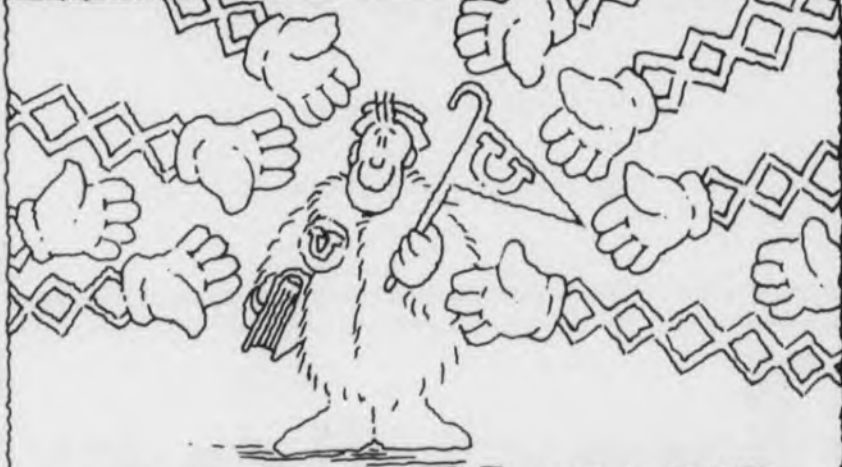

Plus, genuine Blue Grass Music.

TONIGHT at 10

Sigma Chi Fraternity

1224 Fremont

Sponsored by Campus Crusade For Christ

We'd like to HAND it to you for staying in college.

Union National Bank & Trust is proud of the students that stay in college. We know that getting an education can be a rough financial road.

We'd like to help. Apply with us now for a student loan — we'll make sure your application is processed quickly and smoothly. Your check from Union National Bank will be waiting for you when you register for the fall semester.

Contact Mike Andersen at 537-1234. Union National Bank would like to give you a hand.

Union National Bank & Trust Co.

MAIN BANK: 8th & Poyntz • WEST BANK: Westloop Shopping Center
DRIVE-THROUGH BANK: 8th & Houston • PHONE 913-537-1234

Insured by the financially sound, F.D.I.C.

Student Publications announces Collegian Reporting & Sales Opportunities

Applications & Job Descriptions available in Kedzie 103

FALL COLLEGIAN NEWS POSITIONS

Managing Editor	Government Editor
News Editor	Agribusiness Editor
Campus Editors	Staff Writers
Copy Editors	Sports Writers
Editorial Page Editor	Columnists
Feature Editor	Reviewer
Special Projects Editor	Cartoonist
Sports Editor	Graphic Artists
Arts & Entertainment Editor

FALL COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING POSITIONS

Assistant Manager
Sales Representatives
Regional Representative
Campus Representatives
Classified Representative
Graphic Artists

Applications due
Kedzie 103
Friday, April 24th

Argentine president dismisses army chief

By The Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — President Raul Alfonsín, after guiding his civilian government through two military mutinies, dismissed his army chief Monday and named a new general to the post.

The Easter week rebellions were the most serious threats to Alfonsín's administration since his inauguration in December 1983 ended nearly eight years of military rule.

Alfonsín first appointed his civilian defense minister, Horacio Jaunarena, to serve temporarily as army chief and Monday night he named Gen. Jose Segundo Dante Caridi to the post.

Presidential Press Secretary Jose Ignacio Lopez announced that Caridi had been selected as a permanent replacement for Gen. Hector Rios Erenu. His resignation was early Monday, 20 hours after Alfonsín personally intervened to end a three-day mutiny by some 150 army troopers at a military camp outside Buenos Aires.

Caridi, 56, who had served as army inspector general, was selected by Alfonsín and Jaunarena after an "intense day of consultation," Lopez said.

At least 9,000 people vanished the "dirty war" against leftists under military juntas and about 250 officers face charges. The army rebels demanded amnesty for those accused of human rights abuses and the resignation of the army chief of staff, Gen. Hector Rios Erenu.

About 400,000 people responded to urgings from radio and television announcers Sunday to gather in the huge Plaza de Mayo and "defend our democracy." They were there when the president flew to the rebel camp and persuaded the 150 rebellious officers to surrender.

Rios Erenu's dismissal appeared to be part of the deal. Defense Minister Horacio Jaunarena, a civilian, was replacing him temporarily.

The chief of staff angered many officers because of his order that those wanted for questioning in human rights cases testify in civilian courts.

In addition to the approximately 250 officers who face charges, five members of ruling military juntas have been convicted and sent to prison for terms ranging from 4½ years to life.

Government sources say the Supreme Court is preparing a new interpretation of the law that could provide exemption from prosecution for officers who were ordered to commit crimes by their superiors.

If the interpretation of "due obedience" is adopted, charges against the 250 officers could be dropped.

Hayden supports House school financing bill

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — The Senate should retreat from its position on two key issues blocking legislative agreement on a school finance plan, Gov. Mike Hayden said.

Hayden said he supports the House version of a bill which sets spending limits for the state's 304 school districts during the 1987-88 school year because it protects urban districts from large drops in state aid.

The House bill contained a provision for adjusting the formula used to distribute state money to school districts designed to protect large, urban districts.

The urban districts are worried about losing large amounts of state aid to rural districts where declining valuations in farmland make those districts eligible for more money. Under the House bill, large shifts would be blunted by use of a two-year district wealth averaging provision.

"I prefer the two-year average district wealth as proposed by the House," Hayden told reporters. "We had the same problem in the rural districts a few years ago and we helped them out. It would allow a transition."

"It would create less of a hardship on urban districts. I hope the Senate would agree to the proposal."

Also troubling Hayden was the Senate adoption of a floor amendment which phases out an enrollment category by merging the two largest categories over three years. The impact would be to redistribute funding away from the largest school districts in Kansas and pumping it into the medium-sized districts.

"The idea has merit and may require additional study during the interim," Hayden said, adding that he hopes the Senate would concede because the House version is the "most realistic proposal."

Contracts grant rights to birth parents

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO — Unfit parents are more likely to surrender their children for adoption if they can maintain some contact, says a task force report urging Illinois lawmakers to give birth parents rights in some adoption cases.

"This is no crusade ... and it's not as new as it sounds," Wedgie Schultz, president of Illinois Action for Children and one of a group of experts who helped draw up the recommendation, said Monday.

Contracts allowing birth parents rights ranging from awareness of their children's whereabouts to regular visitation are "already arranged between consenting groups of adoptive parents, birth parents and the children themselves, when they are old enough."

"All we propose is that such (arrangements) be given legal standing," she said. Informal arrangements for visitation, unlike a legal contract, can be terminated if things don't go well, without the birth parents' having any recourse in the courts.

But William Pierce, president of the National Committee for Adoption, argued the proposal amounts to "kind of plea-bargaining with abusive and neglectful parents ... by offering the carrot of continued contact."

"The child would be told his parent is not fit to be a parent, but society and the court requires that this unfit parent have access to him," Pierce added.

The report containing the proposal for limited "open adoption" was prepared by the Illinois Task Force on Permanency Planning and distributed to state lawmakers beginning Monday.

The Illinois report is itself part of a three-year, $5.7 million federally funded study administered by the National Council on Juvenile and Family Court Judges.

Council spokesman Robert Praksti, director of the project, said while the council supports open-adoption arrangements in some cases, it would not endorse extending legal standing to such contracts.

He said that as far as he knows, Illinois would be the first state to enact such a law if the recommendations are followed.

"The operative part of the formula is to look at the best interests of the child. Common sense can tell you that in some cases, older children may want to find a parent, stay in touch with a parent or whatever, and it can work to everyone's benefit," Praksti said in a telephone interview from the council's Reno, Nev., headquarters.

"But the saying that applies here is, 'If something's not broke, don't fix it,'" he added.

Studies indicate that parents who lapse into abuse or neglect of their children are more likely to give them up when some contact is guaranteed, said Pamela Elsnor, who served on the task force. She is executive director of Illinois Action for Children, the private child-welfare advocacy group of which Schultz is president.

Many abused children now live in foster homes for years, while their parents fight any state attempt to strip them of their parental rights or to arrange permanent adoption, Elsnor said.

Schultz argued that being able to offer birth parents varying degrees of contact could help remove children from homes where they may be subject to abuse or neglect.

"We've counseled parents for two and three years, and even when they reach the point of acknowledging they can't parent, they won't terminate parental rights because they can't face the prospect of never seeing their children again," said Schultz.

The task force report also recommended that the state guarantee any abused child access to counseling or other aid, and that specially trained volunteers be appointed by the juvenile courts to serve as advocates for children in the court system.

Reagan to consult with leaders on U.S.-Soviet arms talks

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan, ending a 10-day California vacation, returned to Washington on Monday to consult congressional leaders about what he believes are promising arms-control negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Besides meeting with top Democratic and Republican leaders this week, Reagan is expected to give instructions to his arms negotiators, who will start a new round of U.S.-Soviet talks in Geneva on Thursday.

As the president and his wife, Nancy, walked across the South Lawn from their helicopter, their dog, Rex, ran to greet them, dragging his leash behind. Mrs. Reagan scooped him up in her arms and carried him inside.

Reagan said over the weekend that while significant issues still divide the superpowers, "our negotiators will intensify their efforts to clear them away when talks resume in Geneva."

The president sounded optimistic concerning the Soviet proposals — for removal of entire categories of nuclear weapons from Europe — made last week during Secretary of State George Shultz's three-day visit to Moscow.

"When I return to Washington, I will meet with the bipartisan congressional leadership to review this week's progress," the president said in his radio address on Saturday.

A House delegation, led by Speaker Jim Wright of Texas, also talked with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev in Moscow last week. Congress returns from its spring recess on Tuesday.

The president made clear it will be some time before a formal response can be made to the Soviets, because the NATO allies also must be consulted.

"Direct consultations with our allies will continue on further negotiations and plans," Reagan said. "We must look at this issue in a calm, careful and deliberate manner."

Still, the president said after meeting with Shultz, "All I heard today is in the direction that I want to go in."

The president and his wife Nancy wrapped up their Easter break on Sunday by attending services at a Presbyterian church in Santa Barbara.

On Saturday, the president delivered his radio address from the 688-acre ranch and later in the day the couple met with dozens of young cancer patients at a camp in the Santa Ynez Mountains.

On the ranch, the president kept up a rather busy work schedule, mixing riding and clearing brush with routine paperwork.

On Friday, Reagan imposed $300 million in duties on selected Japanese electronic goods in retaliation for that nation's alleged "dumping" of computer chips in foreign markets.

Shultz flew to the ranch late Thursday to brief the president on his meetings in Moscow, and Reagan spoke with reporters afterward to highlight his optimism about chances for an agreement limiting medium-range weapons.

This week, top Reagan advisers are to provide the president an overall plan for his work in coming months. Reagan aides — many of whom joined the administration after disclosure of the Iran-Contra affair — met both in Washington and Santa Barbara seeking an approach that would help Reagan avoid the appearance of a lame-duck chief executive his last two years in office.

GOETSCH-IRVINE
 CHRYSLER-PLYMOUTH-SUBARU

offers GREAT DEALS for GRADUATING SENIORS
on ALL 1987 MODELS!

—Also—

Custom Financing for You

For more information, call us at 776-4875
or stop by 4th & Leavenworth downtown Manhattan

1988

Over 25,000 people Rendezvous with KSU each year at the All University Open House.

Be a part of next year's Student Core Committee by Volunteering for one of the following positions:

Coordinators, Student Life Exhibits, Media, Courtyard Entertainment, Special Projects

Learn about K-State through involvement, communicate with the public and acquire leadership skills.

Apply Today! Job descriptions and applications available at 122 Anderson Hall or call 532-6237. Applications due Monday, April 27, 1987 at 5 p.m.

It's as easy as renting a Ryder truck, one way.

Compare costs before you make plans for moving at the end of the semester.

EXPIRES 9-30-87

$10 OFF
any local move

NEIGHBORHOOD DEALERS

- 2707 Anderson 539-4791 Manhattan
- 121 McCall Rd. 776-9465 Manhattan
- 1214 S. Washington 238-8534 Junction City
- HWY 24 & 99 456-7875 Wamego

$50 OFF
any one way
move out of
MANHATTAN

graduates

Commencement Apparel
Available April 1st—May 16th 4 p.m.
$14.58 (with tax)

Bachelor Candidates
Bachelor's caps, gowns and tassels will be on sale in the K-State Union Bookstore April 1st through 4 p.m. May 16th. Total price with tax is $14.58.

Masters & Doctorate Candidates
All Masters and Doctorate candidates and faculty may rent their apparel. Please come to the Supply Floor of the Union Bookstore to be measured for your order. Payment must accompany all orders and are non-refundable. Orders will be taken starting March 23rd. After April 22nd, a late fee of $3 will be added to all rental orders. Prices for rentals are listed below. Please add 4.5% sales tax.

	MASTERS	DOCTORATE	DVM
Cap/Gown/Hood/Tassel	$20.25	$22.50	$25.50
Cap/Gown/Tassel only	$11.00	$12.00	$13.50
Hood only	$9.25	$10.50	$12.00

Graduation Announcements
Graduation announcements will be available in the Union Bookstore from April 1st. The following types are available:

Non-personalized white paper..... pkg. of 10 for $4.96 including sales tax

Graduate Package..... 10 announcements & envelopes
25 coordinating Thank You's
1 souvenir announcement cover

$16.67 (including sales tax)

Personalized white paper..... pkg. of 20 for $20.38 (including sales tax)
pkg. of 40 for $31.35 (including sales tax)
pkg. of 60 for $40.76 (including sales tax)

Please allow 10 days printing time for the personalized announcements. See the gift counter clerk for info.

k-state union bookstore

Wildlife may get refuge from oil

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Citing benefits to national security from possibly vast pools of oil to be found, Interior Secretary Donald P. Hodel recommended Monday that Congress open an Alaskan wildlife refuge to oil drilling.

The recommendation to open 1.5 million acres of the 19 million-acre Arctic National Wildlife Refuge on the Arctic Ocean along the Yukon border was no surprise. Hodel, a former energy secretary, has long sought ways to increase domestic oil and gas production.

But he will likely face long odds in getting Congress to approve his recommendation.

Hodel said he firmly believed the successful development of the

Prudhoe Bay field 100 miles to the west of the refuge showed that "oil and gas activities can be conducted on the coastal plain of the arctic refuge in a manner consistent with the need to conserve the area's environmental and wildlife values."

The chief environmental threat has been seen as disturbance to preferred calving grounds of the 160,000-strong Porcupine caribou herd. "If you're sensitive in the way you proceed, there doesn't have to be any adverse impact," Hodel said.

He noted that environmental groups predicted disaster for caribou before the Prudhoe Bay-Valdez pipeline was built, but the caribou herd at Prudhoe Bay has since tripled.

No one knows yet whether there is oil under the refuge. The department's geologists say there is a 19 percent chance that commercially producible oil is there.

And if that oil is there, there is a 95 percent chance it is 600 million barrels — 100 days worth of crude imports — and a 5 percent chance it is 9.2 billion barrels, roughly the size of the Prudhoe Bay field, source of one barrel in five of current domestic production.

Hodel faces an uphill fight persuading Congress to allow drilling in the refuge. Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., chairman of the House Interior Committee, is one of 78 sponsors of a bill to turn the 1.5 million acres into a wilderness area in which all development would be permanently banned.

'Arizona' brother-producers see artificiality in America

By GARY JOHNSON
Collegian Reviewer

Don't let its terrible TV ads turn you off. "Raising Arizona" is one of the most ingenious comedies to come along in years.

Film Review

In the tradition of their first film, "Blood Simple" (a brilliant tongue-in-cheek thriller), directors/producers Joel and Ethan Coen have crafted a gloriously self-conscious film. But this time, the world they create is sunny instead of seedy. It's a world with a culture of junk, and the Coens seem to genuinely love junk — convenience stores, plastic lawn chairs, mobile homes, disposable diapers, etc. Some filmmakers might have made this culture seem disgusting, but the Coens wisely avoid such facile judgments and instead revel in the artificiality of America.

This helps make "Raising Arizona" an absolutely hilarious comedy. The plot is amazingly convoluted, but the Coen's tell their story with amazing narrative economy. It's the story of H.I. "Hi" Mc Dunny and his wife Edwina ("Ed"). Hi (Nicolas Cage) keeps robbing convenience stores and getting caught. Edwina (Holly Hunter) is always the booking officer. Over the years they gradually fall in love and marry. All of this happens before the opening credits even begin to roll.

Soon after they're married, Ed finds she's "barren," or to use Hi's nutty vernacular, "Her insides were a rocky place where my seed could find no purchase." With Hi's prison record, they can't adopt, but they most definitely want a child (a "critter" Hi says).

So when they hear that the wife of Nathan Arizona, the unpainted furniture king of the Southwest, has just given birth to quintuplets — "more than we can handle," Nathan is quoted as saying by the press — Hi and Ed decide to steal themselves a child. "It'll bother them at first," Hi says, "but they'll get used to it."

"Wacky" is the key word when describing "Raising Arizona." Virtually every scene (virtually every camera shot!) contains a strange twist. During the theft of the baby, cinematographer Barry Sonnenfeld slides the camera over the incredibly blue carpet at the eye level of a baby. The quintuplets smile, coo and scramble across the floor while Hi looks for the "pick of the litter."

Once Hi and Ed have the baby, their problems only get worse. First, Hi's prison chums, Evie and Gale, tunnel out of jail during a thunderstorm, screaming as they emerge from the mud like two demons from hell. They hide out in Hi's mobile home and soon realize where Hi and Ed got the baby. So with the reward on their minds — "It's strictly business, Hi" — they kidnap the "critter."

But there's also a bounty hunter (Randall "Tex" Cobb) looking for the baby. Hi sees him in a dream — the Lone Biker of the Apocalypse. He's tougher than any villain Mad Max ever faced.

None of the film's characters has much depth, but as in cartoons, the filmmakers make up for this by providing virtually non-stop action, as well as a visual style as audacious as anything Hitchcock ever attempted.

In this film, virtually anything goes as long as it looks nutty and doesn't detract from the plot. This is bound to seem indulgent, but the film is so full of energy its indulgences become charming, even welcomed. In a time when so many comedies look the same, as if they're cranked out on an assembly line, the inspired looniness of "Raising Arizona" seems like a godsend.

Hayden names utility board

By The Associated Press

WICHITA — Gov. Mike Hayden appointed a 15-person advisory board Monday and asked members to recommend ways consumers can be represented during utility rate cases.

"Consumer representation is a vital ingredient in the regulation of utility companies," he said during a Wichita news conference.

Some of the private individuals appointed to the Consumer Utility Ratepayers Board were involved in Kansas Corporation Commission hearings in the Wolf Creek nuclear generating station case that set the electric rate increases allowed for the plant's three utility owners.

"From reviewing the Wolf Creek rate order, it's obvious that the commission relied on testimony from the intervenor witnesses in certain instances and when making their final decision, granted utilities less than their staff had recommended," Hayden said.

The governor said he hopes the board can have its first meeting in May. He has asked the group to report its recommendations by Jan. "Their charge is to recommend to me a system that will provide regular and ongoing consumer representation in the utility regulatory process," he said.

Hayden said he expects the board to look at how consumers are involved in the ratemaking process in other states.

Besides private citizens, the board includes utility representatives, state officials and several state legislators.

Consumer members appointed Monday are: Margaret Bangs, Wichita, a longtime ratepayer activist; Sedgwick County Commissioner Dave Bayouth, Wichita, who was involved in the Wolf Creek case as a businessman; Donna Kidd, Topeka; Linda Weir-Enegren, Wichita, a Wolf Creek case participant; and Terry Presta, Garden City.

Utility representatives are: Jack Goodman, Hays, Midwest Energy; Jim Haines, Wichita, Kansas Gas and Electric Co.; Treva Potter, Topeka, Peoples Natural Gas; Jeff Russell, Topeka, United Telephone.

KCC Chairman Keith Henley and Sue Peterson, Hayden's executive assistant, will represent the executive branch of state government.

Subway
Sandwich Shop

We Deliver!
537-DELI

WOMEN:

Peace and Prejudice

Saturday, April 25
1 p.m. Union 213
Admission FREE

Panel sponsored by
The Baha'i Club

GLAFLIN
Books & Copies

- Professional Resumes
- 4¢ Self Service Copies
- Full Service Copy Center
- Quality Dissertation Copying

OPEN DAILY
M-F 8-9 Sat. 9-5 Sun. 12-9
FirstBank Center Denison & Claflin
776-3771

Enjoy smooth, creamy
Frozen Yogurt

that tastes like Ice Cream
but with 80% less fat!

—FREE SAMPLES—

I Can't Believe It's
YOGURT!
Frozen Yogurt Straws

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily
Noon-11 p.m. Sundays
Neotus Towers—Aggieville

The KSU 4-H Department
201 Umberger Hall

announces it has the best secretarial staff on campus
Happy Secretary's Week to:

JEAN PAQUETTE
GEENE SCOTT

DIANA TAYLOR
GEORGIA WERTZBERGER

You're the Greatest!

PUTT-PUTT
GOLF COURSES
For the fun of it!
—J.C. Penney—

FORGET SOMETHING?

New yearbooks
will arrive soon
(May 4-6)

We need to clear space
for the 1987 yearbook!

These are just a few of the people who still haven't picked up their 1986 Royal Purple Yearbooks:

Curtis Sneden	David Steider	Jami Strong	Jeff Taylor	Kathleen Tompkins	Sanford Tucker
Mike Snell	Douglas Stein	Craig Stull	Robert Temple	Anthony Townsend	Brad Underwood
Judy Sowers	Julie Stephens	Anthony Sturgeon	Rebecca Thiel	Mick Tranbarger	Rodney Urbanek
Darren Squires	Todd Stephenson	Gregory Sustrick	John Thimesch	Jami Travelute	Scott Valentine
Pamela Stahl	Alan Suter	Mara Suter	Michael Thompson	Cherie Trentman	Phillip Van Hoet
Ron Stahl	Linda Stigge	Paula Swann	Richard Thorp	Lynn Trifonoff	Amy Vanlandingham
Stephen Stanberry	Elizabeth Stietzel	Deanna Sweat	Douglas Thurlow	Kathy Troutletter	Clifford Veatch
Karl Stander	Jill Stone	Beverly Tanner	Mary Tiffany	Humberto Trueba	Kirk Vespstad
Deborah Starr	Daniel Strang	Diane Taylor	Dwight Tolar	Craig Tryon	Arzula Vallery
Lawrence Stegman	Dale Strickler	Gregory Taylor	Albert Tolman	Jana Tucker	Elizabeth Vogel

Bring your KSU ID to Kedzie 103 M-F 8-5 p.m.

Career and Leadership Conference

Tuesday, April 21

KSU Union—2nd Floor

Workshops Begin at 2 p.m. (Attend all or some)

Workshop Topics Include:

- Interviewing Tips for Business World
- Interviewing Tips for Human Services
- Your Public Image
- What makes a successful manager?
- Making It Work: Career Couples and Family
- Career Myths
- Asserting Yourself
- Leadership Development
- Non-Technical Careers at Hallmark Cards
- How Careers Evolve and Change
- How to "Network" Into Your First Job

Come to 2nd Floor of Union to get your
Complete Workshop Schedule

Sponsored by: Human Ecology Student Council
Dean's Office, College of Human Ecology
Career Planning and Placement Center

MAKE YOUR MARK IN DOWNTOWN HISTORY

HAVE YOUR NAME ENGRAVED ON A BRICK PLACED IN THE MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER PLAZA

- Cost is $20.00 per brick (Tax Deductible)
- Individual and Family Names Only
- Names limited to 20 characters, including spaces
- No requests for specific locations of bricks within plaza will be accepted; Payment Guarantees Original Placement of Brick only
- Deadline for orders is 5:00 pm Friday, April 24.
- No phone orders accepted; Coupon must accompany each order. Coupons are also available at the Chamber Office, City Hall, the Public Library and the Main Street Office.

MANHATTAN
MAIN STREET

MAIL OR BRING COUPON & PAYMENTS TO:
MANHATTAN MAIN STREET, 110 N. 4th Street
MANHATTAN, KS 66502
For More Info Contact Sally (913) 537-9683
Hours: Mon-Fri 8-5
including noon hour

Please Type or Print Clearly Order Deadline—5:00 p.m. Friday, April 24

Name _____ Daytime Phone _____
Address _____ City _____ State _____ Zip _____

To Be Printed on Brick _____

Signature _____

Cash or Check Accepted Cost $20.00
Payable to Manhattan Main Street
Your Cancelled Check will be your receipt unless otherwise requested

One coupon per order
Payment must be enclosed

Mail or bring to: Manhattan Main Street Project
110 N. 4th
Manhattan, KS 66502
Open Mon-Fri 8-5 p.m. including noon hour

LAST CHANCE TO ORDER

For office use only CASH CHECK No. _____ DATE RECEIVED _____ INITIAL _____

'Oyster capital' may be broke at year's end

By The Associated Press

SOUTH BEND, Wash.— People in Pacific County boast about the surf on their shore, the history in their hills and the oysters in their estuary, but they've finally had to admit that a little piece of paradise is about all they've got left.

By January, the county might be so broke its government will simply collapse, a prospect its 17,200 citizens greet with reactions ranging from skepticism to indifference, with a little black humor on the side.

"The light at the end of the tunnel," some county officials say, "is the train coming this way."

This year's county budget is $7.6 million, down from $9.5 million last year. At the end of this year, the county expects to have only $600,000 left.

Not everyone worries. People who live here agree money is a nice green thing, but so are the pines blanketing the Willapa Hills. Then there's the Pacific Ocean bumping up against 28 miles of tranquil beach on Long Beach Peninsula.

And there are the oysters. South Bend, about 120 miles southwest of Seattle, calls itself the "Oyster Capital of the World," and on a typical spring day 100 openers can shuck 250,000 of the slimy morsels at the Coast Oyster Co.

"It's never too hot. It's never too cold. The grass is green. You couldn't starve a person here if you tried to," said County Commissioner Dave Wolfenbarger. "It's paradise."

When he was a child during the Depression, his parents would load up their Model-T with vegetables and trade produce for shoes in town. Today, loaded logging trucks still rumble along county roads and the county grows more oysters than anywhere else in the world, but such bounty doesn't pay the bills like it did in the '30s.

Last week, Wolfenbarger and his two fellow commissioners asked the Legislature to rescue the county either by reducing the services it must provide, like maintaining jail and courts, or allowing it to file for bankruptcy.

"We simply sent them notice to remind them that there's a major portion of government called local government which serves the people, and don't ignore it," County Administrator Vyrle Hill said. "Because your ignoring it in the recent past has placed almost all local government on its knees."

A legislative commission has been studying the economic woes of local governments ever since Pacific County announced it was in trouble two years ago.

Timber revenues, once a third of the county's tax base, have dropped from $2 million in 1981 to $250,000 in 1986 because of a state-mandated change in a forest excise tax formula. It lost an additional $250,000 a year when Congress eliminated revenue-sharing last year.

At the same time, its insurance premiums jumped from $62,000 to $250,000. Telephone deregulation in 1984 pushed its phone bill up 1,000 percent. During a recent strike at Weyerhaeuser, mill taxes that usually brought the county $500,000 amounted to $67.

On May 19, voters will decide whether to support a $600,000 tax levy for law enforcement. A similar levy failed in November, and if this one also loses, the sheriff's department, already down to five officers from 10, will drop to three.

"Pacific County isn't going to roll over and die. We've been kicked and we've been put down, but we're not going to stay that way," Wolfenbarger said. "If we can modernize our form of government in order to answer the needs of today, and keep welcoming the folks who want to come here and live and share our quality of life, we'll be in good shape."

But the people the county attracts aren't the ones who pay many taxes.

"By the time you take out of the population those who are less than 20 years old and those who are more than 60 years old, you don't have many people left to pay the bill," Wolfenbarger said.

"My daughter-in-law was going to get laid off from her courthouse job, so she quit. My two youngest boys can't seem to find jobs to support a family," said Betty Maneman, who works at Coast Oyster Co. "They'll leave if they have to, but they really like it here."

BUY NOW AT FACTORY DIRECT DISCOUNT PRICES!

TRUCKLOAD SALE

STEREO

Technics SANYO

TRUCKLOAD PRICE $77 $349

High Power AM FM Stereo Receiver with 35 watts of power per channel and A/B speaker switching. Model SA-130. List $180.

Complete Sanyo Home Stereo Component System features: 50 Watt Per Channel Stereo Amplifier, Quartz Digital AM FM Stereo Tuner, Dual Stereo Cassette Deck, Model SYS-560. System List Price $499.

FISHER COMPACT DISC

Dual Stereo Cassette Deck with High Speed Dubbing has Dolby noise reduction and metal tape capability. Model CRW-55. TRUCKLOAD PRICE $99

Programmable Compact Disc Player features 16 track programming, with music search and multi-function display. Model MD-140. List $200. TRUCKLOAD PRICE $84

2-Way Stereo Speaker with Titanium Laminate Tweeter features 100 watts of power handling. JBL 62. List $125 each. TRUCKLOAD PRICE $98

TRUCKLOAD SAVINGS

Harman Kardon 385i High Current AM FM Stereo Receiver $199
Technics SCA-410 Complete 100 Watt Per Channel Stereo System $547
Fisher PH-400 AM FM Stereo Cassette w/ Detachable Speakers $77
Claron 8200R Digital AM FM Car Stereo Cassette $149

CAR STEREO

SANYO

Digital AM FM Car Stereo Cassette features locking fast forward, with LCD display and a compact chassis to fit most any car. Model FT-325. TRUCKLOAD PRICE $79

AM FM Auto Reverse Stereo Cassette with 6X9 Maxxial Stereo Speakers AM FM Cassette has locking fast forward, rewind, and touch control. Complete with a pair of Pioneer's 60 watt 6X9 Maxxial car stereo speakers. KP-4440 TS-6920. List $259.

PORTABLES

SONY

Sony Walkman Stereo Cassette Player with locking fast forward, rewind and headphones included. WM-41. List $39.95. TRUCKLOAD PRICE $24

AM FM Stereo Cassette Recorder Great stereo sound you can take with you! Features: auto touch recording and soft eject. Now at great savings. Model RXFM-15. List $59. TRUCKLOAD PRICE $38

The Right Store.

WORLD RADIO

Some quantities may be limited. Sale prices good thru Saturday April 25 or while quantities last. No dealers please.

MANHATTAN
11th & Moro in Aggieville
537-4190

COUNTRY GIFT SHOP
Bears • Dolls • Folk Art • Home Decor
"East of Holidome"
Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30 539-3854
2206 Ft. Riley Blvd. Manhattan, Ka. 66502

THE GREAT WESTERN SMOKEHOUSE

INTRODUCTORY OFFER
Char-Broiled CHICKEN BREAST
$1.95
OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

Buy One SANDWICH
Get the SECOND SANDWICH for 99¢
OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

FREE
Quart of Pepsi
WITH A PURCHASE OF ANY SANDWICH & FRENCH FRIES
OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

SOUP, SANDWICH & SOFT DRINK
$2.75
OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

$1.09
HAM & CHEESE SANDWICH
OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

THE GREAT WESTERN SMOKEHOUSE
901 Seth Childs Rd. 776-0300
Village Plaza Shopping Center
For catering call 776-2222

TVS

19" Diagonal Remote Control Cable Ready XL-100 Color Television Great RCA quality and reliability with incredible features like quartz RCA's Super AccuFilter picture tube and unitized electronic tuning. RCA's X-tended life chassis. Now at a great low World Radio price! $20 PER MONTH

ZENITH 13" 25" SONY 20"

$157 $399 $477

Custom Series 13" Color Television features Zenith's quality picture tube with automatic line tuning and color control. Model 1310 08. $25 PER MONTH

25" Diagonal Electronic Tune Color Console with automatic line tuning and color control and RCA's X-tended life chassis. GMR-640. $30 PER MONTH

20" Remote Control Trinitron Stereo Monitor Receiver has cable ready quartz electronic tuning and on screen display. Model KV-2091. $25 PER MONTH

VCRS

Programmable VHS Cable Ready Video Recorder with Wireless Remote Has the features of your favorite television programs! Has the features of your favorite television programs! Don't miss another of your favorite television programs! Has the features of your favorite television programs! $25 PER MONTH

PRICE BREAKTHRU Fisher's Lowest Priced STEREO VCR

$249 $349

Panelonic

Cable Ready VHS HQ Video Recorder with Wireless Remote features 14 day 4 event programmability and one-touch recording. Model PV-1363. $25 PER MONTH

VHS HQ Stereo Video Recorder with MTS Tuner & Wireless Remote has cable ready quartz tuning, and 14 day 7 event programmable timer. FVH-919. $25 PER MONTH

TRUCKLOAD SAVINGS

Toshiba M-2430 Programmable VHS Wireless Remote Stereo VCR $277
RCA 3 Head VHS Wireless Remote Programmable HQ VCR $349
Sharp VC-797 4 Head VHS Video Recorder w/Wireless Remote $329
Sony FD-10A Pocket-Size "Watchman" Black & White TV $88
Emerson EC-10R/11W 10" AC/DC Electronic Tune Color Television $188
RCA EMR-341WR 13" Remote Control XL-100 Color Television $249

TDK

$359

AFTER REBATE Get your choice of TDK's High Standard L-750HS Beta or T-120HS VHS Video Cassette Tape. $77

maxell

$149

High Bias 90 Minute Audio Cassette Tape Stock up now on Maxell's best selling 90 minute tape. UD90-90. $99

Quality Cordless Telephone with up to 500 feet of range and tone pulse dialing. Model KXT-3815. $77

Brand New Deluxe Audio Video Entertainment Center with golden oak styled finish. 4365. List $149.95. $99

NO DOWN PAYMENT*!
NO PAYMENT TILL AUGUST!

SERVICE... Before And After The Sale!
We're here to help with any questions or problems about hooking up and using your equipment, and if you ever need adjustments or repairs, World Radio's own service department will handle them.

No down payment with approved credit. Sales tax of 4% included. Monthly payment based on our financing charge. Monthly payment: A.P.H. and interest will be charged from date of purchase. Some restrictions may apply.

'Cat tracksters break Kansas Relays' records

Kenny Harrison, shown in an earlier meet, broke Kansas Relays records in the long jump and the triple jump with leaps of 26-feet-8½ inches and 57-feet-2 inches, respectively. The marks were both season bests for Harrison.

1987 file photo

By CHASE CLARK
Sports Writer

It was a banner weekend for the K-State men's and women's outdoor track squads.

At the Kansas Relays Friday and Saturday in Lawrence, Wildcat track athletes broke six school records, three Kansas Relays marks and came back to Manhattan with what may be its best outing of the season.

"We had the best meet we've ever had here in my opinion," K-State Coach John Capriotti said. "I don't think we were lower than third in any event."

Kenny Harrison once again led the men's team on the field. He placed first in the long jump with a season-best leap of 26-foot-8½ and took top honors in the triple jump with another season-best mark of 57-2.

Both broke meet standards set last year by Harrison and were national qualifying marks.

Harrison's leap in the long jump was good enough to become the new K-State record in that event. His triple jump mark also broke the school record by 1-foot-2 but will not be officially recognized because it was wind-aided.

"My goal before the meet was to go 26 feet or 25 feet, 10 inches in the long jump and around 55 feet in the triple jump," said Harrison. "This is 100 percent more than what I expected."

K-State's Pinkie Suggs continued to be a major force behind the women's squad. She placed first in the shot put and second in the discus — setting new school records in both events.

In the shot put, Suggs' 55-4 1/4 season-best throw, set a new meet record and also was a national qualifying mark. She placed second to San Diego Track Club's Laura Desnoo in the discus, but Suggs' throw of 173-7 was also a season best.

Harrison and Suggs weren't the only K-Staters to receive top honors.

Kim Kilpatrick won the women's 110-meter hurdles with a 13.67 and set a new K-State record. Jacque Struckhoff coasted to victory in the women's 5000-meter run with a 16:38.57. Her closest competitor was Arkansas' Jackie Mota who had a 17:06.29.

The other school marks to fall at the meet were in the women's triple jump and the women's 440-yard relay. Felicia Carpenter took first in the triple jump with a 42-9. K-State's 440-yard relay team placed third with a 46.15.

Other men placing were the men's four-mile relay team, second; men's distance medley relay team, third; Jeff Reynolds, third in the 400-meter dash; John Williams, second in the 100-meter dash; Aaron Robertson, third in the 400-meter hurdles; men's 1,600-meter relay team, third; Doug Brown, sixth in the javelin throw; men's 880-yard relay team, sixth; Dan Myers, seventh in the shot put; and Dan O'Mara, seventh in the discus.

Other placers for K-State's women were Anita Isom, second in the 100-meter dash; Karen McGaughey, fourth in the long jump; Karen Brown, fifth in 100-meter dash; Joy Jones, fifth in 400-meter dash; Nancy Hoffman, sixth in 10,000-meter run; Kelly Abernathy, sixth in the discus; and Amy Dryer, seventh in the discus.

It wasn't all roses for K-State and Capriotti though. Because of several new Kansas Relays changes on the rules for qualifying athletes in the meet. Some 'Cat athletes were kept from competing in the meet — even though Capriotti said he thought they were deserving of competing.

"I would like to be back next year, but I still think they have to make some changes," Capriotti said. "I heard several major college coaches say they wouldn't be back next year and that scares me because I think this is a great place."

The Kansas Relays hosted approximately 3,500 athletes in high school, college and open divisions. Universities that competed included: Air Force, Arkansas State, Bradley, Colorado State, Drake, Illinois State, Iowa, Iowa State, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, Oklahoma State, Southern Illinois, Southwest Missouri, Montana and Wayland Baptist.

K-State's next outing will be the annual Drake Relays Friday and Saturday at Des Moines.

K-State Men's Results

Triple jump — 1. Kenny Harrison, 57.2.
Long jump — 1. Harrison, 26-8½.
Four-mile relay — 2. K-State (Brian Zwahlen, Pat Hessini, Jan Jonsson, Jim Knudsen), 16:48.78.
One-mile relay — 3. K-State, 3:06.03.
400-meter hurdles — 3. Aaron Robertson, 15.82.
100-meter dash — 2. John Williams, 10.45.
400-meter dash — 3. Jeff Reynolds, 46.33.
Distance medley relay — 3. K-State, 9:55.10.
Javelin — 6. Doug Brown, 204.9.
800-meter relay — 6. K-State, 1:25.69.
Discus — 7. Dan O'Mara, 176-5.
Shot put — 7. Dan Myers, 56.2.

K-State Women's Results

Shot put — 1. Pinkie Suggs, 55-4 1/4.
5,000-meter run — 1. Jacque Struckhoff, 16:38.57.
110-meter hurdles — 1. Kim Kilpatrick, 13.67.
Discus — 1. Suggs, 173-7; 6. Kelly Abernathy, 142-5; 7. Amy Dryer, 136.
100-meter dash — 2. Anita Isom, 11.84; 5. Karen Brown, 12.08.
Triple jump — 2. Felicia Carpenter, 42-9.
400-meter relay — 3. K-State, 46.15.
Long jump — 4. Karen McGaughey, 20-3.
400-meter dash — 5. Joy Jones, 55.58.
10,000-meter run — 6. Nancy Hoffman, 36:43.8.

Campanis loses job due to remarks but fault also found with Dodgers

Al Campanis made a big mistake and payed the price for it by losing his job.

However, the Los Angeles Dodgers may have more shame to bare than Campanis.

This baseball season is the 40th anniversary of the breaking of the color barrier among the players. In April 1947, the late Jackie Robinson burst onto the scene with the Brooklyn Dodgers. In June of that same year, Larry Doby started playing for the Cleveland Indians.

While playing minor league baseball in Montreal in 1946, Robinson played second base alongside a young shortstop named Al Campanis. The chemistry between a shortstop and the second baseman many times is the difference between one and two outs.

But Campanis, the Dodgers' former vice president, may have let his team — his team being all of baseball — down.

For 46 years, Campanis was the BILL

LANG
Sports
Writer

"wheeler dealer" of the Dodgers' organization. Some of the players he signed to play for Los Angeles include Sandy Koufax, Pedro Guerrero, Reggie Smith, Dusty Baker, Rick Monday, Ron Cey, Davey Lopes and the late Roberto Clemente.

Campanis' world came crumbling down after saying on ABC's "Nightline" with Ted Koppel on April 6: "I don't believe that it's prejudice that blacks aren't in the front office. I truly believe that they may not have some of the necessities to be...a field manager or perhaps a general manager."

In his actions Campanis slapped the face of not only blacks but those of other races. Hardest slapped was the face of his former teammate Robinson. At one point in Robinson's career, he said that Campanis was a friend among friends.

Some friend Campanis turned out to be.

While some players were shocked over Campanis' dismissal, others started looking at the Dodgers in a different light.

The Dodgers, the team that broke the color barrier 40 years ago in the spirit of promoting equality, still do not have a black employee in the front office.

If the Dodgers intend to promote equality, let's see it. If a black man is suited for the job and meets all the qualifications then let him prove it by hiring him.

If one had seen the April 6 showing of ABC's "Nightline" when all this

See COLUMN, Page 12

Injuries hampering baseball team heading into game vs. Creighton

By The Collegian Staff

K-State's baseball coach Mike Clark said the Wildcats are literally limping into their game with Creighton.

"We've got to keep plugging away. There's probably nobody in the nation that has more injuries than us, but we have just got to hang in there," Clark said.

K-State, 20-18 overall, will test Missouri Valley Conference power Creighton tonight. Game time is 7 p.m. at Frank Myers Field.

In addition to K-State's ailing pitching arms, the 'Cats will have to tackle Creighton — 25-12 overall and 7-5 in the Missouri Valley Conference — without the services of standout catcher Jeff Turtle.

Turtle sustained an ankle injury during a collision at home plate in the first game Friday with Missouri.

"He'll be out for sure today," Clark said. "We're just hoping he'll be ready to play again by Saturday."

K-State dropped three of four games to Missouri this weekend in Columbia, and the 'Cats don't have the luxury of a breather on their schedule against the Bluejays. Creighton is tied with national powerhouse Wichita State for the MVC lead.

"We know they're a pretty good ball club because they split with the University of Miami earlier this season," Clark said.

Clark said Paul Iseman, 3-3, will get the starting nod today for the 'Cats.

Creighton, coming off a four-game sweep of Illinois State, will start either Steve Plummer, Brad Kucera or Russ Mencywior. Plummer, 4-1, has pitched 26⅓ innings with an earned run average of 2.20.

He leads the Jays in saves with seven.

Kucera, a junior left-hander, is 3-1 with a 4.06 ERA. He has thrown 44 innings and paces Creighton hurlers in strikeouts with 51.

Offensively, Creighton is led by Jack Dahn. The sophomore shortstop hits .398. Dave Fleita, a junior first baseman, is hitting .392 and is the team's RBI leader with 51. Junior second baseman Chris Gadsen is hitting .368.

In the weekend series with Missouri, the hard-hitting Missouri Tigers — now in third in the Big Eight race — raked K-State's depleted pitching corps for a total of 33 runs in the four-game series.

Missouri dumped K-State 11-5, 14-8 and 4-2. K-State salvaged its lone win Saturday night with a 6-4 victory.

See BASEBALL, Page 12

Coaching preparing 'Hutch' for goal as athletic director

By TIM STALEY
Collegian Reporter

In most graduate assistant coaching positions, students trade off between the teaching aspects of the job and learning coaching procedure.

For Mike Hutcheon, graduate assistant for K-State's baseball team, the experience has been "unbelievable."

Hutcheon, who works with the middle infielders, said the most difficult part of his job is teaching players what he has done before on the playing field. But Hutcheon, a four-year letterman at Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb., knows from experience what the players are going through going from high school to collegiate baseball — especially in the Big Eight Conference.

"It's such a learning experience for me right now," Hutcheon said.

Hutcheon, or "Hutch" as the players know him, said he's "learned as much as anyone can learn as far as his age could go." He said he believes his experience at K-State has been rewarding because he is learning what players need to know and what he can teach them.

Hutcheon also said his coaching experience will work as a stepping stone in reaching his career goal of athletic administration.

"My ultimate career goal would probably be a Larry Travis (K-State's athletic director)," Hutcheon said. "I want to be an athletic director some day."

Assistant Coaches of K-State

Hutcheon said he hopes he can put in his time coaching and learning all he can about athletics before he moves into athletic administration.

He said his journey to the top will take him many schools.

"You have to go up the ladder," he said.

After graduating from Wayne

State, he was an assistant coach at Union High School in Tulsa, Okla., in 1985 and 1986. After this year, his first year at K-State, he is going to Mississippi State University, Starkville, to take a graduate assistant position.

He said he is leaving because next year the graduate assistant positions on K-State's baseball team will no longer be paid because of budget cuts and will become voluntary positions.

He said he got the job at Mississippi State when Jeff Stewart, assistant coach for K-State, arranged Hutcheon an interview there. Stewart was a graduate assistant at Mississippi State before he came to K-State to take the assistant coaching position under head coach Mike Clark.

Hutcheon said after being exposed to a Big Eight school such as K-State and going to Mississippi State and getting "spoiled" there, he believes will want to stay at the highest level of athletics that he can.

"I want to stay 'big-time' as much as possible," he said.

Staff/Rob Squires

Mike Hutcheon, graduate assistant for the K-State baseball team, believes he has had a rewarding learning experience with the Wildcats.

Brewers snare 13th straight; tie 1982 mark

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO — Paul Molitor doubled in the tying run with two outs in the seventh and scored on a single by Robin Yount, leading the Milwaukee Brewers to a 5-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox and tying a major league record of 13 straight season-opening victories.

The Brewers, who equaled the mark of 13 in a row set by the Atlanta Braves in 1982, can break the record against the White Sox Tuesday night.

Brewer starter Juan Nieves, coming off a no-hitter, was knocked out in the fifth when the Sox took a 4-3 lead. Ivan Calderon doubled to open the Chicago fifth and came around on infield groundouts by Carlton Fisk and Greg Walker. A double by Tim Lulett, a walk to Fred Manrique and an error by Nieves on Ozzie Guillen's ground ball filled the bases. Chuck Crim took over for Nieves and struck out Ron Karkovics to end the inning.

But in the Milwaukee seventh, Bill Schroeder drew a walk and pinch-runner B.J. Surhoff took second as Jim Gantner grounded out.

Crim, 2-0, got the victory, while reliever Dan Plesac came on in the ninth to get his fifth save.

Baseball

Continued from Page 11

In the opener Friday, Missouri scored nine runs in the second inning on its way to an 11-5 win. Mike Hamacher, 3-2, took the loss. Missouri slammed K-State 14-8 in the first game of a double-header Saturday, but the 'Cats bounced back to whip the Tigers 6-4 in the nightcap. Run scoring singles by Leo Seiler and Jim Donohue snapped a 3-3 tie in the top of the sixth inning to propel K-State to its two-run win. Zack Kimball, 4-2, allowed 11 hits but struck out four and stranded 10 Missouri runners to record the win.

Dean

Continued from Page 1

the Provost Search Committee and has served on Graduate Council. In addition, Klabunde was chairman of the Physical Science Subcommittee. McGlone is currently dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Mississippi State University, Starkville. He received his doctorate in interpersonal communication from Ohio State University, Columbus. At MSU, McGlone was a member of the Research Policy Committee and Advisory Council of Center for International and Strategic Studies. From 1982-84, he was the founding president of the Mississippi Council of Colleges of Arts and Sciences. Weber, chairman and professor of chemistry at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, received his doctorate in chemistry from Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. At USC, Weber was president of faculty senate from 1985-86, chairman of Admissions Committee from 1980-84 and chairman of Graduate Student Committee from 1973-81.

of the Research Policy Committee and Advisory Council of Center for International and Strategic Studies. From 1982-84, he was the founding president of the Mississippi Council of Colleges of Arts and Sciences. Weber, chairman and professor of chemistry at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, received his doctorate in chemistry from Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. At USC, Weber was president of faculty senate from 1985-86, chairman of Admissions Committee from 1980-84 and chairman of Graduate Student Committee from 1973-81.

Army flags lower to honor WW II hero, amabassador

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, a World War II hero who became chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam during the buildup of American forces there, died Sunday at age 85, the Pentagon announced Monday. The Army ordered flags lowered at all Army installations until Taylor's burial Thursday in Arlington National Cemetery. Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said Taylor will be remembered as "one of the great military men in American history" and that the four-star general "epitomize what it means to be a soldier, a diplomat and a scholar." The Pentagon said Taylor died of amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, more commonly known as Lou Gehrig's disease. He had been hospitalized since mid-January at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, where he died late Sunday.

Taylor was born in Keytesville, Mo. on Aug. 26, 1901. He graduated from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point in 1922. His World War II career was studied with stunning exploits, including a cloak-and-dagger mission to Italy to confer with Italian officers before their country's surrender. He led the 101st Airborne in its jump into Normandy on D-Day and then led his paratroopers through 73 days of combat in Holland. After the war, he became commandant of Berlin, the Army's top post in the German capital, then under the control of the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Great Britain. He commanded the 8th Army in Korea toward the end of the Korean War and was United Nations commander in the Far East. Taylor assumed the Army's top military position, that of chief of staff, in 1955, a position he held until his first retirement on July 1, 1959.

Column

Continued from Page 11

occurred, he probably would not have believed his ears; I know I didn't. What most people don't know is that during a commercial time-out Ted Koppel gave Campanis a chance to take back his comments about the porary stay blocking the deportation. Kathy Arberg, a Supreme Court spokeswoman, said Linnas' attorneys filed an application with the chief justice at 7:10 p.m., asking for a temporary restraining order. The application was denied shortly before 8 p.m., she said.

Linnas

Continued from Page 1

A friend of the Linnas family, Rein Olvet, 43, of Queens, was in the boarding area because Linnas's daughters had asked him to witness the departure.

"It seems they wanted to punish him through any means possible. That's wrong," Olvet said. "I'm not saying he shouldn't go on trial. If he did what they say he did, he should be punished."

Government sources, commenting on condition of anonymity, said Linnas was being flown to the Soviet position of the black man in baseball. Campanis declined.

It's a part of history that should be forgotten. Unfortunately, it probably won't be. Racism still exists. It didn't die out after the intense racial uprisings of the '60s. It's still alive, and it's time that it be faced head on and resolved.

After all, we're all the same underneath.

Union after a stopover in Czechoslovakia.

The deportation came hours after the Supreme Court rejected Linnas' bid to delay his deportation while his lawyers hunted for another country that would accept him.

Following the Supreme Court ruling, William Hemsley Jr., an attorney for Anu Linnas, one of Linnas' daughters, made an 11th-hour bid to obtain a temporary restraining order from U.S. District Court and the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington but was turned down in both courts.

He then appealed in vain to Rehnquist.

"I'm going to try everything I can to save my father," said Ms. Linnas.

"He's been wrongly deported to die. If my father isn't shot immediately, the Soviets will stage one of the flashiest show trials the world has ever seen," she said outside the U.S. courthouse.

"Hitler's and Stalin's ghosts are probably having a nice toast right now," she said.

Police

Continued from Page 1

cedures of the system." He said he wants to "reassure the community that the 911 system will be as reliable as humanly and technically possible."

Johnson said he is aware that during "peak hours" on Friday and Saturday nights, more officers are needed. He said he has requested two additional officers in the 1988 budget, although he said it is impossible to know exactly how many officers will be needed at any one time.

A suicide note found with the body said Lohmeyer had tried to kill himself by slashing his throat. District Coroner Robert Cathey said there were superficial lacerations on both wrists and the front part of the neck, according to the Associated Press.

The Associated Press also reported that police retrieved a computer disk marked "suicide" with the body. It began with a message that said: "I've always been suicidal, and this seems to be a good time to follow my tendencies."

Lichtenhan has been a Riley County 911 dispatcher since February 1986 and "his employment record is good," Johnson said. Lichtenhan will be retrained and placed on probation for a year after his suspension period.

Johnson said the April 10 event "has nothing to do with the pro-

Classifieds

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3.25, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No advertising will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-8555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

01

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour products. Free facial, call Fions Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (119-150)

FIELDS OF FAIR—We are now open for the season and are taking bookings for barn parties, hall and farewell parties, barbecues, cookouts, promotion parties, reunions, graduation parties and weddings. Phone 539-5328 (125-150)

SUMMER WORK—Find out how two K-State students made over $11,000 between them in a sales and business management program last summer. Must be willing to relocate. Call 776-2564 (136-140)

LATE NIGHT WITH COLLEGE LIFE

Tonight at 10
Sigma Chi Fraternity
1224 Fremont

Sponsored by Campus Crusade For Christ

MARY KAY Cosmetics. Check out our new individual lip and eye colors. 539-9469. Janet Milliken. (138-150)

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE offered to lead singers in choir—Fall 1987. Application deadline May 1. Call First Lutheran Church, 537-8532. (139-141)

LAMBDA CHI Crescents—Please meet at Lambda Chi house at 9:30 tonight for last meeting of the year. It's very important. Please bring your check-books. (139)

ATTENTION

02

73 OVERWEIGHT people needed to try new chocolate, vanilla and strawberry herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Call 776-5114, 776-1465 (120-139)

OVERWEIGHT? WANT to feel better? New chocolate, vanilla and strawberry herbal weight control program available. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Get away from diet jitters. On campus daily 784-6065 evenings/weekends (132-150)

FOR RENT—MISC

03

RENTAL TYPEWRITERS—Correcting and non-correcting. Typewriter ribbons for sale, service available. Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-1413. (271f)

INEXPENSIVE, SELF-storage units. Why take all your stuff home this summer? Three months storage only $60. Amherst Self Storage, 776-3804. (138-150)

FOR RENT—APTS

04

TWO AND three bedroom near campus. Central air and one-half bath. Available June and August. 537-8800. (110f)

LOOKING FOR nice but reasonably priced apartments? One, two, three and four bedroom apartment complexes and houses for now, summer and fall. Most newly new and close to campus. 537-2919, 537-1666. (111-146)

AVAILABLE JUNE or August, almost new, three-bedroom, one and one-half bath, fully equipped kitchen. Call 537-2295. (112f)

ONE LARGE bedroom, completely furnished, laundry facilities in the complex. One block from the campus. 5390. Call 537-7980. (112f)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, close to campus. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities in the complex. Available August. $420. Call 537-7810. (112f)

FREE RENT last month of yearly lease. Ten months available in August. Various locations, no pets. After April 1 call 537-8389. (119f)

BLOCK WEST of campus, June or August, one bedroom, furnished, $240. Call 539-5051 after 1 p.m. or see Dave, apartment 4, at 1024 Sunset. (131f)

ONE-HALF block east of campus, 1212 Thurston for June, two-bedroom, furnished, up to three people. $330. Phone 539-5059 after 1 p.m. (131f)

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM, five blocks from campus. Air conditioning. Available August 1. No pets. $325. Phone 776-0181. (121f)

PRE-LEASING ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. One bedroom, near campus, $275 to $290. Two bedroom near campus, $335 to $355. Call 776-9124. (122f)

GOOD SELECTION of one and two-bedroom apartments available for June or August leasing. Call McGilough Development, 776-3804. (123-146)

AVAILABLE NOW and August. Unfurnished one-bedroom, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets. $265 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

AVAILABLE FOR June or August—Furnished, large two-bedroom with off-campus location. Dishwasher, disposal, central air, carpeting throughout. No pets. $350 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

LARGE THREE-bedroom in a nine-plex with large closets, living room, dining area, fully-equipped kitchen. $150 each for three, $125 each for four. 822 Fremont. Available June 1, 1987. Call 537-7087. (127f)

UNIVERSITY TERRACE—Two- and three-bedroom apartments, swimming pool, spacious yard, laundry hookups and facilities. On the bike path to University. 537-2096. (127-147)

AVAILABLE, LARGE two-bedroom apartment, newly decorated June 1, $360, plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, nice, large three-bedroom basement apartment, newly remodeled. $330 plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE, THREE-bedroom apartment, June 1, $400 plus utilities. Nice, newly decorated. 776-8393. (130-146)

(Continued on page 13)

You Can't Pay More than $44.95!

Complete Eyeglasses

SINGLE VISION

$24.95

BIFOCALS

$34.95

Our only Extras: Cox Coating (scratch guard)-$10 and Photo Grey Extra (lenses that darken)-$10.

Payless Optical Outlet

1210 Moro, Manhattan
537-1574

M-F 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Sat. 10 a.m. - 2 p.m.

A WEEK AT KANSAS STATE

Before you leave for summer vacation, take advantage of the pre-publication price of A Week At Kansas State and order your copy in Kedzie 103. The special rate of $22.00 includes shipping costs so next September it will be delivered to your door. Start planning now for early Christmas presents for your friends and relatives.

LIMITED Special Pre-publication Offer

Please use this card and attach a check for $22.00 (plus $1.10 applicable Kansas sales tax if you are a Kansas resident, total $23.10 per book) to cover the cost of publishing, mailing and handling your copy of the book, A WEEK AT KANSAS STATE. This is a special, pre-publication price for the AWAKS book.

The book will be a 10" x 14", 168-page high-quality "coffee table" publication containing nearly 70 pages of full color. Shipping date is expected to be during September 1987, in time for the Christmas holidays next year. Fill out the card as indicated below and include a check for the proper amount and mail to: KSU Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. You will be allowed to order up to three (3) copies at this special pre-publication price, which includes shipping and handling.

I/we wish to order _____ copy(ies) of the hard-cover book, A WEEK AT KANSAS STATE, at $22.00 each (plus $1.10 applicable Kansas resident sales tax). Enclosed is a check or money order for $_____ to cover total costs of the publication, including shipping and handling. Advance orders will be shipped first (in September 1987).

Book(s) should be sent to:

Name _____

Mailing Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

A WEEK AT
OCTOBER 12 - 19, 1986

KANSAS STATE

You're Invited
1987

GRAD NIGHT

DICK EDWARDS
FORD - L/M - MANHATTAN, KS
E. Hwy. 24

E. Hwy. 24, 1 mile past K-Mart
FRIDAY NIGHT, APR. 24
7-9 p.m.

!!DOOR PRIZES!!

- Cash, T-shirts, Soft Drinks and Snacks.
- Register to win, use of a new '87 T-Bird during Grad Week
- FREE Demo Rides

WHY A FORD???

- $400 from Ford for down payment
- 120 days before first payment
- Pre-approved credit for college grad
- No previous credit necessary

Call for additional information 776-4004

KEY TO YOUR FUTURE

Ford Motor Credit Company

(Continued from page 12)

LARGE TWO-bedroom. Nice, close to park and Aggieville. Private courtyard, parking, dishwasher, disposal. Available August 1. Phone 537-4648. (1311f)

NICE ONE-bedroom in complex on the corner of Lee and Hunting. $325 or $340 with fireplace, June or August leasing. No pets, please. 776-3804. (1311f)

915 1/2 CLAFIN, walk-out basement, completely furnished two-bedroom. Redecorated August 1986, ample parking. Heat, water, trash paid. $340/month. One-year lease June 1st. 539-3085 or 539-6133. (1311f)

COMPLETELY FURNISHED, large basement apartment, suitable for two or three. Available June 1st. Everything paid $400/month. 539-6133. (1311f)

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT $190 per month. Gas, heat, and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (132-142)

NOW LEASING for fall—Next to campus, (near Haymaker Hall), two bedrooms in luxury apartment complex, fireplace, laundry, modern kitchen, natural gas heating. Evenings. 539-2702. (134-150)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, one block from university. Available June 1. Phone 539-2857 or 539-0140. (134-142)

1200 RATONE—Two bedrooms, stove refrigerator. No pets. $320. Karen/Fockers. 539-1640 or 539-6945. (135-139)

DUPLEX, Two bedroom, very nice. Furnished, air, gas, carpeted. No pets. June 1st. Phone 537-7334. (136-140)

NOW RENTING for 1987-88 school year, two-bedroom unfurnished apartments. 1026 Blue-mont. Call 776-2092 for appointment. (136-150)

RENTING FOR 1987-88 school year, Schumann Apartments, 1119 Laramie. Luxury one-bedroom, furnished. 776-2092. (136-150)

NEAR K.S.U., three-bedroom, furnished basement apartment. Central air, washer and dryer, utilities paid. $480. Call 539-0368 after 6:30 p.m. (137-146)

MAY OR JUNE, one-bedrooms, $205-$235. Phone 539-8423 after 6 p.m. (135-150)

KSU Students Top Quality

Summer and Fall apartments now available. 1/2 block from KSU in newer building. Central A/C, dishwasher, decks (w/ or w/o). Parking permit, furnished and unfurnished.

$360-$399

Lease now while we have our best units available
776-1222

After 5 p.m. and weekends—537-2098

FOR AUGUST, next to KSU, deluxe furnished two-bedroom apartment. Also, one-bedroom apartment. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (1381f)

NICE THREE bedrooms. One block to campus. August lease, furnished. Call Larry, 539-4641. (138-140)

ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment. Near City Park, deposit, no pets. $200/month. Call 539-7677. Available June 1st. (138-142)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. One-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $195/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $230/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

814 THURSTON Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $300/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

COMPLETE FIRST floor of large apartment house. 724 Poyntz. Will accommodate three-four students. Unfurnished, no pets. 537-8389 for appointment. (1371f)

1 1/2 BLOCKS from campus, across from Aggieville, two-bedroom apartments, available June 1st. Furnished or unfurnished. 539-5702 after 5 p.m. (137-141)

CENTENNIAL APARTMENTS—1832 Clafin Road (across Goodnow, Marietta Halls), luxury furnished, two-bedroom ($390). One-bedroom ($290). Phone 539-2702. Evenings. (139-150)

CLEAN, QUIET, furnished, two-bedroom apartment. Two blocks from campus. Call Jim, evenings. 776-1703. (139-142)

Fall and Summer Apartments

Great Location—Close to KSU City Park and Aggieville.

Good Quality, New Carpet, Central Air, Dishwashers, 1, 2 & 3 bedrooms, furnished & unfurnished. (New, Good Quality)

$290-$445

Call 776-1222 or 539-7260

AFFORDABLE, QUIET, clean, well-maintained, large, furnished, one- and two-bedroom apartments for non-smoking married couple, working individuals or serious students, June lease. No pets, waterbeds. 537-9686. (138-142)

ONE-BEDROOM, close to Aggieville. Available end of May. $200/month. 537-1673. (139-143)

TWO-BEDROOM, close to Aggieville. Available end of May. $340/month. 537-1673. (139-143)

LIFE and Times

Bloom County

Garfield

Peanuts

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 Aug. follower

5 Well for the well-to-do?

8 Pattern river

13 — It Be"

14 Lily plant

15 "People's Party"

17 Standard

18 Tourist guide

19 Main course

21 Rose essence

24 "Jolly Roger" crewman

25 Mountain lake

26 The common people

30 — pro nobis

31 Angry

32 Republican Party

33 Light, puffy muffins

35 Heraldic bearing

36 Lobbyists' orgs.

37 Garden tool

38 Unruffled

41 Onassis

42 English river

43 Talkative egotist

48 Donate

49 Parson

50 Alleviate

51 Coaster

52 Family member

53 Merganser

DOWN

1 Soak up

2 Tokyo, once

3 Vigor

4 Author

5 Lap

6 Footlike organ

7 Tries

8 Fire-place ledge

9 Swan genus

10 Learning

11 Attica township

16 Gibbon

20 New, in Bonn

21 Above

22 Source of poi

23 One type of door

24 Flies

26 Maxims

27 Taj

28 Word before cuts or cream

29 Fencing sword

31 Lend of tennis

34 Unwrapped

35 Supposes

37 — Lanka

38 Declines in price

39 Like

40 Wander

41 Sacred bull of Egypt

44 Yes, in Paris

45 Fruit conserve

46 Enzyme

47 Ever-green

Solution time: 24 mins.

MAP SPA VALOR
ALA ORO ERODE
GIN BARBEQUE
ICE SITU
CELL SAL CAPS
ATOMS BARBEL
BARBED TEA
CUES TERRA MASK
BARBER KING BEN
ADIOS EREBE AND

Yesterday's answer

4/21

CRYPTOQUIP

Z L M P G H I Z O Y O V C G T V T H U
Y L V H C O N U O M K L P
Z O K R I C R I O N Z T I
V L U O V C T L U I

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: LEARNED EYE DOCTOR'S RECOMMENDATION TO IMPROVE VISION: PLENTY OF SEE FOOD?

Today's Cryptoquip clue: U equals N

Now Renting HORIZON III 1212 Bluemont

(across campus & Aggieville)

- 2 Bedrooms
- All appliances
- Extended Bath
- Quality throughout
- June & August Occupancy

CALL

776-6791 or 539-8401

FOUR-BEDROOM, large, available June 1, year lease, phone Dixie, 539-1498. (1391f)

MONT BLUE APARTMENTS

2 & 12 month leases

- 1 & 2 Bedroom Apartments and Townhouses
- Close to campus

539-4447

EFFICIENCY, TWO rooms and bath. Across street campus. Available August 15. Phone Dixie, 539-1498. (1391f)

Moore Management NOW RENTING APARTMENTS

(All Close to Campus!) PRID-MOR APTS.

1215 Bertrand 2-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, dishwasher, furnished $450

RAINTREE APTS.

1010 Thurston 2-bedroom, furnished, fireplace, dishwasher $375-450

VILLA II 526 N. 14th 1-bedroom, furnished $270

PHEASANT RIDGE 923 Fremont 2-bedroom, dishwasher $350

For info call 539-1642 or 537-4567 after 7.

Call for special summer rates.

TELE-FIND Landlords! List your rentals, only $20 per month on our computerized classified ads! 539-2255. (139-143)

FOR RENT—HOUSES 05

ONE—TWO—THREE bedroom houses, starting June occupancy. Unfurnished, good condition, clean, appliances. 537-1269. (1071f)

AVAILABLE JUNE, four-bedroom, two-bath, one block east of campus. $500/month, lease and deposit. 539-3672. (130-140)

SMALL HOUSE near campus in June. Fireplace, laundry hook-ups, offstreet parking. $390, yearly lease. 537-8389. (1331f)

FOUR-BEDROOM house, garage, close to Aggieville, one-year lease. 537-8928 after 6 p.m. (137-146)

TWO-THREE girls to share house. $150, plus utilities. Own room. Nice and close to campus. 776-1406. (137-141)

HUGE THREE-level duplex. One block from campus. Three bedrooms, two baths. $400/month plus utilities. Available now. Call 1-823-3040. (137-150)

ONE—THREE non-smoking roommates. Prefer Vet or Animal Science majors to share modern farm-house. Free stall and pasture for horse, cow, dog, Beef, eggs, wood, skiboat furnished. Reply P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan. (136-150)

TELE-FIND Landlords! List your rentals, only $20 per month on our computerized classified ads! 539-2255. (139-143)

AVAILABLE AUGUST, Spacious four-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, carpeted, air conditioned. Low utilities. $550. Phone 539-6202. (139-143)

AVAILABLE JUNE, Quality, four-bedroom, two baths, air conditioned, carpeted, washer, dryer, fenced yard. This place is special! $595. Phone 539-6202. (139-143)

FOR SALE—AUTO 06

1975 VOLVO 245, new injectors, water pump, struts, cassette stereo, seats. $1,950 or best offer. 537-0660. (138-140)

1974 TOYOTA Corolla SR-5, good deal! $350. Telephone 532-3552 anytime after 3 p.m. (139-150)

TELE-FIND Selling your car? List it on our computerized classified ads! Only $20 per month. 539-2255. (139-143)

1976 CHEVROLET Vega hatchback, 5-speed, 47,000 miles. Good school car! Phone 776-7541. (139-143)

1969 VW van, runs well, few dents and very little rust. $400. Phone 539-1956 early am or evenings. (139-143)

FOR SALE—MISC 07

PEAVEY BASS with hard case. Excellent condition. $250. Call 539-2387. (138-140)

COOL COTTON SLEEPWEAR available at:

UNDERCOVER 1224 Moro Aggieville

Mon.-Fri. 10-5:30 Sat. 10-5

OPEN THURS. TIL 8 SUNDAY 1-5

LEATHER MEMBERS Only jacket $99.40, excellent shape $90. Retail $160. Call 539-4307 evenings. (138-140)

Tuesday Burger Bash 25c H.P. Burgers 75c draws 4-7 p.m.

THE COTTON CLUB 418 Poyntz

TUESDAYS RIB-IT NITE ALL YOU CAN EAT $3.95

Sub of the Week BELLYBUSTER

The Best Submarine Joint in Aggieville

AL'S DELI

South of Baskin Robbins FOR SALE—MOBILE HOMES 08

1983 OAKBROOK 16 x 60. Range, refrigerator, central air, ceiling fans. Deck on two sides. See to appreciate. 539-6252. (134-143)

FOR RENT or For Sale: 10 x 50 mobile home. Stove, refrigerator, air. Unfurnished. 537-7622 after 5 p.m. (134-147)

NICE THREE-bedroom, 12 x 65 mobile home. Central air and heat, washer, dryer, garbage disposal. Close to campus. Partially furnished if desired. Call 539-1315 after 5 p.m. (135-139)

FOR SALE, 1972 Revere, excellent condition, two-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, washer, dryer, air, partially furnished. Call 316-241-6054, working hours. (135-144)

1977 SHULT, 12 x 55, two bedrooms, central air, washer/dryer, shed, dog pen, real nice, great for student or couple. 532-6285 or 494-8391. (137-139)

1971 PEERLESS 12 x 50, furnished, $2,500. Available after graduation. Located at Northcrest. Call 539-6401. (139-141)

FOR SALE—MOTORCYCLES 09

1981 HONDA C-70 Passport. Yellow. 3,450 miles. Campus cruiser. Bought car, need money. $400. Phone 532-5497. (136-139)

1980 KAWASAKI 750 LTD, low miles, excellent condition. $850. Phone 776-4266, afternoons and evenings. (137-141)

1983 KAWASAKI 550 LTD Low mileage. Call 539-9395 for details. (138-142)

1981 YAMAHA 650 Special, 5,000 miles. Excellent condition. $1,000. Call 537-2305 after 6 p.m. (139-143)

TELE-FIND Selling your motorcycle? List it on our computerized classified ads! Only $20 per month. 539-2255. (139-143)

HELP WANTED 13

EARN $480 weekly—$60 per hundred circulars mailed. Guaranteed. Work at home and participate in our Company project mailing circulars and assembling materials. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to JKB Mailing Company, P.O. Box 25, Castaic, California, 91310. (117-148)

FLEXIBLE HOURS and work mostly on your own for apartment owner. Work will include mowing yards, trimming bushes, cleaning apartments, carpentry repair, maintenance, roof repair and/or painting and other similar work. Work can begin immediately and through the summer months and could continue for the next school year. Prefer college student who qualifies for college work study program. Please send name, address, phone number, number of hours of work desired, wages expected and previous work experience to Box 5 1/4 College. (133-142)

FULL AND part-time help! National Firm is preparing for Spring and Summer work. If accepted, you will earn $8.10 starting. Some evening and weekend positions are available and some flexibility is allowed during final exams. If you qualify, corporate scholarships are awarded, internships are possible, and you may earn 2, 3, 4 credits/quarter or semester. During summer break full-time work is available. Call (913) 345-9675 Monday-Friday between 9 a.m.-5 p.m. (135-148)

LIVE-IN NANNY Wanted—Need mature adult, non-smoker, driver's license, enjoys children, room and board, good salary, weekends free, 9-12 month commitment, Kansas City area. Call collect 913-648-7404. (136-140)

WANTED: STUDENT applicants for "Troubleshooter" positions. Will hire to start this summer/fall 1987. Job requirements include: full time student—must live in especially designed residence hall room w/private entrance—able to work eight hours per week, days, some nights, weekends, and holidays. Apply at the Housing Maintenance office, 1548 N. Denison or call 532-6466 Monday thru Friday 8 a.m.-5 p.m. for an appointment. (136-140)

SUMMER WORK—Is your work challenging? Are you being paid what you're worth? Make $3,000 to $6,000 plus gain experience. Call 776-2564. (136-140)

HELP WANTED

Two students to work on vegetable research farm at DeSoto, Kansas (Johnson County), from May 18 to Aug. 14. Farm experience desired. Work 40 hours per week. Pay $4 per hour. Contact Dr. J.K. Greig, Department of Horticulture, Waters 214. Phone 532-6170 for appointment.

STUDENT to work as electronic technician, 12 to 20 hours/week, full-time between semesters. Help repair micros and printers. Knowledge of RS232 data communications helpful. Contact Jacques Meisner, Cardwell 23, by Tuesday, April 21, 5 p.m. EOE. (136-140)

WANTED: FAMILY wants college girl to live in for fall. Help take care of yard and house in exchange for board and room. Respond to Box 3 1/4, Collegian, Kansas State University. (136-140)

BARTENDER PART-TIME, apply in person. Bobby Ts. 3240 Kimball. (137-141)

COOK PART-TIME, apply in person. Bobby Ts. 3240 Kimball. (137-141)

BANQUET SERVER, Must be available some weekends and weekdays. Apply University Inn, 17th & Anderson. No phone calls. (137-139)

HORSE PERSON wanted to help with chores and light riding in exchange for room and board. Call after 7 p.m. 293-5273. (137-139)

NEEDED: SUMMER nannies. Free room and board. Live in Denver. $400-$800 a month salary. For more information call 303-671-7011 or write P.O. Box 147. (138-142)

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT—Travel up the wheatbelt—Deaver Custom Harvesting, Levitt, KS. Farm experience preferred but not required. 30 years' experience—references available. Phone (913) 586-2305 mornings (before 9 a.m.) and noon hours. (138-140)

NEED SITTER for three children from June 1 to July 31, two days a week. Must genuinely enjoy kids, be dependable, have own transportation. 539-7101. (138-139)

PART-TIME laborers, agricultural background help. Call 776-9401. (137-141)

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT in Johnson County. Bossier Hix temporary, contact Mary Schmidt, 776-2224 evenings. (139-140)

NEED A change of pace and environment? Spend a year or summer in the New York City area caring for children. We're looking for responsible individuals to become a loving, well-paid member of a professional family. Call or write Midwest Nanny, Inc., (914) 478-4465, 8 Jordan Road, Hastings-on-Hudson, New York 10706. (139-150)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

NOTICES 15

GAY/LESBIAN? Write for Kansas/Missouri information. Personally, P.O. Box 218, Daly City, California 94016-0218. Mailed discreetly/confidentially. (131-150)

PERSONAL 16

BLONDE, WEARING tight Lee jeans and ropers on Wednesday at 9:25 outside of Ward Hall, I'm in love. Blue Jacket. (138-139)

YOUNG STUD, looking for graduation present preferably blonde or brunette, must be female. Apply in Personals to Brian soon to be in Germany. (139-139)

TO THE guy running in the park just after 9 p.m. Wednesday. Her bark is worse than her bite. The girl on the other end of the leash. (138-139)

ROOMMATE WANTED 17

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two bedroom apartment, 1800 block Laramie. Deck, fireplace, air conditioning, large yard. 1 1/2 blocks from campus. 537-4304. (136-140)

ROOMMATE WANTED: Non-smoking female to share a two-bedroom apartment, one-half block east of campus. $150 a month plus utilities. Call 537-0911. (132-147)

NICE HOUSE, close to campus, fireplace, summer and/or fall occupancy. $130/month plus utilities. 776-1948. (136-139)

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted to share spacious house near campus, summer and year leases. 539-1820. (136-142)

NON-SMOKING FEMALE—$180/month/year, all utilities paid. Large house, central air/heat, washer, dryer, sundeck, lots of room. No pets. 539-6628. (136-150)

PRIVATE BEDROOM in Candlewood home for non-smoking female. $195/month plus deposit and share of utilities. Call 776-0433. (137-142)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two bedroom apartment. Own room. Close to campus. $165 plus utilities. June to August. Call 532-2126 or 532-5417. (139-142)

FEMALE WANTS christian roommate wanted for summer

"HOW I MADE $18,000 FOR COLLEGE BY WORKING WEEKENDS."

When my friends and I graduated from high school, we all took part-time jobs to pay for college.

They ended up in car washes and hamburger joints, putting in long hours for little pay.

Not me. My job takes just one weekend a month and two weeks a year. Yet, I'm earning $18,000 for college.

Because I joined my local Army National Guard.

They're the people who help our state during emergencies like hurricanes and floods. They're also an important part of our country's military defense.

So, since I'm helping them do such an important job, they're helping me make it through school.

As soon as I finished Advanced Training, the Guard gave me a cash bonus of $2,000. Then, under the New GI Bill, I'm getting another $5,000 for tuition and books.

Not to mention my monthly Army Guard paychecks. They'll add up to more than $11,000 over the six years I'm in the Guard.

And if I take out a college loan, the Guard will help me pay it back—up to $1,500 a year, plus interest.

It all adds up to $18,000—or more—for college for just a little of my time. And that's a heck of a better deal than any car wash will give you.

THE GUARD CAN HELP PUT YOU THROUGH COLLEGE, TOO. SEE YOUR LOCAL RECRUITER FOR DETAILS, CALL TOLL-FREE 800-638-7600,* OR MAIL THIS COUPON.

*In Hawaii: 737-5255; Puerto Rico: 721-4550; Guam: 477-9957; Virgin Islands (St. Croix): 773-6438; New Jersey: 800-452-5794. In Alaska, consult your local phone directory.
© 1985 United States Government as represented by the Secretary of Defense. All rights reserved.

MAIL TO: Army National Guard, P.O. Box 6000, Clifton, NJ 07015
NAME _____		<input type="checkbox"/> M <input type="checkbox"/> F
ADDRESS _____
CITY/STATE/ZIP _____
AREA CODE PHONE _____		US CITIZEN. <input type="checkbox"/> YES <input type="checkbox"/> NO
SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER _____		BIRTH DATE _____
OCCUPATION _____
STUDENT <input type="checkbox"/> HIGH SCHOOL <input type="checkbox"/> COLLEGE PRIOR MILITARY SERVICE <input type="checkbox"/> YES <input type="checkbox"/> NO
BRANCH _____	RANK _____	AFM/MOS _____
<small>THE INFORMATION YOU VOLUNTARILY PROVIDE, INCLUDING YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER, WILL BE USED FOR RECRUITING PURPOSES ONLY. YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER WILL BE USED TO ANALYZE RESPONSE TO THIS AD. AUTHORITY: JOUSC 903</small> A1CLJC13047NP

Army National Guard

Americans At Their Best.

Fish Story

With warmer weather comes the urge to go fishing. Once the fish are caught, it's time to start cooking. See Page 11.

Partly Cloudy

Partly cloudy today, high in the mid-60s. Mostly clear tonight, low in the upper 30s to low 40s.

The Wildcats capitalize on Creighton University errors to take an 8-6 comeback win. See Page 13.

Kansas State

Collegian

Wednesday
April 22, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 140

'Twin deficits' slow growth, economist says

By SUSAN D. BAIRD
Campus Editor

The legacy of the Reagan administration is the knowledge that the United States must reduce its deficits, said Pulitzer Prize-winning economist Franco Modigliani.

"The one urgent thing we must do is to reduce the twin deficits — the external deficit and the internal deficit," he said.

Modigliani presented the 75th Alfred M. Landon Lecture on Public Issues Tuesday afternoon in McCain Auditorium.

The result of Reagan's supply-side economic policy has ultimately increased deficits in foreign trade and domestic fiscal policy, Modigliani said.

To understand Reagan's economic philosophy, one must examine the climate at the conclusion of former President Jimmy Carter's term.

During his first years in office, Carter reduced inflation and produced a fair expansion of output, Modigliani said. In 1980, inflation had increased and output decreased, while the United States had accumulated substantial deficits totaling about 2.5 percent of the GNP, a large amount, he said.

When Reagan took office, he proposed three solutions, Modigliani said.

First, Reagan advocated a rigorous fiscal policy, including reduced spending and tax cuts within the framework of a balanced budget. Theoretically, this should have reduced inflation painlessly and stimulated a new vigorous growth of the economy, Modigliani said.

Reagan also advocated giving the American people incentives to work hard, save more and invest more. Finally, he hoped to increase the economy's efficiency by reducing regulations.

If private saving increases and government spending increases, very little is left for business to invest, Modigliani said.

But there was no decline in investment because businesses "bid up" the interest rate, he said. "By bidding up interest rates, it was able to attract capital from the rest of the world."

The result has been advantageous for foreign investors to buy American dollars to invest in the United States. They "bid up" the dollar, thus making foreign goods cheaper and American goods more expensive, he said.

As the federal deficit increased, people lost their jobs, Modigliani said.

"They actually lost their jobs because we had so much demand in other areas of the economy."

As a direct consequence of the domestic deficit, the American government developed a foreign deficit, Modigliani said.

"The whole thing has very little to do with foreigners. We cannot reduce the foreign deficit unless we reduce the domestic fiscal deficit because we do not have the resources to pay for the additional exports."

To accomplish these reductions, the government must either reduce investments or reduce personal and government consumption, he said.

A country doesn't want to reduce investments because they increase productivity, he said. Consequently, one must reduce personal consumption and government purchases, resulting in higher taxes.

"That means finding the right level for the dollar in international exchange," Modigliani said, adding that the administration's devaluation of the dollar had not yet produced the hoped for results.

"I believe they (the Reagan administration) felt once they created a huge deficit, it would be easier to cut expenditures. That hasn't been the case."

Economist Franco Modigliani and President Jon Wefald talk Tuesday while passing a crowd waiting to enter McCain Auditorium to hear the Nobel Prize winner deliver the 75th Landon Lecture.

Directors argue cost of facility

By JUDY LUNDSTROM
Staff Writer

Kansas should remain a member of the Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact, a K-State official told the Manhattan/Riley County League of Women Voters Tuesday.

Larry Erickson, professor of chemical engineering and director of the Office of Hazardous Waste Research, listed several reasons for this belief, two of which were based on economics.

One reason is the unit cost of low-level radioactive waste processing and storage would be lower if several states worked together, as opposed to each state disposing of its own wastes, he said.

Another reason is that Kansans are interested in economic development to enhance employment opportunities, he said.

"Being the host state for the storage of low-level substances is a good economic development opportunity," he said. "It can provide good employment for Kansans."

Erickson also said appropriate technology is available to store low-level radioactive wastes safely in Kansas.

"The safety record associated with low-level radioactive substances is excellent," he said in reference to workers who deal with the waste on a daily basis. The risk is not great because of the proper concern for safety, he said.

"The risks associated with farming, driving on the highway and smoking are much greater, in my opinion," he said.

Because of the economic benefits, Erickson said two Nebraska towns are currently interested in hosting the regional facility.

According to Westinghouse Electric Corp., one of the developers competing for the facility construction contract, the community which accepts the facility will receive more than $379 million in benefits for the 30 years the facility is in operation, he said.

In addition, Erickson said the host state would receive $219 million in incentives and compensation.

"There are some financial incentives relative to all this," he said.

Financial incentives and compensation come nowhere near the cost of cleanups in progress at sites where contamination has occurred,

Speaker details Central American refugee cause

By JENNIFER LINDSEY
Staff Writer

Sanctuaries and the underground railroads are speaking for the voiceless Central American refugees, said Renny Golden, last of four speakers for the Lou Douglas Lecture Series on Public Affairs.

Golden, associate professor of criminal justice at Northeastern Illinois University, Chicago, and member of Chicago Religious Task Force on Central America, spoke on "Refugees: Linchpin in Low Intensity Conflict" Tuesday night in Union Forum Hall.

Low intensity conflict is a form of warfare that began in Central America in the last two years, Golden said.

"(Low intensity conflict) is a change in the nature of war," she said. "The military is no longer against the guerrillas. Now they are against the population — the people."

"It is draining the sea to catch the fish."

Golden said the fish are the guerrillas, while the sea represents the people.

Although the conflict is termed "low intensity," it is not low intensity for the people of Guatemala and El Salvador.

"Low intensity conflict is mobile, intense and deadly," Golden said.

When the air bombardments by the military began in these countries, the people fled into the cities to be fed and clothed by the religious groups, she said. But this would not allow the military to accomplish its goal of displacing the population and breaking them down, so the religious groups are no longer allowed to provide help.

"They are just displaced refugees, living on railroad tracks, garbage dumps and in the streets," Golden said. "They have nothing."

In Guatemala, for example, 1 million Indian villages are under military control and seizure, she said.

"Since 1954, 100,000 Guatemalan Indians have been killed at the hands of their own military," Golden said. "This is what the army calls 'depopulation method' (low intensity conflict)."

Because of the situation in Central America, the homeless and poor of these countries come to the United States to seek political asylum, she said. Unfortunately, these people are consistently denied asylum.

"They are coming in exodus to anything but a promise land."

"If you are a refugee from (El) Salvador, you have a 4 percent chance of getting political asylum," she said. "If you are from Poland, however, you have an 80 percent chance." Guatemalans have a 2 percent chance, Golden said.

These people are denied political refuge because it would go directly against U.S. policy to follow the U.S. Refugee Act of 1980 in this case, she said. The act states that any person must be granted political asylum, yet the United States is arming the military in Central American countries, she said.

"In spite of the obvious examples of persecution by their governments," Golden said, "our immigration service sees these people as economic refugees, not political refugees."

Some immigration judges were even demanding proof from these refugees that they had been persecuted or were on the death list in their country, she said.

In addition to the fact that this would be difficult to prove, it is the U.S. government's rule that people are to be granted political asylum even if there is less than a 50 percent chance of persecution if they return home, Golden said.

It has been proven, Golden said, that refugees sent back to their countries of Guatemala or El Salvador have been arrested, tortured and killed by the military.

Although the U.S. government

See REFUGEES, Page 12

Lou Douglas Lecturer Renny Golden, front row left, walks along Anderson Avenue Tuesday with Mary Douglas and Kale Baldock, senior in modern languages, in a peace march for Central American refugees.

March affirms support for Central Americans

By The Collegian Staff

Following the Lou Douglas Lecture Series on Public Affairs, a majority of the audience gathered outside the Union for a candlelight march in support for Central America.

Tuesday night's lecturer was Renny Golden, associate professor of criminal justice at Northeastern Illinois University, Chicago, and member of Chicago Religious Task Force on Central America. Golden spoke on the plight of Central American refugees.

"We are expressing our disapproval of the government of Nicaragua's mass murder of its own people," said Justin Palmer, senior in philosophy and coordinator for Students in Solidarity with Central America.

Palmer led the crowd with a sign, "Peace in Central America." "I am concerned about what's happening in Central America," said Bill Dorsett, Manhattan resident.

"My involvement has to do with my frustration with Congress," Dorsett said. "It's a way to get involved without going through Congress."

The march was jointly sponsored by the Manhattan Alliance with Central America and SISCA. Dorsett said MACA is also supporting a "truck of goods" drive in support of Central America.

A Kansas farmer is driving a truck around Kansas picking up clothes and medicine to send to Central America. The truck is scheduled to arrive in Manhattan Wednesday.

"We want to raise $100 million worth of goods to counteract the (U.S.) government's $100 million of military donations to the Contras," Dorsett said.

Briefly

By The Associated Press

NATIONAL

Agents seize LaRouche affiliates

LEESBURG, Va. — Federal agents, acting under orders of a federal bankruptcy judge, seized the headquarters of political extremist Lyndon H. LaRouche on Tuesday and took control of three companies tied to him.

U.S. marshals and FBI agents also seized control of many of the LaRouche companies' offices around the country, including those in Houston; Quincy, Mass.; Washington, D.C.; and Palisades Park, N.J.; U.S. Attorney Henry Hudson said at a news conference.

A rare maneuver under federal involuntary bankruptcy laws, the move was aimed at collecting part of the more than $21 million in contempt-of-court fines levied against LaRouche-related groups by a federal judge in Boston.

Questioned about whether action would be taken against LaRouche himself, Hudson replied: "I'm going to decline to comment on that at this time." LaRouche left the country last December, and investigators say they believe he is in West Germany.

Senate endorses trail as 'historic'

WASHINGTON — The Senate passed and sent legislation to President Reagan on Tuesday to designate the Santa Fe Trail a national historic trail.

The proposal, approved by voice vote, calls for the government to develop a plan for marking and managing segments of the trail, which was a major commercial trade route with the Southwest from its opening in 1821.

Supporters of the legislation said its enactment will be a boon to historic preservation as well as helping stimulate the economies of the states through which the Santa Fe Trail passes — Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico.

The House passed the bill last month on a 403-3 vote. Most of the more than 900-mile trail, which ran from Franklin, Mo. to Santa Fe, N.M., lies on private property, and there has been no government effort to erect signs and historic markers along the route although several private organizations have made such attempts.

Congressional sponsors say one of the main goals of the bill is to restore and preserve historic sites and segments of the trail where wagon ruts remain visible.

The legislation does not call for the acquisition of additional land by the federal government. To alleviate concerns of ranchers and farmers, it also provides that no lands and easements could be acquired by the government without the consent of the owner.

Networks loosen lingerie guidelines

NEW YORK — Real women wear lingerie, and soon they'll do so in network television commercials.

The three major networks have relaxed long-standing restrictions on how lingerie could be displayed in commercials. Previously, lingerie-makers were forced to use mannequins or models in leotards to demonstrate their products.

The first new ads to reach the networks are likely to be from Playtex Inc., whose apparel division has created a pair of commercials featuring women modeling its Cross Your Heart bras.

The company said the ads are expected to begin appearing May 4. "It gives us a more contemporary, more natural way of displaying our product," said Robert Hall, a marketing executive for the Stamford, Conn.-based Playtex.

The admakers describe the commercials as tasteful, inoffensive and downright tame compared with network TV's regular programming fare, especially the soap operas, and with commercials featuring bikini-clad models in ads for diet soft drinks, fitness equipment and health clubs.

INTERNATIONAL

PLO commends attacks on Israel

ALGIERS, Algeria — The Palestinians' parliament-in-exile Tuesday hailed a surge in guerrilla attacks against Israel that coincided with a vow by PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat to maintain military pressure on the Jewish state.

"Glory and immortality for our martyrs" declared Abdel-Hamid Sayeh, chairman of the Palestine National Council, after reading out a report about guerrilla activities in south Lebanon and northern Israel's Galilee panhandle.

In another development, Palestinian sources, speaking on condition of anonymity, indicated Arafat could soon reconcile with Syrian President Hafez Assad, his main Arab foe who has tried to wrest control of the Palestinian movement.

Such a reconciliation would end two years of clashes between Syrian-backed Lebanese militias and Arafat's forces and give him the base he needs in Lebanon for cross-border attacks into Israel.

Sayeh spoke at the second session of the council, meeting in Algiers to map out a new Palestine Liberation Organization strategy after Arafat's main guerrilla rivals reunited to end a four-year feud. The move was seen as signaling an escalation in guerrilla operations against Israel.

Palestinian guerrillas and their fundamentalist Shiite Moslem allies in Lebanon's Hezbollah, or Party of God, have been stepping up attacks in recent days. Israel's military command reported that guerrillas fired Soviet-designed rockets from south Lebanon into northern Galilee on Tuesday for the third time in five days as border tension heightened.

REGIONAL

Immigrants may aid in harvesting

WASHINGTON — Foreign workers would be allowed entry to the United States to harvest wheat and corn but would be kept out if they wanted to work in cotton and soybean fields or help with milking, under proposed rules announced Tuesday by the Agriculture Department.

The proposal involves definitions of fruits, vegetables and other perishable commodities that will be used to carry out the Immigration Reform Act passed by Congress last year.

Officials said the rules would help determine the eligibility for temporary legal status of alien workers involved in seasonal agricultural jobs in the United States.

Al French, a USDA farm labor specialist, said the proposed regulations would rule out most farmers from employing alien workers. When grain producers are counted, about 78 percent of the farms who hire workers would be prevented from employing foreigners.

Crash victim's wife files lawsuits

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — Two lawsuits have been filed in U.S. District Court against Delta Air Lines by the family of an Olathe electrician who died in the 1985 crash of a jetliner in Texas that killed 137 people.

One suit filed by Susan Perdaris and her two children alleged that Delta was negligent and careless in its operations of Flight 191 and in its training of employees. A second suit was filed on behalf of her husband's estate.

Peter Pedaris, 34, was killed when the plane crashed Aug. 2, 1985, in a field near Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport as it tried to land during a thunderstorm.

The Pedaris family seeks a total of $12 million in compensatory and punitive damages.

The airline and the pilot's widow have filed a $45 million lawsuit.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CAMPUS ORGANIZATIONS are encouraged to use Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. the day before publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. Information forms are available at the table outside Kedzie 103. Forms should be left in the mailbox at the table after being filled out. All submissions must be signed and are subject to verification.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT in Holtz Hall has many services available to students, including career counseling, letter, data sheet and resume preparation advisement and others.

COORDINATED UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM IN DIETETICS applications are available in Justin 107 and are due May 1.

ALL UNIVERSITY OPEN HOUSE applications for student volunteer coordinators for the 1988 committee are available in Anderson 122 and are due by 5 p.m. Monday.

TODAY

UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIP INFORMATION will be held at 3:30 p.m. in Union 207.

ASSOCIATION OF ADULTS RETURNING TO SCHOOL meets at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

SCIENTIFIC COMPUTING INTEREST GROUP meets at 4:30 p.m. in Cardwell 119.

MINORITY ASSEMBLY OF STUDENTS IN HEALTH meets at 8 p.m. in Union 203.

THURSDAY

ECKANKAR CAMPUS SOCIETY meets at 7:30 p.m. in Union 203.

PHI BETA KAPPA will hold initiation at 5 p.m. in Union 212. A banquet will be at 6 p.m. in Union Cottonwood Room.

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF PROFESSIONAL ENGINEERS meets at 7:30 p.m. in Durland 152.

SAILING CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

EATING DISORDERS GROUP THERAPY meets at 7:30 p.m. in Lafene Student Health Center basement.

Committee to pursue new historical director

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — The Kansas State Historical Society has appointed a search committee to find a successor to Joseph W. Snell, the society's executive director, who announced he will retire next year.

Glee S. Smith, of Larned, president of the historical society, appointed a five-member search committee that began accepting applications early this month and will continue to do so until Aug. 1.

Snell and the society's assistant executive director, Robert W. Richmond, announced last summer that they both were considering retirement. Patricia Anderson, the search committee's secretary, said Tuesday.

However, Snell announced last month that he will step down on July 1, 1988 and Richmond said he would retire next February, Anderson said. Snell became executive director in 1977 after working for the society in other capacities for 30 years. Richmond, who went to work for the historical society in 1952, also is retiring after 10 years at his current job.

Members of the search team are James Forsythe, dean of the graduate school at Fort Hays State University, chairman of the committee; former Gov. John Carlin; Robert Kaul, retired Kansas Supreme Court justice; U.S. District Judge Richard D. Rogers; and John E. Wickman, director of the Eisenhower Center at Abilene.

The search committee is charged with interviewing up to five semifinalists and then recommend three finalists to the society's executive committee. The executive committee is scheduled to interview the three finalists this fall and announce a successor to Snell at its January meeting.

Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

Sub8 Staff
Sandwich Shop

We Deliver!
537-DELI

GLAFLIN
Books & Copies

- Professional Resumes
- 4¢ Self Service Copies
- Full Service Copy Center
- Quality Dissertation Copying

OPEN DAILY
M-F 8-9 Sat. 9-5 Sun. 12-9
FirstBank Center Denison & Claflin
776-3771

COUNTRY GIFT SHOP
Bears • Dolls • Felt Art • Home Decor
"East of Holidome"
Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30 539-3854
2206 Ft. Riley Blvd. Manhattan, Kan. 66502

Rocky Mountain
BONKERS
TONITE
$1.25
PITCHERS
We play the latest in
dance music, including:
CLUB NOUVEAU
PRINCE
PETER WOLF
1216 Laramie 537-9591

Dark Horse Saloon
Can You Say
Rock 'n' Roll???

$1.50 Bourbon Wells
50¢ Refills with purchase of Dark Horse Beer Glass

Sure, I Knew You Could!!!

619 N. Manhattan

Auntie Mae's Parlor
AGGIEVILLE

Wednesday
$1.50
House drinks
$2
Blended drinks
$1
Wines

616 N. 12th 539-9967

Brother's
KSU
IN AGGIEVILLE USA

TONITE
Derby Days
Kick-off Party

$2.25 Pitchers
75¢ Draws

Budweiser
Giveaways
& Auction

The Station

SECRETARY'S WEEK
FOR NATIONAL SECRETARY'S WEEK WE'RE OFFERING:

A FREE FLOWER
FREE WINE FOR ALL SECRETARIES WITH BOSSES
WED., THUR. AND FRI. LUNCHES
Reservations Accepted, Call 776-0030
1115 Moro, Aggieville

snip n' clip
HAIRCUT SHOPS®
OSCAR WINNING CUTS, STYLES, PERMS

MIDWEST'S FAVORITE HAIRCUTTERS

WORLD'S GREATEST HAIRCUT
$6
KIDS KUT $5

OPEN NIGHTS AND SUNDAYS—JUST DROP IN
VILLAGE PLAZA • 3035 ANDERSON • 539-4043

Piñata
Restaurante

Wednesday Night Special
Buy any of our 6 Dinner Combinations, & get a Medium Soft Drink, FREE
(Offer good Wed., Apr. 22, from 5 til close)

1219 Bluemont 539-3166 Open Daily at 11 a.m.

Bobby J's
Restaurant and Fundrinkery

Wednesdays (EVERY)

16 oz. T-Bone and the works $479
You Won't Believe It!!!!
5:30-8:30 p.m.
3240 Kimball—Candlewood Shopping Center
Across From Cico Park

ROCKY FORD TAVERN

TONIGHT
$2 Pitchers
We cater to walkouts, functions, etc.
Coors Light—Budweiser—Old Milwaukee Light

"YOUR DISCOUNT BEER BARN"
Go North on Tuttle Creek Blvd.
then on the back road to the Rocks
The Finest Little Tavern by a Dam Site! 537-3133

JOIN THE HUNT
RIP & MO SAY YOUR HUNT IS OVER

Join Hunt Night, TONIGHT

- 50¢ Hunt Drinks
- 25¢ Hot Dogs
- 25 FREE Prizes
- Prize Drawings Begin at 9:00pm

RIP & MO's
aggieville's rock-n-roll bar
710 N. Manhattan, Aggieville tel. 539-9706

University fosters non-sexism

By LAUREN BRUNO
Collegian Reporter

In response to reports by the Commission on the Status of Women concerning the "chilly climate" for women in the classroom, President Jon Wefald appointed a task force to enforce a non-sexist University environment.

"I'm very concerned about gender-based differential treatment of women in the University community because such treatment is in violation of our commitment to equality for all and because the negative consequences are far-reaching," Wefald said.

The possibility of gender-based differential treatment existing in the classroom is critical in the development of students throughout the education process, said Sandra Coyner, director of Women's Studies and chairwoman of the 15-member task force.

"We have a good sexual harassment policy at K-State, but we still have some problems of inequities that don't need to be called sexual harassment, but can be called sexism, or inequities frequently referred to as 'chilly classroom climate,'" Coyner said.

These are behaviors that are more subtle than sexual harassment and can't be remedied through sexual harassment complaints, she said.

Differential treatment includes differences in the quantity and/or quality of the interactions between students and faculty, Wefald said.

Specific examples of differential treatment include under-evaluation of women's contributions, different levels of encouragement and respon-

Wefald appoints task force to study local environment

siveness to a woman's contributions and inadequate advisement or insufficient encouragement of professional development, Wefald said.

"This treatment is a result of the habits we've learned from living in a sexist environment," Coyner said. "What we need to do is change those habits."

She said Wefald appointed the task force to accomplish two things: first, to establish a policy statement eliminating sexism at the University and truly create an equitable environment; and second, to create an educational campaign to raise awareness of the problem and teach new habits.

The task force comprises faculty, students, department heads and deans from among the colleges. Student involvement is critical because they have the most to gain from the work of the task force, Coyner said.

"The goal of the task force is to emphasize the positive aspects on what constitute a truly equitable educational environment and create a climate of opinion among faculty and students so that we may persuade people that this is truly a better way to teach," she said.

In the spring of 1986, Planning and Evaluations Services conducted a random sample survey of K-State women for the Women's Resource Center to assess if students felt they were treated differently from men in the classroom.

Of those responding, 18 percent said they had problems with professors telling demeaning jokes in the classroom. Twelve percent said professors made them feel foolish more often than men for questions asked or answers given, while 5 percent said they were interrupted by their professors more often than male students were.

"Classroom interaction is of most concern because there is a stereotype that women don't talk as much in class as men do," Coyner said. "Studies show that if you measure how many women and men raise their hands to respond, women students are less likely to be called on."

All students are losers in a "chilly classroom climate," she said, because female students are not able to contribute and male students don't have the benefit of their contribution.

"We might be able to reverse this process if faculty become properly supportive of women students' contributions in the classroom," Coyner said.

To accomplish this reversal, the task force will launch a University-wide educational campaign promoting a non-sexist environment.

One anticipated goal of the educational campaign is to increase faculty awareness of a sexist classroom environment and help them realize they may be teaching in this manner, Coyner said.

Furthermore, the task force plans to offer suggestions on how to change old teaching habits resulting in a chilly classroom climate, she said.

A second goal is to create awareness among students so they can inform faculty and the task force of problems and notify them of specific inequities so they may be corrected, Coyner said.

"The faculty are really committed to the students and they want the best for the University. I think their reaction to the work of the task force will be great," said Mark Lapping, dean of the College of Architecture and task force member.

As teachers and administrators, a major commitment is to help students become the best they can be, Lapping said. The goal of the task force is to help fully develop students as individuals, he said.

Lapping said people are socialized into changing habits.

"We must be educated and become more sensitive to the possibility of a 'chilly climate' in our classroom, and then we can change it," he said.

The goal of the task force is not to create a genderless environment, Lapping said. The strengths of each gender must be appreciated and celebrated, and this can be reinforced by creating equity of each in the classroom, he said.

Senate approves tentative funding

By MICHAEL MORRIS
Collegian Reporter

Student Senate tentatively allocated about $15,000 Tuesday night to four campus groups.

Association of Adults Returning to School received a $6.30 increase of Senate Finance Committee's recommendation of $249.90 to cover state car insurance so the group could attend a statewide AARTS convention in Council Grove.

The FONE Crisis Center requested $10,584.10, the same amount Finance Committee recommended.

Jeff Wing, sophomore in business, amended the recommendation to increase salaries of the director and assistant director.

According to the amendment, the director's salary would increase from $3,900 to $4,023, while the assistant director's salary would be increased from $2,475 to $2,552. After debating the issue in a closed executive session, the amendment was found unfavorable by Senate.

During review, Senate voted to table the tentative allocation to investigate concerns about liability insurance. The center's funding will be reviewed again April 28.

In addition, Students for Handicapped Concerns received a tentative allocation of $399.30. The group's request was met except for a $6 reduction for telephone costs.

Doug Oettinger, junior in business administration and Finance Committee member, said the allocation should be approved because the group serves students with temporary as well as permanent disabilities.

Sports Club Council was decreased $5,107.81 from their original request of $9,131.70. Finance Committee recommended an allocation of $4,023.89.

During the review, Kirk Caraway, senior in political science, moved to eliminate funding for the council, charging that the group is not an educational service.

Security Council approves computer system sale to Iran

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan's National Security Council has approved the sale of a $900,000 computer system to Iran, industry and administration officials said Tuesday.

The approval represents the first major U.S. transaction involving Iran since disclosures in late 1986 that the administration had been secretly selling arms to Iran.

Analysts suggested the move underscored a growing sensitivity on the part of the Reagan administration to problems faced by U.S. manufacturers of high-technology goods as they seek to compete in overseas markets.

The NSC had been asked to referee a high-level dispute within the administration over the sale.

Administration officials said the council ruled late last week in favor of Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige and Secretary of State George Shultz — and against Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

Approval of the sale of the computers, described as relatively unsophisticated devices to be used in an electric power grid, had been opposed by Weinberger on grounds the United States should not be providing any aid to the Iranian regime.

Spokesman Robert Sims said Weinberger feels "it is not in our interest to sell Iran any equipment except for humanitarian grounds."

Baldrige and Shultz contended the computer involved — the PDP-11 manufactured by Digital Equipment Corp. of Maynard, Mass. — had no military application.

A spokesman for Digital, Jeffrey Gibson, said the company was notified last Friday of the NSC action.

He said a second proposed sale involved in the dispute, a $30,000 computer add-on memory system intended for the Iranian news agency, apparently is still awaiting NSC action.

Digital itself did not apply for a license. It was requested by an affiliated Swiss company, Brown, Boveri & Co., which has incorporated the Digital units in a system it plans to sell to Iran for monitoring electric power generation.

The computer units are already in Switzerland, Gibson said. But under various trade agreements, the equipment could not be shipped from Switzerland to Iran without approval of the U.S. government.

Last month, Baldrige told a Senate Banking subcommittee he was baffled by Weinberger's opposition to the sale, saying the computers at issue "have technologies that are eight to 10 years old."

More recently, Baldrige said in an interview that his initial decision to approve the computer transaction reflected, in part, "a growing awareness that national security consists of a lot more than just military security."

"So, we should not put the very companies that we're counting on for an increase in technology at a disadvantage by unilaterally controlling products that the rest of the world doesn't," Baldrige said.

As part of his competitiveness program outlined in the State of the Union address last February, Reagan advocated less-restrictive export-control policies.

Howard Lewis, associate vice president for the National Association of Manufacturers, said 40 percent of all products currently manufactured in the United States, worth between $60 billion and $70 billion annually, "need prior approval from the U.S. government to get out of the country."

TONIGHT
Two Fers $2

TOMORROW
$1.50 Mixed Drinks
Delta Upsilon
Calendar Girls
Competition

Congratulations
Last Week's Winners
Mary Morgan
Amy Morrison
Julie Ellis

TOMORROW'S
CONTESTANTS
Tisha Pope
Kathy England
Karie Hambarger
Cindy Decker
Amy Angel
Becky Johnston

531 N. Manhattan

K-State Players Presents
Oliver Goldsmith's
She Stoops To Conquer
April 22-25
Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.

★ Call 532-6398 ★
Mon.-Fri. 12-5

Ornate Costumes! Mistaken Identity! Riotous Fun!

Introducing
new tinted soft contact lens that actually will change your eyes to any color.

Yes, even brown to blue.

Call 537-1118 for your free consultation and trial fitting.

Drs. Price, Young, Odle, and Horsch, P.A.
Optometrists
1119 Westloop Place, Manhattan, KS 66502 (913) 537-1118

PAYMENT PLANS AVAILABLE

Closed Classes — Fall 1987

REMINDER: FRIDAY, APRIL 24 IS THE LAST DAY TO ENROLL FOR THE SUMMER '87 AND FALL '87 CLASSES.

00100	03640	09530	14790	24780	26670	30630	33770	36820
00170	03660	09560	14870	24920	26700	30650	33790	36840
00370	03670	09610	15130	24930	26710	30720	33810	36850
00440	03680	09700	15150	24950	26720	31010	33860	37050
00930	03750	10980	15170	25000	26750	31020	33880	38060
01250	03760	10990	15260	25130	26770	31090	33960
01320	03770	11000	15300	25140	26780	31200	34020
01340	03780	11010	16550	25170	26790	31250	34030
01640	03790	11070	16770	25210	26800	31320	34040
01950	03850	11080	16920	25220	26810	31330	34120
02110	04160	11140	17180	25270	26820	31440	34190
02290	04570	11170	17700	25310	26840	31450	34200
02340	05020	11180	17740	25320	26900	31730	34210
02350	05140	11190	17810	25330	26910	31850	34220
02380	05160	11200	18910	25350	26920	31870	34240
02410	05170	11210	19240	25360	26940	31970	34260
02450	05180	11340	19580	25750	26960	32040	34360
02460	05390	11350	19590	25760	27000	32090	34370
02470	05430	11360	19610	25770	27040	32110	34420
02480	05440	11370	19750	25780	27050	32140	34430
02490	05460	11380	19810	25790	27060	32230	34440
02540	05470	11390	20090	25810	27070	32550	34490
02550	05500	11400	20120	25830	27080	32560	34750
02560	05510	11410	20170	25890	27090	32950	34810
02990	05580	11420	20180	25910	27210	32990	34840
03040	05590	11430	20260	25920	27220	33000	34850
03060	05610	11440	20270	25930	27230	33010	34870
03300	05690	11490	20520	25940	27250	33020	34890
03310	05700	11530	20540	25960	27680	33030	34900
03320	07550	12970	20600	25970	27720	33040	34920
03330	07590	13050	20760	25990	28350	33050	34950
03350	07690	13060	21020	26020	28940	33060	35000
03360	08020	13090	21300	26030	28950	33070	35010
03370	08050	13360	21390	26050	28990	33080	35020
03380	08070	13370	21420	26100	29060	33090	35050
03390	08180	13380	21430	26130	29200	33100	35600
03470	08260	13460	21490	26140	29560	33110	35610
03480	08660	13480	21530	26170	29570	33150	35630
03490	08680	13590	21610	26190	29740	33190	35640
03500	08690	13620	21680	26200	29800	33270	35690
03510	08700	13630	21690	26220	29880	33310	35810
03530	08849	13710	22530	26260	29890	33340	35820
03540	08850	13760	22830	26350	29910	33350	36120
03550	08950	13890	22850	26360	29940	33370	36170
03560	09060	13950	22860	26380	29960	33440	36180
03570	09290	14440	22870	26390	29970	33450	36250
03600	09480	14580	22890	26400	30000	33460	36370
03610	09490	14590	23650	26420	30030	33470	36380
03620	09510	14760	24420	26600	30500	33480	36800
03630	09520	14780	24770	26650	30510	33750	36810

MAKE YOUR MARK IN DOWNTOWN HISTORY

HAVE YOUR NAME ENGRAVED ON A BRICK PLACED IN THE MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER PLAZA

- Cost is $20.00 per brick (Tax Deductible)
- Individual and Family Names Only
- Names limited to 20 characters, including spaces
- No requests for specific locations of bricks within plaza will be accepted; Payment Guarantees Original Placement of Brick only
- Deadline for orders is 5:00 pm Friday, April 24.
- No phone orders accepted; Coupon must accompany each order. Coupons are also available at the Chamber Office, City Hall, the Public Library and the Main Street Office.

MAIL OR BRING COUPON & PAYMENTS TO:
MANHATTAN MAIN STREET, 110 N. 4th Street
MANHATTAN, KS 66502
For More Info Contact Sally (913) 537-9683
Hours: Mon-Fri 8-5 including noon hour

Please Type or Print Clearly Order Deadline—5:00 p.m. Friday, April 24

Name _____ Daytime Phone _____

Address _____ City _____ State _____ Zip _____

To Be Printed on Brick _____

Signature _____

Cash or Check Accepted Cost $20.00
Payable to Manhattan Main Street
Your Cancelled Check will be your receipt unless otherwise requested

One coupon per order
Payment must be enclosed
Mail or bring to: Manhattan Main Street Project
110 N. 4th
Manhattan, KS 66502
Open Mon-Fri 8-5 p.m. including noon hour

LAST CHANCE TO ORDER

For office use only CASH CHECK No. _____ DATE RECEIVED _____ INITIAL _____

Being a bleeding heart not an easy job

You know, it's rough being a bleeding heart liberal. What with rallying behind every oppressed and persecuted people in the world, it is a full-time job in itself. To be driven by the constant pursuit of justice and truth leaves the BHL with no time for fun and frivolity.

When a true BHL has found that a fellow human has been treated unjustly, he or she leaves no stone unturned in the quest for fair and equitable treatment for that friend. No injustice is too small for the BHL.

The BHL is also concerned with the environment. The average BHL is against nuclear weaponry and nuclear waste burial. A BHL is also a saver of whales, baby seals, the air, the ozone layer, trees and a few dozen other abused products of Mother Nature. The BHL is a lover of nature and sets maintaining a clean and lush planet high on a list of priorities.

On the political spectrum, one can locate virtually all of the BHL's political views with a starting point at the center of the spectrum and an ending point at the extreme left. A BHL never goes any further right than a moderate position on an issue, is rarely found to be a Republican and, only in special cases, will have some concerns for capitalistic gain. The BHL finds great wisdom in the philosophy of Karl Marx, but will usually admit the reality of American society dictates that the socialist, egalitarian utopia Marx wrote of is merely a faraway ideal.

So what significance do all these sweeping generalizations have? None. They are all totally meaningless, no matter how close to the truth they come. These statements are made in an attempt to illustrate what people in general think about people who tend to be deeply involved in human rights activities. And those are the polite things that have been said about human rights activists.

Often referred to as commies, pinkos or anti-American, the person having leanings toward a moderate-to-left political position is constantly being accused of leaning toward overthrow of the government or anarchy.

Whether it be simply disseminating literature on stopping aid to the Nicaraguan Contras or staging a legal demonstration against the bombing and subsequent killing of innocent civilians in Libya last spring, someone involved in these kinds of protests will be accused of dissenting. And then some more-American-than-thou, redneck-next-

PATTI PAXSON
Collegian
Columnist

door will be quick to shove the phrase "America — love it or leave it!" down the dissenter's throat.

Call a human rights activist what you may — a BHL, a commie, a leftist or whatever. But I call them caring, concerned and full of love — not hate — for their fellow man. Though a person may rally behind the causes of the oppressed and persecuted peoples of the world, that person's heart is indeed "bleeding." That heart feels the starving, the murdering and the repression of the black South Africans, the 4.5 million Palestinians without a home and the innocent, Contra-abused Nicaraguan civilians, for a few examples.

I find it extremely odd that American intelligence agencies keep black lists on people with leftist tendencies and not on extremists from the right. People like Jerry Falwell or the late Joseph McCarthy are a threat to national security for it is THEY who are instigating instability, close-mindedness, prejudice and a breeding ground for racism and hate.

They come from the camp that dictates all people must be a certain way — basically WASP, Christian and so paranoid of the Soviet Union that the nation must go to any length to keep all those communists far beyond arm's length. If that philosophy is not totally against all that America's founding fathers wanted for their citizenry, then I will eat my hat.

To love your fellow human is in no way, shape or form a sin or a crime and certainly one should not be blacklisted for it. Inevitably, though, the blacklisting will occur if the almighty dollar is concerned.

There is some grain of truth to the accusation that liberals and human rights activists often favor legislation sympathetic to bettering the human condition with quite a bit of disregard for the actual dollar costs. Quality life is priceless and therefore it doesn't make much sense to hem and haw over costs.

Besides, doing away with just an eighth of the defense spending done in this country would feed and educate many thousands of Americans.

When the Collegian gets quite a number of letters criticizing the so-called left positions of anti-Contra, anti-Reagan or anti-war opinion and editorial stances that some of the writers of this page have been known to take, I shudder to think that these letters are coming from people in my generation — the future leaders of the nation.

If my generation has not yet seen the great need in this country for more caring, less hate, racism and prejudice and more channeling of money into the positive aspects of life — like education, care for the elderly and feeding the people — then my generation has not yet seen the ugly world they will soon take over.

So when you hear of bleeding hearts, you are actually hearing about an extreme devotion to humankind. Dissent does not mean destruction, so when that favorite BHL of yours gets on the soapbox and starts going on and on about whales, nukes and Republican paranoids, don't blacklist him. Just hug him and be thankful he's concerned about keeping you alive.

Federal grant dollars not distributed fairly

Although it's no surprise K-State doesn't rank in the top 20 recipients of federal government grants, it may be an unfair system that keeps the University from dipping into the monetary pot.

Schools like Johns Hopkins University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Stanford University — the top three grant recipients — have been among the top 20 for the last 20 years. In fact, today's list has seen little change since the 1967 list that included 16 of the current top 20.

These universities received 46 percent of all federal money spent for research and development — $5.6 billion in 1984, according to a General Accounting Office report.

Even more striking may be the fact that out of the 3,300 colleges and universities in the country, 100 schools receive 90 percent of available federal grant money.

Decisions about which schools receive the funds are based on merit, a National Science Foundation official said. Even more research is funded at the schools with the "ability to best conduct research."

Undeniably, the top 20 schools are quality institutions and probably have earned their status, but at the same time the "good ol' boy" system of funding keeps the big universities big and doesn't give the smaller ones a chance to grow.

How can a university establish or maintain extensive research programs without the funds to do so? As it runs everything else, money shapes the educational system and clutches universities in the vicious circle of funding.

Revision of liquor law to be good for Kansas

On April 15, Kansas finally made some strides into the 20th century concerning the consumption of alcohol. Gov. Mike Hayden signed into law a bill making it possible to buy a drink in Kansas without first flashing a private club card and signing a guest book.

Kansas has been known as a dry state. Because of this negative connotation and the fact that drinks can only be purchased in a bar or restaurant with a club card and a drink fee, Kansas' economy has been hurt.

With this new law, Kansas will draw more conventions and seminars to the state, and the new law will put Kansas in a better position when restaurant groups search the Midwest for new sites.

This can only help Kansas' present economic slump. Businesses and organizations will look more favorably at Kansas to host their meetings and conventions. Visitors do not like being unable to have a drink with their meal or go to a lounge to socialize over a drink or two.

The liquor-by-the-drink licenses are expected to begin being issued July 1 to existing private clubs that under the old law were required to realize at least 50 percent of their income from food sales. The new law requires food sales to constitute only 30 percent of total sales.

Although Kansas has made this big step into the 20th century, more needs to be done. Cocktail lounges without restaurant operations will continue to be banned from selling liquor by the drink to the public, and private clubs will continue to operate and members will continue to buy liquor by the drink.

Clubs eligible to sell liquor by the drink under the new law will have an advantage over those that are still victims of Kansas' unwillingness to wake up and realize the rest of the world is passing it by.

Average No. of Persons Per Household

- LATEST SURVEY REGISTERED THE LOWEST FIGURE EVER RECORDED

Average No. of Persons Per Heating Grate

1987

I DIDN'T KNOW
STICK FIGURES GOT COLD

Media ignoring terrorism truths

Recently, a friend of mine suggested I do a column on terrorism in the Middle East. It sounded like a hot topic so I figured I might as well. Everyone is interested in learning a little about terrorism, right? As a matter of fact, not everyone is all that interested in intelligently discussing terrorism, least of all the major American newspapers and television networks.

For example, one of the first parties to come to mind when discussing terrorism is Libya's Col. Moammar Gadhafi. The general consensus among U.S. officials announced there was "very, very clear evidence" of Libyan involvement in the bombing and then used this "evidence" as a justification for the April 14, 1986, U.S. bombing of Tripoli and Benghazi, West German officials who had examined the same "evidence" consistently denied the existence of any hard evidence.

Five days after the bombing, Christian Lochte, president of a West German domestic intelligence unit, said, "It is a fact that we do not have any hard evidence, let alone proof, to show the blame might unequivocally be placed on Libya." When Hersh interviewed a number of West German officials two months ago, they continued to be "very critical and skeptical" of American intelligence linking Libya to the La Belle bombing.

As I said, Libya has been involved in terrorism, but by no means to the extent portrayed by the Western media. Amnesty International, the noted international human rights group, has reported of Libya, "The striking feature of Libyan atrocities is that they are the only ones whose numbers are sufficiently limited that the individual cases can be enumerated."

On the other hand, at the time of the U.S. attack on Libya, there was a good deal more evidence implicating Iran in international terrorism. Rather than attacking Tehran,

SCOTT MILLER
Collegian
Columnist

however, the United States was sending arms to what it supposed were Iranian "moderates." Even more ironic is that the United States was also supplying Iran's opponent, Iraq, with sensitive intelligence to aid in that country's air attacks against Iranian oil installations.

Hersh has also found that the attack on Libya was planned not as a retaliatory measure against Libyan terrorism, but an intentional, although not generally acknowledged, attempt to assassinate Gadhafi. All of this tends to support my contention that the Reagan administration is not as interested in punishing those responsible for terrorism as it is in punishing those who brag about it.

If you're not convinced, maybe a quick look at another Middle Eastern country will be more persuasive. The country in question was the first to use what we normally call "terrorism" when in 1954 it used fighter planes to intercept a Syrian civilian, forcing it to land. According to the country's prime minister, the hijacking was "to get hostages in order to obtain the release of our prisoners in Damascus." The country in question is, of course, Israel.

In fact, any discussion of the history of Middle Eastern terrorism would be grossly insufficient if it were to ignore Israel. Unfortunately, that is exactly what many discussions in the Western media tend to do. They are quick to remember this or that bombing by the Palestine Liberation Organization or some other Arab faction, but they tend to forget a wealth of examples of Israeli terrorism.

For example, in 1955, Israel sent agents to Cairo to bomb the U.S. Information Agency, hoping to lay the blame on Egypt and thereby disrupt U.S.-Egyptian relations. Former Sen. James Abourezk, who is chairman of the American Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee, claims the bombing is one of many instances in which Israel has used American-made weapons to "drive a wedge" between the United States and the Arab world.

This happens, Abourezk says, any time relations between Arab countries and the United States begin to normalize. "We saw this at the time Menachem Begin ordered the raid on the Iraqi nuclear reactor, when the Syrian helicopters were shot down in the Bekka, and on and on."

Although terrorism usually refers to an attack on civilians, it would seem to be an equally applicable term for an attack on an unsuspecting ally's military forces. If so, Israel was guilty of another terrorist act in 1967 when it destroyed the USS Liberty. The attack left 34 American sailors dead and many more wounded. If attacking an ally's military doesn't classify as "terrorism," then perhaps an "act of war" is a more accurate term.

There was also Israel's invasion of Lebanon in 1982, which left 40,000 Palestinians dead and more than 100,000 homeless. During the invasion, Israel violated international law by using cluster bombs against civilians.

Well, I'm running out of space so I'll finish this discussion of terrorism by making a few distinctions. If you have noticed my examples seem to be highly selective, then you can congratulate yourself on your ability to think critically. But if you don't come away from the major newspapers and TV newscasts with the same feeling, then you aren't thinking critically enough. The popular media are equally selective in what they cover — it's just that the events they cover tend to place Israel in a more positive light.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. All letters must be typewritten or neatly printed and signed by the author and should not exceed 300 words. The author's major, classification or other identification and phone number must be included.

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR
Jonie Trued
MANAGING EDITOR
Sue Dawson
NEWS EDITOR
Erin Eicher

EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
Deron Johnson
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson
ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinett

EDITORIAL BOARD: Susan Baird, Kirk Caraway, Sue Dawson, Jim Dietz, Erin Eicher, Judy Goldberg, Ron Honig, Pat Hund, Deron Johnson, Sarah Kessinger, Judy Lundstrom, Margaret May, Scott Miller, Andy Nelson, Patti Paxson, Julie Reynolds, Chris Stewart, Teresa Tenme, Jonie Trued. Unsigned editorials represent the majority opinion of the editorial board.

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 201-620) is published by Student Publications Inc., a nonprofit corporation, weekly except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 332-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Official asks for AIDS testing of aliens

By The Associated Press

DALLAS — Illegal aliens who apply for amnesty should be screened for the AIDS virus so that those who test positive can be barred from the country, a regional Immigration and Naturalization Service official says.

But a spokesman for the agency in Washington said the INS has not taken an official position on requiring AIDS tests as part of the amnesty program.

As many as 3.9 million aliens nationwide are expected to seek legalization under provisions of a sweeping immigration reform act that became law last year, said Stephen Martin, commissioner of the INS southern regional office based in Dallas. The year-long amnesty period begins May 5.

Aliens who apply for legalization under the law's provisions must submit to a blood test for sexually transmitted diseases, but an AIDS test is not now part of those regulations, William Zimmer, director of the INS regional processing center in Dallas, said in an interview Monday.

Zimmer said he wants federal public health authorities to declare AIDS a loathsome, contagious and dangerous disease so those who apply for legalization could be tested for it and deported if they have it.

Under present regulations, aliens who have been exposed to the disease can be barred only after they develop AIDS and constitute a public health burden.

"It would be more practical to have these people tested for AIDS and if they test positive, simply designate them as inadmissible," Zimmer said.

The issue is under consideration at INS headquarters in Washington and is being discussed with the Department of Health and Human Services, Zimmer said. His Dallas office is one of four INS regional processing centers in the nation.

INS spokesman Duke Austin in Washington said the INS as an agency won't take a position on the testing requirements for AIDS until the Public Health Service rules on whether it is an inadmissible disease.

"It's not our responsibility to make that decision. They're the ones evaluating it," Austin said. "It's their provision of the law. We certainly don't want to legalize people with AIDS."

Federal regulations exclude aliens from entering the United States on seven grounds, all involving health, Ellen Casselberry, a spokeswoman for the U.S. Public Health Service, said Tuesday.

AIDS, or acquired immune deficiency syndrome, is not now on that list, but changes are being considered in that area, she said.

Acquired immune deficiency syndrome is a disease in which a virus attacks the body's immune system, leaving victims susceptible to a wide variety of infections and cancers.

A positive AIDS blood test indicates the presence of AIDS antibodies (proteins generated by the body in response to the AIDS virus). That in turn means the person tested has been exposed to the AIDS virus. It does not mean the person has AIDS. Some of those with the virus will go on to develop AIDS or other illnesses referred to as AIDS-related complex.

Car bomb kills 150 in Sri Lankan station

By The Associated Press

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka — A car bomb at rush hour created an inferno at the main bus terminal Tuesday that officials said killed up to 150 people, bringing the death toll from terrorism in five days to nearly 300.

A Health Ministry official said about 200 people were injured and some might die of burns or other wounds.

Many of the victims burned to death or were killed by smoke inhalation in six parked buses that were engulfed in flames, police and witnesses said.

The bombing was the third attack since Friday on this island south of India, where Tamil insurgents have waged a four-year war against the majority Sinhalese for an independent nation. Tamils killed at least 142 people in northeastern Sri Lanka Friday and Monday.

Witnesses said many of the injured at the bus terminal had severe burns. Rescue work was hampered by heavy rain. Police took over private cars, buses and trucks to take victims to hospitals.

Windows of many cars and buildings were shattered, but no major structural damage was reported.

Army helicopters with searchlights clattered overhead after dark, helping with the rescue and the search for the bombers.

No one claimed responsibility for the bomb, but the government issued a statement blaming two Tamil separatist groups, the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam and the Eelam Revolutionary Organization of Students.

In the southern Indian city of Madras, where the Tamil groups have exile headquarters, a spokesman for the Eelam Revolutionary Organization of Students denied its members were involved.

"We have never targeted our attacks at civilians," said the spokesman, Velupillai Balakumaran.

Lawrence Thilakar, spokesman for the Liberation Tigers said in Madras he would have no comment until he was able to talk with the group's commanders in Sri Lanka.

Eelam is what the Tamils would call the nation they want to establish in northern and eastern Sri Lanka, where members of their ethnic group predominate. Tamils, most of whom are Hindu, accuse the Buddhist Sinhalese of discrimination.

Soon after the explosion about 4:45 p.m. Tuesday, when many of Colombo's 750,000 people were catching buses home, mobs of Sinhalese civilians stoned Tamil-owned shops about half a mile from the bus terminal. Police dispersed the crowd.

There were reports of Sinhalese youths stopping cars and demanding to know whether the occupants were Tamil or Sinhalese.

Authorities imposed a curfew, which they said would be lifted for four hours this morning. Government offices, banks, and private companies were ordered closed today.

Composer to deliver final convocation

By JONI MANLEY
Collegian Reporter

Pulitzer Prize-winning composer, Ellen Zwilich, one of the most distinguished composers of the late 20th century, will present the final University Convocation of the spring semester at 10:30 a.m. today in McCain Auditorium.

"Zwilich is regarded as the top woman composer of today," said Craig Parker, assistant professor of music.

Zwilich is the only woman ever to win the Pulitzer Prize in music, for her "Symphony No. 1 (Three Movements for Orchestra)."

Her album was nominated for a Grammy Award in 1986 and major concert halls, including Carnegie Hall and The Kennedy Center, and orchestras such as the San Francisco Symphony, the Indianapolis Symphony and the Detroit Symphony have commissioned her compositions.

She is a graduate of Florida State University, Tallahassee, and the Juilliard School, New York, where she studied with Roger Sessions and Elliot Carter.

In honor of the composer, several events are scheduled throughout the week.

Events include master classes for music students and faculty in which Zwilich will discuss her work.

Zwilich will meet with the press in a 9:30 a.m. news conference today in the Union Director Conference Room. She will then deliver the convocation lecture "Idealism and Adventure: The Arts in a Technological Age" in McCain.

She will speak about what it means to be a composer in the late 20th century, and how composing of classical music relates to society as a whole, Parker said. Following the lecture, a question-and-answer session will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the Union Big Eight Room.

Tickets to a 6 p.m. banquet at the University Inn are available through the Manhattan Arts Council. At 8 p.m., the Kansas State University Chamber Players, consisting of music majors and faculty, and the Kansas State Orchestra will present a concert featuring Zwilich compositions in McCain.

Compositions to be performed are "Celebration for Orchestra," "Concerto for Trumpet and Five Players," "Fantasy for Harpsichord," "Im Nebel for Contralto and Piano" and "Sonata in Three Movements." A reception backstage will follow the performance. Tickets for the concert are available in the McCain box office.

Thursday Zwilich will visit the Roosevelt Elementary School at 9:30 a.m. to talk with the students who won the USD 383 composition contest. At 3:30 p.m., there will be a concert in All Faiths Chapel with music performed by K-State student composers. Another concert will take place at 8 p.m. in All Faiths, with music by Kansas composers performed by the Kansas State University Chamber Players.

Friday, the musical "Can-Can" by Cole Porter will be performed at 8 p.m. in McCain. Also at 8 p.m. Friday, the Chamber Players will perform "American Avante-garde Classics" in All Faiths Chapel.

The week-long tribute will end Saturday with a "Sousa Spectacular" concert presented by the K-State Symphonic Wind Ensemble at 8 p.m. in McCain.

The "Sousa Spectacular" will feature the march "Kansas Wildcats," composed by John Philip Sousa in 1931 for the University.

The residency and activities surrounding it are being sponsored by the University Convocation Committee, the Department of Music and The Kansas Arts Commission.

Looking for an apartment?
Check Collegian Classifieds

Ben Franklin Crafts

Including the
"Big As Life Posters"
26" x 74"

POSTERS POSTERS

And more posters have arrived

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-9 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-7 p.m., Sun. 1-6 p.m.
Westloop Center, Manhattan, 776-4910

KAMIKAZI

THE SENIOR'S LAST SHOT
MAY 2, 1987

What a better way ...
a special everyday
from Pyramid Pizza!
"We pile it on!"

Free Delivery

PYRAMID PIZZA

*"EXPRESS YOURSELF" a piping hot
PYRAMID PIZZA

Coupon

Monday Mania!
Buy One Get One Free!
Buy any pizza, Get 2nd pizza or equal value or less Absolutely Free!

Void with other promotions

Coupon

Terrific Tuesday!
Good For Large one topping
Pizza plus
2 Cokes ONLY $6.99
plus tax

Void with other promotions

Coupon

Wacky Wednesday!
We accept anybody's local pizza coupon or tear out any local competitors yellow page ad & receive $2.00 off any med. or Large Pyramid
Pizza.

Void with other promotions

Coupon

Thrifty Thursday!
Buy any menu item & receive 2nd menu item of equal value or less at half price.

Void with other promotions

The Delivery is FAST AND FREE!

Listen Friday, Saturday & Sunday for our weekend specials, on POWER 94.5 OR Q104 radio stations.
539-4888

For one of our incredible edibles

Student Publications announces

Collegian Reporting & Sales Opportunities

Applications & Job Descriptions available in
Kedzie 103

FALL COLLEGIAN NEWS POSITIONS

Managing Editor	Government Editor
News Editor	Agribusiness Editor
Campus Editors	Staff Writers
Copy Editors	Sports Writers
Editorial Page Editor	Columnists
Feature Editor	Reviewer
Special Projects Editor	Cartoonist
Sports Editor	Graphic Artists
Arts & Entertainment Editor

FALL COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING POSITIONS

Assistant Manager
Sales Representatives
Regional Representative
Campus Representatives
Classified Representative
Graphic Artists

Applications due
Kedzie 103
Friday, April 24th

Utility institute urges national settlement

By The Associated Press

WICHITA — An electric utility association has asked a federal court to distribute more than $5 million to power companies nationwide as part of a settlement of a crude oil overcharge case.

The Edison Electric Institute filed the request in U.S. District Court Monday, outlining the claims of 89 electric companies. Payments are to be used for providing home energy assistance to low-income customers.

The payouts were ordered last year by Judge Frank G. Thies in a settlement of a dispute over the classification of small production oil wells during federal price controls from 1973 to 1981.

The case involved thousands of claims by all types of oil users from crude refiners to utilities. Thies said the total payout could be as much as $5 billion to 50 states, six U.S. territories and possessions and other entities.

The overcharges have been held in escrow accounts pending approval of distribution plans. For utilities, the overcharge amounted to $5.25 million but has grown to $5.4 million because of interest earnings.

A spokesman for the Edison Electric Institute said the payments will be distributed in two weeks unless the court orders otherwise.

Law to make way for branch banking

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — Banks could buy other banks anywhere in the state and operate them as branches, and they could open branches in towns without a bank, under a bill Gov. Mike Hayden signed into law Tuesday.

The new law basically allows unlimited branch banking through acquisition of other banks. It was designed to help the industry and to keep banking services in small, rural towns.

The measure takes effect after it is published in the Kansas Register, which usually occurs about a week after a signing. It was among 29 bills Hayden signed Tuesday.

Currently, a bank can operate only three branches within the corporate limits of the city in which it is chartered, with one exception. A bank can take over a failed or failing bank, if the acquiring bank is within 100 miles and no one bids to operate the failing bank independently. The law applies to one-bank towns with a population of less than 3,500.

Opponents of the measure, including the Kansas Independent Bankers Association, have said it will allow banks in big cities to gobble up smaller, rural banks. However, lawmakers included several provisions designed to allow small communities to have some control over their banking services.

If a bank buys another bank and operates it as a branch, the purchasing bank must set up a five-member advisory board made up of members of the community in which the new branch will be located. The branch must be open at least 20 hours during five days a week, and the acquiring bank must operate its new branch for at least two years.

In addition, the acquiring bank could not eliminate any services the purchased bank had provided.

The measure also allows banks to start branches in towns without banks, with some limits. The bank must be in the same county or an adjoining county, and the banks in the same county would have the first chance to start a branch in a no-bank town.

Hayden also signed bills that will: —Create the "Kansas Career-Work-Study Program" to encourage students to take part-time jobs related to their planned careers. The measure takes effect July 1.

—Require that newly appointed secretaries of agriculture be confirmed by the Senate. The Kansas State Board of Agriculture now appoints the secretary to fill a two-year term, and the board will still make the appointment under the measure. It takes effect when it is published in the Kansas Register.

—Restore part of a cut in pay for lawmakers during the 1987 session, which the Legislature made in January to deal with the state's fiscal crisis. Under the measure, legislators' pay would be cut only $4.50 a day, instead of $6 a day, and House and Senate leaders will take an additional cut.

—Set minimum desirable streamflow levels on nine Kansas rivers, starting July 1.

—Require the fingerprinting of all current county sheriffs and any candidates for sheriff in future elections. The measure takes effect July 1.

—Establish a system to license and regulate people who perform lie detector tests in the state. The measure, which takes effect July 1, creates a five-member Kansas Board of Polygraphists.

—Allow the Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services to sell vacant land in Topeka near the Kansas River to a private developer.

Argentine rebel leader surrenders peacefully

By The Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — About 250 soldiers peacefully ended a six-hour mutiny Tuesday in the northern city of Salta after hundreds of civilians gathered outside the base to protest the uprising, officials reported.

Gov. Roberto Romero of Salta province said Tuesday evening: "The military conflict initiated by engineers' company C5 is totally over."

Col. Ricardo Rodriguez Coronel said the rebel leader, Maj. Jorge Duran, turned himself in. He did not say whether Duran was arrested.

It was the third army revolt in a week. The restive soldiers oppose the army's leadership and demand amnesty for officers accused of torture and killing during the "dirty war" against leftists conducted by military governments in the late 1970s.

The government said Tuesday that 19 top officers had quit or been fired since revolts at two other army camps, but President Raul Alfonsin denied the purge was part of a deal with the rebels.

Romero told the Rivadavia radio network earlier in the day the 250 officers and men of engineer company C5 revolted over the amnesty issue and the civilian president's choice of Gen. Jose Dante Caridi as new army commander.

He said about 600 people were outside the base gates, but no incidents had been reported. Romero said rebel officers remained in their quarters and "I'm confident this will all be solved without repercussions."

The soldiers at Salta were in sympathy with an infantry brigade in Tucuman, where another uprising had been reported Tuesday, he said.

Gov. Fernando Riera of Tucuman province denied there was an uprising and said the infantry unit was "absolutely normal."

Col. Nestor Cassina of the Fifth Infantry Brigade in Tucuman requested retirement Tuesday and his application was accepted, the government news agency Telam reported.

Salta is 1,000 miles northwest of Buenos Aires and Tucuman is 800 miles north of the capital.

Soldiers who mutinied last week demanded the dismissal of Gen. Hector Rios Erenu, then army commander, and amnesty for officers accused of human rights violations.

Rios Erenu left his post Monday. The government said he "voluntarily resigned."

The private Argentine news agency Diarios y Noticias said earlier Tuesday the Regiment 19 camp at Tucuman was "in a virtual state of rebellion."

When asked about the report, government sources would say only that "there are some difficulties."

Alfonsin told military leaders Tuesday, including Caridi, the new army commander: "Let's finally clarify there was no negotiation and, consequently, there was no act signed or points of compromise."

Former army chief Rios Erenu and seven other generals have retired or been dismissed in connection with last week's rebellions at a regimental camp at Cordoba, 440 miles northwest of here, and an infantry school at Campo de Mayo, which is just outside the capital and is Argentina's largest army base.

—Campus Bulletin—

Murphy On The Loose!

PADDY MURPHY, the infamous ninth founding father of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, was spotted by Wabaunsee county authorities last night at the famous "Buffalo Inn" in Eskridge, Ks. Murphy, who was thought to be dead last year after a paralyzing alcoholic binge and a rather embarrassing game of "Pin the nose on the smiley face," apparently stole a credit card from one 'Fred Postelwaite,' near Cleveland, and has been on the run ever since, leaving a trail of beer cans and smiling sheep across the midwest. Murphy is reportedly heading to the Manhattan area for the annual "Lupe" film festival. A spokesman for the SAE house warns that "Murphy is not dangerous, but his breath may make you nauseous." RCPD has posted an APB to be on the lookout for Murphy, as they consider him thoroughly disgusting. Students are urged to lock their liquor cabinets.

AGGIEVILLE FLOWERS CARNATIONS

$6
DOZEN
cash & carry
12th & Laramie
537-9549

Mon.-Sat. 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

GOODSON AUTO TRIM

Tailor Made Seat Covers
Tanneau Covers
Boat Covers
Convertible Tops
Vinyl Tops
Complete Auto, Truck
& Boat Upholstery
201 Sarber Lane
(behind Wal-Mart)
Manhattan, Kansas 66502
Phone 776-7679 Res. 776-7614

Finance Club
presents
Fletcher Bell
Commissioner of Insurance

Thursday
April 3
7 p.m.

Union 207

News.
The Embossed Look.
A Seiko Innovation.

High-tech. High style. Making a major imprint on watch design now. The hour strokes engraved on a raised rim, the bracelet links in multiples locked with gold-tone. Circle in blue-grey. Rectangle in taupe. So new, Seiko made them for her too. So dependable they could only be Seiko, the first and foremost achievement in quartz.

GERALD THOMAS JEWELERS

"For The Gift of Pride, Let Us Be Your Guide"

419 POYNTZ

Seiko Time Corp. 1986

SAFEWAY

222 N. 6th
3011 Anderson

New Store Hours
7 a.m. to 10 p.m.
7 days a week

Specials April 22-28

Bananas.....5 lb./$1

Guy's potato chips.....87¢
6.5 oz. bag

Northern bathroom tissue.....69¢
4-roll pack

Coke, diet Coke.....99¢
2-liter bottle

Check cashing with student I.D.

THE VISTA

It's a hit!

Vista knows that you're hungry for an early season win, so we're offering a fantastic Triple Play for only $2.69.

The Triple Play—1/4 lb. Vistaburger fixed just the way you like it; crisp, crunchy, mouth-watering onion rings; and a medium drink. It's a hit!

Hustle in to Vista today for your Triple Play. Batter Up!

Vista
RESTAURANTS

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd

Wildcat Football 1987

- *Six Super Home Games
- *A Willie Nelson Concert
- *The Pride of Wildcatland
- *Exciting Promotions

All for just $30.00

Tickets on sale Monday

Ahearn Ticket Office

8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

VISA and Mastercard accepted

New smoking law queries face attorney general's answers

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — Many questions about new law that bans smoking in indoor public places across Kansas may not be resolved until Attorney General Robert T. Stephan issues a ruling, the head of the department which drafted the legislation said Tuesday.

However, Arden K. Ensley, revisor of statutes, said he believes one thing is clear about the measure Gov. Mike Hayden signed last week — it will reverse the state's current policy on smoking.

"Smoking is the exception, in other words," Ensley said. "No smoking is going to be the general rule."

State law currently bans smoking in elevators, libraries, museums, theaters, many governmental meeting rooms and doctors' offices. The new law, which will become effective July 1, extends the ban to restaurants, schools and almost every place open to the public.

Ensley said a section of the new law that allows people in charge of public places to set the percentage of space assigned for smoking probably shouldn't be viewed as a loophole for declaring an entire building as a smoking zone.

In addition, Ensley said he believes there is nothing in the legislation that would require proprietors to ban smoking entirely, even in extremely small offices or restaurants.

The revisor emphasized that he is not authorized to interpret Kansas laws — only to write them. He said any opinions about what the smoking law specifically allows or prohibits should be left to the attorney general.

Neil Woerman, a spokesman for Stephan, said the attorney general's office has not received an official request for a legal opinion on the smoking law but probably will during the next few months.

"It has a pretty major impact on a lot of people and a lot of businesses across the state," Woerman said. "And it's something that we'll probably have to take a look at eventually."

Because the attorney general's office did not provide advice on the smoking measure as it moved through the Legislature, as it has on other proposals, Woerman said no one in his agency had even reviewed the law.

The legislation requires proprietors of public buildings to post signs that say smoking is prohibited by state law but may post other signs designating certain areas as smoking zones.

It says existing physical barriers and ventilation systems must be used to "minimize the toxic effect of smoke in adjacent nonsmoking areas." However, installation of new barriers and ventilations systems is not required.

Proprietors who fail to post nonsmoking signs could face a $50 fine, and the measure prescribes a $20 fine for anyone caught smoking in a nonsmoking area. The law says smoking restrictions currently imposed by cities and counties would not be affected if the local regulations are at least as strict as the state law.

George Puckett, a lobbyist for the Kansas Restaurant Association, said Tuesday some restaurant owners have contacted him with questions about the new law, but there doesn't seem to be as much concern as in past years, when restaurants were being singled out in unsuccessful proposals to require nonsmoking areas.

Puckett said he is pleased that the law leaves the size of smoking areas up to the proprietors of public buildings, including restaurants.

Irate crowd attacks investigative agents

By The Associated Press

MIAMI — A U.S. Customs helicopter damaged by gunfire returned to its home base Tuesday as Bahamian officials investigated an attack on drug agents checking the crash of a plane suspected of marijuana smuggling.

Six U.S. and Bahamian drug agents suffered minor bruises or cuts Monday night when at least five shots were fired at the helicopter from a crowd of rock- and bottle-throwing beach-goers several miles south of Freeport, on Grand Bahama Island.

One bullet cracked the windshield in front of the pilot, but neither he nor the co-pilot was injured. Another broke a six-inch hole in a side window. The two Bahamian agents shots in the air to restore order, and the helicopter flew away safely.

"If one of the bullets had gone through the window, it would have hit the pilot in the head," said Roger Garland, acting branch chief for the U.S. Customs Air Branch at Homestead Air Force Base, where the helicopter returned Tuesday.

"It's one thing for a hostile crowd to protect smugglers who have just crash landed on the beach," said George Heavey, regional customs commissioner in Miami. "It's another thing for a crowd to take aggressive action to attack a law enforcement team."

Edward Ellis, a spokesman for the government's Bahamas News Bureau, said Tuesday afternoon that details of the attack were still sketchy.

The incident began when Customs radar spotted a suspicious plane flying low over the Bahamas, dropping bales of marijuana into the ocean. A Coast Guard helicopter later recovered one bale of marijuana, Garland said.

Meanwhile, the Blackhawk helicopter and two other Customs aircraft saw the suspected smuggler plane crash-land on the beach near the city of Freeport. The two people aboard the plane apparently fled on the beach.

Two Customs helicopter dropped six agents — four Americans and two Bahamians — on the beach to investigate, Garland said. The six were surrounded by a crowd of 100 hostile spectators and were pelted with rocks and bottles, he said. They radioed for the helicopter to pick them up.

"When we came back in, we felt several hits on the aircraft" from bottles and rocks, said co-pilot Mark Harrison.

"We went back in and extracted them, and that's when we really got peppered with a lot more bottles, a lot more hand-size rocks," he said. "I saw several flashes from the crowd. At the same time, the window shattered and threw glass all over the aircraft."

Agents doubted the beach-goers had any connection with the ditched plane.

Economist testifies

Crop loan levels may be low

By The Associated Press

WICHITA — In an effort to make U.S. grain prices internationally competitive, federal farm programs may have set crop loan levels too low, an agricultural economist told a congressional subcommittee Tuesday.

Abner Womack from the University of Missouri made his comment during testimony at a field hearing of the Wheat, Soybeans and Feed Grains Subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee.

Womack said long-term world prices will be higher than the loan rate now being paid to U.S. farmers who place their crops under government loan. If the United States isn't accomplishing its objective of recapturing its lost export market share, perhaps Congress should consider raising the loan rate, he said.

Rep. Dan Glickman, D-Kan., chairman of the subcommittee, said Womack's suggestion makes sense. He said increasing the loan rate also would decrease the amount of deficiency payments to farmers, which would help reduce farm program expenses.

Deficiency payments make up the difference between the loan rate and target prices set by federal officials.

The hearing was one of several the subcommittee is staging to gather recommendations concerning federal farm policy. Besides Glickman, congressmen present included Reps. Pat Roberts, R-Kan.; Dave Nagle, D-Iowa; Tim Penny, D-Minn.; and Charlie Rose, D-N.C.

For the most part, witnesses who made recommendations split into two camps. They either urged the panel to leave the 1985 farm bill intact with possible minor fine tuning or they wanted it scrapped and replaced with a system of mandatory production controls such as those suggested in the proposed Harkin-Gephardt farm bill.

'Anything we can do to reduce costs that doesn't reduce farm income is the trick.'

— Rep. Dan Glickman

Many witnesses attacked the $50,000 payment limitation provision in federal crop programs and urged it be increased or eliminated.

Glickman pointed out that for every $10,000 the cap is raised, federal farm program expenditures increase $2.4 billion. Other subcommittee members said the cap probably won't be changed.

Kansas Agriculture Secretary Sam Brownback suggested Congress should consider denying federal farm subsidy payments to absentee landowners. Many farmers share their crop program payments with landowners from whom they rent ground.

Brownback said although he is a full-time salaried state official, he participates in federal farm programs because he owns 80 acres of land in southeast Kansas. The land is farmed by his brother.

"The litmus test should be who is actually farming the land," he said. "They deserve and need the support. Non-farmers with full-time, off-farm income can look to their employment for the needed income."

Brownback said his proposal was coolly received by the state Board of Agriculture and would need critical review by Congress. As lawmakers search for ways to reduce federal expenditures for farm programs, they should make sure active, producing farmers aren't overburdened, he said.

One of the members of the subcommittee expressed reservations about Brownback's idea.

"I know we have to get the costs down, but it worries me when we get into targeting," said Roberts.

Other witnesses included a panel of Kansas farmers, representatives of the Kansas Wheat Commission and Kansas Association of Wheat Growers, several Kansas State University agricultural economists, a panel of farm organization leaders and two grain marketers.

The producers also urged the committee to protect farm income as they try to find ways to cut crop program costs.

"Anything we can do to reduce costs that doesn't reduce farm income is the trick. That's the problem we've got," Glickman said.

"Target prices simply cannot be lowered," said Tom Giessel, a Larned wheat farmer. "Loan rates are not only ridiculous, but humiliating. The use of this lethal weapon — the spearhead of the 1985 farm bill — to regain world markets has blown up in our faces."

Ivan Wyatt, president of the Kansas Farmers Union, continued his organization's attack on Reagan administration policies.

"Surely, this nation's leadership will ultimately realize that the present farm policy of lower and lower world prices is a blueprint for disaster for America and world agriculture," he said.

Floyd Frank, a Copeland wheat farmer, said the $50,000 payment cap is a type of land reform that is destroying small and medium size farm operations.

"We farmers are forced to react to what the government does rather than make sound management decisions for production and profit," Frank said.

OUR NEIGHBORHOOD

Hardee's

DELIVERY SERVICE

537-2526

Straight Forward Beauty

The shimmer. The shine. There's no mistaking the genuine article. Like our 14K gold classic solitaire. Available from $200 through $3,500.

425 POYNTZ MANHATTAN 913-776-7821

Burke's

404 Poyntz
Downtown Manhattan

PUMPS!
PUMPS!
PUMPS!

Just in time for Easter
Choose from 25 Rainbow Colors in 11 Styles.
Calf and Kidskin Leather

LIMITED TIME ONLY!
NOW $29⁹⁰
AS LOW AS

OPEN SUNDAY 1-5

"BOYS JUST WANT TO HAVE FUN" - Borck Brothers can help!

See the latest in

- "Fun" sports Shirts
- Cabana sets - swim trunks and cover-ups in bold stripes and prints
- Pull-on pants in brights or whites
- Walking shorts
- Print shirts with cotton sweaters for the layered look

BORCK Brothers

1100 Westloop Place (913) 537-8436
Westloop Shopping Center
9:30-5:30 Mon-Sat; 11-8:30 Thurs.

Attention: Each and every person interested in personal computing at K-State

An important organizational meeting of an informal group to promote scientific computing on campus will be held.

TODAY

Wednesday, April 22

Cardwell Hall, Room 119, 4:30 p.m.

Computing decisions are being made by some who think you neither care or exist.

Even if you cannot attend, WE CARE AND WANT TO KNOW IF YOU EXIST! Please fill out the form below and send it to:

Dan Curtis, Dept. of Mathematics, Cardwell Hall, or Robert Panoff, Dept. of Physics, Cardwell Hall

— cut here —

I am interested in computing! Keep me informed of future activities.

Name _____

Campus Address _____

Campus Phone _____

Circle One: Faculty Staff Grad
Undergrad Administration

Farm group requests federal credit bailout

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The nation's largest farm group urged Tuesday a federal bailout of the financially ailing Farm Credit System including a capital infusion of at least $2 billion.

"Now it's obvious that the system needs it and needs it now, right now, immediately," Dean Kleckner, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said in unveiling his group's 21-point plan at a news conference.

Lawmakers expect within a few days a rescue plan from the Farm Credit System, itself, which is losing $1 billion in loan volume each month and $400 million in capital every quarter. The General Accounting Office, an arm of Congress, already has submitted a proposal.

Kleckner said the lawmakers should not wait and risk further deterioration of the system, comprised of lender-owned cooperative banks that together represent the largest U.S. provider of farm loans.

"They haven't got time to dillydally around," he said.

The Farm Bureau plan includes a capital infusion that would eventually be repaid but perhaps not for some time. Kleckner said it was difficult to know how much would be needed but cited estimates of at least $2 billion and perhaps as much as $10 billion. He said the payback might have to be delayed for 10 or 15 years.

A five-member Financial Assistance Commission would be made up of the chairman of the Farm Credit Administration, a representative of the Farm Credit System, the secretary of the treasury or his designee, the secretary of agriculture or his designee and a farmer or rancher. The panel would have a specified line of credit with the Treasury.

A ban on further transfers of funds among the Farm Credit System's 12 districts would be included as well as financial assistance to help with restructuring of problem loans to farmers.

Farm Credit System stock would be guaranteed under the plan. But shares purchased in the future would be at risk.

The system would be required to return to Generally Accepted Accounting Principles. With congressional permission it switched last fall to Regulatory Accounting Principles in what Kleckner styled "creative accounting" to hold off impending financial problems.

Mergers and consolidations of districts and institutions could come only after full financial disclosure and a vote of members under the Farm Bureau plan. It also would set up a secondary mortgage market within the Farm Credit System for first mortgage real estate loans to increase the availability of long-term credit.

Lending decisions based on repayment capacity, not asset values, also was recommended by the group. It urged maintenance of the joint and several liability system under which financially stronger districts back up borrowing by weaker ones.

More innovative risk management, competitive pricing of loans and local control of the system also were stressed.

The Farm Bureau also said farm credit legislation should be kept separate from bills involving the nation's $26 billion farm program. Kleckner said that with Gramm-Rudman budget-reduction constraints weighing on lawmakers, including a $1 billion cut in the farm program looming this year, it was hard to say where the money would come from.

Cast merits 'high praise'

Comedy 'conquers' with laughter, fun

By LAURIE FAIRBURN
Copy Editor

It has been four days since I saw "She Stoops To Conquer," and I'm still laughing.

The latest offering of the K-State Players and the Department of Speech is unquestionably too much fun to be missed. Every member of the cast offers unabashed amusement, involving the audience in the action as they offer asides.

Play Review

The spry pace of the most enthusiastic cast ever assembled on the stage of Nichols Theatre kept the audience delightedly off guard and continuously entertained.

How can I describe the sheer pain I endured as I giggled helplessly, as if victim to some merciless tickle torture, tears pouring down my face, praying, because I really needed to breathe?

The play, written by Oliver Goldsmith, was first presented as a contemporary piece in 1773. The story involves the meeting of Young Marlow, a London gentleman, and Kate, the well-bred daughter of Mr. Hardcastle, friend of Marlow's father. The meeting of Marlow and Kate will determine whether they find one another suitable marriage prospects.

Accompanying Marlow is Hastings, who has his eye on the mutually adoring Constance, niece of Mr. Hardcastle. A problem arises here, as Mrs. Hardcastle has already arranged for Constance to become the wife of her son Tony, despite their abhorrence of the plan.

The comedy begins when Marlow, played by Tom Overmyer, senior in theater, and Hastings, played by Paul Honigs, senior in journalism and mass communications, stop at a tavern to ask directions. Driven by unadulterated mischief, Tony gives them directions to his home but tells the travelers it is an inn. They arrive safely, but where Mr. Hastings expects to find two gracious guests to host, he finds two impudent ingrates. Marlow and Hastings cannot understand this simple innkeeper's "familiar" behavior and dismiss him as dimwitted and rude.

While Marlow is nothing short of a snob while in the company of Hastings, he cannot raise his eyes from the ground when in the presence of Kate. Their first meeting is disastrous by any standard, yet while Marlow presents himself with all the grace and charm of a jellyfish, there is something about him Kate finds intriguing.

In an effort to appear approachable, Kate disguises herself as a common bar wench and 'stoops to conquer' Marlow and win his affections.

The principle actors of the production all deserve the highest praise for their portrayals. Senior in theater Penny Cullers, as Mrs. Hardcastle, was as funny as her character was eccentric. The subtle timing of a look, the high-pitched vibrato of her voice, the sincerity with which she wore her 18-inch wig (adorned with birds, pearls, ostrich plumes and flowers) combined to make her presence on stage a sidesplitting event for the audience.

Even before the production began, the rambunctious Tony Lumpkin, played by Dan Shea, senior in radio and television, was fraternizing with members of the audience. Shea gave his liveliest (and my favorite) performance to date, demonstrating his talent to let his exuberance shoot through the audience.

A third outstanding performance was delivered by Overmyer. As Marlow, the gentleman/inept suitor, Overmyer mastered every gesture, every posture, every syllable of dialogue with refined control. Were we not the wiser, we'd have thought Overmyer had traveled in a time machine from the 18th century to assume his role.

Also worth their weight in gold were Jennifer Hays, sophomore in theater, in her portrayal of Constance; Victor Force, graduate student in speech, as Mr. Hastings; Mary Hale, freshman in journalism and mass communications, as Kate; Paul Craig, sophomore in theater, as Sir Charles Marlow; and Honigs' portrayal of Hastings.

Hays, always a bright spot in K-State Players productions, is proving herself quite adept at giving her character strong presence with impressive verbal skill. Force, following up his superb performance as the butler in "The Constant Wife," was a sturdy patriarch, deftly altering from the amused to the amusing.

Supporting characters were portrayed by Donald Olsen, junior in theater; Mark Cross, sophomore in theater; Jeff Schrag, sophomore in theater; Timothy Ahlenius, freshman in theater; Jennifer Dohl, graduate student in speech; and Miriam Climenhaga, junior in theater.

Each actor contributed wholeheartedly to the comedy, even making scene changes a time for laughs.

"She Stoops To Conquer" is the second directing triumph this season for Charlotte MacFarland, instructor of speech; the first was "night, Mother." The unbounded energy of the cast, the outstanding costuming of Lydia Aseneta, associate professor of speech, and the artful scene and lighting design of Al Sheffield, assistant professor of speech, blended to make a perfectly entertaining production. Performances continue through April 25. See at least one.

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help.

Comprehensive Health can help with free, confidential pregnancy testing and safe, affordable abortion services by qualified physicians. We offer birth control, gyn exams and treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. No age requirement. We accept insurance, as well as VISA and MasterCard. A Kansas licensed facility, Comprehensive Health has been providing quality health care to women since 1974.

Comprehensive Health Associates

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Rwy)
Overland Park, Kansas

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400

Wichita Family Planning Inc.

Absolutely Confidential Abortion Services

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate appointments, days, weekends, and evening hours.
3013 E. Central Wichita, KS., 67214 (316) 688-0107

The Station

WED., APRIL 22

1115 Moro, Aggieville 776-0030

THE HOT SPOT FOR "HOT" SCHNAPPS!

SUNTAN DRINK - $1.50

SUNBURNS - $1.50

SHOTS - 90¢

SHOT & DRAW - $1.75

(Free neon swizzle sticks with any "HOT" drink, numbers limited, get 'em while they're hot!)

DRAWINGS FOR LOTS OF HOT PRIZES (HOT T-SHIRTS, SUNGLASSES AND MUCH MORE)

SCHNAPPS GIRL WITH TWIST AND SHOOT GUN HOLSTER

Over 25,000 people Rendezvous with KSU each year at the All University Open House.

Be a part of next year's Student Core Committee by Volunteering for one of the following positions:

Coordinators, Student Life Exhibits, Media, Courtyard Entertainment, Special Projects

Learn about K-State through involvement, communicate with the public and acquire leadership skills.

Apply Today! Job descriptions and applications available at 122 Anderson Hall or call 532-6237. Applications due Monday, April 27, 1987 at 5 p.m.

Portfolio '87

May 3rd, 4 p.m.

TICKETS ARE $9

Featuring KSU Apparel Design Students at the Holidome Ballroom

Includes Champagne & Hors d'oeuvres

Send Paid Reservations by April 28 to:

The Dept. of Human Ecology

Justin Hall, KSU

Manhattan, KS 66506

Tickets Will Be Held at the Door

For More Information Call (913) 532-6993

WHEN THE NAME OF THE GAME IS COMFORT...

THE WINNING TEAM IS BY

from the casual encounter -fashion clothing for guys & gals-

1208 Moro in Aggieville

The K-State Union invites you to an open reception, for Walt Smith in honor of his retirement from the K-State Union.

It will be held at the K-State Union, April 22, 1987 between 3:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. in the Bluemont Room.

Walt Smith
THANK YOU FOR THIRTY YEARS

Respect needed, candidate says

By RITA GRAVES
Collegian Reporter

All university employees should be treated with the same respect regardless of position, said the first of five finalists for the position of director of personnel services.

"Every job that an employee does is important; it doesn't matter whether you're a custodial worker or a faculty member," said G. Thomas Bull, general manager of industrial relations for the LTV Missiles and Electronics Group, Mishawaka, Ind.

Bull was on campus Tuesday morning for an open question interview session in the Union.

Job responsibilities of the director include employment of staff, position management, employee relations, staff training and employee benefits.

Bull said he can bring to the University the experience and depth of knowledge he received while he was director of personnel at the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind.

Bull said he believes in employee recognition programs to increase job satisfaction.

"An institution might be able to run without a personnel department, but the key is how successful will it run," he said.

The job of personnel isn't just plugging papers in the right pigeon hole, Bull said.

"People who work for a university should work under a common umbrella," he said.

Bull said he believes in solving problems before they happen. He also said it is a good idea to see what people are doing on their job.

Bull stressed the importance of keeping good records management.

"It is important to keep track of who's working for you," he said.

The second finalist will be on campus Thursday. Deborah Birney, who has been acting director of personnel services at K-State since February, will have an open meeting from 9:50 a.m. to 10:50 a.m. in Union 213.

Darwin Liverance resigned from the position in February to become director of personnel services at Auburn University, Auburn, Ala.

Commissioners select mayor, swear in new representatives

By The Collegian Staff

The Manhattan City Commission has elected Commissioner Gene Klingler to serve as mayor until April 1988.

Klingler, who has served on the commission since 1981, was the unanimous selection of the 1987-88 commission, which had its first meeting Tuesday night.

Newly elected commissioners Kent Glasscock, Richard Hayter and Nancy Denning were sworn in during a brief ceremony before the meeting.

Glasscock and Hayter are beginning their first terms on the commission, while Denning will serve her second term.

In another ceremony, retiring Commissioner Suzanne Lindamood and former Mayor Rick Mann were presented with plaques commemorating their service along with keys to the city.

Lindamood had served on the commission since 1981 and was mayor during the 1984-85 session. Mann had served on the commission since 1983 and served as mayor for the past year.

In other business, the commission passed an ordinance granting a franchise extension to Manhattan Cable TV Services Inc. The service has been in operation since 1962 and as a franchise pays the city 3 percent of its gross receipts.

An amendment proposed by Denning that would have raised the franchise fee from 3 percent to 5 percent was defeated four to one.

The Commission also awarded contracts for the insurance coverage of the city of Manhattan. The contract, covering comprehensive general liability; comprehensive business auto; worker's compensation; public officials errors; and omissions liability, was given to Charlson-Wilson Insurance Agency of Manhattan.

The contract covering airport liability was awarded to Andres Insurance Agency Inc., also of Manhattan.

Court clears government of negligence

By The Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY — A federal appeals court struck down a judge's 1984 ruling that government negligence in above-ground nuclear tests caused cancer among people downwind, and attorneys for the plaintiffs vowed Tuesday to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver late Monday unanimously overturned U.S. District Judge Bruce Jenkins' finding in 1984 that the government negligently failed to warn or educate downwind residents of radiation hazards from tests conducted by the Atomic Energy Commission at the Nevada Test Site from 1951 to 1962.

"While we have great sympathy for the individual cancer victims who have borne alone the costs of the AEC's choices, their plight is a matter for Congress," Chief Judge Monroe McKay wrote in an opinion that was part of the 3-0 ruling.

After 15 months of review, the court decided the government could not be held liable for the claims because of the discretionary powers given to the AEC in the Atomic Energy Act of 1946.

"Only Congress has the constitutional power to decide whether all costs of government activity will be borne by all the beneficiaries or will continue to be unfairly apportioned, as in this case," McKay wrote.

The decision drew a swift, bitter response from many involved in the case.

"We can take care of the whole world — give millions to the Contras — but not one penny for the kids down here who died," said Helen Nisson, 62, of St. George, Utah, who testified that she believed fallout caused her 13-year-old son's death. She was one of those awarded damages by Jenkins, but she said Tuesday: "I haven't got one penny and probably never will."

"We have no choice but to move in the direction of an appeal," said plaintiffs attorney Stewart Udall of Phoenix, Ariz., the former U.S. interior secretary.

"It's an absolute certainty that we'll pursue congressional relief," said Rep. Wayne Owens, D-Utah.

However, plaintiffs' attorney Dale Haralson of Tucson, Ariz., said he held out little hope Congress would act. He noted that it failed to pass legislation introduced in the early 1980s which would have provided compensation.

"I have no reason to believe that in view of the tremendous lobbying of the nuclear defense and nuclear industries that there will ever be any legislation that will compensate these people," Haralson said.

MAZDA VOLKSWAGEN HONDA

IMPORT CAR INC.

PARTS & SERVICE

Complete Line of Foreign Parts

Expert Mechanics

Call 539-0577

315 S. 3rd

8-5:30 Mon.-Fri.

Sat. 9-1

TOYOTA DATSUN SUBARU

FREE SPEECH

Six Persuasive Speeches on KSU Issues

"WHO'S CHEATING WHO AT KSU?"

by John Cassida

"TENURE: TIME TO CLEAN THE COBWEBS OF ANTIQUITY"

by Bruce Pedersen

"KSU: CLEAN AND GREEN"

by Berry Barham Jr.

"DIALING IN ON DIRECTORY PROBLEMS"

by Luanne Corliss

"CAN YOU ACCOUNT FOR PARKING PERMIT AND TICKET MONIES?"

by Cori Walker

"MENTAL ATHLETES UNITE"

by Pat McGranahan

Thursday, April 23, Nichols Hall, 1st floor

Bonus Points for Public Speaking II Alumni!

MasterCard

TUNE-UP

We'll install new resistor spark plugs, adjust idle speed, set timing, test battery and charging system and inspect other key engine parts. Electronic ignition cars.

Reg. Price 49⁹⁸

8 cyl. 59⁹⁸

8 cyl.

$39⁸⁸

MAINTENANCE ANALYSIS

14 point check on condition of your car's brakes, suspension, exhaust, belts, hoses, battery fluid levels and tires.

$8⁸⁸

BATTERY SALE!

Supreme is our most powerful car battery! Backed by a 6-6 month limited warranty. See us for details.

$59⁹⁵

SAVE $20 thru May 16!

FLUSH & FILL

We'll flush radiator and cooling system, check belts, hoses and water pump and re-fill system incl. up to 2 gal. of antifreeze/coolant.

$19⁸⁸

Firestone

3rd & Leavenworth

Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-6 p.m.

Sat. 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

YAMAHA

INTO SUMMER

Sizzle SALE

You're Invited

Brooks Yamaha is celebrating with an incredible Sizzle Sale. We've got the hottest deals on Yamaha wheels. Like Radian 600 only $2199. You save over $300.

Come to Brooks Yamaha for dynamite prices that will blow you away.

BROOKS YAMAHA

Hwy. 24, East Manhattan, KS

Tues.-Sat. 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

776-6371

YAMAHA

We make the difference

Manhattan High School

presents

Arsenic & Old Lace

by Joseph Kesselring

Fri. & Sat. at 7:30 p.m.

MHS Auditorium

General Admission $2.50

BRIDAL GIFT REGISTRY

We are pleased to announce that Holly Sistrunk and Rob Friesen have registered with us.

MIDWEST

634 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

776-9454

FORGET SOMETHING?

New yearbooks will arrive soon (May 4-6)

We need to clear space for the 1987 yearbook!

These are just a few of the people who still haven't picked up their 1986 Royal Purple Yearbooks:

Erich Volkman	Todd Waufile	Mark Whitaker	Harold Wingert	Troy Yates
Jana Voth	Jared Weatherhead	David White	Todd Woerpel	Seung Yi
Wendy Walburn	Jean Weathers	Jeffery White	Jeff Wong	Paul Yutesler
Douglas Walker	Robert Webb	Kathie Wiederholt	Jon Wong	Lori Zabokrtsky
Laura Walker	Bryan Weidler	Rebecca Wilbur	Leslie Wood	Scott Zarembo
Carolee Wall	Penny Welch	Doug Wilder	Michael Woodson	Mark Zenger
Alan Ward	Shawn Weninger	Lisa Wilkinson	Stephen Woolf	Kendal Zielke
Michael Ward	Mark Wentzel	Christina Wilson	Jeffery Woods	Richard Zimmerman
Julie Waris	Greg Whaley	Jennifer Wilson	Esther Warley	Greg Zink
William Watkins	Brian Whisner	Loren Wing	Michele Muller

Bring your KSU ID to Kedzie 103 M-F 8-5 p.m.

BALLARD'S SPORTING GOODS

COOL COMFORT, HOT PERFORMANCE

THAT'S RUSSELL ATHLETIC

UNIFORMS

- In Stock
- Team Discount
- Silk Screening

BATS BALLS GLOVES

M-Th 8:30 a.m.-8 p.m.

Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Sun. 1-5 p.m.

BALLARD'S IN 1218 Moro AGGIEVILLE 539-2441

K-STATE SUMMER SESSION

June 9-July 31, 1987

Enjoy smaller classes, concentrated study, accelerated degree progress, relaxed atmosphere, and a head start on college work.

K-State Summer Session offers

Quality undergraduate and graduate courses

Workshops and short courses

Child care

Elementary age enrichment program

Campus housing

Social and leisure time activities

K-State Summer session catalogs are available from the Admissions Office and your advisor. Or contact: Summer Session, Division of Continuing Education, 317 Umberger Hall, Manhattan, Kansas 66506, (913) 532-5566 or 1-800-432-8222.

Panel to grant Poindexter partial immunity

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Senate panel investigating the Iran-Contra affair voted Tuesday to grant limited immunity to President Reagan's former national security adviser, Rear Adm. John M. Poindexter, opening the way for him to break his silence.

Poindexter, 50, one of the key figures in the affair, resigned as Reagan's national security adviser last Nov. 25 after Attorney General Edwin Meese III disclosed that profits from secret arms sales to Iran had been diverted to help the Nicaraguan rebels.

Because Poindexter, in his job, had been seeing Reagan each day, he has been regarded as the prime witness concerning what the president may or may not have known of the apparent diversion of the money.

Meanwhile, a top Pentagon official said the Defense Department now believes a secret Army unit, established and shut down in 1983, opened a hidden Swiss bank account that could have been used later to support the Contras.

The official, who commented on condition he not be named, said the Pentagon suspects Lt. Col. Oliver North and retired Air Force Maj. Gen. Richard Secord might have had access to the account.

North and Secord are already under investigation for their roles in the sale of arms to Iran and the alleged diversion of profits from those transactions to the Contras.

The Pentagon disclosures followed a report by CBS News Monday night detailing what the network said was a secret account maintained at the Credit Suisse Bank in Geneva. The network reported that in 1985, during the period when U.S. military aid to the Contras was banned by Congress, $2.5 million was withdrawn from the account and $75,000 of it used to charter a ship that ferried arms to the Contras.

Robert Sims, the Pentagon's chief spokesman, said neither Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger nor Secretary of the Army John Marsh "approved or authorized anything remotely like the activities described in the report."

As for Poindexter, Reagan's former national security adviser repeatedly has invoked his Fifth Amendment rights against self-incrimination in declining to testify before congressional committees.

The limited grant of immunity from prosecution would compel Poindexter's testimony in exchange for a guarantee that his words could not be used against him in a later criminal prosecution. Poindexter still could be prosecuted on evidence Walsh gathered independently.

The House committee investigating the matter is expected to vote to grant him limited immunity on Wednesday. Poindexter is the 13th person for whom such immunity is being sought.

Confidence trial runs to delay shuttle launch

By The Associated Press

COCOA BEACH, Fla. — The space agency said Tuesday it is delaying for several weeks the first post-Challenger space shuttle launch because it is adding two major confidence-building tests to the schedule.

Officials had set Feb. 18, 1988, as a target for resuming flights, but NASA said it is reassessing the date as a result of the extra tests. The agency said it would set a new date in a few weeks.

The added tests are a "wet" countdown test, in which shuttle Discovery's huge fuel tank will be filled with liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen, and a flight readiness firing, in which the three main engines will be ignited for 20 seconds while Discovery is locked on the launch pad.

The shuttle fleet has been grounded since the January 1986 Challenger explosion that killed the seven crew members.

"The tests will definitely affect our launch date by a number of weeks," Arnold Aldrich, director of the shuttle program, told the opening session of the 24th Space Congress here.

Aldrich told a news conference later that the two tests would delay the launch until at least April 1. But he acknowledged the flight could be much later.

An internal document at the Kennedy Space Center here looks to a September 1988 flight, with engineers contending there is extensive work to be done. But Aldrich said, "I think we'll do better than September."

Initial tests of the redesigned solid fuel booster rocket are several months behind schedule, and modifications to the main engines, brakes, landing gear and other systems are lagging. A faulty booster rocket joint caused the Challenger accident.

Family seeks help paying son's debts

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Saddled with debt, relatives of an American pilot killed in Nicaragua last year said Tuesday they have started legal action to determine who should pay bills he incurred while supplying the Contra rebels.

"The hurt of his death is just now beginning to be felt," said Wallace Blaine Sawyer Sr. in a telephone interview from his home in Magnolia, Ark.

His son, Wallace Blaine Sawyer Jr., died last Oct. 5 when a C-123K cargo plane loaded with guns, ammunition and other supplies for the Contras was shot down in southern Nicaragua.

After the crash, the pilot's Thai-born widow, Kasanee, and her 4-year-old son were paid by his private life insurer, but they haven't received any settlement from his unknown employer, the elder Sawyer said.

The family has yet to determine who hired his son to fly weapons to the Contras and who is responsible for the pilot's credit card bill of more than $3,500 in motels and other expenses in Central America, Sawyer said.

"Those bills were incurred in his line of work and we don't plan to pay them," he said.

Winslow Drummond, the Sawyers' attorney in Little Rock, Ark., said he has ordered that court papers be prepared seeking to have a court administrator appointed in Columbia County to handle matters for the estate. Creditors would have 90 days to file claims.

Since the Sawyers have few assets, the estate procedure may be the first step in taking some legal action against the pilot's employer, once it is determined, or against a third party, possibly the federal government, Drummond said.

Sawyer, while not in desperate financial shape, does not work, her father-in-law said. Her husband left her with a mortgage of about $75,000 and car bills, he said.

The elder Sawyer, a retired oil worker, said he has no idea who paid his son, but he hopes that he will learn more about his namesake's activities in Central America when a special congressional panel on the Iran-Contra affair begins public hearings on May 5.

He said an unknown person paid about $3,000 for his son's funeral expenses. There is still $875 due.

Mary Rodgers at the Lewis Funeral Home in Magnolia said an unidentified man walked in and handed the firm an envelope full of cash on the day of Sawyer's funeral.

Ruth Van Heuven, a State Department spokesman, said that when an American dies abroad, the department "facilitates in case they want the body returned."

Collegian Classifieds Cheap, but Effective

Enjoy smooth, creamy
Frozen Yogurt
that tastes like Ice Cream
but with 80% less fat!
—FREE SAMPLES—
I Can't Believe It's YOGURT!
Frozen Yogurt Stores
OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily
Noon-11 p.m. Sundays
Nautilus Towers—Aggieville

COPIES 'TIL MIDNIGHT
kinko's
Great copies. Great people.
1110 Laramie
537-7340

Freshman & Sophomore Summer Job Opportunity
available with
The United States Marine Corps
No obligation to be a Marine!
Earn between $1300 & $2100 a month plus meals & housing.
Call
913-841-1821 (collect)

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?
For confidential help, call Birthingright
FREE Pregnancy Tests
103 S. Fourth 537-9180

PUTT-PUTT GOLF COURSES
For the fun of it!
COLE PORTER'S CAN-CAN
a little bit of Paris and a whole lot of fun!
McCain Auditorium
Friday, April 24, 1987
8 p.m.

Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops
Are you denying yourself a better shot at grad school?
Okay, it may be too late to get a 4.0. But it's not too late to try to do better on your LSAT, GMAT, GRE, or MCAT. For that, there's Stanley H. Kaplan.
No one has prepped more students than Stanley H. Kaplan. Our test-taking techniques and educational programs have prepared over 1 million students.
So whatever grad school exam you're taking, call us. Remember, the person next to you during your exam might have taken a Kaplan course.
KAPLAN
STANLEY H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER LTD.
DON'T COMPETE WITH A KAPLAN STUDENT—BE ONE.
CALL NOW!
LAWRENCE 842-5442
KANSAS CITY 341-1220

FRESH

WENDY'S® HAMBURGERS ARE ALWAYS SERVED FRESH HOT-OFF-THE-GRILL. THEIRS AREN'T.

99¢ Single 1/4 LB. HAMBURGER

Offer Expires 5/21/87
Valid at participating Wendy's
Not valid with any other offer.

Cheese and tax extra. One coupon per customer.

A WEEK AT KANSAS STATE

Before you leave for summer vacation, take advantage of the pre-publication price of A Week At Kansas State and order your copy in Kedzie 103. The special rate of $22.00 includes shipping costs so next September it will be delivered to your door. Start planning now for early Christmas presents for your friends and relatives.

LIMITED Special Pre-publication Offer

Please use this card and attach a check for $22.00 (plus $1.10 applicable Kansas sales tax if you are a Kansas resident, total $23.10 per book) to cover the cost of publishing, mailing and handling your copy of the book. A WEEK AT KANSAS STATE. This is a special, pre-publication price for the AWAKS book.

The book will be a 10" x 14", 168-page high-quality "coffee table" publication containing nearly 70 pages of full color. Shipping date is expected to be during September 1987, in time for the Christmas holidays next year. Fill out the card as indicated below and include a check for the proper amount and mail to: KSU Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. You will be allowed to order up to three (3) copies at this special pre-publication price, which includes shipping and handling.

I/we wish to order _____ copy(ies) of the hard cover book, A WEEK AT KANSAS STATE, at $22.00 each (plus $1.10 applicable Kansas resident sales tax). Enclosed is a check or money order for $_____ to cover total costs of the publication, including shipping and handling. Advance orders will be shipped first (in September 1987).

Book(s) should be sent to:

Name _____
Mailing Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____

A WEEK AT

OCTOBER 12 - 19, 1986

KANSAS STATE

Illustration by Steve Rasmussen

The Nutritional Treasure From the Sea

FISH

By STACEY NANNINGA
Collegian Reporter

When warm temperatures cause spring fever to hit, get out of the house, grab a fishing pole and head for some of the waters that surround Manhattan. It's the time of year to do some fishing.

Not only is fishing a good reason to get out of the house, it can help cut food costs. When hooking that trophy-winning fish, a prime concern should be how to keep it fresh until you get it home and into the frying pan.

Fish flesh begins to deteriorate the moment the fish is dead, and the flavor begins to fade. The fish should be eaten as soon as possible after it is taken from the water. To keep a catch alive while trying for more, there are a few basics to consider.

According to "The Complete Fish Cookbook" by Dan and Inez Morris, there are some ways to help keep the fish alive and fresh. Attach a stringer (the type that is fitted with a series of clasps that work like safety pins) to a boat cleat, oar lock, low-hanging tree limb, ground stake or whatever. Pin it through both lips of the fish and dangle it in the water, allowing enough slack line for the fish to swim deeper than the sun's rays can penetrate.

To clean the fish, clobber it over the head to kill it. Using a sharp knife, slit the stomach open, starting at the anus and slicing forward to the head. Remove the innards by hand, using your knife if needed. Scrape away the blood alongside the spine with the blunt side of the knife tip and/or the back of your fingernail.

To remove the scales, lay the fish on its side. Holding the fish down by the tail, remove the scales by scraping the dull edge of a knife or a scaler along the skin from tail to head. Turn the fish over and repeat.

To remove the fins, place the fish on one side again, insert the tip of a sharp, pointed knife at one end of the fin to the depth of 1/4 to 1/2 inch, depending on the size of the fish, and run the blade up one side of the fin. Then repeat on the other side of the fin with the blade leaning in toward the first cut so that the two form a rough "V".

Now is time to clean out the inside more thoroughly. Completely scrape away all the blood you missed earlier. Cut away any bits and pieces of entrails that may have remained. Hold under cold water and let the water clean the fish both inside and out. Place the fish in a covered dish or wrap in freezer paper.

Filleting a fish requires skills you can only acquire through experience. But it is worth learning because filleting is a quick method of de-boning and cleaning the fish. Fillets are also called for in many recipes.

A good filleting knife, one with a thin, narrow, flexible, sharp blade made of good steel is needed to fillet.

Lay the fish on its side and slice a long slab of flesh away from the spine. Start at the hind end and work forward for a fillet that has every possible bit of meat on it. Start just behind the gill covers for a fillet of the highest quality.

Slice gently through the flesh at the chosen starting point, but only slice until the knife blade just touches the backbone. Do not cut through it or into it. Turn the blade gently so that it lies parallel to the spine, the cutting edge facing the direction needed to be cut.

Slowly, smoothly, steadily, firmly work the blade along the spine, thus separating the meat from the bone. Turn the fish on the other side and repeat the process.

Once the fillets are removed, the skin can be left or removed depending on personal preference. To remove, place the fillet skin side down on your cutting board. Using a knife, work just enough flesh away from the skin so that it can be gripped. Turn the knife blade flat against the skin. Get a tight grip on the skin and run the blade forward, pulling on the skin as it goes. Put a bit more emphasis on the pulling than the cutting and the skin will come away nicely.

When buying fresh fish at the market, there are ways to determine the freshest fish. Prime seafood is fragrant, even sweet-smelling and does not smell "fishy." The fish's eyes should be clear and full, not milky or sunken. The flesh of a fresh fish is firm and elastic; when pressed it should not feel soft and fingers should not leave an indentation.

The gills should be bright red, not muddy gray. Skin color should be characteristic, with no red or other off colors. Steaks and fillets should appear moist and firm, clean-cut, with no yellowing or browning at the edges.

Information for this article was taken from "The Complete Fish Cookbook," by Dan and Inez Morris; "The Encyclopedia of Fish Cookery," by A.J. McClane; and "Seafood As We Like It," by Anthony Spinazzola and Jean-Jacques Paimblanc.

HORSERADISH SAUCE

1/2 cup horseradish
1 tablespoon flour
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup half-and-half
In a small saucepan combine horseradish, flour, paprika and salt. Stir in half-and-half.
Stir constantly until thickened. Makes approximately 1 1/2 cups sauce.

TARTAR SAUCE

1 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons chopped dill pickle
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped Spanish olives
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Dash of pepper
Combine all ingredients and chill. Makes 2 cups of sauce.

FISH AND VEGETABLE DINNER

1 pound fish fillets, fresh or frozen
1 cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons margarine or cooking oil
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt

Dash of pepper

1 13-ounce can evaporated milk
2 cups sliced boiled potatoes
1 10-ounce package frozen peas and carrots, thawed
Paprika
Thaw fish if frozen. Cut fillets into 1-inch pieces.

Cook onion in margarine or oil in a saucepan just until tender. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk, stirring constantly until thickened.

Add vegetables; heat until bubbly. Fold in fish.

Pour into a shallow 1 1/2-quart casserole dish and cover with aluminum foil, crimping it to the edge of the dish. Bake at 350 degrees F. for about 30 minutes; then uncover and continue cooking 5-10 minutes more until bubbly and fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Sprinkle with paprika. Serves four.

FLOUNDER IN WINE SAUCE

2 pounds flounder fillets or other fish fillets, fresh or frozen
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Dash of pepper

3 tomatoes, sliced

1/2 teaspoon salt
Additional dash of pepper
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1/2 cup skim milk
1/2 cup dry white wine
1/2 teaspoon crushed basil
Chopped parsley

Thaw fillets if frozen. Skin fillets and sprinkle on both sides with 1/2 teaspoons salt and dash of pepper. Place fillets in a single layer in a greased baking dish. Arrange tomatoes on top of fillets. Sprinkle with remaining salt and pepper.

In a saucepan blend flour into melted butter. Add milk gradually and cook over medium heat until sauce is thick and smooth, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat; stir in wine and basil. Pour sauce over tomatoes and fish.

Bake at 350 degrees F. for 25-30 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Sprinkle with parsley. Serves six.

Approximately 180 calories per serving.

Recipes were taken from "The Complete Seafood Book," by James Wagenvoort and Woodman Harris.

Seafood contributes to healthy, sound diet

By MARGARET MAY
Features Editor

Seafood, the gift from the sea, may also be a vital gift for the human body. The nutritious value of fish and other seafood has recently come into play in numerous diets and studies.

Early signs of the trend of eating fish for its nutritional value appeared in 1978 when seafood became the No. 1 entree in the restaurant industry.

Seafood is becoming better known for its contributions to health maintenance and healing, and the correlation between seafood consumption and improved cardiovascular efficiency.

Fish and shellfish contain a high proportion of protein that is rich in amino acids needed to repair and generate body tissue. This protein, from either lean or fatty fish, is 85 to 95 percent digestible, ensuring that the body will use it efficiently. Four ounces of most types of fish will supply about half of the daily protein requirement.

The June 10, 1985, issue of U.S. News & World Report cited three studies published in the New England Journal of Medicine that showed eating fish is good for a person's health.

Doctors at the University of Leiden in Holland monitored 852 Dutchmen over a 20-year period. About 20 percent of them consumed no fish at all, while the rest of them ate up to 11 ounces a day. Results showed that the risk of fatal heart attacks was reduced by 50 percent or more in those men who had at least one ounce of fish a day, compared with those who ate no fish at all.

"The consumption of as little as one or two fish dishes per week may be of preventive value in relation to coronary heart disease," suggest the study's authors.

The second report in the same journal indicates that a diet rich in fish oil can reduce fat content in blood and therefore reduce the overall risk of heart disease.

At the Oregon Health Sciences University in Portland, doctors examined 20 patients with hypertriglyceridemia, an excess of fat in the blood that has been linked to heart disease.

In successive four-week periods the patients received a diet high in vegetable oil and then switched to a diet high in fish oil. This experiment resulted in an almost 50 percent decrease in the fat content in the blood with the fish-oil diet, compared to a near 20 percent decrease with the vegetable-oil diet.

In a third experiment using fish, doctors at the Harvard Medical School gave seven healthy men fish-oil supplements in their diet for six weeks. The supplements acted on white blood cells in such a way that the risk of inflammation in the joints and the lungs was reduced.

Fish is a healthy way to lose weight and at the same time maintain a healthy diet. Low-fat fish and shellfish normally contain fewer than 100 calories per four-ounce serving, compared to a four-ounce serving of beef that may supply well over 300 calories.

Vitamins are also a benefit one gets from eating fish. Seafood contains large amounts of phosphorus, potassium and iron. Phosphorus combined with calcium builds bones and teeth. It is also needed for metabolism, body chemistry and nerve and muscle function. Potassium helps regulate fluid balance and is also needed for nerve and muscle function and metabolism. Iron is essential for making hemoglobin, the red substance in blood that carries oxygen to body cells.

Certain fatty fish such as salmon, trout and tuna are high in vitamin D, which helps build and maintain teeth and bones, and enhances calcium absorption. Lean fish, such as flounder, cod, perch and bass, supply an adequate amount of B vitamins that enhance energy by promoting metabolism, promote normal appetite and digestion and proper nerve function.

Eating fresh seafood at least three times a week is recommended for a balanced, nutritional diet. With more than 100 varieties to choose from, even the most finicky eater should be able to find one to suit his or her palate.

Information for this article was taken from "The Complete Seafood Book, An Insider's Guide to Shopping, Preparing, and Enjoying the Harvest of the Sea," by James Wagenvoort and Woodman Harris.

Agent Orange settlement upheld

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK — A class-action settlement for Vietnam veterans who claimed the chemical Agent Orange caused medical problems was substantially affirmed Tuesday by a federal appeals court.
There had been scores of appeals of the $180 million settlement, reached in May 1984, and the plan for distributing the money, which has grown to more than $220 million with interest.

"The court will make every effort to get the money to the veterans as soon as possible, subject to further appeals," said U.S. District Judge Jack B. Weinstein, who had approved the distribution plan.
Weinstein previously had ruled that no money could be paid to Vietnam veterans or their families until the appeals process is concluded.

Since plaintiffs would have faced "formidable hurdles" in proving their case in a trial, the out-of-court settlement was reasonable even though some veterans argued that it was too low, the court said.
The class action, first brought in 1979, claimed the chemical defoliant, widely used in Southeast Asia during the Vietnam War, was responsible for a host of medical problems, including cancer and birth defects.

Refugees

Continued from Page 1
has determined the immigration laws are discriminatory, the plight of the refugees both in the United States and those still in Guatemala and El Salvador has not changed, she said.
The immigration office still sees people coming to the United States for asylum as economic rather than political refugees, Golden said. In addition, the refugees are still being coerced to voluntarily return home, and they have no access to immigration lawyers.

Before the refugees are sent back to their countries by the U.S. government, they are sent to detention centers similar to those used for Japanese Americans during World War II, Golden said.
In El Centro, one such center outside of Los Angeles, a white sheet with the Spanish words, "In the name of God, help us," hung like a flag on a pole, Golden said.
This is what the Sanctuary and underground railroads are for — to help the oppressed of the Central American countries, she said.
The sanctuary movement began five years ago in response to the influx of refugees in Texas and Arizona, Golden said. In the past five years, 100,000 people have become involved in the movement, and 350 organizations and groups have publicly declared themselves sanctuaries, she said.

In addition, the sanctuary movement is now active in two states, 19 cities, 12 graduate student unions and one union hall.
"In (El) Salvador and Guatemala, the people will not defeat the insurgent hope," Golden said. "This insurgent hope continues, and that is the miracle that has come to us."

League

Continued from Page 1
however.
Currently, of the six commercial low-level radioactive waste sites in the United States, three are known to have caused contamination and one is under investigation. One example is a site at West Valley, N.Y., where cleanup costs are now estimated at $900 million.
John Lambert, director of public safety at K-State and a speaker at the presentation, said he wanted people to realize where the "economic benefits" realized by the host state were going to be coming from.
"We're going to pay it, because we're going to dispose of (the waste)," he said.

Lambert said a comparison of the five states in the compact found that Arkansas produces 29,000 cubic feet of low-level radioactive waste per year; Kansas, 14,000 cubic feet; Louisiana, 37,000 cubic feet; Nebraska, 33,000 cubic feet; and Oklahoma, 6,500 cubic feet, for a total of about 120,000 cubic feet per year.
These figures are the 1982-1985 averages listed in Phase II of the Dames and Moore Report. Dames and Moore is a New York-based firm hired by the compact to make predictions for planning and selecting a facility site.

The report was unanimously rejected by the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee and is scheduled to be disavowed by Gov. Mike Hayden at a meeting of the Waste Compact Friday in Kansas City, Mo. The meeting was formed to allow representatives from the compact to discuss and debate their options.
One major discrepancy found in the report is the amount of radioactive waste generated annually by the state of Oklahoma. A report by The Radioactive Exchange showed that in 1986 Oklahoma shipped nearly 50,000 cubic feet of low-level radioactive waste to three operating sites in the United States — eight times the volume indicated in the Dames and Moore report.
In addition, Dale McCord, of the Oklahoma Department of Health, confirmed the existence of 2.3 million cubic feet of low-level radioactive sludge now being stored at the Sequoyah Fuels Corp. facility owned by Kerr-McGee at Gore, Okla.
In a letter dated Nov. 14, 1986, John C. Stauter of Kerr-McGee informed the Nuclear Regulatory Commission that Kerr-McGee would make an effort to reduce the quantity of waste by changing it to solid form, but added that the waste would eventually be disposed of at the Central Interstate Compact Commission disposal facility.

Lambert refused to comment on whether he believed Kansas should stay in the compact.
K-State produces a small amount of low-level radioactive waste, Lambert said. Chemical wastes are shipped to storage sites in other states, while low-level radioactive wastes are buried in a lot on the Agronomy Research Farm.
Most of the material labeled and disposed of as radioactive waste at K-State is not actually radioactive, Lambert said. However, to save the time involved in sorting the waste, it is usually labeled "radioactive."
Before adjourning, the Kansas Legislature passed a law banning the burial of radioactive wastes within state boundaries.
"If we can't bury it, then we will monitor the material and probably throw the safe material into the regular trash," Lambert said.
The radioactive material will have to be shipped to a disposal site, he said.

Collegian Classifieds
Cheap, but Effective

Have Immediate Access to Over 5000 Pages of Data!

Tandy 1000 SX

With Monitor and 20-Megabyte Hard Disk System

Incredible Value!

$1599

Low As $74 Per Month*

Reg. Separate
Items 1777.95

- Tandy 1000 SX Computer With a Built-In Floppy Disk Drive
- Internal 20-Megabyte Hard Disk Card Stores 5,000 Pages of Data
- VM-4 Monochrome Monitor

Get this powerful system for fast, reliable access to large accounting, inventory and database applications—simply add software. The 384K Tandy 1000 SX is IBM® PC-compatible, so you choose among the best programs on the market. Go to work the very first day with the included DeskMate II™ program featuring six ready-to-use applications on one disk.

*Call Line revolving credit. Payment may vary depending on balance. System includes 25-1052, 25-1029 and 25-1020. IBM/Registered TM International Business Machines Corp. DeskMate II/TM Tandy Corp.

Radio Shack
ASSOCIATE STORE
PLUS COMPUTER DEPT.

MANHATTAN, KANSAS

2809 Anderson
In Anderson Square
639-6151

CONGRATULATIONS

TO ALL NEW UPC MEMBERS FOR 1986-1987!

John Miller, UPC President

ARTS

Amy Tumpes, Chairperson
Angie Applebee
Shalene Davis
Michelle Hirschler
Greg Martin
Kendall McMinimy
Dawn Piper
Syndee Southerland
Kristi Stueckrath
Traci Walker
Stephanie Weldon

ECLECTIC ENTERTAINMENT

Lydee Hawkins, Chairperson
Pat Berry
Aaron Krebs
Brad Mitchell
Linda Mooney
Lynn O'Mera
Rick Overton
Lisa Perry
Monte Stull
Scott Wiles

FEATURE FILMS

Mike Ribble, Chairperson
Annette Deneault
Chris Dunitz
David Grant
Brian Hickman
Kristi Hogan
Dale Huey
Vince Huser
Andrea Hutchins
Jody Isch
Mike Legleiter
David Lunsford
Tammy Savaiano
Tammy Schuckman
Tammera Sjogren
Tammy Wewers

ISSUES AND IDEAS

Eva Chatterjee, Chairperson
Michele Bollier
Tony Branfort
Mathew Bretz
Christine Clark
Carrie Helmke
Jason Hornberger
Sammy Kayara
Phil Nordhus
Rick Roberts
Nancy Stone
Lynn Taylor

KALEIDOSCOPE

Kristen Schlender, Chairperson
Lisa Altenbernd
Andrew Broce
Kate Bromert
Deborah Dinges
Dacia Fankhauser
Adam Hawley
Ann Iseman
Christy Meyer
Ted Orth
David Pittman
Jennifer Prather
Matt Sears
Shelby Shanks
Andrea Smading
Jerome Wasinger
David Watson

OUTDOOR RECREATION

David Stewart, Chairperson
Ed Bennett
Diego Estrada
Darin Hoover
Sarah Kobs
Mike McClellan
Jim Phalen
Sietske Saunders
Angie Sieffert
Carol Tiemeyer
Ted Wald

PROMOTIONS

Cathy Gareis, Chairperson
Pam Besler
Heather Moss
Barb Sell
Susan Smith
Jodi Swengel
Randy Traylor
Kevin Walter

SPECIAL EVENTS

Mike Webb, Chairperson
Molly Clifford
Patrick Duegaw
Shannon Fuller
Rob Hanson
Doug Heller
Ron Malek
Stephanie Mann
Stacy Myles
David Sell

TRAVEL

Kathi Robertson, Chairperson
Tom Butler
Shannon Duerksen
Christian Forrer
Jim Gregory
Teffani Muirhead
Lois Starr

UPC

Wednesday, April 22, 1987

For more information on any UPC event, call 532-6571

k-state union
upc eclectic entertainment

TODAY in the Catskeller,
11:30 a.m.,
Admission is free

The Graf Brothers are a progressive acoustic duo from Chicago. Recognizes as accomplished writers and musicians, critics have compared their style to artists such as Paul Simon, Elvis Costello and Sting.

Too Thick to Drink... Too Thin to Walk on Graf Brothers

"WORKS ON PAPER"
by Cima Naomi Katz through May 8

k-state union
upc arts

In this animated Disney classic, Cruella De Vil, an evil woman prepossessed with owning Dalmation fur coats, kidnaps 15 puppies. The parents of the puppies, with the help of their canine friends, track down the villains only to find 84 other puppies! Then the chase is on between Cruella and her gang and the 101 Dalmatians.

Saturday, April 25, 2 p.m. and Sunday, April 26, 2 & 7 p.m. All shows in Forum Hall $1.50; KSU ID Required; Rated G

k-state union
upc feature films

WALT DISNEY'S CLASSIC

BACKPACK

The Adirondacks in Upstate New York
May 17-24, 1987

Trip includes: meals on trail, cooking equipment, trail and road maps
Cost is $39
Sign-up continues in Activities Center, K-State Union 3rd Floor from 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

k-state union
upc outdoor rec.

UPC Issues and Ideas

PRESENTS A

FORUM ON ABORTION

Tuesday April 28 — 8 p.m.

UNION LITTLE THEATRE

Panelists include Glenda Gould, Director-Dreamhouse, Inc., Rev. Rod Saunders, Ecumenical Christian Ministries, Dr. Rudy Haun, Obstetrics, Gynecology and Infertility, Rev. David DeShazo, Westview Community Church, and Gail Hamilton, Lobbyist for NOW.

k-state union
upc issues & ideas

Italian director Federico Fellini brings his unique understanding of humanity to this satire of television and modern life. It is the story of a pair of over-the-hill Astaire and Rogers imitators reunited after thirty years for an extravagant Christmas TV special. Stars Marcello Mastroianni.

Today, 7:30 p.m., Forum Hall, and Tomorrow, 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre, and 7:30 p.m., Forum Hall $1.75; KSU ID Required; Rated PG-13

The movie that watches television through the eyes of Fellini.

FEDERICO FELLINI
GINGER & FRED

He's survived the most hostile and primitive land known to man. Now all he's got to do is make it through a week in New York.

PAUL HOGAN
"Crocodile" DUNDEE
There's a little of him in all of us.

Friday, April 24, and
Saturday, April 25, 7 & 9:30 p.m.

All shows in
Forum Hall
$1.75; KSU ID
Required;
Rated PG-13

k-state union
upc feature films

K-State shortstop Scott Spangenberg hurls the ball to first after snagging a line drive as Creighton University baserunner Eric Boddie slides safely into second base. The Wildcats capitalized on two sixth-inning throwing errors by Creighton third baseman Pat Mascia to score two runs and post an 8-6 comeback victory.

Staff/Brett Hacker

Brewers' shot at mark fails in loss to Sox

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO — The Milwaukee Brewers' record-tying 13-game winning streak from the start of the season ended Tuesday night when they lost to the Chicago White Sox 7-1 on home runs by Donnie Hill and Greg Walker.

Starter Joel Davis, with relief help from Jim Winn, thwarted Milwaukee's bid for a major-league record 14-0 start.

The Brewers set the American League record for the best start when they won No. 12 Sunday with a five-run rally in the ninth inning for a 6-4 victory over Texas. They matched the major-league record of 13 straight set by Atlanta in 1982 by rallying Monday night to beat Chicago 5-4. In all, the Brewers won eight of the 13 games by coming from behind.

But, it was not another come-from-behind night for Milwaukee, which trailed 5-0 after three innings.

The White Sox jumped on rookie Mark Ciardi, 1-1, for five runs in the first three innings and Davis, 1-1, checked Milwaukee on four hits before departing in the sixth.

Hill put the White Sox ahead in the first inning when he hit a 2-0 pitch into the upper deck in right field for his second homer.

Ivan Calderon singled to open the Chicago second, stole second and scored on a single by Tim Lincecum. Ozzie Guillen doubled Hulett to third and both runners scored on Gary Redus' single.

Daryl Boston hit a sacrifice fly in the third for a 5-0 lead.

Walker hit a two-run homer, his second, in the seventh after Hill walked.

The Brewers hit into three double plays and did not threaten until the eighth, when Jim Ganter doubled and scored on Paul Molitor's single.

The Brewers knew their winning streak wouldn't last all season. But they are hoping the confidence they have acquired through an incredible string of victories will.

"I think it was very important for us to get off to a good start, especially if we felt like we were going to have a good season," said Robin Yount, a 14-year veteran who finds himself surrounded by a dozen first- and second-year players.

"Their experience is very limited. It (a good start) was a key for us to have a decent season and we've done that."

"One thing about these young players, though, if you look at their minor league records, winning is not all that strange to them. They've all come up from championship minor league teams."

Several played on a championship team at Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League in 1985 under current Brewers Manager Tom Trebelhorn.

The 39-year-old Trebelhorn has mixed the youth with the experience of veterans like Yount, Paul Molitor and Jim Gantner and, at least through the first 13 games, developed a winning blend.

"This is a special group of guys and they're in a special situation right now," Trebelhorn said Monday night after his team beat the Chicago White Sox to tie the major league record for the quickest start.

Creighton errors key Wildcats' win

By TOM MORRIS
Sports Editor

It was a classic example of reversing the roles of hero and goat during Tuesday afternoon's baseball game between K-State and Creighton at Frank Myers Field.

Creighton third baseman Pat Mascia started out to be a hero. His shot to the base of the fence in deep right-center field — which Coach Mike Clark said should have been caught by Wildcat right fielder Tom Parsons — turned into a three-run triple and gave Creighton a 6-4 lead after 5½ innings of play.

But Parsons quickly dumped the goat role in the bottom of the sixth with a two-run triple over the center fielder's head to knot the score at 6-6.

Mascia's two consecutive errors later in the same inning scored the eventual winning runs in K-State's 8-6 victory.

"We had a little breakdown out in the outfield on that triple that should have been caught, but the kids came back real well," Clark said. "(Parsons)...made a bad defensive play but then made a good offensive play to get us back even."

"It was a good win for us," the first-year head coach added. "It was a great way to start the last three weeks of the (regular) season."

K-State improved to 21-18 overall. Creighton, which committed five errors and allowed five unearned runs, dropped to 25-13.

The Wildcats, who play Washburn at 4 p.m. today at Frank Myers Field, took a 2-0 lead against Creighton in the bottom of the third inning.

After Scott Spangenberg walked on five pitches and Russ Ringenberg was safe on a first baseman's error, Leo Seiler two outs later ripped a single to left field to give the 'Cats the early advantage.

K-State increased its lead to 4-0 in the bottom of the fifth inning. Parsons walked and moved to second on a passed ball and Mike Hinkle reached first safely on the first of Mascia's three errors.

Otto Kaifes, who extended his hitting streak to 19 games, then hit a two-run double before Blue Jays' starter Dave Driggers retired the side.

Creighton then exploded for five runs in the top of the sixth off K-State starter Paul Iseman. After walking the leadoff batter, Iseman gave up two singles, a balk and another walk before he was replaced by Mike Hamacher.

"Paul threw really well the first part of the ball game," Clark said, "then he got a little tired."

Hamacher pitched to three batters in the fifth, surrendered the triple to Mascia and a walk to left fielder Gary Selvera before being pulled for Marty Darnell.

Darnell, who got the win to move to 3-0, in the last 3½ innings gave up just one hit and struck out three.

"That's the way he was in Missouri," Clark said. "I don't know if he had a baserunner against him against Missouri in four games and he did the same thing today. He was throwing strikes," Clark said.

After Creighton's starter retired the first two batters in the bottom of the sixth inning, Spangenberg and Ringenberg hit back-to-back singles and Parsons ripped his triple to center field for two RBI to tie the game.

Eventual loser Scott Novak, who replaced Driggers, didn't receive much defensive help. After issuing a walk to Hinkle, Novak, 3-1, coaxed Kaifes and Seiler into hitting grounders to the left side of the infield. But the Jays' third baseman responded with two errant throws and K-State scored twice more in the inning for its final margin of victory.

Washburn, today's opponents for the 'Cats, were 33-11 and ranked No. 22 in the NAIA polls going into Tuesday's double-header with Emporia State.

In their last meeting with the Ichabods in Manhattan, the Wildcats outlasted Washburn in a 14-11 slugfest. Hamacher, Kaifes and Jim Donohue combined to drive in seven runs as K-State snapped an 8-8 deadlock in the sixth inning with a five-run rally.

Creighton	ab	r	h	bi	K-State	ab	r	h	bi
Gadsden	4	1	0	0	Ringenberg	5	2	1	0
Meier	4	1	1	0	Parsons	4	2	1	3
Fleita	3	1	0	0	Hinkle	2	2	0	0
Dahn	4	1	1	1	Kaifes	3	0	2	2
Servais	3	1	0	0	Seiler	4	0	1	1
Barbato	4	0	1	0	Greco	0	0	0	0
Mascia	4	1	1	3	Haines	4	0	0	0
Selvera	3	0	1	0	Donohue	4	0	0	0
Boddie	3	0	1	1	Hulse	4	0	0	0
Totals	32	6	6	6	Spangenberg	2	2	1	0

Creighton 8, K-State 6. 000 006 000-6
K-State 1, Creighton 4. 002 021 005-8
E—Dahn, Fleita, Mascia (3). Game-winning RBI—None.
DP—K-State 1, LOB—Creighton 4, K-State 7. 2B—Kaifes.
3B—Mascia, Parsons.

Creighton	IP	H	R	E	R	B	B	S	O
Driggers	5½	5	6	3	4	3
Novak (L 3-1)	2½	1	2	0	3	2

K-State	IP	H	R	E	R	B	B	S	O
Iseman	5½	4	5	5	4	3
Hamacher	½	1	1	1	1	0
Darnell (W 3-0)	3½	1	0	0	0	3

PB—Barbato, Balk—Iseman. T—2:40. A—25.

Briefly In Sports

Soccer players to get scholarships

The Ed Chartrand Memorial Scholarship has been established at K-State and will be awarded to students from the Kansas City Metropolitan area who plan to play intercollegiate soccer for the Wildcats.

The fund honors Edward C. Chartrand, a Leawood native, who died May 20, 1979, at the age of 22. He earned his bachelor of science degree in business administration from K-State and was a member of the Wildcat soccer club. He was employed as an examiner with the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City.

The scholarship will be awarded to students in any curriculum. Recipients will be notified by coaches and peers and consideration will be given to overall soccer ability, enthusiasm for the game, academic achievement, sportsmanship, leadership and civic concern. Recipients' names will be publicized in connection with the annual Ed Chartrand Memorial Soccer Tournament in Kansas City next fall.

The annual award will be $500 and the funds will be managed by the KSU Foundation. The scholarship has been created by the Chartrand Family.

Tennis squad splits Big 8 matches

It went both ways for the K-State women's tennis team Friday and Saturday, but mainly it went good.

The Wildcats lost 6-3 to Nebraska Friday in Lincoln, but came back strong Saturday and defeated Iowa State, 5-4, at Ames in K-State's last regular-season match.

Wildcats Lena Svensson, Valerie Rive and Kristy Line picked up victories against Nebraska. K-State was victorious at the No. 1 through No. 4 singles position against Iowa State.

Varsity crew remains undefeated

The K-State men's varsity-eight crew rowed to victory in the State Championship races at Topeka Saturday, increasing its win streak to five.

The women's varsity-eight crew came in third behind Kansas' A and B crews. The freshman men came in third in the men's novice eight race. The women's freshmen crew placed fifth in the women's novice eight.

Soccer team picks up win over KU

The K-State men's soccer team emerged victorious over the University of Kansas, 3-2, in its lone home match Saturday.

K-State scored first off a goal by Ed Bennett and led 1-0 at halftime. The Wildcats picked up their second goal early in the second half, but Kansas picked up two quick goals and tied the score at 2-2.

Coach sculpts quality football players

By BILL LANG
Sports Writer

Call K-State's football linebacker coach Rich Rachel a sculptor of human qualities. In discussing his coaching techniques, Rachel said he sculpts qualities of leadership, determination and intensity into his players.

"We don't want the linebackers here to be just vocal leaders," Rachel said. "We also want them to be able to show the way."

Assistant Coaches of K-State

Rachel knows the qualities that make a linebacker an intimidating force on the field. Rachel has more than 10 years of experience in the coaching field and more than five years of dealing with the defensive side of the game.

"When Coach (Stan) Parrish hired me, I knew that this program could only go forward. (K-State) has a tradition of great linebackers."

Rachel knows both sides of K-State — from coaching both for and against the Wildcats. Rachel was the defensive backs' coach at the University of Kansas in Lawrence from 1979-82.

Overall, he said, the Big Eight Conference is one of the hardest-hitting leagues in the country.

"When I first coached against them (K-State), they were a hard-hitting club," Rachel said. "I then went to the ACC (Atlantic Coast Conference) where Rachel was linebacker and defensive coord-

Staff/Brett Hacker

Linebacker coach Rich Rachel, who has been coaching for 10 years, hopes to nurture the qualities of leadership, determination and intensity of the players he coaches, making K-State's football team stronger.

dinator for North Carolina State from 1982-85) and since returning, the entire league has become dominant with linebackers.

"While at Kansas, when we played against K-State we knew we physically were going to be tested and really hit and hit hard," he added.

Rachel said while in the Big Eight, he discovered other teams around the conference don't particularly care about playing at K-State. That's something he wants to change.

"Some teams don't relish coming to play here in Manhattan," Rachel said. "In a way it's an insult. But if we lose to those teams, we want them riding the bus home that night saying, 'Boy, they're tough.'"

"If somebody like Oklahoma or Nebraska comes in thinking we're just another tune-up game for them, we'll make sure that they never think that way again," he added.

"We're going to make every game a battle. We're going to start earning a little respect around the league."

This year that respect earned from Big Eight opponents could start with senior linebackers Matt Wallerstedt and David Wallace.

"Matt and David have really shown some intensity these past three weeks," said Rachel of their play during spring football drills.

"Last fall they had a good campaign and they're showing no signs of letting up. Some players coming into their last campaigns slack off thinking they can do that because they are seniors."

"These two have gone out and improved every day," he added. "Right now we aren't as deep at the position as I would like to be, but we have a couple of kids coming in from the (junior college) ranks who will be ready by game day. And by game day, we should have six quality players who should do very well."

Nazi head returns to U.S.S.R.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW — Karl Linnas, who lost his eight-year battle against deportation from the United States, was delivered to the Soviet Union on Tuesday where he may face a firing squad on charges of killing thousands of prisoners in a Nazi death camp.

The 67-year-old Linnas was flown from New York to Czechoslovakia and handed over to the Soviets. The official Soviet news agency Tass said he was put on a flight and taken to Tallinn, capital of his native Estonia.

A handcuffed Linnas struggled with U.S. officials Monday night when he was put aboard a Czechoslovak airliner at Kennedy International Airport. He shouted that police were carrying out a "murder and kidnapping" by sending him to the Soviet Union where he has been sentenced to death.

When the plane landed in Prague on Tuesday he was transferred to a Soviet plane for the flight to Soviet Estonia on the Baltic Sea.

Linnas directed a Nazi concentration camp in the Estonian city of Tartu during the early years of World War II and is accused of involvement in the execution of thousands of people, mostly Jewish women and children.

Tass said, "He staged and conducted mass executions of Soviet citizens and personally took part in them." Tass said more than 12,000 people died at Tartu.

Foreign Ministry spokesman Genady Gerasimov told a Moscow news briefing that Linnas is under sentence of death based on a 1962 Soviet trial in absentia. Death sentences are carried out by firing squad.

"The criminal has been condemned. He was sentenced to capital punishment," Gerasimov told reporters. "He's entitled to ask for a pardon."

Asked whether Linnas would be allowed to speak to reporters upon arrival in the Soviet Union, Gerasimov replied, "I don't think he's the kind of hero to take pictures of."

Linnas' long struggle against deportation was based on allegations that the Soviet Union falsified evidence about his wartime activities. He entered the United States in 1951, lived in Greenlawn, N.Y. and became an American citizen.

Classifieds

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour products. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (119-150)

FIELDS OF FAIR—We are now open for the season and are taking bookings for barn parties, hall and farewell parties, barbecues, cookouts, promotion parties, reunions, graduation parties and weddings. Phone 539-5328. (125-150)

SUMMER WORK—Find out how two K-State students made over $11,000 between them in a sales and business management program last summer. Must be willing to relocate. Call 776-2564. (138-140)

MARY KAY Cosmetics. Check out our new individual lip and eye colors. 539-9469, Janet Milliken. (138-150)

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE offered to lead singers in choir—Fall 1987. Application deadline May 1. Call First Lutheran Church, 537-8532. (139-141)

73 OVERWEIGHT people needed to try new chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Call 776-5114. 776-1465. (140-150)

SAELIL Sisters, Paddy Murphy "Reading of the Will" party for you! Thursday night at 8:00. See you there! (140)

ATTENTION

OVERWEIGHT? WANT to feel better? New chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry herbal weight control program available. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Get away from diet jitters. On campus daily. 784-6065 evenings/weekends. (132-150)

FOR RENT—MISC

RENTAL TYPEWRITERS—Correcting and non-correcting. Typewriter ribbons for sale, service available. Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville. 539-1413. (271)

INEXPENSIVE, SELF-storage units. Why take all your stuff home this summer? Three months storage only $60. Amherst Self-Storage, 776-3804. (138-150)

FOR RENT—APTS

TWO AND three bedroom near campus. Central air, one and one-half bath. Available June and August. 537-8800. (1101f)

LOOKING FOR nice but reasonably priced apartments? One, two, three and four bedroom apartment complexes and houses for now, summer and fall. Most nearly new and close to campus. 537-2919. 537-1666. (111-146)

KSU Students

- * June 1 & August 1 leases
- * 2-Bedroom Apartments—Close to KSU
- * $360-$399
- * Furnished & Unfurnished (Quality Furniture)
- * Decks, Dishwasher
- * Parking Permit

776-1222
After 5 p.m. and weekends—537-2098

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM, five blocks from campus. Air conditioning. Available August 1. No pets. $325. Phone 776-0181. (1211f)

PRE-LEASING ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. One bedroom, near campus, $275 to $290. Two bedroom near campus. $335 to $355. Call 776-9124. (1221f)

GOOD SELECTION of one and two-bedroom apartments available for June or August leasing. Call McCullough Development, 776-3804. (123-146)

AVAILABLE NOW and August. Unfurnished one-bedroom, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, $265 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

AVAILABLE JUNE or August, almost new, three-bedroom, one and one-half bath, fully equipped kitchen. Call 537-2255. (1121f)

ONE LARGE bedroom, completely furnished, laundry facilities in the complex. One block from the campus. $300. Call 537-7980. (1121f)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, close to campus. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities in the complex. Available August. $420. Call 537-7810. (1121f)

FREE RENT last month of yearly lease. Ten months available in August. Various locations, no pets. After April 1 call 537-8389. (1191f)

BLOCK WEST of campus, June or August, one-bedroom, furnished, $240. Call 539-5051 after 1 p.m., or see Dave, apartment 4, at 1024 Sunset. (1311f)

ONE-HALF block east of campus, 1212 Thurston, for June. Two-bedroom, furnished, up to three people, $330. Phone 539-5059 after 1 p.m. (1311f)

MONT BLUE APARTMENTS
2 & 12 month leases

- 1 & 2 Bedroom Apartments and Townhouses
- Close to campus

539-4447

AVAILABLE FOR June or August—Furnished, large two-bedroom with off-campus location. Dishwasher, disposal, central air, carpeting throughout. No pets. $350 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

LARGE THREE-bedroom in a nine-plex with large closets, living room, dining area, fully-equipped kitchen. $150 each for three, $125 each for four. 822 Fremont. Available June 1 or August 1, 1987. Call 537-7087. (1271f)

UNIVERSITY TERRACE—Two- and three-bedroom apartments, swimming pool, spacious yard, laundry hookups and facilities. On the bike path to University. 537-2096. (127-147)

AVAILABLE, LARGE two-bedroom apartment, newly decorated. June 1, $360, plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

Great Apartments

- * Close to KSU & Aggieville
- * 1 & 2 Bedrooms
- * $290-$365
- * Unfurnished or Furnished (New)
- * Dishwasher/Central Air/Carpeted

Call 776-1222 or 539-7260

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, nice, large three-bedroom basement apartment, newly remodeled. $330 plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE, THREE-bedroom apartment, June 1. $400 plus utilities. Nice, newly decorated. 776-8393. (130-146)

NICE, ONE-bedroom in complex on the corner of Lee and Hunting, $325 or $340 with fireplace, June or August leasing. No pets, please. 776-3804. (1311f)

915 1/2 CLAFIN, walk-out basement, completely furnished two-bedroom. Redecorated August 1986, ample parking. Heat, water, trash paid. $340/month. One-year lease June 1st. 539-3085 or 539-6133. (1311f)

COMPLETELY FURNISHED, large basement apartment, suitable for two or three. Available June 1 lease. Everything paid. $400/month. 539-6133. (1311f)

Moore Management NOW RENTING APARTMENTS
(All Close to Campus!)
PRID-MOR APTS.
1215 Bertrand
2-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, dishwasher, furnished
$450
RAINTREE APTS.
1010 Thurston
2-bedroom, furnished, fireplace, dishwasher
$375-450
VILLA II
526 N. 14th
1-bedroom, furnished
$270
PHEASANT RIDGE
923 Fremont
2-bedroom, dishwasher
$350

For info call 539-1642 or 537-4567 after 7.
Call for special summer rates.

ONE, TWO, three-, four-bedroom apartments, close to campus. June occupancy. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

EFFICIENCIES, ONE and two-bedroom apartments, $165 to $290. Phone 776-6791 or 776-4805. (140-150)

BASEMENT APARTMENTS for June, one-bedroom, $200, three-bedroom, $270, bills paid. 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

DUPLEX, TWO bedroom, very nice. Furnished, air, gas, carpeted. No pets. June 1st. Phone 537-7334. (136-140)

NOW RENTING for 1987-88 school year, two-bedroom unfurnished apartments, 1026 Bluemont. Call 776-2092 for appointment. (136-150)

RENTING FOR 1987-88 school year, Schumann Apartments, 1119 Laramie. Luxury one-bedroom, furnished. 776-2092. (136-150)

NEAR K.S.U., three-bedroom, furnished basement apartment. Central air, washer and dryer, utilities paid. $480. Call 539-0368 after 6:30 p.m. (137-146)

COMPLETE FIRST floor of large apartment house, 724 Poyntz. Will accommodate three-four students. Unfurnished, no pets. 537-8389 for appointment. (1371f)

1 1/2 BLOCKS from campus, across from Aggieville, two-bedroom apartments, available June 1st. Furnished or unfurnished. 539-5702 after 5 p.m. (137-146)

FOR AUGUST, next to KSU, deluxe furnished two-bedroom apartment. Also, one-bedroom apartment. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (1381f)

NICE THREE bedrooms. One block to campus. August lease, furnished. Call Larry. 539-4641. (138-140)

ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment. Near City Park, deposit, no pets. $200/month. Call 539-7677. Available June 1st. (138-142)

1219 KEARNEY, Available June. One-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $195/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

1219 KEARNEY, Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

1219 KEARNEY, Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $300/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

814 THURSTON, Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $300/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

AFFORDABLE, QUIET, clean, well-maintained, large, furnished, one- and two-bedroom apartments for non-smoking married couple, working individuals or serious students. June lease. No pets, waterbeds. 537-9686. (138-142)

TWO-BEDROOM, close to Aggieville. Available end of May. $340/month. 537-1673. (139-143)

FOUR-BEDROOM, large, available June 1, year lease, phone Dixie. 539-1498. (1391f)

EFFICIENCY TWO rooms and bath. Across street campus. Available August 15. Phone Dixie. 539-1498. (1391f)

CENTENNIAL APARTMENTS—1832 Claflin Road (across Goodnow, Mariatt Halls), luxury furnished, two-bedroom ($390), one-bedroom ($290). Phone 539-2702, evenings. (139-150)

Now Renting HORIZON III
1212 Bluemont
(across campus & Aggieville)

- 2 Bedrooms
- All appliances
- Extended Bath
- Quality throughout
- June & August Occupancy

CALL 776-6791 or 539-8401

CLEAN, QUIET, furnished, two-bedroom apartment. Two blocks from campus. Call Jim, evenings. 776-1703. (139-142)

TELE-FIND. Landlords! List your rentals, only $20 per month on our computerized classified ads! 539-2255. (139-143)

ONE AND three-bedroom apartments for June, walk to K.S.U. 776-6063. (1401f)

FURNISHED, ONE-bedroom in complex, 1219 Claflin, next to campus. $260 plus electric. New paint and carpet, lease June 1 or August 1. No children or pets. Phone 537-1180. (140-150)

LUXURY, HUGE unfurnished two-bedroom, two-bath, all carpeted, luxury appliances, three blocks from campus. No pets. $360 plus utilities. Call 537-4000 or 776-7572. (140-150)

AVAILABLE AUGUST 15, nice, furnished one-bedroom apartment. Water, trash and two-thirds gas paid. Laundry facility. Graduate student or couple preferred. $260/month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (1401f)

Fall Leases

- * Fremont Apartments
- * Sandstone Apartments

Large 2 BR Units
537-9064

THREE-BEDROOM, two-bath apartment, perfect for three students. Very near campus. 539-8324. (1401f)

TWO OR three-bedroom apartments and townhouses with central air in a quiet neighborhood. For June or August. $395. Phone 537-0428 or 776-2425. (140-150)

COTTAGE: LIVE in a cottage for the price of an apartment. Available for fall, located southeast of campus. 539-7277 after 5:30 or weekends. (1401f)

ONE-BEDROOM, one-half block from campus, $265 includes utilities. 537-4851 after 5 p.m. (140-144)

LARGE ONE-bedroom basement apartment available June 1. Three blocks south of University Inn. Free washer and dryer, off street parking. $260. Phone 539-5921. (140-150)

HOUSE, THREE blocks KSU, four/five bedrooms, washer/dryer furnished, $600, 403 N. 16th, 776-1849 or 532-5549. (140-141)

FALL AND SUMMER LEASES
Adjacent to Campus
COLLEGE COURT APARTMENTS
1615 Anderson
PLATT APARTMENTS
1811 Platt
1 & 2 Bedroom Unfurnished
All Appliances
Air Conditioned
Private Parking
Laundry Facilities
$210-$330
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY FOUNDATION
8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
532-7166

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT. $190 per month. Gas, heat, and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (132-142)

NOW LEASING for fall—Next to campus, (near Haymaker Hall), two bedrooms in luxury apartment complex, fireplace, laundry, modern kitchen, natural gas heating. Evenings. 539-2702. (134-150)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment. $340 per month. Across street from Ahearn Field House. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (134-142)

FIVE-BEDROOM, two-bath house at 1015 Bluemont. Washer/dryer included. Available August 1. No pets. $650. Phone 776-3804 or 537-0631. (1341f)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, one block from university. Available June 1. Phone 539-2857 or 539-0410. (134-142)

MAY OH June, one-bedrooms, $205-$235. Phone 539-8423 after 6 p.m. (135-150)

(Continued on page 15)

PUBLIC HEARING

University Ad Hoc Committee on Parking Utilization

Tentative Recommendations and Report on the Findings

Union Forum Hall, April 27th at 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The Faculty Senate charge instructed this committee to:

Make recommendations about a full range of parking considerations including, but not limited to:

possibilities for additional parking areas including multi-level garage or shuttle bus to existing parking.

a campus-wide plan for segregated parking including a zoning system for user fees.

a campus-wide plan for integrated parking with a uniform user fee, the addition of parking costs to the KSU budget funded by the Legislature, the availability of appropriate fees being the sole criterion for obtaining reserved parking spaces, visitor parking and related provisions for hospitality, assistance and special needs of University clientele,

Recommendation:

- Create 800 additional parking spaces on available and environmentally acceptable sites.
- Create up to 400 additional spaces through redesign and restriping of existing parking lots.
- By setting aside some parking and misuse fees in an interest bearing account, create a reserve fund for construction of a multi-level parking structure in the southern portion of the campus at the earliest feasible opportunity. (Acknowledging that other fund sources will be necessary).

Recommendation:

- Implement segregated parking option B as soon as possible as the best method for understanding and evaluating the parking issues associated with user dissatisfaction.
- Within the next 24 month period, increase parking permit fees to correspond to the net cost of parking system ownership and reflecting the over-subscription rates for each permit user group.

Recommendation:

- The committee after full consideration recommends that the integrated parking alternative be abandoned until the number of spaces available fully satisfies the need for campus parking.

Recommendation:

- Since the sources of funding available to meet this request (General Fund or Educational Building Fund) are already over-taxed and since long standing policies of the Legislature and Board of Regents oppose the use of these funds for parking purposes, it is recommended that appeals to the Legislature for funding be abandoned.

Recommendation:

- It is recommended that availability of reserved parking spaces for any faculty/staff member who wishes it be adopted to the limit of 500 reserved spaces. Additional reserved spaces may be awarded if after one full year of implementation it is found that no significant adverse effect has resulted.

Recommendation:

- Initiate a charge for visitor parking at $2.00/day for parking on-campus between 7:00 a.m. & 4:00 p.m.

parking for special events such as concerts, athletic events, etc.

Additional Considerations

The Committee considered the special circumstances associated with State vehicles on-campus. They are arguably essential to the University's mission. As such, their spaces are as appropriately subsidized as handicapped or service vehicles. Conversely, permit holders observe the presence of state vehicles parked with apparent indifference for extended periods of time in spaces highly desired by commuters. The absence of fee payment increases doubt as to the necessity of each State vehicles presence in fee funded lots.

The Committee has found that the divided interests of employed administrators resulted in competition for staff time and efforts between police activities and parking administration. Policy implementation and record keeping are understandably diminished. Flexibility in staffing from the restricted fee account is not fully exploited. The Committee believes that the police budget line currently subsidizes the parking activity.

The Committee deliberated at length upon the unit cost basis for maintaining and operating parking spaces. Majority votes did not dispell some doubts. This recommendation intends the verification or revision of this cost analysis.

Expressions of user dissatisfaction are perennial. Not all committee members were equally convinced of the need for additional parking or the comparative effectiveness of alternative solutions to perceived need. This recommendation is intended to verify and quantify the need for parking spaces and to assure optimization of planning and facility solutions to those needs.

- Create designated fee visitor parking spaces in association with each College administration and adjacent to the Student Union.

Recommendation:

- After 4:00 p.m. make all unrestricted campus parking available to all.

Recommendation:

- At such time as a motor pool facility can be created with sufficient parking spaces related to it, State vehicles should be relocated to that facility. State vehicles parked in fee funded lots must evidence a valid permit, visitor parking permits included.

Recommendation:

- Create a separate administrative unit to administer all planning and operations activities supported by parking permit and misuse fees.

Recommendation:

- Employ a qualified parking facilities management consultant to define a maintenance program for existing spaces, the design criteria for new spaces and the detailed cost basis for each, including a 5 year schedule for operations, maintenance, and construction.

Recommendation:

- Employ a qualified parking planning consultant to identify needs and recommend responsive policies for campus circulation and parking uses. Develop planning objectives and the economic feasibility of alternative strategies.

(Continued from page 14)

SPECIAL SUMMER DISCOUNT

June & July Leases
2-bedroom,
furnished and unfurnished
776-1222

LUXURY TWO-BEDROOM, one-half block from campus 1212 Blumont, $400. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

ATTENTION: I'm looking for someone to look after two apartments for reduced rent on an unfurnished two-bedroom apartment. (913) 642-4051 after 6 p.m. (140-141)

TWO-BEDROOM, furnished or unfurnished, good location. $295. One unit left. 537-3375. (140-149)

FOR RENT—HOUSES 05

ONE—TWO—THREE bedroom houses, starting June occupancy. Unfurnished, good condition, clean, appliances. 537-1269. (107-1)

AVAILABLE JUNE, four-bedroom, two-bath, one block east of campus. $500/month, lease and deposit. 539-3672. (130-140)

FOUR-BEDROOM house, garage, close to Aggieville, one-year lease. 537-8928 after 6 p.m. (137-146)

TWO-THREE girls to share house. $150, plus utilities. Own room. Nice and close to campus. 776-1406. (137-141)

HUGE THREE-level duplex. One block from campus. Three bedrooms, two baths. $400/month plus utilities. Available now. Call 1-823-3040. (137-150)

ONE-THREE non-smoking roommates. Prefer Vet or Animal Science majors to share modern farm house. Free staff and pasture for horse, cow, dog, beef, eggs, wood, skitool furnished. Reply P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan. (138-150)

TELE-FIND. Landlords! List your rentals, only $20 per month on our computerized classified ads! 539-2255. (139-143)

AVAILABLE AUGUST. Spacious four-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, carpeted, air conditioned. Low utilities. $550. Phone 539-6202. (139-143)

THREE-BEDROOM house at 1523 Pierre, yard, remodeled. $420. Phone 776-6791 or 776-4805. (140-150)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, four-bedroom three blocks west of campus. Will repaint inside, you select the color and reduced rent for the work. $500/month. Lease and deposit. 539-3672. (140-142)

LIFE and Times

Bloom County

Garfield

Peanuts

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS	39 "Tarzan" extra?	DOWN	16 1-11
5 Get going	41 Peasant, in India	1 Vestments	20 Mountain lake
8 I.D. mark, in a way	43 Entertain	2 Low-caste Hindu	22 French depot
12 Regan's father	46 Civet	3 Tense	23 More mature
13 Court	50 Guinness	4 Mountain crests	25 Dandy
14 Sugar source	54 "Friendly"	5 Milkfish	26 "We like" (slogan)
15 Noisy birds	55 River in France	6 Coquettish	27 Songbirds
17 Algerian port	56 Merit	7 Make the salad	29 High home
18 Genus of nut-hatches	57 Soviet news agency	8 Scrub thoroughly	31 WWII org.
19 Artist's milieu	58 Dennis or Doris	9 Red bird	32 Adjective for the nineties
21 Therefore	59 German admiral	10 Philip-pine termite	34 First shepherd
24 Meyers of TV		11 Western "Splitsville"	38 Boundary markers
25 "If the shoe..."			40 Steps
28 Winglike			42 Grampus
30 Holiday drink			43 Actor George
33 Soviet river			44 Kazan of filmdom
34 Actress Eve			45 Old oath
35 Psych. org.			47 What a cad deserves?
36 Sword defater?			48 Withered
37 Bock or lager			49 Feudal flunky
38 Kill			52 Narrow inlet
			53 "Have you wool?"

Solution time: 22 mins.

4/22 Yesterday's answer

4-22 CRYPTOQUIP

FCA IVWNYK ZDEALWRX
FOVXAL ERVRFCDX VOXXAV
NRKN "W PONE ZRVVK
R PDYA FDD IRV
Yesterday's Cryptoquip: HOW BRASH ELECTRICIAN LOCATED NEW JOB: HE JUST USED HIS CONNECTIONS.
Today's Cryptoquip clue: W equals I

AVAILABLE JUNE. Quality four-bedroom, two baths, air conditioned, carpeted, washer, dryer. Fenced yard. This place is special! $595. Phone 539-6202. (139-143)

AVAILABLE JUNE—Two bedrooms, 1822 Hunting, 917 Kearney, $300. Phone 539-8401. (140-150)

FOR SALE—AUTO 06

1975 VOLVO 245, new injectors, water pump, struts, cassette stereo, seats, $1,950 or best offer. 537-0660. (138-140)

1974 TOYOTA Corolla SR-5, good deal! $350. Telephone 532-3552 anytime after 3 p.m. (139-150)

TELE-FIND. Selling your car? List it on our computerized classified ads! Only $20 per month. 539-2255. (139-143)

1976 CHEVROLET Vega hatchback, 5-speed, 47,000 miles. Good school car! Phone 776-7541. (139-143)

1969 VW van, runs well, few dents and very little rust. $400. Phone 539-1956 early am or evenings. (139-143)

1978 AMC Concord DL, runs good, air, AM/FM, new tires. $1,200 or best offer. Call 776-9848 after 3 p.m. to see. (140-142)

1979 DODGE Omni, good engine, low mileage, AM/FM cassette. Call 537-3323 after 5 p.m. (140-144)

FOR SALE—MISC 07

PEAVEY BASS with hard case. Excellent condition. $250. Call 539-2387. (138-140)

The Chef
Double your flavor at Double Discount Coupon Night on Sandwiches and Dinners.
Double Your Fun!
50¢ coupon limit

LEATHER MEMBERS Only jacket, size 40, excellent shape. $90. Retail, $160. Call 539-4307. evenings. (138-140)

MIYATA RACING bike. 57 cm. sunout comp. solar cateye, good condition. Also turbo trainer and Mavic-40 wheels with 7-speed freewheel. Call 539-5625. (140-143)

WEDNESDAYS ROARING '20s
$1.50 DRINKS
peanuts, popcorn, meal of fortune
4-9 p.m.

HOUSE FOR sale, one-half block from campus. Two bedrooms, attached garage, fenced yard. For couple, single or couple with child. Call 539-2860. (140-141)

KING SIZE waterbed, four second floatation, velour rails, headboard. Asking $470. Burt. 537-3929. (140-141)

COOL COTTON SLEEPWEAR

available at:
UNDERCOVER

1224 Moro Aggieville
Mon.-Fri. 10-5:30
Sat. 10-5
OPEN THURS. TIL 8
SUNDAY 1-5

DENON DCD-1100 compact disc player—Great condition, remote control. $300 or best offer, room # 322. Moore Hall. 532-2362. (140-144)

FOR SALE—MOBILE HOMES 08

1983 OAKBROOK 16 x 60. Range, refrigerator, central air, ceiling fans. Deck on two sides. See to appreciate. 539-6252. (134-143)

FOR RENT or For Sale: 10 x 50 mobile home. Stove, refrigerator, air. Unfurnished. 537-7622 after 5 p.m. (134-147)

FOR SALE. 1972 Revere, excellent condition. two-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, washer, dryer, air, partially furnished. Call 316-241-6054, working hours. (135-144)

1971 PEERLESS 12 x 50, furnished, $2,500. Available after graduation. Located at Northcrest. Call 539-6401. (139-141)

12 x 60. NICE two-bedroom, two-bath with storage shed. Must sell! 539-8932. (140-145)

FOR SALE—MOTORCYCLES 09

1980 KAWASAKI 750 LTD. low miles, excellent condition. $850. Phone 776-4266, afternoons and evenings. (137-141)

1983 KAWASAKI 550 LTD. Low mileage. Call 539-9395 for details. (138-142)

1981 YAMAHA 650 Special. 5,000 miles. Excellent condition. $1,000. Call 537-2305 after 6 p.m. (139-143)

TELE-FIND. Selling your motorcycle? List it on our computerized classified ads! Only $20 per month. 539-2255. (139-143)

FREE 11

TO GIVE away. Adult guinea pig and cage. Call 776-9848. (140-142)

HELP WANTED 13

EARN $480 weekly—$60 per hundred circulars mailed. Guaranteed. Work at home and participate in our Company project mailing circulars and assembling materials. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to JKB Mailcompany, P.O. Box 25, Castaic, California 91310. (117-148)

FLEXIBLE HOURS and work mostly on your own for apartment owner. Work will include mowing yards, trimming bushes, cleaning apartments, carpentry repair, maintenance, roof repair and/or painting and other similar work. Work can begin immediately and through the summer months and could continue for the next school year. Prefer college student who qualifies for college work study program. Please send name, address, phone number, number of hours of work desired, wages expected and previous work experience to Box 511. Collegian. (133-142)

FULL AND part-time help! National Firm is preparing for Spring and Summer work. If accepted, you will earn $8.10 starting. Some evening and weekend positions are available and some flexibility is allowed during final exams. If you qualify, corporate scholarships are awarded, internships are possible, and you may earn 2, 3, 4 credits/quarter or semester. During summer break full-time work is available. Call (913) 345-9675 Monday-Friday between 9 a.m.-5 p.m. (135-148)

LIVE-IN NANNY Wanted—Need mature adult, non-smoker, driver's license, enjoys children, room and board, good salary, weekends free. 9-12 month commitment. Kansas City area. Call collect 913-648-7404. (136-140)

WANTED: STUDENT applicants for "Troubleshooter" positions. Will hire to start this summer/fall 1987. Job requirements include: full time student—must live in especially designed residence hall room/wprivate entrance—able to work eight hours per week, days, some nights, weekends, and holidays. Apply at the Housing Maintenance office, 1548 N. Denison or call 532-6466 Monday thru Friday 8 a.m.-5 p.m. for an appointment. (136-140)

SUMMER WORK—Is your work challenging? Are you being paid what you're worth? Make $3,000 to $6,000 plus gain experience. Call 776-2564. (136-140)

STUDENT to work as electronic technician, 12 to 20 hours/week, full-time between semesters. Primary work in support of Eudoxia Data Switch. Help repair microscopes and printers. Knowledge of RS232 data communications helpful. Contact Jacques Meisner, Cardwell 23, by Tuesday, April 21, 5 p.m. EOE. (136-140)

WANTED: FAMILY wants college girl to live in for fall. Help take care of yard and house in exchange for board and room. Respond to Box 311. Collegian. Kansas State University. (136-140)

BARTENDER PART-TIME. Apply in person. Bobby T's. 3240 Kimball. (137-141)

COOK PART-TIME. Apply in person. Bobby T's. 3240 Kimball. (137-141)

NEEDED: SUMMER nannies. Free room and board. Live in Denver $400-$800 a month salary. For more information call 303-671-7011 or write P.O. Box 147. (138-142)

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT—Travel up the wheatbelt—Deaver Custom Harvesting. Levant, KS. Farm experience preferred but not required. 30 years experience—references available. Phone (913) 586-2305 mornings (before 9 a.m.) and noon hours. (138-140)

PART-TIME laborers, agricultural background helpful. Call 776-9401. (139-141)

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT in Johnson County. Bossler-Hix temporary, contact Mary Schmidt. 776-2224 evenings. (139-140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen. LERN. 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (140)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, Wednesday, April 22, 1987

1988 SKI and beach breaks! Attention KSU marketing clubs, ski clubs, fraternities, sororities, and individuals! Ski Steamboat, Vail/Beaver Creek, and the Summit! Hit the Beaches in Texas and Florida including South Padre Island and Daytona Beach! Earn free trips, group discounts, and unlimited commissions! Call Jeff at Sunchase Tours today for 1988 Ski and Beach Break sales information. 1-800-321-5911. (140-142)

BABYSITTER FOR two toddlers, three to four short evenings a week. Flexible hours. Must have own transportation. 539-3166. ask for Kim. (140)

POSITIONS OPENING at Pinata Apply in person, ask for Kim. (140)

SUBJECTS—NEED male right-handed subjects for motor learning research. Call department of PEDLS. 532-6765. Ask for Mrs. Goin. Earn $10 for three one-hour sessions. Tasks are interesting and easy to learn. (140-142)

NOTICES 15

GAY/LESBIAN? Write for Kansas/Missouri information. Personality. P.O. Box 218, Daly City, California 94016-0218. Mailed discreetly/confidentially. (131-150)

Double Coupons

Double Your Savings On All Manufacturer's "Cents Off" Coupons Up To And Including 50¢ In Value.

—Bonus Special—
Northern Bath Tissue
6 Roll Pkg.

Additional Purchases $1.59

—Bonus Special—
Dillon Milk

Homogenized, 2%, or 1/2 of 1% Low Fat, Gallon

Super Coupon!

Northern Bath Tissue
6 Roll Pkg.

99¢

LIMIT 1 WITH COUPON

Super Coupon!

Dillon Gallon Milk
Homogenized, 2% or 1/2 of 1% Low Fat

50¢ OFF
Regular Price

LIMIT 1 WITH COUPON

Limit 1 Gal. With Coupon. Limit One Coupon Per Customer. Coupon Good April 22 - 28, 1987. Super Coupons Not Included In Double Coupon Program.

—Bonus Special—
Dillon's Fresh Baked Buttercrust Bread

White or Wheat
20 oz.

Additional Purchases 49¢

—Bonus Special—
Ohse Sliced Bacon

16 oz. Pkg.

Additional Purchases $1.39

Super Coupon!

Dillon's Fresh Baked 20 oz. Loaf Buttercrust Bread

29¢

LIMIT 1 WITH COUPON

Super Coupon!

Ohse Sliced Bacon
16 oz. Pkg.

99¢

LIMIT 1 WITH COUPON

Prices Effective April 22-28, 1987. (Ad Not Effective In Pittsburg, Ks.) Limit Rights Reserved.

Limit 1 Pkg. With Coupon. Limit One Coupon Per Customer. Coupon Good April 22 - 28, 1987. Super Coupons Not Included In Double Coupon Program.

Deli & Cheese Shop

—Bonus Special—

1/4

Pounder

With Tomato, Lettuce, Onion, Pickle

99¢

Oven Roasted With Cheese... $1.09

Butterball Turkey Breast Smoked... $3.99 Lb. $3.89

Garlic, Meat or Beef Bologna Wilson... Lb. $2.19

Stouffer's Macaroni & Cheese Ready To Serve... Lb. $1.29

Friendly Onion or Hot Pepper Cheese Everybody's Favorite... Lb. $2.39

Deli Items Available Only In Stores With Delis. Not Available In These Towns: Pratt, Arkansas City, Greensburg, El Dorado, Winfield, Larned, Derby, Mulvane, St. John or Sterling.

Ready-To-Eat Fully Cooked

Hot Dogs, Polish Sausage or Hot Links

35¢ or 3/$1

Let Dillon's Deli Prepare Your Dinner Tonight!

Seafood Shoppe

—Bonus Special—

Hoki Fillets

New Zealand Lb. $2.79

Fresh Perch Fillets

West Coast Lb. $3.19

Shell-On-Shrimp

Uncooked, Headless, 51-60 ct. Lb. $5.99

Fresh Catfish

Whole, Farm Raised Lb. $2.09

Look For Our Recipes At Our Seafood Counter. Lobster And Shrimp Spiced And Steamed Free.

No Seafood Shoppes In These Towns: McPherson, Wellington, Augusta, Pratt, Arkansas City, Greensburg, El Dorado, Winfield, Larned, Derby, Mulvane, St. John or Sterling. Some Seafood Items Available In Dodge City, Hays, Great Bend, Junction City or Emporia.

Soup & Salad Bar...

Take home a fresh salad tonight! Make it right in the store at our new self-service Salad Bar. We have over 40 ingredients to choose from, including 5 Marie's Salad Dressings.

(Available only in stores with salad bars. Salad bars not in these towns: Salina, Dodge City, Emporia, Hays, Wellington, Augusta, Pratt, Arkansas City, Greensburg, El Dorado, Winfield, Larned, Derby, Mulvane, St. John or Sterling.)

Flower Shop...

—Bonus Special—

Secretary's Bud Vase Arrangement

Cash & Carry

$7.99

From Our Plant Dept. . .

Secretary Coffee Mug Planter & Silk Flowers

$7.19

Ea.

Remember Secretary's Day April 22nd

—Bonus Special—

Simmering Potpourri Arrangement

$10.99

Cash & Carry

5" Pottery With Mixed Tropicals

$6.29

Ea.

(Available In Selected Dillon Stores.)

Available only in towns with Flower Shops. (NO FLOWER SHOPS in these towns: Hays, Augusta, Pratt, Larned, Arkansas City, Greensburg, El Dorado, Derby, St. John, Winfield, Mulvane or Sterling.)

Weather

Sunny

Sunny today, high 70 to 75. Winds northerly 5 to 15 mph. Clear tonight with lows in the mid-40s.

Inside

Good Therapy

Gardening is used by K-State graduates working at a psychiatric hospital in California to improve their patients' fitness — mentally, emotionally and physically. See Page 3.

5-DIGIT 66612

164 5/1/87  8
Kansas State Historical Soc
Topeka, KS 66612

The Wildcats use a barrage of hitting to defeat the Washburn Ichabods, 19-10. See Page 8.

Kansas State

Collegian

Thursday
April 23, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 141

Pulitzer Prize-winning composer and All-University Convocation speaker Ellen Taaffe Zwilich discusses a musical composition by Byron Jensen, right, graduate student in music history, Wednesday in McCain Auditorium. Patty Russell, senior in music education, and Craig Parker, associate professor of music, also listened to her comments.

Staff/Rob Squires

Top 40 mentality tyrannical, Zwilich contends

By JUDD ANNIS
Collegian Reporter

"Many Americans hear what is only a limited exposure to music of all eras," Pulitzer prize-winning composer Ellen Zwilich said Wednesday.

"One cannot demand variety if not exposed to the variety that is there," she said.

Zwilich said she finds what she calls the "guaranteed saleable hits mentality" disturbing because it makes listeners, particularly young people, believe they have to lock onto a certain musical style and listen to it exclusively.

"If they are exposed to different types of music and they choose only to listen to Top 40, that's democracy," Zwilich said. "If their choice is made in ignorance of what else is out there, that's tyranny."

The composer addressed an audience of about 100 students and faculty in McCain Auditorium at the semester's last All-University Convocation, delivering a speech titled "Idealism and Adventure: The Arts in a Technological Age."

Zwilich, a composer and violinist, is best known as the first woman to win a Pulitzer Prize in music and the first woman to obtain a doctorate in composition from The Juilliard School, New York.

Zwilich said although musical technology has obvious positive qualities, she could see some problems arising in today's society with regard to music and musical attitudes. She said electronic resources should be used to open up the world for an exchange of culture, allowing people of different backgrounds to share with one another.

"No one voice should be allowed to speak for all of us," Zwilich said.

Forty or 50 years ago, she said, types of music such as Tibetan chants were not available to most people. Today, through the help of electronic media, a person can go to the record store, buy a copy of that type of music and listen to it, she said.

"You don't have to find a monastery in Tibet where they are going to perform," Zwilich said. "Electronic media allow us to open up other cultures and other religions and to contact non-Western music."

As much as musical technology has changed during the years, Zwilich said modern-day composers also write music in a different way than early composers did.

"Today's composers see their work as math with elements of chance and random operations that enable them to produce music," Zwilich said.

"A score has a special vocabulary, handed down in a rather oral way," Zwilich said. "Much of the world's music is passed on not as written tradition but as oral tradition. Music is passed from one person to another through sounds that are heard, imitated and corrected."

Zwilich said oral tradition is different from written tradition because oral tradition cannot evolve and relies on similarity.

See ZWILICH, Page 10

Iran convicts U.S. engineer of espionage

By The Associated Press

NICOSIA, Cyprus — Iran has sentenced an American engineer to 10 years in prison on charges of spying for the CIA, the official Iranian news agency reported Wednesday.

The Islamic Republic News Agency, monitored in Nicosia, quoted "informed sources" for its report on the sentencing of Jon Patts, a 50-year-old telecommunications specialist. It did not say when the trial occurred.

Patts, employed by Cosmos Engineers of Bethesda, Md., worked at the Asadabad telecommunications center 200 miles southwest of Tehran. He was arrested last June, shortly after an Iraqi air raid on the center that interrupted Iran's communications with the outside world.

According to the news agency, he faced seven charges related to espionage and using a forged passport to enter the country. It did not specify the charges of which he was found guilty.

In an appearance on Iranian state television in October, the American engineer said he passed information through his company to the CIA on Iranian military activities, oil production, inflation and food distribution.

He said he gave information about the Asadabad complex and the warning system it uses to guard against Iraqi air raids. The two Persian Gulf neighbors have been at war since September 1980.

Neither the CIA nor Cosmos commented on the televised confession.

State Department spokesman Bruce Ammerman said Wednesday in Washington: "We are aware of the press report (about the sentence), but we have no independent confirmation and I don't have anything more on it at this point."

Ammerman said confirmation would have to come from the Swiss, who represent U.S. interests in Iran.

"It has not been a speedy process," he said. "I just don't know how long it will take."

Charles Redman of the State Department reiterated that Patts was not an employee of the U.S. government. He said Iran repeatedly refused requests by Swiss diplomats in Tehran for consular access to Patts. The Swiss have handled U.S. interests in Iran since relations with that country were severed in 1980.

Mohammad Mohammadi Reyshahri, the information and intelligence minister, said later that Patts communicated with the CIA through a liaison agent named "Kavi Austin." On Wednesday, the official news agency called the agent "Gery Austin."

Patts said on television in October that he worked in Iran from 1969 until Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's fundamentalist revolution overthrew Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's government in February 1979.

Death penalty decision creates controversy

Court upholds ruling despite bias

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court ruled Wednesday that state death penalty laws can be valid even if statistics indicate they are carried out in racially biased ways.

In its most important ruling on capital punishment since 1976, the court split 5-4 in upholding Georgia's death penalty system even though killers of white people in that state are far more likely to be condemned to death than those who kill blacks.

The ruling dashed what many death penalty opponents considered to be their best chance of saving hundreds of the nearly 1,900 men and women on death rows nationwide.

The decision removed the last legal claim many of those inmates had raised in fighting for their lives, but it is not expected to dramatically quicken the pace of executions.

Since the Supreme Court reinstated capital punishment in 1976, 70 U.S. prison inmates have been executed by electrocution, poison gas, firing squad and lethal injection.

"The court is saying there may be racial discrimination in choosing who lives and who dies but it doesn't care," Seth Waxman, a lawyer for the Congressional Black Caucus, said of Wednesday's ruling.

Jack Boger, the New York lawyer who argued against the Georgia system before the high court, said the justices "failed to acknowledge a very powerful pattern of discrimination."

David Whitmore, a lawyer for the American Civil Liberties Union in New Orleans, said the decision removed the last hope of nearly a dozen of Louisiana's 47 death row inmates.

Illinois prosecutor Mark Rotert called the ruling "very, very good news."

"It was one of the last, best chances to get a broad-based attack on death penalty litigation nationwide," Rotert said.

Justice Lewis F. Powell, writing for the court, said a statistical study of Georgia's death penalty system "at most indicates a discrepancy that appears to correlate with race."

But he said the discrepancy does not violate the Constitution's equal-protection guarantees.

In previous decisions, the court has allowed statistical evidence to prove illegal discrimination in employment and unlawful racial bias in selecting criminal juries.

But Powell said death-sentencing decisions made by judges or juries are based on too many varying factors to let discriminatory intent be proved by statistics.

Writing for the court's dissenters, Justice William J. Brennan said the Georgia system is steeped in the nation's history of racial discrimination.

"It is tempting to pretend that minorities on death row share a fate in no way connected to our own, that our treatment of them sounds no echoes beyond the chambers in which they die," Brennan said.

"Such an illusion is ultimately corrosive, for the reverberations of injustice are not so easily confined."

Justice Harry A. Blackmun, writing a dissenting opinion for himself and Justice John Paul Stevens, said letting some convicted murderers escape execution for life in prison "is not too high a price to pay for a death penalty system that does not discriminate on the basis of race."

Senator doubts impact on Kansas

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — The president of the Kansas Senate said Wednesday he doesn't think the latest U.S. Supreme Court decision on the death penalty will prompt the Legislature to reconsider capital punishment when it reconvenes next week.

"I don't think it will change anything in the Senate, and unless 21 votes are there to pass the bill, I see no reason to bring it up again," Sen. Robert V. Talkington, R-Iola, said. "There are better ways for us to spend our time when we come back."

The Supreme Court ruled 5-4 on Wednesday that state death penalty laws cannot be challenged on constitutional grounds even if there is evidence they are not uniformly applied to whites and minorities.

Talkington, a death penalty supporter, said the issue on which the Supreme Court ruled might be very important nationally, but in his judgment has little or no bearing in Kansas to sway votes in the state Senate.

The Senate president said he doesn't think the debate over racial bias in application of death penalty laws has much validity in Kansas, anyway, because the last half-dozen persons executed for murder in this state in the mid-1960s were all white.

"I haven't researched it," said Talkington, an attorney, "but I can't recall, before our law was declared unconstitutional, any minorities being put to death in Kansas. I'm sure there are other areas of the country where it is true, but I don't think bias in the death penalty can be demonstrated in Kansas."

Kansas had capital punishment until a 1973 U.S. Supreme Court decision struck down all states' death penalty laws, largely on grounds of unequal application. Efforts to reinstate capital punishment in this state have failed. The Legislature passed four bills to restore it, but former Gov. John Carlin vetoed all of them.

Present Gov. Mike Hayden made restoration of the death penalty a major plank in his successful campaign platform last year, and was sharply critical of senators who voted to kill a House-passed bill earlier this month.

Of Wednesday's Supreme Court ruling, Talkington said: "I don't think it will change anybody's opinion in the Senate. I doubt it will change any votes at all."

A bill sponsored by 44 House members, which would have reinstated capital punishment in Kansas for premeditated murders and prescribed lethal injection as the method of execution, passed the House by a vote of 71-53 on Jan. 30.

It languished in the Senate Federal and State Affairs Committee for two months before finally being reported without recommendation as to whether it should pass.

It was debated in the Senate on April 4, and was defeated on a vote of 18-22, or three votes short of the required constitutional majority. It was stricken from the calendar, meaning that bill cannot be resurrected.

On the day the Senate killed the bill, Talkington said that unless three senators change their minds, he wouldn't take it up again this session, which reconvenes next Wednesday for a wrap-up meeting of three or four days.

Speaker Jim Braden, R-Clay Center, could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

Briefly

By The Associated Press

INTERNATIONAL

Death toll nears 400 in Sri Lanka

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka — Government planes bombed Tamil rebels and the guerrillas attacked soldiers Wednesday, adding more than 100 dead to a toll that has reached nearly 400 in six days of civil war. The attacks by both sides came a day after a car bomb tore Colombo's main bus station apart, killing at least 106 people and wounding 295.

The government said 80 Tamil rebels were killed in an air raid. A military source reported at least 36 soldiers and police slain in guerrilla raids and said eight rebels were killed.

Government and military figures put the death toll since Friday at 374 on this island off India's tip where Tamil extremists have fought the Sinhalese majority for a separate nation since 1983.

Tamil terrorists stopped vehicles in eastern Sri Lanka last Friday, pulled passengers out and opened fire, killing 127 people, most of them Sinhalese.

Poland labels U.S. diplomat 'spy'

WARSAW, Poland — Poland on Wednesday accused a U.S. diplomat of spying and said he left the country after police caught him trying to pass a briefcase filled with money, secret codes and maps to a Polish contact.

Government spokesman Jerzy Urban, in announcing the accusation at a news conference, played a videotape of the diplomat's rendezvous and subsequent detention and showed espionage-related materials allegedly found in his possession.

Urban said a "sharp protest" was lodged with U.S. Embassy officials Tuesday.

He identified the diplomat as Albert Mueller, a second secretary in the political section, and said he had gathered information on Soviet and Polish military planning and consulted members of the political opposition.

In Washington, White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Mueller was not expelled and his departure was initiated by the embassy.

"As far as I know he's not a spy," Fitzwater said.

Mueller was detained by police in Warsaw Saturday evening as he attempted to pass a briefcase with spying equipment in it to a Polish citizen during a clandestine meeting, Urban said.

REGIONAL

Amnesia victim remains 'in limbo'

DENVER — The future of Denver General's unknown lady is in limbo because she can't remember her past.

A hospital spokeswoman said the woman, who was found at a bus depot here, can't remember her name or where she lived — keys to both medical treatment and government assistance.

Doctors need to know her medical history in order to prescribe proper treatment, and government agencies are reluctant to provide assistance without knowing her identity, said Peggy Gonder, a spokeswoman for Denver General Hospital, where the woman has been a patient since late March.

"As far as becoming a ward of the state, the difficulty is getting funding for someone who doesn't have a name," she said. "That is complicating efforts to get her transferred to a community facility (such as a nursing home)."

"As far as the state taking responsibility, one problem is whether she is a Colorado resident," she said. "Everything just sort of builds on everything else as being a complication."

NATIONAL

FAA reveals three near-collisions

WASHINGTON — Three near-collisions involving commercial jetliners, two in Texas and one in California, occurred in about a two-hour period at dusk last Sunday, federal officials disclosed Wednesday.

The incidents occurred amid increasing concern about air safety by some aviation experts and nine days after pilots reported four similar incidents, all within a day, in California, Michigan, New Jersey and Illinois.

FAA spokesman Steven Hayes declined to characterize Sunday's incidents as unusual, but acknowledged last year there was on average fewer than one near-collision report involving a commercial aircraft per day.

Jim Burnett, chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board, charged in a speech Wednesday in Chicago that the FAA "is either underestimating the seriousness of the problem...or lacks the courage or capacity" to correct air traffic control shortcomings.

Hayes said in two of the three Sunday incidents, air traffic controllers provided some warning of the potential for a collision by providing a traffic advisory to at least one of the pilots involved.

The Sunday incidents, alluded to by Burnett without providing details, were later confirmed by the FAA.

Jury convicts 'Billionaire Boy'

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — Billionaire Boys Club leader Joe Hunt was convicted Wednesday of murdering a con man who tricked him in a phony multimillion-dollar commodities deal.

The jury announced its guilty verdict in the third day of deliberations.

Hunt was convicted of first-degree murder and first-degree robbery with allegations of special circumstances, making him eligible for the death penalty.

Court spectators gasped as the court clerk read the verdicts. Hunt wiped his face with his hand, and looked at the jurors and his girlfriend, Brooke Roberts, who was crying in the first row.

Hunt, 27-year-old leader of an affluent club of prep school buddies, was charged with killing Ronald Levin, who vanished June 6, 1984.

Deputy District Attorney Fred Wapner contended Hunt murdered Levin in retaliation for being tricked. The prosecutor told jurors Hunt disfigured his victim by firing shotgun blasts at his face, then dumped his body somewhere in Soledad Canyon. No body was found.

Hunt's girlfriend testified she was with Hunt elsewhere at the time the killing was alleged to have occurred. And defense attorney Arthur Barans claimed Levin is alive and pulling off the ultimate con.

Barans produced two witnesses who said they saw Levin driving a flashy car near Tucson, Ariz., more than a year after his presumed death.

Lead can slow child's development

BOSTON — Exposure to very low levels of lead before birth appears to slow children's mental development during their first years of life, a study concludes.

The study found that youngsters advanced more slowly than expected if they had prenatal exposure to levels of lead that are thought to be safe for children. This could mean that fetuses are more sensitive than babies to the toxic effects of lead.

"I think it should be regarded as an indication that something is going on that may be quite worrisome," said Dr. David Bellinger, who directed the study at Children's Hospital in Boston.

Even though the children's mental growth was slower than expected by age 2, they were not considered retarded in any way. The study will continue to see if the prenatal lead exposure is linked to poor mental performance later in life.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT in Holtz Hall has many services available to students, including career counseling, letter, data sheet and resume preparation advisement, and others.

COORDINATED UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM IN DIETETICS applications are available in Justin 107 and are due May 1.

ALL UNIVERSITY OPEN HOUSE applications for student volunteer coordinators for the 1988 committee are available in Anderson 122 and are due by 5 p.m. Monday.

TODAY

SAI 'SG CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

ICHTHUS CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP meets at 8 p.m. in Union Little Theatre.

PHI BETA KAPPA will hold initiation at 5 p.m. in Union 212. A banquet will be at 6 p.m. in Union Cottonwood Room.

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF PROFESSIONAL ENGINEERS meets at 7:30 p.m. in Durland 152.

EATING DISORDERS GROUP THERAPY meets at 7:30 p.m. in Lafene Student Health Center basement.

ECKANKAR CAMPUS SOCIETY meets at 7:30 p.m. in Union 203.

SOCIAL WORK ORGANIZATION meets at 4 p.m. in Waters 350. A picnic will follow at 6 at Tuttle Creek.

AG STUDENT COUNCIL executive meets at 5:30 p.m. in Waters 137. A general meeting will follow at 6.

PRE-VET CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in Trotter Hall 201.

BUSINESS AMBASSADORS meets at 4:30 p.m. in Union 203.

BLACK STUDENT UNION meets at 8 p.m. in Union 206.

GAY AND LESBIAN RESOURCE CENTER meets at 7:30 p.m. for more information call 532-6442.

FRIDAY

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF CHEMICAL ENGINEERS meets at 1:30 p.m. in Ackert 120.

Correction

In Wednesday's Collegian story, "March affirms support for Central Americans," Justin Palmer, senior in philosophy, was misquoted. Palmer said, "We are expressing our disapproval of the government of El Salvador's mass murder of its own people."

BONKERS
TONITE
ALL DRINKS
$1.50
We play the latest in dance music, including CLUB NOUVEAU
PRINCE
PETER WOLF
1216 Laramie 537-8591

S.A.M.
Society of Advancement of Management
Spring Picnic will be Friday, April 24 from 4 p.m.-? at the house of
Prof. Stan Elsea.
Sign up in Calvin 19
before 4 p.m. Thurs.
Maps will be provided.
All members and interested students invited.
Come share in the fun.

YAMAHA
INTO SUMMER
SIZZLE
SALE
You're Invited
Brooks Yamaha is celebrating with an incredible Sizzle Sale. We've got the hottest deals on Yamaha wheels. Like Radian 600 only $2199. You save over $300.
Come to Brooks Yamaha for dynamite prices that will blow you away.

BROOKS
YAMAHA
Hwy. 24, East Manhattan, KS
Tues.-Sat. 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
776-6371
YAMAHA
We make the difference™

No Pains
for a Change
with Chiropractic
Care

Dr. Mark Hatesohl
call 537-8305
Chiropractic Family Health Center
(in the Candlewood Center)

Is your car on its last leg,
and you need a fuel-efficient car? Read the Classifieds.

Dark Horse
SALOON
$1.50
Wells
$2.50
Pitchers
619 N. Manhattan

B.B.A.M.B. burgers
burgers
and more burgers
THURS.

$1.25
BURGERS
AND FRIES
5-9
PLUS $1.50
PREMIUM POUR
MIXED DRINKS!
WIKTIE'S
BAR AND GRILLE

The Station

THUR. BIG "C" NIGHT
(that famous mexican beer with a lime on top)
BIG "C" MEXICAN BEERS 99¢
DRINKS (ANY BRAND) - $1.50
1115 Moro, Aggieville 776-0030

Auntie
Mac's Parlor
AGGIEVILLE
THURSDAY
$2
Pitchers
$1
Drinks
50¢
Draws
616 N. 12th 539-9967

Brother's
KSU
IN AGGIEVILLE USA
TONITE
$2.25 Pitchers
75¢ Draws
Derby Days
Dance Contest
FRIDAY
Free Barbecue
Derby Days
Grand Finale
Come Join the Party!

ROCKY
FORD
TAVERN

Rt. 5 The Finest Little Tavern by a Dam Site! 537-3133

Old Milwaukee Light
Night
$1.75 Pitchers
Old Milwaukee Light
and Pickled Eggs
It Just Doesn't Get
Any Better Than This!
No dress code, no cover charge,
where it just doesn't make any difference!
Go North on Tuttle Creek Blvd.
then on the back road to the Rocks
537-3133

THURSDAY
DOG GONE GOOD DEALS
99¢
DRINKS
(any brand)
RIP & MO'S
aggieville rock-n-roll bar

Blue River Pub
Tonight
Sheer Delight
—Female Strippers—
April 24 & 25
•Cover Charge •ID Required
Next to Tuttle Creek Dam 537-9877

GRAND OPENING
APRIL 23-24-25
KLEPPER KORNER STORE
206 LEAVENWORTH 776-7512
FREE: $10 Gasoline Each Hour
FREE: Popcorn & Coffee
Register for Many
FREE Prizes

CHARLIE'S
NEIGHBORHOOD BAR
ESTABLISHED 1983
THURSDAY
$DAZES
THIS WEEKEND
LIVE BAND

Kappa Sig Softball Tournament Headquarters
1800 Claflin 539-9619

K-State offers only degree

Interns study therapeutic horticulture

By KARI COMPTON
Collegian Reporter

K-State graduates working at a psychiatric hospital in California use gardening to improve their patients' fitness — mentally, emotionally and physically.

Jerry Hentzler, a 1977 graduate, said as an activity therapist at the Kings View Center in Reedley, Calif., he helps people overcome psychological disorders with projects such as gardening, greenhouse work, pottery classes and animal care.

Patients can learn to release tension and hostility by participating in activities as simple as hoeing a garden, he said.

The therapy is designed to improve patients' psychological, social, educational or physical adjustment by giving them a working relationship with plants.

Hentzler is one of three K-Staters employed as horticultural activity therapists at Kings View Center. A current student, Ranita Evans, senior in horticultural therapy, completed an internship at Kings View in March.

K-State is the only institution in the United States offering bachelor's and master's degrees in horticultural therapy, said Richard Mattson, professor of horticultural therapy.

The horticultural therapy program was established in 1971 by the Department of Horticulture in cooperation with the C.F. Menninger Foundation in Topeka.

Mattson said Karl Menninger recognized that many psychiatric institutions would benefit from trained horticultural therapists who worked well with people.

In 1960, Menninger sent a survey to major hospitals to find the need for such a program. Based on the positive response to the survey, the University established the horticultural therapy degree program.

Today, institutions such as Kings View allow horticultural therapists to work with people to help them solve their problems.

Therapists at the Center evaluate patients, assigning them to a horticulture activity that best suits their needs, Hentzler said.

Patients range in age from 6 to 80, but the majority are 12-18 years old, he said.

"When I first came here almost 10 years ago, I felt that I was working with my peers, but now I have taken on more of a parental role model, working with the adolescents," Hentzler said.

Evans said when she began her internship at the Center, she designed and directed horticultural activities to help patients reach specific goals.

"One of the most important goals in the use of activity therapy is to improve the self-esteem of the patients," Evans said. "We teach them different skills, such as gardening, leather-working and pottery, that will help them feel good about themselves."

"We set them up for success, not for failure," Hentzler said.

Another of Evans' goals when working at the Center was to improve the patient's relationships with authority figures. Patients learn this through communicating with activity group leaders. Activity groups also help teach patients to discuss things without arguing, she said.

Evans said the use of activities as therapy benefits patients after they leave the hospital because it provides them with an enjoyable way to spend leisure time.

The horticultural therapy program can also teach patients to care for others through the nurturance of plants.

"Working with the plants can teach them responsibility for another living thing," Hentzler said. "They decide when the plants need water and fertilizer and when they should re-pot them."

California is a good location for horticultural therapy programs because of the extended growing season.

"We have gardens all year round because (the climate allows) more growing days," he said.

Mattson said students enrolled in horticultural therapy differ from the traditional college student: Their average age is 29, they are more involved in the college experience and they are highly motivated.

Of the 30 students currently enrolled in horticultural therapy, Mattson said almost all of them are transfer students and non-residents.

Mattson said one reason for the quality of the students is the diversity of courses required to graduate with a horticultural therapy degree. Students enrolled in the curriculum complete course work in horticulture, psychology, sociology, behavioral sciences and agriculture.

Mattson said an emphasis in behavioral sciences is important for horticultural therapy students because they must be able to identify people with deviant behavior or psychological disorders.

Supporting work must also be done in one of several specialized areas, including gerontology, mental health, developmental disabilities, or education and community-based programs. Horticultural therapy students are also required to do a six-month internship.

LOOKING FOR WEDDING PRESENTS?

try
STRECKER GALLERY

We have the presents with the personal touch.

332 POYNTZ

539-2139

Finance Club
presents
Fletcher Bell
Commissioner of Insurance

Thursday
April 23

7 p.m.

Union 207

The Beta of Kansas Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa

congratulates the following newly elected members for their outstanding scholastic achievement at Kansas State University.

Erin P. Andrew	Marilyn J. Horsch
Sally A. Bender	Janet K. Irwin
John P. Biggs	Sandra J. McCoy
Jennifer J. Bond	Daniel J. Owens
Penny A. Cullers	Roberto R. Patron
Dan C. Fischer	Paul Wesley Rust
Jayne M. Fuller	Cynthia K. Shaffer
Ursula Denise Gabel	Julie Sinclair
William J. Gale	John P. Spicer
Donna R. Geer	Elizabeth A. Upson
David C. Hermanns	Nancy Velez

WOMEN:

Peace and Prejudice

Saturday, April 25

1 p.m. Union 213

Admission FREE

Panel sponsored by

The Baha'i Club

Manhattan

High School

presents

Arsenic

& Old Lace

by Joseph Kesselring

Fri. & Sat. at 7:30 p.m.

MHS Auditorium

General Admission $2.50

BRIDAL GIFT REGISTRY

We are pleased to announce that the following couples have registered with us.

•Janette Gomez
& Michael Streit

•Martha Ebert
& Carl Reed

•Karen Thierer
& Bob Galde

•Elaine Kernitz
& Dennis Wilson

•Christy Anderson
& Brett Mermis

•Erin Puls
& Doug Dunham

•Holly Sistrunk
& Rob Friesen

MIDWEST

634 Tuttle Creek Blvd. 776-9454

Jet off to one of these fantastic cities for job interviews, to visit relatives or for a great summer vacation!

Miami	7-day advance purchase refundable	$158
Dallas	30-day advance purchase 50% refundable	$98
Seattle	7-day advance purchase	$138
Chicago	14-day advance purchase	$50
New York	7-day advance purchase, refundable	$148
New Orleans to May 20th		$118

And many more flights to other cities available.
Flights listed here depart from Kansas City. Call us for all your travel needs.

INTERNATIONAL
TOURS of Manhattan
776-4756 8th & Humboldt
Open Sat. 9 to Noon

GUYS & GALS

BUY 1 TOP

AND GET THE 2nd

1/2 PRICE

Of equal value or less

ESPIRIT

EMANUELLE

OPPOSITION V
TWO

St. Michel

Canarra.

UNION BAY

Genesis

THE JEAN STATION

Aggieville

Manhattan

Hours: 10-6 Mon.-Sat.

10-8:30 Thurs.

1-5 Sun.

Closed Classes — Fall 1987

REMINDER: FRIDAY, APRIL 24 IS THE LAST DAY TO ENROLL FOR THE SUMMER '87 AND FALL '87
CLASSES.

00100	03610	07590	11340	16490	21540	25820	26940	31450	34190	36840
00170	03620	07690	11350	16510	21610	25830	26960	31850	34200	36850
00370	03630	08020	11360	16531	21670	25840	27000	31870	34210	36860
00440	03640	08050	11370	16550	21680	25850	27040	31970	34220	37050
00920	03660	08070	11380	16770	21690	25860	27050	32040	34240	38110
00930	03670	08160	11390	16920	22530	25870	27060	32090	34260
01250	03680	08180	11400	17180	22830	25890	27070	32110	34340
01320	03720	08190	11410	17700	22840	25910	27080	32140	34360
01340	03750	08230	11420	17740	22850	25920	27090	32230	34370
01630	03760	08240	11430	17810	22860	25930	27210	32550	34420
01640	03770	08260	11440	18910	22870	25940	27220	32560	34430
01950	03780	08290	11490	19040	22890	25950	27230	32940	34440
02110	03790	08660	11530	19070	22900	25960	27250	32950	34490
02290	03850	08670	11540	19090	23060	25970	27680	32960	34610
02330	04160	08680	12330	19170	23190	25990	27720	32990	34690
02340	04570	08690	12970	19240	23650	26020	28350	33000	34750
02380	05020	08700	13050	19580	23920	26030	28940	33010	34760
02410	05140	08849	13060	19590	24180	26050	28950	33020	34810
02450	05150	08850	13090	19610	24350	26060	28990	33030	34840
02470	05160	08930	13340	19750	24420	26100	29060	33040	34850
02480	05170	08950	13360	19810	24730	26130	29200	33050	34870
02490	05180	09060	13370	19980	24770	26140	29560	33060	34890
02540	05230	09290	13380	20090	24780	26170	29570	33070	34900
02550	05390	09400	13400	20120	24790	26190	29650	33080	34920
02560	05430	09480	13450	20170	24800	26200	29680	33090	34950
02580	05440	09490	13460	20180	24920	26220	29740	33100	35000
02990	05460	09510	13480	20270	24930	26260	29800	33110	35010
03040	05470	09520	13590	20520	24950	26350	29880	33150	35020
03060	05500	09530	13620	20540	25000	26360	29890	33190	35050
03270	05510	09560	13630	20550	25130	26380	29910	33270	35600
03300	05570	09610	13710	20570	25140	26390	29960	33310	35610
03310	05580	10770	13760	20600	25150	26400	29970	33340	35630
03320	05590	10780	13890	20610	25160	26420	30000	33350	35640
03330	05600	10800	13950	20620	25170	26510	30030	33370	35650
03350	05610	10900	14290	20760	25180	26600	30110	33440	35690
03360	05690	10970	14440	20840	25210	26650	30500	33450	35810
03370	05700	10980	14580	20870	25220	26670	30510	33460	35820
03380	06140	10990	14590	20990	25230	26700	30630	33470	35840
03390	06320	11000	14720	21020	25270	26710	30650	33480	36120
03470	06400	11020	14750	21050	25320	26720	30720	33750	36170
03480	06430	11070	14760	21300	25330	26750	31010	33770	36180
03490	06480	11080	14780	21390	25350	26760	31020	33790	36230
03500	06790	11140	14790	21400	25360	26770	31090	33810	36250
03510	06800	11150	14870	21420	25750	26780	31200	33860	36370
03530	07060	11170	15130	21430	25760	26800	31240	33880	36510
03540	07310	11180	15140	21460	25770	26810	31250	33960	36790
03550	07330	11190	15150	21470	25780	26820	31300	34020	36800
03560	07480	11200	15170	21480	25790	26840	31320	34030	36810
03570	07500	11210	15260	21490	25800	26910	31330	34040	36820
03600	07550	11310	15300	21530	25810	26920	31440	34120	36830

The
All New

PRIDETTE

KSU's Dance/Drill team

TRYOUTS

April 25

9 a.m. McCain 201

for details call Jo Byrnes

532-5296 or leave message at 532-5150

Put a KICK in your life!

Braden's actions show disregard for process

Representative. n. Being or acting as an agent for another.

America. n. Land of the free. Apparently House Speaker James Braden has other definitions for these two words. On April 10, he demoted Rep. Elizabeth Baker, R-Derby, from her vice chairmanship on the House Elections Committee.

The reason? She did not vote with her party on a bill to send money to public schools. Baker was the only Republican to vote with Democrats in favor of the bill.

Baker said Braden called her into his office April 10 and told her she should vote with Republicans on the measure. He then warned Baker if she refused to change her vote she would be removed from her committee post.

Baker said she voted for the bill because of her constituents and the merits of the issue. After the vote, she was told by Braden that he was removing her from the office.

Braden's action has caused a good deal of controversy in the Legislature. Even many Republican congressmen have expressed shock and concern.

And they should. Rep. Richard Harper, a Republican who is chairman of the House Elections Committee, said he had not seen such an action in 23 years.

One person who has supported Braden's action is Manhattan Republican Joe Knopp, House Majority Leader. However, Knopp did say that he wished there had been another way to handle the situation.

Knopp's solution — it would have been better to wait and demote Baker "when we went home later this summer."

How convenient. Stall the issue for a while so it won't be as obvious when the action is eventually taken. Not only is this episode an insult to Kansans' intelligence, it is an insult to the concept of democracy.

It appears our elected leaders have the power to dictate to our representatives how they must think, act and vote, regardless of the constituents' wishes.

If we believe this is legitimate representation, we're only fooling ourselves.

Nation must face truth of future tax increase

In his visit to K-State last week, syndicated columnist George Will reminded his audience of an urgent crisis in the government. The politicians in Washington cannot continue to spend greater amounts of money while promising not to raise taxes, he appropriately warned.

The deficit will bury this country in the end if it is not held in check. If the government continues to borrow against its future, it had better be prepared to have that future repossessed if it can't pay.

At the basis of the deficit problem is the increasing absence of real issues in the campaign process. Candidates are using slick, image-oriented media campaigns instead of presenting issues of importance.

In this environment, it is easy for these candidates to promise more government services and lower taxes while not coming up with a way to accomplish such a feat. They have proved one doesn't have to make sense in American politics — one just has to look like he does.

Another problem identified by Will is the ability of pressure groups to skew government spending to the benefit of certain private interests. Political action committees have millions of dollars in campaign contributions to give to congressmen who vote favorably for certain groups. The largest private beneficiaries are the defense industries, which earn billions of dollars in profits from government contracts.

America has to face up to this problem. We cannot continue to spend money we don't have. As Will said, "Everybody is clamoring for services, but no one is clamoring to pay for them."

It is hoped some politician will have the guts to stand up and raise taxes. Let's hope America cooperates.

Armed forces should live up to expectations

The few, the proud, today's armed forces. The image of the armed forces seemed on its way up in the eyes of U.S. citizens. More students were joining, both as a way to pay for their schooling and as career training.

Lately, the image the armed forces are presenting is far from favorable. The Marine spy scandal in the Soviet embassy is embarrassing to the United States.

The Contra affair is another large spot of rust on the armor of the armed forces. The refusal of military personnel to testify on anything having to do with the sale of arms is preventing the people from finding out the truth behind yet another government mishap.

Our government is supposed to represent the people and serve our best interest.

Something needs to be done to re-emphasize these statements to those serving in the military. Their conduct of late should not ever have to be dealt with. They are not exempt from the laws.

Meeting an old friend

After 24 years, pen pals unite

One of the fleeting experiences of adolescence is carrying on a correspondence with a stranger from a distant land. Often arranged by some international friendship organization, pen pals offer valuable lessons in cultural differences and human understanding.

As a youth of 12, I had two pen pals. There was a boy in Vietnam and a girl in England. Their names escape me.

Even though our interest in writing lasted about a year, I still think of the Vietnamese. Our long-distance acquaintance was during the time Buddhist monks were torching themselves in protest of the government and not too long before U.S. involvement became so great.

What ever happened to him? Perhaps he was pressed into the Army and the daily struggle with the North. In my memory, he is still the school lad with similar likes and desires for the future. I hope he has survived to enjoy some of them.

When I was 13, an adviser at the Elmhurst, Ill., YMCA gave me the name of a fellow in Kuopio, Finland.

"He's your age and a stamp collector. He wants to write to an American and exchange stamps," I recall him saying. He handed me a slip of paper with Jorma Hakkinen's name and address.

I shot a letter off with full autobiography and a photograph of myself. A month or so later I received a reply. The letter was brightly colored with a multitude of Finnish stamps. Throughout junior and senior high school, we wrote faithfully exchanging three or four letters a year. I've saved all of Jorma's letters since the first one arrived in 1963.

We entered college the same year and found the press of studies, new interests and activities put a strain on our correspondence. We lost touch of each other. In our last exchange in 1969, I remember being surprised

TIM LINDEMUTH
Guest
Columnist

he had chosen mathematics as a major like myself.

Years passed. I graduated, completed three years in the Army, finished a master's in journalism at K-State, bought a home and settled into a job at University Relations.

Thanks now go to Donna Davis at the International Student Center. A couple of years ago, she put me in touch with K-State's only Finnish student. Over coffee at the Union, I asked the student to help me locate Jorma. As it turned out, it wasn't that difficult.

A letter to the Kuopio post office produced the current address of Jorma's parents, who are retired and are still living in the same home town. I wrote them a letter and enclosed a second letter to my old friend. A few weeks later, an envelope with the old familiar handwriting turned up in my mailbox. Our acquaintance was renewed.

I learned how Jorma switched majors to electrical engineering, had graduated and gone to work for Finland's largest private telecommunications company. He is manager of the electronic switch manufacturing section in Helsinki. Married to Helya in 1979, he is the father of a 7-month-old son, Matti.

A letter in January brought news that Jorma would be attending the International Telecommunications Union meeting from March 23 to April 9 in Arizona.

"Any chance we can see each other?" he wrote.

We fulfilled our boyhood desire the first weekend in April. I flew to Phoenix where he met me at the airport. I had envisioned him being my height, but he was much taller — 187 centimeters (about 6-foot-3). His command of English vocabulary was broad and his grammar flawless. I wished I could converse in his tongue.

Jorma and two other Finnish colleagues had the weekend off from the ITU meetings. With a rental car, we toured the Grand Canyon, Painted Desert, Navajo ruins and the Petrified Forest. During our adventure, we hiked halfway down the canyon's Kaibab trail, enjoyed pizzas, steaks and blueberry pancakes, witnessed the Southwest Indian culture and felt the Arizona desert and mountain climates.

We talked about the tragic treatment of the American Indian and the Finnish Laplander, the Swedish and Russian conquests of Finland, the confusing measurements of miles and gallons, taxes, the Reagan administration, the dollar exchange rate. At an Exxon station, Jorma told me how inexpensive my American gasoline is compared with his 85-cent-a-liter ($3.21 a gallon) Soviet-imported gasoline.

Our weekend at an end, we added 550 miles to the car's odometer.

"Have you ever driven this far before?" I asked the Finns.

"Only once," Jorma's friend said. "I drove through Germany to Geneva. You have very good interstate highways here, just like Germany. Only you drive very slow."

Jorma and I waited outside our Phoenix hotel for the airport shuttle. I hated to say goodbye to this boyhood pen pal. We had learned a great deal about each other. We parted looking forward to a future reunion in Helsinki.

I've heard great things about Finnish saunas!

Tim Lindemuth is a writer in the Office of University Relations.

Letters

Keep campus clean

Editor,

K-State has a very beautiful campus, but we have a problem keeping it clean and green. It is costing us $1,000 a week, $52,000 a year for someone to pick up and remove our litter. Could we not use this money more effectively than using it just to remove litter from our campus?

We have approximately 140 trash receptacles in the main section of the campus. My concern is that a lot of smokers are not using these receptacles. They are using the ground. I am a smoker, and I don't flip my cigarette butts on the ground. Have you ever heard of field stripping a cigarette?

I learned this technique while in the Army. First, I split the paper above the fire letting the tobacco fall to the ground. Then I retain the filter and/or paper to put in the receptacles or in my pocket; if not, someone has to pick them up. In my research, I have not found anyone at K-State picking up cigarette butts. We do not have the money to hire additional workers for this task. It is up to us smokers.

In a recent survey conducted by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, "How do students choose a college?" 62 percent said, "Appearance of the grounds and buildings had the most influence on their selection."

Our enrollment has continuously dropped, from 19,497 in 1982 to 17,687 in 1986. I think the appearance of our campus has a direct bearing on the image of our University. Jon Wefald, K-State president, shares my concern.

Students are the lifeblood of this institution. The role we play in assisting the University in helping to keep the campus clean and green and educating the "non-believers" will have a long-term impact on the whole University. Remember smokers: don't flip 'em, strip 'em.

Berry Barham Jr.
sophomore in business

Union does exist

Editor,

Re: The letter "Fictitious union" in the April 15 Collegian. The letter, which was written by Nabel Al-Ani, denied the existence of any Iraqi students opposing the Iraqi regime and also the existence of the Islamic Union of Iraqi Students. The Ba'athists' letter further claims that all the Iraqi students at K-State are active under the National Union of Iraqi Students.

We, the Muslim Iraqi students at K-State, would like to inform the public about the true nature and intentions of the National Union of Iraqi Students. The NUIS members are the only supporters of the brutal regime of Iraq and constitute the minority of the Iraqi students. The majority of Iraqi students have been actively opposing the regime in Iraq under the Islamic Union of Iraqi Students for the past eight years.

The IUIS is well known throughout the United States, Canada and Europe. The Iraqi regime is fully aware of our existence and is intimidated by our activities, such as lectures, conferences, newsletters, demonstrations, etc. Regular events such as the recent lecture held on April 4 in the Union and the demonstration by the Iraqi Muslim students on April 10 in Washington, D.C., are witness to the strong opposition and resistance against the criminal regime of Iraq.

The Iraqi regime, through its agents, has attempted to undermine and stop the activities of the Iraqi Muslim students. But its hopeless efforts, which are indicative of its weakness and its collapse in the near future, have been ineffective.

We hereby invite the Ba'athist students to come back to the Muslim people of Iraq and join in our efforts to establish the Islamic Government in Iraq.

Names withheld by justified request

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR
Jonie Trued
MANAGING EDITOR
Sue Dawson
NEWS EDITOR
Erin Eichler

EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
Deron Johnson
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson
ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinett

EDITORIAL BOARD: Susan Bahr, Erik Caraway, Sue Dawson, Jim Dietz, Erin Eichler, Judy Goldberg, Ron Honig, Pat Hund, Deron Johnson, Sarah Kessinger, Judy Lundstrom, Margaret May, Scott Miller, Andy Nelson, Patti Paxson, Julie Reynolds, Chris Stewart, Teresa Temme, Jonie Trued. Unsigned editorials represent the majority opinion of the editorial board.

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 202-000) is published by Student Publications, Inc., 1000 S. 10th St., Topeka, KS 66606. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 332-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

ASK seeks approval of funds from Senate

By The Collegian Staff

Student Senate will continue the tentative allocation of student fees for three more groups at 6 tonight in the Union Big Eight Room.

Senate Finance Committee is recommending that the state office of Associated Students of Kansas receive all of the $18,475.20 it requested. Funds go toward salaries for two lobbyists in the state Legislature and a secretary, in addition to general office supplies.

This amount was derived by assessing Student Governing Association 60 cents for each student enrolled at K-State. Member institutions of ASK pay 60 cents for each student enrolled.

The campus office of ASK requested $1,657.60 for 1987-88. Finance Committee is recomending it receive $1,559.40, down $48.20 from last year's allocation. Funds go toward the director's salary, advertising and private car travel.

Finance Committee is recommending that Consumer Relations Board's request for $4,232.90 be reduced to $3,906.30. CRB received $3,800.15 last year.

In addition, Senate will debate two requests for special allocations. Black Student Union is requesting funds to help finance the Big Eight Black Student Government conference at K-State next year. The Women's Soccer Club is also requesting funds to host the Big Eight Conference Women's Soccer Tournament this weekend.

At Tuesday's meeting, Senate approved Finance Committee's recommendation that Sports Club Council receive $4,023.89 after a lengthy debate.

Center provides entrepreneur coaching

By TOM DENZEL
Collegian Reporter

For those who are tired of working for others and believe they can do better in their own business, the Small Business Development Center on campus offers assistance on all aspects of starting a business.

Fred Rice, director of the center, said an entrepreneur must consider several factors before starting a business.

"In achieving success in your own business, there are several ingredients needed to start the business: a business plan, cash to finance the business, and a niche market — finding a niche in the market that everyone else has overlooked but which you have the unique ability to fill," Rice said.

People thinking about starting their own businesses can seek free assistance at the center. Confidential advice on matters such as drawing up a business plan, locating funds, marketing and production is also available.

Rice said when a client comes in and requests assistance, the first and most difficult step is finding what he or she wants to do.

Difficulties such as financing, and when and where is the best time to enter the market must also be considered. Next, steps to promote the product or service must be taken. And last but not least, defining and explaining the entrepreneur's business and what that person hopes to accomplish are important.

"Finding the best time to enter the marketplace is not always an easy task, but most small businesses don't always have the choice," Rice said.

For large companies, entering the marketplace might not be as important as for the small businesses.

One example of this would be if the product was a seasonal one, entering the market going into that season would be the best time for the small business to get a better financial start, he said.

A combination of advertising outlets is the most effective way to promote a product.

"People don't respond favorably to only one stimulus," Rice said. "The more they are exposed to a product the more they will remember it."

The entrepreneur needs to explain the business to the public to gain trust in the product or service. The public needs to know that there are no hidden traps and that a legitimate product or service is being offered.

Rice said he is not a motivator but an adviser — an adviser to individuals with an interest and a desire to start a business.

"My role is to encourage people and to make them do their homework before they go crashing into the marketplace."

He said he is a firm believer in what experts say about small businesses — that they are the backbone of the American economy, creating new jobs and products.

"But success can only be accomplished if the individual has some plan to follow," he said.

Writing up a business plan can be the turning point in making or breaking a new business. The purpose for preparing a business plan is to help the business manager think through the venture and ensure that all options and possible difficulties have been considered. It is also important to convince potential lenders and investors that the business project will be profitable.

Setting goals and objectives that will challenge the business and its dedication for success are a must, Rice said. At the same time, one should realize failures and difficulties are possible and should be anticipated.

Rice teaches a course, Business Strategy, which deals with small business management. His students are given the task of studying and finding results to the problems facing Rice's small business clients in 15 Kansas counties.

He has compiled a pamphlet, "Business Plan Guideline," covering specific points of small businesses, including management, personnel, finance, and insurance.

"This is a very practical experience," said Craig Patterson, senior in business management and student in Rice's class. "We deal directly with the clients seeing the steps they took to get started, the problems they face and the integrity of the individual and ingenuity of the product they want to enter into the marketplace."

Chernobyl reactor hovers near boiling

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW — A year after the Chernobyl nuclear accident, the temperature of the reactor hovers near the boiling point and 13 badly burned people are still considered invalids, Soviet officials said Wednesday.

The officials told a news conference that most people in the Chernobyl area are in good health and that radiation levels in farm products and soil near the plant have almost returned to normal since the accident on April 26, 1986.

At least 31 people died and hundreds were injured after the explosion and fire, which spewed radiation around the world. The Soviets did not report the accident for three days.

Nikolai Lukonin, minister of atomic power generation, said the temperature inside the ruined No. 4 reactor is 98 degrees Celsius, or 208 Fahrenheit, just under the boiling point. Last November the temperature was 140 degrees Celsius (284 Fahrenheit), he said.

Soviet reports have said that the temperature of the reactor's nuclear fuel reached more than 2,000 degrees Celsius during the accident in the Ukraine.

"The lowering of the level of heat is going according to plan," Lukonin said. "The temperature continues to fall."

Soviet authorities have blamed the accident on an unauthorized experiment that went out of control. They declared a 19-mile danger zone around the plant 80 miles north of Kiev and evacuated 135,000 people.

Leonid Ilyin, vice president of the Academy of Medical Sciences and director of the Soviet Institute of Biophysics, said most people affected by radiation were able to resume normal lives.

However, he said, "Thirteen people have become invalids of different forms. Human skin suffered much and in some cases these people will have to undergo plastic reconstruction operations."

He did not further describe their afflictions.

Doctors diagnosed 237 people near the plant site as having acute radiation sickness. Twenty-eight of them died. Three other people at the accident site died of other causes.

Ilyin, who arrived in Chernobyl within three days of the accident to help direct medical services, said, "One hundred ninety-six people can come back to work but they still have to follow certain restrictions about contact with radioactivity in their work."

He said doctors had not recommended abortions for women exposed to the radiation and there had been no cases of birth defects caused by the accident.

Children born to mothers exposed to the radiation "are being very closely examined. Their physical and other conditions are quite normal," he said.

The prospects for those who were diagnosed as having radiation sickness is "quite good," Ilyin said, "but all these people for all their lives will be under close medical attention."

A massive screening effort turned up no other cases of radiation sickness, and a study of people living near the danger zone indicated no other radiation-related illnesses, he said.

Milk supplies, at first found to contain radioactive iodine, are now safe and last year's potato harvest from the Chernobyl area was nearly free of radiation, officials said.

Officials so far have not noted any pollution of rivers due to spring floods washing over ground contaminated by radiation. But they said they were waiting until the end of flood season before reaching a final conclusion.

SEX & LESBIAN RESOURCE CENTER
MANHATTAN, KANSAS
SEEDING FORMAL
Saturday April 25
9 pm
Unitarian Fellowship Hall
$3.00 ♀ $5.00 couple
For Further Info Call (913) 539-1876

Freshman & Sophomore
Summer Job Opportunity
available with
The United States
Marine Corps
No obligation to be a Marine!
Earn between $1300
& $2100 a month
plus meals & housing.
Call
913-841-1821
(collect)

PUTT-PUTT
GOLF COURSES
For the Fun of It!
CARTS FROM WAT MARI
COUNTRY
GIFT SHOP
Beers • Dolls • Folk Art • Home Decor
"East of Holidome"
Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30 539-3854
2206 Ft. Riley Blvd. Manhattan, Ks. 66502

GLAFLIN
Books & Copies
• Professional Resumes
• 4¢ Self Service Copies
• Full Service Copy Center
• Quality Dissertation Copying
OPEN DAILY
M-F 8-9 Sat. 9-5 Sun. 12-9
FirstBank Center Denison & Claflin
776-3771

It's as easy as renting a Ryder truck, one way.
Compare costs before you make plans for moving at the end of the semester.

EXPIRES
9-30-87
$10 OFF
any local move

NEIGHBORHOOD DEALERS
• 2707 Anderson
539-4791
Manhattan
• 121 McCall Rd.
776-9465
Manhattan
• 1214 S. Washington
238-8534
Junction City
• HWY 24 & 99
456-7875
Wamego

$50 OFF
any one way
move out of
MANHATTAN

Falsetto's
PIZZA

1127 Moro • Aggieville
539-3830
FREE DELIVERY
We Have Hot Slices Daily!

10" PIZZA single topping
only $4.99 plus tax
Offer expires May 15, 1987. Not good with any other offer.

12" PIZZA single topping
only $5.99 plus tax
Offer expires May 15, 1987. Not good with any other offer.

16" PIZZA single topping
only $6.99 plus tax
Offer expires May 15, 1987. Not good with any other offer.

Win a Night on the Town!
From Falsetto's & La Ride Limousine
Bring this completed entry form to Falsetto's Pizza to register.
Drawing May 7, 1987

Name _____
Address _____
Phone _____

AFTER EASTER CLEARANCE!

- FASHION AVE. Cotton Sweaters reg. 30 Now 19.99
- F.L. LIMITED Polo Shirts reg. 16 Now 9.99
- TEN BUTTON HENLEYS reg. 18 Now 9.99
- RIO Slacks (entire stock) reg. to 34 Now 19.99
- FORENZA Tops reg. 24 Now 9.99
- BIB OVERALLS reg. 52 Now 29.99
- CHEENO Drawstring Pants reg. 18 Now 9.99
- RUGBY Shirts reg. 28 Now 14.99
- DENIM Jumpsuits reg. 54 Now 19.99
- COTTON Knit Dresses reg. 40 Now 29.99
- CHAMBRAY Shorts reg. 18 Now 11.99

HARPERS
FAMOUS LABEL FASHIONS FOR LESS

331 Poyntz Manhattan Now Open Sundays 945 Mass. Lawrence

Campus Bulletin

PADDY MURPHY MISSING AND PRESUMED DEAD

Paddy Murphy, the ever drunk 9th Founding Father of Sigma Alpha Epsilon was spotted yesterday here in Manhattan by Iva Biggin. Mr. Biggin witnessed Paddy scuffling with a German shepherd (two out of three falls) over a fire hydrant in Aggieville. Murphy was later cited for indecent exposure. Area law officials are looking for the infamous Paddy Murphy because of his uncanny ability to arouse college students into a partying frenzy, causing them to drink till they drop and have an all-around swell time.

Reported citations of Paddy Murphy consist of a lengthy inebriated tour of Aggieville which included stops at Kite's Bar & Grille, Brother's Tavern, Auntie Mae's Parlor and finally Dark Horse where he stumbled across a hot rockin', shoe stompin' function with the men and women of Goodnow 69. According to Rob and Lynn, Murphy drank heavily with the hard-up, unattractive party-goers who were waiting for replies to their Collegian personals.

Murphy, who then five-fingered a case of Mad Dog 20/20 from Mayer Liquor, (conductive to his liquor-by-the-case proposal) hitched a B.A.D.D. cab to the rocks intending to bag some midnight rays (or stray animals)! Murphy, who stripped naked and stood at full attention for an even tan line, (or stray animals!) apparently mistook Tuttle for a reservoir of grain alcohol. He then plunged into this mirage and has not been seen since. Park ranger Fred Chokechicken, who witnessed the event immediately called 911 but received no answer! Hundreds of fish now lay belly-up all over the lake, cause unknown. Paddy Murphy is presumed dead.

Both friends of Paddy Murphy, F. Postelwaite and S. Townley, have announced that there will be a reading of Paddy's last will and testament for the members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and The Little Sisters of Minerva.

Time: 8 TONIGHT

Place: 1015 DENISON SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON House

Attire: MURPHY TROU

U.S. knew of spying in 1979

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — U.S. officials were fully aware as long ago as 1979 that the Soviet KGB was bugging the Moscow Embassy during its construction, but believed they had a strategy for finding the spy devices, a top State Department official said Wednesday.

"I think the supervisory people knew that the embassy was being bugged," said Robert E. Lamb, assistant secretary for diplomatic security. "They contributed information to us about the bugs that were coming in."

Lamb told a hearing of a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee that U.S. personnel were placed on the embassy site to intercept listening devices. "We had a strategy for finding it," he said.

"Where this strategy was weak was in the sense that the Soviets used parts of the structure itself as the bugging. These are the kinds of things that are going to be difficult for us to neutralize."

Investigators have said some large components of the building were fabricated away from the construction site by a Soviet contractor and away from the eyes of U.S. inspectors.

Those problems cannot now be remedied without fundamentally damaging the building's soundness, said Rep. Doug Bereuter, R-Neb., a member of the committee.

"We've continued to underestimate the Soviets' advances in intelligence collecting technology," Bereuter, who has a background in military counterintelligence, said in an interview.

"We should have understood that they had the capabilities to employ advances in technology which are more complex than simply inserting bugs, listening devices, in the construction features of the embassy. It is not a matter of us going over the embassy with a fine-toothed comb...We have a greater problem. It is a fundamental structural concern," he said.

Bereuter said rather than tear down the eight-story brick office building, which has cost $23 million so far to build an unfinished shell, the State Department should consider building a separate annex where all classified business could be conducted under complete security.

Lamb said that option is under review, along with the idea of ripping off and rebuilding the top two floors of the structure or taking steps to neutralize the building's bugs.

The panel later held an hour-long closed-door briefing with Lamb and other State Department officials to go over classified information related to the security problems.

Former U.S. ambassador to Moscow Arthur Hartman, meanwhile, testified before a secret session of the Senate Intelligence Committee which is investigating the security situation at the Moscow embassy.

Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., the committee chairman, said later that he believes there was "a failure to anticipate the kind of problems we have had."

"The maintenance of security did not come across as a very high in terms of priorities for the ambassador and for others in authority at the embassy," Boren said. "They seemed to be much more concerned with Soviet reactions and the course of Soviet-American relations than they were with the maintenance of security."

The United States has filed a multimillion-dollar claim against the Soviet Union over construction problems at the embassy, and the claim may grow substantially as more becomes known about the extent of Soviet eavesdropping and debugging costs are included in the claim, administration officials said.

Nuclear plant fined for dozing guards

By The Associated Press

MIAMI — Sleeping guards and unauthorized visitors at the Turkey Point nuclear power plant will cost Florida Power & Light Co. a $75,000 fine, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission staff announced Wednesday.

Seven guards were fired after being found asleep, the most recent by an NRC inspector on Jan. 15, said Tom Veenstra, spokesman for the utility.

An inspector sent down in early March to investigate the sleeping incidents also discovered an unauthorized visitor in a "vital area" of the plant, said NRC spokesman Joe Gilliland. A check of the records turned up eight previous cases, he said.

A vital area is defined as any place where tampering with equipment could cause radiation to be released into the atmosphere, endangering the public, said Gilliland.

Federal regulations prohibit releasing details of the violations, but Veenstra said at no time was the plant's integrity compromised.

The NRC said the fine resulted not from a single violation but a pattern of incidents beginning in January 1985.

"They demonstrate a lapse in management control and indicate an apparent weakness in the company's employee training for security at Turkey Point," said the NRC, quoting a letter written to the utility by regional administrator J. Nelson Grace.

The company "agrees with the NRC that any breach of proper performance of security personnel must be dealt with in the strongest terms," said C.O. Woody, FPL group vice president of nuclear energy.

Dance students to perform original choreographic work

By The Collegian Staff

Jazz, pop and easy-listening music will set the rhythm for the Department of Physical Education, Dance and Leisure Studies' Student Dance Concert '87.

Performances will be at 8 p.m. today and Saturday and at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Purple Masque Theatre of East Stadium.

Several dance majors and non-majors have been practicing original choreographic pieces for the program, said Tammy Francka, junior in dance and coordinator of the concert.

"There will be some ballet, jazz and modern styles with music ranging from Fresh Aire to Gus Giordano," Francka said. "This concert will be completely presented, choreographed and danced by students."

Francka said the choreographers begin with an idea of what they want to do and try to improvise in the studio.

"Some of the works are serious; some are funny. For example, one piece is about rivalry between two groups, like a street gang. Another is about children growing up," she said.

In-Studio Research Photography

- On Location Research Photography
- Photo Coverage of Special Events
- Portraits for Publicity & Passports
- Portfolios

K-STATE PHOTOGRAPHY

Professional Services Available

- Black & White Photos
- Color Photos
- Color Slides
- Film Processing
- Slide Duplication
- Film and Supplies
- Copy Work

Focusing to be the best!

Photographic Services
Power Plant, Room 101
Kansas State University
532-6304

Campus

Associate dean receives ESU award

Virginia Quiring, associate dean for library development services, has been named the winner of Emporia State University's 1987 Distinguished Graduate Award.

Emporia State President Robert Glennen will present Quiring with the award on June 17.

The award, which is given by Emporia State's School of Library and Information Management, is awarded on the basis of growth in the profession, publications submitted and active participation in professional organizations.

Quiring completed master's degrees in both library science and educational administration at Emporia State.

Teaching students awarded $5,000

Five students have been selected to receive the College of Education's Congressional Teaching Award.

Recipients of the $5,000 award are Amy Hemphill, junior in music education, Molly Kinsey, junior in secondary education, Daryl Reichard, junior in secondary education, Sharon Schmidt, senior in secondary education and Rebecca Svaty, sophomore in secondary education.

Professor named to treasurer post

The Midwest Association for the Education of Young Children has selected Bob Poresky, associate professor of human development and family studies, as the association's treasurer.

Poresky has been involved with the Kansas Association for the Education of Young Children for about 12 years and has held both the president and treasurer positions in that organization.

Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

CENTENNIAL AG RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM

Bridging the 20th and 21st Centuries

APRIL 24
1:15 PM
FORUM HALL
K-STATE UNION

THE CHANGING STRUCTURE OF AGRICULTURE

BIOTECHNOLOGY—IMPLICATIONS FOR AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH

POLITICAL SCIENCE, HISTORY, HORTICULTURE,
AND SOCIOLOGY
FACULTY WILL REACT TO THE PRESENTATION.

OPEN DISCUSSION TO FOLLOW
REFRESHMENTS SERVED
Faculty, Students, Public Invited

Sponsors:
Kansas
Agricultural Experiment Station
Agriculture and the Liberal Arts Program
Gamma Sigma Delta Agricultural Honorary

Sub8Stuff
Sandwich Shop

We Deliver!
537-DELI

Enjoy smooth, creamy
Frozen Yogurt
that tastes like Ice Cream
but with 80% less fat!
—FREE SAMPLES—
I Can't Believe It's
YOGURT!
Frozen Yogurt Slices

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily
Noon-11 p.m. Sundays
Nauticus Towers—Aggieville

UPC

Thursday, April 23, 1987

For more information on any UPC event, call 532-6371

UPC

MOVIES AT THE K-STATE UNION KSU ID Required

The movie that watches television through the eyes of Fellini.

FEDERICO FELLINI'S
GINGER & FRED

K-state union
upc kaleidoscope

TODAY!
Little Theatre, 3:30 & Forum
Hall, 7:30 p.m. $1.75

Italian director Federico Fellini brings his unique understanding of humanity to this satire of television and modern life. It is the story of a pair of over-the-hill Astaire and Rogers imitators reunited after thirty years for an extravagant Christmas TV special. Rated PG-13. Stars Marcello Mastroianni.

PAUL HOGAN
is
"Crocodile"
DUNDEE
There's a little of him in all of us.

K-state union
upc feature films

FRIDAY & SATURDAY
Forum Hall, 7 & 9:30 p.m.
$1.75

A new screen hero is born! Australia's answer to Indiana Jones makes his debut in this two-listed comedy adventure. Paul Hogan stars as the brawny, larger-than-life adventurer whose exploits in the outback have raised him to the status of a legend.
For thrills, romance and good natured fun, don't miss it. Rated
PG-13

SATURDAY, Forum Hall,
2 p.m. & SUNDAY,
Forum Hall, 2 & 7 p.m.
$1.50

One of Walt Disney's most popular films returns to the screen. See the evil Cruella DeVil scheme to try and buy the pups for their fur. Rated G

PANELISTS: DR. RUDY HAUN

Obstetrics, Gynecology and Infertility

REV. DAVID DESHAZO

Westview Community Church

GAIL HAMILTON

Lobbyist for NOW

GLENDIA GOULD

Director, Dreamhouse Inc.

REV. ROD SAUNDERS

Ecumenical Christian Ministries

UPC ISSUES AND IDEAS

PRESENTS A

FORUM ON ABORTION

Tuesday April 28 — 8 p.m.

UNION LITTLE THEATRE

K-state union
upc issues & ideas

Backpack

THE ADIRONDACKS
IN UPSTATE NEW YORK
MAY 17-24, 1987

$39

TRIP INCLUDES:
meals on trail, cooking equipment, trail and road maps

Sign-up:
Today through April 28,
open to students
and general public.
8 a.m.-4 p.m. in the Union
Activities Center, 3rd Floor

K-state union
upc outdoor rec.

'Cats win offensive struggle with Washburn

By TOM MORRIS
Sports Editor

It wasn't a defensive struggle, but K-State's baseball team pounded out 19 runs on 14 hits and held off several Washburn rallies to capture a 19-10 win over the Ichabods Wednesday at Frank Myers Field.

K-State, 22-18 overall, will begin a four-game series with Iowa State Saturday at Ames.

Washburn, ranked 22nd in the NAIA polls, dropped to 33-14 overall. But the Ichabods didn't roll over and play dead for the Wildcats and rapped out 10 runs and 12 hits off three K-State pitchers.

K-State starter Zack Kimbell had the flu but managed to go three innings. Mike Hamacher — who lasted just 1/3 of an inning Tuesday against Creighton — pitched four innings Wednesday, gave up just two hits and two runs and picked up his fourth win.

Washburn starter Jeff Jochems dropped to 1-2 with the loss.

One of the highlights of the game came in the bottom of the eighth inning with K-State holding a 14-10 lead.

Senior first baseman Otto Kaifes, who had a 19-game hitting streak on the line, was 0-for-3 for the day and eight 'Cat batters needed to come to the plate for Kaifes to get a chance to extend his streak.

But Lady Luck was with Kaifes this day. The first four batters reached base on three walks and a single, and then after Washburn reliever Don Huss struck out two straight batters, Kris Meis hit a sharp single for two RBI. For Meis, it was his first hit in nine trips to the plate this season.

Designated hitter David Chadd then reached first after an error on the Ichabods' shortstop Kevin Rose. Chadd then lined an 0-2 pitch cleanly to left field to record a hit in his 20th straight game.

Washburn was paced offensively Steve Johnson who had four RBI.

J.P. Wright hit his 22nd home run of the season off reliever Darryl Rowley.

Washburn					K-State
ab	r	h	b	i	ab	r	h	b	i
Waltrip	6	0	2	1	Bradock	3	0	2	3
Soderberg	5	0	0	0	Gleason	2	0	0	0
Middendorf	3	1	0	0	Parsons	1	1	0	1
Wright	5	3	2	3	Ringgenberg	3	1	1	0
Zych	5	1	1	0	Hinkle	3	1	1	2
Johnson	5	1	2	4	Meis	2	1	1	2
Chappel	3	0	0	0	Chadd	4	1	1	1
Greger	1	0	0	0	Kaifes	6	1	1	1
Minihan	2	1	0	0	Seiler	4	2	2	0
Rose	2	1	2	2	Greco	0	1	0	0
Jackson	2	1	1	0	Donohue	3	3	2	2
					Haines	2	1	1	0
					Hulse	3	2	1	2
					Spangenberg	2	4	1	0
Totals	39	10	21	0		38	19	14	14

Washburn 012 020 050-10
K-State 134 060 050-11

E—Kaifes, Minihan, Chappel, Jackson, Rose. Game-winning RBI—Donohue (1). DP—K-State 1. LOB—Washburn 10, K-State 7. 2B—Donohue, Zych, Hulse, Ringgenberg, Spangenberg. 3B—Donohue. HR—Johnson (6), Hinkle (4), Rose (2), Wright (22). SB—Minihan, Seiler, Braddock, Spangenberg, Greco, Haines. SF—Parsons.

IP H R ER BB SO
Washburn	2 1/3	5	8	4	2	0
Jochems (L 1-2)	2 1/3	3	4	4	3	1
Wells	3	4	5	5	4	1
Osterhaus	1	2	2	0	1	2
Huss
K-State	3	5	3	2	3	3
Kimbell	4	3	2	2	0	2
Hamacher (W 4-2)	2	4	5	5	4	1
Rowley

WP—Jochems, Huss. PB—Jackson 2. HBP—Parsons (by Jochems), Middendorf (by Hamacher). T—3:24. A—50.

Staff/Chris Stewart

K-State first baseman Otto Kaifes shovels the ball to pitcher Mike Hamacher, who covered first base to force out Washburn University's Aaron Waltrip in the fourth inning Wednesday at Frank Myers Field. Kaifes extended his hitting streak to 20 games and the Wildcats won the game, 19-10.

Tennis squad preparing for Big 8 tourney

By The Collegian Staff

The 1987 version of the K-State women's tennis team is in Oklahoma City today for the first-round of the Big Eight Conference postseason championships.

K-State, 7-9 overall, finished its conference slate at 2-5 with dual victories against Iowa State (5-4) and Missouri (9-0).

"We had success early in the Big Eight season and it is important not to be satisfied with that," K-State Coach Steve Bietau said.

Lena Svensson, the Wildcats' No. 1 singles player, should receive a top seed with her five match wins in conference play. Svensson, 7-4 overall, posted a 5-2 mark against Big Eight opponents.

Leading K-State in doubles play were Sigrid Ivarsson and Valerie Rive. The pair had an overall mark of 12-8 and finished the conference season at 2-5. Posting identical marks was the No. 2 team of Annika Emtell and Kristy Line.

Braddock considers himself 'man of the hour'

By BILL LANG
Sports Writer

Staff/Brett Hacker

Tony Braddock is player who likes to get things started if the Wildcats need a lift. He leads the team in stolen bases with 10.

Upon first sight of Tony Braddock, one might think this little man — all 5-foot-7 inches and 160 pounds of him — with the widest of wide grins is not much of a baseball player.

Wrong. "I'm the kind of player who likes to get things started," Braddock said of his style of play. "If the team is looking for a lift, I'll try and be the man of the hour."

Many times this season, Braddock has been the man of the hour — or man of the half hour.

Braddock, along with teammate Russ Ringgenberg, have helped in the 'Cat attack, batting .248 and .240 respectively. Braddock currently leads the club in steals with 10, and Ringgenberg is in second with eight. Braddock also has 23 runs scored to Ringgenberg's 21.

And Braddock contributed his fair share Tuesday against Washburn. In K-State's 19-10 win against the Ichabods at Frank Myers Field, Braddock went two-for-three.

had three RBI and stole a base.

Braddock, a junior in computer science, feels lucky to be at K-State and playing baseball for coach Mike Clark.

"When I first started playing college ball it was at the Lamar University. I wasn't doing that well, and the coach suggested that I transfer to a junior college," Braddock said.

"One of the junior colleges that tried signing me was Northeastern Oklahoma A&M, where coach Clark was at the time."

"I finally decided to go to Arizona Western Community College," he said. "Clark told me before I took off that if I ever needed anything, give him a call."

Not very many teams came calling on Braddock's talents after his playing days at AWC were over.

"The summer was running down and not too many teams talked to me," Braddock said. "I started writing letters to schools all over the country. (The University of Kansas) and K-State each got a letter, and KU said I would be a walk-on with not much playing time guaranteed. K-State also said I would be walk-on but that I had a chance to earn a partial scholarship.

"I also reminded coach Clark of what he said to me," he added. "I told him I was needing something — like a team to play on."

Halfway into the fall season, Braddock earned his scholarship and has been the regular starter in right field since then.

"We're lucky to have a player of his caliber on this team," Clark said. "He's a very determined young man with a lot of talent. He's a good starter of rallies, and he ignites our offense when he gets on base."

Of K-State's future on the diamond, Braddock sees bright days ahead.

"We're just a few position players away from being in the top four of the Big Eight," Braddock said. "When we lost that close game with (University of) Oklahoma, OU went away saying they would probably see us in the (Big Eight) championships."

Like other students, Braddock is looking for a little R and R this summer.

"This summer I'm planning on taking a break from baseball," Braddock said. "I'm starting to feel a little burned out...but I'll be back this fall to help us win again."

Piñata
Restaurante

THURSDAY NIGHT EAT LIGHT!

Regular Taco Salads only $1.50 or our

White Flour Taco only $2.25

(Offer good Thurs., April 23, from 5 til close)

1219 Bluemont 539-3166 Open Daily at 11 a.m.

THINK SOFTBALL!
BALLARD'S are ready for you!

THUNDER BATS ★

BALLS

GLOVES

ACCESSORIES ★

BALLARD'S

in
AGGIEVILLE

1218 Moro
539-2441

Open 7 days a week
Free Delivery
11 a.m.-1 a.m.
Call 539-8868 or 537-0886
1304 Westloop 539-8868
(10% off with KSU ID)

Wildcat Football 1987

- *Six Super Home Games
- *A Willie Nelson Concert
- *The Pride of Wildcatland
- *Exciting Promotions

All for just $30.00

Tickets on sale Monday

Ahearn Ticket Office

8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

VISA and Mastercard accepted

We'd like to HAND it to you for staying in college.

Union National Bank & Trust is proud of the students that stay in college. We know that getting an education can be a rough financial road.

We'd like to help. Apply with us now for a student loan — we'll make sure your application is processed quickly and smoothly. Your check from Union National Bank will be waiting for you when you register for the fall semester. Contact Mike Andersen at 537-1234. Union National Bank would like to give you a hand.

Union National Bank & Trust Co.

MAIN BANK 8th & Poyntz • WEST BANK Westloop Shopping Center
DRIVETHROUGH BANK 8th & Houston • PHONE 537-1234

Insured by the financially sound FDIC

Classifieds

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3.25, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

ANNOUNCEMENTS 01

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour products. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (119-150)

THURSDAYS

TNT
3 tacos $1
99c Margaritas
4-7 p.m.

FIELDS OF FAIR—We are now open for the season and are taking bookings for barn parties, hail and farewell parties, barbecues, cookouts, promotion parties, reunions, graduation parties and weddings. Phone 539-5328. (125-150)

MARY KAY Cosmetics. Check out our new individual lip and eye colors. 539-9469, Janet Milliken. (138-150)

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE offered to lead singers in choir—Fall 1987. Application deadline May 1. Call First Lutheran Church, 537-8532. (139-141)

PUBLIC HEARING

Recommendations and Report on the Findings University Ad Hoc Committee on PARKING UTILIZATION at the Union Forum Hall APRIL 27th 3:30 and 7:30 p.m.

73 OVERWEIGHT people needed to try new chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Call 776-5114, 776-1465. (140-150)

SOUZA SPECTACULAR—Saturday, April 25, 8 p.m., McCain Auditorium. KSU Symphonic Wind Ensemble (Stanley Finck, conductor) presents a concert of John Philip Sousa's music in his inimitable style, complete with virtuosic solos, overtures, operatic excerpts, and numerous encores. Tickets ($5, $2 for students and senior citizens) available from the McCain Auditorium box office (913-532-6428). (141-142)

LARGE YARD Sale—Jardine Park, Saturday, April 25, 7:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Off Jardine Drive between Jarvis and Harry (141-142)

SPELLbinders inc.
INNOVATIVE INTERIORS
ART APPAREL

SPELLbinder-It

with
Hand Painted Apparel
Where the unusual is usual

Mon.-Fri. 10-5, Sun. 1-5
Candlewood Center

LANDLORD-TENANT Workshop—The Manhattan Human Relations Board will sponsor a Landlord-Tenant and Fair Housing Workshop in conjunction with Fair Housing Month from 1 to 3:30 p.m., Saturday, in the City Commission Room at City Hall, 11th and Poyntz. Presentations at the workshop will be made by KSU Student Attorney Dianne Urban and Director of Human Resources Cornell Mayfield. The workshop is open to the public. For more information, call the Department of Human Resources at 537-0056, ext. 254. (141-142)

ATTENTION 02

OVERWEIGHT? WANT to feel better? New chocolate, vanilla and strawberry herbal weight control program available. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Get away from diet jitters. On campus daily 784-6065 evenings/weekends. (132-150)

THURSDAYS FAMILY NIGHT
Dad gets a free dessert
Senior Citizens get double discount (20%)
Kids eat at 1/2 price
Mom gets a free breakfast

FOR RENT-MISC 03

RENTAL TYPEWRITERS—Correcting and non-correcting. Typewriter ribbons for sale, service available. Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-1413. (271f)

INEXPENSIVE, SELF-storage units. Why take all your stuff home this summer? Three months storage only $60. Amherst Self Storage, 776-3804. (138-150)

FOR RENT-APTS 04

TWO and three bedroom near campus. Central air, one and one-half bath. Available June and August. 537-8800. (1101f)

LOOKING FOR nice but reasonably priced apartments? One, two, three and four bedroom apartment complexes and houses for now, summer and fall. Most newly new and close to campus. 537-2919, 537-1666. (111-146)

ONE LARGE bedroom, completely furnished, laundry facilities in the complex. One block from the campus. $300. Call 537-7980 or 537-2255. (1121f)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, close to campus. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities in the complex. Available August. $420. Call 537-7810 or 537-2255. (1121f)

FREE RENT last month of yearly lease. Ten months available in August. Various locations, no pets. After April 1 call 537-8389. (1191f)

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS

3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions. Lowest rates. 776-3624.

BLOCK WEST of campus, June or August, one bedroom, furnished, $240. Call 539-5051 after 1 p.m., or see Dave, apartment 4, at 1024 Sunset (1311f)

ONE-HALF block east of campus, 1212 Thurston, for June. Two-bedroom, furnished, up to three people, $330. Phone 539-5059 after 1 p.m. (1311f)

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM, five blocks from campus. Air conditioning. Available August 1. No pets $325. Phone 776-0181. (1211f)

PRE-LEASING ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. One bedroom, near campus, $275 to $290. Two-bedroom near campus, $335 to $355. Call 776-9124. (1221f)

GOOD SELECTION of one and two-bedroom apartments available for June or August leasing. Call McCullough Development, 776-3804. (123-146)

AVAILABLE NOW and August—Unfurnished one-bedroom, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets. $265 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

AVAILABLE FOR June or August—Furnished, large two-bedroom with off-campus location. Dishwasher, disposal, central air, carpeting throughout. No pets. $350 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

LARGE THREE-bedroom in a nine-plex with large closets, living room, dining area, fully-equipped kitchen. $150 each for three. $125 each for four. 822 Fremont. Available June 1 or August 1. 1987. Call 537-7087. (1271f)

UNIVERSITY TERRACE—Two- and three-bedroom apartments, swimming pool, spacious yard, laundry hookups and facilities. On the bike path to University. 537-2096. (127-147)

AVAILABLE. LARGE two-bedroom apartment, newly decorated. June 1. $360. plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

Fall Leases

* Fremont Apartments
* Sandstone Apartments
Large 2 BR Units
537-9064

915 1/2 CLAFIN, walk-out basement, completely furnished two-bedroom. Redecorated August 1986, ample parking. Heat, water, trash paid $340/month. One-year lease June 1st. 539-3085 or 539-6133. (1311f)

COMPLETELY FURNISHED, large basement apartment, suitable for two or three. Available June 1 lease. Everything paid. $400/month. 539-6133. (1311f)

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT. $190 per month. Gas, heat, and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (132-142)

NOW LEASING for fall—Next to campus, (near Haymaker Hall), two bedrooms, luxury apartment complex, fireplace, laundry, modern kitchen, natural gas heating. Evenings, 539-2702. (134-150)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment. $340 per month. Across street from Ahearn Field House. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (134-142)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, one block from university. Available June 1. Phone 539-2857 or 539-0410. (134-142)

MAY OR June, one-bedrooms, $205-$235. Phone 539-8423 after 6 p.m. (135-150)

Moore Management NOW RENTING APARTMENTS

(All Close to Campus!)

PRID-MOR APTS.

1215 Bertrand
2-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths,
dishwasher, furnished
$450

RAINTREE APTS.

1010 Thurston
2-bedroom, furnished,
fireplace, dishwasher
$375-450

VILLA II

526 N. 14th
1-bedroom, furnished
$270

PHEASANT RIDGE

923 Fremont
2-bedroom, dishwasher
$350

For info call 539-1642
or 537-4567 after 7.

Call for special summer rates

AVAILABLE JUNE 1 nice large three-bedroom basement apartment, newly remodeled. $330 plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE. THREE-bedroom apartment. June 1. $400 plus utilities. Nice, newly decorated. 776-8393. (130-146)

NICE. ONE-bedroom in complex on the corner of Lee and Hunting. $325 or $340 with fireplace. June or August leasing. No pets, please. 776-3804. (1311f)

NOW RENTING for 1987-88 school year, two-bedroom unfurnished apartments, 1026 Bluemont. Call 776-2092 for appointment. (136-150)

RENTING FOR 1987-88 school year, Schumann Apartments, 1119 Laramie. Luxury one-bedroom, furnished. 776-2092. (136-150)

MONT BLUE APARTMENTS

2 & 12 month leases
• 1 & 2 Bedroom
Apartments and Townhouses
• Close to campus
539-4447

NEAR K.S.U., three-bedroom, furnished basement apartment. Central air, washer and dryer, utilities paid. $480. Call 539-0368 after 6:30 p.m. (137-146)

COMPLETE FIRST floor of large apartment house. 724 Poyntz. Will accommodate three-four students. Unfurnished, no pets. 537-8389 for appointment. (1371f)

1 1/2 BLOCKS from campus, across from Aggieville, two-bedroom apartments, available June 1st. Furnished or unfurnished. 539-5702 after 5 p.m. (137-141)

FOR AUGUST, next to KSU, deluxe furnished two-bedroom apartment. Also, one-bedroom apartment. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (1381f)

ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment. Near City Park, deposit, no pets. $200/month. Call 539-7677. Available June 1st. (138-142)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. One-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease. $195/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease. $350/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease. $300/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

814 THURSTON Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease. $300/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

(Continued on page 9)

1987 ARTS AND SCIENCES AMBASSADORS

KAYLENE KLAMM	LANE TURNER
THERESE MEYER	MATT SEARS
MARY BOSCH	MINDY DUTTON
CHRIS TEAGUE	JANINE LOVELAND
SCOTT FISCHER	CHRISTINE CLARK
JEFF SCHRAG	HELENE HIGBEE
VAL JOHNSON	MARY HALE
JILL WARREN	SARA ERICKSON
JONI EVERHART	BRAD BARTH
PAM NEUSCHAFER	MICHELE BOLLIER

Congratulations!

SPRING INTERSESSION

May 18-June 5

Interession enrollment is April 27-29, 8:30 a.m.-4 p.m.
at Farrell Library Basement.

	COURSE #	COURSE TITLE	CREDIT	INSTRUCTOR	DATES	TIMES
	AGRON 615	Management of Subhumid Soils of Eastern Kansas	3 UG/G	Smith	5/18-6/5	9 a.m.-Noon 1:30-2:30 p.m.
	ENTOM 799*	Prob. in ENTOM: Insect Identification	3 UG/G	Blocker	5/18-6/5	1:30-4:30 p.m.
	ENVD 299	Architecture & Planning of Kansas City	2-3 UG/G	Pavides	5/9-5/29	9 a.m.-5 p.m.
NEW	ENVD 299	Prob. in Basic Design: Architectural and Interior Delineation	2 UG	Bullock	5/18-5/29	8:30 a.m.-1 p.m.
CANCELLED	ENVD 699	Architecture & Planning of Kansas City	3 UG/G	Pavides	5/9-5/29	9 a.m.-5 p.m.
CANCELLED	ARCH 765	Prob. in ARCH: Community Design Charette	3 UG/G	Burnham	5/18-6/5	1-5:30 p.m.
	PLAN 590*	Prob. in PLAN: Economic Development Planning	3 UG/G	Lapping	5/18-6/5	3-6 p.m.
	PLAN 815*	Seminar in PLAN: Economic Development Planning	3 G	Lapping	5/18-6/5	3-6 p.m.
	PLAN 590	Prob. in PLAN: Seminar in Public Lands, Law and Planning	1 UG/G	Leutwiler	5/18-5/22	10 a.m.-1 p.m.
	PLAN 815	Seminar in PLAN: Seminar in Public Lands, Law and Planning	1 G	Leutwiler	5/18-5/22	10 a.m.-1 p.m.
	PLAN 590	Prob. in PLAN: Issues in Urban Redevelopment	1 UG/G	Leutwiler	5/18-5/22	6-9 p.m.
	PLAN 815	Seminar in PLAN: Issues in Urban Redevelopment	1 G	Leutwiler	5/18-5/22	6-9 p.m.
	PLAN 630	Computer Applications in Planning and Design	1-3 UG/G	Keithley	5/18-5/29	9 a.m.-Noon 1-4 p.m.
	ANTH 522*	Special Topics in ANTH: Social Ills. and Moral Order in Cross-cultural Perspective	3 UG/G	Taylor	5/18-6/5	9:05-11:45 a.m.
	ART 300	Special Studies in Art: Drawing the Figure with Mixed Media	2 UG	Schmidt	5/18-6/5	8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

	BIOL 495	Topics in BIOL: Biology of Sexually Transmitted Diseases	3 UG	Johnson	5/18-6/5	9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
NEW	BIOL 495	Topics in BIOL: Biology of Plants	3 UG	Weis	5/18-6/5	1-4 p.m.
	CHM 195*	Approved Techniques in Criminalistics	2-3 UG	Meloan	5/18-6/5	8:30-11:30 a.m. 1-10 p.m. Lab Open
	CMPSC 110	Intro. to Personal Computing	3 UG	Courtney/Yerrapragada	5/18-5/29	9-11:30 a.m. 1-3 p.m.
	ENGL 395*	Topics in English: Urban Folk Legends	3 UG	Gillespie	5/18-6/5	9 a.m.-Noon
	HIST 533*	Topics in the History of the Americas: Images of the Great Plains	2-3 UG	Thierer	5/18-6/5	1-4 p.m.
	JMC 690	Problems in Mass Comm.: Seminar in Selecting Popular Music for Radio Airplay	2 UG/G	MacFarland	5/18-5/29	1-4 p.m.
	MATH 101	The Metric System	1 UG	Dixon	5/18-5/22	1-4 p.m.
	MATH 309	Intuitive Geometry	2 UG	Dixon	5/18-5/29	8:30 a.m.-Noon
	MUSIC 310	History of Musical Instruments	2 UG	Cochran	5/18-5/29	1-4 p.m.
	MUSIC 390*	Special Studies in Music: Beginner Recorder Playing	2 UG	Sidorfsky	5/18-5/29	6-9 p.m.
	MUSIC 390	Special Studies in Music: Music for the Movies	2 UG	Cochran	5/18-5/29	9 a.m.-Noon
	PE 108	Advanced Lifesaving	1 UG	Christie	5/18-5/29	4:30-7:30 p.m.
	PE 109	Water Safety Instruction	3 UG	Christie	5/18-6/5	8:30-11:30 a.m.
	PE 598	Topics: Exercise Instructor Certification Preparation	2 UG/G	Edwards/Hopper	5/18-5/29	6-9 p.m. and 5/23 9 a.m.-Noon
	POLSC 502	Television and Public Policy	3 UG/G	Williams	5/18-6/5	9 a.m.-Noon
	SOCIO 301	Topics in SOCIO: Problems and Issues of Terrorism	3 UG	Karim	5/18-6/5	1-4 p.m.
	THTRE 599	Black Theatre in the United States: 1920-1980	3 UG/G	Climenthaga	5/18-6/5	7-10 p.m.
	GENBA 498	Prob. in Bus. Admin.: Computer Concepts and Applications	3 UG	Innes	5/18-5/29	8 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
	MANGT 202*	Small Business Operations	3 UG	Barton-Dobenin	5/18-6/5	6-9 p.m.
	MANGT 692*	Computer Applications in Management	3 UG	Kim	5/18-6/5	1-4 p.m.
	EDAF 511*	I.S. in ED.: Career Life Planning	2 UG	Schuette	5/18-5/29	1:30-4:30 p.m.
	EDAF 686	Topics in ED.: Assisting Students in Academic Difficulty	1-2 UG/G	Newton	5/18-5/22	9 a.m.-Noon
	EDCI 051	Study Skills Laboratory	3 UG	Heerman	5/18-6/5	6:30-9:30 p.m.
	CNS 544*	Problems in CNS: Computer Applications in Design and Construction	2 UG	Goddard	5/18-6/5	8:30-11:30 a.m.
	CT 650*	CT Study Tour: New York City	1 UG	McComas	5/17-5/24	8 a.m.-6 p.m.
	CT 780	Prob. in CT: Serger Technology and Application	1 UG/G	Peterson	6/1-6/5	8:30 a.m.-4 p.m.
	CT 851	Clothing & Textile Literature	2 G	McCullough	5/18-5/29	8:30-11:30 a.m.
	HDFS 300*	Prob. in FCD: Children of Divorce	2 UG	Copeland	5/18-5/29	1-4 p.m.
	HDFS 590*	Proseminar in CF: Fathers and Their Children	3 UG	DeLuccie	5/18-6/5	9 a.m.-Noon
	HDFS 590	Proseminar in CF: Alternative Sexual Lifestyles	3 UG	Saracino	5/18-6/5	9 a.m.-Noon
	HDFS 708*	Topics in HDFS: Working with Families/Methods and Issues	3 UG/G	Silliman	5/18-6/5	4:30-7:30 p.m.

TEXTBOOKS ARE REQUIRED FOR THE COURSES THAT HAVE AN ASTERISK () BESIDE THE COURSE NUMBER

Call 532-5566 for course descriptions and details.

Division of Continuing Education
Kansas State University

(Continued from page 8)

AFFORDABLE QUIET clean, well-maintained, large, furnished, one and two-bedroom apartments for non-smoking married couples, working individuals or serious students. June lease. No pets. waterbeds. 537-5086 (138-142)

TWO-BEDROOM close to Aggieville. Available end of May $340/month 537-1673 (139-143)

FOUR-BEDROOM large, available June 1 year lease. phone Dixie. 539-1498 (139-143)

EFFICIENCY Two rooms and bath. Across street campus. Available August 15. Phone Dixie. 539-1498 (139-143)

CENTENNIAL APARTMENTS—1832 Clifton Road (across Goodnow, Marietta Hall). luxury furnished, two-bedroom ($390). One-bedroom ($290). Phone 539-2702 evenings. (139-150)

Fall and Summer Apartments

Great Location—Close to KSU City Park and Aggieville.

Good Quality, New Carpet, Central Air, Dishwashers, 1, 2 & 3 bedrooms, furnished & unfurnished. (New, Good Quality)

$290-$445

Call 776-1222 or 539-7260

CLEAN, QUIET furnished, two-bedroom apartment. Two blocks from campus. Call Jim, evenings. 776-1703 (139-142)

TELE-FIND Landlords! List your rentals, only $20 per month on our computerized classified ads! 539-2255 (139-143)

ONE AND THREE-BEDROOM apartments for June, walk to K.S.U. 776-6063 (140-151)

FURNISHED One-bedroom in complex. 1219 Clifton, next to campus. $260 plus electric. New paint and carpet. Lease June 1 or August 1. No children or pets. Phone 537-1180. (140-150)

LIFE and Times

by Doug'n'Dick

Bloom County

By Berke Breathed

Garfield

By Jim Davis

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 "Mask" star
5 Has permission
8 Silent one
12 One type of wire
13 Cote nom
14 Frost
15 Baking site
16 — Aviv
17 Cain's victim
18 Biological categories
20 Inventor's protection
22 Tooth-paste type
23 Each
24 Competent
27 Free
32 Oahu
33 Altar words
34 Gear part
35 Italian south-west wind
38 Reminder
39 Pitching stat

DOWN
1 Jam up
2 Queen's home
3 All tied up
4 Go back on a promise
5 Tinny, e.g.
6 Reverence
7 Cur's cry
8 Lunar feature
9 Famed pianist
10 Sherman Hemsley show
11 Liquefy
19 Concerning
21 Mimic
24 —
25 — Mir Bist Du
26 Full of malicious lies
28 Tyrant
29 Shelf props
30 Turkey type
31 Self
36 Rubs out
37 Hospital scanner
38 Cultural beliefs
41 Former spouse
42 Bridge-coup
43 Call for 44 Oscillate
46 Columnist
47 Assist
48 One type of loser?
51 Keats work

CRYPTOQUIP

AX GYJ TEU GYJ HK
GATKI FEDHJXD AL KL
AXF ULLJ UJET BEBJD
Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE FRISKY COMEDIAN
TURNED MARATHON R'NNER SAYS, "I JUST CARRY A JOKE TOO FAR"

Today's Cryptoquip clue: B equals P

FALL AND SUMMER LEASES

Adjacent to Campus COLLEGE COURT APARTMENTS 1615 Anderson

PLATT APARTMENTS 1811 Platt

1 & 2 Bedroom Unfurnished

All Appliances Air Conditioned Private Parking Laundry Facilities $210-$330

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY FOUNDATION 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. 532-7166

NICE QUIET clean place to live. Furnished, one and two-bedroom apartments. Assorted features include queen-sized bed, carpet, paid utilities, dishwasher, laundry, courtyard. For married couple employed individual, serious student $216-$330 per month. June lease. No pets. waterbeds. 537-9686 (141-145)

LARGE TWO-bedroom unfurnished apartment, near campus, available August 1. Heat, water, trash paid. $350. Phone 539-8052 evenings. (141-141)

APARTMENT MANAGER and maintenance positions for 32-unit community near University. Ideal position for couple, salary plus apartment. Apply at Mont Blue Apartments, 1431 McCann Lane. (141-146)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, one-half block from campus 1212 Bluemont. $400. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401 (140-150)

ATTENTION: I'm looking for someone to look after two apartments for reduced rent on an unfurnished two-bedroom apartment (913) 642-4051 after 6 p.m. (140-141)

TWO-BEDROOM furnished or unfurnished, good location. $295. One unit left. 537-3375 (140-149)

NICE TWO-bedroom duplex. Air, gas, carpeted and furnished! Telephone 537-7334. No pets (141-145)

Now Renting HORIZON III 1212 Bluemont (across campus & Aggieville)

- 2 Bedrooms
- All appliances
- Extended Bath
- Quality throughout
- June & August Occupancy

CALL 776-6791 or 539-8401

FURNISHED EFFICIENCY apartment. Older male student, no smoking, no pets. Call 539-2165 (141-145)

LARGE BEAUTIFULLY furnished unit across street from campus. No pets. smoking. Street Real Estate. 539-4073 (141-141)

FOR RENT—HOUSES 05

ONE—TWO—THREE bedroom houses, starting June occupancy. Unfurnished, good condition, clean, appliances. 537-1269 (107-11)

AVAILABLE JUNE, four-bedroom, two-bath, one block east of campus. $500/month. lease and deposit. 539-3672 (141-142)

FOUR-BEDROOM house, garage, close to Aggieville, one-year lease. 537-8928 after 6 p.m. (137-146)

TWO-THREE girls to share house. $150, plus utilities. Own room. Nice and close to campus. 776-1406 (137-141)

HUGE THREE-level duplex. One block from campus. Three bedrooms, two baths. $400/month plus utilities. Available now. Call 1-825-3040 (137-150)

ONE-THREE non-smoking roommates. Prefer Vet or Animal Science majors to share modern farm house. Free stall and pasture for horse, cow, dog, Beef, eggs, wood, skiboat furnished. Reply PO Box 1211, Manhattan. (138-150)

TELE-FIND Landlords! List your rentals, only $20 per month on our computerized classified ads! 539-2255 (139-143)

AVAILABLE AUGUST Spacious four-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, carpeted air conditioned. Low utilities. $550. Phone 539-6202 (139-143)

AVAILABLE JUNE Quality four-bedroom, two baths, air conditioned, carpeted, washer, dryer. Fenced yard. This place is special! $595. Phone 539-6202 (139-143)

AVAILABLE JUNE—Two bedrooms, 1822 Hunting, 917 Kearney. $300. Phone 539-8401 (140-150)

THREE-BEDROOM house at 1523 Pierre, yard, remodeled. $420. Phone 776-6791 or 776-4805 (140-150)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, four-bedroom three blocks west of campus. Will rent inside, you select the color and reduced rent for the work. $500/month. Lease and deposit. 539-3672 (140-142)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, five-bedroom, two-bath at 824 Lamar. $550 per month. Room 211, Kansas State University. Reduced rent for summer. 539-3672 (141-142)

FOR SALE—AUTO 06

TELE-FIND Selling your car? List it on our computerized classified ads! Only $20 per month. 539-2255 (139-143)

1976 CHEVROLET Vega hatchback, 5 speed, 47,000 miles. Good school car! Phone 776-7541 (139-143)

1969 VW van, runs well, few dents and very little rust. $400. Phone 539-1956 early am or evenings (139-143)

1978 AMC Concord DL, runs good, air, AM/FM, new tires. $1,200 or best offer. Call 776-9848 after 3 p.m. to see (140-142)

1979 DODGE Omni, good engine, low mileage. AM/FM cassette. Call 537-3323 after 5 p.m. (140-144)

KARMANN GHIA, 1971, all original, excellent condition. low mileage. 539-6123 after 6 p.m. (141-144)

FOR SALE—MISC 07

MIYATA RACING bike, 57 cm, sunroof comp., solar, catalytic, good condition. Also turbo trainer and Mavic 40 wheels with 7 speed freewheel. Call 539-5625 (140-143)

HOUSE FOR sale, one-half block from campus. Two bedrooms, attached garage, fenced yard. For couple, single or couple with child. Call 539-2860 (140-141)

KING SIZE waterbed, four second foundation, velvet rails, headboard. Asking $470. 537-3929 (140-141)

DENON DCD-1100 compact disc player—Great condition, remote control, $300 or best offer, room # 322, Moore Hall. 532-2362 (140-144)

CATERMERAN 16', Arrow 28' mast, mainsail jib, trailer and accessories. $750. Call 532-5610 ext. 25, afternoons, else 776-8489 (141-142)

17' Skeliner boat, 55 hp Evinrude motor—low hours. Ski gear, trailer included. $1,200. Phone 776-7661 (141-143)

BICYCLE—Fuji Del Ray Perfect condition, less than 100 miles. $250. Phone 537-4376 (141-145)

KING SIZE waterbed, semi-motionless fiber-fill mattress, bookcase headboard, six-drawer pedestal. $300. Greg. 539-5875 (141-145)

FOR SALE—MOBILE HOMES 08

1983 OAKBROOK 16 x 60 Range, refrigerator, central air, ceiling fans. Deck on two sides. See to appreciate. 539-6252 (134-143)

FOR RENT or For Sale: 10 x 50 mobile home. Stove, refrigerator, air. Unfurnished. 537-7622 after 5 p.m. (134-147)

FOR SALE 1972 Revere, excellent condition, two-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, washer, dryer, air, partially furnished. Call 316-241-6054, working hours. (135-144)

1971 PEERLESS 12 x 50, furnished, $2,500. Available after graduation. Located at Northcrest. Call 539-6401 (139-141)

12 x 60, NICE two-bedroom, two-bath with storage shed. Must sell! 539-8932 (140-145)

14 x 56 MOBILE home, central air, two bedrooms, excellent position, nice park, near campus. $9,300. Call 539-9506 or 1-288-0128 (141-142)

THREE-BEDROOM 12 x 65 mobile home. Central air, washer, dryer, two sheds, close to campus. 539-1315 (141-145)

FOR SALE—MOTORCYCLES 09

1980 KAWASAKI 750 LTD, low miles, excellent condition. $850. Phone 776-4266, afternoons and evenings (137-141)

1983 KAWASAKI 500 LTD, low mileage. Call 539-9395 for details (138-142)

1981 YAMAHA 650 Special, 5,000 miles. Excellent condition. $1,000. Call 537-2305 after 6 p.m. (139-143)

TELE-FIND Selling your motorcycle? List it on our computerized classified ads! Only $20 per month. 539-2255 (139-143)

1985 KAWASAKI GPZ 750, Only 1,400 miles. Asking $2,600. Call 776-9341 after 5:30 p.m. (141-145)

1983 YAMAHA 185, Great school transportation. Only 3,500 miles. New condition. $550 negotiable. 537-2857 or 537-7496 (141-145)

1981 YAMAHA 650 Special II, Midnight blue, 3,600 miles. Great shape. Call 539-2387 ask for Murray (141-144)

1978 YAMAHA XS400, 3,000 miles. 776-7661 (141-143)

FREE 11

TO GIVE away Adult guinea pig and cage. Call 776-9848 (140-142)

HELP WANTED 13

EARN $480 weekly—$60 per hundred circulars mailed. Guaranteed. Work at home and participate in our Company project mailing circulars and assembling materials. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to JRM Mailing Company PO Box 25, Castaic, California 91310 (117-148)

FLEXIBLE HOURS and work mostly on your own for apartment owner. Work will include mowing yards, trimming bushes, cleaning apartments, carpentry, repair, maintenance, roof repair and other painting and other similar work. Work can begin immediately and through the summer months and could continue for the next school year. Prefer college student who qualifies for college work study program. Please send name, address, phone number, number of hours of work desired, wages expected and previous work experience to Box 511, Collegian (133-142)

FULL AND part-time help! National Firm is preparing for Spring and Summer work. It accepted, you will earn $8.10 starting. Some evening and weekend positions are available and some flexibility is allowed during final exams. If you qualify, corporate scholarships are awarded. Internships are possible, and you may earn 2, 3, 4 credit hours or semester. During summer break full-time work is available. Call (913) 345-9675 Monday-Friday between 9 a.m.-5 p.m. (135-148)

BARTENDER-PART-TIME apply in person. Bobby T's 3240 Kimball (137-141)

COOK PART-TIME, apply in person. Bobby T's 3240 Kimball (137-141)

NEEDED: SUMMER nannies. Free room and board. Live in Denver $400-$800 a month salary. For more information call 303-671-7011 or write PO Box 147 (138-142)

PART-TIME laborers, agricultural background help. Call 776-9401 (139-141)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211 (139-150)

1988 SKI and beach breaks! Attention KSU marketing clubs, ski clubs, fraternities, sororities, and individuals! Ski Steamboat, Vail, Beaver Creek, and the Summit! Hit the Beaches in Texas and Florida including South Padre Island and Daytona Beach! Earn free trips, group discounts, and unlimited commissions! Call Jeff at Sunchase Tours today for 1988 Ski and Beach Break sales information. 1-800-321-5911 (140-142)

SUBJECTS—NEED male right-handed subjects for motor learning research. Call department of PEDS 532-6765. Ask for Mrs. Goin. Earn $10 for three one-hour sessions. Tasks are interesting and easy to learn. (140-142)

STUDENT FIRE FIGHTER: The City of Manhattan is establishing an eligibility list for its Student Fire Fighter Program. Great opportunity for KSU or MCC students while pursuing your educational goals with year-round housing and employment. Any vacancies will be filled in May for May 26th employment. Must be a U.S. citizen or Resident Alien, hold a valid driver's license and pass all physical and selection examinations. Must submit transcripts prior to employment. Information on the program, special requirements, benefits, and application, may be picked up at the Personnel Office, City Hall, 11th and Pointz by April 24. 987 EOE—M/F/H (141-142)

UFM is looking for an energetic, creative person to coordinate, produce, and host the UFM TV program on cable Channel 6. Although this is a volunteer position, it does provide an invaluable learning experience. For further information, call UFM at 532-5866 (141-143)

EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY for upper classman completing education. Summer position and possible year-round, on-site, leasing assistant. Summers, 20-30 hours/week, afternoons and Saturdays. School year, 10-15 hours/week including Saturdays. Send letter and resume to: Box 7, Kedzie Hall 103, KSU (141-150)

KANSAS STATE University announces a vacancy for Software/Project Manager, temporary full-time position. To serve as a member of Extension computer support staff and provide leadership in software development projects. Knowledge of and experience in software engineering, program designs, and programming languages as they relate to microcomputers are necessary. A letter of interest, transcripts and resume along with three letters of reference must be sent to Dr. Roger Terry, University Hall—Room 211, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506 or call (913) 532-6270 by May 20, 1987. Kansas State University is an equal opportunity employer (141-150)

NOTICES 15

GAY/LESBIAN: Write for Kansas/Missouri information. Personality, PO Box 218, Day City, California 94016-0218. Mailed discreetly/Confidentiality (131-150)

FOR SALE—AUTO 06

TELE-FIND Selling your car? List it on our computerized classified ads! Only $20 per month. 539-2255 (139-143)

1976 CHEVROLET Vega hatchback, 5 speed, 47,000 miles. Good school car! Phone 776-7541 (139-143)

1969 VW van, runs well, few dents and very little rust. $400. Phone 539-1956 early am or evenings (139-143)

1978 AMC Concord DL, runs good, air, AM/FM, new tires. $1,200 or best offer. Call 776-9848 after 3 p.m. to see (140-142)

1979 DODGE Omni, good engine, low mileage. AM/FM cassette. Call 537-3323 after 5 p.m. (140-144)

KARMANN GHIA, 1971, all original, excellent condition. low mileage. 539-6123 after 6 p.m. (141-144)

FOR SALE—MISC 07

MIYATA RACING bike, 57 cm, sunroof comp., solar, catalytic, good condition. Also turbo trainer and Mavic 40 wheels with 7 speed freewheel. Call 539-5625 (140-143)

HOUSE FOR sale, one-half block from campus. Two bedrooms, attached garage, fenced yard. For couple, single or couple with child. Call 539-2860 (140-141)

KING SIZE waterbed, four second foundation, velvet rails, headboard. Asking $470. 537-3929 (140-141)

DENON DCD-1100 compact disc player—Great condition, remote control, $300 or best offer, room # 322, Moore Hall. 532-2362 (140-144)

CATERMERAN 16', Arrow 28' mast, mainsail jib, trailer and accessories. $750. Call 532-5610 ext. 25, afternoons, else 776-8489 (141-142)

17' Skeliner boat, 55 hp Evinrude motor—low hours. Ski gear, trailer included. $1,200. Phone 776-7661 (141-143)

BICYCLE—Fuji Del Ray Perfect condition, less than 100 miles. $250. Phone 537-4376 (141-145)

KING SIZE waterbed, semi-motionless fiber-fill mattress, bookcase headboard, six-drawer pedestal. $300. Greg. 539-5875 (141-145)

FOR SALE—MOBILE HOMES 08

1983 OAKBROOK 16 x 60 Range, refrigerator, central air, ceiling fans. Deck on two sides. See to appreciate. 539-6252 (134-143)

FOR RENT or For Sale: 10 x 50 mobile home. Stove, refrigerator, air. Unfurnished. 537-7622 after 5 p.m. (134-147)

FOR SALE 1972 Revere, excellent condition, two-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, washer, dryer, air, partially furnished. Call 316-241-6054, working hours. (135-144)

1971 PEERLESS 12 x 50, furnished, $2,500. Available after graduation. Located at Northcrest. Call 539-6401 (139-141)

12 x 60, NICE two-bedroom, two-bath with storage shed. Must sell! 539-8932 (140-145)

14 x 56 MOBILE home, central air, two bedrooms, excellent position, nice park, near campus. $9,300. Call 539-9506 or 1-288-0128 (141-142)

THREE-BEDROOM 12 x 65 mobile home. Central air, washer, dryer, two sheds, close to campus. 539-1315 (141-145)

FOR SALE—MOTORCYCLES 09

1980 KAWASAKI 750 LTD, low miles, excellent condition. $850. Phone 776-4266, afternoons and evenings (137-141)

1983 KAWASAKI 500 LTD, low mileage. Call 539-9395 for details (138-142)

1981 YAMAHA 650 Special, 5,000 miles. Excellent condition. $1,000. Call 537-2305 after 6 p.m. (139-143)

Members ponder PTL probe

By The Associated Press

FORT MILL, S.C. — As glass elevators glided high between floors and visitors peered at an indoor swimming pool and fountain, a man in the lobby of the PTL ministry's 500-room Heritage Grand Hotel reflected on the departure of evangelist Jim Bakker.

"I noticed a tattered pennant on a building," said Peter Witterveen of High Point, N.C. "That would not be there if he were here."

"He was almost a driven man...and like other leaders, you either love or hate the guy."

Bakker and his wife, Tammy Faye, have not set foot on the PTL complex, Heritage USA, in three months. But love-hate relationships with Bakker remain at the forefront of the scandal surrounding the $172 million cable television ministry.

He resigned as chairman and president a month ago, turning his ministry over to rival evangelist Jerry Falwell after admitting a sexual liaison in 1980 with a church secretary and alleging outsiders were behind a "diabolical plot" to take over PTL, which stands for Praise the Lord and People That Love.

Tammy Bakker also had problems: She was being treated for prescription-drug addiction in California.

Controversy over the Bakkers' departure escalated last week with disclosure that they received nearly $1.6 million in salaries, bonuses and other payments last year and $640,000 so far this year.

"We were not too upset about the goings on here until we found out about the salaries," Witterveen said. "I'm sure errors are being made because people run PTL. It would be tremendously tempting with that much money running through your hands."

Three former directors of the ministry say they do not remember authorizing all the bonuses Bakker received in his last 15 months as head of the organization. PTL's new board of directors, hand-picked by Falwell, meets Tuesday.

Despite the talk about sex, takeovers and salaries, support for PTL, which includes a cable television ministry and the Heritage USA theme park, appears to have thrived since Bakker left.

Shopkeepers in Heritage USA say business has not fallen off at the 2,300-acre complex.

"I think we have hit rock bottom, but we are going back up. We all have to make stepping stones out of stumbling blocks," said Anna Lemmon, manager of Victoria's Discount Boutique.

House group proposes legislation to assist troubled rural hospitals

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A bipartisan House group proposed legislation on Wednesday to help protect against closings of financially struggling rural hospitals and ensure the availability of physicians in small towns.

The main thrust of the legislative package, introduced by three dozen lawmakers making up the Rural Health Care Coalition, is to shift more money to mostly rural hospitals through the nation's Medicare payment system.

Of the 58 hospital closings last year, the lawmakers said, almost 64 percent were rural or small institutions.

"The legislation we are introducing is but a first step in ensuring that our hospitals can keep their doors open and our constituents can continue to receive the care that they not only need but deserve," Rep. Bob Whittaker, R-Kan., said at a news conference.

Rep. Mike Synar, D-Okla., one of the leaders of the coalition, said many rural hospitals face financial difficulties because the Medicare reimbursement system discriminates against them, providing much lower payments than to urban hospitals for the same health care treatment for elderly patients.

Rural hospitals are unable to offset the losses because they serve fewer people overall and have a higher than average proportion of Medicare patients, said Synar.

He and others complained that the Medicare payment differences do not accurately reflect labor costs of small hospitals or take into account the high expenses of maintaining staff and services even at times of low occupancy.

At issue is a reimbursement system implemented in 1983 to control rising health care costs. It pays hospitals at specific rates for a range of services provided under Medicare.

More than a fourth of all rural hospitals have incurred losses under the reimbursement system, the lawmakers said.

School financing bill elusive

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — School finance, the issue most likely to delay adjournment of the Kansas Legislature when it returns next week to wrap up the 1987 session, presently has no resolution in sight.

Members of a conference committee, made up of three senators and three representatives, met seven times before the Legislature took first adjournment on April 10 without finding a satisfactory solution. Agreement remains as elusive as ever, they said this week.

Developing an acceptable plan for distributing about $454 million in general state aid to Kansas' 304 local districts during the upcoming school year could push lawmakers past their scheduled adjournment a week from Friday.

Before recessing, the Legislature suspended its rule requiring that a school finance bill be sent to the governor by March 28.

Suspending the rule insured a month's delay in letting local boards of education know how much they can raise their budgets and how much state aid they will receive next year, hindering the conclusion of contract negotiations with public school teachers.

The task of the conference committee is to recommend adjustments in the School District Equalization Act's formula under which general state aid is distributed to local districts, in order to parcel out the available state money in the fairest manner possible.

The appropriations conference committee agreed last week to add only $1.8 million more in state aid than the school districts were to receive in the current school year — before they had $17.2 million cut under January funding lapses enacted to meet a revenue shortfall.

Gov. Mike Hayden recommended spending $5 million more in general state aid. Cutting the funding $3.2 million below Hayden's recommendation means more pressure for property tax increases next fall to fund school budgets.

The six-member panel is wrestling with three basic questions:

—How much to allow the local districts to raise their budgets for the 1987-88 school year.

Both houses approved Hayden's recommended limits of 2 percent for districts above the median in per-pupil expenditures for elementary and secondary education, and 3.5 percent for districts below the median.

The negotiators agree on the 2-3.5 percent budget increases, but concede cutting state aid $3.2 million below Hayden's recommendation increases pressure on lawmakers to set lower limits. Otherwise, property taxes will soar if districts exercise their full budget authority.

—Whether to average school districts' local wealth for the past two years, rather than just use last year's wealth, when computing the amount of state aid to which they are entitled.

Averaging district wealth would mean less state aid to rural school districts, where declining land values have decreased their wealth and made them eligible for more state aid. Averaging also would allow urban districts with stable or rising wealth factors to retain more of their state aid.

—Whether to adopt some modification of an amendment added by Sen. Dave Kerr, R-Hutchinson, which boosts state aid to 30 medium-sized school districts, at the expense of the very biggest and very smallest districts.

The conference committee's last agreement watered down the Kerr amendment so much the Hutchinson senator opposed it during Senate debate. Hayden has said it should be put on hold and studied ahead of the 1988 session.

Zwilich

Continued from Page 1

while written tradition can grow and expand.

After an afternoon master's composition class with music students, Zwilich elaborated on her desire to compose and the advice she gives young musicians wanting to write their own pieces.

A problem, especially among students, is their worry to be original enough, she said.

"I think an artist has to have inspiration. If you're not driven, then you're in the wrong business. There needs to be drive, desire and a love of your work."

Zwilich said the art of making music can be difficult because it often does not reward good intentions, although it does reward the craft.

Young composers are too obsessed with taking a whole range of material and creating something original, she said. "To me, what is art is taking a limited number of things and picking something new out of them."

During an afternoon master's class, Zwilich observed compositions by K-State students. She suggested changes and improvements for the works, and "shared a few ideas" for future compositions.

The composer stressed experience in an orchestral atmosphere.

"There just is no substitute for experience," she said. "Go through the score and listen to the piece being played, go to orchestra rehearsals and concerts."

Zwilich is currently completing a work for the New York City Ballet, she said, and will soon be doing commissioned pieces for the New York Philharmonic and Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Have your blood pressure checked.

CLIP, KEEP & SAVE

PERM SALE

Gals
Warm & Gentle $38
Apple Pectin $30
Feels So Lively $25

Guys
Curly $25
Body $20
Partial $18

All Perms Include
Cut and Style

539-TAME or 539-8601

404 Humboldt

Exp. 5/6/87

(Offer Valid only with Coupon)

Cafe La Grande
606 N. 12th.—Aggieville
776-8123

Enchilada, Burrito &
Taco
with beans & rice
for $3.29

- Free chips & sauce with all in house orders
- 20% off any order every day between 1:30 & 4:30 p.m.
- 59¢ Tacos daily
- Under new management

Expires 4-30-87

$7.99
FOR A LARGE
SINGLE TOPPING PIZZA
(original crust)

• dine in • carry out • delivery
Add $1 for delivery

GODFATHER'S
WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

PIZZA
539-5303
Expires 5-1-87

Speedy FREE Delivery

TWO MEDIUM TWO TOPPING PIZZAS $10
TWO LARGE TWO TOPPING PIZZAS $13.50

NOW SERVING THIN CRUST

Mark Edmund Moore
President Pyramid Pizza

Now Accepting
Visa & MasterCard

539-4888

"We Pile It On!"

kinko's

Great copies. Great people.

Resume Special 8¢ COPY

present coupon
exp. date 5-7-87

1110 Laramie

537-7340

GLAMOUR WORLD BEAUTY SUPPLY

20% STORE
WIDE
Coupon

433
Town East Center, just East of Food 4 Less
537-3233

NEW HOURS:
Mon.-Fri.
9:30 a.m.-8 p.m.
Sat.
9 a.m.-5 p.m.
Sun. 1-5 p.m.

YOUR NUMBER 1

BEAUTY STOP

Devoted Exclusively to Selling Professional Beauty Products
Public Welcome

Expires 4-30-87

50% off

1 p.m. Haircut Appointments with coupon
Monday through Friday
Expires 5/15/87

Crum's beauty college

512 Poyntz

776-4794

Crum's Beauty College
Perm Special

Perm Wave or Chemical Relaxer
25% off with coupon

Monday-Friday 8:45 appts. only

Call 776-4794
Expires 5/15/87

$5.99
FOR A MEDIUM
SINGLE TOPPING PIZZA
(original crust)

• dine in • carry out • delivery
Add $1 for delivery

GODFATHER'S
WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

PIZZA
539-5303
Expires 5-1-87

Inside

Stepping Out

Rhythm and rap are combined in Step Show competition. See Entertainment Plus.

Weather

Sunny

Sunny today, high around 80. Winds southerly 10 to 20 mph. Fair tonight, low near 50.

The K-State men's varsity eight crew boasts a 5-0 record and the state championship. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Friday

April 24, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 142

Physicists challenge Star Wars

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Challenging Reagan administration assumptions about "Star Wars," a group of top American physicists said Thursday that at least a decade of research is needed to determine whether high-energy lasers and particle beams can be used to knock down enemy missiles in space.

In a 422-page technical study, 17 members of the American Physical Society delivered the sharpest scientific challenge yet to administration plans to deploy space and ground-based ballistic missile defenses as early as 1994.

"On purely scientific and engineering criteria, one would not make a decision on early deployment. But in the international arena, there are other forces," said Kumar Patel, a physicist at AT&T Bell Laboratories and co-chairman of the study group.

Another author, Jeremiah Sullivan of the University of Illinois at Urbana, said deployment in the early or mid-1990s would be "a gamble."

"Even in the best of circumstances, a decade or more of intensive research would be required just to provide the technical knowledge needed for an informed decision about the potential effectiveness and survivability" of lasers and other "directed energy weapons," the report said.

A Pentagon critique said the report's conclusions were "subjective and unduly pessimistic about our capability to bring to fruition the specific technologies needed for a full-scale development decision in the 1990s."

But Patel and others rejected that view at a news conference.

"In spite of the progress that has been made, a substantial amount of research remains to be done before an informed judgment can be made about the effectiveness and the reliability and survivability of such weapons if and when they are deployed," Patel said.

The Pentagon's Strategic Defense Initiative Organization, which directs Star Wars research, said in a statement that recent breakthroughs have brought some high-energy devices closer to the weapons stage.

The report played an immediate role in congressional debate on President Reagan's request to spend $5.8 billion next year on Star Wars.

Members of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee raised it in a closed session Thursday with the head of the SDI Office, Air Force Lt. Gen. James Abrahamson, said one congressional source, who declined to be identified.

The authors of the report, "many of whom have important roles in developing those technologies," received classified briefings from Defense Department officials, Patel said.

Their report concluded that the power and quality of even the most promising of the lasers and other prospective directed energy weapons needs to be improved at least 100 times before they could be used in an anti-missile defense system.

The report raised questions about recent proposals by Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger to deploy as early as 1994 elements of a strategic defense system to destroy missiles by colliding with them.

Staff/Gary Lytle

Charly Pottorff, of Wildcat Tree Service, attaches a cable to a 100-year-old locust tree on the west side of Willard Hall Thursday as Dennis Straub, facilities employee, watches. The two sections of the tree were cabled together because it was thought that the base of the tree was too weak to support the two trunks.

Operation preserves historic tree

By BECKY HOWARD
Staff Writer

A piece of history was saved Thursday.

With the help of Wildcat Tree Service and the K-State facilities grounds maintenance crew, life-saving measures were performed on a locust tree, now part of mid-campus, which once marked the east boundary of University grounds.

One of the oldest trees on campus, the 100-year-old locust on the west side of Willard Hall had to be cabled together as a preventive maintenance measure, said

Don Bruns, grounds crew supervisor. The V-shaped crotch of the tree was thought to be too weak to support its two large trunks. If not cabled, the tree would eventually fall or have to be cut down.

"About a week ago, we looked at the base of the tree and decided we'd better cable it together — that way we'd give it a little more time," Bruns said.

Bruns and the grounds crew watched as grounds crew member Dennis Straub and Charly Pottorff of Wildcat Tree Service worked from a crane to cable the tree.

"We're using this as a sort of class demonstration," Bruns said. "We haven't done this type of thing for quite awhile, so I thought the grounds crew should watch it. That's also why we called Charly in."

Holes were drilled on both sides of the tree, and three-quarter-inch eyebolts were secured in the holes. Thick street cable was strung through these bolts across the crotch of the tree. The cable was then wrapped with wire to hold it through the bolts.

"This should make the tree a lot more sturdy," Bruns said.

Pottorff said pruning the tree also lightened its weight. He said that although the tree itself was hollowing as it aged, its root system seems to be in good condition.

"There are a lot of nice trees on this campus, but a lot of them need work," said Pottorff, who said his work with trees gives him a chance to get good exercise and use his K-State degree in physical education.

"I really enjoy the work. I've been doing this for the past 30 years — 19 years here in Manhattan," Pottorff said. "It gives me a chance to be outside on days like this. I always climbed trees as a kid, and I guess that's what got me started."

Speculator pleads guilty in insider trading case

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Ivan F. Boesky, the millionaire stock speculator whose meteoric Wall Street career crashed in an insider trading scandal, pleaded guilty Thursday to one count of violating federal securities laws.

He faces penalties of up to five years in prison and a $250,000 fine when sentenced Aug. 21 by U.S. District Judge Morris E. Lasker.

Lasker, who has a reputation among defense attorneys as a fair judge but a lenient sentencer, cautioned Boesky that in view of the publicity surrounding the case and the sentencing practices of various judges at Manhattan federal court, "I want to talk turkey."

He then asked Boesky if he understood that it was in the judge's power to sentence him to the maximum. Boesky said he did.

The 50-year-old financier, looking subdued and exhausted, entered his plea in a courtroom packed with nearly 200 reporters, sketch artists, lawyers and other defendants.

He was released without bail and, flanked by his two lawyers, left the courthouse through a side door without comment. Photographers swarmed around the black limousine that whisked him away.

The Securities and Exchange Commission announced on Nov. 14 that Boesky had settled charges that he engaged in illegal insider trading, or the illegal use of non-public information to profit from securities trades.

Boesky, who had been the leading speculator in stocks of companies that were potential takeover targets, settled the charges by paying the government $100 million. He also agreed to cooperate with the continuing investigation into stock-trading improprieties and agreed to plead guilty to a criminal charge which was left unspecified until Thursday.

The count to which he pleaded guilty charged him with conspiring to make false statements to the SEC.

He admitted to conspiring with others, who were not identified, to file a false registration statement with respect to purchases of stock in the Fischbach Corp. in 1984.

The registration statement, known as a Schedule 13D, must be filed with the SEC when an individual or an entity acquires at least 5 percent of a company's stock.

According to federal officials, Boesky began to acquire the electrical contractor's stock through entities he controlled, ultimately accumulating 13.4 percent of the outstanding Fischbach stock without reporting key details of the acquisition to the SEC.

U.S. Attorney Rudolph Giuliani said Boesky's guilty plea "does not indicate his cooperation is finished."

Boesky has been banished from the U.S. securities business for life and faces at least six civil lawsuits from investors who say they lost money because of his activities.

New smoking law draws mixed reactions in Manhattan

By SANDRA M. SIEBERT
Collegian Reporter

Starting July 1, anyone smoking in any area of a public building not designated as a smoking area will be breaking the law.

Gov. Mike Hayden recently signed a bill banning smoking in non-designated areas of public buildings, including restaurants and retail stores, and in public meetings. The law will make smoking in non-specified areas an unclassified misdemeanor. The offense carries a possible $20 fine.

Many restaurants currently have no-smoking areas. Those without them will be subject to some rearranging.

Bill to segregate customers, deny rights, merchant says

"I don't like to segregate my (customers) in any way. I like to let them sit where they want to sit. Now that will have to change," said Dean Murphy, owner/manager of Valentino's Pizzeria, 3019 Anderson Ave., which does not have no-smoking areas. "We don't have a lot of smokers in here anyway."

"It will be difficult to make a line that the smoke won't cross," Murphy said. "There is a saying that the smoke always drifts toward the non-smoker."

Pizza Hut area manager Martin Hemmingway is also skeptical about the usefulness of the law.

"Our buildings are kind of small. It's going to be difficult to designate smoking areas and isolate the smoke because of the small size," Hemmingway said.

For places that already have no-smoking areas, changes will be minimal.

The new law will require all proprietors to post signs stating that smoking in public places, except in designated areas, is against state law. Proprietors failing to do so will be subject to a $50 fine.

"We may have to put up signs saying 'smoking area,' the reverse of what we have now," said Walt Smith, Union director. "The law sounds very familiar to what we have now."

The theaters, Cat's Pause Lounge, Catskeller and part of the Stateroom in the Union are already designated as no-smoking areas, Smith said.

Scott Shandy, manager of Godfather's Pizza, 1118 Laramie St., said the law probably won't have much effect at the business. The restaurant may have to designate smoking areas instead of no-smoking areas, which were set up when Topeka area restaurants began doing so, he said.

Bonanza Steak House, 622 Tuttle Creek Blvd., also has no-smoking areas. Manager Eugene Edwards said the public is making demands for larger no-smoking areas, so those areas may be expanded.

Reactions to the law, among people who smoke, are mixed.

"How can I put this in a polite way?" said Dodi Rogers, freshman in general arts and sciences. "I don't think (the law) is right at all."

"If I'm in a place where there are a lot of non-smokers, I'm courteous to them," Rogers said. "They have rights not to breathe smoke, but they're turning around saying (smokers) don't have rights."

"This second-hand smoke (issue) seems all blown out of proportion to me," said Ward Taylor, senior in geology. "Someone living in L.A. breathes air 10 times worse (than cigarette smoke). Non-smokers drive cars around and we have to breathe (the pollution from them)."

"We all knew it was going to happen sooner or later," said Dave Young, graduate student in business administration. "Maybe (the law) will help me quit."

Briefly

By The Associated Press

NATIONAL

Building collapse kills 7, traps 21

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — A high-rise apartment building under construction collapsed Thursday, killing seven workers, injuring a dozen and trapping 21 others under tons of concrete and twisted steel beams, the mayor said.

"The chances of finding anyone alive are very minimal," Mayor Thomas Bucci said at a news conference.

"We haven't given up hope. We're hoping there are pockets within the destruction where survivors are located," he said. "I'm not optimistic. There's not a bright prospect we will be successful in finding any survivors alive, but we'll keep trying."

There had been conflicting reports earlier about the number of casualties, and police had said the search for those trapped in the 1:30 p.m. collapse of the downtown building could take a week.

Families gathered at a high school to await news of their relatives.

"There were voices earlier," said Kenny Brett, an ironworker who said he was on the ground floor when the accident occurred.

"Most of them have stopped," he said as night fell.

"I was at the scene and I could hear people yelling, but it was muffled, it was like they were talking into a pillow," said Nina Linton of Shelton, whose construction worker husband was helping rescuers.

Drug-awareness programs working

WASHINGTON — Heightened drug-awareness programs in public schools have paid dividends, with youngsters better-equipped to cope with peer pressure to use drugs, according to a survey released Thursday.

The most promising finding from the Weekly Reader survey of 500,000 youths in grades two through 12, its authors said, was that fourth-graders feel less pressure to try marijuana.

The percentage of young people reporting either some pressure or a lot of pressure to use the drug dropped from 31 percent in 1983 to 25 percent in 1987.

On a less optimistic note, the survey found that kids are feeling new pressures to use a form of cocaine known as "crack" and to consume wine coolers.

Minister's wife attacked in Dallas

DALLAS — The wife of a Methodist minister who took strong stands on civil rights was attacked and left near death at the couple's house, and authorities said Thursday they were trying to determine if the assault on her was linked to threats on his life.

The Rev. Walker Railey said he found his wife, Margaret, in a coma in their garage when he returned home Wednesday morning. Police Lt. Ron Waldrop said Thursday there were no signs of forced entry and authorities had no suspects.

Railey had received six threatening letters before the attack, authorities said. Waldrop said Railey wore a bulletproof vest and was guarded by plainclothes officers at Easter services because of the threats.

Waldrop declined to disclose details of the letters or how they were delivered, but said they were "generally directed at the minister," who is white, and criticized his efforts to promote racial harmony.

Railey, minister of the 6,000-member, largely white First United Methodist Church of Dallas for almost seven years, frequently preached about racial equality, said the Rev. Gordon Casad, the church's executive minister.

"He was concerned that blacks be given more opportunity to become a part of the mainstream of America," Casad said Thursday. "His messages were not offensive. He was just concerned for justice."

Railey said he found his wife unconscious on the floor of their garage when he got home at 12:45 a.m. Wednesday, said Waldrop.

INTERNATIONAL

Court suspends human rights cases

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — The Supreme Court in extraordinary session late Thursday suspended cases against 20 naval officers accused of human rights abuses at a notorious naval detention center in northern Buenos Aires.

The ruling came less than a week after the government peacefully ended three separate mutinies involving officers seeking amnesty for soldiers accused of abuses during Argentina's "dirty war" against leftists in the late 1970s.

The Supreme Court put the trial of the naval officers on hold until it is decided which court should try the officers — the Supreme Military Council, the highest military tribunal, or the civilian federal court.

The vote was 3-0, with court President Jose Severo Caballero joining the majority and two judges abstaining.

New army Chief of Staff Jose D. Caridi earlier Thursday warned troops against staging more rebellions like those that led to the resignation or firing of 24 senior officers.

Soviet dissident free to emigrate

MOSCOW — Anatoly Koryagin, who spent six years in a labor camp for accusing authorities of sending sane dissidents to mental hospitals, has been granted permission to emigrate, Soviet news media said Thursday.

The two-sentence statement by both the English- and Russian-language service of the official Tass news agency was believed to be the first time the Soviet media has announced a dissident's departure.

"Anatoly Koryagin, who was recently released from detention, has been allowed to leave the U.S.S.R., it was confirmed to a Tass correspondent today at the U.S.S.R. Ministry of Internal Affairs," Tass said.

"Koryagin is leaving for Switzerland for permanent residence," the statement said. It provided no other information.

Dissident sources in Moscow said Koryagin arrived in the Soviet capital from the Ukrainian city of Kharkov on Wednesday. But they said he did not want to speak to reporters.

The sources said Koryagin would leave Moscow on Friday afternoon.

REGIONAL

Police chief's job goes beyond law

COLBY — Randy Jones calls it just another day in the life of a north-west Kansas police chief, but it seems more like a day in the life of a zoo keeper.

Police received a call about 9 a.m. Thursday that a sick skunk was interfering with golfers on the ninth hole of the Colby Country Club, Jones said. The chief responded by golf cart to the ninth hole, where he had to shoot the skunk.

Thirty minutes later, a call came that a pig was on the loose near Colby High School. Jones said he approached the area in his car and saw several people chasing something.

"I jumped out and around the corner came a 700-pound sow," he said. Two Thomas County deputies and Jones gave chase with the sow's owner, Wilbur Henry, who was on horseback carrying a lasso. "After great patience, ingenuity and fortitude the hog was coaxed into the trailer from which it had fallen," Jones said.

"It's just another day in the life of the police chief in Colby, Kansas," he said with a laugh and a sigh.

Campus Bulletin

TODAY

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF CHEMICAL ENGINEERS meets at 1:30 p.m. in Acker 120.

INTER-VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP meets at 7 p.m. in Union 213.

ENGINEERING AMBASSADOR EXECUTIVES meet at 5:30 p.m. in Danforth Chapel.

SUNDAY

NEWMAN meets at 7 p.m. at St. Isidore's.

GERONTOLOGY CLUB meets at 5 p.m. at Last Chance.

SPURS meets at 5:30 p.m. at Valentino's.

THETA XI LITTLE SISTERS meet at 9 p.m. at the Theta Xi House.

BETA ALPHA PSI spring picnic and initiation will be at 4 p.m. at Optimist Park.

ALPHA GAMMA RHO RHO MATES meet at 7:30 p.m. at the AGR House.

MONDAY

BUSINESS COUNCIL meets at 4 p.m. in Union 209.

TEACHERS OF TOMORROW meets at 7 p.m. in Blumont 112.

NATIONAL ORGANIZATION FOR WOMEN meets at 7:30 p.m. in Union 202.

McCall's Shoes
DOWNTOWN MANHATTAN

WE HAVE SHIPPED IN FROM OUR STORES IN WICHITA, NEWTON, LAWRENCE AND MANHATTAN 100's OF PAIRS OF WOMEN'S SHOES FOR THIS SPECIAL

SALE!

SHOES SHOES SHOES SHOES SHOES SHOES SHOES

Womens Shoe Prices Slashed!

100's OF PAIRS IN THIS SPECIAL GROUP

* RED CROSS * NATURALIZER * CONNIE
* BASS * LADY DEXTER * COBBIES * SELBY
* FAN FARES * DANIEL GREEN * JOYCE
* NOUVELLE * NIKE * SAS *
* GLORIA VANDERBILT

25% to 75%

DISCOUNT

McCall's Shoes
313 Poyntz
Downtown Manhattan
Put Yourself in our Shoes

Rocky Mountain
BONKERS
TONITE
$2.50
PITCHERS
We play the latest in
dance music, including:
CLUB NOUVEAU
PRINCE
PETER WOLF
1216 Laramie 537-9591

Brother's
KSU
IN AGGIEVILLE USA
TGIF
PARTY With FREE barbecue
DERBY DAYS
FINALE PARTY

SPAGHETTI SUNDAY

ALL YOU
CAN EAT
SPAGHETTI
AND GARLIC BREAD!!
ONLY $3.25
SERVING 5-8 p.m.
SUNDAY LUNCH TOO
IKTE'S
BAR AND GRILLE
619 N. 12TH, Aggieville

Blue River Pub
Coming Soon
April 24, 25 . . . 'SIX'
9-12 midnight
• Cover Charge • ID Required
Next to Tuttle Creek Dam 537-9877

BUSHWACKERS
THE SUNSHINE BAR
TGIF
5 p.m.
Congratulations
DU Calendar Girls
Winners
Don't Miss . . .
COMEDY INVASION
Monday at 9 p.m.
Dan Chopin
with Michael A. Smith
531 N. Manhattan

Dark Horse Saloon
Get Fired Up In Our Beer Garden!!!
FRI. & SAT.
The Firewater Band
FREE SET FRI.
5 p.m.
619 N. Manhattan

Open 7 days a week
HUNAM
Free Delivery
11 a.m.-1 a.m.
1116 Moro 537-0886
Call 539-8888 or 537-0886
1304 Westrup 539-8888
(100% off with Hunam ID)

Auntie Mae's Parlor	Auntie Mae's Parlor
AGGIEVILLE	AGGIEVILLE
FRIDAY	SATURDAY
VODKA	TONIC
DRINKS	DRINKS
$1.50	$1.50
DRAWS	SCHNAPPS
75¢	$1.00
Free
Hors D'oeuvres
616 N. 12th	616 N. 12th
539-9967	539-9967

The Station
FRIDAY
THE BAR
FREE TGIF
BUFFET ROUND OF BEEF CARVED
TO ORDER
DOO-DAHS
CHEESE AND CRACKERS
1115 Moro, Aggieville 776-0030

THE RESTAURANT
SURF AND TURF
SPECIAL
6oz. FILET
BUTTERFLY
SHRIMP, SALAD BAR, POTATO & BREAD, ONLY
$8.95

65¢
1/4-Pound RUNZA HAMBURGER
Now for a limited time get our award-winning
1/4-pound, freshly-ground hamburger for just 65¢!!
That's half off our regular price ($1.30). Try the best-tasting, freshest burger in town today.
Come on and get a taste
RUNZA
DRIVE-IN RESTAURANT
Coupon expires May 10, 1986
One coupon per customer
per visit
Not valid with any other offer
10:30 a.m.-10 p.m.
1101 Moro, Manhattan

THIS WEEKEND
RIP & MO MAKE THE DEALS

HEY MO, TGIF
TACO BAR AT RIP AND MO'S
5-7!!!

- 99¢ Well Drinks Fri. & Sat.
- 39¢ Bar Burgers Fri. & Sat. (11 p.m.-1 a.m.)
- TACOS for TGIF (5-7 p.m.)

RIP & MO'S
aggieville's rock-n-roll bar
710 N. Manhattan, Aggieville tel. 539-9706

Shirt signing

Chi Omega sorority members Heidi Huffaker, senior in recreation, and Brenda Nelson, senior in bakery science, sign the T-shirt of Sigma Chi fraternity member Shawn Stewart, freshman in journalism and mass communications, as he reads a newspaper Thursday at the Sigma Chi house. The shirt-signing by the sorority members was part of the annual Derby Days competition.

Staff/Rob Squires

Legislators to address prisoner housing plan

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — A $9.3 million emergency housing plan aimed at easing the state's prison overcrowding problem awaits action when lawmakers return for the Legislature's brief wrap-up session next week.

The plan calls for quickly adding 509 beds to the capacity state prison system, mainly through construction of small compounds on the campuses of three state hospitals.

Gov. Mike Hayden asked the Department of Corrections to develop the plan last fall after the prison population began to increase at double the rate officials had projected about a year ago.

The overcrowding problem has now reached the crisis stage, with 5,432 inmates housed this week in facilities designed to hold a maximum of 5,015, according to Larry Crowder, assistant to the secretary of corrections. The inmate headcount is roughly double that of January 1982.

With an average of 62 more inmates in the system each month, Crowder said, the prison population should top the 6,300 mark within the next 14 months.

The Joint Committee on State Building Construction is scheduled to consider the emergency housing proposal when it meets Tuesday morning. That panel is expected to send the plan on to the legislative budget committees for inclusion in a catch-all spending bill, to be introduced when the Legislature reconvenes

Wednesday.

"Our net increase in prisoners per month for the last couple of years has just been phenomenal and has taxed our existing facilities beyond their capacities," said Rep. Phil Kline, R-Overland Park, vice chairman of the building committee.

"Also, there's no reason to believe that without some drastic change in release policies that the trend will change," Kline said.

To build and operate the new compounds, the governor has set aside $1.3 million during the current fiscal year and $8 million during the budget year that begins July 1. The plan calls for establishing the new penal facilities at:

— Winfield State Hospital and Training Center, housing 149 inmates by November in one renovated building. A $979,805 renovation would be done by a work detail of 50 prisoners starting June 1. Another 141 inmates are already confined to a pre-release center in Winfield.

— Norton State Hospital, by renovating three unused buildings to house 240 prisoners by February 1988. The $1.4 million renovation would be accomplished by a work crew of 100 prisoners stationed at the site starting June 1.

— Osawatomie State Hospital, housing 60 inmates in one renovated building by November. The renovation, with an estimated pricetag of $990,300, would be completed by a work detail of 15 prisoners.

— Forbes Field, south of Topeka, inside a building now serving as the Shawnee County Work Release Center. Shawnee County plans to vacate the building this fall and 60 state inmates would occupy the structure in December after a $134,000 renovation.

The emergency plan, plus other renovations and expansion projects the Legislature already has approved, would boost the capacity of the prison system to about 5,800 by this time next year. But if the population continues to increase at the current rate, the prison overcrowding situation may be about the same or even worse by then.

However, most of the legislators said they are disappointed that the Hayden administration did not also put forward a comprehensive strategy to combat the root causes of prison overcrowding crisis.

"We have to do something, there's no question about it," said Sen. Wint Winter Jr., R-Lawrence. "But I'm troubled about what appears to be a one-dimensional approach to this when it's a two-dimensional problem."

Candidate stresses leader position

By SANDRA M. SIEBERT
Collegian Reporter

The College of Arts and Sciences is the foundation of any great university, and it must provide quality teaching, service and research, said Thomas Isenhour, one of five candidates for dean of the college.

"(The College of Arts and Sciences) limits or defines what can be achieved by that university," Isenhour said in a presentation to faculty members Thursday afternoon in Willard Hall.

A university can have a weak engineering or business college, but if it has a weak department of math, English, history or psychology, the rest of the institution is undermined, he said.

"The rest of the university depends upon (the College of Arts and Sciences to be) the leader," Isenhour said. "It must set the leadership in both service and quality of the classroom, the laboratory and the library."

Isenhour said a dean of the college must be able to serve every faculty member and department while "loyally serving the rest of the university."

The duties of the arts and sciences college are to provide students with a wide array of experiences and knowledge, and to see that each student is provided with exposure to all opportunities of the liberal arts and sciences, he said.

"I think there is a great peril in the United States today: the educational peril, the terrible decay in our public education system."

Isenhour has served as dean of science since 1984 and as associate director for bio-technology at the Agricultural Experimental Station and professor of chemistry at Utah State University, Logan, since 1985. He is also the current editor of the Journal of Chemical Information and Computer Sciences.

The other candidates are William E. Carpenter, Kenneth J. Klabunde, Edward L. McGlone and William P. Weber.

Carpenter will give a presentation to the faculty from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday in Willard 114.

Office locations to be chosen for special state census effort

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — The project coordinator of a special state census to be conducted next year said Thursday administrative headquarters for the headcount will be located in Topeka and the operations office could be here, or in Wichita or Johnson County.

In addition, said Brent Anderson, legislative counsel for Secretary of State Bill Graves who is doing the preliminary planning for the census, there will be regional offices of the census in Topeka, Wichita, Iola and Johnson County, most likely in Olathe or Prairie Village.

Western Kansas probably will not have a regional office, Anderson said, because it is so far flung that individual contact people will be placed in each of the 53 counties out west.

"We will probably have someone in each county, probably a county official, who will be responsible for completing the count for that county," Anderson said of the arrangement being planned for western Kansas.

Anderson said he has looked at 10 potential sites for the census headquarters in Topeka, plans to seek lease proposals from the owners of those properties next week and wants the state office open by June 1.

The administrative headquarters will be the main office of the census, including the director, payroll personnel and administrative and data processing people. The operations office will be the central gathering point for the population data, including census enumerators and data gathering and entry personnel.

Location of the operations office will be dictated by such things as available postal services, central location and availability of personnel, Anderson said.

The Legislature passed a bill this session and Gov. Mike Hayden signed it into law April 15 creating the one-time census to be used to reap-portion the state's legislative districts in 1989.

It calls for Graves' office to conduct the census, counting people where they are living next Jan. 1 and certifying the figures by Nov. 1, 1988, so the Legislature has them available for the redistricting task in the 1989 session.

Graves' office has placed the cost of the census at $3.36 million, of which $47,000 is being sought for the current fiscal year so an administrative headquarters can be leased in Topeka. Another $3.31 million is sought for Fiscal Year 1988 to pay other costs of the census, including those associated with the operations and regional offices.

The money has not been appropriated, but is expected to be included in the omnibus appropriations bill the Legislature will approve next week when lawmakers return to Topeka to conclude the 1987 session.

"Until the Legislature appropriates the money, we're not going to make any final decisions," Anderson said.

He said present plans are to mail out, either from Topeka or Wichita, one million census information cards to every household in Kansas about Feb. 1, 1988.

Those receiving the cards will be asked to mail them back to one central office, where computers will be used to sort out the returns, which then will be processed to count all Kansans at their home residence.

The secretary of state's office plans a publicity campaign to encourage Kansans to fill out and return the cards, and Anderson said he anticipates a 90 percent or better return of the cards.

People who don't return the cards will be personally contacted by field enumerators so they get counted.

COME TO THE MOVIES

TONIGHT

7:30 p.m.

1021 Denison

"Four Seasons"

Starring Alan Alda and Carol Burnett

Popcorn & discussion to follow! Hope to see you there!

Another program of Ecumenical Christian Ministries

The Campus Ministry of:
The Church of Brethren, The United Church of Christ,
The Presbyterian Church (USA), The United Methodist Church

Sponsored by ECUMENICAL
CHRISTIAN MINISTRIES

2 Days Only—Special prices on

Eureka! Tents

Fri-Sat, April 24-25 • Factory rep in store
Most models on display during sale

*10⁰⁰ will hold your tent until Memorial Day!

Eureka Dome 79⁹⁵

Wind River
2-person 119⁰⁰
4-person 159⁹⁵

Timberline
2-person 79⁹⁵
4-person 109⁹⁵

Alpine Meadows
2-person 109⁹⁵
4-person 159⁹⁵

Adirondack
5-6 person dome 199⁹⁵

Willow Creek
8x8 239⁹⁵
10x10 269⁹⁵
12x12 299⁹⁵

the
PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS

1111 Moro

Aggieville/Manhattan
Hrs: M-F 10-6, Th 10-8, Sat 10-5

539-5639

WILLIE
THE WILDCAT

TRYOUTS

April 29th-May 1st

Varsity and Alternate Positions Open

Informational Meeting

Tuesday, April 28th

7 p.m. Ahearn Fieldhouse

For more information contact: Scott Johnson 537-0353

THE VISTA

It's a hit!

Vista knows that you're hungry for an early season win, so we're offering a fantastic Triple Play for only $2.69.

The Triple Play—1/4 lb. Vistaburger fixed just the way you like it; crisp, crunchy, mouth-watering onion rings; and a medium drink. It's a hit!

Hustle in to Vista today for your Triple Play. Batter Up!

Vista
RESTAURANTS

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Scholars' honors often expected at University

Truman, Rhodes, Marshall, Younger. These are more than simply famous surnames. They are scholarships that have been won by many students at K-State.

The most recent recipients of the Truman Scholarship were announced last week. They will now receive up to $26,000 for four years of education in the area of public service to the government, including two years of graduate study.

K-State has ranked among institutions such as Yale and Stanford for having the most Truman scholars per year, with the likes of Harvard, Princeton and the University of Chicago running behind.

The reputation of the University has traveled to many foreign lands with these scholars. But the real appreciation of K-State must begin at home. We ought to recognize and pay tribute to those among us who have achieved such high honor.

Need for general facts written off as 'trivial'

Just what is it about general knowledge that makes people who don't have it appear as though they are really stupid?

Think for a moment. Do you know who Yassar Arafat is? How he affects the relative peace or turmoil in the Mideast? Why the price of oil in America and several other countries is hinged upon foreign relations in the Mideast?

Some teachers, a lot of vocational and technical school administrators and millions of potential or actual students contend knowledge about current events or recent past events is trivial and one does not need to know it in order to "get along."

They're right — to an extent. Millions of Americans have never given a second thought to general knowledge, claiming it does not affect their lives. That's false. General knowledge, or a lack thereof, affects the quality of our lives daily — and in the end will determine whether we continue to "get along."

If we continue on a path that segregates knowledge into unrelated categories and we never take the responsibility and yes, the brain power, to assimilate our individual special packages of knowledge we will jeopardize our future.

Those individuals who believe all they have to achieve is a high-paying job and four weeks vacation annually, managing to completely ignore the concepts that initiate changes in the federal tax system or what exactly the government is buying with the money it takes from taxpayers, will eventually be left holding the bag.

Ignorance by the majority about the things happening in our world breeds dependence upon the few who make it their career to write policies about areas they know little about — an exceedingly dangerous situation.

The only assured survival tactic is awareness. Awareness about the world around us and the factors influencing our world.

Bias remains 40 years after Jackie Robinson

Jackie Robinson broke the color barrier in modern major league baseball with the Brooklyn Dodgers 40 years ago. When this baseball season opened, wherever it opened, it was dedicated to Jackie Robinson and the crusade he began four decades ago.

But this anniversary, in an ironic and even tragic way, dramatized the fact that the crusade still has a long way to go. Al Campanis, who played shortstop alongside Robinson for the Brooklyn Dodgers farm team in 1946, was trying to revive the memories of his old teammate on ABC's "Nightline" program on April 6.

Instead of reliving old playing memories and praising blacks and their role in baseball, Campanis got sidetracked and insulted them. When asked about the lack of black baseball managers and executives, Campanis remarked that blacks "may not have the necessities to be, let's say, a field manager, or perhaps a general manager."

Still clinging to those old issues and stereotypes, Campanis turned a program meant as a dedication to Robinson into an inexcusable showing of his "true" thoughts and feelings. Following this incident, Campanis was fired and rightly so.

The biases that still exist on and off the baseball diamond are unfortunate and do not belong there. Major league baseball would not be what it is today without the great contributions of all baseball players — this includes all ethnic groups.

Forty years ago people wanted to keep the status quo — only "white Americans" — playing baseball. They wanted to keep the blacks waiting on tables or picking cotton. Jackie Robinson changed this. Still, people exist today who seem to have these same thoughts and feelings that minorities belong only in certain places.

Robinson broke the color barrier for baseball players 40 years ago and baseball has changed for the better. How long will it take before people realize that another barrier — the barrier in the heads of small-minded people — needs to be broken?

Why no compassion? Dispatchers unfairly maligned

I have decided I've held my peace long enough. This column will undoubtedly cause some uproar among my media colleagues, but it's time someone spoke up for a much maligned segment of the population.

I am referring to the editorial and stories published concerning the Riley County Police Department's handling of a 911 call last week. I am also referring to the time I spent as a dispatcher for another Kansas community's police and sheriff's departments. I've listened long enough to people around me who continually complain and bitch about those who wear a badge.

To begin, I am not condoning the actions taken by the RCPD dispatcher following the 911 call concerning the apparent suicide of a K-State freshman. I am, however, going to say I can understand the actions taken by the dispatcher and will further commit myself by saying I would have taken basically the same actions had I been dispatching at the time.

I would not have filled out the report ahead of time and then had it lost in the paper shuffle — the shuffle that is, unfortunately, part of the police system. I would have, as did the RCPD officer, assigned the call a low priority and would have waited, as would have the RCPD dispatcher (if the call had been remembered), until a patrol officer was available. I would not have judged the 911 call of a person passed out in a car as being a "serious" predicament, but I would have judged a fight to have been a more "serious" predicament.

I was hired as a communications officer for a police department in a town about half the size of Manhattan. I wore a uniform, carried a badge, had to memorize all the cop jargon and worked the night shift, 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. I handled all the 911 and administrative telephone lines and all radio traffic for the police department, the sheriff's office, the city ambulance, the coun-

JEAN TELLER
Collegian
Columnist

Most of it was on-the-job training with a lot of assistance from the officers on the street. And a lot of it was just plain common sense.

I was lucky. I worked with a terrific group of people, people who were willing and able to help me learn the intricacies of the job. I count several of the officers I worked with among my best friends. They are people I can count on and people I trust with my life.

But they are just that: people. I have never understood the reaction of most of the general public to police officers. Why can't anyone seem to understand that cops are people? They are as human — and as prone to human foibles — as the next person. But that's the problem.

We expect police officers to be perfect, to not make mistakes, to always be where we want them when we want them and never when we don't want them. The police have the disadvantage of seeing us at our worst. Cops see us during fights, when we're drunk, when we're sick or injured, when we're panicked and scared, when we would rather not have anyone but people we know see us. Cops see the worst of life and death, just like those who work in hospital emergency rooms or those who drive the ambulances.

Cops can be the most morbid and cynical people on the face of this earth. But this is in direct response to what they see day in and day out.

What would your reaction be if every time you received a call to respond to an injury accident you saw a child torn in half or a man burned to a crisp inside a burning truck? What would your response be to calls involving domestic violence — when the majority of times you don't have enough information on what's happening within that house to write one sentence and when the majority of times some type of weapon is involved but you don't know it?

What would your reaction be to the hate and fear emanating from people during a fight? What would your reaction be to the complaints from people who expect you to make everything right again — of course, only their perspective of right? What would you do when faced with curses aimed at the uniform you wear and what people think you stand for, rather than the person you are?

You, of course, would begin to react by always expecting the worst — of the situation and people. You would rationalize the pain and the suffering and the hate by withdrawing into your own group, by becoming somewhat insane in order to stay sane, by becoming morbid and cynical. You would, in fact, respond exactly as any person does who wears a uniform. You would react as a human being reacts in the face of the unknown, in the presence of constant stress and possible danger.

When a call comes into the dispatcher, that person makes the judgment as to the priority of each call. If the reporting party gives the dispatcher complete and vital information and tells the dispatcher exactly how crucial the situation is, the dispatcher will react accordingly. If the reporting party leaves out vital information, such as a weapon involved in a domestic dispute, the dispatcher then expects and passes on to the officers that this situation should be treated as the worst possible scenario.

If the reporting party nonchalantly tells the dispatcher someone is throwing up on the front lawn, or a car is idling down the block, or the kids are throwing snowballs, or the dog across the street is barking constantly or the neighbor's music is too loud, the dispatcher responds as any human would respond. The call would be placed on a low priority list.

I have seen officers respond to a 911 call from a known caller so quickly it would make your head spin. This caller continually called to say someone was climbing the 8-foot solid wood fence in her back yard and was peeping in her windows. No such perpetrator was ever located following the dozens of calls this person made — besides the fact it was almost impossible for anyone to have climbed that fence. It had been well established long before I began to work for the department that the caller was hallucinating, but the officers responded just as quickly and just as thoroughly as they did when any prowler call was received.

I have seen officers respond to calls of domestic violence, injury accidents, possible

'Why can't anyone seem to understand that cops are people? They are as human and as prone to human foibles as the next person.'

break-ins, fire and burglary alarms and any number of calls with quickness and professionalism. All in response to what I told them over the radio.

The first officer on the scene is not a patrol officer, it's the dispatcher. The person who receives the initial information and makes out the first report is not in the patrol car you see passing by, it's the dispatcher. The person who has to remember to ask all the right questions of a panicked 911 caller and still listen for radio traffic and other phone calls is not the patrol officer, it is the dispatcher.

The only way a 911 system works is if those using the system use it properly. I cannot begin to recount the times people would call 911 inquiring about the time, the weather, the traffic conditions, a barking dog, etc. The only way a dispatcher can do her/his job properly is if the reporting party gives all the information possible and in such a manner as to give the dispatcher an idea of the actual "seriousness" of the situation.

We're only human, folks. We respond according to past experience, our training and how others are reacting around us.

I'm not saying cops are not in the wrong on occasion — they have been known to be very wrong and to overreact. But for the most part, the 911 system and the police system work as they were designed to work. I'm not saying the RCPD dispatcher made the correct decision last week. I'm not saying anyone at any time would or would not be alive today if the police would have handled any situation differently.

What I am saying is we should view the system as it is — an admittedly imperfect system, filled with room for human error and human failings — a system that needs work, but, for the moment, is the best we've got. It's a system that relies on human beings, and a system that relies on human beings and their reactions is never perfect.

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR
Jonie Trued
MANAGING EDITOR
Sue Dawson
NEWS EDITOR
Erin Eicher

EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
Deron Johnson
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson
ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinett

EDITORIAL BOARD: Susan Baird, Kirk Caraway, Sue Dawson, Jan Dietz, Erin Eicher, Judy Goldberg, Ron Honig, Pat Hund, Deron Johnson, Sarah Kessinger, Judy Lundstrom, Margaret May, Scott Miller, Andy Nelson, Patti Paxson, Julie Reynolds, Chris Stewart, Teresa Temme, Jonie Trued. Unsigned editorials represent the majority opinion of the editorial board.

THE COLLEGIAN, a 48-page newspaper is published by Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas. It is published weekly, except on Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 332-4655. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Letters

Education quality

Editor,
Re: Mark Buyle's obviously biased column "Debating Mediocrity: Education a hallmark of K-State" in the April 13 Collegian. I am one of those few attending K-State who is not interested in the athletic program. My concern is the quality of education here at K-State.

This is from a study group on the Conditions of Excellence in American Higher Education, October 1984:

"Traditionally, excellence has been judged in terms of institutional resources, the athletic program, the intellectual attainments of faculty and selectivity of admissions to name but a few. These are just proxies for educational excellence and they are all inputs.

"None of them tells us what students actually learn and how much they grow as a result of higher education. None of them tells us anything about educational outcomes."

There are many classes taught by graduate teaching assistants on the freshman and sophomore level. In deference to Mr. Buyle, most of these classes are not where a faculty member conducts an accompanying lecture session!

Most of the graduate teaching assistants are pretty good BUT they have divided interests. Their main goal is their master's or doctoral degrees and this is rightly so. I would suggest Mr. Buyle go on a fact-finding mission and not a feeling finding one.

I believe our freshmen and sophomores need a solid foundation on which to build. An experienced professor can provide this. Maybe our GTAs would be better suited teaching upper-level courses instead of the other way around. I suggest that we stop telling ourselves how great we are and seriously evaluate our priorities.

I suggest there is always room for improvement. Should students be teaching students? Our University is no different from those all across the country. Everyone is trying to cut corners, but it is educational quality and not an athletic program that suffers. It's time we get rid of our "basketball mentality" and put the emphasis on education, where it belongs.

Rhonda Russell
junior in accounting

Unfulfilled promise

Editor,

Re: The editorial "Kansans should watch 'supercollider' closely" in the April 14 Collegian. I am a lifelong resident of Osage County (the county the atom smasher is slated for). Therefore, I would like to express the concern many residents of my county have with this project.

First of all, Osage County is the only county in the United States that contains two federal reservoirs (Pomona and Melvern). In addition, Clinton Reservoir, at full pool, touches some of our county. Many years ago, when the reservoirs were built, the Army Corps of Engineers, which built the lakes, spoke of the added boost to the Osage County economy these reservoirs would bring.

I hear talk again about how much this "supercollider" will boost our economy. This is purely fiction. Our economy near the lake area in our county is pretty bad. Maybe a handful of businesses were boosted by the lakes. However, most of the small towns have struggled to survive.

Maybe this would have come about anyway. However, taking the most productive farm land in the county (the two river bottoms dammed up by the reservoirs) off the tax rolls and moving the former residents away from their communities certainly didn't help any. Furthermore, the "supercollider," being a government project, won't be included on our dwindling tax base either. We're sure another project will bring little permanent economic benefit and we aren't likely to believe anyone telling us otherwise.

Moreover, no one has asked the county's residents if they want this thing. We've already been saddled by two federal projects and most of us feel we don't need a third. Congressman Jim Slattery seems to be so in favor of this project, yet at the same time he won't offer a place in his 2nd District for it as he surely knows it has the potential to cloud his public image with the people who elect him.

We of Osage County are tired of being picked on for the so-called "good of others." We would appreciate having the remaining parts of our federally hampered county left alone.

Howard H. Woodbury
junior in animal sciences and industry

Ignorant judgment

Editor,

I am constantly disappointed with the attitudes that prevail on the K-State campus. The other day, as I sat eating lunch in the Stateroom, I noticed some "extra printing" on an announcement sitting on the table. It was an announcement about the lecture to be given by Hasan A. Rahman concerning Palestine and peace in the Middle East. Just underneath the words "The Palestine Question" was written in blue ink, "Kill Them All." That one phrase states all too clearly an attitude held by many people.

I am not saying that one has to "take sides" with the Palestinians. But what I am saying is that a statement such as "kill them all" can only lead one to think that whoever wrote that probably does not have any idea what is happening.

Because I attended Mr. Rahman's lecture, I can honestly say it was a fascinating and enlightening lecture. I'd be willing to bet $10 that the person who wrote that statement on the announcement did not even think twice about going to hear Mr. Rahman's lecture.

Unfortunately, people in general are just not informed enough about political issues. Even worse, when the opportunity to become more informed presents itself, many choose to remain ignorant.

Only by becoming informed and aware of political issues can we pass judgment and make political statements. Otherwise, every time we open our mouths to speak, we only reinforce the fact that we are ignorant of what is going on.

Stacey Schumacher junior in journalism and mass communications

Iranian repression

Editor,

As the Iran-Iraq war has entered its seventh year, it is only Khomeini who seeks to continue the conflict. It is clear to the Iranian people that the Khomeini regime is prolonging the war simply as a means of overshadowing the internal repression, popular discontent and the host of socio-economic crises it faces.

According to a statement by the regime's Minister of the Interior, the war has cost Iran $350 billion in damages. During the course of Khomeini's rule, national production has dropped by at least 25 percent and 80 percent of industrial raw materials as imported from abroad. The country's industrial production, which had an annual income in previous years of not more than 10 to 15 days of oil revenues, has again declined 17 percent in the past year.

Damages caused to Iran by Sept. 22, 1985, amounted to $309 billion, according to a committee in the regime's Ministry of Planning and Budget. Iran's oil industry, wrote the newspaper Kayhan, has suffered the greatest damage in the war, amounting to about $160 billion. The paper added that the losses accounted for the agricultural, industrial, communications, housing and oil sectors, but not the military and manpower sectors.

Many Iranians flee abroad to escape the war fronts. A total of about two million Iranians live in different countries of the world, most of whom were obliged to leave their homeland under the pressures of the Khomeini regime's repression and to escape the war fronts.

The Christian Science Monitor reported that by July 1986, 27,000 refugees had fled to West Germany, more than half of whom were Iranians. The Norwegian newspaper Arbeider Bladet also mentioned the flight of Iran's youth from war fronts: "Most Iranian youngsters in West Berlin have fled to avoid being sent to the war fronts."

M.B. Arif
graduate student in horticulture

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. All letters must be typewritten or neatly printed and signed by the author and should not exceed 300 words. The author's major, classification or other identification and phone number must be included.

Collegian Classifieds
Where K-State Shops

AL-BASHA
Greek & Mediterranean Food
FREE DELIVERY of $10 or more
537-7533
1209 Laramie St.
open daily
11 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Try it's Genuine Taste

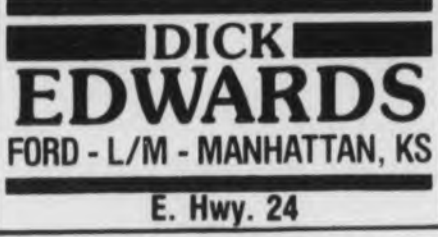

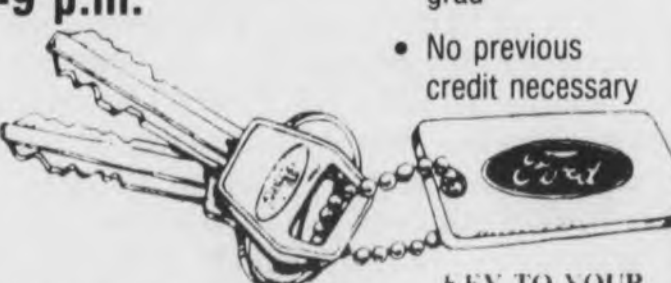

15% OFF
$6 or more
Expires 4/30/87
with coupon
Free 12 oz. soft drink with the purchase of any Gyro item
Expires 4/30/87

Our Grill Is Now Open!
Try Our:
Hamburgers Cheeseburgers
French Fries Onion Rings
Chicken Sandwiches Fish Sandwiches
Mushrooms Corn Dogs
Pork Tenderloins BBQ Beef Sandwiches
Chicken & Beef Nuggets
Hot dogs & Chili dogs (reg. & super) Aggieville Dairy Queen Brazier
12th & Moro

SUNDAY SUPPER
April 26
5:30 p.m.
PROGRAM
"Careers and Marriages: Conflict and/or Cooperation"
by Tony Jurich
Professor of Human Development and Family Studies
(50¢ donations or free if needed)
1021 Denison Avenue
The building with the two red front doors
Sponsored by
 CUMENICAL
CHRISTIAN
INDUSTRIES

"Do It Yourself"

Creativity Abounds
on Advertising Staff
Collegian Offers Experience
In Advertising Sales
AD REPS
EARN $
Collegian Advertising Motivates
Kansas State Students
Ad Staff Applications
Due TODAY
In Kedzie 103, 4 p.m.

You're Invited
1987
GRAD NIGHT

DICK EDWARDS
FORD - L/M - MANHATTAN, KS
E. Hwy. 24
E. Hwy. 24, 1 mile past K-Mart
FRIDAY NIGHT, APR. 24
7-9 p.m.

KEY TO YOUR FUTURE
Call for additional information 776-4004

WHY A FORD???

- $400 from Ford for down payment
- 120 days before first payment
- Pre-approved credit for college grad
- No previous credit necessary

!!DOOR PRIZES!!

- Cash, T-shirts, Soft Drinks and Snacks.
- Register to win, use of a new '87 T-Bird during Grad Week
- FREE Demo Rides

Closed Classes — Fall 1987

REMINDER: FRIDAY, APRIL 24 IS THE LAST DAY TO ENROLL FOR THE SUMMER '87 AND FALL '87 CLASSES.

00100	03620	07480	11080	14740	21020	25150	26340	29970	33190	35050
00170	03630	07500	11100	14750	21050	25160	26350	30000	33270	35600
00370	03640	07550	11130	14760	21080	25170	26360	30030	33310	35610
00440	03660	07590	11140	14780	21090	25180	26370	30110	33340	35630
00920	03670	07690	11150	14790	21300	25210	26380	30500	33350	35640
00930	03680	08020	11170	14870	21390	25220	26390	30510	33370	35650
01250	03720	08050	11180	15130	21400	25230	26400	30630	33440	35690
01320	03730	08070	11190	15140	21420	25270	26420	30650	33450	35810
01340	03750	08160	11200	15150	21430	25310	26510	30720	33460	35820
01630	03760	08180	11210	15170	21450	25320	26530	31010	33470	35970
01640	03770	08190	11310	15260	21460	25330	26600	31020	33480	36120
01950	03780	08230	11340	15300	21470	25350	26670	31090	33770	36170
02110	03790	08240	11350	16490	21480	25360	26700	31190	33770	36180
02290	03850	08260	11360	16510	21490	25710	26710	31200	33790	36250
02330	04160	08290	11370	16531	21530	25750	26720	31240	33810	36370
02340	04570	08380	11380	16550	21540	25760	26750	31250	33860	36510
02380	05020	08420	11390	16770	21560	25770	26770	31300	33880	36800
02410	05140	08660	11400	16920	21610	25780	26800	31320	33960	36810
02470	05150	08670	11410	17180	21670	25790	26810	31330	34020	36820
02480	05160	08680	11420	17700	21680	25800	26820	31440	34030	36830
02490	05170	08690	11430	17740	21690	25810	26840	31450	34040	36840
02540	05180	08700	11440	17810	22530	25820	26910	31850	34120	36850
02550	05230	08849	11490	18910	22830	25830	26920	31870	34190	36860
02560	05390	08850	11530	19040	22840	25840	26940	31900	34200	36690
02580	05430	08930	11540	19070	22850	25850	26960	31970	34210	37050
02990	05440	08950	12970	19090	22860	25860	27000	32040	34220	38060
03040	05460	08970	13050	19170	22870	25870	27040	32090	34240	38110
03060	05470	09060	13060	19240	22890	25880	27050	32110	34260
03270	05500	09290	13090	19580	22900	25890	27070	32140	34330
03300	05510	09400	13340	19590	23060	25910	27090	32230	34340
03310	05570	09480	13360	19610	23190	25920	27210	32250	34360
03320	05580	09490	13370	19750	23650	25930	27220	32260	34370
03330	05590	09510	13380	19810	23920	25940	27230	32290	34420
03350	05600	09530	13400	19980	24070	25950	27250	32950	34430
03360	05610	09560	13450	20090	24180	25960	27680	32960	34440
03370	05650	09610	13460	20120	24320	25970	27720	32970	34490
03380	05690	10770	13480	20170	24350	25990	28350	32990	34610
03390	05700	10780	13590	20180	24420	26020	28940	33000	34690
03470	06320	10790	13620	20270	24730	26030	29200	33010	34750
03480	06370	10800	13630	20520	24770	26050	29560	33020	34760
03490	06400	10890	13710	20530	24780	26060	29570	33030	34810
03500	06430	10900	13760	20540	24790	26080	29650	33040	34840
03510	06440	10910	13890	20550	24800	26100	29680	33050	34850
03530	06460	10970	13950	20570	24920	26130	29720	33060	34870
03540	06780	10980	14290	20600	24930	26140	29740	33070	34890
03550	06790	10990	14440	20610	24940	26160	29800	33080	34900
03560	06800	11000	14580	20760	24950	26170	29880	33090	34920
03570	07060	11010	14590	20840	25000	26190	29890	33100	35000
03600	07310	11020	14720	20870	25130	26200	29910	33110	35010
03610	07330	11070	14730	20990	25140	26260	29960	33150	35020

Speakers give public forum

By KIM GREER
Collegian Reporter

From discarded cigarette butts, to academic dishonesty, to promotion of academic achievements, six students in the "Public Speaking II" class aired their opinions on campus issues during a public forum Thursday in Nichols Theatre.

"If we can have 'Wildcat football kicks butt' (as a headline), why can't we have 'Wildcat debate kicks brain'?" Pat McGranahan asked, in defense of his speech stressing that academic events do not receive fair coverage.

During his speech, "Mental Athletes Unite," McGranahan, freshman in speech, said the Collegian does not pay enough attention to academic achievements such as scholarships, awards and debates, yet it has a separate section devoted to sports news.

McGranahan said when the Collegian does print an article about academics, the article is buried in the back pages. He suggested the paper develop a page devoted solely to academic events and honors to remedy the situation.

"This is an academic institution, so why don't we promote our campus that way?" McGranahan said. He urged people to write letters supporting an academic section to the editors of all area newspapers. He said most newspapers do not emphasize academics, but he concentrated on the Collegian in his speech because it is the campus newspaper.

"We have to start somewhere," McGranahan said.

Cori Walker, freshman in pre-law, said she wants to know how and where more than $600,000 from campus parking permits and traffic tickets is being used.

In her speech, "Can KSU Account for Parking Permit and Ticket Monies?" Walker said she had trouble getting information from the campus police about the allocation of this money.

"I was shuffled around for about two weeks, and they told me nothing," Walker said. She said that once the money to pay salaries, maintain roads, build parking lots and perform other campus improvements is subtracted from the $600,000 received, nearly $260,000 remains.

Walker said the officials she interviewed told her the money left over is placed in a fund. She said questions she asked concerning the use of the money in this fund seemed to make the officials uncomfortable.

One official she had an appointment with cancelled the appointment and refused to talk to her, she said. Other officials told her the money is used for "campus improvements," but could not or would not elaborate.

Walker said she intends to write a letter to the Collegian in the hope that someone in a higher office will see it.

"I hope, someday, someone will find out exactly where this (money) is going," Walker said.

John Cassida, sophomore in political science, delivered a speech, "Who's Cheating Who at KSU?" He said an average of one student a year is dismissed from K-State for cheating. He said academic dishonesty is the result of a lack of faculty awareness and students' bad attitudes toward learning.

Cassida had several ideas about how to reduce incidents of cheating. He said students should take advantage of learning situations and be eager for class. He also said instructors should work toward involving students in classes instead of lecturing to them for the entire class period.

Cassida also urged the student and faculty senates to make sure students and faculty members are aware of the University policies regarding academic dishonesty.

Bruce Pedersen, junior in pre-veterinary medicine, said K-State's tenure system should be changed to a contract system. The tenure system does not hold tenured professors sufficiently accountable for their performance, he said, and tenured professors do not have to submit to evaluations.

Pedersen said he would like to have a committee explore the possibility of using the contract system at K-State — a system that limits a professor to employment for a specific amount of time and emphasizes merit, not seniority.

Luann Corliss, senior in education psychology, called for more accuracy in the campus directory. She said the directory is "a great resource," but it contains some inaccurate information.

Corliss said the best way to improve accuracy would be to take more time in gathering information. She also said students should check with the Office of the Registrar to make sure their files are correct.

"We have a problem at K-State: Keeping it clean and green...especially clean," said Berry Barham Jr., sophomore in business. During his speech "KSU: Clean and Green," Barham said the University spends about $1,000 each week to clean up litter on campus, but cigarette butts are not part of this litter. He held up a bag of more than 40 cigarette butts he said he collected within 35 seconds behind the Union.

Barham said University President Jon Wefald agreed that the appearance of a campus is important to prospective students. He said Wefald thinks the drop in K-State enrollment could be linked to K-State's appearance, including the cigarette butts.

"If we lose one student, that is one too many," Barham said. His letter to the editor concerning cigarette litter was published in the Collegian Thursday.

"We have a beautiful college," Barham said. "I need your help in getting this campus cleaned up."

Phillip Anderson, temporary instructor of speech, said students in his three public speaking class sections selected two class members to give persuasive speeches on something they consider a campus issue.

Laura Garrett, senior in consumer affairs, served as moderator for the forum.

Alumni Association recognizes 8 fellows

By The Collegian Staff

It was time for reminiscing about the "good old days" Thursday night as about 250 K-State alumni gathered in the Union for the alumni banquet.

The banquet gave the Alumni Association a chance to recognize eight Alumni Fellows named by the individual colleges.

Following the presentation, President Jon Wefald gave a State of the University address.

Wefald discussed the past, present and future of the University by outlining K-State's history, president by president. He then discussed the numerous scholarships that K-State students won.

The Alumni Fellows Program was established in 1983 to honor K-State alumni who have distinguished themselves during their post-collegiate careers.

Those honored were Robert Oltjen by the College of Agriculture; Paul C.K. Lu by the College of Architecture and Design; Richard Hageman by the College of Arts and Sciences; Harry Lytle, Jr. by the College of Business Administration; Jo Ann Pottorff by the College of Education; Donald Prigmore by the College of Engineering; Terri Gammeter Jensen by the College of Human Ecology; and William Pritchard by the College of Veterinary Medicine.

Those previously awarded include R.E. "Gene" Bonnell, a vice president/treasurer for Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville, Okla., and Jerry Wexler, a retired senior vice president for Warner Brothers Records, New York.

'Can-Can' to end series at McCain

By The Collegian Staff

The McCain Performance Series will complete its season with Cole Porter's musical comedy "Can-Can" at 8 p.m. Friday in McCain Auditorium.

"Can-Can" is a musical celebration of romantic turn-of-the-century Paris, said Stephen Riggs, McCain director. The setting is Montmartre, the playground of Paris. The plot revolves around a judge's attempt to abolish a Parisian nightclub well known for its "shameful" cancan dancing. His attempts come to a halt when he falls in love with the owner of the club.

The plot also involves Claudine, a laundress by day and cancan dancer by night. She is pursued by two men who decide the only way to decide who will have Claudine is through a duel.

The production will be performed by the Music Theater Associates, the same company that presented the musical "Brigadoon" at McCain last year, said Riggs. The company is touring the country performing "Can-Can."

Tickets are available through McCain box office.

RAY & LESBIAN RESOURCE CENTER
MANHATTAN, KANSAS
SPRING FORMAL
Saturday, April 25
9 p.m.
Unitarian Fellowship Hall
$3.00 ♀ $5.00 couple
For further info call (913) 539-1878
BYOB
movers provided

Sigma
Sigma
Sigma
Happy
89th Birthday

OUR NEIGHBORHOOD
Hardies
DELIVERY SERVICE
537-2526

2nd Annual
Womens Big Eight Soccer Tournament
April 25 & 6, 1987
KSU Plays at 11 & 1:30 / 9 & 2:30

BALLARD'S SPORTING GOODS
COMPETITIVE EDGE!
SOFTBALL & BASEBALL HEADQUARTERS
For all your equipment needs: Bats, Balls, Gloves, Bases, Bage, Scorebooks, Rule Books, Umpire Equipment, Catchers Equipment, Bat Grips, Pine Tar, Glove Oil, Batter's Gloves, Batter's Helmets, Sliding Pads.
Ballard's

DAYS OF REMEMBRANCE 1987
at K.S.U.
Sun., April 26—Churches & Groups, Individual Observance
Sun., April 26—Churches & Groups, Individual Observance
Mon. April 27—Interfaith Candlelight Service
Tues., April 28—"Meaning of the Holocaust" by Dr. Michael Wienberg in KSU Chapel 11:30-12:20
Tues., April 28—Governor's Proclamation (3 p.m., State Capitol, Topeka, call 532-6432 for information)
Wed., April 29—Forum: "Holocaust: Psychological & Contemporary Implications" Union Room 212, 7 p.m.
Thurs., April 30—To Bear Witness (Film) Followed by discussion by Ralf Rundquist Union Room 207, 7 p.m.
Tuesday, April 21-Friday, April 24
Monday, April 27-Friday, May 1
Exhibit in Union showcase and information table
Exhibit at Farrell Library and information for reading items

Kansas State University
1987 Panorama of American Music
Presents
"A Sousa Spectacular"
Saturday, April 25
8:00 p.m. — McCain Auditorium
KSU Symphonic Wind Ensemble (Stanley Finck, conductor) presents a concert of John Philip Sousa's music in his inimitable style, complete with virtuosic solos, overtures, operatic excerpts, and numerous encores.
Tickets ($5; $2 for students and senior citizens) available from the McCain Auditorium box office (913-532-6428).

—Campus Bulletin—
PADDY MURPHY DIES
The long eventful life of the ninth Founding Father of Sigma Alpha Epsilon is over. The body of Paddy Murphy has been found and county coroner Dr. G. Mibalsich has pronounced him dead, (or extremely sleepy). According to Murphy's personal nurse, Anita Deek, Paddy had too much blood in his alcohol system. The events surrounding Murphy's death have left police officials in quite a gray area. When asked "How Gray?", Sergeant Jack MeHoff replied, "Charcoal." Investigations which may unravel the series of events leading to Murphy's death are being spearheaded by officer E. Norm Escock.
Paddy Murphy will always be remembered as one of the all-time great partiers. Few people knew that Paddy was the sole founder and President of D.A.M.M., Drunks Against Mad Mothers. Murphy was the epitome of the ultimate drunken buffoon we all hope to someday become. Some of Paddy's favorite sayings were, "But I have to drink to have fun," "I'll have two of whatever the man on the floor is having," "It's OK, I drive better when I'm drunk," and "Let's all drink and be somebody."
Although he never was a pretty sight, Paddy Murphy will be sorely missed by those who knew him. Murphy left no wife or human children but he had a ban of brothers across the nation that will mourn his death. The men of Sigma Alpha Epsilon have announced that Paddy will be buried Sat., April 25. They invite you to join them in their grief-therapy with Johnny Reno & the Sax Maniacs that evening at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house beginning at 8 p.m.

The All New
PRIDETTE
KSU's Dance/Drill team
TRYOUTS
April 25
9 a.m. McCain 201
for details call Jo Byrnes
532-5296 or leave message at 532-5150
Put a KICK in your life!

Alumni gather to recall 'golden' days

By TODD SCHULTZ
Collegian Reporter

K-State alumni from the classes of 1947 and 1942, along with others who graduated more than 50 years ago, attended the annual Golden K Club Reunion on campus Wednesday and Thursday.

The K-State Alumni Association invited alumni who belong to the club, comprising all of those who graduated 50 years ago or earlier, said Larry Weigel, executive director of the association. Each spring, 40th-year and 45th-year alumni also attend the reunion.

The association chose late April because of the many activities on campus and the weather conditions are favorable, he said.

The theme for the reunion was "Remembering the Good Times."

The alumni registered Wednesday morning and attended luncheons of the colleges from which they graduated.

Each class had its own dinner Wednesday evening in the Union before gathering to attend a K-State Singers' performance.

The two-day reunion included walking and bus tours of campus and visits to Manhattan and its outskirts.

About 300 alumni from more than 20 states attended the reunion, said Beth Hartenstein, administrative assistant of the association. The oldest alumnus attending was from the class of 1916.

As part of the reunion, members of the Palace Jazz Band, Manhattan, played for a sing-along session at the breakfast Thursday. Alumni sang "Yes Sir, That's My Baby," "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," "Sweet Georgia Brown" and many others.

Matt Betton, Manhattan, played clarinet with the band Thursday morning. Betton started a band in Aggieville in 1933 to help support himself during school.

"We used to play in restaurants for our food," Betton said. "We would play three or four times each week at dances."

Alumni reminisced about what K-State was like and how it has changed.

Agriculture and engineering students were always fighting, said a College of Engineering alumnus, who was once thrown out of a meeting labeled "no engineers allowed."

RCPD dispatcher gets verbal, written rebuke

By The Collegian Staff

The dispatcher who answered the 911 call about a K-State student who committed suicide April 11 was reprimanded but not suspended for procedural errors.

Natalie Darfler, senior in computer science and information systems, made the call because she believed Stephen Lobmeyer, freshman in pre-medicine, appeared unconscious in his car. The car was parked across the street from her apartment complex, at 2000 College Heights Road.

Bonnie Wellmeier, Riley County Police Department dispatcher, recorded details of the call in longhand.

Following proper procedure, RCPD dispatcher Ron Lichtenhan typed the written information and threw away Wellmeier's notes. Lichtenhan said Wellmeier did not write down that Lobmeyer was unconscious.

Lichtenhan was suspended for two months without pay and will be on probation for a year when he returns to the RCPD because he did not follow correct procedure. Because of the ensuing mix-up, no officer was sent to investigate the call.

Lichtenhan said he bypassed normal policy because he was not given information that Lobmeyer was unconscious. Lobmeyer was found dead about 12 hours after Darfler's call.

Alvin Johnson, director of the RCPD, said Wellmeier did not recall whether she had included the information.

Johnson said he reprimanded Wellmeier in person and in a written letter. Because the paper she took notes on was thrown away, there is no evidence to prove whether or not Wellmeier included the information, so Johnson said he would not punish her further. He said Wellmeier also did not remember if she had taken Darfler's name and phone number. Darfler said she was not asked to give the information.

Johnson said Wellmeier has only been with the RCPD for about two months, but should have known the procedure of taking the name, number and all vital information.

Students to deliver condoms

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

To protect students from sexually transmitted diseases or unwanted pregnancy, Protection Express is offering weekend condom delivery.

"We are not in any way, shape or form promoting sex," said Troy Smith, first-year student in veterinary medicine and one of four students who established the company. "We want those people who are sexually active to be responsible and protected from STDs and unwanted pregnancies."

The students originated the idea of condom delivery after watching a newscast about a similar business at the University of Florida. The month-old service in Florida has been "very successful," said Bob Thayer, first-year student in veterinary medicine.

"We just started talking about it in lab," said Dave Swalander, first-year student in veterinary medicine. "We were laughing about it at first, and pretty soon it sounded like a good idea."

The students said they will be able to earn money while providing a needed service.

The Protection Express market will probably appeal to "college students who are spontaneously involved and need our service that night," Thayer said.

"We are hoping that people coming home from a night out, realizing that they have no protection, will utilize our service," he said.

Condom delivery will be "discrete and prompt," and will be available from 7 p.m. to 3 a.m. tonight and Saturday starting this weekend, Thayer said.

"Arrangements will be made to minimize embarrassment and to protect confidentiality," he said.

Condoms will be delivered in units of three, and the price will be no more than $5, Swalander said.

Swalander said Protection Express will sell Trojan condoms because they are reliable. Delivered in a brown paper bag, they will be accompanied by a pamphlet on safe sex practices and instructions on how to use a condom.

Because the entrepreneurs do not know how great a response Protection Express will receive, a minimum delivery time has not been established.

Swalander said he hopes they will be able to deliver condoms within 10-15 minutes, and said he "doubts seriously" that delivery will take more than 30 minutes. Two people will be on call each night and a citizens band radio system will be used for workers in transit, Smith said.

"All orders will be subject to call-back for verification," Swalander said. However, Protection Express will not keep names on record.

When used properly, condoms are 97 percent effective against pregnancy and most sexually transmitted diseases, according to information compiled by doctors at Lafene Student Health Center.

Some common sexually transmitted diseases are herpes, gonorrhea, syphilis and Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, according to a pamphlet compiled by the American College Health Association. These diseases are contagious, but often do not produce noticeable symptoms until years after the person is infected, said Cindy Burke, health educator at Lafene.

U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop has announced the use of condoms is effective in preventing the spread of AIDS, she said. Experts are still researching the effectiveness of condoms on the spread of herpes. While condoms will reduce the risk of transmission, the herpes virus "might penetrate through the latex of the condom, but experts are still researching it," she said.

Burke said she believes Protection Express will be beneficial to K-State students.

"I feel as though what they're doing is something good and worthwhile because it has the potential of helping many people," Burke said.

If Protection Express is successful this semester, the service may be offered again next year, Thayer said.

"We would feel optimistic and would continue the business if we sold 10 units this weekend," Thayer said.

Whether the business takes off quickly or not, condoms will not be stored for more than a few weeks, Swalander said.

"American Military History, A Chinese View"

Professor Wu Chungiu

The Academy of Military Science
The Peoples Republic of China

Tuesday, April 28

7 p.m. U 207

Sponsored by History Department and Phi Alpha Theta

Dairy Science Club Dairy Judging Competition

April 26, 3 p.m. at the Dairy Unit
Novices & Professional Competition. Trophies will be awarded.
For more information call Dr. Shirley at 532-5654.
Everyone Welcome!

PUBLIC HEARING Recommendations and Report on the Findings University Ad Hoc Committee on PARKING UTILIZATION at the Union Forum Hall

APRIL 27th

3:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Copies of the full report are available at the Library Deans' office &
SGA offices

K-State Players presents

Shir Stamps
Un Conquer

Thurs. & Fri.

Nichols Theatre

8 p.m.

Call 532-6398

Mon.-Fri. 12-5

Freshman & Sophomore Summer Job Opportunity

available with

The United States
Marine Corps

No obligation to be a Marine!

Earn between $1300
& $2100 a month
plus meals & housing.

Call

913-841-1821

(collect)

WOMEN: PEACE AND PREJUDICE

with the Panel of American Women

Saturday, April 25

1 p.m.

Union 213

sponsored by Baha'i Club

Lower rate now on used car/truck loans

~~12%~~ APR
36 months maximum length

10.8% APR
48 months
maximum length

Finance your next used car or truck, model year 1986-1981, and receive this lower rate. We've also expanded the maximum contract length to 48 months to make monthly payments fit your budget. Contact a loan officer today at the Credit Union.

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY FEDERAL CREDIT UNION

A service for faculty, staff and qualified graduate assistants

Anderson Hall, Room 24A
Open 9 a.m.-4 p.m.
Monday through Friday
532-6274

30 MINUTES GUARANTEED!

Two Small's For The Price of a Large!

Get two 12" small pizzas for the price of a 16" large pizza. One coupon per pizza. Good at listed locations only. Expires 4/30/87. Fast Free Delivery.™

Name

Address

When you call Domino's Pizza, we guarantee that you'll receive your hot, delicious pizza within 30 minutes, or we'll take $3.00 off the price of your order. Taste all the quality of a pizza from Domino's Pizza, custom-made with select ingredients and delivered in less than 30 minutes, guaranteed.

Call us!
Manhattan
539-0561
517 N. 12th Street

Hours:
4:00 pm-1am Sun.-Thurs.
11:00 am-2pm Fri. & Sat.

DOMINO'S
PIZZA
DELIVERS
FREE.

Prices include sales tax.
Limited delivery area.
Our drivers carry less than $20.00.
Prices are subject to change.
© 1987 Domino's Pizza, Inc.

Workshop to supply renting information

By The Collegian Staff

Tenant/landlord relations will be the topic of a weekend workshop designed to share information about renting.

The workshop will be presented from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Saturday in the City Commission Room of Manhattan City Hall, 11th Street and Poyntz Avenue.

"We will be talking about leases, inspections, deposits and other topics dealing with renting," said Cornell Mayfield, director of human resources for Manhattan.

Mayfield said it is nearing the time of season when apartment dwellers will be leaving for the summer or signing new leases. Through this workshop, the city will try to educate people about renting and inspections so they will know what they are doing and "hopefully will head off any problems that may occur," Mayfield said.

Mayfield will be speaking at the workshop along with Dianne Urban, students' attorney. Urban will be talking about the laws on renting and how renters can protect themselves.

The workshop is open to the public.

Hayden signs measure on farm exemptions

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — One of the bills that passed the 1987 Legislature and was aimed at promoting economic development was signed into law Thursday by Gov. Mike Hayden.

The bill was among 21 signed and one vetoed by the governor.

The measure would exempt poultry and rabbit production facilities from the state's ban on corporate ownership of farming operations.

The bill, which originally included swine operations in its list of exemptions, passed the Legislature on the final day of the regular 90-day session, April 10, after a conference committee agreed to remove hog operations from it.

When it becomes law on July 1, the bill will allow corporations to own land, structures and related equipment for housing, breeding, feeding and processing of poultry and rabbits in confined areas.

Otherwise, the 1981 state law prohibits corporations from operating large total agricultural production facilities.

The issue of whether to exempt hog operations is expected to resurface in the 1988 session.

Supporters said the bill was needed to revive Kansas' floundering farm economy, but opponents said it could drive family farmers out of business.

Film depicts 'wholesome' Kansas image

By JUDY LUNDSTROM
Staff Writer

The Dorothy and Toto image of Kansas has not quite dissipated. And Hollywood must not have received word that K-State is one of Playboy's Top 100 party colleges.

The stereotype of Kansas as an old-fashioned, wholesome state has resurfaced in Michael J. Fox's newest comedy, "The Secret of My Success."

In the movie, Fox, the subject of female adoration since his debut on the television series "Family Ties" a few years ago, plays an innocent but ambitious K-State graduate named Brantley Foster who wants to succeed on Wall Street.

Naturally, the writers wanted Brantley Foster to be from a non-New York atmosphere. But why Kansas?

"I would have thought because it's a symbol of Simon-pure Americanism — the heartland, so to speak," said David Chasman, executive producer of "The Secret of My Success."

But had he ever heard of Kansas State?

"That's a funny question to ask," Chasman said. "The answer is yes, but only to the extent that I know that there are state universities in virtually every state."

The screenwriter would be a better person to ask that question, he said.

"I did have a reason," said A.J. Carothers, screenwriter for the movie. "I didn't start off saying I want Brantley Foster to be from Kansas State University. I started off saying I wanted Brantley to be

Movie plays on stereotype of country boy in big city from Kansas."

Carothers said the perception most Americans have about Kansans is that they are "all-American, decent, honest, open and ingenious in the nicest way."

Americans don't consider Kansans to be Machiavellian and manipulative, he said.

"I was playing directly into that stereotype because it was to be a story of a very open and honest young man who is put among very manipulative people," he said.

Carothers said he used the same reasoning in choosing the town of Cawker City, Kan., for the movie "Hero at Large," in which John Ritter played a Kansas man who moved to New York.

Writers of motion pictures have no control over their material once they sell it, he said. For that reason, many movies have had rewrites, which can be "very frustrating" to the writer.

The original screenplay for "The Secret of My Success" was rewritten, Carothers said. In the original story, the character Fox plays was much more ingenious than he appears to be in the movie.

"The character on the screen is a pretty good little hustler when he gets off the bus," he said. "He was not in the original material — he was full of energy and ambition, but he was not a manipulative person. He learned that in New York."

Carothers said the original story explains what he was trying to do with the Kansas image. The movie, he said, does not do as good a job.

"But I think Michael's own charm and appeal make the character still very attractive," he said.

Carothers said he wrote the script in 1984. Currently, Ballantine Books is in the process of publishing a novel based on the movie.

Carothers said he did not consider any other university before he chose K-State.

"Once I had decided that Brantley should come from Kansas, then I said...he must have gone to Kansas State," he said.

Although he did not write the script with any particular actor in mind, Carothers said once casting discussions began, Michael J. Fox was his first choice.

"The Secret of My Success" opened April 10 across the country, and it opened big, Carothers said. Last week it was the No. 1 box office picture.

The movie seems to be a hit in Manhattan as well.

K-State sweat shirt and T-shirt sales have increased, said Cindy Dunham, assistant supply department manager of the Union Bookstore, though she added that part of the increase could be from a change in the store's floor plan.

The bookstore supplied a variety of K-State memorabilia for the movie, Dunham said.

"They ordered quite a bit from us," she said. "They contacted us by phone and told us they needed to get some things together for a film they were making."

Dunham said the producers ordered "a little bit of everything," including shorts, sweat shirts, T-shirts and pennants.

The bookstore has supplied materials to movie studios in the past, but not in as great a quantity, she said.

The supplies, however, were not donated. Dunham said the order totaled several hundred dollars.

Carothers said he was "delighted" to know that K-State cooperated with the studio in providing the necessary supplies.

Kansans should be proud to have such a righteous image, he said, adding that he did not think the image would ever change. When asked if he had ever been to Kansas, he said he had driven through the state long ago.

"But even if I were to visit Kansas tomorrow and found out that the image was not correct, it is still the image most people hold," he said. "I think it's a wonderful image to have."

While that wholesome image may be disturbing to some, many Kansans seem to be making the best of it (or at least profiting from it).

And, though Michael J. Fox has already discarded his K-State garb and begun prepping for a new movie in New York, Kansans can flock to his current flick and try to determine if the secret of their success lies somewhere out there in the "Land of Ahs."

1986 Miller Brewing Co., Milwaukee, WI

THE GREAT WESTERN SMOKEHOUSE

INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Char-Broiled
CHICKEN BREAST
$1.95

OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

Buy One SANDWICH
Get the SECOND
SANDWICH for 99¢

OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

FREE
Quart of Pepsi
WITH A PURCHASE
OF ANY SANDWICH
& FRENCH FRIES

OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

SOUP, SANDWICH
&
SOFT DRINK
$2.75

OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

$1.09
HAM & CHEESE SANDWICH

OFFER EXPIRES 4-30-87

THE GREAT WESTERN SMOKEHOUSE

901 Seth Childs Rd. 776-0300
Village Plaza Shopping Center
For catering call 776-2222

TAPACANADRAFT.

Just pull the tab and pour yourself a mug of fresh, smooth draft beer. Miller Genuine Draft is real draft beer in bottles — and now cans.

Like all real draft beers, it's not heat-pasteurized. Instead, it is cold-filtered to give you the freshness and smoothness of draft beer straight from the keg.

MILLER GENUINE DRAFT. IT'S BEER AT ITS BEST.

Three groups receive senate fee allocations

By The Collegian Staff

Student Senate continued the tentative allocation of student fees Thursday night, approving funds for Associated Students of Kansas, the Associated Students of Kansas at K-State and Consumer Relations Board.

Senate approved Finance Committee's recommendation that ASK receive all of its requested $18,475.20 for 1987-88. ASK is a lobbying organization representing the four-year Regents institutions in the Kansas Legislature.

The ASK chapter at K-State received $1,657.60 to help support its campus office. Senate overruled Finance Committee's recommendation that ASK at K-State receive $1,559.40 for 1987-88. Senate raised the amount to allow ASK at K-State to spend $73.20 on advertising that would expand and create student awareness of

ASK programs.

The Consumer Relations Board received $3,864.90 for the 1987-88 school year. This amount is a reduction from the $4,232.90 that the organization had requested and $41.40 less than Finance Committee had recommended.

The $41.40 was to have been spent on transportation used for speeches made at local high schools. Senate contended that the cost of transportation should be funded by the high schools.

In other business, Senate passed a resolution commending Phil Anderson, temporary instructor in speech, and his public speaking classes.

Senate also passed the first reading of a resolution recommending that ASK lower its proposed level of funding for private car travel from 20 cents to 15 cents per mile.

Finalist outlines communication goals

By The Collegian Staff

Management style should fit specific situations and the personnel involved, said the second finalist for the director of personnel services.

"My job is to provide assistance with those employees who have been here a long time, and guidance and leadership to the new employees," said Deborah Birney, acting director for personnel services at K-State.

Birney spoke Thursday morning at an open interview session in the Union.

Birney said it is essential that everyone realize the undertakings of the personnel department.

"I would like to develop a pamphlet with phone numbers that would direct those needing assistance, which would help employees receive the correct answers to questions they might have," she said.

One of the goals of the personnel department is to get an on-line computer, she said.

"The computer will allow us to be of better service to the employees," Birney said.

"We want our employees to know what programs we offer," she said. Birney said this concept would promote personnel within the department to higher-level positions.

"We want to let the employees know what they are qualified for and what they have to do to become qualified," she said.

Birney said she has been active in the personnel department at K-State since 1976.

"Because I grew up in the system at K-State, I know it inside out, which is an advantage because I wouldn't have to take the time to learn it," she said.

The third of the five finalists, Lucius C. Jones, will be on campus Friday for an open interview session from 9:45 a.m. to 10:45 a.m. in Union 213.

Jones has been director of the university personnel/affirmative action office at Central State University, Wilberforce, Ohio, since 1979.

Airlines to face possible re-regulation

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A string of senators warned airlines Thursday to shape up, improve services and cut delays or face possible re-regulation or heavy government-imposed penalties for shoddy operations.

"The airline industry in its zeal for competition has gone absolutely hog wild," declared Sen. J. James Exon, D-Neb., during a hearing where senior executives from three major airlines acknowledged a consumer backlash because of the rising number of delays and other complaints.

The executives from American Airlines, Continental Airlines and Delta Air Lines told the Senate panel they are prepared to make on-time flight information and other consumer information available to travelers if other air carriers are required to do the same.

Robert Crandall, chairman of American Airlines, said he would agree to put the information into the airline-owned SABRE computer reservation system, which is widely used by travel agents. Delta and Continental suggested a periodic reporting of the information to the Transportation Department.

The federal government, which once kept on-time statistics, has not done so in years as part of the overall move by the Reagan administration to reduce government paperwork. No airline has offered to supply the information independently for fear of being put at a competitive disadvantage.

"Consumers do not currently have the information they need to make meaningful choices" about competing airline services, acknowledged Thomas G. Plaskett, president and chief executive officer of Continental Airlines. Continental has been cited as a leading target of traveler complaints.

But Plaskett, Crandall and Murph Dullum, vice president for government affairs for Delta, said that if consumer information is made available by all airlines, the competitive marketplace — and not government edict — will improve airline service.

Airline delays increased by about 25 percent last year and the delay problem has continued into 1987. Complaints about airline service to the Transportation Department have soared in recent months.

The cries about poor delays, lost baggage and poor flight selections have been loud in Congress as well, prompting the introduction of a flurry of airline passenger protection legislation, most of which would require increased disclosure of consumer information by the air carriers.

Sen. Bob Kasten, R-Wis., told the airline executives he is confident that Congress will approve passenger protection legislation this year and that the sentiment for stronger regulatory action, including possible imposition of stiff fines for shoddy airline service, is being increasingly discussed.

"We're going to act. The question is what is the industry going to do," said Kasten.

Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., said while more airline consumer information is needed, airlines must also take steps to reduce the bunching of flights and reform scheduling practices as well as doing more to assist passengers whose flights are canceled or delayed.

While much of the senators' criticism stemmed from the increasing number of delays, the three airline executives argued that much of that problem rests with the Federal Aviation Administration and not airline scheduling practices as claimed by the Transportation Department.

"This administration has failed to adequately rebuild the air traffic control system since the (controller) strike in 1981," complained Dullum of Delta, which recently was accused by the government of engaging in "unrealistic" scheduling.

March of Dimes
SAVES BABIES

Man's shooting spree leaves 4 dead in mall

By The Associated Press

PALM BAY, Fla. — A gunman opened fire at two downtown shopping centers Thursday, killing at least four people and wounding at least 11, authorities said.

The gunman then took an unknown number of hostages in a supermarket, and police were negotiating with him six hours after the shootings began at 6:25 p.m., said Palm Bay Police spokeswoman Louise Brown. She said a special telephone line was set up for the negotiations.

Brown said a second man was arrested "in relation" to the shootings, but authorities later determined he had not taken part in gunfire and that there was in fact only one gunman.

Police Lt. Candice Leek said at least four people had been killed, two of them police officers.

Several hours after the gunshots erupted, five buses rolled out of the shopping center, crowded with people who leaned out the windows waving and cheering. Police said they were taken to a nearby K mart for questioning and then to City Hall for reunions with relatives.

Initially, police had said there were two gunmen, and witnesses had described two different men as taking part in the bloodbath, but authorities later said only one person was involved.

Up to 100 officers converged on the scene and police snipers were stationed on rooftops, according to witnesses. Hundreds of shoppers were evacuated from the area and many others were lying on the ground, but in the confusion and panic it was not immediately clear how many had been shot.

"Thirty is the number of bodies we have on the ground," said Brown.

The Holmes Regional Medical Center received two fatalities from the shootings and treated 11 others for gunshot wounds, according to spokeswoman Mary Lu Tombleson.

Brown said one of the dead was a police officer. She had originally reported that police believed 12 people were killed, but said later that she could no longer confirm that figure.

"I felt one bullet go right through the top of my hair," said Fletcher Redmond, 62, a co-owner of a jewelry store. "I just dropped to the floor. I just knew the next shot was going to be lower."

Brown said a special telephone line was being set up for hostage negotiations.

She said the man opened fire at 6:25 p.m. in front of a Publix grocery store at the Sabal Palm Shopping Center in this Atlantic coastal town 70 miles southeast of Orlando.

He then crossed the street and stormed a Winn Dixie store at the Palm Bay Shopping Center, continuing to fire while he entered and took hostages, Brown said. It was not immediately known how many people were in the grocery store.

Witnesses said the gunman climbed to the roof of the store where shots were fired. Shots also were fired inside the store, witnesses said.

"We heard four or five shots in the beginning," said Ben Tom, a restaurant worker in the Publix shopping center, where about a dozen customers and employees stayed locked inside. "They would come in spurts," he said. "What happened then, he shot a few times at this shopping center and then went across the street and he did an awful lot of shooting over there."

The owner of a pizza place across the street from the Winn Dixie said police were evacuating customers from his restaurant.

CENTENNIAL AG RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM

Bridging the 20th and 21st Centuries

APRIL 24
1:15 PM
FORUM HALL
K-STATE UNION

TOPICS

- THE CHANGING STRUCTURE OF AGRICULTURE
- BIOTECHNOLOGY—IMPLICATIONS FOR AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH
- POLITICAL SCIENCE, HISTORY, HORTICULTURE, AND SOCIOLOGY

FACULTY WILL REACT TO THE PRESENTATION.

OPEN DISCUSSION TO FOLLOW

REFRESHMENTS SERVED
Faculty, Students, Public Invited

Sponsors:
Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station
Agriculture and the Liberal Arts Program
Gamma Sigma Delta - Agricultural Honoraty

Special Student and Youth Fares to EUROPE

from New York on Scheduled Airlines!

DESTINATIONS	OW	RT
LONDON	$210	$400
PARIS	226	432
FRANKFURT	248	476
ROME	273	526
MILAN	248	476
ZURICH/GENEVA	260	500

Add $25 in each direction for Boston or Washington, D.C. departures. Add $50 in each direction for Pittsburgh, Cleveland, or Raleigh-Durham departures. Other add-on fares are available.

Special Student and Youth Fares to SCANDINAVIA

On Scheduled Airlines!

Spring Rates	OW	RT
From New York
Copenhagen	$275	$525
Oslo	275	525
Stockholm	275	525
Helsinki	315	605
From Chicago
Copenhagen	$300	$565
Oslo	325	650
Stockholm	325	650

Some fare restrictions may apply.
Ask for our special student/youth tours to the Soviet Union and Poland. Applications available for Eurail Youth Pass and International Student I.D. Card.
For Reservations and Information Call:
WHOLE WORLD TRAVEL
Serving the Student/Youth Market for more than 16 years!
17 E. 45th St., New York, NY 10017
(212) 986-9470

Geranium Jamboree!

We've grown everybody's favorite annual in 4 1/2" pots and 4-packs

Now Only $2.19
regular price $2.49

Choose healthy, seed-grown geraniums in these vivid colors:

Red	Cherry
White	Salmon
Pink	Salmon/White

Sale ends April 30

Remember—We're open Friday evenings until 7:30 p.m. for your shopping convenience!

Horticultural Services
• Garden Center •
Mon-Sat 8-6 Sun 10-4
776-5764
2 mi. east of Manhattan on U.S. 24

Student Publications announces

Collegian Reporting & Sales Opportunities

Applications & Job Descriptions available in Kedzie 103

FALL COLLEGIAN NEWS POSITIONS

Managing Editor	Government Editor
News Editor	Agribusiness Editor
Campus Editors	Staff Writers
Copy Editors	Sports Writers
Editorial Page Editor	Columnists
Feature Editor	Reviewer
Special Projects Editor	Cartoonist
Sports Editor	Graphic Artists
Arts & Entertainment Editor

FALL COLLEGIAN ADVERTISING POSITIONS

Assistant Manager
Sales Representatives
Regional Representative
Campus Representatives
Classified Representative
Graphic Artists

Applications due
Kedzie 103
Friday, April 24th

'Dark horse' crew entering regatta unbeaten

Confident 'Cats to challenge defending national champion

By CHASE CLARK
Sports Writer

Undefeated seasons are a rarity in collegiate athletics nowadays, but don't tell that to the K-State men's varsity-eight crew.

The men's varsity-eight crew is undefeated this season and has a 5-0 record at risk this weekend at the Midwest Regionals in Madison, Wis. The win streak dates back to the last race of last spring — the Big Eight Conference championship.

K-State defeated the University of Kansas by 3 feet in a highly contested race.

"The varsity crew, of course, is undefeated," K-State Coach Don Rose said. "All of our varsity victories have been by a pretty decent margin."

But the Wildcats will meet the University of Wisconsin and Purdue University. They were the No. 1 and No. 2 finishers, respectively, in last year's Midwest Regionals.

"Those two crews (Wisconsin and Purdue), I'd say, would be favored over us," Rose said. "We probably should be considered a dark horse for the race. We certainly aren't going to concede anything to Wisconsin though. What I want out of the men is that they should give their best performance of the year without getting too excited, too hyper or trying too hard. That could take place."

"I have often thought our crews in the past have done very well in the lesser races. When they get to national championships and the regional championships, sometimes they weren't themselves because they tried to do more than they could," he added.

Beating Purdue, Rose said, would be more than worth the trip to Madison.

"Getting down to the reality of the thing, I hope this year that we can show Purdue our wake," he said. "Wisconsin has rowed for 120 years approximately and they have everything going for them...so they have to be favored at this home regatta."

The team is definitely confident this season.

"It's going to be close," said crew captain Jeff Bushey. "It's a race between ourselves, Purdue and Wisconsin. Wisconsin has never seen K-state come up against them like they will this year. They don't expect it, and it's going to scare them. They've never seen us come in with guns blazing."

"Everybody's psyched up," said member Brad Johnson. "This is the fastest K-State crew ever. Everybody's been chasing us this year, but nobody's gotten us yet."

Rose said several factors make this year's squad an excellent team.

"We've paid more attention this year to conditioning the men and getting them in shape," he said. "They have faithfully trained and worked harder this year, and are a well-conditioned crew. We have more experience on the crew than in recent years. All the men have at least two years of rowing."

"They have a feel for winning that you just have to have in order to win," he said. "They do it because they want to. They have great desire and great dedication."

Another key to K-State's success has been the unseasonably warm weather, allowing the team to work out more on the water.

Perhaps the main factor behind the crew's success has been their ability to work together as a team.

Staff/Gary Lytle

K-State's men's varsity-eight crew puts its undefeated record of 5-0 at risk this weekend when they face the defending national champions, the University of Wisconsin, at the Midwest Regionals in Madison, Wis. The crew's winning streak dates to last year's Big Eight Championships.

"This is the ultimate of team sports," Rose said. "Rowing has to be absolutely together, and they operate as a unit real well. A number of them are excellent friends with each other."

Many of the members go out the night before a race, eat spaghetti and see a movie together.

"There were a few people that started out last semester that were very young," Bushey said. "Those people kind of rallied the rest of the team. Everybody worked out hard all winter long, and we've pulled together real well. There's a lot of comradery among us."

"The team knows it can win. It's just a matter of going out and doing it."

Having two men's varsity-eight squads also appears to have helped K-State.

"There's a lot of competition between the squads, and it's helped us out a lot in practice," said member Matt Filby. "We're all friends and we go out and do stuff together a lot."

"Beating KU at Minnesota gave us a taste of winning. Morale is really up because we have been doing so good this season."

K-State rowing crews enter regional regatta

By The Collegian Staff

It's all on the line Saturday for the K-State men's varsity-eight crew at the Midwest Regionals at Lake Wingra in Madison, Wis.

The men's varsity-eight is undefeated this season (5-0) and looking to go to the Intercollegiate Rowing Association National Championship in early June if the crew has a good showing at Regionals.

But the men's varsity-eight isn't the only Wildcat crew going to the regatta. A women's varsity-eight team, men's and women's freshman, crew and a Manhattan High School four-oar crew will be representing K-State.

"The University of Kansas' women's-eight is very strong. They've been undefeated all year long," Rose said. "Kansas will be challenging Wisconsin on that level, as we are challenging them on the men's level."

Twenty-five to 30 crews from schools and clubs throughout the Midwest are expected to participate in the regatta. Other Kansas universities attending the event are Wichita State, Washburn and Kansas.

Tracksters to compete at various meets

By DAVE WAGNER
Sports Writer

K-State's top men and women track athletes will compete at various locations in the Midwest and on the East Coast this weekend as Coach John Capriotti has dispersed them to four different meets.

Highlighting the wide spread of meets are the Drake Relays in Des Moines, Iowa, and the Penn Relays in Philadelphia.

"These are two of the best meets in the country this weekend," Capriotti said. "Both the Drake and the Penn Relays are some top-notch track meets featuring some fine teams with outstanding athletes from around the country."

Weight coach Ray Hansen is sending two of his throwers to Oklahoma and the rest of the squad that didn't qualify for the relays will compete at Southwestern College in Winfield.

Leading off competition at the Drake Relays for K-State was Steve Henson, who competed in the decathlon Tuesday and Wednesday for the first time this season.

Henson finished his first decathlon in seventh place with 6,434 points in the two-day, 10-event competition. Winning the decathlon was Kip Jarvin from Simpson College with 7,156 points.

Henson's best efforts came in the high jump, which he won with a leap of 6-foot-8½, the javelin and 1,500-meter run, in which he took second.

His results by event were: 110-meter hurdles, 17.9, 9th; discus, 108-9, 10th; pole vault, 14-7 1/4, 4th; javelin, 193-1, 2nd; 1,500-meter run, 4:38.3, 2nd; 400-meter dash, 53.9, 8th; 100-meter dash, 12.1, 10th; long jump, 20-7, 8th; shot put, 34-7, 10th; and high jump, 6-8½, 1st.

The rest of the men's and women's teams will join Henson today, the first full day of competition.

On the women's side, sprinters Joy Jones, Anita Isom and Karen Brown will compete in the sprints. Pinkie Suggs, K-State's All-American in the women's discus and shotput, will be competing as well.

For K-State's men at the Drake Relays, Harold Williams, John Williams and Kelly Williams will compete in the sprints. Doug Brown, Dan Myers, Ken Nash and Dan O'Mara will compete in field events.

A handful of athletes will travel to Philadelphia for the Penn Relays.

All-American triple jumper Kenny Harrison will compete in the men's invitational long jump on Saturday and will be joined by some of K-State's top distance runners.

Jacque Struckoff will run in the college women's 10,000-meter race and Betsy Silzer will compete in the 5,000-meter run. Jon Jonsson, Jim Knudsen and Brian Zwahlen will run in the men's 5,000-meter race and will be joined by Pat Hessini later on in the day for the men's 6,000-meter relay.

Combined, K-State will join approximately 160 other collegiate and university men's and women's teams this weekend with some 3,200 athletes including high school performers.

Next week, K-State tracksters will travel to Ames, Iowa.

Baseball fans will love taking this test

It's that time of the year again. Students begin to moan and groan of the upcoming tests teachers so delightfully hand out.

Well, to add to the list of tests, here is one devised by yours truly which should test the most avid of baseball fanatics.

If one so desires, they may clip this column and hand it to the teacher of their most dreaded class. After the teacher has taken the test, mark every answer — whether they're right or wrong — with red ink just like teachers, just for the sheer pleasure.

The scoring for this test is as follows: 12-15, a perennial All-Star; 9-11, a starter for the team all year long; 7-8, a triple-A star; 6-below, start selling hot dogs.

Questions

1. Who was the first player to wear a glove and when?
2. Who was responsible for starting the free agent market as we know it today?

BILL LANG
Sports Writer

3. Who was the Yankees' first baseman before Lou Gehrig?
4. Who was the batter on deck when Bobby Thomson hit the "shot heard 'round the world"?
5. Who played third base for the Cubs on the famed Tinker to Evers to Chance infield?
6. Who holds the major league career mark of consecutive games played?
7. Who is second place with most consecutive games played?
8. Joe DiMaggio holds the record for consecutive games with a hit with 56, who's in second?

9. Before Pete Rose became player-manager for the Reds, who was a player-manger before him?

10. Who wrote the poem "Casey at the Bat"?

11. In the poem, who was on second and who was on third when Casey came to bat?

12. Who wrote the famous seventh-inning stretch song, "Take Me Out To The Ballgame"?

13. (Worth three points) What are the real names of "The Fordham Flash," "Scooter" and "The Big Train"?

Answers

1. Charlie Waitt wore the first glove in 1875 and thereby steered baseball toward a more defensive game.
2. Curt Flood of the St. Louis Cardinals refused to accept his trade in 1970 to the Phillies and took the reserve clause to court. Although he lost, his challenge led to what would later be named the free-agent market.
3. Wally Pipp.
4. Willie Mays.
5. Harry Steinfield.
6. Lou Gehrig, with 2,130 consecutive games played.
7. Steve Garvey, with 1,207 consecutive games played.
8. Pete Rose, with 45.
9. Don Kessinger played shortstop and was the field manager for the Chicago White Sox in 1979.
10. Ernest Lawrence Thayer wrote the classic story June 3, 1888, for the San Francisco Examiner.
11. Jimmy Blake was safe at second and Flynn was a-huggin' third.
12. Jack Norworth wrote the words and Albert Von Tilzer composed the music in 1908 for a vaudeville act.
13. Frankie Frisch, Phil Rizzuto and Walter Johnson.

The questions used for this test were taken from Sportswit, by Lee Green, by Harper and Row Publishing Inc., 1984; and The All-Time, All-Star Baseball Book, by Bart Accolla, Nick Accolla and Donald Dewey, by Avon Publishing Inc., 1985.

Baseball team to start 8-game road trip at ISU

By The Collegian Staff

K-State's baseball team will try to pull its Big Eight Conference record closer to the .500 mark this weekend in Ames, Iowa.

The Wildcats, 20-18 overall and 4-9 in conference play, begin an eight-game road swing by challenging Iowa State, 13-21 and 1-7 in the Big Eight, Saturday and Sunday in a four-game series.

After winning two consecutive home games this week (8-6 against Creighton and 19-10 against Washburn), Coach Mike Clark said he is hoping K-State's winning ways will continue against a conference opponent.

"We're just going to have to keep playing good ball," Clark said. "That's the secret to it; it doesn't matter who we're playing or where we're playing, we've got to worry about us playing up to our capabilities."

The Cyclones, in the midst of a nine-game losing streak, are ranked sixth in the Big Eight standings behind No. 5 K-State. Last year, the Wildcats took three of four games against the Cyclones in Manhattan.

Paul Iseman (3-3 overall and 1-2 in the conference) and Mike Hamacher (4-2 and 0-2) are slated to pitch in the noon Saturday double-header. Zack Kimbell (4-2 and 2-1) and Mike Hinkle (3-2 and 1-2) will be on the mound for Sunday's 12:30 p.m. twin-bill.

In the opening game of the 1986 series, Rocky Ferguson struck out nine batters to pace the Wildcats in a 4-3 win. In game two, Otto Kaifes and Kevin Ellis rapped run-scoring singles to erase a 7-6 Cyclone lead and propel K-State to a 9-8 victory.

The Wildcats won game three, 5-2, on the strength of seven Iowa State errors. The Cyclones capitalized on 10 walks issued by 'Cat pitchers in game four and won the series finale, 7-2.

In the latest Big Eight statistics, catcher Jeff Turtle ranks eighth in batting average (.457) and second in home runs (4) against conference opponents.

Turtle, though, has not played the last two games because of an ankle injury from the Missouri series, but is expected to play Saturday.

K-State on the road is 5-16 overall and 1-7 in the Big Eight. Away from the friendly confines of Frank Myers Field, where the 'Cats are 17-2 this year, designated hitter David Chadd leads the team with a .347 batting average.

BIG EIGHT STANDINGS (Through April 20)

Team	Conference W	I	Pct.	All Games W	I	Pct.
Nebraska	8	0	1.000	28	10	.737
Okl. St.	8	1	.889	40	3	.930
Missouri	11	5	.688	27	15	.643
Oklahoma	8	4	.667	28	12	.700
K-State	4	9	.308	20	18	.526
Iowa St.	1	7	.125	13	21	.332
Kansas	1	15	.062	11	27	.295

This Week in the Big Eight

Nebraska at Oklahoma State.
Oklahoma at Missouri.
Saturday
K-State at Iowa State.
Nebraska at Oklahoma State.
Oklahoma at Missouri.
Iowa at Kansas.

Sunday
K-State at Iowa State.
Oklahoma at Missouri.
Nebraska at Oklahoma State.

Briefly In Sports

'Cats to host women's soccer meet

The K-State's women's soccer team will host the Big Eight Conference women's soccer tournament Saturday and Sunday at Memorial Stadium.

Teams participating are K-State, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma State and Colorado. Play in the round-robin format begins at 11:30 a.m. Saturday and at 9 a.m. Sunday.

Men's soccer team to play at WSU

The K-State men's soccer team will compete at The Wichita State University this weekend in the Big Eight Conference tournament finals and the Laszlo Stumpfhauser championships.

The conference champion will be determined in the preliminary round of the Stumpfhauser tournament Saturday. Also on Saturday, 13 teams will compete within four groups to determine the seeding for a single-elimination tournament Sunday.

Last year, K-State placed second at Wichita, losing 2-0 to Kansas Newman. The Wildcats are 3-2-1 this season.

Golfers entering final tournaments

Both the K-State men's and women's golf teams are entering the final stages of their respective schedules.

The women's squad will conclude its season by participating in the Big Eight Conference championships Monday and Tuesday in Oklahoma City. The Wildcats finished seventh in the conference meet last year.

K-State's men started play Thursday in the Drake Relays tournament in Des Moines, Iowa, and freshman Jeff Sedorek shared the low individual round of the day with a 70 to lead K-State to sixth place among 26 teams.

The Wildcats shot rounds of 312 and 298 for a 36-hole total of 610. Southern Illinois-Edwardsville leads overall with a 593. Iowa stands second at 597 with Wichita State third at 603.

Golf coach signs high school golfer

Beth Holmberg, a three-time, all-metro golf selection at Shawnee Mission North High School, has signed a letter-of-intent to join the K-State's golf program.

Holmberg finished as medalist in six tournaments during her senior year of high school. She placed second in the regionals and recorded a fifth-place finish at the 6A state championships.

Football manager's role is deceiving

Hard work often goes unnoticed

By JENNY CHAULK
Sports Writer

The role of a football manager is deceiving. To an outsider, the term "football manager" connotes someone washing uniforms, picking up dirty towels and catering quietly to whatever coaches or players want.

But being a manager is more than that. Just ask Jim "Shorty" Kleinau. With the start of spring drills, Kleinau — a native of Geneseo, Ill. — is entering his ninth year as equipment manager for K-State's football Wildcats.

Kleinau graduated from Oklahoma State University in 1977 with a journalism degree. His specialty is public relations — a field he said has helped him in his career.

"You're constantly moving and interacting with other people trying to set things up," Kleinau said.

"There's so many public relations things we (managers) do — working with the sporting goods dealers in the state, working with the coaches, working with the administration, calling ahead to other people, getting things done for when we go on the road. And it never ends."

Kleinau was a football manager at Pratt and Independence community colleges, where he attended school for one year at each institution. He said he became interested in the job when he was in high school.

"My high school team was real successful," Kleinau said. "I was a farm kid and too small to participate. But I wanted to be a part of (football). I was always interested in sports, and I just picked it (being a manager) up. It's something you kind of teach yourself. You see from other people how they do things, but you really have to be self-motivated."

In addition to the public relations aspects of his job, Kleinau does have to attend to the everyday, seemingly-mundane tasks that keep a football team in working order.

Jim "Shorty" Kleinau, equipment manager for the K-State football team, begins his ninth year with the Wildcats with the start of spring drills.

"We make sure everything is laundered and put up. We're responsible for travel of gear — we transport it from place to place. We're responsible for inventory. We're responsible for the general maintenance of it (gear) as far as sending it off to be fixed. At practice time, we make sure that everything is in the right place at the right time. We make sure everything goes right from the time the kids walk in the door to the time they leave."

A typical day for Kleinau begins at 8:30 a.m. or 9 a.m. and usually ends around 7 p.m. on practice days. On game days, Kleinau sometimes works around the clock. He is assisted by nine aides — eight student assistants and an assistant in charge of laundry.

"Without them, I wouldn't be anything," Kleinau said. "They do a terrific job and get very little credit."

Kleinau said the fact managers receive little glory does not bother him.

'This happens to be my niche. The only people that know how to do our job are the guys that do it. We learn from one another.'

— Football manager Jim 'Shorty' Kleinau

"This happens to be my niche," he said. "The only people that know how to do our job are the guys that do it. We learn from one another. Meeting the coaches and the administration and gaining the friendships that you do is rewarding."

Kleinau has seen hundreds of football players behind the scenes in his eight years at K-State. He thinks the times have changed, but, for the most part, athletes have not.

"Kids are still kids," he said. "I think the emphasis is the same — posed to more things earlier in life. Maybe that has something to do with it."

Kleinau said he plans to stay in the managing profession.

"Due to the fact of liability suits and expense, our profession is gaining a little more notoriety," he said. "We're not just here for the inventory — we're here for the safety of the players. The coaches and administration realize how important it is to have someone around who realizes this."

"I'd like to stay in the profession, not necessarily here. You have to go with the flow," Kleinau added. "It's like being a coach — you see places with better facilities or that win a little more, you've got to go. You owe it to yourself. But you also try and be professional in everything you do."

Kleinau said he plans to stay in the managing profession.

"Due to the fact of liability suits and expense, our profession is gaining a little more notoriety," he said. "We're not just here for the inventory — we're here for the safety of the players. The coaches and administration realize how important it is to have someone around who realizes this."

"I'd like to stay in the profession, not necessarily here. You have to go with the flow," Kleinau added. "It's like being a coach — you see places with better facilities or that win a little more, you've got to go. You owe it to yourself. But you also try and be professional in everything you do."

"I'd like to stay in the profession, not necessarily here. You have to go with the flow," Kleinau added. "It's like being a coach — you see places with better facilities or that win a little more, you've got to go. You owe it to yourself. But you also try and be professional in everything you do."

Ticket sales for football begin soon

By BILL LANG
Sports Writer

Student season tickets for K-State's 1987 football season will go on sale at 8:30 a.m. Monday at the Ahearn Field House ticket office.

The cost of this year's student season ticket is $30 and entitles students to admission to all six of the Wildcats' home games this fall.

Included in the ticket package is the University of Kansas game Nov. 7 at KSU Stadium. Individual game tickets to the Kansas contest — as well as K-State's Oct. 17 Homecoming contest against Oklahoma — which are not purchased as part of the season package will cost $15 each.

Ticket holders to the season and home opener Sept. 5 against Austin Peay will receive free admission to the Willie Nelson concert following the football game.

Carol Adolph, administrative assistant in K-State's ticket office, said one person can purchase as many as 70 tickets for a group.

"With the living groups and residence halls buying tickets in such large quantities, this makes it possible for them to sit with friends at the game, because they are buying a section of tickets," Adolph said.

"In the past we had to deal with such long lines," she added. "The way we have it now makes the process go much faster. Not only for us, but for the customer."

Members of the "I Contributed A Twenty" club will have top priority on all seats. Payments for tickets can be made by cash, check, Visa or Mastercard. Personal checks must include a Manhattan address, local phone number and Social Security number.

Members of the Wildcat football team will be distributing tickets to Manhattan USD 383 schools for the Wildcats' upcoming varsity-alumni contest May 2.

Students at elementary, middle schools and high schools in the district will have the opportunity to obtain one free student ticket to the game, which will kick off at 1 p.m. at KSU Stadium.

In addition to dispersing the tickets, K-State players will also be available for autographs on May 1.

"We want to do everything we can for community involvement and visibility with our program," Coach Stan Parrish said.

SPRING INTERSESSION

May 18-June 5

Interession enrollment is April 27-29, 8:30 a.m.-4 p.m.
at Farrell Library Basement.

COURSE #	COURSE TITLE	CREDIT	INSTRUCTOR	DATES	TIMES
AGRON 615	Management of Subhumid Soils of Eastern Kansas	3 UG/G	Smith	5/18-6/5	9 a.m.-Noon 1:30-2:30 p.m.
ENTOM 799*	Prob. in ENTOM: Insect Identification	3 UG/G	Blocker	5/18-6/5	1:30-4:30 p.m.
ENVD 299	Architecture & Planning of Kansas City	2-3 UG/G	Pavides	5/9-5/29	9 a.m.-5 p.m.
NEW ENVD 299	Prob. in Basic Design: Architectural and Interior Delineation	2 UG	Bullock	5/18-5/29	8:30 a.m.-1 p.m.
CANCELLED ENVD 699	Architecture & Planning of Kansas City	3 UG/G	Pavides	5/9-5/29	9 a.m.-5 p.m.
CANCELLED ARCH 765	Prob. in ARCH: Community Design	3 UG/G	Burnham	5/18-6/5	1-5:30 p.m.
PLAN 590*	Prob. in PLAN: Economic Development Planning	3 UG/G	Lapping	5/18-6/5	3-6 p.m.
PLAN 815*	Seminar in PLAN: Economic Development Planning	3 G	Lapping	5/18-6/5	3-6 p.m.
PLAN 590	Prob. in PLAN: Seminar in Public Lands, Law and Planning	1 UG/G	Leutwiler	5/18-5/22	10 a.m.-1 p.m.
PLAN 815	Seminar in PLAN: Seminar in Public Lands, Law and Planning	1 G	Leutwiler	5/18-5/22	10 a.m.-1 p.m.
PLAN 590	Prob. in PLAN: Issues in Urban Redevelopment	1 UG/G	Leutwiler	5/18-5/22	6-9 p.m.
PLAN 815	Seminar in PLAN: Issues in Urban Redevelopment	1 G	Leutwiler	5/18-5/22	6-9 p.m.
PLAN 630	Computer Applications in Planning and Design	1-3 UG/G	Keithley	5/18-5/29	9 a.m.-Noon 1-4 p.m.
ANTH 522*	Special Topics in ANTH: Social Ills. and Moral Order in Cross-cultural Perspective	3 UG/G	Taylor	5/18-6/5	9:05-11:45 a.m.
ART 300	Special Studies in Art: Drawing the Figure with Mixed Media	2 UG	Schmidt	5/18-6/5	8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

NEW

BIOL 495	Topics in BIOL: Biology of Sexually Transmitted Diseases	3 UG	Johnson	5/18-6/5	9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
BIOL 495	Topics in BIOL: Biology of Plants	3 UG	Weis	5/18-6/5	1-4 p.m.
CHM 195*	Approved Techniques in Criminalistics	2-3 UG	Meloan	5/18-6/5	8:30-11:30 a.m. 1-10 p.m. Lab Open
CMPS 110	Intro. to Personal Computing	3 UG	Courtney/ Yerrapragada	5/18-5/29	9-11:30 a.m. 1-3 p.m.
ENGL 395*	Topics in English: Urban Folk Legends	3 UG	Gillespie	5/18-6/5	9 a.m.-Noon
HIST 533*	Topics in the History of the Americas: Images of the Great Plains	2-3 UG	Thierer	5/18-6/5	1-4 p.m.
JMC 690	Problems in Mass Comm.: Seminar in Selecting Popular Music for Radio Airplay	2 UG/G	MacFarland	5/18-5/29	1-4 p.m.
MATH 101	The Metric System	1 UG	Dixon	5/18-5/22	1-4 p.m.
MATH 309	Intuitive Geometry	2 UG	Dixon	5/18-5/29	8:30 a.m.-Noon
MUSIC 310	History of Musical Instruments	2 UG	Cochran	5/18-5/29	1-4 p.m.
MUSIC 390*	Special Studies in Music: Beginner Recorder Playing	2 UG	Sidorfsky	5/18-5/29	6-9 p.m.
MUSIC 390	Special Studies in Music: Music for the Movies	2 UG	Cochran	5/18-5/29	9 a.m.-Noon
PE 108	Advanced Lifesaving	1 UG	Christie	5/18-5/29	4:30-7:30 p.m.
PE 109	Water Safety Instruction	3 UG	Christie	5/18-6/5	8:30-11:30 a.m.
PE 598	Topics: Exercise Instructor Certification Preparation	2 UG/G	Edwards/Hopper	5/18-5/29	6-9 p.m. and 5/23 9 a.m.-Noon
POLSC 502	Television and Public Policy	3 UG/G	Williams	5/18-6/5	9 a.m.-Noon
SOCIO 301	Topics in SOCIO: Problems and Issues of Terrorism	3 UG	Karim	5/18-6/5	1-4 p.m.
THRE 599	Black Theatre in the United States: 1920-1980	3 UG/G	Climenhaga	5/18-6/5	7-10 p.m.
GENBA 498	Prob. in Bus. Admin.: Computer Concepts and Applications	3 UG	Innes	5/18-5/29	8 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
MANGT 202*	Small Business Operations	3 UG	Barton-Dobenin	5/18-6/5	6-9 p.m.
MANGT 692*	Computer Applications in Management	3 UG	Kim	5/18-6/5	1-4 p.m.
EDAF 511*	I.S. in ED.: Career Life Planning	2 UG	Schuette	5/18-5/29	1:30-4:30 p.m.
EDAF 686	Topics in ED.: Assisting Students in Academic Difficulty	1-2 UG/G	Newton	5/18-5/22	9 a.m.-Noon
EDCI 051	Study Skills Laboratory	3 UG	Heerman	5/18-6/5	6:30-9:30 p.m.
CNS 544*	Problems in CNS: Computer Applications in Design and Construction	2 UG	Goddard	5/18-6/5	8:30-11:30 a.m.
CT 650*	CT Study Tour: New York City	1 UG	McComas	5/17-5/24	8 a.m.-6 p.m.
CT 780	Prob. in CT: Serger Technology and Application	1 UG/G	Peterson	6/1-6/5	8:30 a.m.-4 p.m.
CT 851	Clothing & Textile Literature	2 G	McCullough	5/18-5/29	8:30-11:30 a.m.
HDFS 300*	Prob. in FCD: Children of Divorce	2 UG	Copeland	5/18-5/29	1-4 p.m.
HDFS 590*	Proseminar in CF: Fathers and Their Children	3 UG	DeLuccie	5/18-6/5	9 a.m.-Noon
HDFS 590	Proseminar in CF: Alternative Sexual Lifestyles	3 UG	Saracino	5/18-6/5	9 a.m.-Noon
HDFS 708*	Topics in HDFS: Working with Families/Methods and Issues	3 UG/G	Silliman/Barnes	5/18-6/5	4:30-7:30 p.m.

TEXTBOOKS ARE REQUIRED FOR THE COURSES THAT HAVE AN ASTERISK () BESIDE THE COURSE NUMBER.

Call 532-5566 for course descriptions and details.

Division of Continuing Education
Kansas State University

KSU
KANSAS
STATE UNIVERSITY

Classifieds

ANNOUNCEMENTS

01

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour products. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (119-150)

FIELDS OF FAIR—We are now open for the season and are taking bookings for barn parties, hall and farewell parties, barbecues, cookouts, promotion parties, reunions, graduation parties and weddings. Phone 539-5328. (125-150)

MARY KAY Cosmetics. Check out our new individual lip and eye colors, 539-9469, Janet Milliken. (138-150)

73 OVERWEIGHT people needed to try new chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Call 776-5114, 776-1465. (140-150)

SOUSA SPECTACULAR—Saturday, April 25, 8 p.m., McCain Auditorium. KSU Symphonic Wind Ensemble (Stanley Finck, conductor) presents a concert of John Philip Sousa's music in his inimitable style, complete with virtuosic solos, overtures, operatic excerpts, and numerous encores. Tickets $5, $2 for students and senior citizens available from the McCain Auditorium box office (913-532-6428). (141-142)

LARGE YARD Sale—Jardine Park, Saturday, April 25, 7:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Off Jardine Drive between Jarvis and Harry. (141-142)

LANDLORD-TENANT Workshop—The Manhattan Human Relations Board will sponsor a Landlord-Tenant and Fair Housing Workshop in conjunction with Fair Housing Month from 11 to 3:30 p.m., Saturday, in the City Commission Room at City Hall, 11th and Poyntz. Presentations at the workshop will be made by KSU Student Attorney Dianne Urban and Director of Human Resources, Cornell Mayfield. The workshop is open to the public. For more information, call the Department of Human Resources at 537-0056, ext. 254. (141-142)

ATTENTION GRADS: Don't forget Grad Night 1987 at Dick Edwards Ford. Get the keys to your new car! See advertisement for more details. (142)

SIGMA LUL' Sis's—Bottle Auction at the house—7 p.m. (142)

BETA SIGMA LUL' Sis's—Saturday Casino Rush Party—8 p.m. (142)

PEOPLE'S GROCERY Co-op, 811 Colorado, is Manhattan's only consumer-owned grocery store. Come check out our expanded inventory, cheese selection and convenient hours. Open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m. (142-145)

ATTENTION

02

OVERWEIGHT? WANT to feel better? New chocolate, vanilla and strawberry herbal weight control program available. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Get away from diet jitters. On campus daily. 784-6065 evenings/weekends. (132-150)

FOR RENT—MISC

03

RENTAL TYPEWRITERS—Correcting and non-correcting. Typewriter ribbons for sale, service available. Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-1413. (271f)

INEXPENSIVE, SELF-storage units. Why take all your stuff home this summer? Three months storage only $60. Amherst Self-Storage, 776-3804. (138-150)

FOR RENT—APTS

04

TWO AND three bedroom near campus. Central air, one and one-half bath. Available June and August. 537-8800. (110f)

LOOKING FOR nice but reasonably priced apartments? One, two, three and four bedroom apartment complexes and houses for now, summer and fall. Most nearly new and close to campus. 537-2919, 537-1666. (111-146)

ONE LARGE bedroom, completely furnished, laundry facilities in the complex. One block from the campus. $300. Call 537-7980 or 537-2255. (112f)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, close to campus. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities in the complex. Available August. $420. Call 537-7810 or 537-2255. (112f)

FREE RENT last month of yearly lease. Ten months available in August. Various locations, no pets. After April 1 call 537-8389. (119f)

BLOCK WEST of campus, June or August, one bedroom, furnished, $240. Call 539-5051 after 1 p.m. or see Dave, apartment 4, at 1024 Sunset. (131f)

ONE-HALF block east of campus, 1212 Thurston, for June. Two-bedroom, furnished, up to three people. $330. Phone 539-5059 after 1 p.m. (131f)

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM, five blocks from campus. Air conditioning. Available August 1. No pets. $325. Phone 776-0161. (121f)

PRE-LEASING ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. One bedroom, near campus, $275 to $290. Two-bedroom near campus, $335 to $355. Call 776-9124. (122f)

GOOD SELECTION of one and two-bedroom apartments available for June or August leasing. Call McCullough Development, 776-3804. (123-146)

AVAILABLE NOW and August. Unfurnished one-bedroom, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, $265 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

AVAILABLE FOR June or August—Furnished, large two-bedroom with off-campus location. Dishwasher, disposal, central air, carpeting throughout. No pets. $350 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

LARGE THREE-bedroom in a nine-plex with large closets, living room, dining area, fully-equipped kitchen, $150 each for three, $125 each for four. 822 Fremont. Available June 1 or August 1, 1987. Call 537-7087. (127f)

UNIVERSITY TERRACE—Two- and three-bedroom apartments, swimming pool, spacious yard, laundry hookups and facilities. On the bike path to University. 537-2096. (127-147)

AVAILABLE, LARGE two-bedroom apartment, newly decorated. June 1, $360, plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, nice, large three-bedroom basement apartment, newly remodeled. $330 plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE, THREE-bedroom apartment, June 1, $400 plus utilities. Nice, newly decorated. 776-8393. (130-146)

FALL AND SUMMER LEASES

Adjacent to Campus
COLLEGE COURT
APARTMENTS

1615 Anderson
PLATT APARTMENTS
1811 Platt

1 & 2 Bedroom Unfurnished

All Appliances
Air Conditioned
Private Parking
Laundry Facilities

$210-$330

KANSAS STATE

UNIVERSITY

FOUNDATION

8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

532-7166

915 1/2 CLAFIN, walk-out basement, completely furnished two-bedroom. Redecorated August 1986. ample parking. Heat, water, trash paid. $340/month. One-year lease June 1st. 539-3085 or 539-6133. (131f)

COMPLETELY FURNISHED, large basement apartment, suitable for two or three. Available June 1 lease. Everything paid. $400/month. 539-6133. (131f)

NICE, ONE-bedroom in complex on the corner of Lee and Hunting. $325 or $340 with fireplace. June or August leasing. No pets, please. 776-3804. (131f)

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS

3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions. Lowest rates. 776-3624.

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT $190 per month. Gas, heat, and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (132-142)

NOW LEASING for fall—Next to campus, near Haymaker Hall, two bedrooms in luxury apartment complex, fireplace, laundry, modern kitchen, natural gas heating. Evenings. 539-2702. (134-150)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, $340 per month. Across street from Ahearn Field House. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (134-142)

SPECIAL SUMMER DISCOUNT

June & July Leases
2-bedroom,
furnished and unfurnished

776-1222

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, one block from university. Available June 1. Phone 539-2857 or 539-0410. (134-142)

MAY OR June, one-bedrooms. $205-$235. Phone 539-8423 after 6 p.m. (135-150)

NOW RENTING for 1987-88 school year, two-bedroom unfurnished apartments. 1026 Bluemont. Call 776-2092 for appointment. (136-150)

RENTING FOR 1987-88 school year, Schumann Apartments, 1119 Laramie. Luxury one-bedroom, furnished. 776-2092. (136-150)

Great Apartments

* Close to KSU & Aggieville

* 1 & 2 Bedrooms

* $290-$365

* Unfurnished or Furnished (New)

* Dishwasher/Central

Air/Carpeted

Call 776-1222 or 539-7260

NEAR K.S.U., three-bedroom, furnished basement apartment. Central air, washer and dryer, utilities paid. $480. Call 539-0368 after 6:30 p.m. (137-146)

COMPLETE FIRST floor of large apartment house. 724 Poyntz. Will accommodate three-four students. Unfurnished, no pets. 537-8389 for appointment. (137f)

FOR AUGUST, next to KSU, deluxe furnished two-bedroom apartment. Also, one-bedroom apartment. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (138f)

ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment. Near City Park. deposit, no pets. $200/month. Call 539-7677. Available June 1st. (138-142)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136.

(Continued from page 12)

1976 CHEVROLET Vega hatchback, 5-speed, 47,000 miles. Good school car! Phone 776-7541. (139-143)

1969 VW van, runs well, few dents and very little rust. $400. Phone 539-1956 early am or evenings. (139-143)

1978 AMC Concord DL, runs good, air, AM/FM, new tires $1,200 or best offer. Call 776-9848 after 5 p.m. to see. (140-142)

1979 DODGE Omni, good engine, low mileage, AM/FM cassette. Call 537-3323 after 5 p.m. (140-144)

KARMANN GHIA, 1971, all original, excellent condition, low mileage, 539-6123 after 6 p.m. (141-144)

1966 TRIUMPH Spitfire, sharp, new paint, rebuilt engine and transmission, lots of spares. $2,200. Phone 776-7267. (142-143)

1981 HONDA Accord Hatchback, 73,000 miles, air conditioning, red, very clean. 776-9220 before 10 p.m. (142)

1979 CHEVROLET Camaro 2-28, 350, recently overhauled, automatic, new tires and battery. 49,500 miles. 776-6240. (142-147)

FOR SALE—MISC 07

MIYATA RACING bike, 57 cm, sunout comp. solar caty, good condition. Also turbo trainer and Mavic-40 wheels with 7-speed freewheel. Call 539-5625. (140-143)

DENON DCD-1100 compact disc player—Great condition, remote control, $300 or best offer, room # 322, Moore Hall. 532-2362. (140-144)

CATERMERAN 16', Arrow, 28' mast, mainsail, jib, trailer, and accessories, $750. Call 532-5610, ext. 25, afternoons, else 776-8489. (141-142)

17' Ski/cruiser boat, 55 hp Evinrude motor—low hours. Ski gear, trailer included, $1,200. Phone 776-7661. (141-143)

CONDOMS

Protection Express will deliver to your door Friday and Saturday nights 7 p.m.-3 a.m. Discrete and prompt 539-2159

LIFE and Times

Bloom County

Garfield

Peanuts

Crossword

ACROSS

1 Larklike bird

6 Chicken — king

9 Cry for the torador

12 Fuming

13 Pop's mate

14 " — Abner"

15 Home of the brave

16 Cook's condiment

18 "We are not —"

20 Flat

21 " — It"

23 Average

24 Overturned

25 Spoken

27 Inclined

29 Infamous

31 Bounded

35 Fiesta

37 Tibetan monk

38 Noted sculptor

41 Trajectory

43 Bit of word play

DOWN

44 One type of

45 Cleo's love

47 Bound-up baby

49 Eel type

52 Seine

53 OPEC concern

54 Bring out the

55 Ryder of comics

56 — de deux

57 Finals

58 "We are not —"

59 Flat

60 " — It"

61 Average

62 Overturned

63 Spoken

65 Inclined

67 Infamous

69 Bounded

73 Fiesta

75 Tibetan monk

78 Noted sculptor

81 Trajectory

83 Bit of word play

Solution time: 21 mins.

CHER MAY CLAM
LIVE EWE RIME
OVEN TEL ABEL
GENERAL PATENT
GEL PER ABLE LIBERATE
LEI IDO COG
LIBECIO MEMO
SPATS EXTRAS
LAOS WON HOBO
AGUE ADD ONER
MESS YES

ACROSS

1 Larklike bird

6 Chicken — king

9 Cry for the torador

12 Fuming

13 Pop's mate

14 " — Abner"

15 Home of the brave

16 Cook's condiment

18 "We are not —"

20 Flat

21 " — It"

23 Average

24 Overturned

25 Spoken

27 Inclined

29 Infamous

31 Bounded

35 Fiesta

37 Tibetan monk

38 Noted sculptor

41 Trajectory

43 Bit of word play

DOWN

44 One type of

45 Cleo's love

47 Bound-up baby

49 Eel type

52 Seine

53 OPEC concern

54 Bring out the

55 Ryder of comics

56 — de deux

57 Finals

58 "We are not —"

59 Flat

60 " — It"

61 Average

62 Overturned

63 Spoken

65 Inclined

67 Infamous

69 Bounded

73 Fiesta

75 Tibetan monk

78 Noted sculptor

81 Trajectory

83 Bit of word play

Solution time: 21 mins.

CHER MAY CLAM
LIVE EWE RIME
OVEN TEL ABEL
GENERAL PATENT
GEL PER ABLE LIBERATE
LEI IDO COG
LIBECIO MEMO
SPATS EXTRAS
LAOS WON HOBO
AGUE ADD ONER
MESS YES

ACROSS

1 Larklike bird

6 Chicken — king

9 Cry for the torador

12 Fuming

13 Pop's mate

14 " — Abner"

15 Home of the brave

16 Cook's condiment

18 "We are not —"

20 Flat

21 " — It"

23 Average

24 Overturned

25 Spoken

27 Inclined

29 Infamous

31 Bounded

35 Fiesta

37 Tibetan monk

38 Noted sculptor

41 Trajectory

43 Bit of word play

DOWN

44 One type of

45 Cleo's love

47 Bound-up baby

49 Eel type

52 Seine

53 OPEC concern

54 Bring out the

55 Ryder of comics

56 — de deux

57 Finals

58 "We are not —"

59 Flat

60 " — It"

61 Average

62 Overturned

63 Spoken

65 Inclined

67 Infamous

69 Bounded

73 Fiesta

75 Tibetan monk

78 Noted sculptor

81 Trajectory

83 Bit of word play

Solution time: 21 mins.

CHER MAY CLAM
LIVE EWE RIME
OVEN TEL ABEL
GENERAL PATENT
GEL PER ABLE LIBERATE
LEI IDO COG
LIBECIO MEMO
SPATS EXTRAS
LAOS WON HOBO
AGUE ADD ONER
MESS YES

ACROSS

1 Larklike bird

6 Chicken — king

9 Cry for the torador

12 Fuming

13 Pop's mate

14 " — Abner"

15 Home of the brave

16 Cook's condiment

18 "We are not —"

20 Flat

21 " — It"

23 Average

24 Overturned

25 Spoken

27 Inclined

29 Infamous

31 Bounded

35 Fiesta

37 Tibetan monk

38 Noted sculptor

41 Trajectory

43 Bit of word play

DOWN

44 One type of

45 Cleo's love

47 Bound-up baby

49 Eel type

52 Seine

53 OPEC concern

54 Bring out the

55 Ryder of comics

56 — de deux

57 Finals

58 "We are not —"

59 Flat

60 " — It"

61 Average

62 Overturned

63 Spoken

65 Inclined

67 Infamous

69 Bounded

73 Fiesta

75 Tibetan monk

78 Noted sculptor

81 Trajectory

83 Bit of word play

Solution time: 21 mins.

CHER MAY CLAM
LIVE EWE RIME
OVEN TEL ABEL
GENERAL PATENT
GEL PER ABLE LIBERATE
LEI IDO COG
LIBECIO MEMO
SPATS EXTRAS
LAOS WON HOBO
AGUE ADD ONER
MESS YES

Yesterday's answer

BICYCLE—FUJI Del Ray Perfect condition, less than 100 miles, $250. Phone 537-4376. (141-145)

First Visit Free
No Membership Fee
Call for Appointment
776-3308
Candlewood
3232 Kimball

SPELLbinder-It with Hand Painted Apparel Where the unusual is usual
Mon.-Fri. 10-5, Sun. 1-5
Candlewood Center

FRIDAY
Fried Chicken or Spaghetti w/meat sauce all you can eat $3.95 with salad bar
111 S. 4th
KING SIZE waterbed, semi-mattress fiber-fill mattress, bookcase headboard, six-drawer pedestal. $300. Greg, 539-5875. (141-145)

10-30 min. sessions $20
776-1750

PEAVEY MANTIS electric guitar, brand new. New strings, black with maple fingerboard. Need to sell, underpriced. Call 532-5474. (142-144)

FOR SALE—MOBILE HOMES 08

1983 OAKBROOK 16 x 60. Range, refrigerator, central air, ceiling fans. Deck on two sides. See to appreciate. 539-6252. (134-143)

FOR RENT or For Sale: 10 x 50 mobile home. Stove, refrigerator, air. Unfurnished. 537-7622 after 5 p.m. (134-147)

FOR SALE. 1972 Revere, excellent condition, two-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, washer, dryer, air, partially furnished. Call 316-241-6054, working hours. (135-144)

12 x 60, NICE two-bedroom, two-bath with storage shed. Must sell! 539-8932. (140-145)

by Doug'n' Dick

14 x 56 MOBILE home, central air, two bedrooms, excellent position, nice park, near campus. $9,300. Call 539-9506 or 1-288-0128. (141-142)

THREE-BEDROOM 12 x 65 mobile home. Central air, washer, dryer, two sheds, close to campus. 539-1315. (141-145)

FOR SALE—MOTORCYCLES 09

1983 KAWASAKI 560LTD. Low mileage. Call 539-9395 for details. (138-142)

1981 YAMAHA 650 Special. 5,000 miles. Excellent condition. $1,000. Call 537-2305 after 6 p.m. (139-143)

TELE-FIND. Selling your motorcycle? List it on our computerized classified ads! Only $20 per month. 539-2255. (139-143)

1985 KAWASAKI GPZ 750. Only 1,400 miles. Asking $2,600. Call 776-9341 after 5:30 p.m. (141-145)

1983 YAMAHA 185. Great school transportation. Only 3,500 miles. New condition. $550 negotiable. 537-2857 or 537-7496. (141-145)

1981 YAMAHA 650 Special II. Midnight blue, 3,800 miles. Great shape. Call 539-2387, ask for Murray. (141-144)

1978 YAMAHA XS400. $300. Phone 776-7661. (141-143)

1983 YAMAHA Midnight Maxim 750. Limited edition, 4,000 miles. Like new. Asking $2,000. 537-1650. (142-143)

FOUND 10

SET OF three keys found on sidewalk near Durland. Call 537-2980 or 776-6052 to identify and claim. (142-144)

FREE 11

TO GIVE away: Adult guinea pig and cage. Call 776-9848. (140-142)

HELP WANTED 13

EARN $480 weekly—$60 per hundred circulars mailed. Guaranteed. Work at home and participate in our Company project mailing circulars and assembling materials. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to JKB Mail Company, P.O. Box 25, Castaic, California, 91310. (117-148)

FLEXIBLE HOURS and work mostly on your own for apartment owner. Work will include mowing yards, trimming bushes, cleaning apartments, carpentry repair, maintenance, roof repair and/or painting and other similar work. Work can begin immediately and through the summer months and could continue for the next school year. Prefer college student who qualifies for college work study program. Please send name, address, phone number, number of hours of work desired, wages expected and previous work experience to Box 511 Collegian. (133-142)

California Dreamin'?

Nannies needed on West Coast. Established Midwest firm with excellent reputation arranges your placement. We screen families in their homes. Licensed. No fee. Minimum stay one year. Call or write:

ARCHER DAWSON AGENCY
5136 Spaulding St.
Omaha, NE 68104
402-554-1103

FULL AND part-time help! National Firm is preparing for Spring and Summer work. If accepted, you will earn $8.10 starting. Some evening and weekend positions are available and some flexibility is allowed during final exams. If you qualify, corporate scholarships are awarded. Internships are possible, and you may earn 2, 3, 4 credits/quarter or semester. During summer break full-time work is available. Call (913) 345-9675 Monday-Friday between 9 a.m.-5 p.m. (135-148)

NEEDED: SUMMER nannies. Free room and board. Live in Denver $400-$800 a month salary. For more information call 303-671-7011 or write P.O. Box 147. (138-142)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

1988 Ski and beach breaks! Attention KSU marketing clubs, ski clubs, fraternities, sororities, and individuals! Ski Steamboat, Vail/Beaver Creek, and the Summit at the Beaches in Texas! Full-time work including South Padre Island and Daytona Beach! Earn free trips, group discounts, and unlimited commissions! Call Jeff at Sunchase Tours today for 1988 Ski and Beach Break sales information. 1-800-321-5911. (140-142)

HELP WANTED: Two students to work on vegetable research farm at DeSoto, Kansas (Johnson County), from May 18 to Aug. 14. Farm experience desired. Work 40 hours per week. Pay $4 per hour. Contact Dr. J.K. Greig, Department of Horticulture, Waters 214. Phone 532-6170 for appointment.

SUBJECTS—NEED male right-handed subjects for motor learning research. Call department of PEDLS, 532-6785. Ask for Mrs. Goin. Earn $10 for three one-hour sessions. Tasks are interesting and easy to learn. (140-142)

STUDENT FIRE Fighter: The City of Manhattan is establishing an eligibility list for its Student Fire Fighter Program. Great opportunity for KSU or MCC students while pursuing your educational goals with year-round housing and employment. Any vacancies will be filled in May for May 26th employment. Must be a U.S. citizen or Resident Alien, hold a valid driver's license and pass all physical and selection examinations. Must submit transcripts prior to employment. Information on the program, special requirements, benefits, and application may be picked up at the Personnel Office, City Hall, 11th and Poyntz, by April 24, 1987. EOE—M/F/H. (141-142)

EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY for upper classman completing education. Summer position and possible year-round, on-site learning assistant. Summers: 20-30 hours/week, afternoons and Saturdays. School year: 10-15 hours/week including Saturdays. Send letter and resume to Box 7, Kedzie Hall 103, KSU. (141-150)

ROOMMATE WANTED: Non-smoking female to share a two-bedroom apartment, one-half block east of campus. $150 a month plus utilities. Call 537-0911. (132-147)

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted to share spacious house near campus, summer and year leases. 539-1820. (136-142)

NON-SMOKING FEMALE—$180/month/year, all utilities paid. Leased house, central air heat, washer, dryer, sundeck, lots of room. No pets. 539-6628. (136-150)

PRIVATE BEDROOM in Candlewood home for non-smoking female. $195/month plus deposit and share of utilities. Call 776-0433. (137-142)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom apartment. Own room. Close to campus. $165 plus utilities. June to August. Call 532-2126 or 532-5417. (139-142)

FEMALE WANTS christian roommate wanted for summer session or next school year. Call Shirley at 537-2261, Ext. 327 until 4:30 p.m. (138-142)

TWO NON-SMOKING females wanted to share nice apartment 1 1/2 blocks from campus for fall and spring 1988. $140/month plus one-third utilities. 776-2084 after 5 p.m. (139-142)

TELE-FIND. Find the perfect roommate with our computerized classified ads! Only $9 per month. 539-2255. (139-143)

MATURE FEMALE needed to share house. Lots of privacy. Five blocks from campus. $200 includes utilities. Available summer and fall. Phone 776-7541. (139-148)

MALE, AGE 21, Washburn transfer student, needs roommate and/or room for next school year. Please contact through 539-9506. (139-142)

FEMALE TO share one-bedroom for summer months. one-half utilities, rent negotiable. Call 537-3160 after 5 p.m. (140-142)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice two-bedroom apartment close to campus. Call Carla afternoon and evenings. 539-4301. (141-150)

TO SHARE two-bedroom apartment during summer. Close to campus. $110. Phone 537-4179/532-6161 ext. 56 (Anne). (142-144)

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apartment. Mid-May to August. Rent negotiable. Call 776-7018. (142-146)

ROOMMATE WANTED. Beginning May Country living. Pets welcome. $150 pays all. Call Terri. 776-9277. evenings. (142-147)

TWO FEMALES, non-smoking. Share five-bedroom house, own room. $130 plus utilities. Close to campus. Call 537-1273. (142)

SERVICES 18

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S. Fourth St. Suite 215. (111)

KANSAS STATE University announces a vacancy for Software/Project Manager, temporary full-time position. To serve as a member of Extension computer support staff and provide leadership in software development projects. Knowledge of and experience in software engineering, program designs, and programming languages as they relate to microcomputers are necessary. A letter of interest, transcripts and resume along with three letters of reference must be sent to Dr. Roger Terry, Umberger Hall—Room 211, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506 or call (913) 532-6270 by May 20, 1987. Kansas State University is an equal opportunity employer. (141-150)

A SUMMER job on a dairy and swine operation. Free room and board. Wages are negotiable. Call 316-736-2828. (142-146)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 11 to Kathy Whalen, LERN, 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (142)

HARD-Working, fun-loving cook, cleaner and babysitter Monday through Friday, 3-6 p.m. during May, (flexible), 8-5 for summer vacation (vacation?). Own transportation required. Sense of humor? 539-8016 after 6 p.m. (142-145)

LOST 14

AN HP 12C calculator was lost Thursday night in Durland. Call 539-7445 or return to Durland 142. (142-144)

LOST—FERRET, albino, male. Very friendly. If you've seen him please call me at 537-3123 or come by V-31 Jardine. (142-145)

NOTICES 15

GAY/LESBIAN? Write for Kansas/Missouri information. Personally, P.O. Box 218, Daly City, California 94016-0218. Mailed discreetly/confidentially. (131-150)

ATTENTION GRADS: Don't forget Grad Night 1987 at Dick Edwards Ford. Get the keys to your new car! See advertisement for more details. (142)

PERSONAL 16

SEXY LADY—Semester almost over!!! Challenge: Ping-pong at Union Saturday and Sunday early afternoon! Be there or God will call me home!!! —Arizona. (140-142)

SSD—The last six months have been the happiest in my life. Thank you. May the next six months (or years) be as happy as these have been. I love you. —M. (142)

LADY DI—Horses are fun, buggies are better. If you are still game, just drop me a letter. Reply in Personal. Your Secret Admirer. (142)

THETA XI Dan—Jam on the MCAT. good luck! Love you. Little Sisters. (142)

TO THE black-haired, bearded, babyface eating at Boyd Hall: Why so shy, quiet guy? The inquirer. (142)

LBS 5—It's a time to celebrate! The last bash, Saturday at Rip & Mo's, 8 p.m., be there! (142)

AD PI THOUGHT for the day: If we don't kill butt in Derby Days, the coaches may die in 30 days. —Oral. (142)

THETA R H—Purple people can be a lot of fun. I am sure you can't wait for the Fiji love potion. —Fiji leader E. I. (142)

PI Phi Coaches—In Derby Days we'll give it all we got, well, really try for that number one spot! To night and tomorrow we'll really shine, and we think our coaches are top of the line! Love, The Pi Phis. (142)

MONTE CARLO—We had fun, cruise in at 72. The note said "hi." What happened to you? No Tanks. (142-143)

PADDY MURPHY says "Drink till you drop!" (142)

Leave school for less.

Fly Braniff and get a 15% Student Discount on any fare, to any destination in the U.S. and Mexico.

One of the best parts about going to school is getting those long vacations! And Braniff is now offering Student Discounts on The Best Low Fare In The Air. There is no membership club to join, so you'll automatically save 15% on our Everyday Low Fares or even lower Two-Day Advance Purchase Fares. To be eligible, you must be a student between the ages of 18 and 26. Proof of age (Student I.D. and Driver's License) is required upon purchase of ticket.

Fly Braniff to: Acapulco, Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Dallas/Ft. Worth, Detroit, Ft. Lauderdale, Kansas City, Las Vegas, Los Angeles, Mexico City, Miami, New York, Oklahoma City, Phoenix, San Antonio, San Diego, San Francisco, Seattle, Tucson, Washington.

For reservations call your Travel Agent or call toll-free 1-800-BRANIFF.

BRANIFF
The Best Low Fare In The Air®
Believe It!

Mexico travel subject to government approval.

© Braniff 1987

Inside

Heated Debate

More than 700 Kansans gather to discuss the state's involvement in the Central Interstate Waste Compact Friday in Salina. See Page 6.

Weather

Mostly Sunny

Mostly sunny and not quite as warm today with highs 80 to 85. Fair tonight with lows around 50.

Sports

Just For Kicks

The K-State women's soccer team has fun while placing third in the Big Eight tournament. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
April 27, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 143

'Bleak' search continues for collapse victims

By The Associated Press

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — A small community of workers spent a fourth day Sunday looking for missing friends in the wreckage of a collapsed apartment building as officials and counselors tried to help the searchers cope with exhaustion, anger and despair.

Mayor Thomas Bucci's office listed the death toll at 15, with 13 bodies pulled from the rubble of the L'Ambiance Plaza and two others spotted and presumed dead. Thirteen other workers were still unaccounted for Sunday afternoon, and six men were hospitalized in good or satisfactory condition.

"The news remains grim; the outlook remains bleak," said Bucci.

No survivor had been pulled from debris since shortly after the disaster Thursday afternoon. A man who was lowered Sunday 30 feet into a shaft where others thought they had heard moaning found only tools, a helmet, a lunchbox and blood-smeared concrete.

Frustrated workers tried to prevent television cameras and photographers from taking pictures, and Bridgeport police ordered photographers off a porch that overlooks the block.

Sheets were hung from electric wires and a large plywood wall was built in an attempt to hide the grim scene from prying eyes. One reporter was cited for disorderly conduct for trying to pass through police lines.

"The stress level is very high. In some cases, these people are their family members, their friends, members of the same union," said Jonathan Best, city director of emergency management.

"Friends of mine were in there. We're all like one family," said Frank Rodrigues. He said he had helped uncover the bodies of four men who looked like they had been alive for a time after the collapse.

"They looked like they were all cuddled up around each other, like for body heat," said Rodrigues.

Workers also brought in three American flags, fixing two small ones to fences and raising the large one on a temporary flagpole.

Meanwhile, engineers who examined building records said the project may have been built on soil too weak to support its weight, while the city's building inspector reportedly complained before the collapse that his department was

understaffed.

At the maze of shattered concrete and twisted steel that was the L'Ambiance Plaza, the number of workers varied Sunday from 100 to 150 at a time. Worried officials were trying to prevent them from spending too much time at the site.

Required ID changed every eight hours — for one shift, workers wore red wristbands; for another, a dot of fluorescent paint. Voices were hoarse from breathing the white concrete dust that hung in the air.

The highest pressure was on wiry, small workers who could fit into tunnels in the pile of debris, and who were being called on again and again to descend in search of bodies or survivors.

Best said they were being watched for signs of stress, and some workers were being taken from the site to an undisclosed location so they could rest.

Counselors were also worried about the future.

"Particularly with men who are very macho, as construction workers are, they won't go and seek help when they need help," said Judianne Denner-Gerber, a psychiatrist for

See COLLAPSE, Page 14

Local taxi operator

g d when him on eriff's

s being bbings.

e Irwin
to the 25 and

s lungs attack,
other red a ve apearing

ll, who Primm
ed an t hear-
y, and e con-
hear-

S n, s praisal was a a 1986

ets to
s. The n; the n; its nearly

orted
from orted
s has ionist

would force ated" st the other found ained untry dvan-trade ly or sh as view cials

the strip ay to utes.
ative
l by rade le to wait pro-l."

on i he ardt

Entertainment Plus

A Viewer's Guide to Leisure Arts — A Weekly Feature of the Collegian

Friday, April 24, 1987

Stepping Out
See Page 4

After placing first Nebraska at Lincoln

Engin

By LAURE
Collegian

Although the d with a splash for crete canoe team managed to win
co-rec competitio
Pond by the Tuttle
Saturday.

The campus c
honorary, Chi Ep
the 14th annual Races Saturday a area at Tuttle Cre
"In the first rac
canoe tipped ove

Week

By JODI SWE
Collegian Re

Weeklong activities observance of the recognized "Days of
of Victims of the Nazi
The K-State Co
Religion, comprising all major religious de sponsoring campus ev community events hav
in the past, this is the tivities will be on cam
Fallon, coordinator of tivities and adviser to tee.

Fallon said there educate the students awareness on camp
holocaust.

"This is a time to r uniqueness of the suffer nibilation, not only million Jews who we also the other five mill
ual, weak, elderly

Heated Debate

More than 700 Kansans gather to discuss the state's involvement in the Central Interstate Waste Compact Friday in Salina. See Page 6.

Mostly Sunny

Mostly sunny and not quite as warm today with highs 80 to 85. Fair tonight with lows around 50.

Just For Kicks

The K-State women's soccer team has fun while placing third in the Big Eight tournament. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
April 27, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 143

'Bleak' search continues for collapse victims

By The Associated Press

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — A small community of workers spent a fourth day Sunday looking for missing friends in the wreckage of a collapsed apartment building as officials and counselors tried to help the searchers cope with exhaustion, anger and despair.

Mayor Thomas Bucci's office listed the death toll at 15, with 13 bodies pulled from the rubble of the L'Ambiance Plaza and two others spotted and presumed dead. Thirteen other workers were still unaccounted for Sunday afternoon, and six men were hospitalized in good or satisfactory condition.

"The news remains grim; the outlook remains bleak," said Bucci. No survivor had been pulled from debris since shortly after the disaster Thursday afternoon. A man who was lowered Sunday 30 feet into a shaft where others thought they had heard moaning found only tools, a helmet, a lunchbox and blood-smeared concrete.

Frustrated workers tried to prevent television cameras and photographers from taking pictures, and Bridgeport police ordered photographers off a porch that

overlooks the block.

Sheets were hung from electric wires and a large plywood wall was built in an attempt to hide the grim scene from prying eyes. One reporter was cited for disorderly conduct for trying to pass through police lines.

"The stress level is very high. In some cases, these people are their family members, their friends, members of the same union," said Jonathan Best, city director of emergency management.

"Friends of mine were in there. We're all like one family," said Frank Rodrigues. He said he had helped uncover the bodies of four men who looked like they had been alive for a time after the collapse.

"They looked like they were all cuddled up around each other, like for body heat," said Rodrigues.

Workers also brought in three American flags, fixing two small ones to fences and raising the large one on a temporary flagpole.

Meanwhile, engineers who examined building records said the project may have been built on soil too weak to support its weight, while the city's building inspector reportedly complained before the collapse that his department was

understaffed.

At the maze of shattered concrete and twisted steel that was the L'Ambiance Plaza, the number of workers varied Sunday from 100 to 150 at a time. Worried officials were trying to prevent them from spending too much time at the site.

Required ID changed every eight hours — for one shift, workers wore red wristbands; for another, a dot of fluorescent paint. Voices were hoarse from breathing the white concrete dust that hung in the air.

The highest pressure was on wary, small workers who could fit into tunnels in the pile of debris, and who were being called on again and again to descend in search of bodies or survivors.

Best said they were being watched for signs of stress, and some workers were being taken from the site to an undisclosed location so they could rest.

Counselors were also worried about the future.

"Particularly with men who are very macho, as construction workers are, they won't go and seek help when they need help," said Judianne Denser-Gerber, a psychiatrist for

See COLLAPSE, Page 14

Local taxi operator

2 Friday, April 24, 1987

Television Index

Manhattan Cable
KSNT (NBC)	7
WIBW (CBS)	3
KLDH (ABC)	2
KSHB (IND)	8
KTWU (PBS)	11
WGN (IND)	10
WTBS (IND)	12

Premium cable:
HBO, Showtime,
CINEMAX, ESPN
Additional cable channels not listed in guide: Manhattan cable channels 4 (NBC), 5
(CBS) and 9 (ABC) correspond to channels 7, 3 and 2, respectively.

Entertainment Plus

EDITOR
Jonie Trued
ARTS EDITOR
Sarah Kessinger
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson
ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinett

On Our Cover

Stepping out to the rhythm of rap, black fraternities and sororities on campus will have their Greek Step Show tonight in the Catskeller. The show is to provide a forum for competition among the groups and demonstrate to the audience a specific pride in the organizations.

Cover by Alex Menez

FRIDAY, APRIL 24, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTCA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom And Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeannie Bewitched	Movie: "Cross Creek"	Sky Is Gray Movie: "Rock & Rule"	Movie Cont'd	Business SportsCenter
8:00 "Program"	"Program"	"Program"	Defenders Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Heathcliff	Down To Earth Movie: "This Earth Is Mine"	Movie: "The Terry"	Movie: "The Opposite Sex"	"Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House" Movie: "The Sterile Cuckoo"	Women's Volleyball
9:00 Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	"This Earth Is Mine"	Movie: "The Terry"	Movie: "The Opposite Sex"	"The Sterile Cuckoo"	Teams TBA Road Racing
10:00 Jeopardy! Scrabble	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hatha Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	"Fox Story"	Sex	"The Sterile Cuckoo"	Bail Run SportsLook
11:00 Password Wheel Fortune	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Ecology Ecology	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	Movie: "Mrs. Soffel"	Movie: "The Ratings"	Movie: "Mask"	Aerobics Getting Fit
12:00 News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & B'ful	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke	Sesame Street	News Baseball	Movie: "The Virginia"	Game	"Mask"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
1:00 Lives Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Mystery!	Chicago Cubs at	Hill Story	Movie: "Just One Of"	Movie: "A Home Of Comedy"	Norris or Smythe
2:00 Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoolibee Zoo	At Julia's Painting	Montreal Expos	Tom & Jerry And Friends	The Guys	Our Own	Movie: "On The Waterfront"	Wrestling	Drag Racing
3:00 Oprah Winfrey	Magnum, P.I.	Ghostbusters Dennis	Scooby Doo Smurfs	We're Cooking Aerobics	Smurfs	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Movie: "Adventures Of Huckberry Finn"	Bambinger Misunderstood	Movie: "Drag Racing"
4:00 Facts Of Life	Donahue	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flintstones 3-2-1 Contact	Square 1 TV	G.I. Joe Transformers	Rocky Road Baseball	Huckleberry Finn	Bambinger Misunderstood	Movie: "Drag Racing"
5:00 3's Company NBC News	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Facts Of Life WKRP	Giants at Braves	Movie: "Brewster's Millions"	Monsters Movie: "The Master Of Ballantrae"	SportsCenter Wrestling
6:00 News Wheel Fortune	News Newlyweds	Benson M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	"Millions"	"Rock & Rule"	"The Master Of Ballantrae"	SportsCenter Wrestling
7:00 Roomies Amaz. Stories	Nothing Easy Popcorn Kid	Charmings Webster	Movie: "For Whom The Bell Tolls"	Economics McLaughlin	Detective	Basketball Playoffs	Movie: "Back To The Future"	Game	Movie: "Smooth Talk"	Michael Nunn vs. Eddie Hall
8:00 Miami Vice	Movie: "Do You Remember Love"	ABC News Closeup	The Last Leaf	Faces Japan Market	News	First Round Game	Future	Game	Movie: "Smooth Talk"	Michael Nunn vs. Eddie Hall
9:00 Stingray	Remember Love	ABC News Closeup	The Last Leaf	Faces Japan Market	News	First Round Game	Future	Game	Movie: "Smooth Talk"	Michael Nunn vs. Eddie Hall
10:00 News Tonight Show	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Honeymooners Magnum, P.I.	NBA Basketball	Movie: "The Heavenly"	Hard Knocks Movie: "The Verdict"	Movie: "At Close Range"	SportsCenter Golf
11:00 MTV Video	Innocence Lost	Don't Let Die Nightline	Movie: "Away All Boats"	MacNeil / Lehrer	Movie: "Captain Blood"	Game Night Tracks	Movie	Movie	Movie	Drag Racing
12:00 Countdown Gene Scott	"700 Club"	Boats	"Captain Blood"	Movie: "Captain Blood"	Game Night Tracks	Movie	Movie	Movie	Movie	Drag Racing

SATURDAY, APRIL 25, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTCA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Kissyfur Gummi Bears	B'stair Bears Wildfire	Wuzzles Care Bears	Tom And Jerry Kideo TV	Algebra	Farm Report World Tom	Wrestling	Movie: "Great Muppet Bandit Of"	Movie Cont'd	Movie Cont'd	Volvo Monte Carlo Open
8:00 Smurfs	Muppet Babies	Flintstone Kids	"Bodywatch Microwaves"	Charlando People	National Geographic	Caper: "Cont'd"	Movie: "Dream Wife"	Sherwood Forest	Seminals Cont'd
9:00 Alvin	Pee-wee Teen Wolf	Ghostbusters Pd. Puppies	New Gidget Solid Gold	S. Previews Old House	Business Wild Kingdom	Explorer	"Jake Speed"	Movie: "Bronco Billy"	Hydroplane Racing
10:00 Foodie Universe	Galaxy High Circus	Bugs Bunny Ewoks	Puttin' On	Motorweek Animals	Superman Wild, Wild	Movie: "Fighter Squadron"	Movie: "Johnny Dangerously"	Movie: "Off Beat"	Movie: "Absolute Beginners"	American Cup
11:00 Be Thinner Harold Enslay	Hulk Hogan	Weekend Health Show	Lifestyles	Painting Vict. Garden	West Movie	Squadron	Movie: "Johnny Dangerously"	Movie: "Off Beat"	Movie: "Absolute Beginners"	American Cup
12:00 Baseball New York	News Look At Me	Bandstand PGA Golf	Lost In Space	Sesame Street	"Wheel Of Fortune"	Movie: "Dodge City"	Movie: "Don't Touch"	Movie: "Kidco"	Movie: "Act Of Love"	Marathon Truck And
1:00 Yankees at Cleveland	National Geographic	Big I Houston Open	Incredible Hulk	Looking Back To The Future	Movie: "Tarzan Triumphs"	Gunsmoke	Movie: "Say Yes"	Movie: "D.A.R.Y.L."	Movie: "Bring On The Night"	Gymnastics
2:00 Indians	NFL Draft NBA	PBA Bowling Tour. of	Bionic Woman	Write Course Write Course	Soul Train	Bonanza	Movie: "Say Yes"	Movie: "D.A.R.Y.L."	Movie: "Bring On The Night"	Gymnastics
3:00 PGA Seniors Golf	Basketball Playoffs	Champs Wide World Of	Battlestar Galactica	Berlin Wall Last Not Least	Soul Train	Bonanza	Movie: "Say Yes"	Movie: "D.A.R.Y.L."	Movie: "Bring On The Night"	Gymnastics
4:00 Liberty Legends	First Round Game	Sports	Buck Rogers	Ecology Ecology	Music Mach. It's A Living	R. Martin O. Wilson	Movie: "The Money Pit"	Movie: "Seven Bandits"	Movie: "Spies Like Us"	Champs Scholastic
5:00 Wheel Fortune NBC News	Your Backyard CBS News	ABC News Illustrated	Matt Houston	Terry Fox: I Had A Dream	Charles Big Family	Wrestling	Pit	Movie: "Seven Bandits"	Movie: "Spies Like Us"	Champs Scholastic
6:00 Hee Haw	Mama's Family Crook	Buddies 9 To 5	Throb Big Family	All Creatures	Country At The Movies	Minutes In Heaven	Movie: "Off Beat"	Movie: "Bronco Billy"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
7:00 Facts Of Life	Outlaws	Starman	Lifestyles	WdrWks.	National Geographic	Movie: "Zulu"	Movie: "Off Beat"	Movie: "Bronco Billy"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
8:00 Golden Girls	Movie: "Follow Your Dreams"	O'hara	Movie: "Yellow Sky"	Austin City Limits	National Geographic	"Zulu"	Movie: "Off Beat"	Movie: "Bronco Billy"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
9:00 Hunter	Dreams	Spenser: For Hire	"Follow Your Dreams"	O'hara	Movie: "Yellow Sky"	Austin City Limits	National Geographic	"Zulu"	Movie: "Off Beat"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
10:00 News Siskel & Ebert	News Solid Gold	News Movie	Tales Movie	Stalin: The Red Tzar	'Allo 'Allo Movie	Night Tracks: Charabusters	The Hitchhiker Movie	Joan Rivers	Movie: "The Hills"	NFL Films SpoCtr.
11:00 Saturday Night Live	It's A Living	"Tell Me That You Love Me"	"Castle Of The Living Dead"	Berlin Wall Tonight	"Merrill's Marauders"	Night Tracks	"The Last Innocent Man"	Movie: "The Hills"	"Fright Night"	Wrestling
12:00 At The Movies News	Junie Moon" Riffman	Solid Gold	Tales	Night Tracks	Night Tracks	Night Tracks	Movie: "Have Eyes II"	Movie	Movie	Rollermania

Kentucky Fried Chicken.

2 pieces of chicken, biscuit, potatoes & gravy

For Only
$1.89!!

901 N. 3rd

Offer expires 4/30/87

3002 Anderson

Dental Associates

of Manhattan

1133 College Ave.
Bldg. D
Manhattan, KS 66502
(913) 539-7401

- 24 Hour Emergency Service
- Saturday and Evening Appointments
- Here to serve you when you're away from home

After placing first Nebraska at Lincoln

Engin

By LAURE

Although the de with a splash of crete canoe team managed to win f co-rec competitio Pond by the Tuttle Saturday.

The campus c honorary, Chi Ep the 14th annual Races Saturday a area at Tuttle Cre "In the first rac canoe tipped ove

Week

By JODI SWI

Weeklong activities observance of th recognized "Days of Victims of the Naz The K-State Cr Religion, comprising all major religious de sponsoring campus e community events h in the past, this is th tivities will be on ca Fallon, coordinator, tivities and adviser tee.

Fallon said there educate the students awareness on cam holocaust.

"This is a time to uniqueness of the suf nihilation, not only million Jews who v also the other five r ual, weak, elderly

g when m on eriff's i being jblings. i Irwin to the 25 and i lungs attack, other red a ve ap-earing li, who rimm ed an t hear-y, and e con- hear-praisal was a a 1986 ets to s. The e the n; its nearly ported from orted is has ionist would force nted" st the other found ained untry dvan- trade ly or th as view icals the strip ay to utes. tive l by rade ble to wait pro- 1." on d he ardt

S n, S

Inside

Heated Debate

More than 700 Kansans gather to discuss the state's involvement in the Central Interstate Waste Compact Friday in Salina. See Page 6.

Weather

Mostly Sunny

Mostly sunny and not quite as warm today with highs 80 to 85. Fair tonight with lows around 50.

Sports

Just For Kicks

The K-State women's soccer team has fun while placing third in the Big Eight tournament. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
April 27, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 143

'Bleak' search continues for collapse victims

By The Associated Press

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — A small community of workers spent a fourth day Sunday looking for missing friends in the wreckage of a collapsed apartment building as officials and counselors tried to help the searchers cope with exhaustion, anger and despair.

Mayor Thomas Bucci's office listed the death toll at 15, with 13 bodies pulled from the rubble of the L'Ambiance Plaza and two others spotted and presumed dead. Thirteen other workers were still unaccounted for Sunday afternoon, and six men were hospitalized in good or satisfactory condition.

"The news remains grim; the outlook remains bleak," said Bucci. No survivor had been pulled from debris since shortly after the disaster Thursday afternoon. A man who was lowered Sunday 30 feet into a shaft where others thought they had heard moaning found only tools, a helmet, a lunchbox and blood-smeared concrete.

Frustrated workers tried to prevent television cameras and photographers from taking pictures, and Bridgeport police ordered photographers off a porch that

overlooks the block.

Sheets were hung from electric wires and a large plywood wall was built in an attempt to hide the grim scene from prying eyes. One reporter was cited for disorderly conduct for trying to pass through police lines.

"The stress level is very high. In some cases, these people are their family members, their friends, members of the same union," said Jonathan Best, city director of emergency management.

"Friends of mine were in there. We're all like one family," said Frank Rodrigues. He said he had helped uncover the bodies of four men who looked like they had been alive for a time after the collapse.

"They looked like they were all cuddled up around each other, like for body heat," said Rodrigues.

Workers also brought in three American flags, fixing two small ones to fences and raising the large one on a temporary flagpole.

Meanwhile, engineers who examined building records said the project may have been built on soil too weak to support its weight, while the city's building inspector reportedly complained before the collapse that his department was

understaffed.

At the maze of shattered concrete and twisted steel that was the L'Ambiance Plaza, the number of workers varied Sunday from 100 to 150 at a time. Worried officials were trying to prevent them from spending too much time at the site.

Required ID changed every eight hours — for one shift, workers wore red wristbands; for another, a dot of fluorescent paint. Voices were hoarse from breathing the white concrete dust that hung in the air.

The highest pressure was on wiry, small workers who could fit into tunnels in the pile of debris, and who were being called on again and again to descend in search of bodies or survivors.

Best said they were being watched for signs of stress, and some workers were being taken from the site to an undisclosed location so they could rest.

Counselors were also worried about the future.

"Particularly with men who are very macho, as construction workers are, they won't go and seek help when they need help," said Judianne Denser-Gerber, a psychiatrist for

See COLLAPSE, Page 14

Local taxi operator

Friday, April 24, 1987

Video View

By GARY JOHNSON
Collegian Reviewer

"Nothing in Common"

On "Entertainment Tonight," director Garry Marshall said, "This time we went for the art thing." He said "art thing" as if art were a prepackaged product cranked out for the consumer to devour — like Spaghetti O's or Gummi Bears. But this film's fine cast (including Tom Hanks, Jackie Gleason and Eva Marie Saint) wins out over Marshall's unimaginative direction.

Hanks plays an advertising executive whose father is suffering from a serious ailment. Marshall sets good scenes next to real clunkers, while trying to clone "Terms of Endearment," but this film has more conviction than he can suppress.

"Half-Moon Street"

A real disappointment. Sigourney Weaver, who was so good lugging around the hardware in "Alien," is miscast as an expert on the Middle East who finds it difficult living on her salary and begins working nights for an escort service. She's supposed to be sophisticated and elegant, but instead she's self-satisfied and smug. Also stars Michael Caine as one of her many lovers.

"Clockwise"

John Cleese (of Monty Python fame) stars in this hilarious British comedy. He plays a principal whose school runs like clockwork. But when he is invited to make a speech at a convention, everything goes wrong: He loses his speech; he misses his train; he can't find his wife (and thus their car), and that's only the start of his troubles.

"Secret Honor"

Philip Baker Hall, now a co-star on NBC's "Mariah," turns in a brilliant performance as Richard Nixon in this Robert Altman film. His work earned him a Best Actor Oscar nomination in '86. He rants and curses, talks to the ghost of his mother, turns all the surveillance cameras on himself and even contemplates suicide, all while feeling intense guilt and confusion in the wake of Watergate.

The film itself is too stagey to be a success and ultimately it even becomes dull, but it's still worth a look.

TUESDAY, APRIL 28, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTCA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom And Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeannie Bewitched	Movie: "Squizzly"	Long Day's Journey Into	Movie Cont'd Crazy About	NFL Draft Live from
8:00 " "	Program	" "	Bugs Bunny Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Heathcliff	Down To Earth I Love Lucy	Taylor	Night Cont'd	The Movies Movie	New York
9:00 Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	Movie: "The Thrill Of It All"	The Talk Show Movie: "Jim Thorpe"	Movie: "The New Land"	"The New Land"	NFL Draft Continues
10:00 Jeopardy! Scrabble	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hatha Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	It All	"The Money Pit"	All American	" "	" "
11:00 Password Wheel Fortune	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Write Course Other Bridge	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	Movie: "A Test Of Love"	"Mad Max Beyond Thunderdome"	Movie: "The Bride"	" "
12:00 News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & B'ful	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke Hillbillies	Sesame Street	News	Movie: "The Gattling Gun"	Movie: "Secrets Of A Mother And Daughter"	Movie: "Scream Of Fear"	" "	NFL Draft Continues
1:00 Lives Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Masterpiece Theatre	Baseball San	Gun	"Secrets Of A Mother And Daughter"	Movie: "Scream Of Fear"	Movie: "Scream Of Fear"	" "
2:00 Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoobilee Zoo	Mod Maturity Living	Francisco Giants at	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Daughter	" "	"Scream Of Fear"	" "
3:00 Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Ghostbusters Dennis	Scooby Doo Smurfs	We're Cooking Aerobics	Chicago Cubs	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Minutes In Heaven	Innocents Abroad	Movie: "Taps"	Wrestling
4:00 Facts Of Life	Magnum, P.I.	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flintstones Jetsons	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	Transformers	Gilligan Beaver	Don't Touch	" "	" "	Wrestling Scholastic
5:00 3's Company NBC News	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Facts Of Life WKRP	Hillbillies Down To Earth	Movie: "Kiddo"	The Sky Is Gray	Movie: "Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House"	SportsCenter NBA Today
6:00 News Wheel Fortune	News Newsweds	Benson M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	Sanford Baseball	" "	Paper Chase	Builds His Dream House	SportsCenter Stanley Cup
7:00 Matlock	Alabama	Growing Pains S. Hammer	Barnaby Jones	Shoah	Movie: "The Hunter"	Atlanta Braves at	Movie: "The Last Days of Pompeii"	"Mad Max Beyond Thunderdome"	Movie: "Crossroads"	Playoffs Div. Final
8:00 Gimme Break The Tortellis	Movie: "The Other Lover"	Moonlighting	Movie: "The Dogs Of War"	Tenko	News	Games NBA	The Hitchhiker Movie	Hard Knocks G. Shandling	Movie	NFL Review
9:00 Fast Copy	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "
10:00 News Tonight Show	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Honeymooners Magnum, P.I.	Basketball Playoffs	"Creator"	Long Day's Journey Into	Movie: "Exorcist II: The Heretic"	In The PGA SportsCenter
11:00 David	Simon & Simon	Ask Dr. Ruth Nightline	Benny Hill Hitchcock	MacNeil / Lehrer	Movie: "Seminole"	First Round Game	Movie: "The Money Pit"	Night	"Exorcist II: The Heretic"	SportsCenter Boxing
12:00 Letterman Gene Scott	"One-Trick Pony"	700 Club	"Tarzan Goes To India"	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	Michael Nunn vs. Eddie Hall

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 29, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTCA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom And Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeannie Bewitched	Movie: "Running"	Tale Theatre Movie: "Isaac Littlefeathers"	Movie Cont'd Business SportsCenter	" "
8:00 " "	Program	" "	Bugs Bunny Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Heathcliff	Down To Earth I Love Lucy	Brave	"Isaac Littlefeathers"	Movie: "Transylvania 6-5000"	Diving American
9:00 Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	Movie: "Back Street"	Adolf Hitler Movie: "Latin Lovers"	Movie: "Latin Lovers"	Movie: "Smooth Talk"	Cup NFL Review
10:00 Jeopardy! Scrabble	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hatha Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	" "	"Trancers"	" "	"Smooth Talk"	NBA Today SportsCenter
11:00 Password Wheel Fortune	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Literature Algebra	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	"Night The Lights Went Out In Georgia"	Movie: "Bring On The Night"	Movie: "Bring On The Night"	Aerobics Getting Fit
12:00 News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & B'ful	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke Hillbillies	Sesame Street	News	Movie: "The Fiction Makers"	Will Rogers	Movie: "The Opposite Sex"	Movie: "Absolute Beginners"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
1:00 Lives Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Nova	Baseball San	Francisco Giants at	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Movie: "Savage Sex"	Movie: "Absolute Beginners"	Division Final Game Five
2:00 Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoobilee Zoo	Tenko	Chicago Cubs	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Harvest Survival	Movie: "Mysterious Stranger"	Movie: "The Man Who Came To Dinner"	Wrestling
3:00 Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Ghostbusters Dennis	Scooby Doo Smurfs	We're Cooking Aerobics	Chicago Cubs	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Harvest Survival	Movie: "Mysterious Stranger"	Movie: "The Man Who Came To Dinner"	Australian Football
4:00 Facts Of Life	Magnum, P.I.	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flintstones Jetsons	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	Transformers	Gilligan Beaver	Cinema	Movie: "Isaac Littlefeathers"	Movie: "On The Waterfront"	SportsCenter In The PGA
5:00 3's Company NBC News	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Facts Of Life WKRP	Hillbillies Down To Earth	Movie: "Time"	"Isaac Littlefeathers"	Movie: "On The Waterfront"	SportsCenter Fishin' Hole
6:00 News Wheel Fortune	News Newsweds	Benson M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	Sanford Baseball	Bandits	Faerie Tale Theatre	Waterfront	SportsCenter Fishin' Hole
7:00 Highway To Heaven	New Mike Hammer	P. Strangers Head Of Class	Barnaby Jones	Shoah	Movie: "Ford: The Man And The Machine"	Atlanta Braves at	Movie: "My Man Adam"	Movie: "Murphy's Law"	Movie: "East Of Eden"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
8:00 Night Court Easy Street	Magnum, P.I.	Dynasty	Movie: "The Stone Boy"	" "	Man And The Machine	Cincinnati Reds	Adam	Law	Eden	Playoffs Div. Final
9:00 Bronx Zoo	Houston Knights	Mariah	Boy	Its Your Turn	News	Games NBA	Movie: "The Verdict"	Movie: "The Verdict"	Movie: "The Great Gatsby"	" "
10:00 News Tonight Show	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Honeymooners Magnum, P.I.	Basketball Playoffs	"Continental Divide"	" "	" "	SportsCenter
11:00 David	T.J. Hooker	Ask Dr. Ruth Nightline	Benny Hill Hitchcock	MacNeil / Lehrer	Movie: "Night Passage"	First Round Game	Movie: "The Final Conflict"	"Warrior And The Sorceress"	Movie: "L'Addition"	SportsCenter Kick Boxing
12:00 Letterman Gene Scott	Movie: "Sea Wolves"	700 Club	Movie: "Macabre"	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	NBA Today

This Note is a Legal Tender for $5 off your next Hairdesign except for specials.

The Hair Experts

$5 off your next Hairdesign w/student ID

- Regular price $17 for women $14 for men
- includes shampoo & style

(Expires 4-25-87)

1209 Moro Place—Aggieville 776-4455

FIVE DOLLARS

OPEN 'TIL 2 A.M. DAILY!

Sub8Stuf Sandwich Shop

FREE MEDIUM SOFT DRINK with the purchase of any sub

12th & Moro—Aggieville

Expires 4-30-87 Void with any offers

After placing first Nebraska at Lincoln

Engine

By LAUREN
Collegian

Although the day with a splash for concrete canoe team managed to win first co-rec competition Pond by the Tuttle Saturday.

The campus of honorary, Chi Epsilon the 14th annual Races Saturday at area at Tuttle Creek "In the first race canoe tipped over

Week

By JODI SWE
Collegian

Weeklong activities observance of the recognized "Days of 1 of Victims of the Nazi The K-State Co Religion, comprising all major religious denominations sponsoring campus events in the past, this is the activities will be on campus, coordinator of activities and adviser to tee.

Fallon said there educate the students awareness on campus holocaust.

"This is a time to uniqueness of the suffering, not only million Jews who were also the other five million. weak, elderly

g d when him on

eriff's
s being bbings.
e Irwin
to the 25 and

s lungs
attack,
other red a ve apearing

II, who Pimm
ed an t hear-
y, and e con-
hear-

S n,
S

praisal
was a a 1986
ets to
s. The
the n; its nearly

orted
from orted is has ionist

would forced nted" st the other found ained untry
dvan-trade
ly or sh as view icals

the strip
ay to ates.
ative
l by rade le to wait pro-1." on d he ardt

Inside

Heated Debate

More than 700 Kansans gather to discuss the state's involvement in the Central Interstate Waste Compact Friday in Salina. See Page 6.

Weather

Mostly Sunny

Mostly sunny and not quite as warm today with highs 80 to 85. Fair tonight with lows around 50.

Sports

Just For Kicks

The K-State women's soccer team has fun while placing third in the Big Eight tournament. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
April 27, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 143

'Bleak' search continues for collapse victims

By The Associated Press

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — A small community of workers spent a fourth day Sunday looking for missing friends in the wreckage of a collapsed apartment building as officials and counselors tried to help the searchers cope with exhaustion, anger and despair.

Mayor Thomas Bucci's office listed the death toll at 15, with 13 bodies pulled from the rubble of the L'Ambiance Plaza and two others spotted and presumed dead. Thirteen other workers were still unaccounted for Sunday afternoon, and six men were hospitalized in good or satisfactory condition.

"The news remains grim; the outlook remains bleak," said Bucci.

No survivor had been pulled from debris since shortly after the disaster Thursday afternoon. A man who was lowered Sunday 30 feet into a shaft where others thought they had heard moaning found only tools, a helmet, a lunchbox and blood-smeared concrete.

Frustrated workers tried to prevent television cameras and photographers from taking pictures, and Bridgeport police ordered photographers off a porch that

overlooks the block.

Sheets were hung from electric wires and a large plywood wall was built in an attempt to hide the grim scene from prying eyes. One reporter was cited for disorderly conduct for trying to pass through police lines.

"The stress level is very high. In some cases, these people are their family members, their friends, members of the same union," said Jonathan Best, city director of emergency management.

"Friends of mine were in there. We're all like one family," said Frank Rodrigues. He said he had helped uncover the bodies of four men who looked like they had been alive for a time after the collapse.

"They looked like they were all cuddled up around each other, like for body heat," said Rodrigues.

Workers also brought in three American flags, fixing two small ones to fences and raising the large one on a temporary flagpole.

Meanwhile, engineers who examined building records said the project may have been built on soil too weak to support its weight, while the city's building inspector reportedly complained before the collapse that his department was

understaffed.

At the maze of shattered concrete and twisted steel that was the L'Ambiance Plaza, the number of workers varied Sunday from 100 to 150 at a time. Worried officials were trying to prevent them from spending too much time at the site.

Required ID changed every eight hours — for one shift, workers wore red wristbands; for another, a dot of fluorescent paint. Voices were hoarse from breathing the white concrete dust that hung in the air.

The highest pressure was on wiry, small workers who could fit into tunnels in the pile of debris, and who were being called on again and again to descend in search of bodies or survivors.

Best said they were being watched for signs of stress, and some workers were being taken from the site to an undisclosed location so they could rest.

Counselors were also worried about the future.

"Particularly with men who are very macho, as construction workers are, they won't go and seek help when they need help," said Judianne Denser-Gerber, a psychiatrist for

See COLLAPSE, Page 14

4 Friday, April 24, 1987

Foot-stomping To

Rhythmic foot-stomping and coordinated chanting of rap will thunder through the Union Catskeller Friday night as black greek organizations "rap and tap" in the traditional Greek Step Show.

"The step show enables greek organizations to get together and put on a skit competition in which each organization presents its talent," said Andrea Shelton, graduate student in counseling and president of the Black Student Union.

The show, which begins around 11 p.m., will have from two to five campus organizations competing, with the possibility of out-of-town groups also participating, Shelton said. Each group will have two to 10 members.

Black greek fraternities, sororities and little sister organizations have all participated in the show in the past, Shelton said. She added that she is unsure which groups will be participating in this year's performance because many of the organizations decide at the last minute to participate.

"Each group will give a 10-15 minute performance which could involve...skits, singing, different costumes, rap sayings, poems or even lighting effects," Shelton said.

"Usually the group will start by introducing themselves, then they start stepping, which is more a kind of stomp than tap step," Shelton said.

"It is a mixture of stepping and talking," she said. "There might be one person taking a solo act or the whole group might sing a song. Some groups use canes in their skit. At the end of the skit there is usually a closing."

Shelton also said some groups in the past have even used backdrops and dry ice to create the effect.

"The show gives the organization an outlet to do something fun and at the same time allows them to present their organization to interested students," she said.

"I became interested in stepping when I was a little sister to Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. I just had to step one time to say I had actually stepped," Shelton said.

Vicki Tucker, junior in pre-physical therapy and member of Delta Sigma Theta sorority, said she enjoys performing because "it is a lot of fun, and it allows you to show your abilities and

'Usually the group will start by introducing themselves, then they start stepping, which is more a kind of stomp than tap step' — Andrea Shelton

After placing first Nebraska at Lincoln

Engine

By LAUREN
Collegian

Although the day with a splash for concrete canoe team managed to win first place in the co-rec competition at Tuttle Pond by the Tuttle Saturday.

The campus championship, Chi Epsilon, the 14th annual Races Saturday at Tuttle Pond area at Tuttle Pond.

"In the first race canoe tipped over

Week

By JODI SWE
Collegian Rep

Weeklong activities observance of the recognized "Days of Victims of the Holocaust."

The K-State Community Religion, comprising all major religious denominations, is sponsoring campus events. In the past, these activities will be on campus. Fallon, coordinator of activities and adviser to the group.

Fallon said there is a need to educate the students on the awareness on campus.

"This is a time to recognize the uniqueness of the suffering, not only of the million Jews who were also the other five million. weak, elderly

g when im on eriff's
being things.
Irwin
to the 5 and lungs
attack,
other ed a ve apearing
1, who rimmed an hear-
and e con-
hear-
S n,
S prisal was a a 1986
ets to
s. The
the m; its nearly orted
from orted ss has ionist
would force nted" st the other found ained untry
dvan-trade ily or ch as review
icals
the strip
ay to utes.
ative
d by trade ole to wait pron." on he ardt

Inside

Heated Debate

More than 700 Kansans gather to discuss the state's involvement in the Central Interstate Waste Compact Friday in Salina. See Page 6.

Weather

Mostly Sunny

Mostly sunny and not quite as warm today with highs 80 to 85. Fair tonight with lows around 50.

Sports

Just For Kicks

The K-State women's soccer team has fun while placing third in the Big Eight tournament. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
April 27, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 143

'Bleak' search continues for collapse victims

By The Associated Press

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — A small community of workers spent a fourth day Sunday looking for missing friends in the wreckage of a collapsed apartment building as officials and counselors tried to help the searchers cope with exhaustion, anger and despair.

Mayor Thomas Bucci's office listed the death toll at 15, with 13 bodies pulled from the rubble of the L'Ambiance Plaza and two others spotted and presumed dead. Thirteen other workers were still unaccounted for Sunday afternoon, and six men were hospitalized in good or satisfactory condition.

"The news remains grim; the outlook remains bleak," said Bucci. No survivor had been pulled from debris since shortly after the disaster Thursday afternoon. A man who was lowered Sunday 30 feet into a shaft where others thought they had heard moaning found only tools, a helmet, a lunchbox and blood-smeared concrete.

Frustrated workers tried to prevent television cameras and photographers from taking pictures, and Bridgeport police ordered photographers off a porch that

overlooks the block.

Sheets were hung from electric wires and a large plywood wall was built in an attempt to hide the grim scene from prying eyes. One reporter was cited for disorderly conduct for trying to pass through police lines.

"The stress level is very high. In some cases, these people are their family members, their friends, members of the same union," said Jonathan Best, city director of emergency management.

"Friends of mine were in there. We're all like one family," said Frank Rodrigues. He said he had helped uncover the bodies of four men who looked like they had been alive for a time after the collapse.

"They looked like they were all cuddled up around each other, like for body heat," said Rodrigues.

Workers also brought in three American flags, fixing two small ones to fences and raising the large one on a temporary flagpole.

Meanwhile, engineers who examined building records said the project may have been built on soil too weak to support its weight, while the city's building inspector reportedly complained before the collapse that his department was

understaffed.

At the maze of shattered concrete and twisted steel that was the L'Ambiance Plaza, the number of workers varied Sunday from 100 to 150 at a time. Worried officials were trying to prevent them from spending too much time at the site.

Required ID changed every eight hours — for one shift, workers wore red wristbands; for another, a dot of fluorescent paint. Voices were hoarse from breathing the white concrete dust that hung in the air.

The highest pressure was on wiry, small workers who could fit into tunnels in the pile of debris, and who were being called on again and again to descend in search of bodies or survivors.

Best said they were being watched for signs of stress, and some workers were being taken from the site to an undisclosed location so they could rest.

Counselors were also worried about the future.

"Particularly with men who are very macho, as construction workers are, they won't go and seek help when they need help," said Judianne Denner-Gerber, a psychiatrist for

See COLLAPSE, Page 14

Local taxi operator

Friday, April 24, 1987

5

A Rhythmic Chant

coordination to step."

Tucker also said she enjoys participating because it gives her a way to express herself through her sorority.

Tucker said she became involved in stepping when she joined her sorority and added, "that (joining a black greek organization) is about the only way you can become involved."

The groups rehearse up to a month before the performance, Shelton said.

"Each group makes up their own skit, sayings, rhythm and sound," Shelton said.

Step shows are given throughout the year by different organizations. The group may have a weekend party and decide to also give a performance at that time, she said.

"There is usually about five to eight step shows per year," she said.

Every university that has black greeks usually has this type of step show, Shelton said. Some K-State greeks went to the regional step show held Feb. 21 at the University of Oklahoma in Norman.

"It was more intense. About 20 to 30 groups had performances that were judged," Shelton said. The whole show lasted from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Veryl Switzer, assistant vice president for educational and student services, said he has been acquainted with step shows since they first made their appearance at K-State in the early '70s.

"The step show started because it enabled the members to demonstrate the pride they had in their group," Switzer said. "It also allowed the groups to see how well they compared with each other in competition."

Switzer said step shows draw a lot of interest and curiosity from observers.

"In the south central area (of the United States) there seems to be more interest taken in this type of event, which can be seen in the number of people in the audience," he said.

An example of wider interest in different areas is the regional competition at the University at Oklahoma in February, which had an audience of about 5,000.

"It is a lot of fun to go to the shows and see how well the groups perform," Switzer said.

Shelton said the shows usually raise money for some type of event or purpose. She said the proceeds from this show will go to the Martin Luther King awards ceremony to be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, part of the Martin Luther King Weekend activities.

At the ceremony, scholarships and money awards will be given to outstanding black students on campus.

Shelton said prizes will be awarded on a winner-take-all basis for the step show competition. She said a plaque, cash award and certificates will be given to the winning organization.

The competition, which is both preceded and followed by a party, will be open to the public with a charge of $1.50 at the door. Black greeks wearing their colors will be admitted for $1. The party will start around 10 p.m.

Story by Teresa Temme

Illustrations by Alex Menez

After placing first Nebraska at Lincoln

Engine

By LAUREN
Collegian Rep

Although the day with a splash for create canoe team managed to win first co-rec competition Pond by the Tuttle Saturday.

The campus championship, Chi Epsilon the 14th annual Races Saturday at area at Tuttle Creek "In the first race canoe tipped over

Week

By JODI SWE
Collegian Rep

Weeklong activities observance of the recognized "Days of Victims of the Nazi

The K-State College Religion, comprising all major religious denominations sponsoring campus events community events have in the past, this is the activities will be on campus Fallon, coordinator of activities and adviser to

Fallon said there educate the students awareness on campus holocaust.

"This is a time to uniqueness of the suffering, not only million Jews who were also the other five million weak, elderly

g

d when him on

eriff's is being bbings.
e Irwin
to the 25 and

s lungs
attack,
other red a ive apearing

ll, who Primm
red an t hear-
y, and e con-
y hear-

IS
n,
IS

praisal
was a a 1986
tets to
s. The e the m; its nearly ported

from ported
ss has ionist

would force nted" st the other found ained untry
dvan-trade ily or ch as review

icals
the strip
ay to utes.
ative
1 by trade ble to wait pro-
a."
on d he ardt

Heated Debate

More than 700 Kansans gather to discuss the state's involvement in the Central Interstate Waste Compact Friday in Salina. See Page 6.

Mostly Sunny

Mostly sunny and not quite as warm today with highs 80 to 85. Fair tonight with lows around 50.

Just For Kicks

The K-State women's soccer team has fun while placing third in the Big Eight tournament. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
April 27, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 143

'Bleak' search continues for collapse victims

By The Associated Press

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — A small community of workers spent a fourth day Sunday looking for missing friends in the wreckage of a collapsed apartment building as officials and counselors tried to help the searchers cope with exhaustion, anger and despair.

Mayor Thomas Bucci's office listed the death toll at 15, with 13 bodies pulled from the rubble of the L'Ambiance Plaza and two others spotted and presumed dead. Thirteen other workers were still unaccounted for Sunday afternoon, and six men were hospitalized in good or satisfactory condition.

"The news remains grim; the outlook remains bleak," said Bucci. No survivor had been pulled from debris since shortly after the disaster Thursday afternoon. A man who was lowered Sunday 30 feet into a shaft where others thought they had heard moaning found only tools, a helmet, a lunchbox and blood-smeared concrete.

Frustrated workers tried to prevent television cameras and photographers from taking pictures, and Bridgeport police ordered photographers off a porch that

overlooks the block.

Sheets were hung from electric wires and a large plywood wall was built in an attempt to hide the grim scene from prying eyes. One reporter was cited for disorderly conduct for trying to pass through police lines.

"The stress level is very high. In some cases, these people are their family members, their friends, members of the same union," said Jonathan Best, city director of emergency management.

"Friends of mine were in there. We're all like one family," said Frank Rodrigues. He said he had helped uncover the bodies of four men who looked like they had been alive for a time after the collapse.

"They looked like they were all cuddled up around each other, like for body heat," said Rodrigues.

Workers also brought in three American flags, fixing two small ones to fences and raising the large one on a temporary flagpole.

Meanwhile, engineers who examined building records said the project may have been built on soil too weak to support its weight, while the city's building inspector reportedly complained before the collapse that his department was

understaffed.

At the maze of shattered concrete and twisted steel that was the L'Ambiance Plaza, the number of workers varied Sunday from 100 to 150 at a time. Worried officials were trying to prevent them from spending too much time at the site.

Required ID changed every eight hours — for one shift, workers wore red wristbands; for another, a dot of fluorescent paint. Voices were hoarse from breathing the white concrete dust that hung in the air.

The highest pressure was on wiry, small workers who could fit into tunnels in the pile of debris, and who were being called on again and again to descend in search of bodies or survivors.

Best said they were being watched for signs of stress, and some workers were being taken from the site to an undisclosed location so they could rest.

Counselors were also worried about the future.

"Particularly with men who are very macho, as construction workers are, they won't go and seek help when they need help," said Judianne Denser-Gerber, a psychiatrist for

See COLLAPSE, Page 14

6 Friday, April 24, 1987

Film Review

'Stories' taps U.S. reality, junk culture

By GARY JOHNSON
Collegian Reviewer

David Byrne's "True Stories" never played in Manhattan theaters, but now, thanks to home video, the movie is finally available.

It's about "a bunch of people in Virgil, Texas," during their "Celebration of Specialness." Now while that may not sound like much, Byrne makes the banality and stuffiness of this small town seem so nutty that the film becomes charming. Byrne himself is the narrator. He wears a cowboy hat, western shirt and silver belt buckle while roaming the streets of Virgil, praising its virtues.

Cinematographer Ed Lachman somehow manages to make everything we see, no matter how gaudy, no matter how absurd, seem beautiful. His camera roams down a street, showing us a row of virtually identical houses, while the sky is an incredibly deep blue and the grass is a vibrant green.

As in "Raising Arizona," it would be easy to make fun of the people who live in such houses, but Byrne doesn't do this. He's in awe of it all. He roams through a shopping mall, telling us: "Shopping itself has become the activity which brings people together. And here the music's always playing. And what time is it? No time to look back." Or while driving down the road, he tells us about freeways: "I suppose these freeways made this town and a lot of others like it possible. They're the cathedrals of our time," someone said.

All this time, Byrne never cracks a smile. Many filmmakers would have been hamming it up, winking at us so we'll know they're not serious, but by playing it straight Byrne makes his examination of America's junk culture all the more effective.

The film is also packed with wonderfully absurd characters. John Goodman (of "Raising Arizona") plays a good ol' boy searching for love. Spalding Grey plays a building contractor who, while seated at his dinner table, gives us a lecture on economics, using the olives and avocados as

See STORIES, Page 7

SUNDAY, APRIL 26, 1987

	KSNT	WIBW	KTCA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00	James Kennedy	Jerry Falwell	Jimmy Swaggart	Aerobic Championship	Algebra	R. Schuller Heritage	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Seabert Seabert	Movie Cont'd	Movie Cont'd	Tennis Monte Carlo
8:00	L. Lundstrom	Discovery Truth	Kenneth Copeland	Wrestling	Sesame Street	Sunday Mass Porky Pig	Cont'd Andy Griffith	Movie: "Time"	"Rubber Tarzan"	"Weird Science"	Open Finals
9:00	Schuller Jimmy	Oral Roberts Larry Jones	It Is Written Wrestling	Wild, Wild West	Mister Rogers Special	Bugs Bunny	Good News Movie	Bandits	"Taps"	Movie: "Cocoon"	Golf
10:00	Swaggart Auction	Arthritis Foundation	Abb. & Cost.	Maverick	Sesame Street	G.I. Joe: Revenge Of	"The Greatest Show On Earth"	Movie: "Continental"	"	"	SportsCenter Sunday
11:00	World Tom. In Baseball	Telethon	Wrestling	Star Trek	Sherlock OWL / TV	Cobra	"	"	"	Movie: "Enemy Mine"	SpoCtr. Golf
12:00	Forgotten Children	"	Video Mag. PGA Golf	Movie: "Tarzan's	Wash. Week Wall St. Wk.	Lead-Off Man Baseball	Animals	W. Churchill Movie	Paper Chase	"	Skiing MISL Soccer
1:00	Gold Pin Bowling	Arthritis Foundation	Big Houston Open Final	Peril	Money World Computer	Chicago Cubs at	Baseball San	"Turk 182"	"April In Paris"	Movie: "Lone Wolf"	Sideways at Blast
2:00	Classic	Telethon	Round	Movie: "Belle Of The	Kansas Literature	Montreal Expos	Francisco Giants at	Movie: "Gotcha!"	"Turk 182"	Movie: "The Story Of	Auto Racing IMSA GTP
3:00	PGA Seniors Golf	"	Gymnastics	Nineties	Firing Line	Movie: "The Desert Fox"	Animals Wrestling	Fraggle Rock	Movie: "Taps"	Movie: "Bill Cosby"	Series
4:00	Liberty Legends	Arthritis Telethon	Spirit Of Adventure	Movie: "It Happened	Communidades Espanol	"	"	"	"	"	"
5:00	Motorsports Wheel Fortune	Continues	Fame	To Jane	Magicians	Puttin' On	New Beaver	"Ghosts"	"	"	"
6:00	Our House	60 Minutes	Movie: "The Stone	21 Jump Street	Wild America Nature Profiles	Fame	Movie: "Branded"	"	"	"	SpoCtr. Stanley Cup
7:00	Rags To Riches	Murder, She Wrote	Boy	With Children Tracey Ullman	Nature	Lifestyles	"	Movie: "Commando"	Motown: Marvin Gaye	Movie: "Cocoon"	Playoffs Div. Final
8:00	Movie: "Hostage"	Movie: "Pack Of Lies"	Movie: "American	Down And Out Duel	Masterpiece Theatre	Love Boat	National Geographic	Movie: "Invasion"	"	"	"
9:00	Flight	"	Gigolo	It's A Living Runaway	Great Performances	News	Explorer	"Blow Out"	U.S.A.	Movie: "And"	Superstars
10:00	News Throb	News High Q	News Movie	Mama's Family Innocence	Other Bridge TV Classics	Tales Lou Grant	Sports Page Jerry Falwell	Movie: "Justice For All"	"Hard	Movie: "Scarecrow"	Women's Volleyball
11:00	Happy Days Community	Big Family Video Mag	"The Stone Boy"	Lost	Silk Screen Tony Brown	Country	J. Ankerberg	"After Hours"	Movie: "The Ratings Game"	"	Women's TBA SpoCtr.
12:00	Gene Scott	Business	Fame	"	"	At The Movies Fame	Jimmy Swaggart	Movie: "Angel"	"Ugh! A Music War"	"	"

MONDAY, APRIL 27, 1987

	KSNT	WIBW	KTCA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00	Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom And Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeannie Bewitched	Movie: "Yentl"	Movie: "My Science"	"Silver Chalice"	Business SportsCenter
8:00	"	Program	"	Bugs Bunny Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Heathcliff	Down To Earth I Love Lucy	"	Project	Movie: "Mr. Love"	Tennis Monte Carlo
9:00	Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	Movie: "Indiscreet"	Movie: "Don't Go	Movie: "Near The Water"	Movie: "Ride, Vaquerol"	Golf SportsLook
10:00	Jeopardy! Scrabble	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hathia Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	"	"Head Office"	"	"	"
11:00	Password Wheel Fortune	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Literature Algebra	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	Movie: "Cold River"	Movie: "The Money"	Movie: "Montana"	Aerobics Getting Fit
12:00	News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & B'ful	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke Hillbillies	Sesame Street	News	Movie: "King"	Movie: "The Ratings Game"	"	"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
1:00	Lives Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Nature	Dick Van Dyke Andy Griffith	Solomon's Treasure	"That's Dancing!"	"	"	Adams or Patrick
2:00	Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoolabee Zoo	Nature Profiles McLaughlin	Beaver Bugs Bunny	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Around The	"	Movie: "Alfie"	Division Final Game Four
3:00	Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Ghostbusters Dennis	Scooby Doo Smurfs	We're Cooking Aerobics	G.I. Joe Transformers	New Beaver Baseball	Breadwinner Movie	"Ladyhawke"	"	One On One Soccer
4:00	Facts Of Life	Magnum, P.I.	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flintstones Jetsons	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	Sesame Street WKRP	Giants at Braves	"	"	Movie: "The Emigrants"	SportsLook Outdoors
5:00	3's Company NBC News	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Life	"	"	"	"	"	"	SportsCenter Baseball's
6:00	News Wheel Fortune	News Newlyweds	Benson M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	"	Fraggle Rock	"	"	"
7:00	ALF Valerie	Kate & Allie My Sister Sam	MacGyver	Barnaby Jones	Shoah	Movie	Movie: "Pillars Of The Sky"	Movie: "On God!"	Movie: "The Emerald Forest"	Movie: "At Close Range"	Greatest Hits Stanley Cup
8:00	Movie: "Desperado"	Newhart D. Women	Movie: "I Want To Live"	Movie: "Brannigan"	"	"	"	"	"	"	Playoffs Div. Final
9:00	"	West 57th	Live	"	"	"	News	Movie: "Captain Blood"	Movie: "Head Office"	"	"
10:00	News Tonight Show	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Honeymooners Magnum, P.I.	"	"	"	"	SportsCenter
11:00	David	Night Heat	Ask Dr. Ruth Nightline	Benny Hill Hitchcock	MacNeil / Lehrer	"	National Geographic	Movie: "Killer Party"	Movie: "The Ratings Game"	"	SportsLook Fishin' Hole
12:00	Letterman Gene Scott	"Special Delivery"	700 Club	Movie: "The Driver"	"	"	Explorer	Movie	"	"	Greatest Hits

the new

DB92

THE MOVIES

"Crocodile DUNDEE"

TONIGHT & TOMORROW NIGHT!
7 & 9:30 p.m.
Rated PG-13, $1.75

THIS WEEKEND AT THE K-STATE UNION 532-6571
KSU ID Required Forum Hall

Disney's CLASSIC 101 DALMATIANS

SATURDAY 2 p.m. & SUNDAY 2 & 7 p.m.
Rated G; $1.50

k-state union
upc feature films

After placing Nebraska at 1

Engi

By LAI
Colleg

Although th with a splash crete canoe t managed to w co-rec compe Pond by the Tu Saturday.

The campu honorary, Chi the 14th annu Races Saturda area at Tuttle "In the first canoe tipped

Weel

By JODIS
Collegian

Weeklong activi observance of recognized "Days of Victims of the The K-State Religion, compris all major religious sponsoring campu community events in the past, this is tivities will be on Fallon, coordinate tivities and advise tee.

Fallon said the educate the studer awareness on ca holocaust.

"This is a time uniqueness of the s nibilation, not on million Jews who also the other five ual. weak, elder

itor ig

ld when him on sheriff's as being abbings.

he Irwin
y to the 25 and

i's lungs
attack,
is other ired a ave ap-hearing ell, who Primm

ered an xt hear-ay, and be con-y hear-
y.

IS
m,
is reprisal d was a a 1986

kets to
ps. The ie the on; its nearly ported

from ported
ss has tionist

would force anted" ast the other found ountry advan-
trade illy or ch as review ficials

o the 1 strip way to pates.
tative
d by trade
ble to wait prom-
n." d on id he hardt

Heated Debate

More than 700 Kansans gather to discuss the state's involvement in the Central Interstate Waste Compact Friday in Salina. See Page 6.

Mostly Sunny

Mostly sunny and not quite as warm today with highs 80 to 85. Fair tonight with lows around 50.

Just For Kicks

The K-State women's soccer team has fun while placing third in the Big Eight tournament. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
April 27, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 143

'Bleak' search continues for collapse victims

By The Associated Press

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — A small community of workers spent a fourth day Sunday looking for missing friends in the wreckage of a collapsed apartment building as officials and counselors tried to help the searchers cope with exhaustion, anger and despair.

Mayor Thomas Bucci's office listed the death toll at 15, with 13 bodies pulled from the rubble of the L'Ambiance Plaza and two others spotted and presumed dead. Thirteen other workers were still unaccounted for Sunday afternoon, and six men were hospitalized in good or satisfactory condition.

"The news remains grim; the outlook remains bleak," said Bucci. No survivor had been pulled from the debris since shortly after the disaster Thursday afternoon. A man who was lowered Sunday 30 feet into a shaft where others thought they had heard moaning found only tools, a helmet, a lunchbox and blood-smeared concrete.

Frustrated workers tried to prevent television cameras and photographers from taking pictures, and Bridgeport police ordered photographers off a porch that

overlooks the block.

Sheets were hung from electric wires and a large plywood wall was built in an attempt to hide the grim scene from prying eyes. One reporter was cited for disorderly conduct for trying to pass through police lines.

"The stress level is very high. In some cases, these people are their family members, their friends, members of the same union," said Jonathan Best, city director of emergency management.

"Friends of mine were in there. We're all like one family," said Frank Rodrigues. He said he had helped uncover the bodies of four men who looked like they had been alive for a time after the collapse.

"They looked like they were all cuddled up around each other, like for body heat," said Rodrigues.

Workers also brought in three American flags, fixing two small ones to fences and raising the large one on a temporary flagpole.

Meanwhile, engineers who examined building records said the project may have been built on soil too weak to support its weight, while the city's building inspector reportedly complained before the collapse that his department was

understaffed.

At the maze of shattered concrete and twisted steel that was the L'Ambiance Plaza, the number of workers varied Sunday from 100 to 150 at a time. Worried officials were trying to prevent them from spending too much time at the site.

Required ID changed every eight hours — for one shift, workers wore red wristbands; for another, a dot of fluorescent paint. Voices were hoarse from breathing the white concrete dust that hung in the air.

The highest pressure was on wiry, small workers who could fit into tunnels in the pile of debris, and who were being called on again and again to descend in search of bodies or survivors.

Best said they were being watched for signs of stress, and some workers were being taken from the site to an undisclosed location so they could rest.

Counselors were also worried about the future.

"Particularly with men who are very macho, as construction workers are, they won't go and seek help when they need help," said Judianne Denser-Gerber, a psychiatrist for

See COLLAPSE, Page 14

Local taxi operator

Friday, April 24, 1987

7

Stories

Continued from Page 6

props. Swoozie Kurtz plays a woman who never gets out of bed. "She's not sick," Byrne tells us. "She's got enough money she doesn't have to. Wouldn't you?"

But the most absurd character of all is "The Lying Lady." She says things like, "I believe part of my extra-psyche ability is connected up with the fact that I was born with a tail. A little bitty hairy thing about that long. Had it surgically removed when I was just 5 years old."

My only complaint is the talent show at the movie's ending is a let down. At this point the movie lacks imagination and becomes about as exciting as a real small-town talent show. But other than this weakness, "True Stories" is one of the funniest, most original movies of the '80s.

For Talking Heads fans, the movie features nine of the band's songs — six sung by actors and three by Talking Heads themselves, including "Love for Sale," "City of Dreams" and the excellent "Wild, Wild Life."

THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTCA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom and Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeannie Bewitched	Movie: "The Terry"	Movie: "Life On The Mississippi"	"Story Of Will Rogers"	Business SportsCenter
8:00 " "	Program	" "	Bugs Bunny Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	" "	Down To Earth I Love Lucy	Fox Story	Movie: "The Devil"	"Bandit Of Sherwood"	Gymnastics Mixed Pairs
9:00 Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	Movie: "Imitation Of Life"	W. Churchill Movie: "Say Yes"	Movie: "The Revolution"	Forest Movie: "Revolution"	Boardsailing SportsLook
10:00 Jeopardy! Scrabble	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hatha Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	" "	" "	"D.A.R.Y.L."	" "	Aerobics Getting Fit
11:00 Password Wheel Fortune	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Write Course Safety	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Baseball	Movie: "Jake Speed"	" "	Movie: "The Longshot"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
12:00 News Days Of Our	Middy Bold & B'ful	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke Hillbillies	Sesame Street	News	Atlanta Braves at	" "	Movie: "Off Beat"	Movie: "Ghoulies"	Div. Final
1:00 Lives Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Anna Karenina	Dick Van Dyke Andy Griffith	Cincinnati Reds	Movie: "Turk 182"	" "	" "	" "
2:00 Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoobles Zoo	War And Peace	Beaver Bugs Bunny	Tom & Jerry And Friends	" "	Bernice Bobs Her Hair	Movie: "Bronco Billy"	Wrestling
3:00 Oprah Winfrey	"Donahue"	Ghostbusters Dennis	Flintstones Jetsons	Scooby Doo Smurfs	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	Francisco Giants at	Gilligan Safe At Home	Movie: "Just One Of The Guys"	Movie: "Weird Science"	SportsLook H. Racing
4:00 Facts Of Life	Magnum, P.I.	People's Court G.I. Joe	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Chicago Cubs	Hillbillies Andy Griffith	" "	Movie: "Red Balloon"	Movie: "D.A.R.Y.L."	SportsCenter Stanley Cup
5:00 3's Company NBC News	News CBS News	Benson M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	Sanford Honeymooners	Movie: "Brewster's Millions"	Movie: "It's Showtime"	Movie: "Bill Cosby"	Patrick Div. Final
6:00 News Wheel Fortune	News Newlyweds	Wizard	Our World	Buddies Movie	"Man And The Machine"	Playoffs First Round	Movie: "Commando"	Movie: "Off Beat"	"Himself"	Top Rank Boxing
7:00 Cosby Show Family Ties	Simon & Simon	Jack And Mike	"The Rainmaker"	" "	News	Game NBA	The Hitchhiker	Movie: "Invasion U.S.A."	Movie: "At Close Range"	SportsCenter SportsLook
8:00 Cheers Not Common	Knots Landing	20 / 20	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	Movie: "Change Of Seasons"	Movie: "Crossroads"	Australian Football
9:00 L.A. Law	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Honeymooners Magnum, P.I.	Basketball Playoffs	Movie: "Jake Speed"	" "	" "	" "
10:00 News Tonight Show	Adderly	Ask Dr. Ruth Nightline	Benny Hill Hitchcock	MacNeil / Lehrer	Movie: "Man From The Alamo"	"Foreign Intrigue"	" "	" "	" "	" "
11:00 David Letterman	"Evil Stalks This House"	700 Club	Movie: "Zardoz"	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "
12:00 Letterman	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "

After placing first Nebraska at Lincoln

Engin

By LAURE Collegian

Although the d with a splash for crete canoe team managed to win i co-rec competitio Pond by the Tuttle Saturday.

The campus c honorary, Chi Ep the 14th annual Races Saturday at area at Tuttle Cre "In the first race canoe tipped over

Week

By JODI SWE Collegian Rep

Weeklong activities observance of the recognized "Days of Victims of the Nazi The K-State Co Religion, comprising all major religious den sponsoring campus ev community events have in the past, this is the tivities will be on cam Fallon, coordinator of tivities and adviser to tee.

Fallon said there educate the students awareness on campu holocaust.

"This is a time to uniqueness of the suffer nihilism, not only million Jews who also the other five mill ual. weak, elderly a

All shows starting before 6 p.m.—all seats $2.50
Movie info. 539-1291
Tuesday is bargain night!

CAMPUS

EXTREME PREJUDICE
DAILY AT 7 AND 9:10
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:45 AND 4:50
RATED R

WESTLOOP

RAISING ARIZONA
DAILY AT 4:45-7:20-9:20
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:20
RATED PG-13

ARISTOCATS
DAILY AT 4:40-7:10-9:20
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:10
RATED G

LETHAL WEAPON
DAILY AT 4:30-7-9:30
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2
RATED R

ABOUT LAST NIGHT
DAILY AT 4:45-7:15-9:25
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:20
RATED R

MANNEQUIN
DAILY 4:40-7:10-9:20
MAT. SAT. & SUN. 2:10
RATED PG

FROM ANOTHER STAR
DAILY AT 4:30-7
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2
RATED PG
OUTRAGEOUS FORTUNE
DAILY AT 9:30 ONLY
RATED R

Litchfield Theatres

Movie info 776-9886
Sneak Preview April 30
"MALONE" starring Burt Reynolds

SETH CHILDS CINEMAS
Seth Childs, At Farm Bureau Rd

THE SECRET OF MY SUCCESS
MICHAEL J. FOX
DAILY 7, 9:25-SAT/SUN 2, 4:25 PG-13

MAKING MR. RIGHT
LIMITED ENGAGEMENT!
DAILY 7:20 ONLY SAT/SUN 2:25, 7:20

BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR! PLATOON
DAILY 7:10, 9:40 SAT/SUN 2:10, 4:40

PROJECT X
MATTHEW BRODERICK
DAILY 7:10, 9:35-SAT/SUN 2:15, 4:35 PG

THE ORIGINAL CAST IS BACK!
CITIZENS ON PATROL POLICE ACADEMY 4
DAILY 9:35 ONLY SAT/SUN 5, 9:35

Scott Valentine is MY DEMON LOVER
DAILY 7:25, 9:20 SAT/SUN 2:30, 4:50 (PG-13)

5TH GREAT WEEK!
Blind Date
DAILY 7:30, 9:30 SAT/SUN 2:20, 4:30

Quality Is Our Promise

ig

eld when him on

Sheriff's was being tabbings. the Irwin ey to the 1 25 and n's lungs attack, is other aired a t. have ap-hearing bell, who Primmed an xt hear-lay, and be con-ry hear-ty.

IS m, ns reprisal d was a a 1986 kets to ps. The re the ion; its nearly ported from orted ss has tionist would force anted" nst the ! other found gained ountry advan- trade ily or ch as erview ficials o the f strip vay to putes. tative d by trade ble to wait pro-m." d on id he hardt

Inside

Heated Debate

More than 700 Kansans gather to discuss the state's involvement in the Central Interstate Waste Compact Friday in Salina. See Page 6.

Weather

Mostly Sunny

Mostly sunny and not quite as warm today with highs 80 to 85. Fair tonight with lows around 50.

Sports

Just For Kicks

The K-State women's soccer team has fun while placing third in the Big Eight tournament. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
April 27, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 143

'Bleak' search continues for collapse victims

By The Associated Press

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — A small community of workers spent a fourth day Sunday looking for missing friends in the wreckage of a collapsed apartment building as officials and counselors tried to help the searchers cope with exhaustion, anger and despair.

Mayor Thomas Bucci's office listed the death toll at 15, with 13 bodies pulled from the rubble of the L'Ambiance Plaza and two others spotted and presumed dead. Thirteen other workers were still unaccounted for Sunday afternoon, and six men were hospitalized in good or satisfactory condition.

"The news remains grim; the outlook remains bleak," said Bucci.

No survivor had been pulled from debris since shortly after the disaster Thursday afternoon. A man who was lowered Sunday 30 feet into a shaft where others thought they had heard moaning found only tools, a helmet, a lunchbox and blood-smear concrete.

Frustrated workers tried to prevent television cameras and photographers from taking pictures, and Bridgeport police ordered photographers off a porch that

overlooks the block.

Sheets were hung from electric wires and a large plywood wall was built in an attempt to hide the grim scene from prying eyes. One reporter was cited for disorderly conduct for trying to pass through police lines.

"The stress level is very high. In some cases, these people are their family members, their friends, members of the same union," said Jonathan Best, city director of emergency management.

"Friends of mine were in there. We're all like one family," said Frank Rodrigues. He said he had helped uncover the bodies of four men who looked like they had been alive for a time after the collapse.

"They looked like they were all cuddled up around each other, like for body heat," said Rodrigues.

Workers also brought in three American flags, fixing two small ones to fences and raising the large one on a temporary flagpole.

Meanwhile, engineers who examined building records said the project may have been built on soil too weak to support its weight, while the city's building inspector reportedly complained before the collapse that his department was

understaffed.

At the maze of shattered concrete and twisted steel that was the L'Ambiance Plaza, the number of workers varied Sunday from 100 to 150 at a time. Worried officials were trying to prevent them from spending too much time at the site.

Required ID changed every eight hours — for one shift, workers wore red wristbands; for another, a dot of fluorescent paint. Voices were hoarse from breathing the white concrete dust that hung in the air.

The highest pressure was on wiry, small workers who could fit into tunnels in the pile of debris, and who were being called on again and again to descend in search of bodies or survivors.

Best said they were being watched for signs of stress, and some workers were being taken from the site to an undisclosed location so they could rest.

Counselors were also worried about the future.

"Particularly with men who are very macho, as construction workers are, they won't go and seek help when they need help," said Judianne Denner-Gerber, a psychiatrist for

See COLLAPSE, Page 14

Friday, April 24, 1987

All Videos 99¢ Every Day

All videos are only 99¢ every day of the week!

Coming this month:

Soul Man Peggy Sue Got Married Legal Eagles
Ferris Bueller's Day Off True Stories Nothing In Common

Over 1500 Titles—All at 99¢

Now open 10-8 Mon.-Thurs., 10-9 Fri.-Sat., 12-5 Sun.

1122 Laramie St.
next to Godfather's Pizza
in Aggieville
539-8786

WORK-OUT AND WIND-DOWN

with NAUTILUS and THE STATION

Upon completion of your NAUTILUS WORK-OUT . . . WIND-DOWN with a complimentary draft beer, margarita, or soft drink at THE STATION! (Offer good through April 30)

1115 Moro, Aggieville

1100 Moro, Aggieville

Community Health Care

Think of

Working together for a healthier you

SUNSET AVENUE AT CLAFLIN ROAD, MANHATTAN, KS

- Out-patient services
- Surgery
- Day/Surgery
- Laser Surgery
- Intensive Care
- Obstetrics
- Level II Intensive Care nursery
- Birthing room, Birthing chair
- Rooming-in
- Pediatrics
- X-ray services
- Mammography
- Nuclear medicine
- C.T. scanning
- Respiratory Therapy
- Physical Therapy
- Durable Medical Equipment Center

EMERGENCY CARE CENTER

913-776-3300
Full Physician Coverage
Weekends and Holidays

Don't Miss

Hard Knocks

Don't miss the premiere of this new fast paced 'odd couple' comedy for the 80's. Starring Bill Maher and Tommy Hinkley as ex-New York Police turned private detectives.

Monday, April 20th at ONLY ON SHOWTIME NOT ON HBO!

Manhattan Cable TV

610 Humboldt
776-9239

HUNGRY AS A BEAR?

Pizza Hut
LUNCH BUFFET

• 3rd & Moro
776-4334
• Westloop
2931 Claflin
539-7447

COUPON GREETING CARDS

Buy One at regular price
Get the 2nd of equal value for 1/2 price

Expires May 3, 1987

No Limit

COUPON

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggieville • 539-7654
Mon.-Thurs. 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m. • Fri.-Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Sun. Noon-5 p.m.

Local taxi operator bing marshall Field when stabbed him on road.

County Sheriff's robbery was being for the stabbings.

oved from the Irwin at Fort Riley to the nter March 25 and ndition.

e of Primm's lungs during the attack, tress on his other had required a the incident.

suspects have ap-reliminary hearing ked for O'Dell, who at the time Primm be considered an O'Dell's next heart for Tuesday, and pects it to be con-preliminary hear-for Thursday.

air ons oblem, ations is month. taken in reprisal States said was a spanese of a 1986 their markets to ductor chips. The as become the lektor nation; its year was nearly year imported in goods from spanese imported and Congress has nore protectionist

ment would chanism to force id unwarranted" assed against the Japan and other f Congress found age was gained etices. A country d such an advan- o lower the trade cent annually or reasures such as fees. vision interview stration officials unctions to the ng it would strip ficient leeway to to trade disputes. le Representative interviewed by said the trade ully acceptable to ...but let's wait e legislative pro- letermination." interviewed on t, Ariz., said he er the Gephardt pass.

Heated Debate

More than 700 Kansans gather to discuss the state's involvement in the Central Interstate Waste Compact Friday in Salina. See Page 6.

Mostly Sunny

Mostly sunny and not quite as warm today with highs 80 to 85. Fair tonight with lows around 50.

Just For Kicks

The K-State women's soccer team has fun while placing third in the Big Eight tournament. See Page 11.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
April 27, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 143

'Bleak' search continues for collapse victims

By The Associated Press

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — A small community of workers spent a fourth day Sunday looking for missing friends in the wreckage of a collapsed apartment building as officials and counselors tried to help the searchers cope with exhaustion, anger and despair.

Mayor Thomas Bucci's office listed the death toll at 15, with 13 bodies pulled from the rubble of the L'Ambiance Plaza and two others spotted and presumed dead. Thirteen other workers were still unaccounted for Sunday afternoon, and six men were hospitalized in good or satisfactory condition.

"The news remains grim; the outlook remains bleak," said Bucci.

No survivor had been pulled from debris since shortly after the disaster Thursday afternoon. A man who was lowered Sunday 30 feet into a shaft where others thought they had heard moaning found only tools, a helmet, a lunchbox and blood-smeared concrete.

Frustrated workers tried to prevent television cameras and photographers from taking pictures, and Bridgeport police ordered photographers off a porch that

overlooks the block.

Sheets were hung from electric wires and a large plywood wall was built in an attempt to hide the grim scene from prying eyes. One reporter was cited for disorderly conduct for trying to pass through police lines.

"The stress level is very high. In some cases, these people are their family members, their friends, members of the same union," said Jonathan Best, city director of emergency management.

"Friends of mine were in there. We're all like one family," said Frank Rodrigues. He said he had helped uncover the bodies of four men who looked like they had been alive for a time after the collapse.

"They looked like they were all cuddled up around each other, like for body heat," said Rodrigues.

Workers also brought in three American flags, fixing two small ones to fences and raising the large one on a temporary flagpole.

Meanwhile, engineers who examined building records said the project may have been built on soil too weak to support its weight, while the city's building inspector reportedly complained before the collapse that his department was

understaffed.

At the maze of shattered concrete and twisted steel that was the L'Ambiance Plaza, the number of workers varied Sunday from 100 to 150 at a time. Worried officials were trying to prevent them from spending too much time at the site.

Required ID changed every eight hours — for one shift, workers wore wristbands; for another, a dot of fluorescent paint. Voices were hoarse from breathing the white concrete dust that hung in the air.

The highest pressure was on wiry, small workers who could fit into tunnels in the pile of debris, and who were being called on again and again to descend in search of bodies or survivors.

Best said they were being watched for signs of stress, and some workers were being taken from the site to an undisclosed location so they could rest.

Counselors were also worried about the future.

"Particularly with men who are very macho, as construction workers are, they won't go and seek help when they need help," said Judianne Denser-Gerber, a psychiatrist for

See COLLAPSE, Page 14

Staff/Steve Wolgast

After placing first in their heat of the concrete canoe race, University of Nebraska at Lincoln paddlers Bob Rolle and Allen Dye share a hand slap.

Ten Midwestern colleges and universities participated in the event, which was sponsored by the civil engineering honorary, Chi Epsilon.

Engineers race concrete canoes in competition

By LAUREN BRUNO
Collegian Reporter

Although the day did not begin with a splash for the K-State concrete canoe team members, they managed to win first place in the co-rec competition at the River Pond by the Tuttle Creek Reservoir Saturday.

The campus civil engineering honorary, Chi Epsilon, sponsored the 14th annual Concrete Canoe Races Saturday at the River Pond area at Tuttle Creek.

"In the first race of the day, our canoe tipped over about 50 feet out," said Andrew Watson, one of the four members of the winning team and senior in civil engineering. "When we got to the bank, we noticed it was cracked."

"We had to forfeit six races before we fixed the canoe and were able to compete in the faculty and co-rec races," he said.

Dana Geier, president of Chi Epsilon and senior in civil engineering, said 10 Midwest colleges and universities participated in the event this year.

"Nearly 100 people participated, and 300 people came to watch the race," Geier said. "We were really pleased with the turnout."

The concrete canoes, designed and constructed by the American Society of Civil Engineering for each school, are paddled by students and faculty in civil engineering in a 1,000-foot race, Geier said.

The canoes are constructed of plastic foams and ceramic beads and are filled with water before the race, she said.

There are four competing divisions in which two members from each team compete at a time, Geier said.

The winner of the men's division was Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, Okla. The University of Kansas won the women's and faculty divisions.

Donna Lee, senior in civil engineering, John Herman, senior in civil engineering, Watson and Geier were members of the winning K-State co-rec team.

Oklahoma State was awarded a trophy for the fastest time, and Washington University, St. Louis, won the overall competition.

The American Concrete Institute helped Chi Epsilon with financing and judged the canoes for the best design and construction.

Local taxi operator dies from stabbing

By The Collegian Staff

Chuck Primm, 920 Fremont St., died early Friday morning at the University of Kansas Medical Center in Lawrence from complications of a Jan. 4 stabbing incident.

The 42-year-old taxi driver was stabbed more than 25 times in the neck and chest area by two customers he picked up in Aggieville.

Jerry Thomas O'Dell, 18, and Stephen Stratton, 18, have been charged with aggravated kidnapping, aggravated robbery, conspiracy to commit murder in the first degree and attempted murder in the first degree.

Geary County Attorney Steve Opat said Friday morning he may additionally charge the men with first-degree murder and felony murder.

Primm allegedly picked up the two men around 9 p.m. and was taking them to the Plaza Speedway east of Fort Riley's Marshall Field when they allegedly stabbed him on Whiskey Lake Road.

The Geary County Sheriff's Department said robbery was being used as the motive for the stabbings.

Primm was moved from the Irwin Army Hospital at Fort Riley to the KU Medical Center March 25 and was in critical condition.

Police said one of Primm's lungs was damaged during the attack, which caused stress on his other lung. Primm had required a respirator since the incident.

Neither of the suspects have appeared for a preliminary hearing yet. Opat has asked for O'Dell, who was 17 years old at the time Primm was stabbed, to be considered an adult in the case. O'Dell's next hearing is scheduled for Tuesday, and Opat said he expects it to be continued. Stratton's preliminary hearing is scheduled for Thursday.

Bill seeks fair trade relations

Japanese recognize problem, attempt to pursue solutions

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A top congressional Democrat said Sunday legislation calling for mandatory U.S. reprisals against nations using unfair trading practices is misguided and "destined for a veto" by President Reagan.

But Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said he would not be surprised if the so-called Gephardt amendment passes the House this week, and he blamed the Japanese for that.

With Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone coming to Washington for talks with Reagan, and the House poised to commence debate Tuesday on trade legislation, Rep. Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., called his amendment "the stick in the closet" needed to force fair practices by America's trading partners.

At the same time, Nobuo Matsunaga, the Japanese ambassador to the United States, acknowledged on ABC-TV's "This Week with David Brinkley" that "we are quite aware that we cannot continue this abnormal situation with a huge trade imbalance."

And Hidetoshi Ukwaka, Japanese consul general in New York, appearing on NBC's "Meet the Press," said, "I think there are a number of things we should be doing. That is to say, we should be pursuing policies that we have committed ourselves to...to play a more constructive role in the world and global economy."

Nakasone, during his meeting with Reagan on Wednesday, will likely try to get the president to rescind the $300 million in tariffs the administration imposed on Japanese electronic products earlier this month.

That action was taken in reprisal for what the United States said was a violation by the Japanese of a 1986 agreement to open their markets to U.S.-made semiconductor chips. The United States has become the world's foremost debtor nation; its trade deficit last year was nearly $170 billion.

Americans last year imported $58.6 billion more in goods from Japan than the Japanese imported from this country, and Congress has been moving in a more protectionist direction.

The Gephardt amendment would put in place a mechanism to force down "excess and unwarranted" trade surpluses amassed against the United States by Japan and other trading partners, if Congress found the trade advantage was gained through unfair practices. A country found to have gained such an advantage would have to lower the trade surplus by 10 percent annually or face retaliatory measures such as tariffs and import fees.

During the television interview programs, administration officials repeated their objections to the Gephardt bill, saying it would strip the president of sufficient leeway to negotiate solutions to trade disputes.

U.S. Special Trade Representative Clayton Yeutter, interviewed by NBC from Tokyo, said the trade legislation "is not fully acceptable to the administration...but let's wait until the end of the legislative process to make that determination."

Rostenkowski, interviewed on NBC from Phoenix, Ariz., said he didn't know whether the Gephardt amendment would pass.

Week's activities to account Holocaust

By JODI SWENGEL
Collegian Reporter

Weeklong activities are planned in observance of the nationally recognized "Days of Remembrance of Victims of the Nazi Holocaust."

The K-State Committee on Religion, comprising students from all major religious denominations, is sponsoring campus events. Although community events have taken place in the past, this is the first time activities will be on campus, said Don Fallon, coordinator of religious activities and adviser to the committee.

Fallon said there is a need to educate the students and create an awareness on campus about the holocaust.

"This is a time to remember the uniqueness of the suffering and annihilation, not only (for) the six million Jews who were killed, but also the other five million homosexual, weak, elderly and political prisoners who were also put to death during the holocaust," Fallon said.

Fallon said many people are not aware of the holocaust and many others are unable to face the reality of the occurrence. By creating awareness on campus, it might help people understand and remember those who were killed during the holocaust, he said.

Swastika flag at fraternity prompts local complaints

By The Collegian Staff

The swastika flag attached to the Phi Kappa Theta fraternity Friday and Saturday did not symbolize the same causes Adolf Hitler advocated. Instead, it symbolized a "Hogan's Heroes" party attended by fraternity members who did not go to the house's formal in Kansas City, said Ed Frankenberg, sophomore in electrical engineering and the fraternity's treasurer.

One member, who attended the party and asked not to be identified, said the emblem was actually a backward swastika "because (the swastika) was a joke that it is a perfect society." The flag was also used as a "Hogan's Heroes" party theme.

The television series "Hogan's Heroes" is a situation comedy about American POWs in Ger-

See FLAG, Page 14

Briefly

INTERNATIONAL

Prime minister concedes election

REYKJAVIK, Iceland — Prime Minister Steingrímur Hermannsson on Sunday conceded defeat in Iceland's general election, leaving left-wing feminists likely to hold the balance of power in negotiations to form a new government.

The center-right coalition of Hermannsson's Progressive Party and the conservative Independence Party emerged with 31 seats in the 63-seat Althing, Iceland's parliament.

The two parties held a total of 38 seats in the outgoing parliament, which at that time contained 60 seats.

Hermannsson conceded shortly before all votes from Saturday's election were counted. Of this North Atlantic island nation's 240,000 people, 170,000 were eligible to vote.

"I expect I will be handing in my resignation on Tuesday," Hermannsson told reporters.

Hermannsson ran mostly on an economic platform, taking credit for bringing inflation down from 130 percent in 1983 to 12 percent last year.

The left-wing Women's Alliance doubled its holding to six seats and said it won the right to enter the government. Leaders of major parties acknowledged the feminists would likely hold the balance of power in negotiations between center-right and left-wing parties.

S. African commandos' raid kills 4

LIVINGSTONE, Zambia — South African commandos who raided Livingstone killed four men and wounded a niece of the defense minister, but none of the victims was a guerrilla fighting South Africa, Zambian officials said Sunday.

South African troops in helicopters entered southern Zambia Saturday and then rode motorcycles into this quiet resort town on the Zambezi River, the officials said. They said the four men slain were civilians and the young woman injured was identified as Palekelo Kawina, 21, a niece of Defense Minister Gen. Malimba Masheke.

Kawina was shot in the face, right arm and leg, according to police spokesman Alfred Mulopa. He said she was hospitalized but he did not know her condition.

The South African officials said the raid was in response to a major build-up of African National Congress guerrillas in Zambia who planned to raid South Africa before the May 6 election for the white chamber of Parliament.

Dissidents suspend plan for coup

MANILA, Philippines — Dissident soldiers suspended plans for a coup attempt against President Corason Aquino, but the military remained on alert for trouble before May's congressional elections, the military said Sunday.

Authorities ordered military units in the capital to "red alert" this weekend after senior commanders got a tip that members of a military fraternity linked to previous attempts would try to take over a garrison in the capital.

But Col. Emiliano Templo, chief of staff of the National Capital Region Defense Command, told reporters Sunday the plotters called off their plans for the time being after Manila newspapers published accounts of the conspiracy.

He did not say how he had received that information.

The Aquino government has survived at least five military coup attempts or revolts in its 14 months in office.

In other developments, 20 armed men killed a congressional candidate from a party supporting Aquino, and spokesmen for the Communist-led National Democratic Front denied the guerrillas had sent extortion letters to foreign embassies in the capital.

By The Associated Press

REGIONAL

Fire damages KU fraternity house

LAWRENCE — Fire caused extensive damage to the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity house on the University of Kansas campus Sunday, authorities said.

No one was injured in the fire, which broke out about 1 p.m. It was brought under control about 2:30 p.m.

The second floor of the brick, two-story building suffered extensive smoke and fire damage, according to a Fire Department spokesman. The first floor had water damage, he said.

No cause of the fire had been determined, and it was under investigation.

Low oil pressure forces landing

WICHITA — An America West airliner with 72 people on board made an emergency landing Sunday at Mid-Continent Airport after the oil pressure dropped in one engine, the Federal Aviation Administration said.

The plane landed without a problem about 12:30 p.m., said Bob Raynesford, an FAA spokesman in Kansas City.

The Boeing 737, America West Flight 424, was traveling from Phoenix to Des Moines, Raynesford said.

It was the second emergency landing of a passenger jet at Mid-Continent in a week.

NATIONAL

Archie's 45 years depict Americana

MAMARONECK, N.Y. — In a two-story industrial building on a dead-end street in this suburban community lives Archie Andrews, the freckle-faced carrot-top who is Comicaland's oldest 17-year-old.

Archie has managed to remain almost the same through 45 years and three generations of readers, cavorting with friends Betty, Veronica and Jughead and driving high school principal Mr. Weatherbee and teacher Miss Grundy crazy.

Archie's appeal to more than 18 million readers in eight languages worldwide is shaped by two families who have been handling Archie and his friends since he was born wearing a bow tie and checked knickers in 1941.

"Archie's always doing something contemporary, but he's always a basically good kid," said Michael Silberkleit, the chairman and publisher of Archie Enterprises, which puts out a monthly Archie comic book as well as a daily strip printed in 300 newspapers.

"You could take 45 years of Archies, from the first one to the last issue we've just printed, and put them in a time capsule," he said. "When you opened it in the year 2100, you'd see 45 years of Americana."

Silent film treasures found in barn

DAYTON, Ohio — Workers at the Library of Congress film restoration laboratory have found a treasure of silent films among reels recently discovered in a Michigan barn.

After a week poring over the 250 cans of film, they identified a full version of the classic "The Italian" and even a comedy in which Oliver Hardy plays a villain, said Paul C. Spehr, assistant chief of the library's motion picture, broadcasting and recorded sound division.

The restoration laboratory is located at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near here.

"We consider that almost any silent film found is an important find because almost nine out of 10 silent films produced in the United States are lost," Spehr said.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

INCOME TAX ASSISTANCE is available from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. each Tuesday and Friday in the Union SGS Office.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT in Holtz Hall has many services available to students, including career counseling, letter, data sheet and resume preparation advisement, and others.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT: Students who will be completing requirements for degrees in the spring or summer should report employment or other plans if firm, or solicit help in Holtz Hall if seeking employment.

COORDINATED UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM IN DIETETICS applications are available in Justin 107 and are due May 1.

TODAY

BUSINESS COUNCIL meets at 4 p.m. in Union 209.

TEACHERS OF TOMORROW meets at 7 p.m. in Blument 112.

NATIONAL ORGANIZATION FOR WOMEN meets at 7:30 p.m. in Union 202.

STUDENTS IN SOLIDARITY WITH CENTRAL AMERICA meets at 8:30 p.m. in Union Little Theatre.

TAU BETA PI INITIATION meets at 4:30 p.m. in Union 207.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Jack Hugginsbotham at 1:30 p.m. in Ward 137. The dissertation topic is "Beta Particle Spectroscopy with Active Gamma-Ray Discrimination."

ALPHA KAPPA PSI BUSINESS MEETING meets at 8 p.m. in Union 207.

ENGINEERING STUDENT COUNCIL meets at 6:30 p.m. in Union 213.

STUDENT GERONTOLOGY CLUB meets at 6 p.m. in Union 208.

CHIMES meets at 9 p.m. in Union 208.

PI SIGMA EPSILON meets at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

BUSINESS AMBASSADORS meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 213.

TUESDAY

CHRISTIAN EDUCATORS BIBLE STUDY meet at 7 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

BOARD OF STUDENT PUBLICATIONS INC. meets at 4 p.m. in the Union Stateroom 2 to discuss equipment purchases, adjustment of rates for 1987-88 and approval of 1988 Royal Purple contract.

Casey enters hospital for care of pneumonia

By The Associated Press

GLEN COVE, N.Y. — Former CIA Director William J. Casey was in critical condition Sunday at a suburban New York hospital where he was admitted the day before for treatment of pneumonia, a spokeswoman said.

Casey, who underwent surgery for brain cancer in December, was admitted at about 2 p.m. Saturday to the intensive care unit at Glen Cove Community Hospital, a private acute care facility on Long Island, according to hospital spokeswoman Joan Bass.

Bass said she could not comment on the nature of his treatment but said he was conscious when he was admitted.

Casey's admitting diagnosis was aspiration pneumonia, which is caused by fluid in the lungs, she said. All patients in the intensive care unit are listed in critical condition, she said.

Casey has a home in Roslyn Harbor, just south of Glen Cove, where he has been staying for the past several weeks, said Ken Cynar, a spokesman for Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta.

Casey, 74, underwent surgery Dec. 18 at Georgetown University Hospital in Washington for removal of a malignant brain tumor. He was released from the hospital Feb. 28, but was readmitted for re-evaluation March 13 and discharged again March 28.

Casey resigned as CIA director for health reasons on Feb. 2. He had been in the midst of lengthy congressional testimony about the CIA's role in the Iran-Contra scandal when he went into the hospital in December and has not been able to resume testimony since.

President Reagan appointed Casey, a successful New York tax lawyer, to head the CIA in 1981 after Casey helped manage his campaign for president.

JANETTE MOTHOB

Speaker from the

African National Congress will be speaking on

Human Rights and Apartheid in South Africa
Tuesday April 28, 7:30 p.m. Kedzie Hall 106 sponsored by: Coalition for Human Rights

Open 7 days a week
HUNAM
Free Delivery
11 a.m.-1 a.m.
1116 Moro 537-0886
Call 539-8888 or 537-0886
1304 Westport 539-8888
(10% off with KSU ID)

Rocky Mountain
BONKERS
LATIN NIGHT
FRI., MAY 1
Featuring Salsa & Merengue Music
FIESTA AT BONKERS
1215 L. Blumont

FISHWALKERS
THE FUNDRINKERY
COMEDY INVASION
Tonight at 9
Dan Chopin
along with Michael A. Smith
IT'S A CRACK UP
531 N. Manhattan

NACHO MONDAY
- 50¢ Off ALL Kite's Homemade Nachos
- 75¢ Draws
- $2.50 Pitchers
- $1.00 Domestic Bottles
KITE'S
BAR AND GRILLE
619 N. 12th, Aggieville

Rocky Mountain
BONKERS
$2.50

Dark Horse
Saloon
$2
Pitchers
$1.75
Jack D.
619 N. Manhattan

MONDAY
BURGER BATTLE
- 25¢ Bar Burgers
- $1.40 1/2 Dozen
- $2.70 Dozen
5:00pm - 10:00pm
RIP & MO'S
aggievilles rock-n-roll bar

Piñata
Restaurante
Think Light
Think White . . . Monday Night
Pinata's White Sale
Any 2 Burritos $2.75
White Flour Taco $1.25
White Flour Taco Salad $2.25
(Offer good Mon., April 27, from 5 till close) 1219 Blument 539-3166 Open Daily at 11 a.m.

WILLIE THE WILDCAT

TRYOUTS
April 29th-May 1st
Varsity and Alternate Positions Open
Informational Meeting
Tuesday, April 28th
7 p.m. Ahearn Fieldhouse
For more information contact: Scott Johnson 537-0353

MARYSOL
New Bulb
SPECIAL
10 Tanning Sessions $20
(use anytime)
offer expires 5/3/87
1214C Moro 776-7874

SPRING FLING SALE
Taco Dinner
$1.77 reg. $2.25
Sancho or Burrito
88¢ reg. $1.30
Sun., Apr. 26-Sat., May 2
TACO HUT
Open 11 a.m.-11 p.m.
Sun. Mon. Wed. & Thurs.
11 a.m.-Midnight
Fri. & Sat.
Closed Tuesday
2809 Clafflin 539-2091

Eggs-'n'-cream

Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority member Judi Walter, junior in journalism and mass communications, spits out a whipped cream-covered egg in the Egg-and-I contest during Sigma Chi Derby Days Saturday at the Sigma Chi house. The purpose of the contest was to see how fast a three-member team could find an egg in the pan and put it on the table. Gamma Phi Beta won the competition.

Staff/Gary Lytle

UAB to emphasize regulation on illegal posting of notices

By TODD SCHULTZ
Collegian Reporter

The University Activities Board is cracking down on violations to K-State's Literature and Notice Regulations that specify designated locations for posting notices.

Reba Snively, personnel officer of University Physical Facilities, sent a letter of concern to Sally Routson, coordinator of student activities, about notices placed illegally on campus walls, doors or any other place in violation of regulations.

Routson said the letter stated problems that the physical facilities staff members were having with violations of some campus regulations.

Often when notices are taken down from walls and doors in buildings, the tape will remain on the wall. Removing the tape takes extra time for custodians and will sometimes leave a mark or pull off paint, Routson said.

Indoor and outdoor litter of posters and notices on campus is another problem the staff has with regulation violations.

"No notices or posters may be placed in places other than on designated bulletin boards without the approval of the general manager of University Physical Facilities," states section IV-B in the K-State Literature and Notice Regulations.

Most posters and notices that are not placed on bulletin boards might be in violation of the regulation.

Routson wrote a letter to UAB-registered organizations and advisers, University departments and building authorities. The letter explained why UAB is cracking down on unauthorized notice placement.

In the letter, Routson asked anyone who notices violations to take down the posters and forward them to her. She will send warning letters to sponsors of the notices with copies of the K-State Literature and Notice Regulations.

"A lot of things that are posted I hate to take down, because they inform the students, but we only have limited bulletin space," she said.

Routson doesn't mind if people have notices up in their offices or on their doors, but said her concern is with litter on campus.

"The top reason that people give for going to a college is appearance, and I remember that from when I chose a college," she said.

"We haven't changed anything," Routson said. "I am just enforcing what we already have under the K-State Literature and Notices Regulations)."

"This is not a problem in every building, but it is enough of a problem to cause the University Activities Board to enforce the regulations," Routson's letter stated.

"It's a worse problem in Denison and Eisenhower (halls)," she said.

Routson said she is more concerned with literature and notices advertising an event, not necessarily permanent information like office hours and services because temporary literature becomes outdated and accumulates in both indoor and outdoor locations.

All student organizations registered with the Student Government Association have a General Campus Regulations handbook. However, people aren't following these policies, Routson said.

"Not everyone knows the rules and regulations or tries to find them out," Routson said.

In response to Routson's letter, Ed Schiappa, instructor of speech, sent her a letter concerning the availability of political announcements and freedom of speech.

Schiappa said he is most concerned with "certain parts of campus where 'unauthorized areas' are important places for displaying messages — particularly political messages" such as the glass doors in Eisenhower.

"Fortunately I have not seen a big crackdown, nor do I see a need for one either," Schiappa said.

Schiappa believes home-building enforcement is sufficient.

Life Issues Fund For Education

3202 W. 13th Wichita, Ks. 67203 316-942-4007

Offering: Speakers, Films & Videos, Books, & Free Literature. Plus a monthly Newsletter.

CONGRATULATIONS!

GRADUATES

You've Earned Your Degree and have an Exciting Career Ahead. Laird Noller Ford in Topeka would like to reward your efforts with a $400 CASH REBATE toward a New Ford Car or Truck and Offer You a SPECIAL FINANCE PLAN through Ford Motor Credit.

For V.I.P. treatment and more information, please call or stop by Laird Noller Ford in Topeka. But Hurry, this program is available for a limited time.

Laird Noller
FORD • SAAB

P.O. BOX 946 • TOPEKA, KANSAS 66601 • 913-235-9211

21st to 23rd & Topeka
Topeka, Ks. 235-9211

8 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon., Tues., Thurs.
8 a.m.-6 p.m. Wed., Fri.
9 a.m.-6 p.m. Sat.

THINK SOFTBALL!
BALLARD'S are ready for you!

BATS ★

BALLS

GLOVES

ACCESSORIES ★

BALLARD'S in AGGIEVILLE 1218 Moro
539-2441

SHIRT SPECIAL

BUY ANY SHIRT AT REGULAR PRICE—GET ANOTHER SHIRT (of equal value or less) FOR 1/2 PRICE

Sport, Dress, and Knit Shirts
SALE ENDS SUNDAY, MAY 3rd

the casual encounter
—fashions for guys—

FEATURING SHIRTS BY:
Sero
Career Club
J.J. Cochran
John Henry Munsingwear
and more.

1208 moro
in aggieville

WAL-MART
"Pictureland" Portrait Studio
Exclusively at Wal-Mart

FREE 10x13 WALL PORTRAIT
on a traditional background
($18 retail value)

5 Days Only!

Yours with the purchase of our 20-piece portrait package 2-8x10s, 3-5x7s and 15 wallets on a traditional background

$12.95 ONLY plus 95¢ sitting fee

Bring in any lower-priced advertised offer AND WE'LL MATCH IT... because Wal-Mart's prices are UNBEATABLE!

We Welcome Everyone... BABIES, CHILDREN, ADULTS, and FAMILY GROUPS!

No appointment is ever necessary. Rates our selection. Black and White Background. Double exposure and other special effects. Portraits not available in advertised package $11.00 for each additional person in portrait. Minors must be accompanied by an adult. Satisfaction guaranteed. *Approximate size.

5 Days Only!
April 29, 30, May 1, 2, 3
Studio Hours: 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Daily
Sunday (where open): Store opening until one hour prior to store closing.

MANHATTAN, KS.
628 TUTTLE CREEK BLVD.

Wal-Mart Sells for Less

Now time for rational discussion of compact

The question of whether or not to dispose of nuclear waste is moot. The stuff is here, and it continues to be produced. The question facing Kansas now is what is the best way to deal with it.

The deadline is nearing for the selection of a host state to serve as the location of a disposal site for low-level radioactive waste produced within the five states, including Kansas, that are members of the Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact. Whether Kansas will remain a member of the compact remains to be seen as legislators address the issue of what is best for the state in their upcoming wrap-up session.

The pressure increases as decisions must be made, and extremists on both ends of the issue are greatly complicating the matter.

The activist who whips a crowd into a frenzy by declaring "Nuclear radiation killed all the trees and plants," while holding up a picture of a disposal site in the middle of the Nevada desert is just as irrational as the representative of a nuclear generators' group who says there are no legitimate concerns about the safe storage of nuclear waste.

Through all of the clamor on both sides of the spectrum, Kansas legislators will be faced in the upcoming week with the task of sorting through legitimate and illegitimate concerns to make the decisions they feel are the right ones.

Representatives of the five states involved in the compact convened Friday in Kansas City, Mo., at the request of Gov. Mike Hayden to address concerns raised by Kansas citizens who feel like they are being suckered into a situation that promises to be dangerous to the future of the state.

The compact's Dames and Moore studies that show 75 percent of the suitable sites for a low-level waste disposal facility as being in Kansas were based on faulty information, Kansas geologists say. The state must pull out of the compact and "go it alone" or get dumped on by four other massive waste producers, concerned citizens say.

And in the midst of it all, as the heat of legislative deadlines warm up the controversy, it seems that Kansas is in a deadlock. People have stopped listening to one another; too many people are only hearing what they want to hear and ignoring the rest.

Whether the state wants to address this issue or not, it's there.

Airline industry must reduce near-collisions

The airline industry is making headlines quite frequently these days.

Last Sunday, three near-collisions involving commercial jetliners occurred within about two hours in Texas and California. And on April 10, nine days earlier, pilots reported four similar incidents all within hours of each other in California, Michigan, New Jersey and Illinois.

Federal Aviation Administration officials refuse to characterize these events as unusual. At the same time, however, they acknowledge that last year there were 353 near-collisions involving commercial jetliners. That averages less than one per day.

The disclosure of the latest incidents came shortly after FAA Administrator Donald Engen held a press conference in an attempt to disseminate growing concerns about aerial collisions.

Engen suggested that the disclosure of preliminary reports of the incidents has led to an exaggeration of the danger. FAA officials emphasized that the reports had yet to be investigated.

In addition to the near-collisions, the FAA has been faced with a sharp increase in operational errors by air traffic controllers during the first quarter of 1987. To look into the errors, Engen said he was organizing a special task force.

The FAA's attitude on the issue seems to be to study and examine it for awhile before taking any action. Such an attitude appears to be a gross underestimation of the seriousness of the problem.

Studying the problem is fine. But all too often, the buck stops there. Without a direction, task forces can easily turn into task farces. In order to prevent further incidents and possibly a fatal air disaster, the FAA must show the courage to take the necessary action to rid the industry of this growing problem.

After all, would you feel safe if another airplane flew 150 feet directly under yours?

A renewed hope Peace protest signals optimism

I arrived in Washington, D.C., late Friday afternoon to find that I had not dressed right for the weather. It was 75 degrees when I left Kansas City and 55 when I landed. Hawaiian shirts just don't cut it in this weather. I hoped it would be warmer the next day for the march.

I was there to participate in the largest demonstration against U.S. foreign policy since the Vietnam War. The Mobilization for Peace and Justice in Central American and Southern Africa was put together by hundreds of labor, religious and activist groups across the country. There were to be simultaneous protests in Washington and San Francisco.

The amazing aspect of this demonstration is the media ignored it up until the day it happened. The people participating in it were notified through information packets distributed through the groups, radical and underground newspapers, and by word of mouth. It may not sound like much, but it worked.

I rode the subway to Union Station, about five blocks from the friend's house where I was staying. I saw the dome of Capitol Hill when I stepped out of the station and decided to check the place out. There was a small group of protesters on the front steps holding up banners. I started talking to one of them, a World War II veteran who had appeared on the "Phil Donahue Show" last year when he and three others went on a 45-day fast to protest aid to the Nicaraguan Contras.

While we were talking, a Dutch crew was filming us for a documentary it was making. The protesters were friendly, a quality that seems to accompany everyone in the peace movement. One woman loaned me, a perfect stranger, her jacket so I wouldn't freeze to death. I finally tore myself away to find my friend's house before it got dark.

The next day started at 9 a.m. I had to catch the subway to the White House where I was to meet some friends and eat breakfast.

KIRK CARAWAY
Collegian Columnist

Then it was off to the Ellipse, a park between the White House and the Washington Monument where the day's activities were to start. The place was already full of people preparing for the march, which was to start at noon. There were several tables set up selling T-shirts, buttons, bumper stickers, books and signs denouncing Reagan policy and all the hypocrisy it represents.

What really struck me was the unity of the different people and groups that were present. Laborers, religious leaders, women's rights and gay rights leaders, students, Arabs, Jews, Communists, Socialists, Libertarians, Democrats, anarchists and many, many more were united against a common enemy — American fascism as embodied by the Reagan administration. It was a wonderful sight to see.

The crowd kept growing all the time. We were told to start forming into lines to get ready to march to the Capitol. Each contingent was marked by yellow banners. We found the student banner and ran into the group from the University of Kansas. There were two K-State people with them, so we shook hands and joined them in line.

And we waited. One p.m. rolled around while we shivered in the cold dampness. The march was supposed to start at noon and we were beginning to get worried. Little did we know that the march had started at noon, but there were so many people trying to fit in one street that it backed us up until 2 p.m. Because of this, many doubt the police estimate of 75,000 people. There had to be more than that.

While waiting our turn in line, we got a chance to talk to the people around us. There was this older couple from Wyoming who joined our contingent because they couldn't find their own. There were a few people from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology behind us and some people from Boston in front of us.

We marched to the Capitol, arriving almost four hours after the march began. There was a National Consumers Week banner hanging from the Department of Commerce building that caused humorous remarks from the communist contingent. "How ironic. I couldn't have planned it better myself," one commented. I could see his point.

I thought I saw Amy Carter, the new-age student activist, surrounded by several people. The first thing I do is look for Abbie Hoffman, her partner in protest. I would really like to talk to him.

The news reports of this event so far are disappointing. They really missed what it was about. They talked about the "poor" turnout and their perceived "disunity" of the groups. Well, if you can get 75,000 people, with interests ranging from gay rights to nuclear disarmament, to march together in the cold rain, I would call that a success. I couldn't find anyone there who would call it disappointing.

There wasn't disunity among the groups, because their causes are linked by the simple concepts of peace and justice. Each group understood and respected the rights of other groups. This is where change begins. If the whites in this country hadn't been made aware of the oppression faced by blacks, we would still have segregation. It is only when the oppressors are made aware of their wrongdoing that a peaceful change can take place. And after this weekend, I have new hope for democracy in this country.

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR
Jonie Trued
MANAGING EDITOR
Sue Dawson
NEWS EDITOR
Erin Eicher
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
Deron Johnson
CAMPUS EDITORS
Susan Baird
Pat Hund
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson
BUS./AGR./GOV'T. EDITOR
Julie Reynolds
FEATURES EDITOR
Margaret May
SPORTS EDITOR
Tom Morris
ARTS/ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
Sarah Kessinger
COPY EDITORS
Laurie Fairburn
Valerie Johnson
Jim Schmidt
STAFF WRITERS
Jeff Bielser
Chris Doll
Judy Goldberg
Becky Howard
Jennifer Lindsey
SPORTS WRITERS
Jennifer Chaulk
Chase Clark
Jeff Rapp
David Wagner
REVIEWERS
Andre Kelly
Gary Johnson

COLUMNISTS
Kirk Caraway
Ron Honig
Scott Miller
CARTOONIST
Richard Broadfoot
PHOTOGRAPHERS
Jim Dietz
Brad Fanshier
Brett Hacker
John LaBarge
Gary Lytle
Steve Rasmussen
Rob Squires
EDITORIAL BOARD
Susan Baird
Kirk Caraway
Sue Dawson
Jim Dietz
Erin Eicher
Judy Goldberg
Ron Honig
Pat Hund
Deron Johnson
Sarah Kessinger
ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinet
ASSISTANT ADVERTISING MANAGER
Todd Schultz
CAMPUS ACCOUNTS/TEARSHEET REP.
Jada Allerhellen
SALES REPRESENTATIVES
Kim Greenwood
Judy Haelele
Mark Holly
ADV. GRAPHIC ARTISTS
Greg Crawford
Alex Menez

Letters

Parking problem

Editor,

The parking situation at K-State is severely against the students. There are 7,756 parking spaces available here, and there are about 9,500 parking permits issued. When one looks at the total number of spaces available compared to the number of permits issued, it doesn't look like there is much of a parking problem. But looking at the situation further, there is indeed a problem.

There are about 18,120 students at K-State and only 547 spaces are allocated exclusively to students not living in residence halls. Given this number, only 10 percent of those spaces are allocated exclusively for students. To make things worse, with the 6,150 student permits issued, a student could find a parking space only about 8.8 percent of the time. Assuming that about one-half of the 1,742 spaces that are available for both student and faculty/staff are taken by students, the student could find a parking space about 22 percent of the time. As one can see, these numbers are not to the advantage of the student.

The faculty/staff have 1,800 spaces — about 35 percent of the total spaces available. With 3,356 permits issued to faculty/staff, they can find a parking space about 54 percent of the time. This is much higher than the 8.8 percent for students. If the faculty/staff is given the other half of the 1,742 spaces, they can find a parking space about 78 percent of the time.

I would like to point out that as near as I can tell these figures are accurate. Feeling that they are accurate the University has done a great injustice to the students. Something needs to be done.

I think the solution is the University should hold open hearings on the problem. They should let the students express their opinion and explain when and where they have had parking problems. Beyond this the Student Senate should get involved and find out what can be done.

Once the students understand what is going on and act upon the situation I think something will be done. All I'm asking is that the University look at the situation and try to correct the injustice they have put on the students.

Bobby Dick
junior in accounting

Contradictory idea

Editor,

Re: The letter "Keep status quo" in the April 16 Collegian. The FENIX program staff fully agrees with what Phillip Anderson wrote in his letter to the editor. The policy of permitting the athlete to enroll before everyone else is contradictory to the ideas of providing services for all students.

MANY of the students we see in the FENIX program are involved with scheduling their classes around either a full- or part-time job, child care availability, family obligations and, in many cases, a long commute to campus.

When a babysitter is only available for certain hours, it is very difficult for adult students to wait for their assigned enrollment time and find that all the classes they need are full. And because no babysitter is available at another time, they must drop out or take a limited schedule.

The older students and the married students have unique problems that need consideration in scheduling as much as the athlete. We also hope that if the policy makers permit this type of special treatment, they will expand the exceptions to accommodate all students with special time constraints.

Ruth Hoeflin
FENIX Office
and one other

Letters may be brought to Kedzie 116 or mailed to the Collegian Editorial Page Editor, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

World recalls Soviet disaster

By The Associated Press

LONDON — From Japan to Sweden, where scientists first alerted the world to Chernobyl, demonstrators rallied Sunday on the first anniversary of the Soviet nuclear disaster that sent radiation drifting around the world.

The biggest protests were in Europe, where soaring radiation levels followed the April 26, 1986, accident, stirring feelings of panic and prompting authorities to discard vast amounts of suspect food and milk.

Violence broke out at a Dutch rally, with 39 people injured, but the demonstrations overall were peaceful.

In the Communist East, Czechoslovak police arrested five Westerners who protested in Prague, including a West German, a Swede and an Austrian who draped a huge banner across the facade of the National Museum, witnesses said.

"No Second Chernobyl — For a Future Without Atom," it read in Czech.

Demonstrators turned out at major rallies in France, West Germany, Spain, the Netherlands and Japan. In Italy, 50,000 people formed a 15½ mile human chain between a nuclear power plant and a military airport.

Thirty-one Soviets were killed and hundreds were injured in the fire and explosion at the Chernobyl reactor. About 135,000 people were evacuated from areas near the plant in the Ukraine.

About 2,000 demonstrators surrounded the Borssele nuclear power plant in southern Netherlands Sunday and 39 people were injured after protesters swinging baseball bats tore through a security fence. Riot police fought skirmishes with demonstrators at the end of the weekend-long blockade.

In Sweden, whose radiation monitoring centers first detected something was wrong even though Moscow was still silent, farmers lit fires along the northeast coast.

"We are not demonstrating, but we have not forgotten," a farmer in Ytterharnas, 60 miles north of Stockholm, was quoted as saying in Sweden's Dagens Nyheter daily.

Hundreds of Swedes, some carrying white coffins and crosses to commemorate those killed in the disaster, joined in mock funerals outside other nuclear power plants.

In Denmark, which has no nuclear power plants, protesters began a three-day vigil outside the Soviet Embassy in Copenhagen to mark the 67 hours between the explosion at Chernobyl and the first official Soviet acknowledgement.

There was no official commemoration in the Soviet Union on Sunday. But eight members of a small dissident organization, the Group for the Establishment of Trust Between East and West, held a 90-minute protest in central Moscow.

In London, where thousands of people marched in a protest on Saturday, a group from the environmental movement Friends of the Earth threw 31 wreaths from Westminster Bridge into the River Thames on Sunday.

In Thionville in northern France, site of the huge Cattenom nuclear plant, protesters from nearby West Germany and Luxembourg joined 3,000 people in a march through the town. They demanded a halt to the government's nuclear program, which provides two-thirds of all power in France, the most nuclear-dependent country in Europe.

In West Germany, thousands of demonstrators turned out at an atomic waste recycling plant in Bavaria and about 300 marched through Cologne.

Gathered in front of the towering Cologne Cathedral, the demonstrators unfurled a banner reading, "Chernobyl — A Year Later and Already Forgotten."

The huge protest in Italy came amid fierce debate on whether referendums on the country's nuclear power program should be held.

Staff/Greg Vogel

Emergency help

Emergency workers lift Tina Unterburger, Manhattan, onto a stretcher after a one-vehicle accident Sunday afternoon near Seth Child's and Anderson. Unterburger and four passengers were treated and released at The St. Mary Hospital; two passengers were held for observation.

Finalist encourages open-door policies

By The Collegian Staff

Every good director of Personnel Services should possess a "we" concept and a "listen" concept, said Lucius C. Jones, third finalist for the position.

Jones spoke at an open interview session Friday morning in Union 213.

To incorporate the "we" and "listen" concepts, Jones said he would implement an open-door policy and make his office a place where employees could receive answers and solve problems. Staff members must be able to come to the director and criticize his or her performance if necessary, he said.

Jones said he likes to tell staff and employees, "Don't bring your problems to me, bring your solutions," and together they can refine the solution.

"You must make the (staff) feel that you care for them as much as they care for you," Jones said, adding that maintaining authority is important as well.

Another change Jones said he would like to implement is making Personnel Services a human resources department, not a true personnel department.

While the latter department acts as a processing post, a human resources department gives employees training and support, and helps them in career planning and development, he said.

Jones has been the university personnel director and affirmative action officer at Central State University, Wilberforce, Ohio, since 1979. In addition, he was a consultant to Elder Beerman Stores Inc.

The open session for Richard J. Rehmer, fourth finalist for Personnel Services director, is 9:45 a.m. to 10:45 a.m. today in Union 213.

Men's Glee Club & Women's Glee Club

Tuesday, April 28

8 p.m.

All Faiths Chapel

Free admission

PROGRAM: Works by Persichetti, Viadana, Randall Thompson, Praetorius, Britten, Schubert (Jean Sloop, soprano) plus Glee Club Favorites.

Groups protest U.S. foreign policy

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Opponents of the Reagan administration's foreign policy, some wearing the tie-dyed T-shirts and bell-bottom jeans popular among '60s protesters, spent Sunday learning non-violent tactics for a demonstration Monday outside CIA headquarters.

"We're trying to prepare people for all the various types of problems that we can think of," explained Athena Bradley, one of the leaders of a group of 70 people who were learning how to deal with police and other authorities.

The protesters plan to gather Monday morning at the CIA headquarters in suburban Langley, Va., to demonstrate U.S. foreign policy in Central America and South Africa. The CIA's role in providing help for the U.S.-backed anti-Nicaraguan guerrillas is one target of the protesters.

About 500 to 600 people will invite arrests by disrupting rush-hour traffic at two entrances to the CIA headquarters, according to organizers.

The protest is sponsored by "The National Mobilization for Justice and Peace in Central America and Southern Africa," an umbrella organization of about 200 groups representing a variety of liberal causes.

While the protesters trained, another group calling itself the "National Impeachment Coalition" marched on a sidewalk in Lafayette Park, across from the White House.

The group of about 20 protesters carried various signs, most of them calling for the impeachment of President Reagan and Vice President George Bush for supporting the anti-Nicaraguan Contra rebels.

Reagan and his wife, Nancy, were at Camp David, Md., the presidential retreat in the Catoctin Mountains 60 miles northwest of Washington.

The students listened to Bradley, then formed lines on a lawn near the Capitol to practice techniques such as dealing with police and trying to explain to their families and friends why they were protesting U.S. involvement in Central America.

Tom Jackson, who traveled to Washington from Chicago, said he wanted to protest because "it's time to tell the American people what's going on in Central America."

On Saturday, a crowd estimated by police at 75,000 gathered on the Capitol steps to hear a variety of speakers denounce Reagan administration foreign policy.

Closed Classes — Fall 1987

00100	03610	06780	10910	13630	20120	22890	25830	26810	31306	33750	35820
00170	03620	06790	10970	13690	20140	22900	25840	26820	31320	33770	35970
00370	03630	06800	10980	13710	20170	23060	25850	26840	31330	33790	36040
00440	03640	07060	10990	13740	20180	23190	25860	26910	31440	33810	36120
00920	03660	07310	11000	13760	20260	23240	25870	26920	31450	33860	36170
00930	03670	07330	11010	13890	20270	23650	25880	26940	31850	33880	36180
01250	03680	07480	11020	13950	20520	23920	25890	27000	31870	33960	36370
01320	03720	07500	11070	14290	20530	24060	25910	27040	31900	34020	36510
01340	03730	07550	11080	14440	20540	24070	25920	27050	31960	34030	36790
01630	03750	07590	11100	14580	20550	24180	25930	27070	31970	34040	36800
01640	03760	07690	11130	14590	20570	24200	25940	27090	32040	34050	36810
01950	03770	08020	11140	14720	20600	24320	25950	27210	32090	34120	36820
02110	03780	08050	11150	14730	20610	24350	25960	27220	32110	34190	36840
02290	03790	08070	11160	14740	20620	24420	25970	27230	32130	34200	36850
02330	03850	08160	11170	14750	20760	24540	25980	27250	32140	34210	36860
02340	03930	08180	11180	14760	20830	24730	25990	27290	32230	34220	36890
02380	04160	08190	11190	14780	20840	24770	26020	27670	32510	34240	37050
02410	04570	08230	11200	14790	20870	24780	26030	27680	32550	34260	38030
02470	05140	08240	11210	14800	20990	24790	26050	28350	32560	34330	38060
02480	05150	08250	11310	14870	21020	24800	26060	28940	32940	34340	38110
02490	05160	08260	11340	15130	21050	24910	26080	29200	32950	34360	38370
02540	05170	08290	11350	15140	21080	24920	26100	29560	32960	34370	38460
02550	05180	08420	11360	15150	21090	24930	26130	29570	32970	34380	38480
02560	05230	08460	11370	15170	21190	24940	26140	29650	32990	34420
02580	05390	08670	11380	15240	21300	24950	26160	29660	33000	34430
02990	05420	08690	11390	15260	21380	25000	26170	29680	33010	34440
03040	05430	08690	11400	15300	21390	25130	26190	29720	33020	34490
03060	05440	08700	11410	16490	21400	25140	26200	29740	33030	34690
03270	05460	08849	11420	16510	21420	25150	26220	29800	33040	34750
03300	05470	08850	11430	16531	21430	25160	26260	29880	33050	34760
03310	05500	08930	11440	16550	21450	25170	26340	29890	33060	34810
03320	05510	08950	11470	16770	21460	25180	26350	29910	33070	34830
03330	05550	08970	11490	16920	21470	25210	26360	29920	33080	34840
03350	05560	09020	11530	17180	21480	25220	26370	29960	33090	34850
03360	05570	09060	11540	17700	21490	25230	26380	29970	33100	34870
03370	05580	09240	11550	17740	21530	25270	26390	30000	33110	34890
03380	05590	09400	12420	17810	21540	25310	26400	30030	33120	34900
03390	05600	09480	12970	13910	21560	25320	26420	30110	33150	34920
03400	05610	09490	13050	19040	21610	25330	26510	30500	33190	34950
03470	05650	09510	13060	19070	21670	25350	26530	30510	33270	35000
03480	05690	09520	13090	19090	21680	25360	26600	30630	33290	35010
03490	05700	09530	13360	19170	21690	25710	26650	30650	33310	35020
03500	06320	09560	13370	19240	21900	25750	26670	30720	33340	35050
03510	06330	09610	13380	19580	21980	25760	26700	31010	33350	35600
03530	06370	09770	13400	19590	22530	25770	26710	31020	33370	35610
03540	06400	10780	13450	19610	22830	25780	26720	31090	33440	35640
03550	06430	10790	13460	19750	22840	25790	26730	31190	33450	35640
03560	06440	10800	13480	19810	22850	25800	26750	31200	33460	35650
03570	06460	10890	13590	19940	22860	25810	26770	31240	33470	35690
03610	06640	10900	13620	20090	22870	25820	26800	31250	33480	35810

HOW DO THEY DO IT?

BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND

PYRAMID PIZZA'S MONDAY GLADNESS

Why be mad, when you can be GLAD?

BUY 1 GET 1 FREE

Any size Pizza!

We deliver... FAST and Friendly-like.

FEATURING NOON DELIVERY

539-4888

We accept Visa and MasterCard

MasterCard VISA

Now Offering Thin Crust

BUY 1 GET 1 FREE

Any Size Pizza 539-4888

GOOD MONDAYS ONLY

MasterCard VISA

SPECIAL REPORT

RADIOACTIVE WASTE

State Sen. Paul Feleciano, D-Wichita, addresses a Nuclear Waste Public Information Meeting Friday at the Bicentennial Center in Salina. Feleciano said he believes Kansas would be getting the worst deal he has seen in his 15 years of representation if it were to remain in the Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact. Most of the crowd of 700 voiced opposition to Kansas remaining in the five-state nuclear waste compact.

Radiation produces various health problems

By SUSAN L. DAWSON
Managing Editor

Radiation. The word has different connotations for each who hears it. Some think of Chernobyl and its victims and ask, "how?"

For others, it is a painful reminder of the constant battle with cancer. Often their question is, "why me?"

Because of the current need for a radioactive waste disposal facility, those living in likely areas for the site are posing questions and concerns about the possibility of exposure and how it will affect them.

WHAT IS RADIATION?

"Hospital Preparation for the Management of Radiation Accidents," a handbook prepared by the University of Cincinnati Medical Center handbook, defines a radiation accident as "an unforeseen occurrence, either actual or suspected, involving exposure of or contamination on or within humans and the environment by ionizing radiation."

In his section on "Perspectives on Radiation Accidents," Dr. Eugene L.

Saenger describes the ways in which radiation affects humans.

"There are two ways in which a human being can be exposed to radiation — and they may occur simultaneously," Saenger writes. "The source of radiation may be entirely outside the body — and this is called external radiation. Here the radiation strikes the individual and is absorbed, depending upon its physical characteristics. It goes through the body much like an X-ray. Energy will be absorbed, but the exposed person does not become radioactive.

"On the other hand, the radiation may be deposited on the skin. This radioactive material may enter the body through wounds, be inhaled or ingested producing what is called internal radiation or radioactive contamination."

The same handbook contains a section titled "Potential Sources of Excessive Radiation Exposure," by Vincent J. Sodd. He lists the potential sources of radiation exposure in four categories: medical, academic, industrial and other.

REACTIONS TO EXPOSURE

Radiation exposure is measured in rads, or radiation absorbed dose. According to Karen Kennedy's "Diseases," from the Nurse's References Library, the human body can be exposed to 200 rads without fatal consequences. An exposure of 450 rads can be fatal 50 percent of the time, while 600 rads is nearly always fatal, Kennedy said.

There are three categories in which she places the acute stages of these effects: hematopoietic, from 200-400 rads; gastrointestinal, more than 400 rads; and cerebral, more than 1,000 rads.

The first category includes symptoms such as nausea, vomiting, diarrhea and anorexia (loss of appetite). These effects subside 48 hours after exposure. Two to three weeks after exposure, there is a possibility of blood changes which can lead to weakness, anemia, nose bleeds and an increased susceptibility to infection.

The effects of radiation are cumulative. At the gastrointestinal stage, ulceration, infection and dehydration can be seen. Circulatory collapse can follow, which in many cases ultimately leads to death.

Under the third category fall tremors, convulsions and coma. Death may follow within hours or days.

TYPES OF RADIOACTIVITY

Debbie Crawford, nuclear medicine technologist at Memorial Hospital, 1105 Sunset Ave., said there are three types of radioactive waves: alpha particles, beta particles and gamma rays.

"In a nuclear accident, you're going to have all three" types: alpha, beta and gamma, Crawford said.

Gamma rays are the least dangerous, while alpha particles can cause the most damage, Crawford said. The effects of alpha and beta can be disastrous.

According to Dr. L.R. Santee in his book, "Roentgenological Interpretations," gamma rays are the most penetrating of the three but are not as intense because they spread out.

X-RAYS

X-rays are gamma rays, Crawford said. These go through the body and are measured in rads.

"When radiation is focused on a small area, the body can absorb and survive many thousands of rads, providing they are administered in carefully controlled doses over a long time," Kennedy said in her book. This is the basis for radiation therapy.

LONG-TERM EFFECTS

Dr. Harry R. Maxon, addresses "Long-Term Effects of Exposure to Ionizing Radiation" in the handbook.

"At low doses the predominant effect is cell damage which increases as the amount of radiation increases. Since the cells are still able to replicate themselves, the result is tumor formation and developmental or genetic diseases. At higher radiation doses, the cells are either killed or become sterile which results in impaired function due to a decrease in the number of cells in a given organ — baldness, underactive thyroid glands, etc. These functional derangements will vary in severity, depending on how much of the affected organ is lost."

Kennedy agreed, saying a huge dose of radiation over a long period of time can result in skin damage, hair loss, malignant neoplasm (tumors), and genetic defects.

"The period of risk will continue for some time interval after exposure," Maxon said. "There is presumably no totally safe end point to individual risk."

Basic definitions of nuclear waste, hazardous waste issues

Hazardous Waste Definition

The Kansas Department of Health and Environment defines hazardous waste as "waste or combination of wastes which because of its quantity, concentration or physical, chemical, biological or infectious characteristics may cause or significantly contribute to an increase in mortality or an increase in serious irreversible illness; or pose a substantial present or potential hazard to human health or the environment when improperly treated, stored, transported or disposed of or otherwise managed."

Statistical Summary for Kansas

— During the calendar year 1984, the latest period for which data is available, regulated quantities of hazardous waste were generated in 43 of the state's 105 counties. Almost 82 percent of the total was produced in Sedgwick County and 17 percent in Douglas County.

— The total quantity of hazardous waste generated by regulated industries in the state was 2.5 million tons.

— Other states shipped 7,991 tons of hazardous waste into Kansas. Most of this was sent to General Portland Inc. treatment, storage and disposal facility in Fredonia.

— Kansas generators and treatment, storage and disposal facilities shipped 9,889 tons of hazardous waste out of the state during the year, resulting in Kansas being a net exporter.

— On a relative scale, Kansas ranks among the best 20 percent of states on hazardous waste management and control. A measure of state performance on this subject is the number of Superfund sites each state has on the EPA's National Priorities List.

Kansas has six of the nation's 703 sites currently listed for Superfund attention. The five states that top the list are: New Jersey, 91; New York, 57; Michigan, 56; Pennsylvania, 48; and Minnesota, 36.

Cleanup is in progress at each of the following Kansas sites. Wherever the primary responsible parties can be identified, action is taken to require them to assume responsibility for correcting the problems.

Kansas Superfund Sites

1. Cherokee County Site

A mining area covering about 410 square miles in Cherokee County. As a result of extensive lead and zinc mining and related activities covering almost 100 years, huge tailings piles containing lead, zinc and cadmium exist.

A 1981 report by the University of Kansas School of Medicine indicated an unusually high cancer rate in the area.

EPA has obligated $900,000 for work at this site.

2. Arkansas City Dump

Approximately 50 years ago, the Millikan Refinery was abandoned at this location following an explosion and fire. A major portion of the property was purchased by A.C. Industries, which partially renovated the area and developed and sold commercial lots.

Though some wastes were reportedly removed from the area, portions of the site are still covered by hardened residues and oily sludge ponds. City wells are located one-half mile to the west of the site on the west bank of the Arkansas River.

The above map of Kansas indicates the six sites in the state where federal cleanup action is taking place. All of the sites are on the Superfund list.

KDHE is in charge of cleaning up the site, for which the Environmental Protection Agency has obligated $500,000.

3. Doepke-Holliday Site

The Doepke Disposal Service operated an industrial waste landfill on the bluffs of the Kansas River Valley in Johnson County in the 1960s. Leachate from the site flows through a culvert into the Kansas River.

To date, the EPA has spent about $130,000 of the $370,000 obligated for this project.

4. John's Sludge Pond

The Environmental Protection Agency found lead contamination of ground water in the immediate vicinity of this Wichita site, which was a disposal area for recycled waste oil between 1951 and 1970. Lead is a principal contaminant of the sludge.

The City of Wichita has nearly completed cleanup work at the site and has spent nearly $300,000 in the process.

5. Strother Field Industrial Park

This Cowley County site consists of about 20 industrial and commercial businesses as well as two inactive solid waste landfills. Samples collected by the state indicated the presence of chlorinated organic chemicals in several wells. About 2,300 people use ground water within three miles of the site as a source of drinking water.

EPA has obligated $100,000 for work at this site, giving KDHE the responsibility to carry it out.

6. Big River Sand Company

Located northwest of Wichita, this site was used to store approximately 2,000 drums of paint-related wastes. Sampling in late 1982 and 1984 by KDHE and EPA detected heavy metals and solvents in nearby residential wells. In addition, soil sampling detected toluene and xylene.

EPA has obligated $500,000 for the site cleanup.

Nuclear Waste Definition

Nuclear waste is a product usually generated as a result of human activity. Most nuclear waste requires special handling to avoid the health and environmental hazards associated with radiation.

High-level Waste

High-level waste, such as spent fuel from nuclear power plants, is the most highly radioactive waste. Spent fuel containing high-level waste is produced primarily by commercial nuclear reactors. Such waste will eventually be placed in deep, geologic repositories to be operated by the U.S. Department of Energy.

Low-level Waste

Low-level radioactive waste is anything contaminated with small amounts of radioactive material. This includes protective clothing and tools that have come into contact with radioactive material and sludge from processing plants that does not meet high level standards. The waste can remain active up to 350 years.

Disposal

Low-level waste materials are either compacted or solidified by mixing with cement or asphalt, then packed in boxes or steel drums for shipment by truck to specially selected and prepared disposal sites.

Once it reaches a disposal site, the waste is buried in trenches that are 50 feet deep and several hundred feet long. The waste is then covered with earth and a carefully constructed trench cover.

Current Disposal Sites

There are three low-level radioactive waste disposal sites currently accepting waste. They are located near Richland, Wash.; Beatty, Nev.; and Barnwell, S.C.

Radioactive Waste Generators

Three major types of radioactive waste generators exist — industrial, medical and research. Industrial generators include manufacturing plants, industrial radiographers and oil and gas well loggers. Medical generators include specific licensees and general licensees. Research generators include state, local and private colleges and universities and private research firms.

Disposal Costs

The average nuclear power plant ships between 10,000 and 30,000 cubic feet of low-level radioactive waste each year for burial, costing anywhere from $250,000 to $1.5 million annually. These costs are included in electric rates and are paid by the customers.

Electric utility officials have expressed concern about the costs for low-level waste disposal. The recently passed Low-Level Radioactive Waste Policy Amendments Act allows host states to double their surcharges in 1988 and again in 1990.

If other states do not develop new sites according to the schedule established in the act, higher surcharges may apply.

State officials wrestle with disposal

Geology study may hurt developer's efforts

Chronology of events

January 1982 — Kansas joins the Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact Commission. The commission represents Nebraska, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Kansas. The compact is ratified by Congress in 1985.

January 1987 — Initial legislative opposition to a waste site in Kansas is brought before the Kansas House by Rep. LeRoy Fry, D-Little River. The bill opposes the possible selection of two salt mines near Lyons for use as a regional radioactive waste disposal.

February 1987 — A list of possible waste sites is submitted to the five states. Compiled by the New York-based Dames and Moore research firm, the list draws criticism for bias toward Oklahoma, which it indicates as having no possible waste sites.

February 1987 — Former K-State Nuclear Engineering Professor Robert Clack offers two miles of land, located west of Manhattan, to Gov. Mike Hayden. Clack recommends the land be used as a site for above-ground storage of nuclear waste. Residents near the area speak out against the offer.

March 1987 — The Kansas

House passes a bill that would prohibit underground storage of radioactive waste material in the state. Many see the bill as the first step toward removing Kansas from the five-state compact.

April 1987 — The Kansas Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee rejects a proposal to remove Kansas from the Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact.

April 1987 — The Kansas Senate acts to prohibit underground storage of radioactive materials in the state. The same day the Senate rejects a proposal to remove Kansas from the Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact.

April 1987 — State officials begin promoting Kansas as a site for a $4.4 billion atom smasher designed to shed light on the beginnings of the universe.

June 5, 1987 — The Commission will meet to select a potential developer for a waste storage site.

Jan. 1, 1988 — A host state for the site of the storage must be identified, and a siting plan must be developed.

Jan. 1, 1993 — A storage site must be open and accepting waste.

By ERIN EICHER
News Editor

The Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact Commission "shot itself in the foot" with the widely misunderstood Dames and Moore Phase I and Phase II studies, the representative of Arkansas said Friday at an emergency meeting of the commission.

Representatives of the five member-states convened Friday morning at the Sheraton Inn in Kansas City, Mo., to address concerns about the compact presented by Lt. Gov. Jack Walker on behalf of the people of Kansas.

Whether Kansas will remain in the compact or "withdraw...and chart a new direction" depends largely on the resolution of several questions the meeting was called to address, Walker said. The decision whether to remain or withdraw will be voted on next week in the final session of the Kansas Legislature, he said.

One of the main concerns raised in the meeting by Kansas was the intended use of the studies conducted by Dames and Moore, a New York consulting firm, which identified possible suitable sites for a compact facility on the basis of computer analysis of data collected from the five states. Of the sites indicated, 75 percent are in Kansas.

The studies, originally intended to be a "broad screening study of existing data," have been widely misinterpreted by the public as indicating the only sites currently being considered for a disposal facility, said Phyllis Moore, representative from Arkansas.

"For the developer, we may have made the job a lot harder (with the reports)," Moore said. "I think the developer is going to have a hard time going into the areas where the public is so disturbed and frightened — those areas that have been identified on the composite maps."

"On the other hand, for the developer to go into any other area that hasn't been identified as a potential site, then I think that there's going to be opposition. People will say, 'But the compact's already excluded us.'"

Although Walker said the best way to remedy the public perception problem would be to "throw out the whole thing and start over again," commissioners voted only to exclude certain maps in the Phase II report.

A motion carried, however, to amend commission policy to emphasize the intended use of the reports as a guideline that will not limit the developer in making a site selection based on on-site inspections and public acceptance.

"I think it's unfortunate that the commission tried to do a massive screening of five states and narrow it down from there," said Richard Paton, assistant to the president of USEcology Nuclear, one of two candidate developers that have submitted facility proposals to the commission.

States in other compacts have had more success selecting a host state for the regional disposal facility before completing a siting study, he said.

Host state selection is another difficulty faced by USEcology and the other applicant for site development, Westinghouse Electric Corp., in their dealings with the Central States Compact.

Unlike any other compact agreement of the eight nationwide, the Central States agreement leaves the selection of a host state for the facility up to the developer, said Terry Tait, representing the U.S. Department of Energy. All other compact agreements call for the states to agree on a host state before completing a siting study.

This added responsibility for the developer was probably a factor that discouraged other companies from applying for the building contract, he said.

"The developer is not going to pick the site. He'll get killed," said James Wright, project manager for site development if Westinghouse is selected as the developer.

Both developers call for more involvement of the commission in the selection of a host state. USEcology's plan outlines proposed criteria by which commission members could make the host state selection themselves.

Addressing another concern raised by Walker about existing waste amounting to more than 2.3 million cubic feet in Oklahoma, the commissioners were promised a written waiver from the Kerr-McGee Corp.,

Oklahoma City.

Annita Bridges, manager of media relations and issue research for Kerr-McGee, said she would probably be able to obtain a waiver from the company stating that none of an inventory of radioactive sludge currently stored by the corporation at their Sequoyah Fuels Inc. subsidiary would be disposed of in a regional facility.

The company plans to process its current inventory of sludge, which is large enough to fill half of the proposed 5 million cubic feet regional disposal facility.

"(The sludge) is not considered by us to be a waste, but a product with economic value," Bridges said. "It is not our intention (to dispose of the sludge in a compact facility), and we will certainly try...to write an agreement in the kind of language acceptable to the compact."

Because the compact previously did not specifically outline a plan for waste disposal after closure of the facility in the original host state, commissioners voted to add a stipulation stating responsibility for future storage sites would be rotated among all member states.

Other issues addressed at the emergency meeting included whether the host state would be entitled to the full amount of rebate money offered by the federal government.

To receive money, a host state will have to be chosen and a plan outlined for site selection by Jan. 1, 1988.

Lawyer says legal questions allow state to leave compact

By PATTI PAXSON
Collegian Reporter

Legally, Kansas has at least a half a dozen defenses for withdrawing its obligation to the compact it entered into with four other states that make up the Central Interstate Low-level Radioactive Waste Compact, said Steve Boyda, a Marysville attorney.

Kansas' prominence in the compact has of late been debated hotly at town meetings across the state, in the state Senate and House and in the governor's office. At the forefront of the debate are several unanswered legal questions, Boyda said.

"The compact as written — assuming it's valid and enforceable — strips the host state of all control of the site with the exception of overseeing and liability responsibilities," Boyda said.

"Legally, there is nothing preventing the compact commission from deciding to double, triple or quadruple the size of the site once it is built. The compact can legally decide to extend the operation of the site beyond the initial 30 years (the amount of time the host state must operate the site stated in the compact agreement)," Boyda said.

Additionally, he said, no restrictions prevent the compact from upgrading the site to a high-level radioactive waste site.

The compact agreement, as written, does not prohibit the disposal of toxic waste at the site, Boyda said. He contends Kansas' recently approved law banning burial of low-level radioactive waste has little significance considering the compact has the force of federal law behind it.

As stated in the supremacy clause of the Constitution, federal law "shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby."

DAMES AND MOORE REPORT
Boyda challenges the legality of the compact agreement because of its dependence on a flawed geological study of the five-state region.

The Dames and Moore Suitability Study, a study commissioned by the compact for the purpose of locating the best geological sites for the waste facility was found to be flawed by the Kansas Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources after extensive review by the Kansas Geological Survey and the Kansas Natural Resources Council.

Under the terms of the compact, the compact commission has an obligation to the five states to provide an accurate, reliable study for use in selecting a host state.

Because the commission did not "act in good faith" where this matter is concerned, Boyda said, it can be considered a breach of contract on the part of the compact, and therefore none of the five states has a legal obligation to abide by the terms of the agreement.

Kansas Attorney General Robert Stephan originally projected Kansas could be fined upwards of $25 million for withdrawing from the compact. He has since backed down from the assessment, stating the flawed geological report may constitute a breach of contract.

"Our legal opinions, until now, have not examined whether the compact has fulfilled its obligation in terms of the studies being correct, appropriate and scientific. If it's shown that they are not, I doubt Kansas will have any liability," Stephan said.

FEDERAL LAWS

U.S. Rep. Dan Glickman, D-Wichita, joins with Boyda in challenging the legitimacy of the compact based on the original federal law from 1980 and its amended version ratified by Congress in 1986.

The amended legislation is waiting ratification by the individual states but is substantially different than the original law. Glickman and Boyda state the entire legislation could be considered not binding because of the differences, but only the Supreme Court can decide.

If Kansas chooses to withdraw from the compact, several legislators contend, Kansas would be unable to stop other states from shipping in their wastes for disposal at Kansas' site because it would be left unprotected by compact law.

They base their argument on federal law, under the Interstate Commerce clause of the Constitution, that forces independent waste sites to accept all waste, including that from out-of-state, brought to a storage facility for disposal.

Texas, however, has decided to forsake federal compact law and has implemented disposal statutes dictating its disposal facilities are to take only waste from in-state generators.

An article in the March 1987 issue of the Kansas Natural Resource Council Journal states, "Texas argues that a state which owns and operates its own disposal site may use the 'market participant' exception to the interstate commerce clause (of the Constitution)."

Boyda cited other aspects of the controversy that have legal implications. For example, he said, the compact agreement does not address whether the other four states could be liable in sharing responsibility with the host state for any possible site damage and leakage.

The developer (the company constructing the site) is only responsible for leaks and damages for the initial 30 years. After that, the host state is responsible for maintaining the site and handling any future damages, leaks or other problems that may occur, Boyda said.

This aspect has tremendous financial implications, he said, because the huge financial burdens three states containing LLRW sites have had to carry because of radioactive leakage problems.

Boyda said because Kansas is the obvious choice for the site, Kansans need to be aware of the more-than-we-bargained-for implications of staying in this particular compact and under the ambiguous terms of the compact agreement.

He added that Kansas could withdraw penalty-free if three of the five states decide to withdraw. The withdrawal of three states dissolves the compact.

Staff/Steve Wolgast

During the question-and-answer period at the Nuclear Waste Public Information Meeting in Salina, John Shelf asks the panel about nuclear waste disposal.

Report plans for present, shows future need

By MARGARET MAY
Features Editor

The following is a summary of the Low-Level Radioactive Waste Management plan written by the Kansas Department of Health and Environment, February 1987.

BACKGROUND

Each individual state is required by the Federal Government to provide for the disposal of low-level radioactive waste (LLRW) generated within its borders or to enter into interstate compacts to develop regional facilities.

The Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact Commission (the Commission) consists of five states — Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana. The Kansas Legislature enacted the compact law in 1982, and the five-state compact was ratified by the Congress on Dec. 19, 1985.

COMPACT ACTIVITIES

On June 25, 1984, the Commission selected the firm of New York consulting firm Dames and Moore to perform a Phase I exclusionary study. The purpose of the study was to examine each state according to the technical criteria enumerated in the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's licensing requirements.

The study serves as a guidance for initial screening of the region and is not intended nor is it to be a final determination of areas suitable for facility location. Completed in July 1985, the study identified areas in all five states that meet the NRC criteria, including 32 counties in Kansas.

The Commission also contracted with Dames and Moore to complete a Phase II exclusionary study for additional guidance. This study uses more detailed screening criteria than Phase I and is intended to show preferred siting areas.

Preferred siting areas have been identified in 18 counties in Kansas, 10 counties in Nebraska, two counties in Arkansas, one county in Louisiana and none in Oklahoma.

Those in Kansas are: Atchison, Doniphan, Brown, Jackson, Nemaha and Marshall in the northeast corner of Kansas; Republic, Jewell, Mitchell, Lincoln, Smith, Osborne, Phillips, Rooks and Graham counties in north-central Kansas; Gove, Logan and Wallace counties in west-central Kansas.

The developer to be chosen in June must complete a Phase III study and a comprehensive environmental impact analysis of the proposed site and will be responsible for submitting a licensing application to the host state (or the NRC if a site is proposed in Oklahoma). Only the host state or the NRC have authority to issue a license.

FACILITY OPERATION

The regional facility has been projected to receive and manage approximately 150,000 cubic feet of LLRW annually from all generating sources in the Compact region. This volume could be understated for the first few years of operation because of a backlog of LLRW.

More than 90 percent of the low-level radioactive wastes generated within the compact region comes from the region's seven nuclear power plant units.

DECOMMISSIONING

Another issue the Dames and Moore report addresses is the decommissioning of power reactors in the compact states between the years 2003 and 2016. The Dec. 6, 1986 draft, "Evaluation of Regional Waste Characteristics," projects that LLRW from decommissioning activities will be disposed of over a 4-year period for each of the region's seven reactor units at the region's facility. The study indicates the Wolf Creek reactor will result in 630,000 cubic feet of LLRW from decommissioning activities.

Four 4 million cubic feet of LLRW may be the result of decommissioning activities in the region. It has not been determined yet if the regional LLRW management facility will be required to handle these decommissioning wastes. Based on current projections, all of the region's currently operating reactor facilities will be scheduled for decommissioning during the next 30 years.

OPTIONS

If Kansas should be selected as the host state, LLRW from other states will be transported to and disposed of at a site in Kansas. If a member state were selected to host the first regional management facility, current projections will require the selection of a site for a second facility in approximately 30 years.

The areas in which all of the region's nuclear power plants are located were eliminated from siting consideration in the Dames and Moore Phase I Site Exclusionary Study. The main purpose for this is that nuclear power plants are located near large bodies of water in order to provide the required cooling capacity. One of the important considerations in siting a LLRW management facility is avoiding the potential for intrusion by water.

States actively vie for collider project

By The Associated Press

The federal government's proposed superconducting super collider, a $4.4 billion proton beam accelerator for pure research, has nearly half the state governments scrambling to become the host of the immense project.

Twenty states already have appropriated or spent more than $22 million in their efforts to land the SSC, and at least five other states are actively considering such campaigns.

Although President Reagan only approved the project in February, one state began preparing for the competition three years ago.

The eagerness to win the project stems from its construction and permanent jobs, hundreds of visiting scientists, an annual budget of $270 million, no pollution and the prestige of being a world center of research.

"We're talking about 4,000 to 7,000 scientific and technical jobs, plus all the support people," said U.S. Rep. Dennis Hastert, whose Illinois district includes most of a proposed site.

The U.S. Department of Energy solicited site proposals from every state beginning April 1; they are due Aug. 3. Energy Secretary John S. Herrington says a site could be selected in January 1989.

The DOE has set guidelines for the eventual site, such as geologic stability and the availability of water and electricity. Much of the money is being spent to determine whether a site meets those criteria.

The SSC will be a buried ring 52 miles in diameter. Proton beams will be accelerated in opposite directions to nearly the speed of light, confined in the ring by powerful superconducting magnets. The protons will then be smashed together in a collision at an energy of 40 trillion electron volts, nearly 20 times the energy provided by any existing accelerators here or in Europe.

The debris left by such collisions gives scientists insights into the most basic nature of matter and the universe, and the higher the energy, the more detail can be seen.

Illinois already is the site of the nation's largest particle accelerator, the Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory near Batavia. It started budgeting money for its SSC proposal three years ago and has so far invested $5.4 million. Gov. James Thompson has requested an additional $15 million for the coming fiscal year.

Texas also got into the competition early, appropriating $500,000 in 1985 and $500,000 last year.

Other states interested in landing the SSC include Alabama, Arizona, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Georgia, Kansas, Louisiana, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Tennessee, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

Residents mourn 6 victims of Florida gunman's spree

By The Associated Press

PALM BAY, Fla. — Residents of a grieving community came together in churches Sunday as clergymen and mental health experts tried to help the city recover from the trauma of a shooting rampage that claimed six lives.

"There has been enough focus on the horror, it is time to put that behind us and move on to that which will heal the hurt," Pastor Calvin Bodeutsch told some 100 people at a special memorial service at Grace Bible Church for victims of the shooting.

Bodeutsch and other city ministers said many members of their congregations sought counseling over the weekend.

In addition to the six who were killed, including two policemen, 14 people were injured Thursday night when a gunman went on a rampage through two shopping centers, holding hostages and trapping hundreds of people in stores. One of the wounded remained in critical condition Sunday, and seven others also were still hospitalized.

Suspect William B. Cruse, 59, was being held under a suicide watch, in isolation with 15-minute cell checks by jailers, at the Brevard County jail in Sharpes, said spokeswoman Joan Heller.

Cruse is charged with six counts of first-degree murder, and prosecutors have said they may seek the death penalty.

Brevard County mental health authorities set up a crisis center the day after the shootings and called in Jeffrey Mitchell, a disaster psychologist from the University of Maryland.

Mitchell went to San Ysidro, Calif., to help people cope after the 1984 slayings of 21 people at a McDonald's restaurant there.

Enjoy smooth, creamy
Frozen Yogurt
that tastes like Ice Cream
but with 80% less fat!
—FREE SAMPLES—
I Can't Believe It's
YOGURT!
Frozen Yogurt Sweets
OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily
Noon-11 p.m. Sundays
Nauticus Towers—Aggieville

No Pains
for a Change
with Chiropractic
Care

Dr. Mark Hatesohl
call 537-8305
Chiropractic Family Health Center
(in the Candlewood Center)

TEST RIDE GIVES CYCLIST TASTE OF THE GOOD LIFE

Test ride a Schwinn® LeTour® and you're riding in style. Your bicycle will be professionally fitted to the way you like to ride, and your purchase is backed with a Free 30-day check up and Schwinn's famous No Time Limit Warranty.*
Get a taste of the good life. Test ride a Schwinn at

The PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS
1111 Moro Aggieville 539-5639

SCHWINN
For the ride of your life.

*See your Authorized Schwinn Dealer for details on Schwinn's warranty. © 1986, Schwinn Bicycle Co., Chicago

ROLLING THUNDER's 1st Birthday Sale

Rolling Thunder turns one year old this week and we're celebrating with our 1st Birthday Sale starting today at 10 a.m. The lists below represent some items on sale BUT NOT ALL!

All items are on a first come first serve basis. Stop in and register for FREE gifts to be given away daily.

CAR STEREO AM-FM CASSETTE DECKS

Buy Any Deck And Rear Speakers And Get 3 1/2 in. Fronts for $1

	Reg.	Sale
Cooustic Fastforward-Autostop	$100 ⁰⁰	$61 ⁰⁰
Cooustic Auto Reverse Fastforward RX503	140 ⁰⁰	101 ⁰⁰
Cooustic Hi Power Mini Nose Auto Reverse RX504	180 ⁰⁰	121 ⁰⁰
Cooustic 12-Digital Auto Reverse RX505	220 ⁰⁰	151 ⁰⁰
Sony Auto Reverse, Digital XR-27	240 ⁰⁰	171 ⁰⁰
JVC 15 Station Digital Auto Reverse KSR17	200 ⁰⁰	171 ⁰⁰
Clarion 15 Station Memory Auto Reverse 8400	220 ⁰⁰	181 ⁰⁰
Sony Hi Power Auto Reverse XR-31	270 ⁰⁰	191 ⁰⁰
Clarion Music Search Digital Auto Reverse 8600	270 ⁰⁰	201 ⁰⁰
Sherwood Programmable, Music Search, Auto Reverse, CD Input CRD175	250 ⁰⁰	211 ⁰⁰
Sony Music Search, Digital, Dolby XR-47	280 ⁰⁰	231 ⁰⁰
Alpine 7163 Digital Auto Reverse	250 ⁰⁰	251 ⁰⁰
Alpine Quick Release Bracket-Auto Reverse-Dolby-Music Search-Hi Power-Pulls Out of Dash For Use In Second Vehicle or Boat	400 ⁰⁰	371 ⁰⁰
Alpine New 7901 AM-FM CD Player	650 ⁰⁰	591 ⁰⁰

RADAR DETECTORS

	Reg.	Sale
Colbra Trap Shooter RD-2100	$120 ⁰⁰	$101 ⁰⁰
Whistler Double Super Hetrodyne	140 ⁰⁰	121 ⁰⁰
Colbra Trap Shooter Mute, Volume Small Design	170 ⁰⁰	141 ⁰⁰
Whistler 400 Quadrodyne	200 ⁰⁰	161 ⁰⁰
Whistler Remote Mount Theft Proof	250 ⁰⁰	201 ⁰⁰
Colbra 3160 Road & Track Apr. '87 Best	300 ⁰⁰	221 ⁰⁰
Whistler Spectrum LED Readout	300 ⁰⁰	231 ⁰⁰

CAR SECURITY & ALARM SYSTEMS

	Reg.	Sale
Crime Stopper Keyless Alarm	$100 ⁰⁰	$81 ⁰⁰
Alpine Keyless Alarm Installed with Hood-Door-Trunk	200 ⁰⁰	121 ⁰⁰ installed
Crime Stopper—Award Winner CS-9502	250 ⁰⁰	191 ⁰⁰ installed
Code Alarm Security System	350 ⁰⁰	241 ⁰⁰ installed
Alpine Remote Control Security System	500 ⁰⁰	401 ⁰⁰ installed

PORTABLE AM-FM STEREO CASSETTES AND ACCESSORIES

	Reg.	Sale
Toshiba AM-FM Cassette With Headphones	$80 ⁰⁰	$61 ⁰⁰
Toshiba Auto Reverse 3-Band Equalizer	100 ⁰⁰	81 ⁰⁰
Sony WM-F45 Sport AM-FM Cassette	104 ⁰⁰	81 ⁰⁰
Toshiba Dolby Auto Reverse 3-Band Equalizer	120 ⁰⁰	101 ⁰⁰
Walkman Foldup Portable Speakers	25 ⁰⁰	11 ⁰⁰
Speaker System Deluxe	50 ⁰⁰	21 ⁰⁰
Tune Belt For Walkman	15 ⁰⁰	11 ⁰⁰
Headphone Extension	7 ⁵⁰	4 ¹¹
Light Weight Headphones	12 ⁹⁵	4 ¹¹

CAR STEREO—SPEAKERS

	Reg.	Sale
Cooustic HS-830 3 1/2 Dash Speaker	$50 ⁰⁰	$21 ⁰⁰ pr.
Get These for $1 when you purchase any Deck & Rear Speakers
JVC 5 1/4 In. Water Resistant Full Range Door Or Dash Speaker	55 ⁰⁰	31 ⁰⁰ pr.
JVC 4 In. Water Resistant Door Or Dash Speaker	60 ⁰⁰	41 ⁰⁰ pr.
Cooustic 6 In Metal Grill Hi Power Handling	70 ⁰⁰	41 ⁰⁰ pr.
Pyle Super Inverted Dome Door, Dash Or Visor Tweeter	90 ⁰⁰	51 ⁰⁰ pr.
Alpine 6100 Subwoofer 100 Watt 10 inch	110 ⁰⁰ ea.	51 ⁰⁰ ea.
JVC 4 In. 3-Way Hi Power Water Proof Door-Dash	95 ⁰⁰	61 ⁰⁰ pr.
Cooustic 6x9 80 Watt 2-Way Rear Deck	100 ⁰⁰	71 ⁰⁰ pr.
Pyle 4x10 Rear Deck or Pickup Side	100 ⁰⁰	81 ⁰⁰ pr.
Cooustic 6x9 80 Watt 3-Way Rear Deck	120 ⁰⁰	81 ⁰⁰ pr.
JVC 3-Way 6x9 Water Resistant 150 Watt	140 ⁰⁰	91 ⁰⁰ pr.
Alpine 6293 100 Watt 6x9 coax	160 ⁰⁰	121 ⁰⁰ pr.
Road Thunder 8 In. 2-Way Pickup-Hatchback	200 ⁰⁰	161 ⁰⁰ pr.
Stillwater Design Van-Pickup Mini Or Fullsize	240 ⁰⁰	201 ⁰⁰ pr.
Rolling Thunder® 250 Watt Hatchback Kicker	350 ⁰⁰	291 ⁰⁰ pr.

CAR STEREO AMPS—BOOSTERS—EQUALIZER AMPS

Buy Our Best Selling Deck with our Best Selling Alpine 6x9 Speakers and get Alpine 36 watt amp FREE

	Reg.	Sale
Cooustic 50 Total Watts Amp	$65 ⁰⁰	$41 ⁰⁰
Cooustic Dual Power Meters 50 Total Watts 7-Band Equalizer	80 ⁰⁰	51 ⁰⁰
Alpine 36 Total Watts Amp Or Receive FREE when Purchasing Alpine 7163 Deck Alpine 6205 6x9 Speakers	85 ⁰⁰	61 ⁰⁰
Sherwood 2 or 4 Chn. 7-Band Night Illumination 50 Watt Eq-Amp	100 ⁰⁰	81 ⁰⁰
Alpine 7-Band 36 Watt Booster-Amp Equalizer 3210	130 ⁰⁰	91 ⁰⁰
Cooustic 75 Total Watt Amp	160 ⁰⁰	111 ⁰⁰
Alpine 36 Watt Amp With Subwoofer Crossover	130 ⁰⁰	101 ⁰⁰
Alpine 4 Chn. 72 Total Watt Amp	130 ⁰⁰	121 ⁰⁰
Cooustic Amp 190 — 125 Watts Total Universal Input	200 ⁰⁰	151 ⁰⁰
Alpine 3519 60 Watt Amp Our Best Seller	220 ⁰⁰	171 ⁰⁰
Alpine 3520 120 Watt Subwoofer Amp	300 ⁰⁰	251 ⁰⁰
Alpine 3530 4 Chn.-120 Car Amp	430 ⁰⁰	351 ⁰⁰

HOME ELECTRONICS

	Reg.	Sale
Digitrac 280E Cartridge & Needle Replace Your Old Needle	$70 ⁰⁰	$41 ⁰⁰
10-Band Total Equalizer With Night Illumination	80 ⁰⁰	51 ⁰⁰
American Acoustic 10 Yr. Warranty 8 In. 2-Way	100 ⁰⁰	61 ⁰⁰ ea.
JVC Semi Automatic Turntable	100 ⁰⁰	81 ⁰⁰
20-Band Total Equalizer With Tape Loop	140 ⁰⁰	91 ⁰⁰
Case Audio Cabinet, Solid Oak	280 ⁰⁰	131 ⁰⁰
Gold Star Fully Programmable Compact Disc Player	220 ⁰⁰	151 ⁰⁰
JVC Double Cassette Hi Speed	200 ⁰⁰	171 ⁰⁰
Onkyo AM-FM Receiver 3 Yr. Warranty	230 ⁰⁰	191 ⁰⁰
JVC Compact Disc Player	270 ⁰⁰	221 ⁰⁰
JVC Remote Control 90 Watt Total Receiver	305 ⁰⁰	241 ⁰⁰

ROLLING THUNDER

1126 Moro
776-5507
Aggieville

Approved Financing
Available

Factions unify under Arafat

By The Associated Press

ALGIERS, Algeria — The Palestinians' "parliament-in-exile" ended a stormy session Sunday with the PLO reunited under Yasser Arafat, but with a Middle East peace settlement looking more remote than ever.

For the first time since they split four years ago, Arafat, chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization, and his leading Marxist rivals, Nayef Hawatmeh and George Habash, appeared hand-in-hand and smiling as the 18th meeting of the Palestine National Council came to a close amid prolonged applause.

But the bitter dissension between hardliners and Arafat-led moderates that was aired during the five-day session suggested the PLO's new-found unity is fragile and subject to constant upheaval.

Arafat once again survived concerted efforts by Syria's President Hafez Assad and Syrian-led radicals to oust him, but he paid a heavy price, bowing to demands that he abandon his relationship with Egypt.

Palestinians' pact seen as uncertain, turbulent tian President Hosni Mubarak.

An earlier, informal agreement would have allowed Arafat to maintain his relationship with Mubarak in violation of an Arab boycott imposed after Egypt signed a 1979 peace agreement with Israel.

In exchange, Arafat had agreed to drop all attempts to negotiate a future peace settlement under a Jordanian umbrella.

Apparently with strong backing from Syria and the host government, Algeria, Hawatmeh and Habash on Saturday abruptly upped the ante: to maintain the PLO's new-found unity, Arafat would have to accept a Palestine National Council command to abandon his relationship with Egypt.

The final agreement was endorsed early Sunday by all the PLO's rival factions and confirmed Arafat as chairman.

A senior spokesman of Hawatmeh's Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine told reporters the radical movements had decided to boycott the council until Arafat submitted to their demand.

Habash, Hawatmeh and Arafat met alone in Arafat's villa for more than an hour Saturday and emerged arm-in-arm to announce that Arafat had agreed to the demands.

Arafat's right-hand man, deputy PLO commander Khalil Wazir, told reporters Arafat felt Palestinian unity took priority over relations with Egypt.

He added that the newly appointed

PLO executive committee, dominated by Arafat loyalists, will determine future relations with Egypt.

This leaves Arafat a possible loophole for discreetly continuing contacts with Mubarak under cover of the executive committee's approval.

Mubarak angrily withdrew his observer delegation from the council to protest the radicals' maneuvering.

Another moderate Arab leader, King Hassan II of Morocco, also withdrew his delegation and proclaimed an unlimited Moroccan boycott of the PLO.

He was angry that the PLO invited to address the council Hassan's worst enemy, the Algeria-backed Polisario guerrilla movement fighting his army in the Moroccan-annexed Western Sahara.

A political resolution adopted on the final day of the council reiterated all the PLO's most radical positions. These included the demand for a sovereign Palestinian state with Jerusalem as its capital.

K-State art montage to be shown in KC

By KARI COMPTON
Collegian Reporter

A piece of artwork depicting the different aspects of engineering research activities at K-State has been chosen for display at the Annual Kansas City Art Directors Show.

Rich Gardner, graphic designer for engineering extension and the College of Engineering, and Jason Hungate, a 1986 graduate in art, designed a montage of drawings and photographs of research projects for the book "Research Activities — K-State College of Engineering."

The montage represents each department in the College of Engineering and was designed to show the variety of research that goes on in the college.

Examples of the art in the montage are a blueprint-type sketch of a robot arm piece, photos of Durland Hall at sunset, a glove designed by the engineering department for the NASA space program and the nuclear reactor core.

The montage will be in the category of packaging label covers and is eligible for a medal or the award of best of show.

The 1987 art show will consist of 115 entries on exhibit May 9 at Kansas City's Union Station and the next week at Crown Center in Kansas City, Mo.

Gardner said only 9 percent of the 1,400 entries were selected to be shown due to stricter standards this year for the contest.

Judges for the works to be shown and for the final awarding of medals are noted national professionals in the art and design field, Gardner said.

Nevil offers pleasing musical potpourri

By ANDRE KELLEY
Collegian Reviewer

At the tender age of 24, singer/songwriter/guitarist Robbie Nevil is finally getting some respect. After years of behind-the-scenes work with such artists as El De Barge, Vanity, Eddie Kendricks and the Pointer Sisters, he's finally cut a self-titled LP. From it sprang the summer anthem "C'est La Vie," and the rest, as they say, is history.

Music Review

The album is a broad sampler of Nevil's tastes and diverse talents, and despite a few holes, it works. Like Whitney Houston's potpourri platter, there's something for everybody on this disc.

Hands down, Nevil has one of the most unique and soulful voices this side of George Michael. His distinctive gulp'n'gasp vocal style is much like a cross between Stevie Wonder and Kenny Loggins. Add to that his feverish guitar and smart, concise lyrics and he's surely the most welcome "newcomer" of the year.

He hits the mark with the reggae-drenched "Wot's It To Ya," which could easily be borrowed from UB40. Then he tells a loudmouthed flirt to move on in the funky-go-nasty "Walk Your Talk," following it up with the calypsoed "Simple Life." The latter cut is a lot like Michael McDonald's "Sweet Freedom," only the ending isn't as brassy. And somehow, one of the few throwaway cuts on the album, "Neighbors," got included. This tune is pure soundtrack schlock but its ignorant and manic melody will make any Prince fan shriek with flashbacks of "1999."

Of the two slower tracks, "Back to You" is OK, but in trying so hard to soar, the song gets grounded with smaltz and never gets off the ground. Its fluffed arrangements and thin vocals come off like Wham's "A Different Corner," which was basically shake 'n' bake elevator music and just about as memorable.

He does much better with "Look Who's Lonely Tonight." The lyrics are poetic and affable, but the vocal is lukewarm and lacks the intensity of his faster cuts. Nevil shares the same criticism that Lionel "pop" Richie does when it comes to breaking-it-all-the-way-down ballads. Their performance should come unrestrained and impassioned rather than rushed and half-baked like these two songs.

The best tracks are his orientaling "Dominoes" and remake of the Pointer Sisters "We Are The World" contribution, "Just A Little Closer." These are premium Nevil. They feature his funky, nutshell lyricism and knockdown drag-out vocals. Anyone who can get away with "Girl, if you're the shy kind, I'll ask the stars to turn their backs," and make it work has got to be truly bold.

Nevil may not please everybody, but that certainly won't be because he hasn't tried. For a debut LP, this project is light-years away from that over-orchestrated mixed mastered mess that Gino Vannelli put out last year.

At times, Nevil does rely on studio flash, but unlike many newcomers, he gets away with it. He's proven he's got a kitchen full of musical genres to choose from, and no matter what he throws in the pot, you know it'll be different, and good.

Here's hoping he's got more recipes.

Woman returns home after wayward journey

By The Associated Press

BOISE, Idaho — Nellie Obendorf is home at last, more than a month after she and her husband survived 13 days on Girl Scout cookies and diet soda after their car was stranded by two Kansas blizzards.

Obendorf, 65, arrived in Boise by airplane Saturday evening, said her son-in-law, Bill Graves.

She and husband Orville, 71, went astray on the 1,430-mile journey from their Nampa home to visit her sister in Iola, Kan. Their car got stuck

March 22 near a field in Norton, Kan., and was buried by two successive blizzards.

A farmer found them April 4 and, after a few days in the hospital, they set out again for Iola. Another wrong turn sent them to Eagle, Colo. They eventually returned to Kansas on April 10.

Her husband, unable to walk, was airlifted back to Idaho and admitted to a hospital in Caldwell, where his feet were amputated Wednesday. He is expected to remain hospitalized several months.

Wichita Family Planning Inc.

Absolutely Confidential Abortion Services

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate appointments, days, weekends, and evening hours.

3013 E. Central Wichita, KS., 67214 (316) 688-0107

Freshman & Sophomore Summer Job Opportunity
 available with
The United States Marine Corps
 No obligation to be a Marine!
 Earn between $1300 & $2100 a month plus meals & housing.
 Call
 913-841-1821
 (collect)

K-State Players
 presents
Still Alive and Well
 &
Living on Planet Earth
 Written & Performed by
 Joel Climenhaga
 May 1 & 2
 Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.
 Call 532-6398
 Mon.-Fri. 12-5

Getting summer work shouldn't take all summer.
 At ADIA, we've got a variety of interesting assignments ready and waiting. Great opportunities with top companies, at top pay, right in your area. And our flexible work schedules leave plenty of time to enjoy the summer. So this year spend your summer working at a job. Not looking for one.
ADIA
 The Employment People
 Overland Park 913-451-8070
 Midtown K.C. 816-756-0340
 Gladstone 816-436-9904

IF CHILD ABUSE BECAME LEGAL WOULD IT BE RIGHT?
ABORTION IS THE ULTIMATE CHILD ABUSE
 There are alternatives to abortion. There have to be.
 Paid for by Dream House Inc.

GRADUATION GIFT IDEAS from BORCK BROTHERS

 • A bow tie
 • an assortment of L.Y.O.N. skin or hair care products
 • brass bookends
 • a gift certificate
 • POLO cologne
 • striped suspenders
 • money clip
 • world globe
 • computerized golf game
 • Lamy writing instruments
 • Canterbury leather wallet
BORCK Brothers
 1100 Westloop Place (913) 537-8436
 Westloop Shopping Center
 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat. 11:30-5:30 Thurs.

OUR NEIGHBORHOOD

Hardees
DELIVERY SERVICE
537-2526

 WILLIE WANTS YOU ***

IN KSU STADIUM
Wildcat Football 1987
 * Six Super Home Games
 * A Willie Nelson Concert
 * The Pride of Wildcatland
 * Exciting Promotions
All for just $30.00
 Tickets on sale Monday
 Ahearn Ticket Office
 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
 VISA and Mastercard accepted

An alternative to the rent-a-truck move . . .
 You pack, you inventory, you load. Then you travel to your new house comfortably and leisurely. Having arrived refreshed, you're ready to unload your belongings and to devote yourself to making your new home and your new life all you want them to be.
NORTH AMERICAN PAYMENT PLAN AVAILABLE
King's

northAmerican.
 Phone 537-3360
WeDrive
RELOCATION SERVICES

Promoting state wheat commission's purpose

By JONI MANLEY
Collegian Reporter

For 30 years the Kansas Wheat Commission has been working to increase the sales and consumption of Kansas and U.S. wheat throughout the United States and worldwide.

The commission was started by Kansas farmers who wanted to promote Kansas wheat and develop a marketing promotion strategy for Kansas wheat.

The Kansas Legislature created the commission in 1957 to increase both domestic and international marketing of wheat and wheat products through education, public relations, technical assistance and research.

This act required all producers to contribute money to the wheat commission according to the amount of bushels they sold. A four mill (4/10 of one penny) per bushel promotional levy is collected at the first point of sale to support the wheat marketing effort.

The money the commission receives is spent for the promotion of Kansas wheat and development of a marketing plan, said Becky Koch, communications director for the commission.

Koch said the commission wants to encourage consumers in the United States and abroad to use U.S. wheat. The goal is to "increase the sales and consumption of all U.S. wheat," she said.

The Kansas Wheat Commission and 14 other states support the United States Wheat Associates — the only group representing U.S. wheat producers in international marketing.

United States Wheat Associates has 13 offices around the world to conduct market development activities designed to increase U.S. wheat exports to overseas markets. Through these overseas offices, Kansas farmers help fund more than 300 projects in more than 110 countries.

Two international wheat market developments in which the United States is involved are: the starting of milling and baking schools in China, Brazil, Egypt and other countries to increase wheat food quality and consumption; and providing technical assistance to wheat buyers, millers and bakers around the world to help them increase purchases, product quality and consumption of U.S. wheat.

The commission sponsors research that helps improve the marketability of Kansas wheat, Koch said.

Recent projects in which Kansas has participated include: the development of higher protein varieties with better milling and baking qualities; determining the economic feasibility of cleaning wheat at the country elevator; using hard red winter wheat to make pastas, noodles and breads; development of an objective test for determining wheat hardness; and development of hard white wheat to compete with Australian wheats.

In the U.S. market, emphasis is placed on the importance of wheat foods for weight control, increasing fiber in the diet naturally and basic bread preparation.

The commission also focuses on educating the farmers on how their money is being used, Koch said.

One of the goals of the commission is "to get the wheat exports from the United States back to the level it was at a few years ago and even higher," Koch said. "We also want to increase the wheat consumption in the United States and abroad."

Religious leaders urge new PTL head to quit

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — The Rev. Jerry Falwell said he may step down as early as Tuesday as head of the PTL Club, while the ministry's fallen leader, Jim Bakker, is denying allegations that he used prostitutes and engaged in homosexuality.

In an interview broadcast Sunday on the CBS program, "Face the Nation," Falwell said he is under pressure from ministers around the country to withdraw from PTL, the popular television ministry that has been rocked by scandal.

"I really am praying about how long I should be involved there," he said, adding that it is an open question whether he will remain in the leadership after PTL's board meets on Tuesday.

Falwell was asked to take over as head of the PTL ministry last month, when Bakker resigned in the wake of admissions that he engaged in extramarital sex with a church worker, Jessica Hahn.

On Friday, the Rev. John Ankerberg, another television evangelist, claimed he had evidence that Bakker also had used prostitutes and engaged in homosexual acts.

"I have never been to a prostitute, and I am not or have ever been a homosexual," Bakker responded Saturday night in a statement read by his wife, Tammy.

"Tammy and I have felt led of God not to join in all the shouting and accusations against us," Bakker added. "Someday we hope to quietly tell our story, a story of two sinners saved by grace."

Losses difficult to figure

Blizzard's impact on cattle uncertain

By CHRIS HALL
Collegian Reporter

The effects of the storm that dropped almost 30 inches of snow in two days on western Kansas March 28-29 will probably not be known for a long time, if ever.

There will really be no way to figure the total losses, said Mike Jackson, senior in agricultural economics. Not only did many cattle die in the blizzard, but weight loss of the cattle that survived was extensive.

Jackson, who drove through the affected area two days after the storm, said he heard of one pen of cattle that was bought before the storm with a pen average weight of 750 pounds. After the storm, when the cattle were loaded, the average weight loss was 100 pounds per head.

Many cattle starved, suffocated or wandered away during the blizzard. Cattle are known to put their tails to a strong wind and just start walking.

Owners of a ranch north of Scott City found some of their stock at the Garden City Airport, 45 miles away, Jackson said. These cattle were found alive. Others were not so lucky.

Randall Turner, senior in agricultural economics, is from Quinter, about an hour west of Hays. His family owns a cow-calf operation.

"We lost about 100 head of 650-pound yearlings and 90 head of baby calves," Turner said. "Some were piled three or four deep in corners where they couldn't break a fence. Once they get down, the snow will cover them and they suffocate."

"We lost over 50 percent of the big (steers)," Turner said. "That is what really hurts because they were pretty high-priced this spring."

'I saw dead cattle in milo fields and cattle grazing in the road ditches.'

— Mike Jackson

Robin Cole, senior in agricultural economics, said her family lost only 10 head on their feedlot in Modoc; however that is more than $5,000 worth.

"Our neighbors found 20 head of their cattle 55 miles south of their place," Cole said. As the cattle walk away from the wind and snow, they will break down fences to keep moving.

"I saw dead cattle in milo fields and cattle grazing in the road ditches," Jackson said. "The Cimarron Police Department was up all night keeping cattle out of town. They were walking toward the lights."

"I heard of one guy who had 89 loaded cattle and was driving when the storm started. He unloaded them to a pen. When the storm was over and he went back to get them, all were dead but one," Jackson said.

"Three counties near us were declared disaster areas," Turner said. "At first I thought we suffered the worst damage. Then I heard about a rancher who had purchased 650 head of 600-pound steers to put on grass. He lost 500 in the blizzard. It seems like the stories keep getting worse."

COUNTRY GIFT SHOP

Bears • Dolls • Folk Art • Home Decor
"East of Holidome"
Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30 539-3854
2209 Pl. Riley Blvd. Manhattan, Ks. 66502

Submarine Sandwich Shop

We Deliver!
537-DELI

PUBLIC HEARING

Recommendations and Report on the Findings University Ad Hoc Committee on

PARKING UTILIZATION

at the Union Forum Hall

APRIL 27th

3:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Copies of the full report are available at the Library, Deans' office & SGA offices

GLAFLIN Books & Copies

•Professional Resumes
•4¢ Self Service Copies
•Full Service Copy Center
•Quality Dissertation Copying
OPEN DAILY
M-F 8-9 Sat. 9-5 Sun. 12-9
FirstBank Center Denison & Claflin
776-3771

Auntie Mae's Parlor

AGGIEVILLE

Monday HIGH ROLLERS

Any Call or Premium Drink only

$1.75

616 N. 12th 539-9967

Falsetto's PIZZA

1127 Moro • Aggieville

539-3830

FREE DELIVERY

Every Monday It's

2-fer-1's

Buy any Pizza and receive one of equal value FREE!

539-3830

$10 Introductory

Vicki, top hairdresser with years experience. Specializes as perm artist.

For introduction Vicki is offering $10

(reg. $16) cut with style through May 15.

Call Vicki for your personal appointment.

776-8830

TINA/
Studio 32
FOR MORE

Candlewood Shopping Center

Dr. Paul E. Bullock Optometrist Make Brown Eyes Blue

•Soft contact lenses that let you change eye color are now available for astigmatism.

•A large selection of the latest style eyeglass frames.

•Eyeglasses warranted against breakage for one year.

•We provide professional care and management of the contact lens patient.

•Most contact lenses available same day.

"See your eye care professional annually"

Payment plans available

404 Humboldt Prof. Bldg. Manhattan, Ks.

776-9461 local or

Toll Free

1-800-432-0036

Jet off to one of these fantastic cities for job interviews, to visit relatives or for a great summer vacation!

Miami 7-day advance purchase refundable $158

Dallas 30-day advance purchase 50% refundable $98

Seattle 7-day advance purchase $138

Chicago 14-day advance purchase $50

New York 7-day advance purchase, refundable $148

New Orleans to May 20th $118

And many more flights to other cities available. Flights listed here depart from Kansas City. Call us for all your travel needs.

INTERNATIONAL TOURS of Manhattan

776-4756 8th & Humboldt

Open Sat. 9 to Noon

DAYS OF REMEMBRANCE 1987

at KSU

Sun., April 26— Churches & Groups, Individual Observance
Mon. April 27— Interfaith Candlelight Service
"Meaning of the Holocaust"-by Dr. Micheal Wienberg
In KSU Chapel 11:30-12:20

Tues., April 28— Governor's Proclamation (3 p.m., State Capitol, Topeka, call 532-6432 for information)

Wed., April 29— Forum: "Holocaust: Psychological & Contemporary Implications" Union Room 212, 7 p.m.

Thurs., April 30— To Bear Witness (Film)
Followed by discussion-by Ralf Rundquist
Union Room 207, 7 p.m.

Tuesday, April 21-Friday, April 24

Exhibit in Union showcase and information table

Monday, April 27-Friday, May 1

Exhibit at Farrell Library and information for reading items.

Last Lecture Series

Forum Hall

Presented by Arts & Sciences Council

William Stamey

Dean, Arts & Sciences College

Tuesday, April 28, 7 p.m.

KSU HORT. CLUB

BEDDING PLANT

SALE

annuals perennials herbs

vegetables hanging baskets

APRIL 30 MAY 1,2

8:00 AM - 5:30 PM

lower greenhouses
north of justin hall

Drug testing turning into complex procedure

By TOM MORRIS
Sports Editor

Editor's Note: This is the first installment of a five-part series on drug testing in intercollegiate athletics. The series will run throughout the week on the sports page.

At its annual convention held Jan. 13, 1986, in New Orleans, the NCAA approved mandatory drug testing for athletes at championship events and random testing at campus sites to begin Aug. 1 of that same year.

Needless to say, as the NCAA has discovered some 2,000-plus drug tests later since its legislation went into effect, drug testing has turned into a complicated process.

"Well, as far as complicated, use a word like complex," said K-State's head trainer Carl Cramer.

"The testing program is only one facet of the whole program. It's part of an educational contingent that in '84 the NCAA felt needed to be brought to light and they set up guidelines for all of its institutions to start some type of education and testing program."

But there have been problems raised concerning drug testing.

From the legal standpoint, Stanford swimmer Simone LeVent took the NCAA to court after refusing to provide a urine sample. A Santa Clara County Superior Court Judge ruled in favor of LeVent and she was allowed to compete in a NCAA qualifying meet.

Financially, the tests are not cheap. If a university wishes to test its athletes for drug usage prior to a NCAA championship event, the tests run approximately $12 apiece. If the athlete is to be measured for steroid usage, the cost jumps to $75 each.

K-State, which started work on its drug-testing program in 1984, spends $7,000-$8,000 annually testing its 200-plus athletes, said Athletic Director Larry Travis.

Drug Testing In College Athletics

There have been other legal and ethical questions raised concerning drug testing, civil rights and invasion of privacy. Plus, the NCAA has fielded complaints against the length of its banned-substance list — some 3,000 ingredients long — its method of testing athletes after championship events when some athletes are dehydrated, and the fact that it appears athletes are being singled out.

Still, a NCAA spokesperson said the organization is pleased with the way its testing program is going in its initial stage.

"I think the reaction on the whole has been positive," said Ursula Walsh, the NCAA's director of research and sports sciences. "There certainly has been some inconveniences to the athletes involved...but overall the students have been overwhelmingly friendly and cordial about the whole thing."

Issues concerning drugs and athletes are not at all new.

"The use of substances to enhance physical or mental performances is not new," said Bruce H. Wooley, director of health services at Brigham Young University.

"Ancient Greek athletes used supposed stimulants to improve their performances as early as the third century B.C. Aztecs used...a cactus-based stimulant for long-distance running that lasted up to 72 hours. Amsterdam canal swimmers were caught using caffeine-containing drugs in 1865.

"Man has used and abused drugs since the dawn of history," he added. "Sports is no exception. Any problem or propensity that pervades society will also pervade sports, as sports is a part of society."

Bill Arck, director of Alcohol and

Other Drug Education Services at K-State, agreed with Wooley.

"Drugs and alcohol in this country are a major problem. Since athletes live in the United States, they are probably as susceptible to these problems," Arck said.

Perhaps testing for drugs in collegiate athletes could be passed off as a sign of the times.

High school athletic directors recently listed the top discipline problems in public schools: drug and alcohol abuse, pregnancy, suicide and rape. In 1940, major concerns were talking, chewing gum, making noise, running in the halls and getting out of turn in line.

K-State's methods for drug testing is not to catch violators or to ferret out a drug problem — it's to act as a deterrent. Less than one percent of the Wildcat athletes have tested

See SERIES, Page 12

'Cat golfers prepare for crunch time

By The Collegian Staff

It's getting down to crunch time for K-State's golf teams.

While the men recorded two fourth-place finishes this weekend in preparation for the Midwestern Intercollegiate Invitational May 1-2 at DeKalb, Ill., the women's team begins play in the Big Eight Conference tournament today at Oklahoma City.

K-State's women want to climb out of the Big Eight's cellar at the conference championships today and Tuesday.

"As a team, we would like to move up to sixth," Coach Rob Sedorcek said. "I think we have a good chance to beat Nebraska."

The team's lack of depth could hamper the Wildcats' performance at the Big Eight tournament.

While most teams can use six players to obtain four individual scores, K-State will have to go with the results of its team, which is only four-deep — Paige Harrison, Shelly Sherman, Erin Andrew and Jill Zientara.

Favored to win the women's conference crown is Oklahoma State, which returns four of the top-nine finishers from last year's championship team.

At Des Moines, freshman Jeff Sedorcek tied for medalist honors and guided K-State's men to a fourth-place finish among a 26-team field at the Drake Relays Tournament.

Sedorcek, the younger brother of K-State's coach, carded a final round of 74 to end up with a 221 over 54 holes and tied with Iowa State's Chris Haugen. Both entered the final round tied for fifth individually.

Matching Sedorcek's score of 74 the final 18 holes was teammate John Shields.

"The whole team played well. Jeff continued to play solidly while John also scored well today," Sedorcek said.

And at Ames, Iowa, the Wildcats took fourth out of eight teams competing in the Midwestern Collegiate Championships.

Having fun valued highly at soccer tournament

By CHASE CLARK
Sports Writer

Having fun, not winning, appeared to be the most important aspect of the Big Eight Conference women's soccer championship played Saturday and Sunday at Memorial Stadium.

"All this winning and everything is great, but winning is sort of secondary," K-State Coach Doug Schmidt said. "Playing is what counts and most people on the other teams would agree that what really counts is going out and playing. If you don't get a chance to play then it's not worth anything."

"Also, you see women's soccer that's also often really good-natured," he added. "We all went out last night to Charlie's Bar and everyone was pretty good-natured. It's not like we hate those guys. We love to beat the girls from KU, and they love to beat us, but it's a friendly rivalry."

The K-State women's squad may not have won the overall title, but they still had fun and were pleased with their third-place finish.

"I think the tournament went very well," said Linda McPherson, K-State team co-captain and co-president. "Everybody was really pleased with it and had a whole lot of fun. It was a pretty big tourney."

"We did well and the tournament went incredibly smoothly," said the team's other co-captain and co-president, Joyce Conrow. "We had a good time."

In its first game, K-State came out and tied Missouri, 2-2. In its next outing, K-State trounced Kansas, 6-0. K-State then lost its last two games to Oklahoma State, 4-0, and 3-1 to Colorado.

"I'm very pleased with how we played," Schmidt said. "Everybody's very busy and I think for the amount of time we had to practice and all the commitments people had and all the sacrifices people had to make, I think we played real well."

The round-robin tournament awarded two points for each win and one point for a tie.

Oklahoma finished first with eight points (4-0-0), followed by Colorado with five points (2-1-1). K-State took third with three points (1-1-2), while Missouri (0-2-2) and Kansas (1-0-3) tied for fifth with two points apiece.

"On any day any of these teams could win it," Schmidt said. "They are all pretty evenly matched. There were quite a few ties."

K-State finished the spring season at 5-1-4. K-State started the season by winning the Southwest Missouri State Collegiate Women's Indoor Soccer Tournament. The team then lost to Rockhurst and Kansas before competing in the conference tournament.

Staff/Steve Rasmussen

K-State's Linda McPherson, right, battles against a Colorado opponent for possession of the ball during the Big Eight Conference women's soccer championship held at Memorial Stadium on Saturday and Sunday. K-State took third place.

Pitching performances enable 'Cats to split with Iowa State

By The Collegian Staff

Mike Hinkle pitched a one-hit shutout Sunday to allow K-State's baseball team to post a 6-0 victory and gain a split of a Big Eight Conference double-header with the Iowa State Cyclones at Cap Timm Field.

In the opener, Iowa State rallied for two runs in the eighth inning to record a 4-2 triumph over the 'Cats.

K-State, 24-20 overall and 6-11 in the Big Eight Conference, scored twice in both the first and second innings to give Hinkle all the runs he would need.

The Wildcats scored two runs in the first on a triple by Tony Braddock, a sacrifice fly by Hinkle and an RBI single by Otto Kaifes.

Kaifes' hit extended his school record-hitting streak to 24 games and moved him into third place on the all-time K-State hit list. Kaifes now has 168 hits in his four-year career.

K-State added two additional runs in the second on a two-run triple by Braddock after Jim Donohue walked and Scott Spangenberg singled with two outs.

Hinkle, 4-2, was in total command against the Cyclones, 17-23 and 3-9. Hinkle allowed just one hit, a single by Dave Shinn in the fourth.

"It was one of those days when I had just average stuff, but they were swinging at it," Hinkle said. "The guy (Shinn) hit a change-up, and it wasn't that bad a pitch. They hit some pitches really hard. My slider worked on some occasions, and they helped by swinging at bad pitches."

Earlier this season, Hinkle fired a two-hit shutout against Southwest Missouri State in K-State's 2-0 victory over the Bears. In addition, Hinkle pitched no-hit baseball for 5½ innings in K-State's 16-1 win over Nicholls State.

Hinkle blasted his fifth homer of the season, a solo shot, in the third, and K-State added a run in the seventh on a wild pitch.

In the first game Sunday, Iowa State snapped a 2-2 tie in the eighth with a two-run rally. With one out, Iowa State's Jeff Breeling doubled and Dave Shinn walked.

Bill Argo then singled through the right side of the infield to bring in Breeling, sending Shinn to third base. After Argo swiped second base, Pat Heiderscheid hit a sacrifice fly.

Iowa State had taken a 2-0 lead in the fifth inning on RBI singles by Greg Brecht and Dave Herbeck, but K-State tied the game in the sixth.

The Wildcats' Tom Parsons walked to start the inning, and Mike Hinkle, who had two hits in the game, singled to left.

Iowa State starter and winner

Jerry Meyers, 6-3, retired David Chadd on a fly ball to right, but Otto Kaifes stroked a double down the right-field line to drive in both runners.

With the double, Kaifes moved into sole possession of second place on the all-time K-State doubles list. Kaifes, who now has 35 doubles in his four-year career, only trails Greg Korb's mark of 39 doubles.

K-State had threatened to take the lead in the top of the eighth when Parsons was hit by a pitch and stole second base. With two outs, Kaifes walked, bringing up K-State pinch-hitter Jeff Turtle.

Turtle ripped a run-scoring single Saturday to begin a five-run K-State rally in a similar situation. On this occasion, Turtle hit a sharp grounder to Breeling who threw out Turtle by a step.

K-State split a double-header Saturday with the Cyclones. The 'Cats won the opener, 5-0, and was drubbed 13-1 in the nightcap.

Paul Iseman, 4-3, fired an eight-hit shutout in the opener, yielding four doubles but stranding 10 Cyclone runners.

While the 'Cats did just about everything right in the opener, they played just as sloppily in the field the second game, which they lost by 12.

Suggs breaks records; Harrison finishes 2nd

From Staff and Wire Reports

Thrower Pinkie Suggs broke two meet records and won both the shot put and discus Saturday at the Drake Relays in Des Moines.

At the Penn Relays in Pennsylvania, All-American triple jumper Kenny Harrison took second in the long jump with a mark of 25-foot-4.

Also at the Penn Relays, Jacque Struckhoff broke her own school record in the 10,000-meter run by one-tenth of a second with a time of 33:22.4.

Suggs, a 5-7 senior from Manhattan, opened the Drake meet Saturday by shattering the women's discus record by almost 12 feet. Her toss of 194-1 surpassed the old mark of 182-6 held by Lynn Anderson of Minneapolis, Minn.

And in the shot put competition, Suggs' toss of 55-6½ not only beat the old meet record of 54-7½ by Kathy Devine of Emporia State, but was also a K-State record toss. Suggs bettered her toss of 55-4½ last weekend at the Kansas Relays.

"I was a little tired for the shot put after throwing the discus in the morning," Suggs said. "But I really enjoy throwing the shot and I was excited for the event."

In four meets this outdoor season, Suggs has finished first in both the discus and shot put in all but one meet. She has also set school records each time she competed in the two field events.

Hurdler Kim Kilpatrick finished second in the women's 100-meter hurdles. Kilpatrick's 14.06 was just shy of Texas Southern's Maria Usifo's winning time of 13.95.

In earlier competition at Des Moines, Felicia Carpenter won the women's triple jump and Steve Henson placed seventh in his first decathlon as a college athlete.

For the men's squad, Sean Banks captured fourth place in the men's special 400-meter dash with a 47.33.

In other action at the 78th annual Drake Relays:

— Ohio State's Harry Reynolds — brother to Wildcat sprinter Jeff Reynolds — knocked more than a half-second off the meet record in the 400-meter dash, winning in 44.60.

Svennson tops 1987's season by placing 5th

By The Collegian Staff

Lena Svennson capped off a season-long comeback from knee surgery and placed fifth in No. 1 singles at the Big Eight Conference's tennis championships played Friday at Oklahoma City.

Svennson and Valerie Rive, who played No. 4 singles, both finished fifth in their respective brackets and led the Wildcats to a sixth-place finish overall.

"Ten weeks ago Lena could not walk (due to knee surgery) and...she finishes fifth in the Big Eight," Coach Steve Bietau said.

"Valerie's win over (Nebraska's Carrie) Groce, who was an All-American last season, was a big win...for our program. At one point in the match, Valerie dove on the surface to get a ball. That stuff is what winners are made of."

Heading into the finals of doubles play, K-State was tied with Iowa State in the team standings. The Wildcats claimed sixth place when the No. 3 team of Debbie Hutchins/Nancy Ramirez defeated Kansas' Janelle Bolen/Stephanie Rahilly in three sets.

"(Hutchins and Ramirez) have done an outstanding job all season for us and they did so again (Friday)," Bietau said.

Series

Continued from Page 11

positive, Travis said.

"I think it's more than anything else a deterrent," he said. "I think our athletes know that sometime during the year they're going to be called and asked to give a sample."

"A drug problem is not the case here," said Dr. Guy Smith, director of sports medicine at Lafene Student Health Center. "A lot of times (the fact there is testing) is just reminding (the athlete) of the consent form they sign and the obligation and make sure they comply with that."

"It helps athletes who choose not to do drugs to have a reason for not doing drugs," Arck added. "If there was no drug testing, maybe other athletes or other people would encourage the use of various drugs."

An anonymous source wrote in 1982: "For drug abuse not to exist in sports, athletes would have to be somehow magically sanitized from changes that have swept society. It is obvious that they are not. Therefore, the effort should not be to prove that drug use and misuse exists, but to begin to develop programs that will help reduce, or even better, eliminate the problem."

K-State, the NCAA and some 75 other major college athletic departments have since initiated drug-testing programs to help combat the problem of drug abuse. This has been just an overall view of drug testing. Legal, financial, medical and ethical issues, and the future of drug testing, will be spotlighted in future installments of this series.

Tuesday's article will deal with the legal and financial aspects of drug testing.

NFL to draft Tuesday

Lottery makes, breaks teams

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Marty Schottenheimer raises his voice in mild protest when someone suggests the talent is thin in this year's NFL draft.

"People always say it's a good year or a bad year," the Cleveland Browns coach said. "That's an overstatement. The players are always out there, you just have to find them."

The NFL's annual lottery of college players take place Tuesday at the Marriott Marquis Hotel with almost all the attention centered on the first round. The Tampa Bay Bucs will choose the already signed Vinny Testaverde with the first pick, and the other 27 will follow in inverse order of 1986 success, quickly snatching All-Americans or names made famous by pre-draft speculation.

Then, after the Super Bowl champion New York Giants make the 28th choice, many spectators will head home or click off their television sets, convinced the draft is over. In reality, it's just beginning — the lower rounds are where championships are won and lost.

When the Giants, for example, took the field in Pasadena in the last Super Bowl, just three of their 22 starters were players drafted in the first round. The Denver Broncos had five first-rounders among their starters.

Moreover, of the 99 players chosen for the last Pro Bowl, 38 were first-round choices, but 10 were free agents, players who were either undrafted out of college or cut loose by an NFL team.

There were 12 other Pro Bowlers chosen in the second round; eight in the third, five in the fourth, four in the fifth, two in the sixth, three in the seventh, four in the eighth and one in the 12th — linebacker Karl Mecklenburg of the Broncos. Three more were undrafted players signed out of the United States Football League.

"You know what 10 free agents in the Pro Bowl tells us?" Seattle Seahawks Coach Chuck Knox asked. "It tells us we make a lot of mistakes."

"There's far too much emphasis on the first round," General Manager George Young of the Giants said. "It's the media. It's all these draft-niks. They put out the books and they talk about the first round. But you have to do a total job of building a team. The players come from everywhere."

Classifieds

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3.25, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $4.95 per inch. Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

ANNOUNCEMENTS 01

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour products. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (119-150)

Restaurant and Fundrikingy

Monday Night

•Spinach Fettuccine with Clam Sauce

OR

•Spaghetti with Meat Sauce
All you can eat!!
$2.99

•Garlic French Bread
3240 Kimball—Candlewood

ALOHA—CHECK display ad in this issue for free Waikiki stay. Seniors only (143)

FIELDS OF Fair—We are now open for the season and are taking bookings for barn parties, hall and farewell parties, barbecues, cookouts, promotion parties, reunions, graduation parties and weddings. Phone 539-5328. (125-150)

MARY KAY Cosmetics. Check out our new individual lip and eye colors. 539-9469, Janet Milliken. (138-150)

73 OVERWEIGHT people needed to try new chocolate, vanilla and strawberry herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Get away from diet jitters. On campus daily. 784-6065 evenings/weekends. (132-150)

PEOPLE'S GROCERY Co-op, 811 Colorado, is Manhattan's only consumer-owned grocery store. Come check out our expanded inventory, cheese selection and convenient hours. Open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m. (142-145)

ATTENTION 02

OVERWEIGHT? WANT to feel better? New chocolate, vanilla and strawberry herbal weight control program available. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Get away from diet jitters. On campus daily. 784-6065 evenings/weekends. (132-150)

CAN YOU buy Jeeps, Cars, 4x4's seized in drug raids for under $100? Call for facts today. 602-837-3401, Ext. 744. (143)

FOR RENT—MISC 03

RENTAL TYPEWRITERS—Correcting and non-correcting. Typewriter ribbons for sale, service available. Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-1413. (271f)

INEXPENSIVE, SELF-storage units. Why take all your stuff home this summer? Three months storage only $60. Amherst Self-Storage, 776-3804. (138-150)

FOR RENT—APTS 04

TWO AND three bedroom near campus. Central air, one and one-half bath. Available June and August. 537-8800. (1101f)

LOOKING FOR nice but reasonably priced apartment complexes and houses for now, summer and fall. Most nearby new and close to campus. 537-2919, 537-1666. (111-146)

ONE LARGE bedroom, completely furnished, laundry facilities in the complex. One block from the campus. $300. Call 537-7980 or 537-2255. (1121f)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, close to campus. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities in the complex. Available August. $420. Call 537-7810 or 537-2255. (1121f)

Fall Leases

* Fremont Apartments
* Sandstone Apartments
Large 2 BR Units
537-9064

FREE RENT last month of yearly lease. Ten months available in August. Various locations, no pets. After April 1 call 537-8389. (1191f)

BLOCK WEST of campus, June or August, one-bedroom, furnished, $240. Call 539-5051 after 1 p.m., or Dave, apartment 4, at 1024 Sunset. (1311f)

ONE-HALF block east of campus, 1212 Thurston, for June. Two-bedroom, furnished up to three people. $330. Phone 539-5059 after 1 p.m. (1311f)

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM, five blocks from campus. Air conditioning. Available August 1. No pets $325. Phone 776-0181. (1211f)

PRE-LEASING ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. One bedroom, near campus, $275 to $290. Two-bedroom near campus, $335 to $355. Call 776-9124. (1221f)

GOOD SELECTION of one and two-bedroom apartments available for June or August leasing. Call McCullough Development, 776-3804. (123-146)

AVAILABLE NOW and August. Unfurnished one-bedroom, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets. $265 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

AVAILABLE FOR June or August—Furnished, large two-bedroom with off-campus location. Dishwasher, disposal, central air, carpeting throughout. No pets. $350 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

LARGE THREE-bedroom in a nine-plex with large closets, living room, dining area, fully-equipped kitchen. $150 each for three, $125 each for four. 822 Fremont. Available June 1 or August 1, 1987. Call 537-7087. (1271f)

UNIVERSITY TERRACE—Two- and three-bedroom apartments, swimming pool, spacious yard, laundry hookups and facilities. On the bike path to University. 537-2096. (127-147)

AVAILABLE, LARGE two-bedroom apartment, newly decorated. June 1, $360, plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, nice, large three-bedroom basement apartment, newly remodeled. $330 plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE, THREE-bedroom apartment, June 1, $400 plus utilities. Nice, newly decorated. 776-8393. (130-146)

NICE, ONE-bedroom in complex on the corner of Lee and Hunting, $325 or $340 with fireplace. June or August leasing. No pets, please. 776-3804. (1311f)

915 1/2 CLAFIN, walk-out basement, completely furnished two-bedroom. Redecorated August 1986. ample parking. Heat, water, trash paid. $340/month. One-year lease June 1st. 539-3085 or 539-6133. (1311f)

COMPLETELY FURNISHED, large basement apartment, suitable for two or three. Available June 1 lease. Everything paid. $400/month. 539-6133. (1311f)

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT $190 per month. Gas, heat, and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (143-150)

NOW LEASING for fall—Next to campus, (near Haymaker Hall), two bedrooms in luxury apartment complex, fireplace, laundry, modern kitchen, natural gas heating. Evenings. 539-2702. (134-150)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment. $340 per month. Across street from Ahearn Field House. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (143-150)

MAY OR June, one-bedrooms, $205-$235. Phone 539-8423 after 6 p.m. (135-150)

NOW RENTING for 1987-88 school year, two-bedroom unfurnished apartments, 1026 Blue-mont. Call 776-2092 for appointment. (136-150)

RENTING FOR 1987-88 school year, Schumann Apartments, 1119 Laramie. Luxury one-bedroom, furnished. 776-2092. (136-150)

NEAR K.S.U., three-bedroom, furnished, basement apartment. Central air, washer and dryer, utilities paid. $480. Call 539-0368 after 6:30 p.m. (137-146)

COMPLETE FIRST floor of large apartment house, 724 Poyntz. Will accommodate three-four students. Unfurnished, no pets. 537-8389 for appointment. (1371f)

FOR AUGUST, next to KSU, deluxe furnished two-bedroom apartment. Also, one-bedroom apartment. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (1381f)

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS
3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions. Lowest rates. 776-3624.

1219 KEARNEY, Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

1219 KEARNEY, Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $230/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

Fall and Summer Apartments

Great Location—Close to KSU
City Park and Aggieville.

Good Quality, New Carpet,
Central Air, Dishwashers, 1,
2 & 3 bedrooms, furnished &
unfurnished. (New, Good Quality)

$290-$445

Call 776-1222
or 539-7260

EFFICIENCY, TWO rooms and bath. Across street campus. Available August 15. Phone Dixie, 539-1498. (1391f)

CENTENNIAL APARTMENTS—1832 Claflin Road (across Goodnow, Marlatt Hall), luxury furnished, two-bedroom ($390). One-bedroom ($290). Phone 539-2702, evenings. (139-150)

TELE-FIND. Landlords! List your rentals, only $20 per month on our computerized classified ads! 539-2255. (139-143)

ONE AND two-bedroom apartments for June, walk to K.S.U. 776-6063. (1401f)

FURNISHED, ONE-bedroom in complex, 1219 Claflin, next to campus. $260 plus electric. New paint and carpet, lease June 1 or August 1. No children or pets. Phone 537-1180. (140-150)

LUXURY, HUGE unfurnished two-bedroom, two-bath, all carpeted, luxury appliances, three blocks from campus. No pets. $360 plus utilities. Call 537-4000 or 776-7572. (140-150)

TWO-BEDROOM, close to Aggieville. Available end of May $340/month. 537-1873. (139-143)

Moore Management
NOW RENTING
APARTMENTS

(All Close to Campus!)

PRID-MOR
APTS.

1215 Bertrand
2-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths,
dishwasher, furnished

$450

RAINTREE
APTS.

1010 Thurston
2-bedroom, furnished,
fireplace, dishwasher

$375-450

VILLA II

526 N. 14th
1-bedroom, furnished

$270

PHEASANT
RIDGE

923 Fremont
2-bedroom, dishwasher

$350

For info call 539-1642
or 537-4567 after 7.

Call for special summer rates.

AVAILABLE AUGUST 15, nice, furnished one-bedroom apartment. Water, trash and two-thirds gas paid. Laundry facility. Graduate student or couple preferred. $260/month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (1401f)

TWO OR three-bedroom apartments and townhouses with central air in a quiet neighborhood. For June or August. $395. Phone 537-0428 or 776-2425. (140-150)

COTTAGE, LIVE in a cottage for the price of an apartment. Available for fall, located southeast of campus. 539-7277 after 5:30 or weekends. (1401f)

ONE-BEDROOM, one-half block from campus. $265 includes utilities. 537-4851 after 5 p.m. (140-144)

LARGE ONE-bedroom basement apartment available June 1. Three blocks south of University Inn. Free washer and dryer, off street parking. $260. Phone 539-5921. (140-150)

ONE, TWO-, three-, four-bedroom apartments, close to campus. June occupancy. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

SPECIAL

SUMMER DISCOUNT
June & July Leases

2-bedroom,
furnished and unfurnished
776-1222

EFFICIENCIES, ONE and two-bedroom apartments, $165 to $290. Phone 776-6791 or 776-4805. (140-150)

BASEMENT APARTMENTS for June: one-bedroom, $200. Three-bedroom, $270. Bills paid. 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

KSU Students
Top Quality

Summer and Fall apartments now available. 1/2 block from KSU in newer building. Central
A/C, dishwasher, decks
(w/ or w/o). Parking permit,
furnished and unfurnished.

$360-$399

Lease now while we have our best units available
776-1222

After 5 p.m. and weekends—537-2098

TWO-BEDROOM, furnished or unfurnished, good location. $295. One unit left. 537-3375. (140-149)

NICE TWO-bedroom duplex. Air, gas, carpeted and furnished. Telephone 537-7334. No pets. (141-145)

NICE, QUIET, clean place to live. Furnished one- and two-bedroom apartments. Assorted features include queen-sized bed, carpet, paid utilities, dishwasher, laundry, courtyard. For married couple employed individual, serious student. $216-$330 per month. June lease. No pets, waterbeds. 537-9686. (141-145)

LARGE TWO-bedroom unfurnished apartment near campus, available August 1. Heat, water, trash paid. $350. Phone 539-8052 evenings. (1411f)

APARTMENT MANAGER and maintenance positions for 32-unit community near University. Ideal position for couple, salary plus apartment. Apply at Mont Blue Apartments, 1431 McCann Lane. (141-146)

(Continued on page 13)

UPC

Monday, April 27, 1987

For more information on any UPC events call

UPC

k-state union
upc arts

Art
Rental Returns

Tomorrow

Tuesday, April 28
& Wednesday, April 29
10 a.m.-3 p.m.
K-State Union Forum Hall Lobby

WILLIAM HURT | RAUL JULIA
HURT | JULIA BRAGA

KISS OF THE SPIDER WOMAN

In a prison cell somewhere in Latin America two very different men find there lives linked together. To pass the time, they re-create stories one of which stars Sonia Braga as the sultry heroine. Academy Award-winning William Hurt and Raul Julia star as the men in prison.

Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. Forum Hall & Thursday,
3:30 p.m. Little Theatre, 7:30 p.m. Forum Hall,
$1.75 admission; KSU I.D. required; Rated R

k-state union
upc kaleidoscope

FORUM ON ABORTION

PANELISTS:

Glenda Gould
Director, Dreamhouse Inc.Rev. Rod Saunders
Evangelical Christian MinistriesDr. Rudy Haun
Obstetrics, Gynecology and InfertilityRev. David DeShazo
Westview Community ChurchGail Hamilton
Lobbyist for NOW

Tomorrow, April 28, 8 p.m.

Union Little Theatre

k-state union
upc issues & ideas

Thank You!

Your volunteer contributions to the Union Program Council
During 1986-87 have been greatly appreciated.

Jill Daniels, UPC President

ARTS

Laura Grether, Chairperson
Jean Berry
Shalene Davis
Liesa Gittermeier
Daniel Hemmen
Jan Kubik
Kendall McMinimy
Sylvia Mulford
Greg Oaklief
Meg Sellers
Amy Tumpes

ECLECTIC ENTERTAINMENT

Sally Bender, Chairperson
Pat Berry
Lydee Hawkins
Tim Henderson
Lynn O'Meara
Don Scott
Monte Stull
Jenny Swail
Scott Wiles
Sandy Winter

FEATURE FILMS

Laura Garrett, Chairperson
Patrick Duegaw
Brian Hickman
Andrea Hutchins
Jody Isch
Mike Legleitton
David Lunsford
John Nett
Mike Ribble
Brenda Roach
Phil Rosewicz
Tammy Schuckman
Dawn Seymour
Jackie Shockey
Tammera Sjogren
Tammy Wewers
Julie Woods

KALEIDOSCOPE FILMS

John Miller, Chairperson
Lisa Altenbernd
Andrew Bruce
James Dollin
Denise Grimm
Ann Iseman
Lisa Kratz
Tom Lally
Bob McGrath
Dieter Mueller
Jennifer Prather
Yun Hui Rorie
Kristen Schlender
Matthew Sears
Andrea Smading
Faith Tryon
David Walker
Jerome Wasinger

OUTDOOR RECREATION

Jill Daniels, Chairperson
Michael Adams
Jackie Barenberg
Ed Bennett
Shelly Bitel
Kevin Blomquist
Diego Estrada
Darin Hoover
Patty Jones
Rick Keithley
Margaret May
Angie Sieffert
David Stewart
Ted Wald

ISSUES & IDEAS

Stephanie Mann, Chairperson
Tony Branfort
Matthew Bretz
Eva Chatterjee
Christine Clark
Carrie Martin
Lynn Taylor

PROMOTIONS

Cathy Garies, Chairperson
Pam Besler
Natalie Darfler
Darrin Gross
Justin Hockersmith
Genia Owens
Jodi Swengel

SPECIAL EVENTS

Mike Webb, Chairperson
Diane Chamblin
Kent Cook
Natalie Darfler
Tom Denzel
Bret Fox
Jim Koger
Anne Moore
Julie Stephens
Kelly Watson
Corbin Witt

TRAVEL

Cindy Lunsford, Chairperson
Stephanie Jones
Denise Medley
Kathi Robertson
Carley Sederquist
Shelli Swanson

k-state union program council

(Continued from page 12)

MONT BLUE APARTMENTS

- 2 & 12 month leases
- 1 & 2 Bedroom Apartments and Townhouses
- Close to campus

539-4447

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, one-half block from campus. 1212 Bluemont, $400. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

KSU STUDENTS OPEN HOUSE

Anderson Place Apts.

1852 Anderson, Apt. 6

Sat., April 25

1-4 p.m.

1 & 2 Bedroom

Furnished & Unfurnished

CHECK OUR SPECIAL

SUMMER RATES

776-1222

for further info.

LARGE, BEAUTIFULLY furnished unit across street from campus. No pets, smoking. Stockwell Real Estate, 539-4073. (141f)

LARGE ONE-bedroom basement apartment, close to campus. Available June 1 or July 1. $250, utilities paid. 776-2121. (142-146)

1 1/2 BLOCKS from campus, across from Aggieville, two-bedroom apartments, available June 1st. Furnished or unfurnished. 539-5702 after 5 p.m. (142-146)

LARGE, TWO-bedroom, one block from campus, Aggieville and park. Available May 1. 537-4648. (142f)

QUITE, ONE-bedroom apartment, 1131 Vattier. Heat, water, trash paid, air conditioning. $160 per month (until August 15). Call Professor McGuire, 532-6786 or 776-5682. (142-150)

TWO-BEDROOM duplex, 1027 Vattier, garage, available June. Two-bedroom triplex, 818 Bluemont, August. 537-1676. (143-147)

FREE RENT first month of yearly lease on one-bedroom in Westchester Park Apts. Available immediately. $340. After 5 p.m. phone 537-4319 or 537-7022. (143-147)

ONE-TWO-THREE bedroom houses, starting June occupancy. Unfurnished, good condition, clean, appliances. 537-1269. (107f)

ONE-THREE non-smoking roommates. Prefer Vet or Animal Science majors to share modern farmhouse. Free stall and pasture for horse, cow, dog, beef, eggs, wood, skiboat furnished. Reply P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan. (138-150)

TELE-FIND. Landlords! List your rentals, only $20 per month on our computerized classified ads! 539-2255. (139-143)

AVAILABLE AUGUST. Spacious four-bedroom, 112 baths, carpeted, air conditioned. Low utilities. $550. Phone 539-6202. (139-143)

AVAILABLE JUNE. Quality, four-bedroom, two baths, air conditioned, carpeted, washer, dryer. Fenced yard. This place is special! $595. Phone 539-6202. (139-143)

AVAILABLE JUNE—Two-bedrooms, 1822 Hunting, 917 Kearney, $300. Phone 539-8401. (140-150)

THREE-BEDROOM house at 1523 Pierre, yard, remodeled, $420. Phone 776-6791 or 776-4805. (140-150)

THREE-BEDROOM house, carport, very close to campus. Available June 1. Phone 539-5953. (142-146)

THREE BLOCKS east of campus—Two-bedroom basement apartment, appliances, washer/dryer, private entrance, off-street parking, August 1. Twelve month lease, $200 deposit, $200 month. 539-3497. (144)

THREE BLOCKS east of campus—Three-bedroom, appliances, washer/dryer, unfurnished, garage, August 1. Twelve month lease, $450 deposit, $450/month. 539-3497. (144)

THREE-BEDROOM house, washer/dryer, dishwasher, fireplace, garage. $525/month. June 1. 1215 Ratone. Call 539-4564. (142-145)

FOR SALE—AUTO 06

TELE-FIND. Selling your car? List it on our computerized classified ads! Only $20 per month. 539-2255. (139-143)

1976 CHEVROLET Vega hatchback, 5-speed, 47,000 miles. Good school car! Phone 776-7541. (139-143)

1969 VW van, runs well, few dents and very little rust. $400. Phone 539-1956 early am or evenings. (139-143)

1979 DODGE Omni, good engine, low mileage, AM/FM cassette, Call 537-3323 after 5 p.m. (140-144)

KARMANN GHIA, 1971, all original, excellent condition, low mileage, 539-6123 after 6 p.m. (141-144)

1966 TRIUMPH Spitfire, sharp, new paint, rebuilt engine and transmission, lots of spares. $2,200. Phone 776-7267. (142-143)

1979 CHEVROLET Camaro Z-28, 350, recently overhauled, automatic, new tires and battery, 49,500 miles. 776-6240. (142-147)

FOR SALE—MISC 07

MIYATA RACING bike, 57 cm, suntour comp., solar cante, good condition. Also turbo trainer and Mavic-40 wheels with 7-speed freewheel. Call 539-5625. (140-143)

Sub of the Week

SPICY

The Best Submarine

Joint in Aggieville

AL'S DELI

South of Baskin Robbins

DENON DCD-1100 compact disc player—Great condition, remote control, $300 or best offer, room #322, Moore Hall, 532-2362. (140-144)

by Doug'n'Dick

60s MONDAY

NIGHT MADNESS

60s Music 4-9 p.m.

60s Prices on many items

60s Waitresses

60s Cheesburgers

111 S. 4th

17' SKI/cruiser boat. 55 hp Evinrude motor—low hours. Ski gear, trailer included. $1,200. Phone 776-7661. (141-143)

BICYCLE—FUJI Del Ray Perfect condition, less than 100 miles. $250. Phone 537-4376. (141-145)

KING SIZE waterbed, semi-motionless fiber-fill mattress, bookcase headboard, six-drawer pedestal. $300. Greg. 539-5875. (141-145)

MONDAYS

SHRIMP NIGHT

10¢ each

2 dz. max/drink order

418 Poyntz

75¢ drinks

4-7 p.m.

PEAVEY MANTIS electric guitar, brand new. New strings, black with maple fingerboard. Need to sell, underpriced. Call 532-5474. (142-144)

LABRADOR PUPS, A.K.C. registered, black. Excellent hunting stock, Eastern Shore bloodline. 537-8367. (143-147)

SPELLbinders inc.

INNOVATIVE INTERIORS

ART APPAREL

SPELLbinder-It

with

Hand Painted Apparel

Where the unusual

is usual

Mon.-Fri. 10-5, Sun. 1-5

Candlewood Center

SUPER SINGLE waterbed, complete, std or three-drawer base. Huffy 27 inch 10-speed. Fender Jaguar guitar with case. Call between 5-10 p.m. 537-9853. (143-145)

FOR SALE—MOBILE HOMES 08

1983 OAKBROOK 16 x 60. Range, refrigerator, central air, ceiling fans. Deck on two sides. See to appreciate. 539-6252. (134-143)

FOR RENT or For Sale: 10 x 50 mobile home. Stove, refrigerator, air. Unfurnished. 537-7622 after 5 p.m. (134-147)

FOR SALE, 1972 Revere, excellent condition, two-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, washer, dryer, air. Partially furnished. Call 316-241-6054, working hours. (135-144)

12 x 60, NICE two-bedroom, two-bath with storage shed. Must sell! 539-8932. (140-145)

THREE-BEDROOM 12 x 65 mobile home. Central air, washer, dryer, two sheds, close to campus. 539-1315. (141-145)

FOR SALE—MOTORCYCLES 09

1981 YAMAHA 650 Special, 5,000 miles. Excellent condition. $1,000. Call 537-2305 after 6 p.m. (139-143)

TELE-FIND. Selling your motorcycle? List it on our computerized classified ads! Only $20 per month. 539-2255. (139-143)

1985 KAWASAKI GPZ 750, Only 1,400 miles. Asking $2,600. Call 776-9341 after 5:30 p.m. (141-145)

1983 YAMAHA 185, Great school transportation. Only 3,500 miles. New condition. $550 negotiable. 537-2857 or 537-7496. (141-145)

1981 YAMAHA 650 Special II, Midnight blue, 3,600 miles. Great shape. Call 539-2387, ask for Murray. (141-144)

1978 YAMAHA XS400, $300. Phone 776-7661. (141-143)

1983 YAMAHA Midnight Maxim 750, Limited edition, 4,000 miles. Like new. Asking $2,000. 537-1650. (142-143)

HONDA TWINSTAR 200, good condition. Phone 532-5926 or 537-1696. (143-146)

FOUND 10

SET OF three keys found on sidewalk near Durland. Call 537-2980 or 776-6052 to identify and claim. (142-144)

HELP WANTED 13

EARN $480 weekly—$60 per hundred circulars mailed. Guaranteed. Work at home and participate in our Company project mailing circulars and assembling materials. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to JKB Mailcompany, P.O. Box 25, Castaic, California, 91310. (117-148)

FULL and part-time help! National Firm is preparing for Spring and Summer work. If accepted, you will earn $8.10 starting. Some evening and weekend positions are available and some flexibility is allowed during final exams. If you qualify, corporate scholarships are awarded, internships are possible, and you may earn 2, 3, 4 credits/quarter or semester. During summer break full-time work is available. Call (913) 343-9675 Monday-Friday between 9 a.m.-5 p.m. (135-146)

HELP WANTED. Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

UFM is looking for an energetic, creative person to coordinate, produce, and host the UFM TV program on cable Channel 6. Although this is a volunteer position, it does provide an invaluable learning experience. For further information, call UFM at 532-5866. (141-143)

EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY for upper classman completing education. Summer position and possible year-round, on-site leasing assistant. Summers: 20-30 hours/week, afternoons and Saturdays. School year: 10-15 hours/week including Saturdays. Send letter and resume to: Box 7, Kedzie Hall 103, KSU (141-150)

KANSAS STATE University announces a vacancy for Software/Project Manager, temporary full-time position. To serve as a member of Extension computer support staff and provide leadership in software development projects. Knowledge of and experience in software engineering, program design, and programming languages as they relate to microcomputers are necessary. A letter of interest, transcript(s) and resume along with three letters of reference must be sent to Dr. Roger Terry Umberger Hall—Room 211, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506 or call (913) 532-6270 by May 20, 1987. Kansas State University is an equal opportunity employer. (141-150)

A SUMMER job on a dairy and swine operation. Free room and board. Wages are negotiable. Call 316-736-2828. (142-146)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen LERN 1954 Hays Drive, Manhattan, Kansas 66502. (143f)

SUMMER HELP needed at Ashland Horticulture Farm. Call 539-3991 and ask for Jerry. (143-147)

CONDOMS

Protection Express will deliver to your door Friday and Saturday nights

7 p.m.-3 a.m.

Discrete and prompt

539-2159

TYPING. Any kind, fast service. Call 494-8369 after 6 p.m. (138-150)

MARTIE'S TYPING Service. Word Processor. 1011 Juliette, 537-3314. Term papers, theses, dissertations. (141-143)

TYPING—TERM papers, resumes, cover letters, forms, etc. Call 539-2411. (141-145)

TYPING—TERM papers, reports, resumes and cover letters. Call Lori. 776-6627, anytime. (142-146)

Slender You

First Visit Free

No Membership Fee

Call for Appointment

776-3308

Candlewood

3232 Kimball

QUALITY AND experienced childcare by K.S.U. Child Development major. Flexible. 539-3055. (143-145)

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S. Fourth St. Suite 25. (11f)

Schlabe

SUNTANNING

SPECIAL

10-30 min. sessions

$20

776-1750

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. 913-841-5716. (39f)

SUBLEASE 20

ACROSS FROM campus, three-bedroom apartment, all utilities paid. Call 539-9468. (126-150)

SUMMER SUBLEASE—Furnished, two-bedroom apartment, two blocks south of campus. Price negotiable, plus electricity. 537-2604. (136-144)

SUBLEASE—FURNISHED one-bedroom apartment with double balconies across from Ahearn. Rent negotiable. Call 539-7476. (139-143)

TELE-FIND. Find a summer sublease with our computerized classified ads! Only $9 per month. 539-2255. (139-143)

PERFECT FOR summer school. June-July sublease. $115/month. Unfurnished, two bedrooms, washer/dryer, close to campus with air conditioning. Phone 776-3808. (140-144)

SUMMER PRICE negotiable. Air-conditioned, close to campus. Phone 532-6308 before 5 p.m. or 537-9026 after 5 p.m. Keep trying! Lease starting June 1. (140-146)

FOR SUMMER, close to campus, two-bedroom, $260/month plus utilities, laundry available. 539-7510. (140-144)

SUMMER—THREE bedroom house, furnished, 1 1/2 miles from campus. Rent negotiable. Washer/dryer. 537-4996 after 5 p.m. (140-147)

SUBLEASE FOR summer, four-bedroom, two-bath, next to campus. Furnished/unfurnished. 537-7611. (140-144)

AVAILABLE MID-May, one-bedroom apartment, one block from campus. 539-4596. (141-145)

NICE ONE-bedroom apartment across from Ahearn. Air conditioned. $185/month. 539-5194. (141-145)

900 SQUARE feet, one-bedroom apartment, fully furnished, clean, quiet, nice! Three minutes from campus. Call 539-7313. (141-145)

ONE BEDROOM, one block from campus, newly furnished. $200. Phone 539-7503. (141-145)

FOR SUMMER—Furnished two-bedroom apartment with air. Water and trash paid. One-half block west of campus. $500/month. Call 537-9653. (141-145)

SUBLEASE—TWO more females for excellent three-bedroom apartment. 1019 Fremont. $125 each. 539-6588. (141-147)

SUMMER, NEW—Three-bedroom, Two full baths, one-half block from Aggieville. Cheap. Call 539-8198. (141-143)

SUMMER SUBLEASE—Female wanted to share furnished apartment. Nice, close to campus. Rent negotiable. Call Lisa. 537-8727. (142-146)

INCREDIBLE HOUSE! Remodeled, four-bedroom, two-bath, near campus and Aggie. Price negotiable. 776-5264. (142-144)

AVAILABLE JUNE and July, Close to campus. Two females wanted. Reduced rates. Call 776-2084. (142-146)

SUBLEASE—DUPLEX, June, July, option one year lease. One bedroom, large dining room, front room, huge kitchen, wallpapered rooms. 776-1053. (142-144)

NEEDED: ONE or two males to sublease furnished apartment zero blocks from campus. $125 each. Call 537-9413. (142-146)

SUBLEASE—FOR June and July, a four-bedroom apartment. $135 each month, all utilities paid, corner of Vattier and Manhattan. Call 776-0799 or 532-2362 and ask for Ann, room 629. (142-146)

TWO-THREE Bedroom, two and one-half blocks from campus, dishwasher, central air, modern, furnished, rent negotiable. 776-1634. (143-147)

INEXPENSIVE—FOUR-bedroom house, two bath, washer-dryer. Will lease rooms together or individually. Available from finals to July 31. Two blocks from KSU. 776-5957. (143-147)

SUMMER SUBLEASE: studio, large sun deck, 16 foot vaulted ceiling, pool, laundry, furnished/unfurnished. Rent negotiable. 776-1634. (143-147)

SUMMER SUBLEASE June 1 to August 15. Two-bedroom, unfurnished, Two blocks from campus. Laundry available. Rent negotiable plus utilities. 532-3583. (143-147)

THREE-BEDROOM, furnished, utilities paid at Manhattan Avenue and Vattier. Cheap! 532-3491. (143-145)

FEMALE NEEDED to share two-bedroom apartment with graduate student. Two blocks from campus. air conditioning, laundry, partially furnished. Rent negotiable, plus utilities. Call 532-2252. (143-145)

SUMMER SUBLEASE: New four-bedroom apartment, two full bathrooms, balconies, block from Aggieville. 776-7547. $400. (143-147)

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Two-bedroom luxury apartment. 1524 McCain. $225/month, furnished. Call 776-2449. (143-145)

LIFE and TimesBloom County

By Berke Breathed

Garfield

By Jim Davis

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

- ACROSS
- TV's "Na Na"
 - Aries
 - Ammo for a toy pistol
 - Baby soother
 - French spirit
 - Month after Shevat
 - Canadian prov.
 - Cushion
 - Resort city
 - Rude persons
 - "In the — of the Night"
 - Bond
 - Reluctant
 - Agrees
 - Roman official
 - Fluent
 - Swiss river
 - Wicked
 - Rival of Hans and Fritz
 - Horns for Beiderbecke
- 41 Connect
- 43 "Nobody — You"
- 44 Brad
- 46 One type of school
- 50 Heroic in scale
- 53 And not
- 55 Anagram for sore
- 56 Mr.
- 57 Slimy mess
- 58 Compass point
- 59 Dagger
- 60 Final
- 61 Marvin or Majors
- DOWN
- 1 Impromptu attempt
- 21 — et vale
- Solution time: 26 mins.
- 2 Nimbus
- 3 Voice range
- 4 Beat the — (be acquitted)
- 5 Eastern nanny
- 6 Jason's helper
- 7 French ticket
- 8 Summer refresher
- 9 God of flocks
- 10 Success sign?
- 12 Full authority
- 19 It might be
- 21 original
- 22 Pre-scribed amount
- 23 Plato's H
- 25 Split
- 26 Skirt feature
- 27 Congers
- 28 Taj Mahal locale
- 29 One-armed bandit feature
- 30 Sediment
- 31 Cul-de-
- 35 Steal
- 38 Wood sorrel
- 40 Carpet
- 42 Natural joint
- 45 Downtown Chicago
- 47 Inland sea
- 48 Pre-
- 49 Italian noble house
- 50 Stammering sounds

N.Y. vigilante trial to start

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — More than two years after Bernhard Goetz shot four young men on a subway train, a jury will hear opening statements Monday as his trial on attempted murder charges begins.

The prosecution charges that Goetz, using an unlicensed .38-caliber pistol, overreacted to an imagined threat and wounded four youths who were only panhandling.

Goetz's lawyers counter that the threat was real. They say Goetz, badly beaten once before in a street mugging, correctly read the situation and did what he had to do.

Goetz, 39, is charged with attempted murder, reckless endangerment, assault and illegal possession of dangerous weapons in the shooting of Troy Canty, Barry Allen, James Ramseur and Darrel Cabey in lower Manhattan on Dec. 22, 1984.

Goetz said he shot the four, all 19 at the time, because he knew they were trying to rob him when they surrounded him and sought $5.

The jurors will hear up to 40 prosecution witnesses and half again as many for the defense over four to six weeks of trial before they have to decide if Goetz was justified in firing the shots.

Included among the witnesses may be some of Goetz's victims, three of whom have recovered completely from their wounds. Cabey is brain damaged and paralyzed from the waist down because a bullet hit his spine.

"We will call the victims-thugs (to testify) if Waples doesn't have the courage to," said Mark Baker, one of Goetz's lawyers. He was referring to Assistant District Attorney Gregory Waples, the prosecutor.

Police say the four youths were carrying screwdrivers at the time of the shooting.

Collapse

Continued from Page 1

the scene. "It's harder for them than it is for the women to seek help."

A "lift-slab" construction technique was being used on the building, and witnesses said the collapse occurred while workers were trying to raise into place the concrete slabs that become the floors and the roof.

Experts said that possible problems with the technique include instability in the steel columns, weakness in concrete slabs, failure to jack the slabs evenly and an unstable base for the building. No factor had yet been isolated as the cause, however.

The $17 million project in Bridgeport, was to be 13 stories tall.

Flag

Continued from Page 1

many during World War II.

The flag, which was about 3 feet wide and 6 feet long, was red with a white circle where the emblem was painted in black. The house is located at 1965 College Heights Road.

About 10 percent of the house members stayed in Manhattan and did not go to the fraternity's spring formal. All of the house's officers were in Kansas City, Frankenberg said.

The fraternity had the flag because it was used in a skit during Greek Week two weeks ago. The skit did not condone Nazism, Frankenberg said.

The members took the sign down after receiving complaints from residents in the area.

"It was an ignorant thing to do," Frankenberg said.

A member who was at the party said they were not aware of the campus activities scheduled for this week in conjunction with "Days of Remembrance of Victims of the Nazi Holocaust."

"We are sorry it was up," he said. "If we had known, we would not have put it up."

Stay in tune.
Read the
Collegian
Briefs.

K-State Student and Faculty callers obtained 15,221 alumni pledges worth a record

$460,596

During the 1987 KSU Foundation Telefund, nearly 1,000 volunteers contacted alumni nationwide on behalf of the eight academic colleges, the Smith Scholarship House and Intercollegiate Athletics. Funds raised during the 39 calling sessions will be used for scholarships, educational materials and student activities. The KSU Foundation would like to thank everyone who participated in the most successful Telefund ever!

All eight colleges set new records for Telefund pledges during 1987

SUPER PRIZE WINNERS

The "Super Prize" concept was initiated to encourage the best student callers to participate in more than one calling session. The results: The Top 15 students, as a group, raised $32,410 from 1,201 pledges during 55 calling sessions.

These are the 1987 Top 15 Student Callers.

#1 Russ Pugh 181 pledges Sanyo Stereo System Senior, Business World Radio	#2 Precia Lyons 158 pledges Symphonic VCR Freshman, Agriculture World Radio	#3 Dana Hinshaw 131 pledges Sony "Watchman" Freshman, Business World Radio	#4 Carole Sloan 113 pledges $50 U.S. Savings Bond Sophomore, Education Ag Press	#5 Shari Henry 70 pledges Dinner for 2 Junior, Education Burgundy's
#6 Wes Fowler Dinner for 2 Junior, Agriculture Cotton Club	#7 Lisa Camp Dinner for 2 Sophomore, Business Kennedy's Claim	#8 David Toney Dinner for 2 Senior, Education Aggie Station	#9 Christopher Teague Dinner for 2 Freshman, Arts & Sciences University Inn	#10 Lyle Hammer $25 Certificate Freshman, Agriculture AT&T
#11 Lanette Meyer $25 Certificate Senior, Human Ecology AT&T	#12 Rachel Lloyd $25 U.S. Savings Bond Junior, Education KSU Student Foundation	#13 Lana Hammer $25 U.S. Savings Bond Junior, Agriculture Kappa Kappa Gamma	#14 Melissa Lattimore $25 U.S. Savings Bond Freshman, Agriculture Alpha Delta Pi	#15 Donna Wohletz $25 U.S. Savings Bond Sophomore, Education KSU Foundation

These are the Top 5 Faculty Callers

#1 Tom Parrish Education Dinner for 2 Burgandy's	#2 Virginia Moxley Human Ecology Dinner for 2 Aggie Station	#3 William Richter Arts & Sciences Dinner for 2 Cotton Club	#4 David Byrne Education Dinner for 2 Kennedy's Claim	#5 Marjorie Stith Human Ecology Dinner for 2 University Inn
--	---	---	---	---

STUDENT LEADERS

The top five callers, based on the number of pledges obtained in one evening are:

Agriculture

Dana Hinshaw
Stacey Nanninga
Rachel Lloyd
Sharon Visser
Wes Fowler

Archetecture & Design

Lucia DeBauge
Lori Fite
Pat McDonough
Lance Schwulst
Timothy Bickhaus

Arts & Sciences

Kawanis Scott
Jada Allerheiligen
Carole Sloane
Precia Lyons
Ted Smith

Business

Russ Pugh
Teresa Butler
Barry Hofer
Janet Moeller
Lori Rock

Education

Joanie Coats
Becky Lucas
Tracey Shackelford
Penny Johnston
Shari Henry

Engineering

John Socolofsky
Scott Bledsoe
Lee Kalivoda
Doug Folk
Doug Kroencke

Human Ecology

Lanette Meyer
Karen Gorman
Susan Davis
Joni Vanderiet
Patti Knoblock

Veterinary Medicine

Greg Wood
James Speer
Scott Shellovna
Lauri Diehl
Scott Shell

The KSU Foundation extends a special thank you to the student coordinators and team captains who recruited fellow students. Their dedication directly influenced Telefund's success.

The KSU Foundation also thanks the KSU Student Foundation which helped with prize solicitation.

Inside

Special Day

More than 200 Special Olympians gather at Cico Park to compete in a variety of events. See Page 5.

Weather

Mostly Sunny

Mostly sunny today, high around 80. Winds southerly 5 to 15 mph. Mostly clear tonight, low around 50.

Sports

Voluntary Action

Katherine Cox, a volunteer coach with the K-State track team for the past year, has found the experience worthwhile. See Page 9.

Kansas State

Collegian

Tuesday
April 28, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 144

Water contamination controversy continues

Residents near landfill report animals' deaths

By JUDY LUNDSTROM
Staff Writer

The fact that water contamination tests conducted on wells near the Riley County Landfill came back negative earlier this month did not console many Moehlman Bottoms residents.

Animals have been mysteriously dying at several residences near the landfill, and owners want to know why.

"It's a bunch of bull," said Becky Choitz, who lives about a half mile east of the landfill. "They've got a problem and they're dancing around it and trying to make everybody feel better. But making us feel better is not going to fix the problem."

Choitz and her husband, Leon, moved to Moehlman Bottoms two years ago. Since then, several of their animals have died, including seven goats.

"They die looking fine," Becky said. "There's something going on, and I want to know what it is."

Recently, the Choitzes took their latest dead goat to the Veterinary Medicine Clinic at K-State for tests. Fred Oehme, toxicologist at the College of Veterinary Medicine, said the tests showed no indication that chemicals caused the goat's death.

The tests were performed by Al Straffuss, veterinary pathologist in the veterinary diagnostic lab. The lab ran a post-mortem and a pathological examination of the liver and kidney, Oehme said. The post-mortem was run to determine the cause of death, and the pathological exam was conducted to find out if some kind of chemical killed the animal.

If an animal dies of a chemical, the liver and kidney are usually the organs affected, he said.

"We could not find any evidence from the tests that we ran that chemicals produced the death of the

See ANIMALS, Page 12

By JUDY LUNDSTROM
Staff Writer

Recent developments indicate questions about contaminated wells in Moehlman Bottoms near the Riley County Landfill may not be satisfactorily answered.

Although tests conducted last month at county monitoring wells surrounding the landfill showed evidence of contamination at unacceptable levels, tests conducted on private wells in the area did not indicate contamination at levels the KDHE considers necessary for notification.

The tests conducted on 14 private wells at Moehlman Bottoms March 5 by J.C. Butler Associates in Salina all came back negative earlier this month. However, in addition to testing residents' wells, the county ran tests on 23 monitor wells near the landfill, County Engineer Dan Harden said Monday. Unlike the private wells, several of the monitor wells showed contamination.

Two of the contaminated wells were adjacent to the landfill, one was on the landfill site and one was southeast of the landfill, Harden said.

The latter contamination site is in a mobile home lot where Carson Home Sales, Manhattan, is expected to set 14 mobile homes, he said.

Some of the tests run by J.C. Butler Associates may not have been extensive enough to detect certain levels of carcinogens set by the Kansas Department of Health and Environment.

In at least two of the tests, the lab's detection limit was less stringent than the Kansas Notification Level for the contaminant. For example, the lab's detection limit for benzene, a carcinogen, was 1.0 parts per billion. The Kansas Notification Level — a level at which, if detected, the owner of the well is notified and the well monitored further — is 0.67 parts per billion. Butler's tests would not have detected the contaminant at the notification level.

Benzene was one of the four carcinogens detected in two of the contaminated wells at Moehlman Bottoms.

Residents have expressed concern about their water ever since the March tests were run. The results came back April 6 indicating no contamination, but Harden said at the time that the county was going to try to get a chemist at K-State to look over the results to put them into laymen's terms.

Monday he said Janis C. Butler, owner of the firm that originally conducted the tests, examined the results.

"She didn't find anything unusual," he said.

Harden said he also compared the results with KDHE's standards for clean water and felt comfortable with the results.

One problem encountered in investigating private wells is that the quality of private drinking water in Kansas is not regulated by either state or federal agencies.

Harden said KDHE would probably require the county to conduct further tests in the area, particularly near the Kansas River, which runs along the edge of the landfill.

"If we've got this much (contamination), we may have more," he said.

In a related matter, residents learned Monday they may have a city water supply by the end of the summer.

Riley County Commissioners have approved installation of Alternate No. 1 at Moehlman Bottoms. The plan involves the construction of new water lines to serve about 30 private homes and two trailer courts, one with six units and one with 14 units.

Construction of the water district under this plan will cost $81,000 and will be financed by bonds paid off with property taxes, said County Commissioner Darrell Westervelt. The operation of the district will be funded by a water charge.

The water district plans were designed by BG Consultants, Inc., Manhattan, which offered five solutions. The plan selected, which will be an extension of the current Hunters Island Water District, was least expensive and will supply the least water pressure to users in Moehlman Bottoms.

While supplying a fresh water supply is a short-term solution, cleaning up the contamination problems around the landfill is not. Residents are requesting the landfill be closed or relocated and have retained a Junction City law firm and a San Francisco attorney to handle the situation.

"It's obvious in looking through the reports that there are real problems

See CHEMICALS, Page 12

U.S. bars entrance of Austrian leader

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Austrian President Kurt Waldheim is barred from entering the United States because he aided in the deportation and execution of thousands of Jews and others as a German Army officer in World War II, the Justice Department announced Monday.

Waldheim, who was United Nations secretary general from 1972 to 1982, thus becomes the first head of state ever placed on an immigration Watchlist of 40,000 people, many of whom, like him, are excluded from the United States as undesirable aliens.

Attorney General Edwin Meese III made the decision that found that "a case of excludability exists with respect to Kurt Waldheim as an individual," the Justice Department said in a statement. It said he knew of and aided persecutions of Jews, other civilians and partisans.

In Vienna, Austrian Foreign Minister Alois Mock said the decision produced "great dismay" and the government recalled Ambassador Thomas Klestil from Washington for consultations. Mock said it was unclear whether Chancellor Franz Vranitzky would proceed with a visit to the United States planned for later this month.

Austrian Embassy spokesman Walter Greinert said President Reagan told Klestil in a meeting Monday morning that the decision "in no way was reflecting adverse feelings to the Austrian people."

In Vienna, a spokesman for Waldheim, Gerold Christian, refused immediate comment on Meese's action.

Edgar M. Bronfman, president of the World Jewish Congress, one of the groups that had fought to keep Waldheim out of the United States, said in New York that Meese "has acted in a courageous manner and has sent a clear message: Nazis are not welcome here...Kurt Waldheim is and remains the symbol of deception and deceit in the world."

If Waldheim tries to enter the United States, he will be turned away at the border. If he were to contest the action, he would be jailed at an immigration detention facility while he awaited an administrative hearing.

As a head of state, Waldheim would normally have diplomatic immunity.

Violent riot occurs on African campus

By The Associated Press

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Police fired birdshot and tear gas and used whips Monday in running battles with hundreds of student protesters, both blacks and whites, at the University of Cape Town.

It was believed to be the first clash in which police fired guns to control rioting at a predominantly white school, and it was one of the most violent campus disturbances since a national state of emergency was declared in June 1986.

The violence followed a midday rally by anti-apartheid student groups protesting a South African army commando raid Saturday on alleged guerrilla targets in Zambia. After the rally, students singing freedom songs marched through the campus at the foot of Cape Town's Table Mountain.

Seven students were arrested and three policemen were slightly injured, the government's Bureau for Information reported. The chief university administrator, Vice Chancellor Stuart Saunders, said eight to 10 students were wounded by birdshot, including two who required medical treatment for wounds in the face and stomach.

Journalists at the scene had reported at least five students hit by birdshot. A free-lance photographer and several students were reported hurt by whips.

About 15 percent of the university's 12,000 students are of mixed-race, black or of Indian descent. The others are white.

Reporters said at least 100 police dealt with the unrest. The government's Bureau for Information said about 300 students were involved in clashes. Witnesses put the number at 400 to 500.

During the melee, reporters said, a police helicopter buzzed the campus, students barricaded themselves in the student union, and police broke through the locked door of a library where protesters sought refuge.

The Bureau for Information said police fired tear gas and used whips on students after police and private vehicles were stoned. It said officers fired birdshot when they feared the tear gas would spread from the campus to a highway.

According to reporters, the first clash occurred after some marchers threw stones, bricks and bottles at an approaching police car.

Staff/Rob Squires

Parviz Campbell, Manhattan, represents the Baha'i religion while lighting a candle during an interfaith ceremony as part of a Holocaust remembrance service Monday in All Faiths Chapel. The service was the first of several activities this week commemorating the Holocaust.

Ceremony recalls Holocaust

By KIM GREER
Collegian Reporter

In remembrance of Jewish victims of the Nazi Holocaust, members of several religious faiths participated in an interfaith candle lighting ceremony Monday in All Faiths Chapel.

The Holocaust was "the darkest night of history — a monstrous pinnacle of evil," said Michael Weinberg, a Manhattan mental health counselor. Weinberg spoke on "The Meaning of the Holocaust."

Adolph Hitler's crime was unique, he said, not only because millions of people were killed but because genocide became a government policy.

During the Holocaust, churches and ministries allowed birth records to be used to identify Jews, and Hitler chose sites for the concentration camps as though he was operating a business by determining cost effectiveness and accessibility, Weinberg said.

Economic factors also played an important role in the Holocaust, Weinberg said. An illustration of this economic role was the competition between contractors to supply the ovens used to incinerate hundreds of inmates hourly. He said these contractors competed not only to supply the ovens but also to obtain patents for them.

Weinberg said one of the strongest means to prevent the destruction of human life like the Holocaust again is education.

"(People should) learn from the past, never forget and never let it happen again," he said.

Following Weinberg's speech, representatives from the Roman Catholic, Protestant Christian, Baha'i, Jewish, Christian Science and Mormon faiths lit six candles, each in the memory of victims of a particular concentration camp.

The seventh candle, lit by all participants together, was dedicated to "the oppressed today and the light of hope and resolve."

'(People should) learn from the past, never forget and never let it happen again.'
— Michael Weinberg

The remembrance service and other activities continuing this week are sponsored by the K-State Committee on Religion at the request of the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Council, established by Congress in 1980.

"The purpose (of the Holocaust remembrance activities) is primarily to renew the unique experience of the Holocaust — the annihilation and genocide of 6 million Jews and perhaps 6 million others, such as gypsies, gay persons, the handicapped, and political and religious dissenters," said Don Fallon, coordinator of religious activities and the committee's adviser.

"A second purpose is that we might resolve that this kind of genocide oppression of persons will not happen again," he said. "We were affirming Monday our oneness in God, our common humanity, our remembrance of the victims — the oppressed of our world — and a commitment to justice and peace."

Briefly

By The Associated Press

NATIONAL

PTL board against Bakker's return

COLUMBIA, S.C. — Two members of the new board of the PTL ministry empire said Monday that its founder, the Rev. Jim Bakker, should not be allowed to return in spite of his threat of a "holy war" to regain it.

And the Rev. Bailey E. Smith said the board's chairman, the Rev. Jerry Falwell, is considering resigning at today's board meeting in Fort Mill and that if he does the rest of the board also might step down.

The Baptist evangelist from Oklahoma said his ministry and Falwell's have been hurt financially because of their connection with the scandal-ridden PTL.

Smith said from First Baptist Church in Del City, Okla., that he can't say exactly how much donations have decreased because of the PTL scandal and his connection to it, but Falwell has said he has lost $2 million.

North receives 24-hour protection

WASHINGTON — Former White House aide Lt. Col. Oliver North is under around-the-clock protection because of recent death threats he has received, Pentagon sources said late Monday.

Several sources, who asked not to be identified, confirmed that North and his Great Falls, Va., house are being guarded by agents of the Naval Investigative Service. Agents have set up a command post at North's home and accompany him to his Marine Corps job and on family outings, officials said. North has been working at Marine headquarters next to the Pentagon in Virginia.

One source said there is "reason to believe that North is considered a target" by terrorists. He did not elaborate, however.

NBC Nightly News reported that the protection began on April 15, the anniversary of last year's U.S. air raid on Libya. The network said North, a National Security Council aide at the time of the raid, was believed to have been targeted for assassination in retaliation for planning the bombing and for the interception of the Achille Lauro hijackers in 1985.

NRA unites for common cause

RENO, Nev. — Feuding factions of the National Rifle Association say they have closed ranks after an annual membership meeting marked by sharp criticism of NRA leaders.

A faction led by former NRA board member Neal Knox made an unsuccessful attempt Saturday to oust the gun lobby's board of directors and capture control of the organization.

Among other things, Knox and his supporters urged the current leaders to become more militant in their opposition to weapons control legislation. They blamed the leadership for losing battles on legislation banning the manufacture of machine guns and armor-piercing bullets.

But key figures on both sides of the fight pledged to bury their differences Sunday and unite in their fight to protect gun owners' rights.

"The other side took delight in our squabble and would like to think the NRA is weakened by it," Knox said. "It's merely wishful thinking on their part. We have far more similarities than dissimilarities."

REGIONAL

Site may be nation's most polluted

WICHITA — Groundwater at an industrial park in northern Wichita is so heavily polluted that state officials say it may be one of the nation's worst hazardous waste sites.

After a state investigation, the site could be added to the National Priorities List, a list of 905 hazardous waste sites, according to officials from the Kansas Department of Health and Environment and the Environmental Protection Agency.

If it is placed on the list, Superfund, an $8.5 billion federal fund for cleaning up abandoned hazardous waste sites, could be used to begin work in the area. The EPA would then ask companies they think responsible for the contamination to repay the government for the cleanup and investigation.

Although the chemicals and metals found at the north Wichita site can cause everything from learning disabilities to cancer, officials say there is little health risk to the people living nearby.

"No one in the area uses the water," said Douglas Hahn, director of the Sedgwick County Environmental Resources Department. Health officials said they are concerned that the chemicals could eventually spread and contaminate private wells, which supply drinking water.

Officials became aware of the problem about three years ago, when the EPA was investigating another Superfund site in Wichita.

State hospital escapees captured

GUYMON, Okla. — Three men who escaped from Larned State Hospital in western Kansas and a woman companion were arrested Monday in Guymon, authorities said.

A Guymon Police Department spokesman said Perry Isley, 29, of Shawnee County was arrested as he hitchhiked on U.S. 54 in Guymon about 1 a.m.

Around 6 a.m., Oklahoma state and local authorities arrested Clifton Lashley, 34, Barry Cline, 30, and Tari L. Derr without incident at a Guymon motel, according to Texas County Undersheriff Forest Osborn.

The fugitives and Derr were arraigned at the Texas County Courthouse late Monday, Osborn said. He said bond was set for Lashley at $50,000, for Cline at $25,000 and for Isley at $25,000. All three were charged with being a fugitive from justice, Osborn said.

U.S. attorney signs DUI diversion

WICHITA — U.S. Attorney Ben Burgess said Monday he has signed a diversion agreement that could mean he won't be tried on drunken driving and speeding charges.

Burgess, 43, of Wichita, was arrested April 4 on Interstate 235 in northwest Wichita and charged with drunken driving and driving 83 mph. He appeared Monday before Sedgwick County District Judge Robert Watson.

Burgess and the district attorney's office signed a diversion agreement that says if he does not violate the law and meets other conditions during the next year the charges will be dismissed.

At a news conference in the federal courthouse, Burgess said the incident is a reminder that public officials are people too, and are subject to the same human weaknesses and frailties.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT in Holtz Hall has many services available to students, including career counseling, letter, data sheet and resume preparation advisement, and others.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT: Students who will complete requirements for degrees in the spring or summer should report employment or other plans if firm, or solicit help in Holtz Hall if seeking employment.

COORDINATED UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM IN DIETETICS applications are available in Justin 107 and are due May 1.

CONVERSATIONAL ENGLISH TUTORING PROGRAM offered by the International Student Center needs volunteer tutors for the summer. No experience is required. For more information call Karen at 532-6448.

TODAY

ASSOCIATION OF ADULTS RETURNING TO SCHOOL meets at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

BOARD OF STUDENT PUBLICATIONS INC. meets at 4 p.m. in Union Stateroom 2 to discuss equipment purchases, adjustment of rates for 1987-88 and approval of 1988 Royal Purple contract.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATORS BIBLE STUDY meet at 7 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

SEIZURE SUPPORT GROUP meets at 7:30 p.m. at 804 Laramie St.

KSU/ARH executive meeting at 6:15 p.m. in Derby Food Center.

HORSEMAN'S ASSOCIATION meets at 6:30 p.m. at Valentino's Restaurant.

COALITION FOR HUMAN RIGHTS meets at 7:30 p.m. on Kedzie 106.

LESBIAN SUPPORT GROUP meets at 7 p.m. for more information call 532-6444 or 532-6442.

RUGBY CLUB meets at 8 p.m. in Union 208.

ALPHA CHI SIGMA meets at 7 p.m. in Willard 218.

SPURS meets at 9 p.m. in Union 213.

FLINT HILLS WATER SKI CLUB and KSU SKI TEAM meet at 8:30 p.m. in Bluemont 107.

WEDNESDAY

CAMPUS RELIGIOUS GROUPS, Baptist Student Union, Campus Crusade for Christ, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, Navigators and IC-THUS, meet from 7 to 10 p.m. in Union U-room for prayer meeting.

ICAT "Students That Back The Cats" meet at 12:30 p.m. in Union 212. Coach Stan Parrish will discuss the upcoming football season.

DATA PROCESSING MANAGEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at 7 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

ASSOCIATION OF ADULTS RETURNING TO SCHOOL meets at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Abdulmalik Sahabi at 9 a.m. in Bluemont 368. The dissertation topic is "Saudi Arabian Students in the U.S.: Their Attitudes Toward the Educational Policies and Practices in Saudi Arabia."

Correction

Richard J. Rehmer, the fourth finalist for the position of director of personnel services, was not on campus Monday because he withdrew his name for consideration of that position last week. In Monday's Collegian, it was stated Rehmer would be on campus. Rehmer is director of personnel support services, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio.

Auntie Mae's Parlor

AGGIEVILLE

Tuesday Import Beer Night

Featuring bottles of Mae's favorite beers from across the seas.

Only $1.25

616 N. 12th 539-9967

BUSHWACKERS
THE HUNDRINKER
TONIGHT ALL MIXED DRINKS $1.50
Any Name Any Brand
Office: 539-4321 531 N. Manhattan 539-9727 Bar: 539-9727

Open 7 days a week
Free Delivery
11 a.m.-1 a.m.
Call 539-8888 or 537-0886
1116 Moro 537-0886 (eggroll & fried rice 99¢)
HUNAM Restaurant
1304 Westloop 539-8888 (10% off with KSU ID)

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT in JOHNSON COUNTY
Available For
Typists • Word Processors
File Clerks • Data Entry
Light Industrial
BOSSLER-HIX TEMPORARIES
Contact your campus representative
Mary Schmidt 776-2224
evenings

TUESDAYS
JAZZ RIPS MANHATTAN
JAZZ!
Every Tuesday 8 p.m.
—Presenting 17 Piece KSU Concert Jazz Ensemble
—Plus . . . All You Can Eat
Boiled Shrimp
$5.95 6-8 p.m.!!!
RIP & MO'S
aggieville's rock-n-roll bar
710 N. Manhattan, Aggieville tel 539-9706

GLAFLIN
Books & Copies
•Professional Resumes
•4¢ Self Service Copies
•Full Service Copy Center
•Quality Dissertation Copying
OPEN DAILY
M-F 8-9 Sat. 9-5 Sun. 12-9
FirstBank Center Denison & Claflin
776-3771

BONKERS
LATIN NIGHT
FRI., MAY 1
featuring Salsa & Merengue Music
FIESTA AT BONKERS!
1216 Laramie 537-9591

Dark Horse Saloon
$1.25
Vodka Wells
$2.50
Pitchers
619 N. Manhattan

BONKERS
TONITE
99¢ Kamis
THURSDAY
MOVING VAN GOGH'S
1216 Laramie 537-9591

Getting summer work shouldn't take all summer.
At Adia, we've got a variety of interesting assignments ready and waiting. Great opportunities with top companies, at top pay...right in your area. And our flexible work schedules leave plenty of time to enjoy the summer. So this year spend your summer working at a job. Not looking for one.
Overland Park 913-451-8070
Midtown K.C. 816-756-0340
Gladstone 816-436-9904
ADIA
The Employment People

PUTT-PUTT
GOLF COURSES
Northbrook
Tennis from Wal-Mart

Security Officers Join KANSAS CITY'S LARGEST WELLS FARGO GUARD SERVICE IS SEEKING SECURITY OFFICERS FOR FULL & PART TIME EMPLOYMENT. WE WILL PROVIDE TRAINING TO MAKE "YOU" A SUCCESS IN OUR FIELD.
YOUR BENEFITS:
•Best Pay in K.C.
•Life Insurance
•Free Uniforms
•Holiday Pay
•Paid Vacation
•Weekly Paychecks
REQUIREMENTS:
•18 years or older
•Valid driver's license
•Phone in home
•Your own car
•Clean police record
BE WHERE THE ACTION IS JOIN THE WELLS FARGO TEAM APPLY IN PERSON MON.-FRI. INTERVIEWS FROM 9 a.m.-4 p.m.
Wells Fargo Guard Service
3245 Broadway, K.C., Mo.
EOE M/F

Subway Sandwich Shop
We Deliver!
537-DELI

Brother's KSU
IN AGGIEVILLE USA
"Quote Night"
$2.25 Pitchers
75¢ Draws
Last week's winner:
"I would rather have a bottle in front of me than a frontal lobotomy." -Ken-
Thursday:
"The Verandas"
Friday:
"The Clique"

65¢
1/4-Pound RUNZA HAMBURGER
Now for a limited time get our award-winning 1/4-pound, freshly-ground hamburger for just 65¢!! That's half off our regular price ($1.30). Try the best-tasting, freshest burger in town today.
Coupon expires May 10, 1987
One coupon per customer per visit.
Not valid with any other offer.
10:30 a.m.-10 p.m.
1101 Moro, Manhattan
Come on and get a taste
RUNZA
DRIVE-IN RESTAURANT

The Station
TACO TUESDAY
THE STATION'S TUESDAY LUNCH AND DINNER TRADITION FEATURES:
FRESHLY PREPARED CRISP FLOUR SHELLS!
TACOS - 99¢ EACH OR 3 FOR $2.75
MARGARITAS - $1.25 ($1.25 OFF)
1115 Moro, Aggieville tel. 776-0030

Faculty recommend parking changes

By RITA GRAVES
Collegian Reporter

At a public hearing Tuesday in Union Forum Hall, the University Ad Hoc Committee on Parking Utilization met to recommend several changes in parking accommodations including a multi-level parking garage.

The committee proposed creating a multi-level parking structure in either D1W parking lot west of campus or the Union parking lot.

Lawrence Garvin, University architect, said setting aside some parking and misuse fees in an interest-bearing account along with other sources including bonds and gifts, could pay for the construction.

Another recommendation allowed for 800 additional parking spaces to be approved in lots with room for expansion. Half of the sites are north of Claflin Road because space is limited in the southern parking lots, Garvin said.

The committee proposed redesigning and restriping existing parking lots to create up to 400 additional spaces. Garvin said angular parking would be one form of creating more space.

Another suggestion approved by the committee was a new campuswide plan separating student, faculty and staff parking.

The committee recommended adding 500 reserved parking spaces for faculty and staff and proposed a $2 per day fee for visitors parking on-campus between 7 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The committee also suggested employing a qualified parking facilities management consultant to define a maintenance program for existing spaces. The consultant would also design criteria for new spaces and a detailed cost analysis, Garvin said.

The committee recommended the University abandon a campuswide plan for integrated parking with a uniform user fee until the number of spaces available fully satisfies the need for campus parking.

"Integrated parking would maximize user discontent," Garvin said.

The second charge opposed by the committee was the addition of parking costs to K-State's budget be funded by the Legislature.

Garvin said the sources of funding available to meet this request, such as the General Fund or Educational Building Fund, are already overtaxed. Moreover, the Legislature and Kansas Board of Regents have had a longstanding policy opposing the use of these funds for parking purposes, he said.

Kansas may stay in compact

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — A task force appointed to study Kansas' membership in the low-level radioactive waste compact on Monday recommended to Gov. Mike Hayden the state not withdraw from the five-state treaty.

The 19-member task force, led by Lt. Gov. Jack Walker, decided to advise Hayden to remain in the Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact after about two hours of discussion of last Friday's emergency meeting of the compact.

"I believe the consensus is we are leaning toward staying in the compact," Walker said. "I'll tell the governor there wasn't anything that turned up in Friday's meeting to cause us to get out. We've always got the option to get out of the compact down the road. We always hold the ace card and there's nothing to prevent us from considering withdrawal again."

At Friday's meeting in Kansas City, Mo., the compact commission tentatively voted to dissect a disputed environmental study which investigated potential nuclear waste dump sites in the five compact states: Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Removed from the study were portions that identified the preferred siting areas for a regional waste dump. The compact commission also voted to direct the private developer chosen to build the waste dump to conduct an independent environmental study.

The commission declared as a matter of policy that no area in any of the five states should be excluded from consideration as a site of the dump. Compact officials also ruled that Kansas' new law banning burial of low-level radioactive waste does not violate terms of the compact agreement.

"We're much better off staying in the compact and taking our turn hosting a disposal site than if we get out," Sen. Merrill Werts, R-Junction City, told the 19-member task force.

"The need for a disposal facility will outlast the lives of any of us or our children. We have so much more to gain by staying in. And I'm persuaded we do have the technology to manage the waste. We have to deal with it because the waste is not going to go away."

However, two members of the task force expressed serious reservations about remaining in the compact.

Rep. Darrel Webb, D-Wichita, was not convinced and said it might be better for Kansas simply to drop out of the compact.

"I really have mixed emotions," Webb said. "We generate the lowest amount of waste of any state in the compact. But I have a feeling we're being railroaded into hosting this thing. We got the site and it was determined three years ago. I just have that feeling."

John Campbell, an assistant to Attorney General Robert T. Stephan, said his boss was "very disappointed" at the lack of definitive action by the compact commission.

He urged the task force not to make any recommendation until answers are given to several questions, including where a Kerr-McGee Nuclear Corp. subsidiary plans to dispose of 2.3 million cubic feet of radioactive sludge not sitting in Gore, Okla.

Walker said his recommendation to Hayden would hinge on ratification of the decisions made Friday at the compact commission's next meeting June 8. At that time, a private developer is to be chosen to build the waste dump.

Accused youth receives amendments to charges

By The Collegian Staff

Charges filed against an area youth in connection with the Jan. 4 stabbing of a Manhattan taxi driver were amended in Geary County District Court Thursday.

The court amended charges against Jerry Thomas O'Dell, 18.

O'Dell and Stephan Stratton, 18, were charged in March with aggravated kidnapping, aggravated robbery, conspiracy to commit murder in the first degree and attempted murder in the first degree in connection with the stabbing of a cab driver.

The driver, Chuck Primm, died at 4 a.m. Friday at the University of Kansas Medical Center, Lawrence, from complications of the stab wounds.

While charges of aggravated kidnapping, aggravated robbery and conspiracy to commit aggravated robbery against O'Dell remained the same, charges of conspiracy to commit murder in the first degree and attempted murder in the first degree were modified to felony murder, said Gary Burgess, detective in the Geary County Sheriff's Department.

The next court appearance for O'Dell, who turned 18 March 25, will be a certification hearing May 11. The purpose of the hearing will be to certify him as an adult so he may be tried as an adult, Burgess said.

The charges against Stratton have not been amended yet, he said.

Primm was transferred to the KU Medical Center March 25 from the Irwin Army Hospital in Fort Riley. When transferred, Primm was listed in critical condition, and while at the KU Medical Center Primm's condition was upgraded to serious. On April 21, however, he was downgraded to critical condition.

The 42-year-old taxi driver was stabbed more than 25 times in the neck and chest area on Jan. 4.

Primm's funeral will be today at the Irvin-Parkview Funeral Home, 1317 Poyntz Ave.

Collegian Classifieds
Cheap, but Effective

Piñata
Restaurante

IT'S TUESDAY FOR TACOS!
3 Regular Tacos
for only $1.79

(offer good Tues., Apr. 28, from 5 til close)

1219 Blumont 539-3166 Open Daily at 11 a.m.

CONGRATULATIONS!

GRADUATES

You've Earned Your Degree and have an Exciting Career Ahead. Laird Noller Ford in Topeka would like to reward your efforts with a $400 CASH REBATE toward a New Ford Car or Truck and Offer You a SPECIAL FINANCE PLAN through Ford Motor Credit.

For V.I.P. treatment and more information, please call or stop by Laird Noller Ford in Topeka. But Hurry, this program is available for a limited time.

Laird Noller
FORD-SAAB

P.O. BOX 946 • TOPEKA, KANSAS 66601 • 913-235-9211

21st to 23rd & Topeka 8 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon., Tues., Thurs.
Topeka, Ks 235-9211 8 a.m.-6 p.m. Wed., Fri.
9 a.m.-6 p.m. Sat.

Oh Thank Heaven

OPEN 24 HOURS

1455 ANDERSON

Don't be overtaken by the Summertime Heat.

When you have a Super Thirst, quench it with a Super Big Gulp®, right now at a special low price of 59¢

Portfolio '87

May 3rd, 4 p.m.
TICKETS ARE $9

Featuring KSU Apparel Design Students at the Holidome Ballroom Includes Champagne & Hors d'oeuvres Send Paid Reservations by April 28 to: The Dept. of Human Ecology Justin Hall, KSU Manhattan, KS 66506 Tickets Will Be Held at the Door For More Information Call (913) 532-6993

WILLIE THE WILDCAT

TRYOUTS

April 29th-May 1st

Varsity and Alternate Positions Open

Informational Meeting

Tuesday, April 28th

7 p.m. Ahearn Fieldhouse

For more information contact: Scott Johnson 537-0353

THE VISTA

It's a hit!

Vista knows that you're hungry for an early season win, so we're offering a fantastic Triple Play for only $2.69.

The Triple Play—1/4 lb. Vistaburger fixed just the way you like it; crisp, crunchy, mouth-watering onion rings; and a medium drink. It's a hit!

Hustle in to Vista today for your Triple Play. Batter Up!

Vista
RESTAURANTS

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Arabs unfairly depicted by U.S. media

Contributions to our culture go overlooked

Imagine. You're writing a paper on Middle Eastern architecture. You've explained its exotic and mystical design, and now you want to describe the history and culture behind the people who made these grand contributions to the field of architecture: the Arabs.

You're in a writing slump and, since you're trying to be creative, you reach for your trusty Webster's Collegiate Thesaurus to look for a synonym for the word "Arab." Here's the way it describes an Arab: "Vagabond, clochard, drifter, floater, hobo, roadster, street arab, tramp, vag, vagrant."

You realize that you certainly cannot use those synonyms, so you pull out Rodale's thesaurus, which is called "The Word Finder." This is what you find under the listing "Arab": "filthy, hawk-faced, fierce-looking, excited and surly."

You think to yourself, this is really odd. You have a number of friends who are Arabs, and they're quite nice and very friendly. And what about people such as Casey Kasem, Doug Flutie or Jamie Farr? They're Arab-Americans and they certainly do not appear to be "tramps," "surly" or "hobos."

Later on that week, you are writing another paper on prejudice in America. In the readings you come across the words "Semite" and "anti-Semite" and, according to the way your book refers to these words, their meanings are unclear. Just to be safe, you reach for your trusty Random House Dictionary and look up the meanings of the two words. Semite: "A member of any of various ancient and modern peoples including the Hebrews and the Arabs."

You logically deduce that since "anti-" means against something, then being anti-Semitic would make you against Hebrews,

Arabs and other peoples of the Semites. Well, just to be safe, you decide it's best to look up "anti-Semite" in the dictionary — after all, you want to be very precise and correct in this paper. Here's what you find "anti-Semite" means in the dictionary: "A person who is hostile to Jews."

You think to yourself, this is really odd. Why does the term "Semite" clearly include — besides the Hebrews — Arabs and "other peoples," yet when someone is described as being against Semitic people, Arabs and the "other peoples" are no longer worthy of the definition? Does this mean we need only be concerned when someone is hostile to Hebrews, and we have no reason to be concerned when hostility is expressed toward Arabs or those "other peoples" of the Semites?

This blatantly racist and slanderous stereotyping of Arabs throughout the media is so common that it is a wonder people like Kasem, Flutie or Farr actually become as successful as they have. Anyone who reads a dictionary or a thesaurus and has the slightest sense of right and wrong would wonder how ANY Arab has gotten by without much bashing.

Perhaps a few words in a few books do not warrant the serious concern inherent in this column. The situation is, though, that this racism stretches far beyond just a few words and books. Movies, radio broadcasts, newspaper stories, school textbooks, television programs, records, advertisements and other media are presently — and often — portraying Arabs as swarthy, scheming lowlives who are only concerned with placing their next bomb.

Where in the media are the great contributions the Arabs have made to literature, physics, architecture, music, education, chemistry, mathematics, astronomy and medicine? The Arabs have a long and illustrious heritage and are among the most educated people in the world.

For example, Ibn Khaldun is considered by some scholars to be the father of historiography and sociology. Khaldun lived in the 14th and 15th centuries and was an

PATTI PAXSON
Collegian Columnist

Arab from Tunisia. Additionally, the beauty and artistry of Arabic stonework, calligraphy and architecture can be seen throughout Al-Azhar mosque in Cairo, The Dome of the Rock in Jerusalem and in the Alhambra palace in Granada, Spain.

To paint an ugly picture — as the American media have — of a people that number more than 160 million and come from nations that cover about 5.25 million square miles is such a loss for Americans. The richness of the Arab culture offers the Westerner an excellent cuisine, warm hospitality, intense and lively conversation and music filled with beauty and emotion.

I can certainly attest to this. I've traveled the length of Egypt — from Alexandria to Aswan — and found a country so grand in its history and so alive in its people. The Egyptians have a talent for keeping a strong sense of humor and a warm heart no matter how bad life gets. Beauty and pure genius can be seen throughout Egypt — in the Pyramids of Giza, in the successful, international businesses of Cairo and in the powerful Aswan High Dam.

There is no denying that every race, ethnic group, religion and subculture has been bashed, abused and discriminated against at some time or another. And the Arabs are no exception. However, I have never heard of a people — AN ENTIRE RACE — being slandered in the most basic, and most-often-used reference materials: dictionaries and thesauruses. Most school children and college students rarely go without one of these two references in their studies. It is scary to think that generations of Americans have grown up thinking that Arabs are "filthy vagabonds" when in fact the contributions they've made to American culture alone are quite notable.

The written and spoken word is very powerful for it has a subtle way of controlling our thoughts and ideas. George J. Makari, in a 1985 article from Arab Studies Quarterly, quotes a passage from Ralph Ellison's book "Shadow and Act" and describes just how powerful the word is: "Perhaps the most insidious and least understood form of segregation is the word. And by this I mean the word in all its complex formulations...with all its subtle power to suggest and foreshadow overt action and provide it with symbolic and psychological justification. For if the word has the potency to revive and make us free, it has also the power to blind, imprison and destroy."

The Reading of the Will

Dear kids,
We, the generation in power since World War II, seem to have used up pretty much everything ourselves. We kind of drained all the resources out of our manufacturing industries, so there's not much left there. The beautiful old buildings that were built to last for centuries, we tore down and replaced with characterless but inexpensive structures, and you can have them. Except everything we built had a lifespan about the same as ours, so, like the interstate highway system we built, they're all falling apart now and you'll have to deal with that. We used up as much of our natural resources as we could, without providing for renewable ones, so you're probably only good until about a week from Thursday. We did build a generous Social Security and pension system, but that was just for us. In fact, the only really durable thing we built was toxic dumps. You can have those. So think of your inheritance as a challenge. The challenge of starting from scratch. You can begin as soon as — oh, one last thing — as soon as you pay off the two trillion dollar debt we left you. Your parents

Letters

Human errors

Editor,
I am sure everyone feels bad about the 911 call that never got answered. I feel safe in saying that dispatcher Ron Lichtenhan feels worse than anyone. Errors happen every day to many people.

This error cost a life and a suspension. There's not much we can do except work together and try to make things better. There is one question I would like to ask Natalie Darfler. If you saw that no one came in answer to your call, why didn't you call again? And, if you felt something was wrong (serious enough to use 911), why didn't you go outside and see if you could be of any help?

It would seem that would have been your first move anyway. But we all make errors.
Curtis Harris
Maintenance Department

Placing due blame

Editor,
It is very sad and disturbing that two humans saw Stephen Lobmeyer still alive and moving in his car when they called 911 but did not come nearer to check. Not seeing from their position the garden hose linked to the exhaust, they dismissed it as a usual case of drunkenness.

This is very understandable. But then how much more understandable is the police's dismissal of it as well? By the very nature of it, their initial contact with the incident is more distant and mechanical. They are denied the direct face-to-face "personal" human contact with the victim that the witnesses had, and messages that have to be sorted and passed through different official and mechanical linkages buzz impersonally through an electronic system.

Various projections have been made on whether the youth's life could have been saved with immediate police response. But one thing is certain. If the humans were concerned enough to find out, in addition to dialing 911, his life would have been saved for he was still alive and moving.

Every effort must be made to remove all bugs in a system and any remiss of them should be properly dealt with. However, the media are focusing everything on the officials (the police) and not saying one word that all the humans could have easily saved him if only they had gone nearer to check, in addition to calling 911. This shows how much the humans are wound up on red tape and have missed humanity (a sort of reverse red tape in holding officials responsible, when it is more that the humans have failed.)

Thomas S. David graduate student in English

Military slighted

Editor,
Re: the editorial, "Armed forces should live up to expectations," in the April 23 Collegian.

I am incensed as a member of the Armed Forces and as a student at K-State that the editorial staff of the Collegian felt moved to cast dispersions on the entire Armed Forces, predicated upon the alleged misdeeds of a few Marines. The editorial's play on words, "the few, the proud, the armed forces" is right off the Marines' recruiting poster.

As for the conduct of those serving in the military, I doubt the writers have any perspective that comes close to being accurate.

Chuck Horner,
freshman in journalism
and mass communications

Near-sightedness

Editor,
On April 21, a column by Scott Miller appeared in the Collegian about the Pacesetter Scholarship Program. The column missed the mark in many areas, and we would like to correct the impression left by its author by explaining the following points:

— Philanthropy is part of the learning and growing process. At some point in life, we learn it is important to give as well as to receive. People support those things in which they believe: church, United Way, college, etc.

— Students are the last group to become involved in the private fund-raising process at K-State. Each year, all 10,000 alumni of the University are asked to provide support for scholarships and other programs. Last year, 25 percent of our alumni did make a gift, putting K-State No. 1 in the Big Eight and about 10 percentage points above the national average.

— Faculty, staff, friends, corporations and foundations are also involved in supporting K-State. In fact, last July President Jon Wefald and his wife, Ruth, joined the Presidents Club. That membership will require that they contribute $10,000 at a minimum to the University.

Pacesetter, a project of the KSU Student Foundation, seeks to attract graduating seniors to become a part of the giving tradition that has helped thousands of students. Because of philanthropic programs such as ours, about $2 million in private money has been awarded to students this year.

Many students already participate in the fund-raising programs at K-State. Nearly 900 students volunteered to call alumni during the 1987 Telefund. The Telefund raised pledges from 15,000 alumni totaling more than $460,000 this year alone. The money raised goes for scholarships and other programs for the benefit of students across campus.

We hope this quote from John F. Kennedy will help enlighten and improve what we believe is a narrow-minded and nearsighted attitude: "There is an old Chinese saying that each generation builds a road for the next. The road has been well built for us, and I believe it incumbent upon us in our generation, to build our road for the next generation."

Eva Chatterjee
Pacesetter Chairwoman
and 10 others

Protection problem

Editor,
This letter is in regard to a new service offered at K-State introduced in last Friday's Collegian — "Protection Express." Though I shan't be using your service in the future, I respect its nature and the founders' obvious concern for the safety of mankind. However, gentlemen, I do have a qualm. You see, I am from a small town in southwest Kansas that goes by the name of Protection. I know this sounds funny, but I don't think the inhabitants of the quaint little town will relish their association with the prophylactic distribution industry, and if word of your company spreads statewide, there may be a lawsuit pending. This is by no means a threat but simply an observation. Maybe you can come up with a better name or even an acronym like RAR (Rubbers at Request) or SAFTBAR (Someone Almost Forgot to Buy a Rubber) or ICBWF (I Can't Believe We Forgot). I don't wish to mar the outlook of your newfound business venture, but your attention to this matter would be appreciated. Thank you.

Chad Herd
senior in landscape architecture

New condom service offers safe alternative

Protection Express is a new company in Manhattan that will deliver condoms in the area from 7 p.m. to 3 a.m. on Fridays and Saturdays.

The company was conceived by four students after watching a newscast about a similar business at the University of Florida. They say they are not doing it to promote sex, but to promote safe sex. They want students to be protected from sexually transmitted diseases.

The concept is good and not all that different from some colleges on the East Coast that have a "condom person" on the floor in the dorms. That way, if the situation arises, a safe method that will help prevent pregnancy as well as STDs is easily available.

The entrepreneurs at K-State are not keeping a record of those who call, although a verification call may be made before delivery. This protection service is to help students, not embarrass them. Those working the service say they will be discrete and prompt.

For those students who are sexually active, this is a good way to provide a level of protection against pregnancy and STDs without any excuses.

Asbestos regulations get necessary update

The topic of asbestos is in the news again. New rules have been proposed by the Environmental Protection Agency that would require the inspection of 107,000 school buildings throughout the country for asbestos, a known cancer-causing agent.

The rules are necessary because they will clarify the guidelines to which governmental entities are expected to adhere. Currently, there is some confusion about exactly what the EPA guidelines require.

Asbestos was used for years in construction of all types. At K-State, asbestos was used in various buildings as well as in the steam tunnels running under the campus.

Asbestos provides an excellent means of fireproofing, but when its tiny fibers break off and become airborne, a potentially dangerous situation occurs. Therefore, the EPA's proposal to locate and dispose of potential hazards is an appropriately positive step.

Unfortunately, the cost of the cleanup will be high — an estimated $3.2 billion over the next 30 years. The federal government is expected, however, to help the schools pay the cost.

While this price may seem high, the price ultimately paid by America's society if the EPA does not take action may be infinitely higher.

Kansas State

Collegian

EDITOR
Jonie Trued
MANAGING EDITOR
Sue Dawson
NEWS EDITOR
Erin Ficher

EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
Deron Johnson
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson
ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinett

EDITORIAL BOARD: Susan Baird, Kirk Caraway, Sue Dawson, J'm Dietz, Erin Ficher, Judy Goldberg, Ron Honig, Pat Hund, Deron Johnson, Sarah Kessinger, Judy Lundstrom, Margaret May, Scott Miller, Andy Nelson, Patti Paxson, Julie Reynolds, Chris Stewart, Teresa Temme, Jonie Trued. Unsigned editorials represent the majority opinion of the editorial board.

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291-620) is published by Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, daily except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 533-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Olympians kindle spirit

'Let me win, but if I cannot, let me be brave in the attempt.'

It takes many words to describe an event that took place in Cico Park Saturday afternoon, as more than 200 special athletes from around northeast Kansas gathered to compete in the fifth annual Area 3 Special Olympics.

One of those words is commitment, as the event marked a culmination of almost a year's worth of planning by directors, coaches and volunteers, said Bob Johnson, director of the Area 3 events and associate professor in physical education, dance and leisure studies.

"I think the word commitment seems to sum it up best. Commitment, more than contribution. Anyone can contribute money to Special Olympics, but it is the hard planning work, then the help on the actual day of the event that really means something," he said.

"We have many people involved, especially K-State students, who have worked for a long time to get things ready."

Commitment describes Loretta McElhiney, senior in nutrition and exercise science, and Marc Dewey, junior in physical education, dance and leisure studies, the student co-coordinators of the event, who volunteered for the job and spent the past semester working on it.

"It's taken a lot of hard work and planning. We began at the beginning of the semester, just notifying all of the coaches and everything," McElhiney said. "But it has turned out really well. This year we had more athletes than ever before at this particular meet."

Patience is a word that can be attributed to the day's volunteers, almost equaling the number of athletes, who served as timers, team hosts and hostesses, huggers, cheerers, water carriers and general helpers. These volunteers ranged from the very young to the very old, from K-State students to insurance salesmen and Kiwanis Club members. They were put in charge of the special competitors and were responsible for taking them to their events and keeping up their enthusiasm.

Many were first-time volunteers, such as Kevin Hamel, freshman in electrical engineering, and Tracy Sweat, freshman in computer science, who came with about 20 members of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity as part of the group's annual philanthropy.

"I was kind of leery at first, but I think it's a really nice thing — helping these kids out," Hamel said, as he was put in charge of Cliff, a participant from Leavenworth who was about to compete in the softball throw.

"You need a lot of volunteers because the kids aren't aware when their events are taking place. You have to take them there," he said.

Sweat developed a rapport with several of the participants that day, as he "slapped five" with one of his new buddies, Simon.

"These kids are really cool. Now you take Simon, here. Look at how cool this guy is, just look at his shoes," Sweat said, as Simon proudly displayed a pair of rainbow-colored high-top sneakers.

Then there is the word dedication. Dedication by team coaches, like Deb Engstrom of the Manhattan team who began working with her team members in February, practicing in Ahearn Field House and R.V. Christian track to teach her team techniques and develop their physical conditioning. Engstrom is also a special education teacher at Manhattan Middle School, Ninth Street and Poyntz Avenue.

"Special Olympics has changed from when I first became involved in it 13 years ago in Iowa. Then there was no competitiveness and no training," Engstrom said. "Now the event focuses on the importance of developing the physical condition of the athletes. It teaches them sportsmanship and how to deal with life's wins and losses."

Support and encouragement were words evident everywhere at the games. Support came from parents like Evelyn Diver of Wamego, who had three sons and one daughter in the events that day. She sat on the bleachers watching her youngest son, Karl, 21, take his place at the starting line for the 50-meter dash.

"Karl," she yelled. "Run hard, Karl!" And Karl, hearing his mother as he readied for the race, looked up at her with hard determination in his blue eyes and gave her a solemn nod.

Another supporting parent is Nancy Erickson, whose son Rod, 18, has competed in the olympic events since he was 8.

"He likes to do the running events. He's a very outdoor kid who has really gotten into the training aspects of the events. In addition to his regular practice, he walks daily with my husband and me to stay in shape," Erickson said.

Encouragement came from participants to their fellow team members. A crowd of special athletes from Marshall County yelled to their teammate as he took his mark. "Go Lance, run hard! You can do it. Be sure to stay in your lane!"

There was encouragement at the beginning and the finish line as volunteers gave encouraging words before a race and words of congratulations, pats on the back and hugs at the end of a race.

Then there are the words to describe the athletes themselves.

Enthusiasm was abundant among the contestants, especially in the opening ceremonies, when the teams paraded around the track, waving excitedly to the audience in the stands.

Determination could be seen in all of them, especially one young Manhattan athlete, David Klabunde, who began the athletic events by running alone in an exhibition mile. The slim, blond, young man ran the four laps around the track at a steady pace to the cheers of all who attended the event. He completed the run in 6 minutes, 42 seconds, his breathing almost normal as he finished.

Determination could be seen in George, a young athlete who pulled himself around the track on crutches in the 400-meter dash, and the wheelchair participants who maneuvered themselves through an obstacle course.

For Dallas McAuley, a 16-year-old athlete from Leavenworth, the words were skill and perfectionism. McAuley placed first in five events that day, including the high jump where he cleared the bar at 4-feet-11 inches, one foot higher than he had jumped in practice a week earlier.

"I practice every day," said McAuley, who will attend the state competition in Wichita in June. He said he was a little nervous about going, however.

"I always get a little nervous before these things," he said.

"I think Special Olympics hits closer to home to what real athletics is all about than professional sports, where the only thing that is emphasized is winning," Johnson said. "Special Olympics emphasizes effort, dedication, good sportsmanship and the courageousness of the athletes. The event says that these athletes are people, too."

The words courage and bravery that describe the athletes were best demonstrated as the special olympians recited their oath at the beginning of the games: "Let me win, but if I cannot, let me be brave in the attempt."

Larry Diver of the Manhattan Special Olympics team raises his arms in victory as he receives a second-place ribbon for his effort in his 50-meter dash heat. The fifth annual Area 3 Special Olympics Saturday at Cico Park attracted more than 200 athletes.

LEFT: After a long day of competition, Karen Bailey relaxes in the sun. Bailey competes with the Leavenworth Shooting Stars team. ABOVE: Tony Stone, left, of the Junction City Pacers, and Carlos Moore, Manhattan, fight for the lead in the 50-meter dash. RIGHT: Mary Kathryn McGeary, senior in speech pathology and audiology, encourages Doug Moman before his last jump in the long jump competition.

Story by Becky Howard

Photos by Brad Fanshier
and Julie
Thompson

CONGRATULATIONS

CLASS OF '87

SENIOR PORTRAIT SPECIAL

15% off all sitting fees before May 16
(indoor/outdoor sittings available)

Tom Hawk
University Photography

711 N. 12—Aggieville
(in business since 1969)

GIFTS for GRADS

OLYMPIC

	reg	SALE
29" Pullman	$90	$46.99
27" Pullman	$75	$39.99
25" Pullman	$60	$31.99
Boarding Bag	$50	$26.99
Tote	$30	$15.99
5 Piece Set	Reg. $305	SALE $133.95

ALL LEATHER BAG

reg $205 SALE $159.95

ALL LEATHER CAMERA BAG

Reg. $122.95
SALE $85.95

HERITAGE ATTACHE
Reg. $48.95
SALE $38.95

LUGGAGE WHEELS

Reg. $19.95

SALE $10.95

NEW YORK DESIGNER LINE BY GEOFFREY BEENE

	reg	SALE
26" Pullman	$150	$101.95
Overnight	$125	$95.99
Sports Bag	$85	$50.95
3 Piece	Reg. $360	SALE $248.89

CREATIVE TRAVEL DESIGNER LINE w/Logo

reg $249.95 SALE $195.95

GREYHOUND HARDSIDE LUGGAGE

	reg	SALE
31" Pullman	$165.50	$135.95
29" Pullman	$142.50	$112.50
26" Pullman	$138.50	$101.50
24" Pullman	$125.50	$90.50
4 Piece Set	Reg. $572	SALE $440.95

TRAVEL STORE and

957 Seth Child • Village Plaza Shopping Center • 539-0531

KSU GRADUATES
START LIFE IN THE FAST LANE
WITH A NEW
PONTIAC, BUICK or GMC TRUCK

FACTORY REBATES & LOW FINANCING

2312 STAGG HILL
(across from Holidome)
MANHATTAN
537-8330

- Very low down payment needed.
- No payments for 90 days. Or $400 off with discount coupon.
- If you'll graduate within six months or if you've graduated in the past year, you may qualify. See us for details.

VANDERBILT'S

$24.99
compare to $34.95

LEE LADIES RELAXED
RIDER

A totally new look from Lee, the Number 1 Ladies Jeans maker in America. An easy fitting Rider with relaxed thighs and fashionably tapered ankles, try them on...you'll love the tucked back yoke and double belt loops. Extra heavy 15-oz., 100% cotton denim with the weathered look of authentic stonewashing.

The mark of jeans

DOWNTOWN WAMEGO (HWY 99)
OPEN DAILY 9-8 P.M., SUN. 12-5 P.M. • 456-9100

GETTING THIS WASN'T EASY.

WITH FORD CREDIT GETTING THIS...

FROM DICK EDWARDS IS.

At (DEALER NAME), we know getting that degree wasn't easy. But when it comes to a new car, we can help with pre-approved credit from Ford Credit. If you are working on an advanced degree or graduating with a Bachelor's Degree between October 1, 1986 and September 30, 1987, you may qualify for this special college graduate purchase program.

If you do, you'll receive a $400 cash allowance from Ford. Make your best deal on any qualifying vehicle and use the money toward your down payment.

Ford Motor
Credit
Company

or Ford will send you a $400 check after the purchase or lease. The money is yours whether you finance or not.

The amount of your credit depends on which of these qualified vehicles you choose:

Ford cars: Escort, Escort EXP, Tempo, Mustang, Thunderbird, Taurus.
Ford trucks: Aerostar, Bronco II, Ranger.

So hurry. If a vehicle is not in dealer stock you must order by June 1, 1987, and you must take delivery of any vehicle by August 31, 1987.

MAKE IT EASY ON YOURSELF. GET ALL THE DETAILS TODAY AT

DICK EDWARDS

CONGRATULATIONS

CLASS OF '87

NEED SOMETHING FOR THAT SPECIAL GRADUATE?

STRECKER GALLERY

We have the presents with the personal touch.

332 Poyntz

539-2139

Gift Certificate

Candlewood Plaza
3232 Kimball Avenue—Manhattan, Kansas 65502
(913) 776-3308

For the Graduate,
a gift certificate
to assure success
Nothing to lose but pounds & inches
•No membership fees

SHE DESERVES A BRAIN BREAK

Select a luxury for her body from UNDERCOVER
1224 Moro Aggieville Manhattan
Mon-Fri 10-5:30,
Sat 10-5, Sun 1-5
Thurs. til 8
FREE GIFT WRAP

Brother EM-30 Typewriters

A Great Graduation Gift!

Now on sale for $199.95
Buggella
OFFICE SUPPLY

511 Leavenworth 776-9469

On Graduation Day, We'll be open Lunch and Dinner

Order either from the menu or the buffet

Luncheon Buffet 11-3

Dinner Buffet 4-9

Serving

Prime Rib

Spiced Shrimp

Large Groups Welcome

Reservations Suggested

THE COTTON CLUB
539-9431 418 Poyntz

Congratulations

YOU DID IT!

Send your best wishes with a BALLOON ARRANGEMENT
from

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts
704 N. Manhattan Ave.
In Aggieville
539-7654$125

PERSONAL PAN PIZZA

READY IN 5 MINUTES
GUARANTEED
11:30 a.m.-1 p.m.
MONDAY-FRIDAY
Guarantee applies to our 2 selections on orders of 5 or less per table, or 3 or less per carryout customer.
$1.25 SINGLE TOPPING
NOW THRU MAY 15, 1987
•Pepperoni guaranteed in 5 minutes—all other single toppings take just a few minutes longer.

AGGIEVILLE ONLY 539-7666

FOR ADOPTION

Once one has completed college they need to learn how to handle responsibility. What better responsibility than adopting an adorable bear.
They eat next to nothing and offer security & companionship.

Available at:

Balloon Boutique

619 N. 3rd

539-0106

SPELLbinder-It

SPELLbinder

that special graduate with the unusual denims•scarves•belts•art shirts

SPELLbinders inc.
INNOVATIVE INTERIORS
ART APPAREL
Candlewood Center • 3230 Kimball Avenue
Manhattan, Kansas

Monday-Friday 10-5, Sunday 1-5

GOETSCH-IRVINE CHRYSLER-PLYMOUTH-SUBARU

Graduation is your
to unlock the door
of a new car!

Goetsch-Irvine Chrysler-Plymouth-Subaru offers great deals and custom financing for graduating seniors.

For more information, call us at 776-4875 or stop by 4th and Leavenworth, downtown Manhattan, and drive away in your new car!

ALL YOU CAN EAT BUFFETS

Monday-Friday 11 a.m.-2 p.m.

$4.25

Monday-Thursday 5-9 p.m.

$4.95

Saturday 11 a.m.-4 p.m.

$4.25

Open All Day Sunday Til 9 p.m.

Graduation Day Buffet

Saturday, May 16, 11 a.m.-9 p.m.

3019 Anderson Ave.
Village Plaza
Manhattan's
#1 Pizza

537-4350

BEST WISHES

from

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Working together
for a healthier you

- Out-patient services
- Surgery
- DayStay Surgery
- Laser Surgery
- Intensive Care
- Obstetrics
- Level II Intensive Care nursery
- Birthing room, Birthing chair,
- Rooming-in
- Pediatrics
- X-ray services
- Mammography
- Nuclear medicine
- C.T. scanning
- Respiratory Therapy
- Physical Therapy
- Durable Medical
- Equipment Center

EMERGENCY CARE CENTER
913-776-3300

Graduate

Reward your graduate. Give the gift that exudes confidence and success.
Exquisite gold, diamond and precious stone jewelry.

Say it with fine jewelry... and you'll only have to say it once.

Diamondscope

Colorimeter

REED & ELLIOTT
Jewelers

 CERTIFIED GEMOLOGIST
AMERICAN GEM. SOCIETY

 Daily: 9:30-6:30
Thurs: 10:30-8:00
402 Poyntz

 Diamond Specialists
776-4000

Questions persist in collapse

By The Associated Press

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — What would cause an apartment house under construction to collapse like a house of cards, burying as many as 28 men? Loose ground under the site? Cold weather during the pouring of concrete? A design flaw?

A review of some 3,000 pages of documents on file at City Hall, by a structural engineer retained by The Associated Press, shows no indication of discrepancies in construction of the ill-fated L'Ambiance Plaza that collapsed Thursday, but it did raise several questions.

The documents covered various aspects of the building's construction, including blueprints, specifications, traffic patterns and planning board reports.

One questionable area is the site of the 13-story building, said Frank Zamecnik, a partner in Spiegel and Zamecnik, a New Haven and Washington, D.C., engineering firm. The surface originally sloped sharply some 34 feet, and filling of the slope may have provided a weaker base than necessary for the foundation, he said.

The project's structural design drawings for the main foundation, or footings, to be built on "undisturbed bedrock" to provide the seven-ton-per-square-foot capacity they were designed for.

But reports from Fairfield Testing Laboratory Inc., a Stamford lab hired by TPM International Inc., the lead construction firm, described the ground as "broken rock and earth in a loose state" and said the site should be "well compacted before placement of footings."

"I consider it questionable that a bearing capacity as large as seven tons per square foot could be obtained on the broken rock and earth mixture," said Zamecnik, a guest lecturer at Yale, Columbia and Cornell universities whose firm is involved in construction projects around the country.

In the documents on file, Fairfield Testing Laboratory said each location for the columns could bear weight in excess of the seven-ton specification. There was no indication how the laboratory reached that conclusion.

John Vitale, the Fairfield Testing Laboratory inspector who signed many of the documents, declined to comment on the building's construction.

Zamecnik said the records also raise questions about whether steps were taken to provide protection from cold weather when concrete floor slabs were poured.

These slabs, poured at ground level and then stacked like pancakes, are jacked into place between the support columns to become the building's floors.

The concrete was poured from late fall through February, and officials have said the project was two months behind because of bad weather.

One report on the slab pouring indicates workers used thermal blankets to keep the concrete from freezing, which could weaken the concrete.

While Zamecnik said laboratory tests indicated that the concrete met all requirements, he said lab studies might not represent what was happening in the field.

The records did not indicate whether support columns were adequately braced. Design specifications required temporary bracing with guy wires to keep the structure steady until support walls of reinforced concrete could be poured inside the structure as it was built.

Engineering notes on the blueprints limited erection of the support columns to no more than three stories above these concrete walls, known as shear walls. There was no indication in the city's records if these requirements were met.

Such records usually exist in correspondence between a development's architects and the construction company. But in the case of L'Ambiance Plaza, construction and design were all done by TPM International.

While the arrangement is not unusual, Zamecnik said many engineering firms recommend that the developer, rather than the construction company, hire the testing lab.

"There's always the pressure that when the laboratory is being paid by the contractor that they may develop a loyalty to the contractor," he said.

Officials at TPM International offices in Bridgeport, Darien or Miami could not be reached in spite of repeated attempts.

One day before the disaster, the city's building inspector told Mayor Thomas Bucci and other city officials that his staff was overworked because of a building boom in Bridgeport. But Bucci said Monday that he did not believe the calamity "will be determined to be a result of inadequate city inspections at the work site."

Can't Get Enough!

12th & Moro
Aggieville

Sub 8 Stuff
Sandwich Shop

Congratulation to the new
Beta Alpha Psi
(Accounting Honorary) Officers
for 1986-1987

Greg Kelrns—President

Ron Peters—Vice President

Nancy Stone—Vice President of programs

Patricia Holcomb—Treasurer

Alice Gobel—Recording Secretary

Angela Harmison—Corresponding
Secretary

Dean has diverse roles, candidate says

By BECKY HOWARD
Staff Writer

A college dean should be a "cheerleader, diplomat and a bully" who is a "moral officer" for the faculty, said Jack Carpenter, associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Carpenter, the second of five candidates for the position of college dean, addressed college faculty Monday afternoon in Willard Hall.

"The dean is a leader whose visions and goals for the University become the guiding beacons for the faculty," he said.

Carpenter said he would be an active dean who spends more time out of the office campaigning for the college's programs as opposed to a reactive dean who stays in the office and deals with problems there.

"It is the dean's role to be an on- and off-campus communicator and to create friends and supporters of the college," he said.

In addition, Carpenter discussed the importance of undergraduate education and the role a liberal arts curriculum plays in such an education.

Carpenter elaborated on education values currently being used by a Faculty Senate ad hoc committee to develop a University core curriculum.

Carpenter, a committee member, said the backbone of the educational experience included thinking critically; communicating; clarifying values; developing an understanding of science, technology and a consciousness of history; functioning within social institutions; appreciating and experiencing the arts and international and cultural experiences; and strengthening mathematics.

"Our college plays the major role in this 'liberalizing of education,'" he said.

It is important that faculty make students more active in their education and promote education as more than just a means for getting a job, which seems to be the current priority for students, Carpenter said.

"And not only is it important that we study what they learn, but also focus on what kind of citizens we want them to be," he said.

Carpenter said the role of the arts and sciences in education is important because the liberally educated individual has the most salable skills; they have learned how to learn.

"In the future, this college will forge new and stronger links with professional schools, such as education — for example in improvements of math education — and in business, where there is the need to understand ethical questions," he said.

Carpenter discussed the need to attract stronger students to the college by making it more visible and providing more resources for these students. He said visibility would also result in the generation of funding for the college.

Kenneth Klabunde, third candidate for the position and professor of chemistry at K-State, will make his presentation to the faculty at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in Willard 114.

Last Lecture Series

Forum Hall
Presented by Arts & Sciences Council

William Stamey

Dean, Arts & Sciences College

Tuesday, April 28, 7 p.m.

patagonia

Royal Robbins

THE NORTH FACE

Shirts
Shorts
Cotton Sweaters
Skirts
Pants

for your active outdoor summer

1111 Moro Aggieville/Manhattan 539-5635
Hrs. M-F 10-6, Thurs. 10-8, Sat. 10-5

Enjoy smooth, creamy
Frozen Yogurt
that tastes like Ice Cream
but with 80% less fat!
—FREE SAMPLES—

I Can't Believe It's
YOGURT!
Frozen Yogurt Stores

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily
Noon-11 p.m. Sundays
Neutikus Towers—Aggieville

Janette Mothobi
speaker from the African National Congress will speak on Human Rights and Apartheid in South Africa
Tuesday, April 28
7:30 p.m.
Kedzie Hall 106
Sponsored by:
Coalition for Human Rights

You Can't Pay More than $44.95!

Complete Eyeglasses

SINGLE
VISION $24.95

BIFOCALS $34.95

Our only Extras: Cox Coating (scratch guard)-$10 and Photo Grey Extra (lenses that darken)-$10.

Payless Optical Outlet

1210 Moro, Manhattan
537-1574

M-F 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Sat. 10 a.m. - 2 p.m.

Closed Classes — Fall 1987

00100	03560	06440	09510	12970	17810	21490	25220	26190	29710	32970	34370	38370
00160	03570	06460	09520	13050	18910	21530	25230	26200	29720	32990	34380	38460
00170	03600	06460	09530	13060	19040	21540	25240	26220	29740	33000	34420	38480
00370	03610	06660	09560	13090	19070	21560	25260	26240	29800	33010	34430
00440	03620	06780	09610	13340	19090	21610	25270	26340	29880	33030	34440
00920	03630	06790	10770	13360	19170	21670	25310	26350	29910	33040	34690
00930	03640	06800	10780	13370	19240	21680	25320	26360	29920	33050	34750
00980	03660	06890	10790	13380	19580	21690	25330	26370	29960	33060	34760
01250	03670	07060	10800	13400	19610	22530	25350	26390	29970	33070	34810
01320	03680	07310	10810	13450	19750	22830	25360	26400	30000	33080	34830
01340	03720	07330	10890	13460	19810	22840	25380	26420	30030	33090	34840
01630	03730	07480	10900	13480	19980	22850	25710	26510	30110	33100	34850
01950	03760	07500	10970	13590	20090	22860	25720	26530	30500	33110	34870
02110	03770	07550	10980	13620	20120	22870	25750	26600	30510	33120	34890
02290	03780	07590	10990	13630	20140	22880	25760	26650	30630	33190	34920
02330	03790	07690	11000	13690	20170	22890	25770	26670	30670	33270	34950
02340	03850	07700	11010	13740	20260	23060	25780	26700	31010	33290	35000
02380	03930	07790	11020	13760	20270	23190	25800	26720	31020	33310	35010
02410	04160	08020	11070	13780	20520	23230	25810	26730	31090	33340	35020
02450	04570	08050	11100	13950	20530	23240	25820	26750	31190	33350	35050
02480	05150	08070	11130	14290	20540	23650	25830	26800	31200	33370	35060
02490	05160	08170	11140	14440	20550	23920	25840	26810	31240	33440	35160
02540	05170	08180	11150	14580	20570	24060	25850	26840	31250	33450	35160
02550	05180	08200	11160	14590	20600	24070	25860	26910	31300	33460	35160
02560	05230	08210	11170	14720	20610	24180	25870	26920	31320	33470	35160
02580	05390	08230	11180	14730	20620	24200	25880	26940	31330	33480	35160
02990	05420	08240	11190	14740	20760	24320	25890	27000	31440	33770	35820
03040	05430	08250	11200	14750	20820	24350	25910	27040	31450	33790	35970
03060	05460	08260	11210	14760	20830	24420	25920	27050	31450	33810	36040
03270	05470	08290	11240	14780	20840	24540	25930	27070	31450	33860	36120
03300	05470	08420	11310	14790	20870	24730	25940	27080	31450	33880	36170
03310	05500	08660	11340	14800	20980	24770	25950	27090	31450	33960	36180
03320	05510	08670	11350	14870	20990	24780	25960	27210	31960	33960	36180
03330	05550	08680	11360	14870	21020	24790	25970	27220	31970	34020	36370
03350	05560	08690	11370	15140	21050	24800	25980	27230	32040	34030	36510
03360	05570	08700	11380	15150	21080	24910	25990	27250	32090	34040	36790
03370	05580	08770	11390	15160	21090	24920	26000	27290	32100	34050	36800
03380	05590	08840	11400	15170	21190	24930	26020	27670	32110	34120	36810
03390	05600	08850	11410	15240	21300	24940	26030	27680	32130	34190	36820
03400	05610	08930	11420	15260	21380	24950	26050	27680	32140	34200	36830
03470	05650	08950	11430	15300	21390	25000	26060	28940	32230	34210	36840
03480	05690	09020	11440	16490	21400	25130	26080	29200	32540	34240	36860
03490	05700	09060	11470	16550	21420	25150	26100	29570	32550	34260	36890
03500	06320	09290	11490	16770	21430	25160	26130	29650	32560	34330	37050
03510	06330	09300	11530	16920	21450	25170	26140	29660	32940	34340	38030
03530	06370	09400	11540	17180	21460	25180	26160	29690	32950	34350	38060
03540	06400	09480	11550	17700	21470	25180	26160	29690	32960	34360	38110
03550	06430	09490	12420	17740	21480	25210	26170	29700	32960	34360	38110

Legal, financial issues surround drug testing

By TOM MORRIS
Sports Editor

Editor's Note: This is the second installment of a five-part series on drug testing in intercollegiate athletics. The series will run throughout the week on the sports page.

Stanford University diver Simone LeVant is stronger than University of Oklahoma linebacker Brian Bosworth — at least when it comes to tackling the NCAA's drug-testing legislation.

Bosworth was randomly selected for drug testing prior to the Sooners' encounter with the University of Arkansas in the 1987 Orange Bowl at Miami.

Oklahoma won the game, but did so without the services of the "Boz" who failed his test when traces of anabolic steroids were discovered in his system. The junior linebacker roamed the sidelines during the game and was subsequently dismissed from the team by Coach Barry Switzer after wearing a shirt which read: "'N'ational 'C'ommunists 'A'gainst 'A'thletes."

LeVant, with assistance from the American Civil Liberties Union, went head-on with the NCAA. She refused to sign a consent form and Santa Clara County Superior Court judge Peter Stone issued a temporary restraining order Jan. 13 that allowed her to dive in regular-season and NCAA-qualifying meets.

Stone ruled drug testing constituted an "obtrusive, unreasonable and unconstitutional invasion of privacy," and said LeVant would probably win her case if it went to trial.

In all probability, the case will not go to trial because LeVant, a senior, has used up her athletic eligibility. But attorney Jack Kitchin said he didn't believe Stone's decision would stand in federal court.

"(It won't stand) because there are some different standards here," said Kitchin, from the law firm of Swanson, Midgley, Gangwere, Clarke and Kitchin of Kansas City, Mo., the NCAA's general counsel.

"To my knowledge, the state of California is the only one that has a right of privacy language in their own constitution. The federal government really doesn't have that, although certainly federal cases talk about right of privacy under the Fourth Amendment and so forth."

This wasn't the first case in which an athlete has challenged the NCAA's authority. Ronald Barbay, an honorable mention All-American defensive end at Louisiana State University, had his complaint against the NCAA thrown out by a judge after testing positive last winter.

Drug Testing In College Athletics

And another plaintiff has joined the LeVant case, but details of the high school senior's case won't come to light until fall when the plaintiff decides about signing the consent form.

Even with the pending suits, Kitchin said to his knowledge the NCAA isn't planning any preventive measures.

"...I know the NCAA is always rethinking and all that sort, but I'm not aware of any particular changes they contemplate because of this lawsuit," he said. "Not to say that next week something won't be modified or changed in some way, shape or form."

Because of such cases, K-State's head trainer Carl Cramer and Associate University Attorney Dorothy Thompson are drafting a comprehensive policy for K-State's Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. The policy will pertain to due process, civil rights and invasion of privacy in addition to the standard consent form.

"We don't have that built into our process at this time, and we ought to have it in place. I'd like to see this done as soon as possible," Thompson said.

Thompson does not foresee any legal difficulties until the policy is finalized.

"We do have a program, and (athletes) sign a consent and have the information on the program. I think it's a matter of refining it...and being sure all the possible areas of legal vulnerability are handled."

The policy will stipulate testing methods and penalties for testing positive.

"On the legal front there's been some discussion about whether urinalysis constitutes an unreasonable search and seizure. The invasion of privacy area is important. To avoid that, it's important the results of any drug testing be entirely confidential. A fully informed consent would probably overcome that kind of legal objection," she said.

"The other thing that is important is that before any sanctions are taken such as exclusions from the team...the athletes would have an opportunity to present any kind of information that was relevant to the alleged results."

In addition to legal issues, some people are concerned about expenses with drug testing.

K-State spends $7,000-$8,000 annually to test its athletes. Each test costs anywhere from $12-$15 for the initial screening test to $75-$80 for steroid detection and as much as $100 for confirmation testing.

K-State, which has the lowest athletic department budget in the Big Eight Conference, takes its money for testing from the general budget. Still, people such as Cramer would like to see some financial aid from the NCAA.

"(The NCAA) is the ones saying 'you will test', so theoretically you would think they're the ones who should cover the cost," Cramer said. "I would certainly like to see something subsidized, especially since we have the budget problems that we do."

To these requests, the NCAA replies that schools are only testing on a voluntary basis.

"Nobody has to test," said Ursula Walsh, the NCAA's director of research and sports sciences.

"We test only at the championships and at certified postseason bowl games. Then if the schools themselves would like to do some testing, they're certainly free to do that but it's not in the legislation," Walsh said.

Wednesday's article will deal with test accuracy and K-State's testing method.

Knee injury sways Cox to coaching

By LAUREN BRUNO
Collegian Reporter

All hope of becoming a great athlete and eventually competing in the 1980 Olympic Games in Moscow ended in 1977, when a knee injury destroyed the dreams of K-State track assistant coach Katherine Cox.

In college at the University of Indiana, Bloomington, Cox competed in its women's track program for two years before injuring her knee during a meet.

"I was jumping a hurdle, and I was dragging my trail leg," Cox said. "I smacked the hurdle and knew at that point I would have to rethink my plans for the future."

Assistant Coaches of K-State

Cox became the manager for the Indiana men's track team and started coaching for teams in a local track club in 1977.

Now Cox is completing her first year as a volunteer assistant with K-State's men's and women's track program. She helps organize meets, makes the teams' travel arrangements and assists head coach John Capriotti on a day-to-day basis.

When Cox suffered her career-ending injury, she said, women were "just getting ahead" in athletics. If she couldn't have dreams for herself, she wanted to motivate the aspirations of young female athletes.

"I think women athletes in 1987 don't really know how easy they have it because they can receive scholarships and coaching more easily than in 1977," she said.

After graduating from Indiana with a bachelor's degree in physical education, Cox came to K-State to pursue her master's degree in adult and community educational guidance counseling.

Although her position is voluntary, Cox said the ability to work with a great coaching staff has

Katherine Cox is completing her first year as a volunteer assistant with the K-State track teams and has had a worthwhile experience working with made the experience worthwhile.

"Working with coaches Capriotti and (former track mentor) Steve Miller has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my life," Cox said.

Her experiences with the coaches and track team have enhanced her belief that the ability to motivate is one of the greatest assets of a coach.

"A coach is there to motivate and offer opportunities to kids, otherwise he's not there for the right reasons," Cox said.

Cox enjoys working with children who enjoy athletics. She said competition is good for a child if it is started at the appropriate age.

"I feel children should be taught to aspire to a great athlete's ability," she said. "And not to think of the person as some god or superhuman."

"great" coaching staffs, she said. Cox starts May 11 as a staff counselor for the Marion County Health Department in Indianapolis.

The first-year assistant said the motives a coach has are important because his or her reasons for coaching affect the children he teaches.

Besides volunteering for her position at K-State, Cox is an active official for the KSU-Manhattan Track Club, on the board of directors for the Manhattan Youth Center and is a volunteer at the FONE Crisis Center.

"Money is not the only thing that drives me toward a coaching career," Cox said. "It's the reward of seeing young athletes strive to reach their potential."

Cox has recently accepted a paying position as staff counselor for the Marion County Health Department, Indianapolis, Indiana. Starting May 11, she will be working with children in the adolescent program there.

'Cat golfers tied for 7th in Big Eight

By The Collegian Staff

Senior Paige Harrison stands in a tie for 10th individually while K-State is seventh as a team after the first day of action in the Big Eight Conference women's golf championships being played at the Par 72, 6,028-yard Oklahoma City Golf and Country Club.

Harrison carded an 18-hole score of 79 then added a nine-hole round of 40 for a 119 after the first 27 holes.

Besides Harrison, other K-State individual scores included Jill Zientara 137 (89-48), Shelley Sherman 139 (87-52) and Erin Andrew 143 (100-43).

"Paige played real well," K-State Coach Rob Sedorek said. "Her performance was probably her best for 27 holes this year. However, our other players struggled."

Paced by Katarin Mollerstedt's low individual total of 111, Oklahoma State opened up a 22-stroke advantage over runner-up Oklahoma through the first 27 holes. Oklahoma State holds the top spot at 450 followed by Oklahoma at 472.

Suggs receives Relays' award

By The Collegian Staff

K-State shot putter and discus thrower Pinkie Suggs was named the Drake Relays' Outstanding Female Performer for her efforts at the 87th annual meet Saturday at Des Moines.

Suggs, a senior from Manhattan, broke two Relays records. She opened the meet by shattering the women's discus record by almost 12 feet. Her first-place throw of 194-feet-1 inch was more than she needed to better the previous mark of 182-6 set in 1984 by Lynne Anderson of Minneapolis.

Suggs then came back after that event to take the title in the women's shot put. Once again, her toss of 55-6½ took first place and surpassed the old mark of 54-7¼ set in 1978 by Kathy Devine of Emporia State University.

KC hopes for running back, linebacker

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The Kansas City Chiefs, barring a trade, were hoping to find a quality running back or linebacker with the 19th choice in Tuesday's National Football League draft.

As the draft approached, General Manager Jim Schaaf was exploring all possibilities for moving up in the draft order.

"There could be a trade. Jim is handling all those discussions," said Les Miller, director of scouting. "But we're checking every possibility. If it happens, so be it. But we're not going to tear everything down just to move up. Jim's staying on top of that on a minute-to-minute basis with all the other clubs. It could happen."

"We're not making any secret of the fact that we're looking for running backs and linebackers. That's pretty well understood. But that doesn't mean that without any question we'll definitely take a running back the first round."

"That simply means if any of a number of guys we think are capable of being selected in the first round and have that kind of ability, if they're there, the chances are we'll take a running back, sure. But if something should happen, if the guys we'd like to take at that point are gone, then we can go another direction."

As a result of the 10-6 record last season that produced a long-awaited playoff breakthrough, the Chiefs are not going to enjoy — barring a trade — their customary high position in the picking order.

They will alternate between the 17th and 21st pick in every round with the other four 10-6 teams of 1986. They have no choice in the sixth round and an extra pick in round eight.

Schaaf, given complete control of all draft-day decisions for the first time, knows the perils of making a deal.

"The price depends on how far you move up," he said. "We want to make sure the price is commensurate with what we'd be getting."

Teams would like to have some of our defensive people, obviously.

"They feel we have depth in those areas, but we're not entertaining to trade any of our defensive people. As a general rule, we'd be better disposed to trade picks than people, but that doesn't exclude the fact that we wouldn't trade a player as well."

The Chiefs' best bet may be Paul Palmer, the smallish running back from Temple who finished second to Miami quarterback Vinnie Testaverde in the Heisman Trophy balloting. Another possibility was Terrence Flagler, a running back from Clemson.

"We're not going to take a running back on the 19th pick just to take him," Miller said. "We're going to feel very solidly about a guy before we take him. Now, there are some we like pretty well but we probably wouldn't take them in the first round."

"If those other guys are gone, we'll go in another direction and get a player who can best help this team improve. It might be a linebacker. It might be a wide receiver. It might be a cornerback. It just depends."

Miller, the chief talent scout since 1975, is surrounded by change. Gone is the aloof and generally unpopular John Mackovic, fired after owner Lamar Hunt met with a group of dissatisfied players. His replacement is the animated motivator and ex-special teams coach Frank Gansz.

Prior to the draft, the Chiefs announced the signing of three free agents Monday, including veteran offensive lineman Jim Rourke.

Rourke, 6-foot-5 and 267 pounds, played for the Chiefs from 1980-84. He played for the New Orleans Saints in 1985 and returned to play the last four games of the season for the Chiefs last year.

The Chiefs also signed Vincent Stroth, who has tried out for USFL teams the last three years, and John Trayhan, who tried out for the Denver Broncos last year.

Stroth is a 6-4, 270-pound offensive lineman from Brigham Young. Trayhorn is a 5-9, 165-pound wide receiver and kick returner.

Briefly In Sports

Varsity crew places 4th at Madison

A stroke of bad luck in the form of dislodged oar during the race kept K-State's crew from placing in the top three at the Midwest Regionals Saturday in Madison, Wis.

Defending national champion Wisconsin won the race in 5:18.4, Purdue took second at 5:26.7 and Cincinnati was third with a 5:37.0. The Wildcats placed fourth at 5:50.3.

The women's varsity eight won the consolation final, the freshman men placed ninth, the freshman women took 12th and the freshman four-man team placed 10th.

Soccer team takes 4th in Big Eight

The K-State men's soccer team placed fourth in the Big Eight Conference tournament Saturday and Sunday at Wichita. K-State dropped its semifinal match, 3-0, to Colorado and tied 1-1 with Kansas. Colorado won the overall title 2-0 over Iowa State.

Baseball team continues road trip

K-State's baseball team, 24-20 overall, continues its eight-game road trip tonight at Wichita against the Wichita State Shockers, 42-16. The Wildcats will play tonight and Wednesday against WSU and will conclude the road swing with two games against Oral Roberts, May 1-2, at Tulsa, Okla.

System supplies time savings

By STEVE LAWRENCE
Collegian Reporter

A computer program developed by Kearney Hill, graduate in adult and occupational education, has helped increase the efficiency of graduate student advising as well as decrease the time instructors spend advising students.

"The basic purpose (of the computer program) is to improve the efficiency and quality of graduate student advising," said Charles Oakleaf, associate professor of adult and occupational education.

"What we do hasn't changed much, but how we do it (advising) has changed tremendously," Oakleaf said. "Why should we operate in the Dark Ages when we have technology?"

The problem, Hill said, is that many times graduate students live

Advisers' efficiency increases with new computer program off campus and don't have time to meet with their advisers to discuss their academic progress.

Because graduate students can take courses in five different locations across the state, this type of advising system makes it easy for both the student and the adviser to get quick and accurate information on the student's progress, Oakleaf said.

In order to find out their progress, students can call the adviser, Oakleaf said. Because the student's progress is charted on a computer, it is easy for an adviser to make a printed copy of the student's file and send it to them, he said.

While helping the students save travel time, the program also allows instructors to spend more time in their professional capacity, Oakleaf said.

"This program helps to prioritize," Oakleaf said. The student can find out the specific information that they need while only taking a minute of both the adviser's time and the student's time.

He said the need for this program is even greater because of the increasing diversity and number of graduate students especially in the College of Education.

Hill said he started writing the actual computer program about one year ago following the development of a step-by-step advisee progress sheet.

The step-by-step process begins with the application for enrollment in the department of adult and occupational education graduate program and monitors progress through degree completion, Oakleaf said.

Hill said potentially every professor could have the program.

The next step, Hill said, is to take this computer program and a compact personal computer and go out in the field.

Hill said he presented this computer program concept at the American Association of Adult and Continuing Education conference last year. He presented a paper about how it works, and a number of other universities have expressed interest in obtaining a copy.

Students to give year-end concerts

By The Collegian Staff

Three University singing groups will wrap up the year with performances this week.

Both the women's and men's glee clubs will sing at 8 tonight in All Faiths Chapel.

They will be performing a variety of music, from sacred and secular music to some lighter pieces, said Gerald Polich, associate professor of music.

The Men's Glee Club has had 26 performances and has appeared in Wichita; Lincoln, Neb.; at the inauguration of Gov. Mike Hayden; at the inauguration of President Jon Wefald; and at the opening of the Topeka Expo-centre, Polich said.

The Women's Glee Club has had six performances including appearances at K-State Christmas, All-University Open House and Parents Day.

The K-State Singers will perform several song and dance numbers Thursday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in McCain Auditorium.

The group will be performing a combination of Broadway, jazz and popular numbers that will feature solos and duets, Polich said.

This will be the singers' last performance of the semester, he said.

Classifieds

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3.25, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

ANNOUNCEMENTS 01

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour products. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (119-150)

FIELDS OF FAIR—We are now open for the season and are taking bookings for barn parties, hall and farewell parties, barbecues, cookouts, promotion parties, reunions, graduation parties and weddings. Phone 539-5328. (125-150)

MARY KAY Cosmetics. Check out our new individual lip and eye colors, 539-9469, Janet Milliken. (138-150)

Falsetto's PIZZA

Tuesday Special
Buy any 16" pizza,
Get a 10" pizza
FREE!
539-3830

73 OVERWEIGHT people needed to try new chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Call 776-5114, 776-1465. (140-150)

PEOPLE'S GROCERY Co-op, 811 Colorado, is Manhattan's only consumer-owned grocery store. Come check out our expanded inventory, cheese selection and convenient hours. Open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m. (142-145)

ATTENTION 02

OVERWEIGHT? WANT to feel better? New chocolate, vanilla and strawberry herbal weight control program available. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Get away from diet jitters. On campus daily. 784-6065 evenings/weekends. (132-150)

TUESDAYS
RIB-IT NITE
ALL YOU
CAN EAT
111 S. 4th
$3.95

FOR RENT—MISC 03

RENTAL TYPEWRITERS—Correcting and non-correcting. Typewriter ribbons for sale, service available. Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-1413. (271f)

INEXPENSIVE, SELF-storage units. Why take all your stuff home this summer? Three months storage only $60. Amherst Self-Storage, 776-3804. (138-150)

FOR RENT—APTS 04

TWO AND three bedroom near campus. Central air, one and one-half bath. Available June and August. 537-8800. (110f)

LOOKING FOR nice but reasonably priced apartments? One, two, three and four bedroom apartment complexes and houses for now, summer and fall. Most newly new and close to campus. 537-2919, 537-1666. (111-146)

ONE LARGE bedroom, completely furnished, laundry facilities in the complex. One block from the campus. $300. Call 537-7980 or 537-2255. (112f)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, close to campus. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities in the complex. Available August. $420. Call 537-7810 or 537-2255. (112f)

FREE RENT last month of yearly lease. Ten months available in August. Various locations, no pets. After April 1 call 537-8389. (119f)

BLOCK WEST of campus, June or August, one-bedroom, furnished, $240. Call 539-5051 after 1 p.m., or see Dave, apartment 4, at 1024 Sunset. (131f)

LARGE THREE-bedroom in a nine-plex with large closets, living room, dining area, fully-equipped kitchen. $150 each for three, $125 each for four. 822 Fremont. Available June 1 or August 1, 1987. Call 537-7087. (127f)

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM, five blocks from campus. Air conditioning. Available August 1. No pets. $325. Phone 776-0181. (121f)

PRE-LEASING ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. One bedroom, near campus, $275 to $290. Two-bedroom near campus, $335 to $355. Call 776-9124. (122f)

GOOD SELECTION of one and two-bedroom apartments available for June or August leasing. Call McCullough Development, 776-3804. (123-146)

AVAILABLE NOW and August. Unfurnished one-bedroom, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, $265 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

AVAILABLE FOR June or August—Furnished, large two-bedroom with off-campus location. Dishwasher, disposal, central air, carpeting throughout. No pets. $350 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

FALL AND SUMMER LEASES

Adjacent to Campus
COLLEGE COURT
APARTMENTS
1615 Anderson
PLATT APARTMENTS
1811 Platt

1 & 2 Bedroom Unfurnished
All Appliances
Air Conditioned
Private Parking
Laundry Facilities
$210-$330

KANSAS STATE
UNIVERSITY FOUNDATION
8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
532-7166

UNIVERSITY TERRACE—Two- and three-bedroom apartments, swimming pool, spacious yard, laundry hookups and facilities. On the bike path to University. 537-2096. (127-147)

AVAILABLE, LARGE two-bedroom apartment, newly decorated. June 1, $360, plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, nice, large three-bedroom basement apartment, newly remodeled. $330 plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE, THREE-bedroom apartment, June 1. $400 plus utilities. Nice, newly decorated. 776-8393. (130-146)

NICE, ONE-bedroom in complex on the corner of Lee and Hunting, $325 or $340 with fireplace, June or August leasing. No pets, please. 776-3804. (131f)

915 1/2 CLAFIN, walk-out basement, completely furnished two-bedroom. Redecorated August 1986, ample parking. Heat, water, trash paid. $340/month. One-year lease June 1st. 539-3085 or 539-6133. (131f)

COMPLETELY FURNISHED, large basement apartment, suitable for two or three. Available June 1 lease. Everything paid. $400/month. 539-6133. (131f)

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT $190 per month. Gas, heat, and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (143-150)

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS

3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions. Lowest rates. 776-3624.

NOW LEASING for fall—Next to campus, (near Haymaker Hall), two bedrooms in luxury apartment complex, fireplace, laundry, modern kitchen, natural gas heating. Evenings, 539-2702. (134-150)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment. $340 per month. Across street from Ahearn Field House. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (143-150)

MAY OR JUNE, one-bedrooms, $205-$235. Phone 539-8423 after 6 p.m. (135-150)

NOW RENTING for 1987-88 school year, two-bedroom unfurnished apartments, 1026 Blue-mont. Call 776-2092 for appointment. (136-150)

HENTING FOR 1987-88 school year, Schumann Apartments, 1119 Laramie. Luxury one-bedroom, furnished. 776-2092. (136-150)

NEAR K.S.U., three-bedroom, furnished basement apartment. Central air, washer and dryer, utilities paid. $480. Call 539-0368 after 6:30 p.m. (137-146)

COMPLETE FIRST floor of large apartment house, 724 Poyntz. Will accommodate three-four students. Unfurnished, no pets. 537-8389 for appointment. (137f)

FOR AUGUST, next to KSU, deluxe furnished two-bedroom apartment. Also, one-bedroom apartment. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY, Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (138f)

1219 KEARNEY, Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $230/month. 539-5136. (138f)

EFFICIENCY, TWO rooms and bath. Across street campus. Available August 15. Phone Dixie, 539-1498. (139f)

CENTENNIAL APARTMENTS—1832 Clafin Road (across Goodnow, Marlett Halls), luxury furnished, two-bedroom ($390). One-bedroom ($290). Phone 539-2702, evenings. (139-150)

ONE AND three-bedroom apartments for June, walk to K.S.U. 776-6063. (140f)

FURNISHED, ONE-bedroom in complex, 1219 Clafin, next to campus. $260 plus electric. New paint and carpet, lease June 1 or August 1. No children or pets. Phone 537-1180. (140-150)

LUXURY, HUGE unfurnished two-bedroom, two-bath, all carpeted, luxury appliances, three blocks from campus. No pets. $380 plus utilities. Call 537-4000 or 776-7572. (140-150)

AVAILABLE AUGUST 15, nice, furnished one-bedroom apartment. Water, trash and two-thirds gas paid. Laundry facility. Graduate student or couple preferred. $260/month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (140f)

TWO-OR three-bedroom apartments and townhouses with central air in a quiet neighborhood. For June or August. $395. Phone 537-0428 or 776-2425. (140-150)

COTTAGE: LIVE in a cottage for the price of an apartment. Available for fall, located southeast of campus. 539-7277 after 5:30 or weekends. (140f)

ONE-BEDROOM, one-half block from campus. $265 includes utilities. 537-4851 after 5 p.m. (140-144)

LARGE ONE-bedroom basement apartment available June 1. Three blocks south of University Inn. Free washer and dryer; off street parking. $260. Phone 539-5921. (140-150)

ONE, TWO-, three-, four-bedroom apartments, close to campus, June occupancy. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

EFFICIENCIES, ONE and two-bedroom apartments, $165 to $290. Phone 776-6791 or 776-4805. (140-150)

BASEMENT APARTMENTS for June, one-bedroom, $200; three-bedroom, $270; bills paid. 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, one-half block from campus. 1212 Blue-mont, $400. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

TWO-BEDROOM, furnished or unfurnished, good location. $295. One unit left. 537-3375. (140-149)

NICE TWO-bedroom duplex. Air, gas, carpeted and furnished! Telephone 537-7334. No pets. (141-145)

NICE, QUIET, clean place to live. Furnished, one- and two-bedroom apartments. Assorted features include queen-sized bed, carpet, paid utilities, dishwasher, laundry, courtyard. For married couple, employed individual, serious student. $216-$330 per month. June lease. No pets, waterbeds. 537-9686. (141-145)

MONT BLUE APARTMENTS

- 2 & 12 month leases
 - 1 & 2 Bedroom Apartments and Townhouses
 - Close to campus
- 539-4447

LARGE, TWO-bedroom unfurnished apartment, near campus, available August 1. Heat, water, trash paid. $350. Phone 539-8052 evenings. (141f)

APARTMENT MANAGER and maintenance positions for 32-unit community near University. Ideal position for couple, salary plus apartment! Apply at Mont Blue Apartments, 1431 McCain Lane (141-146)

LARGE, BEAUTIFULLY furnished unit across street from campus. No pets, smoking. Stockwell Real Estate, 539-4073. (141f)

(Continued on page 11)

A WEEK AT KANSAS STATE

Before you leave for summer vacation, take advantage of the pre-publication price of A Week At Kansas State and order your copy in Kedzie 103. The special rate of $22.00 includes shipping costs so next September it will be delivered to your door. Start planning now for early Christmas presents for your friends and relatives.

LIMITED Special Pre-publication Offer

Please use this card and attach a check for $22.00 (plus $1.10 applicable Kansas sales tax if you are a Kansas resident, total $23.10 per book) to cover the cost of publishing, mailing and handling your copy of the book, A WEEK AT KANSAS STATE. This is a special, pre-publication price for the AWAKS book.

The book will be a 10" x 14", 168-page high-quality "coffee table" publication containing nearly 70 pages of full color. Shipping date is expected to be during September 1987, in time for the Christmas holidays next year. Fill out the card as indicated below and include a check for the proper amount and mail to: KSU Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. You will be allowed to order up to three (3) copies at this special pre-publication price, which includes shipping and handling.

I/we wish to order _____ copy(ies) of the hard-cover book, A WEEK AT KANSAS STATE, at $22.00 each (plus $1.10 applicable Kansas resident sales tax). Enclosed is a check or money order for $_____ to cover total costs of the publication, including shipping and handling. Advance orders will be shipped first (in September 1987).

Book(s) should be sent to:

Name _____

Mailing Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

A WEEK AT
OCTOBER 12-19, 1986

KANSAS STATE

BALLARD'S SPORTING GOODS

COOL COMFORT, HOT PERFORMANCE
THAT'S RUSSELL ATHLETIC

UNIFORMS

- In Stock
- Team Discount
- Silk Screening

BATS BALLS
GLOVES

M-Th 8:30 a.m.-8 p.m.
Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Sun. 1-5 p.m.

BALLARD'S IN 1218 Moro
AGGIEVILLE 539-2441

(Continued from page 10)

LARGE ONE-bedroom basement apartment, close to campus. Available June 1 or July 1. $250, utilities paid. 776-2121. (142-146)

1 1/2 BLOCKS from campus, across from Aggieville, two-bedroom apartments, available June 1st. Furnished or unfurnished. 539-5702 after 5 p.m. (142-146)

LARGE, TWO-bedroom, one block from campus, Aggieville and park. Available May 1. 537-4648. (142-147)

Fall Leases

- * Fremont Apartments
- * Sandstone Apartments
- Large 2 BR Units
- 537-9064

QUIET, ONE-bedroom apartment, 1131 Vattier. Heat, water, trash paid, air conditioning. $180 per month (until August 15). Call Professor McGuire, 532-6786 or 776-5682. (142-150)

TWO-BEDROOM duplex, 1027 Vattier, garage, available June. Two-bedroom triplex, 818 Blumont, August. 537-1676. (143-147)

FREE RENT first month of yearly lease on one-bedroom in Westchester Park Apts. Available immediately. $340. After 5 p.m. phone 537-4319 or 537-7022. (143-147)

Great Apartments

- * Close to KSU & Aggieville
- * 1 & 2 Bedrooms
- * $290-$365
- * Unfurnished or Furnished (New)
- * Dishwasher/Central Air/Carpeted
- Call 776-1222 or 539-7260

ONE-HALF block east of campus, one and one-half bedrooms, 1212 Thurston. Up to three people, $330. June or August. Also need resident manager. 539-5059. (144-150)

AVAILABLE AUGUST 1: Three-bedroom furnished, $360; and large two-bedroom unfurnished, $350. 1729 Laramie, heat, water, trash paid, year's lease; 537-2099 or evenings, 539-8052. (144-150)

LIFE and Times

THIS IS YOUR "TODAYMASTER" SPEAKING... I HAD KIND OF A LONG WEEKEND AND JUST DIDN'T GET AROUND TO DRAWING THE PANELS FOR TODAY'S STRIP, SO... SIT BACK, RELAX, CLOSE YOUR EYES AND HAVE SOMEBODY READ THE STRIP TO YOU... IT'LL BE JUST LIKE RADIO!

IN THE FIRST PANEL, (FIRST PANEL) JEFFREY AND DERRICK ARE STILL LYING ON THE HOOB OF A CAR IN THE "K-MART" PARKING LOT. (See Mon. 4-27) JEFFREY IS STARING OUT OF THE PANEL TO THE LEFT AND DERRICK IS JUST WAKING UP FROM A NAP... (DENOTED BY "ZZZZ...")

DERRICK THEN GOES ON TO EXPLAIN, IN DETAIL, A RATHER LURID DREAM INVOLVING HIMSELF, TINA TURNER, A 20 OZ BAG OF POTATO CHIPS AND AN ELECTRIC FAN...

IN THE FINAL PANEL JEFF SAYS QUIETLY TO HIMSELF, "AN ELECTRIC FAN?" WHILE DERRICK (STILL LYING FLAT ON HIS BACK) SAYS, "WHAT DO YOU THINK IT MEANS, JEFF?" DERRICK IS ALSO ABOUT TO BE BASHED ON THE HEAD WITH A SACK OF "LAWN 'N' GREEN" FERTILIZER HELD BY AN ELDERLY WOMAN WHO EXCLAIMS, "YOU ARE SICK, SICK, SICK!"

by Doug'n' Dick

Bloom County

By Berke Breathed

BILL, PLEASE TRY TO GRASP WHAT I'M ABOUT TO EXPLAIN...

MARISCO WANTS TO BUY THE RIGHTS TO YOUR SONG, "U STINK BUT I LOVE U," AND THEN REWRITE IT AS A TV JINGLE FOR "WHAT THINS." THEY'LL MAKE YOU A MULTIMILLIONAIRE.

DID YOU GET ALL THAT, OL' BUDDY?

SELL OUT!! HE'S GOT IT!

Garfield

By Jim Davis

I AM HUNGRY

THEREFORE I AM

RATIONALIZING ANOTHER BOUT WITH GLUTTONY, GARFIELD

I DON'T DISCUSS PHILOSOPHY WITH PEA BRAINS

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

WHAT HAPPENED?

THEY JUST SELECTED A "MAY QUEEN," SIR... IT WASN'T YOU... I'M SORRY...

I THINK MAYBE THEY WERE GOING TO CHOOSE YOU, BUT AT THE LAST MINUTE THEY SWITCHED

WHERE YOU WERE ASLEEP WAS IT? AT THE SWITCH! THAT WAS A JOKE, SIR...

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

- ACROSS
- Race units
 - Syllable before scraper
 - Univ. org.
 - Band on a shield
 - Palmer peg
 - Humdinger
 - Aircraft carriers
 - "Now he belongs to the —"
 - Trifle
 - Table scrap
 - Actor Robert
 - Fish —
 - Mr. Petrie of TV
 - Old enough to vote
 - Went by car
 - Turner
 - D.C. lobbying org.
 - German hall
 - Gratify another's vanity

- 35 Beer mug
- 36 Old crone
- 37 Abyssinian prince
- 38 O'Toole or Sellers
- 41 Sargasso Sea creature
- 42 Give —
- 43 Subtle emanation
- 46 Grandma's standby
- 48 Parched by heat
- 49 Lubricant
- 50 Whitman
- 51 Vintage cars

- 52 Actress Dawber
- 53 — vitae (alcohol)
- DOWN
- 1 Attic
- 2 Woody's son
- 3 Dramatic scan or van
- 4 Harden
- 5 It's
- 6 Retained
- 7 Recording group
- 8 Barges
- 9 Wrinkle
- 10 Guinness
- 11 Elephant's pride

- 16 Legal wrong
- 20 Drunkard
- 21 American Indians
- 22 Fabled bird
- 23 TV comedy
- 24 Ending for scan or van
- 25 Miss Merkel
- 26 Deface
- 27 Regret
- 28 Yale man
- 29 Actor
- 31 Wooden pin
- 34 Sailor
- 35 Word after rock
- 37 Domain
- 38 TV host
- 39 French river
- 40 Musical group
- 41 Essayist
- 42 Oil producer
- 43 Balsam
- 44 Pilaster
- 46 Dandy
- 47 Hawaiian frigate bird

CRYPTOQUIP

LDG WBKTGKGVDR VKRLG
DZC KZCOBG WGWZRZKC
ZC TKNVH NHT OBRLGT
Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE WHIMSICAL NICK-NAME OF FEMALE AUTO WORKER ON OUR LINE: "PISTON PACKIN' MAMA."

Today's Cryptoquip clue: V equals W

Moore Management NOW RENTING APARTMENTS

(All Close to Campus!)

PRID-MOR APTS.

1215 Bertrand
2-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths,
dishwasher, furnished
$450

RAINTREE APTS.

1010 Thurston
2-bedroom, furnished,
fireplace, dishwasher
$375-450
PHEASANT RIDGE
923 Fremont
2-bedroom, dishwasher
$350

For info call 539-1642
or 537-4567 after 7.

Call for special summer rates.

FURNISHED, THREE-bedroom basement. Very close to campus. $330 plus utilities. Three-bedroom basement, close to Aggieville, $325 plus utilities. Call 532-5211. Steak supper for those who rent. (144-150)

ONE BLOCK from campus, two-bedroom furnished, laundry, central air. Summer sublease. 532-3763. 532-3154, 776-0554. (144-146)

JUNE AND July only—Two-bedroom apartment one block from university. Phone 539-0410 or 539-2857. (144-148)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, one block from university. Available June 1. Phone 539-0410 or 539-2857. (144-148)

KSU Students

- * June 1 & August 1 leases
- * 2-Bedroom Apartments—Close to KSU
- * $360-$399
- * Furnished & Unfurnished (Quality Furniture)
- * Decks, Dishwasher
- * Parking Permit

776-1222

After 5 p.m. and weekends—537-2098

SUMMER SUBLEASE or year rent. Two-bedroom apartment at 913 Vattier. Rent depends on type of lease. Call 776-3262 for more information. (144-147)

ONE BEDROOM furnished, call 776-6157. (144-148)

ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment—Unfurnished, summer rent. Close to city park, Aggieville and campus. Utilities paid, $200 per month. 539-1124 after 5 p.m. (144-147)

FOR RENT—HOUSES

05

ONE—TWO—THREE bedroom houses, starting June occupancy. Unfurnished, good condition, clean, appliances $37-1269. (1071)

ONE—THREE non-smoking roommates. Prefer Vet or Animal Science majors to share modern farm-house. Free stall and pasture for horse, cow, dog, Beef, eggs, wood, skiboat furnished. Reply P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan. (138-150)

AVAILABLE JUNE—Two bedrooms, 1822 Hunting, 917 Kearney, $300. Phone 539-8401. (140-150)

THREE-BEDROOM house at 1523 Pierre, yard, remodeled, $420. Phone 776-6791 or 776-4805. (140-150)

THREE-BEDROOM house, washer/dryer, dishwasher, fireplace, garage. $525/month. June 1, 1215 Ratione. Call 539-4564. (142-145)

THREE BLOCKS east of campus—Two-bedroom basement apartment, appliances, washer/dryer, private entrance, off-street parking. August 1. Twelve month lease, $200 deposit, $200 month. 539-3497. (144)

THREE-BEDROOM house, carport, very close to campus. Available June 1. Phone 539-5953. (142-146)

THREE BLOCKS east of campus—Three-bedroom, appliances, washer/dryer, unfurnished, garage, August 1. Twelve month lease, $450 deposit, $450/month. 539-3497. (144)

THREE-BEDROOM house, close to campus, 1411 Vista Lane, clean, no pets, $400 month plus deposit. Phone 235-3550 Topeka, Kansas, evenings. (144-148)

FOR SALE—AUTO

06

1979 DODGE Omni, good engine, low mileage, AM/FM cassette. Call 537-3323 after 5 p.m. (140-144)

KARMANN GHIA, 1971, all original, excellent condition, low mileage, 539-6123 after 6 p.m. (141-144)

1979 CHEVROLET Camaro Z-28, 350, recently overhauled, automatic, new tires and battery, 49,500 miles. 776-6240. (142-147)

1980 MAZDA RX-7, five-speed, great condition, sunroof, air conditioned. New AM/FM cassette. Call 539-7491, ask for Phil. (144-150)

DATSUN 710, must sell. $800 with repair. $400 without. 539-9843, Masumi at #320 Seaton. (144-147)

1978 GOLD Trans Am, Cruise, tilt, air, automatic, AM-FM cassette, $1,200 or best offer. (144-148)

FOR SALE—MISC

07

DENON DCD-1100 compact disc player—Great condition, remote control, $300 or best offer, room #322, Moore Hall. 532-2362. (140-144)

BICYCLE—FUJI Del Ray. Perfect condition, less than 100 miles, $250. Phone 537-4376. (141-145)

KING SIZE waterbed, semi-motionless fiber-fill mattress, bookcase headboard, six-drawer pedestal. $300. Greg, 539-5875. (141-145)

MARYSOL
SPA & TANNING SALON
Aggieville

New Bulb Special

10
Tanning Sessions
$20

Use any time
offer expires 5-3-87

1214 C Moro 776-7874

PEAVEY MANTIS electric guitar, brand new. New strings, black with maple fingerboard. Need to sell, underpriced. Call 532-5474. (142-145)

LABRADOR PUPS, A.K.C. registered, black. Excellent hunting stock. Eastern Shore bloodline. 537-8367. (143-147)

SUPER SINGLE waterbed, complete, std or three-drawer base. Huffy 27 inch 10-speed. Fender Jag air guitar with case. Call between 5-10 p.m., 537-9853. (143-145)

FOR SALE: Desk, $20 or best offer. Call 539-9144. (144-146)

LAST CHANCE: Couch, rocker, microwave, stereo and cabinet, best offer. 539-8490. (144-145)

MALE FERRET, de-scented, litter food, water bottle, etc. included. $50. Phone 537-7704. (144-146)

FOR RENT or For Sale: 10 x 50 mobile home. Stove, refrigerator, air. Unfurnished. 537-7622 after 5 p.m. (134-147)

FOR SALE, 1972 Revere, excellent condition, two-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths, washer, dryer, air, partially furnished. Call 316-241-6054, working hours. (135-144)

12 x 60, NICE two-bedroom, two-bath with storage shed. Must sell! 539-8932. (140-145)

THREE-BEDROOM 12 x 65 mobile home. Central air, washer, dryer, two sheds, close to campus. 539-1315. (141-145)

1977 SHULT, 12 x 55, two bedrooms, central air, washer/dryer, stove, refrigerator, shed, dog pen, real nice. 135 Walnut Grove, 532-6285/494-8391. (144-146)

1977, 14 x 56 Skyline, extra nice. Two bedroom with new carpet and skirting. Two large storage sheds and chain-link fenced yard. Appliances included. 539-0150. (144-147)

FOR SALE—MOTORCYCLES 09

1985 KAWASAKI GPZ 750. Only 1,400 miles. Asking $2,600. Call 776-9341 after 5:30 p.m. (141-145)

1983 YAMAHA 185. Great school, $550 negotiable. 537-2857 or 537-7496. (141-145)

1981 YAMAHA 650 Special II. Midnight blue, 3,600 miles. Great shape. Call 539-2387, ask for Murray. (141-144)

HONDA TWINSTAR 200, good condition. Phone 532-5926 or 537-1696. (143-146)

SET OF three keys found on sidewalk near Durland. Call 537-2980 or 776-6052 to identify and claim. (142-144)

FOUND 10

HELP WANTED 13

EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY for upper classman completing education. Summer position and possible year-round, on-site leasing assistant. Summers: 20-30 hours/week, afternoons and Saturdays. School year: 10-15 hours/week including Saturdays. Send letter and resume to: Box 7, Kedzie Hall 103, KSU. (141-150)

KANSAS STATE University announces a vacancy for Software/Project Manager, temporary full-time position. To serve as a member of Extension computer support staff and provide leadership in software development projects. Knowledge of and experience in software engineering, program design, and programming languages as they relate to microcomputers are necessary. A letter of interest, transcripts and resume along with three letters of reference must be sent to Dr. Roger Terry, Unger Hall—Room 211, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506 or call (913) 532-6770 by May 20, 1987. Kansas State University is an equal opportunity employer. (141-150)

EARN $480 weekly—$60 per hundred circulars mailed. Guaranteed. Work at home and participate in our Company project mailing circulars and assembling materials. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to JKB Mailcompany, P.O. Box 25, Castaic, California, 91310. (117-148)

FULL AND part-time help! National Firm is preparing for Spring and Summer work. If accepted, you will earn $8.10 starting. Some evening and weekend positions are available and some flexibility is allowed during final exams. If you qualify, corporate scholarships are awarded, internships are possible, and you may earn 2, 3, 4 credits/quarter or semester. During summer break full-time work is available. Call (913) 345-9675 Monday-Friday between 9 a.m.-5 p.m. (135-148)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

A SUMMER job on a dairy and swine operation. Free room and board. Wages are negotiable. Call 316-736-2828. (142-146)

HARD WORKING, fun-loving cook, cleaner and babysitter. Monday through Friday, 3-6 p.m. during May (flexible). 8-5 for summer vacation (vacation?). Own transportation required. Sense of humor? 539-8076 after 6 p.m. (142-145)

WANTED: DEPENDABLE summer farm help. 45 miles from Manhattan. House available. 922-6796 after 6 p.m. (143-147)

RESEARCH ASSISTANT—Established Manhattan research firm has temporary position available as research assistant. Position requires B.S. degree in Business, Economics or related fields. Candidates must have familiarity with personal computers. Respond with resume to Development Planning and Research Associates, Inc., P.O. Box 727, Manhattan, Kansas 66502. (143-144)

BASEMENT APARTMENT in exchange for supervision of two school-age children and light house-keeping. Seeking serious student. Call 776-9401 days, or 776-8037 evenings. (143-145)

SUMMER HELP needed at Ashland Horticulture Farm. Call 539-3991 and ask for Jerry. (143-147)

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT in Johnson County. Bossler-Hix temporary, contact Mary Schmidt, 776-2224, evenings. (144-145)

FAMILY WANTS college girl to live in for summer. Assist with house and yard in exchange for board and room—Box 3, 1/2 Collegian. (144-148)

NEED A job? Do you like meeting people? Then this is the job for you! Paid weekly. Hours and wages negotiable. Meals and transportation furnished. If you're interested, contact Jim Meyers at 537-1578. The Wichita Eagle-Beacon. (144-146)

STUDENT PROGRAMMER Consultant. Programming and experience with both mainframe and microcomputers, along with GPA will be selection criteria. Undergraduates with employment potential of two years given preference. Contact Jacques Meisner, room 23, Cardwell Hall by 5 p.m., May 1. EOE. (144-147)

SUMMER JOB, 15-20 hours/week, typing skills required. Apply before May 5 at 532-6516, extension 25. (144-146)

CAMP COUNSELORS—Camp Wiedemann. Hiring for summer. Call 316-684-6531. EOE. (144-148)

WATERFRONT STAFF—Camp Wiedemann. Now hiring WSI and Lifeguards. Call 316-684-6531. EOE. (144-148)

WANTED: BARTENDERS, waiters, cooks. Part time. Experience preferred. Hours and wages negotiable. Junction City Country Club. 913-238-1161. (144-148)

GAY/LESBIAN? Write for Kansas/Missouri information. Personality, P.O. Box 218, Daly City, California 94016-0218. Mailed discreetly/confidentially. (131-150)

WEDNESDAY—APRIL 29
HOLIDAY INN

200 McDONALD DR., LAWRENCE, KS
7 P.M.

OR
THURSDAY—APRIL 30
HOLIDAY INN—TOPEKA WEST

605 FAIRLAWN DR., TOPEKA, KS
7 P.M.

Where Airline Careers Begin!

INTERNATIONAL AIR ACADEMY
Vancouver • St. Louis • Ontario
Washington • Missouri • California

PERSONAL 16

ATTENTION GOOD-LOOKING guy wearing London Hard Rock Cafe shirt, walking through parking lot. Thursday 8:40 p.m., My smile and Hi made you walk backwards! Would you like to meet? Respond in Personals—Gold Shirt White, Mini-skirt. (143-144)

REDHEAD in white summer blouse and tinted sunglasses in front of Anderson Thursday 12:25. You have a nice smile. Could I see it again? Black Ford 4 x 4. (143-144)

WANTED: WOMAN-warrior who knows Micaela, Mimi. (144)

ALPHA XI's—We finished #2 in D-Days, but you're #1 with us. Love, Your Coaches. (144)

K. WYNN—From the top of the world to the bottom of my heart, with you by my side I'll make a new start. Love, Bobe. (144)

HERL AND Chalk: The ride home (what kind of car do you have?), the poltergeist hallway, signing the L-center, and my nose dive on the table. Can't wait 'till September. Your Boogie Woogie Bugle Bangle. (144)

SIGMA CHI Omega Coaches: Gotta love that spirit award. Thanks for the AC/DC breakfast! Let it all around great time. In the name of love, the Chi-O's. (144)

GAMMA Phi's: What's the deal? The same as any other deal, volume, volume, volume! Ahhh, left, right, up, down. Congrats! The other half of the dynamic duo. (144)

ANDY: Due to the fact we are both caught under a spell, don't be surprised by what's coming in the mail. Friends and a lot more. Tiger. (144-145)

MONCHICHI: HAPPY 21st Birthday! From KU to you. Love, Carlos. (144)

TATTOO: 21, men and fun. Today's the day so don't delay, let's get this celebration underway. Happy 21st. More for the sharp weener. (144)

PHI KAP JOE: Thank you for the best birthday I've ever had. I.L.Y.—Cynthia. (144)

TRICIA: HAPPY 21st. Les gens. (144)

HEY PROTECTION Express—We commend your idea, but you open at 7:00. Enjoy about noomers??? F.F. and one other. (144)

STEPHANIE AND Janet of Goodnow—Enjoyed your method of contraception. Must do it again sometime. Love, The Men of Goodnow. (144)

PI PHI's—Get excited, the time is almost here. Meet us at Monmouth for the party of the year. Love, Kappa Kappa Gamma. (144)

ROOMMATE WANTED 17

ROOMMATE WANTED: Non-smoking female to share a two

Senators to wind up tentative allocations

By The Collegian Staff

Student Senate will be heading into the final stretch tonight with tentative allocations. The FONE Crisis Center is the only group scheduled for consideration.

The Center was reviewed earlier by Senate, but a final decision was tabled until tonight because of questions as to whether the Center should be insured before Student Governing Association approved the tentative allocation of $10,584.10.

Senators were unsure if SGA would be included in any suit of liability against the Center because SGA is the principle source of funding for the Center.

In addition, Senate will address reconsiderations for any group's allocations for next year. If there are no reconsiderations, Senate will then vote on the total allocation bill.

Senate has tentatively allocated about $250,000 for the 1987-88 fiscal year based on the full-time student's fee of $7.65 and the part-time student's fee of $4.45. Also included in the total amount is the summer student fee of 75 cents per credit hour up to six hours.

Animals

Continued from Page 1

goat," he said. "This would suggest there is not a chemical problem there."

He said the tests did not determine what killed the goat.

"Goats can die from a lot of things," Oehme said.

"I know it's from the water," Becky Choitz said. "There was no reason for their death."

The Choitzes said they had never had problems with animals dying before moving to Moehlan Bottoms. Since moving to the area, they said, none of their goats have been able to conceive.

Like several other residents in the area, the Choitzes haul water to their home. Becky said they quit drinking their water shortly after they moved to the area.

"When you mix a glass of tea with the water, it turns purple," she said. "Before we quit using it, you could look in the top of the glass and see a rainbow. It had oil in it."

Because the Kansas Department of Health and Environment knew about the contamination nearly two years ago, Leon Choitz said he could not understand why the department continues to license the landfill.

"They're not following any regulations," he said. "They put it on sandy soil, the water table is shallow and they're next to the river in a flood plain. I can't understand it."

He said even though the tests came back negative, they would not drink the water.

"You wouldn't want to," he said.

Connie Peters, another Moehlan Bottoms resident, is experiencing similar problems.

Peters makes a living raising 20 registered dogs and selling the pups. In the last three months, her dogs have lost six full litters, she said. The average litter consisted of eight pups.

The problems began occurring about eight months ago, Peters said.

"Most of the pups that are born are full-term puppies," she said. "They seem to be perfectly healthy, then within three days, they're dead."

In most cases, however, Peters said the dogs carry the pups for 4½ weeks, then lose them. The normal gestation period for dogs is 63 days, she said.

Peters said five of her dogs have been unable to conceive in the past year. All the dogs are less than 4 years old, she said, and should have two litters a year.

Peters said she took several pups to a Manhattan veterinarian after they died, but was told that unless the veterinarian knew what chemicals to look for, the tests could be quite expensive and could take up to five months to run.

Tests are not the only expense she is incurring. Peters estimated she is losing about $900 a month because of the problem.

Not only are residents concerned about their drinking water; they are worried about their property value as well.

"Our property is worth less and less every day," said one resident.

One example of the problem is the case of Steve and Corinne Glessner, who live southeast of the landfill. When the Glessners decided to refinance their home in order to pay it off sooner, their loan was denied by a Manhattan bank.

"I've never had bad credit in my life," said Glessner, who said he had financed three other homes through the same bank.

One of the reasons the bank gave for denying the application was the fact that many homes in the area are mobile homes.

Another reason was the water.

The Glessners' loan application was recommended for approval by one of the bank's vice presidents Feb. 19. On March 5, the same day the water tests were run, the application was denied.

"We are not comfortable with the relative value in the surrounding area, the fact that most of the dwelling units are mobile homes and the problems with the water supply," the denial letter said.

The vice president of the bank told the Collegian that because of credit laws, he could not discuss the situation.

"The water was one of the reasons it was denied," he said.

Japan trading sanctions may end soon

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan said Monday it's time to stop "hemming and hawing" about trade problems between the United States and Japan and warned he has not ruled out imposing additional sanctions against Tokyo to resolve trade disputes.

While saying he hopes to be able to lift sanctions against Japan soon, Reagan said, "we will do what is necessary to see that other nations live up to their obligations and trading agreements with us."

Meanwhile, 12 members of Reagan's Cabinet said they will recommend a veto of sweeping trade legislation scheduled to be debated in the House of Representatives today "unless substantial changes are made."

"Many provisions are so contrary to our objective of opening markets that it would be impossible for us to recommend that he (the president) approve the entire package in its present form," said the Cabinet secretaries in a joint letter to House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas.

Reagan's remarks, in a speech before the annual meeting of the U.S.

Chamber of Commerce, set the stage for today's opening of the trade bill debate and meetings at the White House on Thursday and Friday with Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone.

"The final answer to the trade problems between America and Japan is not more hemming and hawing, not more trade sanctions, not more voluntary restraint agreements — though these may be needed as steps along the way — and certainly not more unfulfilled agreements," Reagan said.

"The answer is genuinely fair and open markets on both sides of the Pacific," he said. "And the sooner, the better."

Reagan said areas in which Japan's markets are more restricted than the United States' include semiconductors, supercomputers, auto parts, telecommunications, construction projects and agricultural products.

Momentum for passage of a trade bill has been fueled by America's huge trade deficit, which hit a record $166.3 billion last year, including a $58.6 billion imbalance in Japan's favor.

An amendment sponsored by Rep.

Richard A. Gephardt, D-Mo., would force countries with large trade surpluses with the United States as a result of unfair practices to reduce the imbalances by 10 percent a year or face retaliatory measures such as tariffs and import fees.

The letter from the Cabinet members aimed specific criticism at the Gephardt measure, calling it "destructive."

On Capitol Hill, House Speaker Wright, supporting the Gephardt amendment, accused Reagan of "engaging in flights of rhetorical exaggeration" on the trade issue.

Wright said Reagan and Nakasone knew months ago that the House would be voting on the trade bill this week, and Nakasone "deliberately chose to come during this week."

Gephardt said the vote on his proposal, expected on Wednesday on the second day of floor debate on the trade bill, "will be close." After testifying before the House Rules Committee, which was considering ground rules for the trade debate, Gephardt told reporters: "We have to fight for every vote."

Gephardt told the panel his measure would "add teeth and accountability" to U.S. trade laws.

House Republicans, meanwhile, came up with their own proposed trade bill, which would meet some White House objections.

The key issue on the agenda will be the $300 million in tariffs Reagan imposed against Japanese products in retaliation for Tokyo's alleged violation of an agreement not to sell semiconductor chips at unfairly low prices.

K-State Players presents

Still Alive and Well
&
Living on Planet Earth

Written & Performed by
Joel Climenhaga
May 1 & 2
Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.
Call 532-6398

Mon.-Fri. 12-5

Chemicals

Continued from Page 1

out there with those people and their water," said Mark Edwards, attorney with the law firm of Hoover, Schermerhorn, Edwards and Pinaire.

"That problem did not exist prior to that landfill being put there," Edwards said. "It seems to me that with an effort to also bring water to those people, at the minimum the county should be talking about moving that landfill."

Edwards asked commissioners what efforts they had made to eliminate the contamination source.

"I don't think we're prepared to answer that," Westervelt said. "We're here to talk about the water district."

Edwards objected.

"I think it's been a problem that's been pretty longstanding," he said. "When you have animals that are dying...whole litters of kittens and whole litters of registered animals are dying and an inordinate number of goats that are dying. I think we have a real problem."

The recent tests of 14 wells near the landfill indicated there was nothing in the water that would harm the animals, Harden said.

"Our purpose today is to alleviate the situation," said Commissioner

Marjorie Morris. "It doesn't mean we are accepting the responsibility that we assume that all the water out there is bad."

The commission's first concern is to set up the water district, Westervelt said. After that, he said, it may look into other areas.

The county made an attempt to move the landfill in 1978, Harden said, but abandoned the idea after it was met with a great deal of opposition.

"As long as it's continued to be licensed at this site, I don't think there's any enthusiasm at all to move it," he said.

Collegian Classifieds

Cheap, but Effective

COUNTRY GIFT SHOP

Bears • Dolls • Folk Art • Home Decor
"East of Holidome"
Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30 530-3804
2208 Ft. Riley Blvd. Manhattan, Ks. 66502

Freshman & Sophomore
Summer Job Opportunity
available with
The United States Marine Corps
No obligation to be a Marine!
Earn between $1300 & $2100 a month plus meals & housing.
Call 913-841-1821 (collect)

"American Military History, A Chinese View"

Professor Wu Chungju
The Academy of Military Science
The Peoples Republic of China

Tuesday, April 28
7 p.m. U 207
Sponsored by History Department and Phi Alpha Theta

K-STATE PHOTOGRAPHY

Professional Services Available

- Black & White Photos
- Color Photos
- Color Slides
- Film Processing
- Slide Duplication
- Film and Supplies
- Copy Work

- In-Studio Research Photography
- On Location Research Photography
- Photo Coverage of Special Events
- Portraits for Publicity & Passports
- Portfolios

Focusing to be the best!
Photographic Services
Power Plant, Room 101
Kansas State University
532-6304

MasterCare

TUNE-UP
We'll install new resistor spark plugs, adjust idle speed, set timing, test battery and charging system and inspect other key engine parts. Electronic ignition cars.

Reg. Price 49⁰⁰
$39⁸⁸ 8 cyl. 59⁰⁰ 8 cyl.

MAINTENANCE ANALYSIS

14-point check on condition of your car's brakes, suspension, exhaust, belts, hoses, battery fluid levels and tires.

$8⁸⁸

BATTERY SALE!

Supreme is our most powerful car battery! Backed by a 66-month limited warranty. See us for details.

$59⁹⁵ 14 cyl.
SAVE $20 thru May 1st

FLUSH & FILL

We'll flush radiator and cooling system, check belts, hoses and water pump and re-fill system incl. up to 2 gal. of antifreeze/coolant.

$19⁸⁸

Firestone

3rd & Leavenworth
Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-6 p.m.
Sat. 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

MANHATTAN VO-TECH

Manhattan Area Vocational Technical School

Has the PERFECT opportunity for YOU . . .

- Air conditioning
- Auto Body Repair
- Auto Mechanics
- Building Trades
- Computer Repair
- Data Processing
- Draft Technology
- Electric Power
- Food Service
- Graphic Arts Technology
- Marketing Education
- Office Technology
- Practical Nursing
- Welding

PLUS:
Job readiness in 24 mos. or less. Low cost. Placement service, Night Classes available. Programs approved for Veterans, GED Preparation & Testing. Financial aid available.

MANHATTAN AREA VO-TECH SCHOOL
3136 Dickens Ave., 539-7431
Toll Free 1-800-358-3079 ext. 373

Step Into Spring and SAVE 20% OFF

WITH COUPON INCLUDING SALE ITEMS!
Expires 5-2-87

TAYLOR'S SHOES

118 MORO (AGGIEVILLE)

SAVE

acme dingo

Genuine
WATER BUFFALO
A tough boot..genuine Water Buffalo foot and shaft. Cambrelle lined, cushion insole, taped inside seams, oil and acid resistant neoprene sole and heel.
Compare to $59.95

$29⁹⁹

1/2 PRICE

DOWNTOWN WAMEGO (HWY 99)
OPEN DAILY 9-8 P.M., SUN. 12-5 P.M. • 456-9100

Inside

Best Beef

Cooks from across the state submitted their best recipes for beef in hopes of winning an annual cook-off. See Page 7.

Weather

Sunny

Sunny today, high in the mid-80s. Mostly clear tonight, low in the mid-50s.

Sports

Record Breaker

Otto Kaifes has come on strong for the K-State baseball team and has broken the RBI record and is tied for the home run record. See Page 9.

Kansas State

Collegian

Wednesday

April 29, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 145

'Honored' educator to retire

Department head to end 40-year term

By STACEY CAMPBELL
Collegian Reporter

Don Good, head of the Department of Animal Sciences and Industry, has taught more than 10,000 students during his career. He has been honored by the American Society of Animal Science as the outstanding animal science teacher in the nation, and he received the K-State Distinguished Teacher Award.

After 40 years of service to the University, Good has decided to retire. He will vacate his position on Sept. 17.

Good became head of the department in 1970, and his prior K-State positions included classroom teaching and coaching the K-State livestock judging teams. Good came to K-State in 1947 to work under then-department head A.D. "Dad" Weber.

"I thought 'Dad' Weber would be a great person to gain experience from," Good said.

Good was a senior at Ohio State University when he was called to duty in World War II. He earned the Combat Infantry Badge and two battle stars while serving in Europe and the Pacific.

After the war, Good returned to Ohio State, where he received his bachelor's degree. In the fall of 1947, he began teaching at K-State, and three years later he completed his master's degree in animal husbandry at K-State.

Since Good's appointment to K-State, he has seen many changes in the department.

"The College of Agriculture has really placed high emphasis on the teaching and advising of the students," Good said. "This has been effective in training young men and women to serve in all facets of agriculture and in agribusiness."

A major change during Good's tenure was the merge of the dairy and poultry departments into the Department of Animal Sciences and Industry. The combined department now has more than 50 faculty, two academic buildings and eight research centers.

Good said he believes his biggest impact on K-State was the building of men and women as professors.

"I'm proud of the staff in the department," he said. "They are sincere, capable, industrious and in tune with the needs of various segments to animal agriculture from conception to consumption."

"My philosophy in administration is that it's my duty to stimulate and encourage the staff members to achieve, to remove road blocks and to facilitate financially, as well as with physical facilities, the opportunity for them to advance professionally and to be real contributors to K-State," Good said.

Good said the department has

Don Good will retire next September after 40 years of service to K-State, the last 17 of which he has spent as head of the Department of Animal Sciences and Industry.

made great advances in the research and development areas. He cites the increase in graduate students and the various countries they represent as a result of these advancements.

In 1966 the department had 11 graduate students. Currently there are 85 graduate students from 17 countries, he said.

"Our Ph.D. graduates have been in demand in industry and in institutions of higher learning in various parts of the country," Good said.

Bill Able, associate director of the international meat and livestock program, was hired by Good in 1970.

"Don is one of the strongest proponents of the undergraduate teaching program," Able said. "He believes the students make the department, and after they graduate they will be the ones who come back to support the programs."

Good predicts a bright future for K-State, the College of Agriculture and the Department of Animal Sciences and Industry.

"I'm a positive thinker," Good said. "We have too many negative thoughts in our society, and some of them permeate relating to the University."

"But we are an excellent University," he said. "And it is because of the dedicated staff that have carved out a reputation for the University, and the graduates who have done so well in different endeavors, that is the true measure of our efforts."

After his retirement from K-State, Good plans to spend time with his friends across the state and in other countries. He also plans to assist his son, Craig, in his farming operation in Olsburg.

"I would also like to serve as a consultant if my services are in line with regard to the livestock industry, or do short-term overseas assignments or in-country seminars relating to animal agriculture," Good said.

Speaker expounds on life in S. Africa

By JENNIFER LINDSEY
Staff Writer

The African National Congress maintains that apartheid is such an evil system, and only its "total" destruction will save humanity from catastrophe, said Janette Mthobi, of the ANC mission in New York.

Mthobi's speech, "Human Rights and Apartheid in South Africa," dealt with the oppression of black Africans by the ruling National Party.

"The bitter experience of our people didn't start when ABC news sent cameras to our country," she said to about 75 people Tuesday night in Kedzie Hall.

Mthobi said the oppression dates back to 1653, when British settler regimes first came to Africa.

"The settlers arrived under the cloak of merchants to trade spices but were plagued with diseases from the countries they had visited," she said.

When the settlers stopped at the Cape of Good Hope, the South African people sympathized with the diseased people and gave them land, she said.

But the settlers did not stop at the land they were given; they began to take more.

"This was met with fierce resistance from our people," Mthobi said.

Although the British settlers tried to fight the resistance, the South Africans did not give in, she said.

The turning point in the takeover of South Africa occurred in 1910 when the British colonists and Dutch settlers united.

"The British handed us over to the Dutch like a sack of potatoes," she said.

At this point, "our people felt we had no choice but to unite and fight back with all the resistance in our power," she said.

In 1912, the ANC was formed to promote peaceful change in South Africa, she said.

But apartheid continued — and worsened.

In 1913, the Land Act was passed. This act allocated 13 percent of the country's worst land to the 27 million blacks, she said. Eighty percent of the land was left for four million whites.

Other apartheid laws passed include the Group Areas Act, which requires the black population to live in separate areas and territories. Pass Laws require all blacks over the age of 16 to carry a passbook at all times.

"You can be stopped any time of the day, and if you don't have your passbook with you, you are automatically a criminal," Mthobi said.

In response to these oppressive laws, the ANC changed its strategy to unite African people of all colors, she said.

This, again, was met with resistance from the ruling National Party. On March 21, 1960, the South African police shot and killed 69 unarmed blacks who were peacefully protesting the Pass Laws in Sharpeville, South Africa, she said.

According to a pamphlet on apartheid distributed by the Washington Office on Africa Educational Fund, the "Sharpeville Massacre" set off a series of protests and clashes with the police across the country. As a result, the pamphlet said, more than

See AFRICA, Page 11

Attorneys want judge removed in Colby case

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — The Kansas Supreme Court Tuesday turned down a request by attorneys for Lisa Dunn to disqualify District Court Judge Keith R. Willoughby of Colby from hearing her motion for a new trial, and to invalidate recent rulings he has made in her case.

In a one-sentence order signed for the court by Justice Harold Herd, the Supreme Court said the request for a writ of mandamus to force Willoughby out of the case for alleged prejudice was "dismissed as an inappropriate remedy."

The high court's decision means a hearing will proceed at 10 a.m. Thursday in Thomas County District Court on Dunn's motion for a new trial in her four-conviction case dating back to a 1985 crime spree in northwest Kansas.

In a petition filed with the court last Friday but not made public until Tuesday, Dunn's lawyers asked the Supreme Court to order a delay in arguments on the motion for a new trial.

In their petition, public defenders Jessica Kunen and Benjamin Wood of Topeka contended Willoughby's orders denying Dunn's motions to have witnesses appear at the hearing and to allow her to attend the hearing were illegal because they usurped the authority of the Supreme Court and exceeded the jurisdiction of a district court judge.

The petition sought an order from the Supreme Court setting aside all of Willoughby's orders and asking that it either take Willoughby off the case entirely or assign another judge to hear arguments on a motion to disqualify him from any further handling of the case.

However, in a response to the Dunn petition by Carl Gallagher, an assistant attorney general, the state opposed the request. Gallagher said the proper remedy would be for Dunn to appeal afterward, if Willoughby denies her motion for a new trial.

Gallagher also said in his response that Willoughby, the administrative judge in the 15th Judicial District, already has assigned Dunn's motion to have him disqualified to Judge Jack L. Burr of Goddard for a ruling.

The state's attorney also said Willoughby had not barred Dunn's

See COLBY, Page 11

Dentist encounters malpractice suit for leaving file in tooth

By JUDY LUNDSTROM
Staff Writer

An Omaha oral surgeon testified in district court Tuesday on the second day of a malpractice suit against a Manhattan dentist.

The lawsuit was filed by Kimberly Jackson, 24, of Winfield, against Dr. Mark Hungerford. It stems from a 1982 incident in which part of a file used in performing a root canal broke off deep inside Jackson's tooth.

Hungerford took the stand earlier in the day and told the 10-man, three-woman jury he had first treated Jackson Feb. 19, 1982. She had complained of pain in a tooth that had just been filled, he said.

After taking X-rays, Hungerford said he determined Jackson needed a root canal. The procedure was performed March 4, 1982. In the process, a file he was using fractured in the root of one of Jackson's teeth.

During the root canal procedure, Hungerford said a file is placed in the canal, then rotated and pulled out in an attempt to clear pulpal debris and clean out the inside walls of the canal.

Hungerford said an X-ray taken March 17 indicated the file fragment was in Jackson's tooth. He refilled the tooth in an attempt to retrieve the fragment, but in the process, pushed it into Jackson's jawbone.

"I expected to have a chance to get the file," he said.

Hungerford said he told Jackson he had broken the file in her tooth, but did not tell her the potential problems that could result from he incident. There was no mention of the incident in Jackson's dental records.

Jackson testified Monday that Hungerford had never informed her of the accident until May 29, 1985, after she had made repeated visits to his office complaining of a continual pain in her mouth.

In March 1982, Hungerford intentionally cut Jackson's tooth in half in an unsuccessful attempt to remove the file. An X-ray taken at that time confirmed the fractured file had been pushed outside the root, he said.

Hungerford said he removed the remainder of Jackson's tooth in March 1983 because of a fracture in the root. Shortly after that, he performed two additional root canals because Jackson complained of pain. At the time, Hungerford said, he did not believe the source of the pain was the broken file.

After the third root canal, however, he said he decided the pain may have been caused by the file. In retrospect, he said, it probably was a departure from standard dental practice not to assume the pain in Jackson's tooth was created by the file.

Hungerford also said the fact he had not told Jackson about the problems that could result from the incident immediately after it happened was a departure from standard medical procedure.

In May 1985, Jackson visited Hungerford because of additional pain in her mouth. At that time, Hungerford said, he decided to refer her to experts at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln.

On the same day, Hungerford said he recorded the broken file incident.

Jackson underwent surgery for removal of the file fragment on July 7, 1985, at the University Hospital Medical Center, Omaha.

Dr. Harold Tu, who performed the surgery, said before the operation, the right side of Jackson's face was partially paralyzed. Surgery found that the file fragment was about four millimeters long and had partially severed a nerve in Jackson's jaw.

Jackson testified Monday that the right side of her face is still paralyzed. The severing of the nerve also resulted in some speech impairment, she said.

Tu said Jackson is a candidate for a nerve graft operation or decompression surgery to alleviate her problems, but the chances of success for improvement are minimal.

Once the presence of the broken file in Jackson's jaw had been recognized, Tu said, Hungerford should have informed her and warned her of potential problems that could result.

In addition, he said, Hungerford's failure to record the incident in his records or consider the fragment as a source of Jackson's continued problems was a deviation from standard medical practice.

The lawsuit is scheduled for trial all this week. Jackson said she tentatively expects to hear the judge's decision on Friday.

Briefly

By The Associated Press

INTERNATIONAL

American killed by Contra rebels

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — An American volunteer working as a mechanical engineer in a small village in northern Nicaragua was shot and killed by Contra rebels Tuesday morning, the Nicaraguan government announced.

It was the first reported death of an American working for the Sandinista government in the war between the leftist government and U.S.-backed rebels.

The government said the dead American was Benjamin Ernest Linder, 27, of Portland, Ore., the son of David and Elizabeth Linder.

A government spokesman said Linder was killed by a group of six Contras who walked into his office at 8 a.m. in the village of La Camaleona where he was working on the construction of a small hydroelectric plant. The village in Jinotega province is 85 miles northeast of Managua.

Linder died while representatives from 88 countries met in Managua in the 77th Conference of the Inter-parliamentary Union to discuss, among other things, possible ways to end the Nicaraguan conflict between the government and rebels groups backed by the United States and known as Contras.

Entrance ban angers Waldheim

VIENNA, Austria — President Kurt Waldheim said Tuesday he did nothing wrong as a German army officer during World War II and the U.S. decision to bar him on grounds of involvement in Nazi atrocities is "incomprehensible."

"I have a clear conscience...You can trust me," Waldheim told the nation in a five-minute speech on radio and television.

On Monday, the United States put the former U.N. secretary-general on its watchlist of undesirable aliens barred from entering the United States, citing evidence that he aided in the deportation and execution of thousands of Jews and others.

Investigators found evidence that Waldheim "participated in persecutions for reasons of race or religion under the Nazi regime," Attorney General Edwin Meese III said Tuesday in Brussels.

A U.S. official at the United Nations in New York said that, if Waldheim sought to attend a U.N. session, "a policy decision would have to be made on whether to admit him."

NATIONAL

Embassy security files subpoenaed

WASHINGTON — Accusing the State Department of withholding information, a House subcommittee voted Tuesday to subpoena department files on security at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

"I am shocked and chagrined that the State Department would act in this way when they had indicated that they would cooperate," said subcommittee chairman Rep. Dan. Mica, D-Fla., who toured the embassy earlier this month and reported lax security.

"We understand they set up a special task force to try to withhold this information," said Mica, chairman of the Foreign Affairs subcommittee on overseas operations.

The panel voted 6-0, with three absent, to issue the subpoena for files dealing with security procedures at the present U.S. Embassy in Moscow, the building still under construction to replace it and possibly other American missions in the Soviet bloc.

At the State Department, spokesman Charles Redman said a computer search produced thousands of documents about embassy security and a task force was assigned to determine which were relevant to the committee's request.

REGIONAL

Bill unconstitutional, Stephan says

TOPEKA — A bill awaiting action in the Kansas Legislature, giving non-resident landowners the right to vote in all municipal bond elections, would not be constitutional if it were to become law, Attorney General Robert T. Stephan ruled Tuesday.

The measure, which is stalled in a House committee, would represent a step far beyond a 1971 law that allows non-resident landowners to vote in any bond election held by a drainage district, according to Stephan.

The non-binding legal opinion was sought by Rep. Rick Bowden, D-Goddard, the bill's sponsor, who has claimed the legislation is necessary because non-resident landowners sometimes end up paying a large share of the costs of retiring municipal bond issues.

However, Stephan said the Kansas Constitution grants the right to vote to anyone 18 years of age or older "who resides in the voting area in which he or she seeks to vote."

Stephan agreed with an attorney general's opinion issued in 1972 that upheld the constitutionality of allowing non-resident landowners to vote in drainage district elections because those municipal entities are of a different character than anything the framers of the state Constitution could have envisioned.

Runaway buffalo dies after capture

FORT RILEY — A buffalo who broke out of the Main Post Buffalo Corral at Fort Riley and was on the run for nearly five hours died about midnight Monday after being recaptured.

Two other buffalo who escaped were recaptured immediately.

The wandering buffalo, which escaped about 3 p.m. Monday, was spotted about 7:30 p.m. by military police near Custer Hill on the base, said Specialist Cynthia Farnham.

Military police tranquilized the buffalo. Veterinarians who arrived tranquilized the animal again before taking it back to the corral on a flatbed trailer.

The buffalo died from complications "arising from the capture, restraint and transport" back to the corral, Farnham said.

Base officials were conducting an investigation to determine how the buffalo escaped.

"We have a very historic post and the buffalo are used for display," Farnham said. "Frequently people don't have a chance to see buffalo roaming around. We have a few at the main post and there is also a very large corral on Custer Hill. We keep them for the tourists to see."

Farm group criticizes credit system

WICHITA — American Agriculture Movement members and sympathizers fired verbal shots at the Farm Credit System for more than three hours Tuesday at a rally in the Wichita Farm Credit Services parking lot.

Speakers presented demands including the restructuring of all delinquent loans, lower interest rates and provisions for appealing decisions against granting forbearance.

John Arens, a Fayetteville, Ark., lawyer, urged the crowd to challenge foreclosure actions in court and insist on a jury trial. He said jurors understand and will deliver favorable verdicts.

"Remember this. Stand up to your lenders. It's the only way to keep your farms," said Arens, who specializes in farm foreclosure cases.

About 130 farmers and AAM supporters gathered following a police-escorted tractorcade from west of Wichita that included nine tractors and about 25 cars and other vehicles. Some protesters walking along with the tractors carried signs criticizing the borrower-owned Farm Credit System, commonly called FCS.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT in Holtz Hall has many services available to students, including career counseling, letter data sheet and resume preparation advice, and others.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT Students who will complete requirements for degrees in the spring or summer should report employment or other plans if firm, or solicit help in Holtz Hall if seeking employment.

COORDINATED UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM IN DIETETICS Applications are available in Justin 107 and are due Friday.

CONVERSATIONAL ENGLISH TUTORING PROGRAM offered by the International Student Center needs volunteer tutors for the summer. No experience is required. For more information call Karen at 532-6448.

WEDNESDAY

CAMPUS RELIGIOUS GROUPS, Baptist Student Union, Campus Crusade for Christ, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, Navigators and IC-THUS, meet from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in Union U-room for prayer meeting.

ICAT "Students That Back The Cats" meet at 12:30 p.m. in Union 212. Coach Stan Parrish will discuss the upcoming football season.

DATA PROCESSING MANAGEMENT ASSOCIATION meets at 7 p.m. in Union 203.

ASSOCIATION OF ADULTS RETURNING TO SCHOOL meets at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Abdulmalik Sahabi at 9 a.m. in Blumont 36. The dissertation topic is "Saudi Arabian Students in the U.S.: Their Attitudes Toward the Educational Policies and Practices in Saudi Arabia."

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Joyce L. Frey at 3 p.m. in Ackert 116. The dissertation topic is "Involvement of Gangliosides in the Suppression of the Immune Response: An Explanation for the Progression of UV-Induced Fibrosarcomas."

TIPS ON INTERVIEWING FOR COMPETITIVE SCHOLARSHIPS are being offered at 1:30 p.m. in Eisenhower 113. the dean's office.

THURSDAY

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY, ANTHROPOLOGY AND SOCIAL WORK will hold an open reception for Eugene A. Friedmann in honor of his retirement from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. in Union Key Room.

SOCIAL WORK ORGANIZATION meets at 4 p.m. at Meadowlark Hill for tour.

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF BLACK ENGINEERS meets at 6 p.m. in Durland 163.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of George D. Harden at 7:30 a.m. in Blumont 368. The dissertation topic is "The Perennial Vision From Cardinal Newman to Mortimer Alder."

Collegian Classifieds
Cheap, but Effective

Pottery Sale

featuring work by: Ester Ikeda
Norm Lally
Terry & Sarah Remple
Gene Sievers

TODAY 9 a.m.-5 p.m.
K-State Union, mainfloor

sponsored by the UFM Potters Guild

BONKERS
TONITE
$1.25
PITCHERS
THURSDAY
MOVING VAN
1216 Laramie 537-8555

TONIGHT
Well
Two Fers $2

TOMORROW
Delta Upsilon
Calendar Girls
Finals For
Cover Girl &
John Casablanca
Modeling Contract

TOMORROW'S
FINALISTS

Cindy Decker
Lisa Clifton
Julie Ellis
Mary Morgan
Amy Morrison
Brenda Umscheid
Karie Humbarger
Tisha Pope
Jennifer Sandberg
Raylene Hodge
Tanya Lawer
Annie Yakshaw

$1.50
Mixed Drinks

531 N. Manhattan

GLAFLIN
Books & Copies

•Professional Resumes
•4¢ Self Service Copies
•Full Service Copy Center
•Quality Dissertation Copying
OPEN DAILY
M-F 8-9 Sat. 9-5 Sun. 12-9
FirstBank Center Denison & Clafin
776-3771

BONKERS
FIRST
1216 Laramie

TONIGHT
$2 Pitchers
We cater to walkouts, functions, etc.
Coors Light—Budweiser—
Old Milwaukee Light

'YOUR DISCOUNT BEER BARN'
Go North on Tuttle Creek Blvd.
then on the back road to the Rocks
The Finest Little Tavern by a Dam Site! 537-3133

SNIP N' CLIP
HAIRCUT SHOPS®
OSCAR WINNING CUTS, STYLES,
PERMS

OPEN NIGHTS AND SUNDAYS—JUST DROP IN
VILLAGE PLAZA • 3035 ANDERSON • 539-4043

MIDWEST'S FAVORITE
HAIRCUTTERS

WORLD'S GREATEST HAIRCUT

$6

KIDS KUT $5

Auntie
Mac's Parlor

AGGIEVILLE

Wednesday

$1.50
House drinks
$2
Blended drinks
$1
Wines

616 N. 12th 539-9967

Ladies Nite

$2.25 Pitchers
75¢ Draws
$1.25 Coolers

Tomorrow Nite
only

"The Verandas"

Also playing Friday with free TGIF show and barbecue
"The Clique"

Thursday
$DAZES

Friday
Live Band

"The Beatless"
Saturday May 2nd
4th Annual Wet T-Shirt Contest
—Mega cash prizes for winners—
—Check for details at the bar—

1800 Clafin

539-9619

EVERY WEDNESDAY

It's Only Rock 'n' Roll

(...but we like it!!!)

50¢ Draws

$2 Pitchers

$1 Wells

Free Keg Drawing Courtesy of Mar Y Sol
Plus Other Prizes.

619 N. Manhattan

The Station

TONIGHT

1115 Moro, Aggieville 776-0030

THE HOT SPOT FOR "HOT"
SCHNAPPS!

SUNTAN DRINK - $1.50

SUNBURNS - $1.50

SHOTS - 90¢

SHOT & DRAW - $1.75

(Free neon swizzle sticks with any "HOT" drink, numbers limited, get 'em while they're hot!)

DRAWINGS FOR LOTS OF
"HOT" PRIZES (HOT T-SHIRTS, SUNGLASSES AND MUCH MORE)

SCHNAPPS GIRL WITH TWIST AND SHOOT GUN
HOLSTER

Hayden outlines 5 priorities

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — Gov. Mike Hayden outlined for the Legislature Tuesday a list of five priority items he wants approved before lawmakers adjourn the 1987 session, probably late Saturday.

On the governor's primary list are appropriations bills authorizing $3.85 billion in spending for Fiscal Year 1988; a school finance plan; increasing the interstate highway speed limit to 65 mph; implementing pari-mutuel wagering; and approving his plan for expanding the state's prison capacity.

"I am encouraged by the progress being made on the omnibus (appropriations) bill, and am confident we will have a productive and successful veto session," Hayden told a news conference on the eve of the Legislature's return for a four-day wrap-up session following a 2 1/2-week recess.

Both houses are scheduled to reconvene at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Several standing committees and conference committees seeking compromises on controversial issues returned to Topeka Monday and Tuesday to do some spadework ahead of the wrap-up session.

Hayden told reporters he believes compromises achieved during the recess by a budget conference committee were fair and should be adopted by the full Legislature. They authorize spending for about 90 percent of the FY 1988 state budget, expected to be $3.85 billion.

The governor said lawmakers should act quickly to settle the school finance issue, so local school districts know how much they can raise their budgets for 1987-88 and how much state aid they will have available as they conclude contract negotiations with teachers next month.

"The state's 304 local school districts face rapidly approaching budget deadlines and need answers from the Legislature," Hayden said.

He said he wants the House to drop its amendments and pass the Senate version of a bill which would raise the legal speed limit on rural stretches of interstate highways from 55 to 65.

"I do not believe the House amendments requiring the costly county designation decals (on new license plates the state will issue next year)," Hayden said. "They were introduced late in the game and are quite costly."

One House amendment, adding a decal to the plates spelling out the name of the county in which the plate is issued, would cost $317,000. The Senate is adamantly opposed to doing that, anyway.

Another House amendment to the 65 mph bill would allow people to drive up to 70 miles an hour and not have it count as a moving traffic violation on their driving records if they are arrested. They still could be fined at 66 mph on up, however.

"I oppose the grade period language added by the House for those motorists apprehended for exceeding the speed limit," Hayden said.

On pari-mutuel, which still was being deliberated Tuesday in a conference committee, Hayden said, "We need a balanced agreement on the taxation issue, one that will provide a fair opportunity for the establishment of both horse and dog racing."

He said he also is concerned about the length of licenses to be issued to nonprofit organizations to conduct the races. The Senate passed the bill with a 25-year length of license, but Hayden said he prefers a 15-year limit agreed upon by the conference committee.

Finally, Hayden wants the Legislature to endorse his proposal for adding 509 beds to the state correctional system at a cost of $7.65 million. The Joint Committee on State Building Construction endorsed the plan Tuesday.

On other matters, Hayden said:

— He is sending the legislative appropriations committees an amendment to his recommended budget adding about $9 million over this fiscal year and next to beef up the welfare medical assistance program, which has experienced a large caseload increase. It would add $3.7 million to the FY 1987 budget and $5.3 million to the FY 1988 budget.

— He still expects a bill repealing the state's prevailing wage law to pass the House before the session adjourns. He said Speaker Jim Braden told him three weeks ago he thought it would pass, but hasn't talked to him lately about it. Labor is fighting the repeal.

— He thinks Braden has done "a real, real good job" in his first term as speaker, considering there is an almost all new leadership in the House. "I don't know what speaker didn't have their toughest year in their very first year," said Hayden, who served as speaker in the 1983 through 1986 sessions. Braden has been criticized for disciplining a fellow Republican, Rep. Elizabeth Baker of Wichita, for not supporting a party line vote on school funding earlier this month.

K-Staters protest in nation's capital

By JEANNETTE O'CONNELL
Collegian Reporter

Four people from the K-State community were among the 75,000 who marched on the Capitol Saturday protesting President Ronald Reagan's policies in Central America and South Africa.

"It was really gratifying to see that many people concerned about U.S. foreign policy," said Francesca Royster, junior in English and march participant.

"The hundreds of different causes being represented were united on this issue," said Kirk Caraway, senior in political science and march participant.

Royster and Sally Gingerich, junior in political science, rode 26 hours on a bus to spend the weekend in Washington, D.C. Students from the University of Kansas also made the trip.

"By the end of the bus ride, there had developed a sense of community among the students," Royster said. Two others from K-State — Caraway and Ellen Baker, who is auditing classes at the University — went to the march by plane.

"Although there was a wide range of problems being represented, everyone had a very central theme," Caraway said. "The issue was the problem with the U.S. policy."

"It was the biggest event seen in a while, but it didn't even make the front page of most newspapers."

The media labeled the turnout of 75,000 people a failure because it fell short of the projected 100,000, he said.

"I think it did a lot of good even though it didn't get covered (by the media)," Caraway said. "(People in Congress) were there and they saw (the protest)."

Caraway said he found out about the event and decided to attend after receiving a packet sent by the organizers of the event. Packets were sent to groups like Students in Solidarity with Central America and some coverage was given by left-wing magazines.

The four funded the trip themselves. Others from K-State planned on attending, but didn't, Caraway said.

One of the highlights of the protest was a speech by actor Ed Asner, who called for all groups to rally together instead of pushing for their own interests. He also said patriotism isn't the same as blind obedience.

"(The protest) helped motivate me to get more involved in campus groups and to continue after school," Royster said. "There was an atmosphere of people with the same ideas. It gave me new ideas to bring back to those who may be sheltered at K-State."

"When (policies) start to affect the people, then they will realize and try to get involved," Caraway said.

The protest was a mobilization for peace and justice for Central America and South Africa, Royster said. It brought together different groups to voice their concerns about foreign policy.

Developer defends site of construction

By The Associated Press

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — The developer of an apartment complex that collapsed during construction, burying 28 workers, said Tuesday that the ground at the site was solid enough to support the building and that rock had to be blasted out.

A structural engineer said such blasting may have gone too deep.

"We dynamited for 30 days in rock to prepare the site," said William F. Lone, executive vice president of Delwood Development of Davie, Fla., developer of L'Ambiance Plaza.

"They had to drill through rock just to get dynamite into the ground," he said.

Lone's comments came in response to a review of building records on file at Bridgeport City Hall. Those records included structural design drawings for the 13-story building that called for the main foundation, called bottom footings, to be built on "undisturbed rock with a minimum bearing capacity of 14,000 pounds per square foot."

City records also included reports from Fairfield Testing Laboratory Inc., of Stamford, which described the ground at the site as "broken rock and earth in a loose state" and said the site should be "well compacted before placement of footings."

Frank Zamecnik, a structural engineer retained by The Associated Press to review the records, questioned whether broken rock and earth could support the weight cited in the design drawings.

On Tuesday, Zamecnik, a partner in the New Haven and Washington, D.C. firm of Siegel and Zamecnik Inc., said there was a possibility "they may have blasted the rock out too deep."

"They should have dropped the footing onto the rock that remained to make sure it was sitting on the rock," he said. "But the records indicated they were putting the footings on broken rock and earth mixture."

City, state and federal officials plan to meet with Mayor Thomas Bucci on Wednesday to coordinate various investigations into last Thursday's collapse.

Rescue workers have recovered 17 bodies from the wreckage. Eleven men remain missing.

"It's possible it could be various factors that contributed, a combination of several things," said Dan Cuoco, a structural engineer with the Thornton-Tomasetti Professional Corp. of New York, which has been hired by the city to investigate.

Cuoco said he expected the investigation to last weeks, even months.

The investigations are expected to center on the soil conditions, the complicated construction process used on the project and other factors such as weather conditions during the pouring of the building's concrete slab floors.

The developer said speculation in to the cause of the tragedy was making it harder for the families of the victims.

K-State Singers
A contemporary look at music
Thursday, April 30; Saturday, May 2
Tickets from McCain
Box Office, 532-6428
Noon to 5 p.m. Public $5
Students & Seniors $3

SPRING FLING SALE
Taco Dinner
$1.77 reg. $2.25
Sancho or Burrito
88¢ reg. $1.30
Sun., Apr. 26-Sat., May 2

TACO HUT
Open 11 a.m.-11 p.m.
Sun., Mon. Wed. & Thurs.
11 a.m.-Midnight
Fri. & Sat.
Closed Tuesday
2809 Clafflin 539-2091

DONUT LOVERS DOZEN

Carol Lee Donuts
FirstBank Center
Corner of Denison & Clafflin
Open 24 Hours
776-7529

Visit our NEW Location South of the KSU campus:
1443 Anderson 539-6219
M-Th 6 a.m.-Midnight,
F & S till 2 a.m.
Closed Sunday

1/2 Dozen Donuts 99¢ Offer good thru 5/13/87 (with coupon) not good on deliveries	1/2 Dozen Donuts 99¢ Offer good thru 5/13/87 (with coupon) not good on deliveries	1 Dozen Donuts $1.79 Offer good thru 5/13/87 (with coupon) not good on deliveries
---	---	--

The JEAN STATION

501 Levi's
QUALITY NEVER GOES OUT OF STYLE
$16.88
Prewashed Levi's
Hours: 10-6 M-Sat., 10-8:30 Thurs., 1-5 Sun. Aggieville, Manhattan

HOLIDAY STYLE

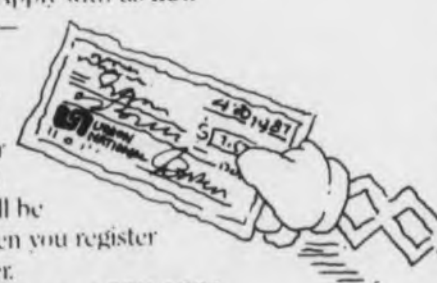

THE DIAMOND DIFFERENCE
Choosing where to buy your diamond is as important as choosing the actual stone. Familiarize yourself with the Holiday Jewelers' difference and you'll see why that is the only choice to make.

QUALITY Our diamonds are expertly graded. We will give you a complete analytical appraisal of your diamond and show you why your diamond is unique. FINANCING At Holiday Jewelers you receive interest free financing for six months with a 20% down payment. PRICE Our diamonds are competitively priced every day. We don't have to entice you with percentage-off sales. TRADE-IN POLICY We accept diamonds in trade and will allow the full retail price if you are trading for a diamond of greater value. CONFIDENCE Our Diamond Protection Plan protects you against loss or damage for one year. Our experts will inspect your mounting and clean your diamonds at no extra charge. If you buy your diamond here we will do everything necessary to maintain your diamond in its setting for five years at no charge. STORE HOURS 9:30-5:30 Monday-Saturday, 9:30-8 Thursday.

DANENBERG'S Holiday JEWELERS
425 POYNITZ MANHATTAN 913-776-7821

We'd like to HAND it to you for staying in college.

Union National Bank & Trust is proud of the students that stay in college. We know that getting an education can be a rough financial road. We'd like to help. Apply with us now for a student loan — we'll make sure your application is processed quickly and smoothly. Your check from Union National Bank will be waiting for you when you register for the fall semester. Contact Mike Andersen at 537-1234. Union National Bank would like to give you a hand.

Union National Bank & Trust Co.
MAIN BANK: 8th & Poyntz • WEST BANK: Westloop Shopping Center
DRIVE-THROUGH BANK: 8th & Houston • PHONE 913-537-1234
Insured by the financially sound, FDIC.

At best, indictments of sexism relative

Recently, a couple of letters to the editor appeared that I thought deserved comment. Both dealt with comic strips and sexism. One writer claimed the Collegian comics are sexist because a large majority of their characters are males. She finished by suggesting the Collegian choose to print non-sexist strips.

The other writer argued that most cartoonists are males and that because they write about their own lives, most of their characters are also males. His position rested on the notion that comics are "innocent entertainment," and not meant to "make you sit back and analyze" them like "some illegal activity."

What both would probably agree on is comic strips, like most forms of "innocent entertainment," are usually presented through the eyes of males. Whether this constitutes sexism or has anything to do with the fact that a 200-year-old constitutional "democracy" has allowed women to vote for only 67 years or even if it has anything to do with the fact that every 18 seconds a woman is beaten, I'm not prepared to say.

What I did think was interesting about the two letters was their disagreement on whether one should analyze comic strips and other forms of "innocent entertainment" as something other than just "innocent entertainment." For some years now, feminists have argued that "entertainment" promoting sexist attitudes is not so "innocent."

Although much of this debate centers around pornographic literature, feminists have cited any number of other forms of entertainment they say also promote sexism or degrading attitudes toward women. This sort of activism, whether it is a plea for city councils to ban pornographic magazines or for newspapers to reconsider which comic

SCOTT MILLER
Collegian
Columnist

strips they choose to print, has led some critics to charge feminists with censorship.

What is surprising is that the common counter-argument, the one made by the second writer, is not also seen as advocating a form of censorship. We seem to have a problem when someone tells us not to read or view certain works, but we remain unbothered when someone tells us how we must read or view a work.

To insist "Doodlesberry" is only entertainment and should only be read as such, strikes me as precisely the sort of dogmatic extremism of which feminists are often accused. What makes this even more ironic is that those who insist cartoons or pornographic magazines are only entertainment are often the same people claiming to protect freedom — you can read anything you want, but only if you read it their way.

Of course, this issue concerns more than just how we read "Peanuts." In fact, it has spawned a perennial debate in departments of literature and one that should enter into schools of all levels, as well as homes. It centers around whether an author's intent (insofar as we can really know what an author's intent was) needs to be consistent with the meaning we get from a text.

And nowhere is this debate more interesting than when it concerns supposedly "innocent" entertainment. For example, you might give a 10-year-old a copy of "Huckleberry Finn" for entertainment, but that doesn't mean you should leave him or her to draw his or her own conclusions about racism. In fact, after reading the book and identifying with the main character, a child might reach any number of conclusions about race relations.

He or she might decide that given the book's historical context, Huck's decision to help a runaway slave makes him an acceptable role model. On the other hand, by failing to understand changes in societal attitudes that have taken place since the book was written, a child might decide to repeat some of the racial slurs he or she finds in Huck's vocabulary.

The point is, there are any number of meanings in a book, just as there are any number of meanings in "Bloom County." A comic strip or cartoon — the "Flintstones" for example — might make any number of significant statements about the society it portrays — statements about gender roles, class and race relations, human motivation and political economy. It is not only restricted to what is usually meant by the term "entertainment."

In fact, that "entertainment" does not include a close analysis of a work is itself a curious notion. We are only entertained by a work insofar as we understand it. If you don't believe this, try being entertained by a Chinese text, and if you don't understand Chinese, all the better for entertainment's sake.

Examining a comic strip, or any other type of "entertainment," for assumptions about social questions is just another way of understanding a work, and thus being entertained by it. Those who argue that comics are not "meant" to be analyzed try to prove their point by refusing to do so. This strikes me as similar to arguing about a book one has not read.

Of course, finding sexist attitudes in a comic strip does not always mean the strip must be banned — in a society that produces the likes of the Miss America Pageant, that would hardly seem possible. But that doesn't mean we should not at least be aware of the stereotypical attitudes some forms of "innocent entertainment" rely on to "entertain" us.

Doing so might even make us question our own notions of what constitutes "entertainment." And that, I would argue as I thumb through the TV listings, could only have positive results.

Man should face trial as an adult in murder

The brutal stabbing of a Manhattan taxi driver has raised the issue of when a minor may be tried as a legal adult.

Jerry Thomas O'Dell turned 18 March 25, but at the time of the Jan. 4 stabbing of Chuck Primm, he was 17.

He and Stephan Stratton, 18, allegedly stabbed Primm, 920 Fremont St., more than 25 times in the chest and neck. The attack was premeditated, prosecutors said. Primm died from the injuries last Friday.

O'Dell and Stratton were charged in March with aggravated kidnapping, aggravated robbery and conspiracy to commit murder in the first degree and attempted murder in the first degree.

Thursday, Geary County District Court amended the charges against O'Dell of conspiracy to commit murder in the first degree and attempted murder in the first degree to felony murder.

The court will hold a hearing May 11 to certify whether O'Dell should be tried as an adult.

According to Kansas statutes, the court must consider all of the following factors when deciding whether a juvenile offender should be tried as an adult:

- seriousness of the offense;
- whether the act was committed in an aggressive, violent, premeditated or willful manner;
- number of alleged offenses pending against the respondent;
- respondent's previous history of antisocial behavior and patterns of physical violence;
- maturity or sophistication of the respondent;
- whether rehabilitation of the respondent before the court's length of jurisdiction concludes is possible based on the availability of facilities; and
- whether the interests of the community are better served by criminal prosecution.

In addition, the statute says the insufficiency of evidence pertaining to any one or more of the factors shall not in and of itself determine the issue.

Although the personal history of O'Dell is not yet known, the known facts of the case and the nature of the crime are sufficient evidence to certify that O'Dell should be prosecuted as an adult.

UAB sign crackdown presents new dangers

Although keeping the campus trash-free is important, the University Activities Board's crackdown on notices not posted in designated areas is not the way to go about it.

The Literature and Notice Regulations state that without the approval of the general manager of University Physical Facilities, nothing can be posted on campus except on bulletin boards.

For whom would the general manager make exceptions and on what could he base that judgment? Size of the poster or content of its message?

For those groups unable to procure special approval, this rule would exclude many locations of prime visibility where posters are often displayed — most notably, the glass doors and windows of Eisenhower and Denison halls.

The reasoning behind stricter enforcement of the regulations is to minimize required custodial duties, but the time saved by custodians who no longer have to peel scraps of tape off the wall probably is not worth the sacrifice that would have to be made.

The fact remains that groups often don't use bulletin boards exclusively when posting notices about events of interest to students and faculty because they go unnoticed there.

If the University is going to strictly enforce the rule, more bulletin board space would have to be created to accommodate the mass of posters currently hanging in other places.

The scary part is with this rule to hide behind, University officials would have an excuse to tear down any poster or notice they find offensive or simply disagreeable.

At a University where freedom of expression is taught, it must also be practiced.

Letters

Man sans brain

Editor,
Man sans brain/What could have been the cause?

Did we expect too much/Or was it just strain?

I want to go back/Back to the days of our blind trust.

Those wonderful days/Of a Teflon hero who would not rust.

Why can't we return/To a rose garden diplomacy?

Dispensing more medals than soldiers/In the Grenada controversy.

The trickle-down theory/No one put up a fuss.

The rich got richer/At the expense of the populous.

I want to go back/To the Contras of Nicaragua.

Those righteous freedom fighters/Using our planes to smuggle cocaine and marijuana.

Our founding fathers/They so exemplify. Killing women and children/With the weapons we buy.

Those wonderful days of disinformation/His corrupt buddies who always got confirmation.

I want to return/I want to go back. To the days when his lies/were taken as fact.

I don't know what happened/I'm still disillusioned.

At what's going to happen/To the state of the union.

It was so fun to be uninformed/Living day by day without a worry.

But who's in control?/The point's still quite blurry.

I don't know my role/What will it be?

Must I now seek out news/Instead of reruns on TV?

Man sans brain.

Did he ever have one/Or was it just a game?

What's going to happen/Can it ever be the same?

It's just got to occur/I have every confidence

Of my old Ronald Reagan/returning in all his incompetence.

David Hawley
senior in journalism
and mass communications

Porn untruths

Editor,
Re: Jerry Anderson's guest column "Pornography fears unwarranted" in the April 16 Collegian. The selected "facts" Anderson gives us do not tell the whole story.

First, it should be recognized that pornography and erotica are not the same thing, although he uses these terms interchangeably. Erotica means "of or pertaining to passionate love or sexual desire." Erotica is not the issue here. Erotica involves positive images, although its content may be sexually explicit. If anything, erotica may in fact be good for young people's moral character if it teaches them that sexual activity is healthy and wholesome in the proper setting with equal participation and enjoyment of both partners, not as something members of one sex do to members of the other sex.

Pornography, on the other hand, comes from the Greek "porne," meaning prostitute, and probably from "pernemi," which means to sell, as captives. Pornography is frequently violent and is always degrading. Although the differences between pornography and erotica may be hard to identify in some cases, the violence in pornography is the primary concern of feminists who oppose its use.

Research by Edward Donnerstein, Neil Malamuth and others shows that exposure to sexually violent stimuli increases men's callous attitudes toward women (not something I would look for in a man!) It also leads to greater acceptance of rape myths; acceptance has been shown to affect attitudes so that individuals tend to deny or reduce the perceived injury to victims of sexual assault, or to blame the victims for the assault. These attitudes undoubtedly affect an individual's reactions toward victims so that many women are indirectly harmed by pornography. And these are your friends, sisters, mothers and daughters, since the figures tell us that at least one in four women will be the victim of rape or sexual assault sometime in her life!

Finally, to say the porn industry poses no threat to the well-being of the children or adults of America, can you possibly believe that no harm is caused to the children used in "kiddie" porn, which is clearly against the law already but continues to be sold? This is without considering the women who are forced into participation in violent pornography where they may be tied up, beaten and raped in front of the camera for someone else's "harmless" enjoyment.

Censorship may not be the answer to the problem of pornography, but to assume that pornography is not a problem or threat to American citizens is to assume that women are indeed second-class citizens whose rights are not worthy of consideration.

Katherine W. Parker
Acting Director,
Women's Resource Center

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. All letters must be typewritten or neatly printed and signed by the author and should not exceed 300 words. The author's major, classification or other identification and phone number must be included. The Collegian reserves the right to edit letters for style and spatial considerations, and to withhold letters from publications.

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR
Jonie Trued
MANAGING EDITOR
Sue Dawson
NEWS EDITOR
Erin Eicher

EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
Deron Johnson
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson
ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinet

EDITORIAL BOARD: Susan Baird, Kirk Caraway, Sue Dawson, Jim Dietz, Erin Eicher, Judy Goldberg, Ron Honig, Pat Hund, Deron Johnson, Sarah Kessinger, Judy Lundstrom, Margaret May, Scott Miller, Andy Nelson, Patti Paxson, Julie Reynolds, Chris Stewart, Teresa Temme, Jonie Trued. Unsigned editorials represent the majority opinion of the editorial board.

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291-620) is published by Student Publications, Inc., Kansas State University, daily except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-4655. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Panel debates abortion issue; choice difficult, speaker says

By The Collegian Staff

Stressing the difficulty of deciding whether or not to support abortion, Dr. Rudy Haun said he didn't expect those attending a forum on abortion to change their position.

Haun, an obstetrician specializing in gynecology and infertility at The St. Mary Hospital, 1823 College Ave., and four panelists discussed abortion at a Tuesday evening forum in the Union Little Theatre.

Haun said today's society was concerned about self-induced abortions and the difficulty of finding a solution that would please both sides.

While studying medicine, Haun said, he chose to learn the procedure to help him understand his work.

"I chose to participate, basically, to develop the skills that were involved with that technique because those were skills that were used in other areas of my profession," he said.

Gail Hamilton, lobbyist for the National Organization for Women, described the issue's history, including Roe vs. Wade, the landmark Supreme Court decision that the 14th Amendment's description of a person did not include an unborn child.

"The ruling we have today is the result of people seeing the tragic consequences of unwanted pregnancies, illegal back-alley abortions and abused children," Hamilton said.

The Rev. David DeShazo, minister at Westview Community Church, 3001 Fort Riley Blvd., said celibacy was one alternative to having an abortion.

"The easier way out of having an abortion or not is to not put yourself in that position in the first place," he said.

Panelists advocating the pro-life position were DeShazo and Glenda Gould, director of Dream House Inc., while Hamilton and the Rev. Rod Saunders, campus director of Ecumenical Church Ministries Inc., 1021 Denison, represented the pro-choice position.

Haun provided the medical perspective on the issue, and Leigh Browning, graduate student in speech and news director for KQLA radio station, was the forum's moderator.

The forum was sponsored by the Union Program Council.

Retiring dean gives 'last lecture'

By KRISTI BARANCIK
Collegian Reporter

In order for human beings to function in society, the need for improved mathematical education is imperative, said William Stamey, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Stamey spoke at the final segment of the Last Lecture Series Tuesday evening in Union Forum Hall.

"The mathematically deprived find doors to opportunities closed," Stamey said. "Employers can find plenty of people who can punch keys," but not as many who can solve problems.

"We must not underestimate the difficulties of improving mathematical education," he said. Stamey said there is a need for quality educators and improved mathematics programs with a special emphasis in instruction of minorities and women.

"Mathematical competence is a single, inherited trait," Stamey said, but mathematical understanding is acquired. In the past, women were discouraged from excelling in mathematics because people believed it was a male-oriented subject, he said.

"No one should prejudice anyone's ability to use mathematics," Stamey said. "We all belong to groups which can use mathematics at some level."

"All of us who have made education our profession have a goal of trying to free people from the bonds of ignorance. I want to proclaim the freedom which accompanies learning."

Mathematical deficiencies are not necessarily apparent in the computational skills of students but rather in their ability to use those skills to solve mathematical problems, Stamey said.

"The quality of dedication and the concentration of thought processes are determinants of the outcome," he said. "We can encourage children to enjoy working with numbers. We can help them appreciate that understanding does not come instantaneously but only after careful thought and contemplation."

Many professors are experiencing "Frustrated Mathematics Professors Syndrome" due to the poor preparation many students have upon entering college-level courses, Stamey said.

Personnel candidate supports teamwork, stresses independence

By The Collegian Staff

Teamwork and giving employees a sense of independence are the keys to a successfully run operation, said Jerre Fercho, final candidate for director of Personnel Services.

Fercho spoke at an open interview session Tuesday morning in Union 213.

"Because we take the team approach at North Dakota State University, we do a good job," said Fercho, director of personnel at North Dakota State University, Fargo.

Fercho said he believes the personnel director should take an active role within an institution and be a working supervisor.

"I am a people-oriented person," he said. "I spend more time on campus talking to people than I do in the office."

Due to the small staff, Fercho said, the personnel services department at NDSU has not been able to maximize their employee programs in training and development, a retirement program and an employee recognition program. Fercho said he would like to maximize the comparable programs K-State has.

In addition, Fercho said he can help implement the computerized human resource center that K-State is hoping to bring to Personnel Services because he worked with one at NDSU.

The center is a computer database system that eliminates some of the paper work such as making the payroll or keeping a file of the employees.

When dealing with employee grievances, Fercho said, employees and the supervisor should work together.

"When dealing with employee problems, I wear two hats," he said. "On one hat I am the personnel director, so I deal with management. On the other hat I communicate with the employees."

Census discloses U.S. trends

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A new Census Bureau profile shows America's population in a period of growth and change, but along patterns that have become familiar in recent years — more births, growth in the South and West, regular migration, fewer farmers and more divorces.

The capsule look at the nation came Tuesday with release of the bureau's 11th annual Population Profile of the United States.

The profile, updated to 1984-85 statistics, summarizes a variety of information published earlier in many lengthy studies by the bureau. It highlights the most current statistical information on most major population topics.

The nation's population, for example, was estimated at 240,468,000, as of Jan. 1, 1986, including 542,000 members of the armed forces stationed overseas. That population total was up 2.2 million from a year earlier and 13.4 million more people than were counted in the 1980 national census.

The growth included some 3,750,000 births during 1985, continuing the steady increase in births that has been occurring during recent years — although it remains well below the 4.3 million babies born in 1957, the peak of the Baby Boom.

Those Baby Boomers are the source of this birth increase simply because there are so many women in the most common childbearing ages.

The number of deaths was up, totaling a record 2,083,000, largely due to the increased size and age of the population, the profile said.

Even so, life expectancy at birth has increased to 74.7 years for Americans, the report said, adding about five years to the expectations of folks born a generation earlier.

Other highlights of the new Population Profile include:

—About 26 percent of the population growth in 1985 was due to immigration, which totaled 577,000.

—The population is expected to total about 268 million in the year 2000, although it could be as high as 281 million or as low as 256 million.

—About 39 percent of women who had a baby between July 1984 and June 1985, said it was their first child. About 18 percent of the mothers in this period were unmarried. Nearly half of the new mothers — 48 percent — were in the workforce.

—The South and West accounted for 91.4 percent of the nation's population growth in 1980-85. During that time population losses occurred in the District of Columbia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Iowa and West Virginia.

—Metropolitan areas grew faster than rural areas in this decade. Forty-five percent of all Americans now reside in suburbs.

BALLARD'S SPORTING GOODS COMPETITIVE EDGE! SOFTBALL & BASEBALL HEADQUARTERS

For all your equipment needs: Bats, Balls, Gloves, Bases, Bage, Scorebooks, Rule Books, Umpire Equipment, Catchers Equipment, Bat Grips, Pine Tar, Glove Oil, Batter's Gloves, Batter's Helmets, Sliding Pads.

Ballard's

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help.

Comprehensive Health can help with free, confidential pregnancy testing and safe, affordable abortion services by qualified physicians. We offer birth control, gyn exams and treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. No age requirement. We accept insurance, as well as VISA and MasterCard. A Kansas licensed facility. Comprehensive Health has been providing quality health care to women since 1974.

Comprehensive Health
Associates

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Row)
Overland Park, Kansas

For information and appointments

(913) 345-1400

It's been great fun, but the time has now come . . .

... Kappa Delta Seniors
1987!!!

K-State Players presents

Still Alive and Well
&
Living on Planet Earth

Written & Performed by
Joel Climenhaga
May 1 & 2
Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.
Call 532-6398

Mon.-Fri. 12-5

PASSPORT PHOTOS SPECIAL!

$1.00 OFF

with this coupon
OFFICIAL PASSPORT PHOTOS
2 color photos/3 minute service.
Expires Tues. March 10

kinko's

Great copies. Great people.

1110 Laramie
Aggieville
Mon.-Thurs. 7:30 a.m.-Midnight
Fri. 7:30 a.m.-7 p.m.
Sat. 9 a.m.-5 p.m., Sun. 10 a.m.-Midnight

Batter's Up . . .

Get a full swing into the baseball season with a 5 oz. sundae in a miniature baseball helmet.

89¢ collect all 26 teams

1015 N. 3rd
Manhattan

12th & Moro
Aggieville

Reg. U.S. Pat. Off. Am. DQ Corp. Copyright 1974 All DQ Corp.

Dairy Queen

brazier.

Will your next Apartment be... a Dump or a Dream?

Make Anderson Place "Your Place" next fall

New, nice and near. Anderson Place. Living room, dining room, two bedrooms, kitchen with dishwasher and disposal, bath and on site laundry. Furnished or unfurnished. Anderson Place... just west on Anderson from Denison... right next to campus so you can even grab some extra Z's before your first class. Up the street from Aggieville... on the way to Westloop. Quality construction with special sound walls. Two buildings only - eighteen units each. So hurry.

Leasing dates: June 1, July 1 or August 1
See us for leasing information now.

Chris Curtin
Realtors

1600 Poyntz • Manhattan, Kansas 66502
Phone (913) 776-1222

History impressive

Scholar analyzes American military

By RITA GRAVES
Collegian Reporter

American military history is relatively new but impressive, said Wu Chunqiu, a Chinese scholar from the Republic of China.

Wu, research fellow and professor at the Academy of Military Science in Beijing, spoke on American military history from a Chinese perspective Tuesday night in Union 207.

"American military is new compared to China and other European and Asian nations," said Wu, who has been studying in the United States for three months.

While the Chinese military began about 4,000 years ago, the American military began 380 years ago, Wu said.

"Records show a numerous amount of world-famous wars fought by the United States, including several revolutionary wars," he said.

Wu said according to Chinese historians, the longest war fought by the United States was against the American Indians, which lasted 250 years. But Americans recognize the Vietnam War as the longest-running conflict, he said.

"These wars have helped maintain stability in the U.S.," he said.

Wu said American military history is impressive because the military went from using Springfield rifles to nuclear weapons.

"It is impressive because these wars are full of experience and lessons," he said. "American military is impressive because it has produced numerous works of history."

Chinese historians are becoming more interested in the American military, Wu said, adding that he has included writings on several American wars in the Chinese encyclopedia. Subjects included the War of Independence, the War of 1812, the Mexican War, the Civil War and the Spanish-American War.

Wu said the most significant part of American military history was World War II.

"It was a difficult and remarkable strategic decision," he said.

Wu said the United States' decision to fight in Europe first and deal with Japan later as opposed to tackling both war fronts congruently was an example of America's national strategy.

"Before World War II, contributions to the art of war were not in strategy but in technology and tactics," he said.

"The United States becomes the leader in strategic military thinking after World War II," Wu said.

Following World War II, he said, the United States tried to accomplish the difficult task of unifying the different branches of the armed forces.

Small businesses profit from student strategies

By JONI MANLEY
Collegian Reporter

Small business operators in need of a business strategy can turn to University students for help.

Students in the Business Strategy class have the opportunity to work with clients who are developing small businesses.

In the class, students are taught how to develop business strategies. The students meet with clients, gather information from them, conduct research and recommend strategies for the businesses to use.

The students also develop a business plan and file a report of business suggestions they feel will help the business client, said Fred Rice, director of the Small Business Development Center. The students are required to present their findings and suggestions to the rest of the class and to the client.

At the beginning of the semester, the students break into teams and after looking at individual business briefs each team chooses a business they feel they would like to work with, Rice said.

One of the 15 groups has been working with Lormak Farms, Concordia, that is currently producing and marketing whole wheat flour, cracked wheat hot cereal, and whole wheat buttermilk pancake mix. The wheat for these products is organically grown in north central Kansas.

This group of students chose to help Loren Swenson and Mac

McGaughey, develop a strategy for their business.

"The two men have been looking for ways to sell their product to the public," he said.

The group has made several suggestions to help them improve their selling strategy to the general public, Rice said.

Some of the suggestions include: redo the packaging; advertise to promote the product; expand the product line making more products out of the wheat; use private labeling to be sold through restaurants, and sell more through grocery warehouses, Rice said.

This type of program helps students develop their own expertise in just a semester, he said.

The class provides the clients with expert help and the students with the experience of a real business situation, Rice said.

Rice works for businesses in a 15-county area in the north central part of the state.

The businesses Rice and the students work with range from 125 employees dealing with several millions of dollars in sales to one-person operations. There are many different types of businesses to choose from, he said.

Rice also helps clients on a one-to-one basis and if the client needs more help than he can provide, Rice presents it to his class at the first of the semester for the students to do as a project.

Rice said he "sees it as a model for other businesses in the area."

TV news slipping, critics say

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The proud heritage of Edward R. Murrow is being squandered by television networks and affiliates which have turned their public trust into "a midway of junk entertainment" in pursuit of profit, critics told a House subcommittee Tuesday.

The critics, including highly respected former news executives, said they feared that the wave of mergers, takeovers and consolidations engulfing the broadcast industry has concentrated authority in the hands of people with little concern for television's unique role.

"Sadly, I must tell you that the television networks of which I was once a part are mercantile shadows of what they once were," said former CBS News President Fred W. Friendly, who worked with the legendary Murrow in radio and the early days of television.

"Those in Congress, those in the FCC and people like myself who stand idly by are as guilty as the Wall Street traders who have changed something once licensed 'in the public interest, convenience and necessity' into a midway of junk entertainment and headline service news," Friendly said.

"It breaks my heart," he added. The testimony came as the House Energy and Commerce telecommunications subcommittee began three days of hearings on the status of network television.

All three networks have changed hands or been targeted for takeover since 1985. General Electric bought NBC for $6.3 billion, while ABC was bought by Capital Cities Communications for $3.5 billion. CBS fought off a hostile takeover by Ted Turner but its management has been in turmoil since.

Rep. Edward J. Markey, D-Mass., the subcommittee's chairman, said the inquiry into the effects of those takeovers was justified by the unique national bond forged between the networks and the American people in times of triumph and tragedy.

"They have replaced the town square and the community center as the places where the American family gathered for news and information," he said.

But the networks are under new pressures — from the competitive pressure of cable and independents, to the internal pressure of affiliates to the financial pressure of the stock market — and it remains to be seen whether their commitment to public affairs can survive those pressures.

And, the witnesses noted, the Reagan administration's appointees to the Federal Communications Commission have moved toward deregulating television, ending the requirement that a commitment to public affairs be demonstrated as a condition for getting licensed.

"They sanctified greed," said media critic Ben Bagdikian, dean of the graduate school of journalism at the University of California at Berkeley.

The heads of the three network news divisions are scheduled to testify Wednesday, and their corporate chairmen on Thursday.

In the opening session, their only defender was former NBC Chairman Julian Goodman, who urged lawmakers to give the networks a chance.

"It's hard for me to believe that, as the efficient and practical businessmen I know they consider themselves to be, they would place in jeopardy one of the most valuable assets of their new corporation — the trust of the American people," Goodman said.

Goodman and Friendly also said part of the problem was the network affiliate stations, who are reluctant to yield air time for network public affairs broadcasting because it means giving up advertising revenues.

PREGNANT?
NEED HELP?For confidential
help, call

Birthright
FREE Pregnancy Tests
103 S. Fourth 537-9180

OUR NEIGHBORHOOD
Hardees
DELIVERY SERVICE
537-2526

Enjoy smooth, creamy
Frozen Yogurt
that tastes like Ice Cream
but with 80% less fat!
—FREE SAMPLES—
I Can't Believe It's
YOGURT!
Frozen Yogurt Stores
OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily
Noon-11 p.m. Sundays
Neotus Towers—Aggieville

HUNGRY?

Last Bake Sale of the semester!

- ★Beer-Rye Bread
- ★Raisin Bread
- ★Monster Cookies
- ★Chocolate Chip Cookies

Shellenberger 105

Wed., April 29

3:30-5:30 p.m.
(or while goods last)

Sponsored by Bakery Science Club

Moonlight Sale
THURSDAY ONLY
NOON-9 p.m.
Quantities limited today only!

Tanks from $3.99	Shorts from $5.99
Sundresses from $14.99	Swimwear from $9.99

10% OFF ALL REGULAR SPRING/SUMMER MDSE.
THURSDAY ONLY
NOON-9 p.m.

1215 Moro Aggieville
carousel

GRADUATE
with STYLE
Holiday Inn®
Graduation Day Buffet
11 a.m. to 3 p.m.
Regency Ballroom
Ideal for groups of 6 or more

Adults $7.95
Senior Citizens $6.95
Children 25¢ per year

FREE Gift For Each Graduate Accompanied By Diploma

Cocktails and Wine Available to Burgundys Members and Reciprocals

Reservations Requested
539-5315

KANSAS BEEF COOK-OFF

Eight finalists baked, broiled, fried and braised their way to the top at the Kansas Beef Cook-Off Monday afternoon in Justin Hall.

Cooks from across the state submitted recipes for the annual cook-off to represent Kansas at the national cook-off in September in Sun Valley, Idaho.

About 90 recipes were submitted and reviewed by the National Livestock and Meat Board. Eight finalists were chosen to prepare their recipes before a panel of five judges.

The cook-off is sponsored by the Kansas Cattlewomen and Kansas Beef Council as part of the promotion for beef.

"The cook-off is promotional. We want to get more people using beef in different ways," said Renee Wassenberg, Kansas Beef Council manager.

"There has been an increase in consumer interest in the cost, production and taste of beef," said Jane Bowers, professor in foods and nutrition. "There has also been an increasing interest in convenience, with women working out of the home and the nutritional value."

"There has been an increasing interest in ethnic and cultural foods from other countries also."

To be eligible for the contest, beef recipes must contain a minimum of 1 pound of beef and a maximum of 5 pounds. Meat used must be exclusively beef, and preparation and cooking time must not exceed four hours.

Cynthia Falk, Onaga, won the cook-off and will represent Kansas at the nationals. A plaque and cash prize of $200 were awarded to her for her Spinach Ricotta Rounds recipe.

Falk is a K-State graduate in home economics and mother of four children.

"I created the recipe for the Kansas Beef Cook-Off," she said. "I have entered 25 to 30 contests. It's a hobby with me."

"This is the first time I entered the Beef Cook-Off. I didn't think I could win."

"I cook when I have some spare time. My kids come first," she said. "They liked this recipe."

Falk wanted to come up with a recipe that incorporated round steak in a way other than frying or baking.

"I enjoy cooking and traveling. I've been to three national cook-offs and have won cash, prizes and trips," she said.

"I enjoy the cook-offs, (but) it's stressful, especially when they announce the winners," she said. "I thought there were a lot of good recipes."

Barclay Brumley, a Manhattan resident and first runner-up with her Mexican Taco Pie, said entering contests is also one of her hobbies.

"I do it in my spare time and do things a little different each time," Brumley said. Brumley's Mexican Taco Pie contains 1 pound of ground beef.

Brumley said she makes up her recipes as she goes along, substituting ingredients she does not have.

Charlotte Altenbernd, a Lawrence resident, won second runner-up with her recipe for making Beef Roast Roma with a 3-pound chuck pot roast.

"I put (the recipe) together myself and have tried it for the family for about a year," Altenbernd said. "It's a hobby; it's fun, and I enjoy cooking."

Mary King, a Concordia resident, was third runner-up with her Oriental Pot Roast.

"My husband likes Chinese food. I tried to create something with an oriental flavor," King said. "This was something I made up just for this contest."

"I do a lot of recipe-creating for contests. It's a full-time hobby," she said. "I've been doing it for six years."

The other contestants were Cheris Bass of Bonner Springs; Debra Morris of Garden City; Sherri Mears Ward of Lenexa; and Kathryn D. Stone of Junction City.

Judges tasted and discussed each recipe in the final process of determining the winner.

Appearance, taste, ease of preparation and originality were the criteria for determining which recipe utilized beef in the best way.

The beef should not be overdone or underdone, and a balanced blend of ingredients were taken into account by the judges.

"We did our scoring and discussed each recipe. It's the safest way," said Betty Lou Denton, rural living editor, Kansas Farmer magazine.

"The recipe should be one that families will try and use again."

Other judges were Alice Ham, Glenna Wilson, Mary Hollingsworth, professionals from the K-State sensory analysis center. Merle Bird, food editor, Topeka Capital Journal was head judge.

"As a judge you have to defend your principles as to why you think the recipe will represent Kansas at the nationals," Bird said.

The recipes were tested individually, and not against each other, Bird said.

"We chose something that will be a good use for beef," he said.

PRIZE-WINNING RECIPE

SPINACH RICOTTA ROUNDS

1½ pounds boneless round steak, half-inch thickness
¾ cup ricotta cheese
¼ teaspoon each: garlic salt, onion salt and black pepper
2 tablespoons grated parmesan cheese
1½ cup fresh spinach, chopped
½ cup grated carrots
2 tablespoons oil
1 8-ounce can pizza sauce
1 tablespoon wheat germ
1 4-ounce can mushrooms, pieces and stems pitted ripe olives

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. With meat mallet, pound each side to flatten steak; remove fat around edges. Lay meat to form a rectangle. Spread on ricotta cheese; sprinkle evenly with garlic and onion salt, pepper, parmesan cheese, spinach and carrots. Roll up, starting at narrow side, and tie in four places with cord. Heat oil in skillet and brown roll. Place roll in 8½ inch by 5 inch bread pan. Mix together sauce, wheat germ and mushrooms, and pour sauce over meat. Cover with foil. Bake 1½ hours or until tender. Lift meat out of sauce. Remove cords and slice into six equal pieces. Garnish with olives and serve sauce with steak rounds.

Cooks from across Kansas submitted beef recipes at the annual cook-off with hopes of representing the state in national competition. After judging the beef dishes, families of the cook-off participants tasted the entries.

Preparation time: one-half hour.
Cooking time: 1½ hours. Makes 6 servings.

OTHER BEEF RECIPES

FAJITAS

1 pound beef top round steak, cut ½-inch thick juice of 1-2 limes (½ cup juice)
1-1½ teaspoons garlic salt
½ teaspoon pepper
4 flour tortillas, warmed (6-inch diameter)

1 cup each: shredded lettuce and chopped tomato

¼ cup each: sliced green onions and shredded cheddar cheese

8 teaspoons dairy sour cream

Trim excess fat from steak. Pound steak in plastic bag; sprinkle both sides of steak with lime juice, garlic salt and pepper. Tie bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 6-8 hours. Drain marinade; discard. Broil steak over medium-hot coals 2-3 minutes on each side. Carve across the grain into thin slices. To serve, place an equal amount of lettuce, tomato, beef strips, onions, cheese and sour cream on each tortilla. 4 servings.

Steak may also be panbroiled in a heavy non-stick pan over medium-high heat 5-7 minutes, turning occasionally.

Recipe taken from "What Can You Expect For 300 Calories?" published by The Beef Industry Council.

GIANT BURGER

2 pounds lean ground beef
¼ cup catsup
3 tablespoons spicy brown mustard
1½ teaspoon pepper
1 medium onion, thinly sliced, separated into rings
2 ounces Swiss cheese, cut into ½-inch strips
1 large tomato, thinly sliced

Giant Bun (see recipe below)

Combine ground beef, catsup, mustard and pepper, mixing lightly but thoroughly. Line a 9-inch round baking pan with plastic wrap or aluminum foil; shape beef mixture into a large patty, pressing lightly but firmly. Remove patty. Place burger directly over medium-high coals. Place cover on cooker and broil 7 minutes. To turn, slide a flat baking sheet under burger. Hold a flat plate over burger; flip over and carefully slide uncooked side back onto grid and continue broiling, covered, 7 minutes or to doneness.

desired. Arrange onions and cheese on top of burger during last minute of cooking. Remove from grid with flat baking sheet. Toast cut sides of bun on grid 1 minute. Place burger on bottom half of bun; arrange tomato slices on top of cheese and cover with top of bun. Cut into wedges. 8 servings.

GIANT BUN

1 loaf honey cracked-wheat frozen bread dough
2 tablespoons butter, softened

Thaw bread dough as directed on package. Shape into round flat loaf to fit a greased 9-inch round baking pan; let rise in warm place until doubled in volume (approximately 4-6 hours). Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30-35 minutes. Cool. Slice loaf crosswise in half; spread cut sides with butter. Yield: one 9-inch bun.

Recipes taken from "American Beef Cookouts" published by Meat Board Test Kitchens & Beef Industry Council.

Stories by Susan Staggenborg
Photos by
John LaBarge

Debra King, Concordia, congratulates Cynthia Falk, Onaga, after Falk won the cook-off. She will represent Kansas in the national contest.

There is more to beef than 'meats' the eye

Beef today is offering consumers more than just a hamburger.

Not only is it lower in fat and cholesterol than ever before, it offers a great-tasting package of nutrients for its relatively low calorie cost.

Nutritionists recommend a minimum of two servings per day from the meat group to ensure good nutrition. Beef is a basic member of this group.

Beef is high in protein and contains all eight essential amino acids in the ideal proportions for good nutrition at a relatively low calorie content.

There are 25 grams of protein in a 3-ounce serving of cooked lean beef, amounting to 57 percent of the Recommended Dietary Allowance. This same serving contains 192 calories.

Beef is also an excellent source of dietary iron.

Iron deficiency among women is one of the most common dietary deficiencies in the United States today.

It is good to know that 40 percent of the iron in beef is "heme iron" — iron that is more usable by the body than iron found in other foods.

Beef is relatively low in cholesterol and saturated fats. The American Heart Association limits consumption of these fats to 300 milligrams; the cholesterol in a 3-ounce serving of beef is only one-fourth of this reduced amount.

The fat contained in beef is not all saturated fat — fat not readily absorbed by the body. Only 48 percent is saturated, and the remaining 52 percent is monosaturated and polyunsaturated, both readily absorbed by the body.

Beef contains significant amounts of several B-vitamins including riboflavin, which helps the body use energy and promotes healthy skin; niacin, which aids digestion and fosters normal appetite; and vitamin B-12, which is needed for the normal functioning of body cells and of the nervous system.

One 3-ounce cooked serving of lean beef will supply 12 percent of the recommended riboflavin, 26 percent of the niacin and about 20 percent of the vitamin B-12.

Before purchasing beef at the retail level, all meat sold must, under law, pass inspection for wholesomeness.

Inspection protects the consumer by guaranteeing that all meat sold is from healthy animals and that the meat is suitable for consumption.

Quality is a second factor to consider in buying beef. Quality indicates the characteristics associated with the palatability of the lean (tenderness, juiciness and flavor).

The terms "prime," "choice" and "good" indicate quality grades of beef. They are either the USDA grade names or the meat packer and retailer brand names.

Looking closely at a cut of beef, white flecks or streaks of fat can be seen mixed with the lean. This is marbling, and it improves the meat's flavor and increases tenderness and juiciness.

Prime is the highest grade of meat containing the greatest degree of marbling. These cuts of meat are expensive and used primarily by restaurants.

Choice is the grade generally sold in retail stores. It is the preferred grade because it contains an even balance of marbling for taste and tenderness. It is less expensive than a prime cut of beef.

Good is a lower-priced grade of meat that is as nutritious as the other grades, though not as tender.

When looking at the wrapped packages of meat in the retail stores, it is important to look at the lean and degree of marbling. This will determine the flavor of the beef.

The color of the lean should be bright or deep red, unless it is cured, aged or smoked.

When first cut, beef is dark, purplish red. After exposure to air, the cut surface will become bright red, due to reaction with oxygen in the air. This is why the outside layer of ground beef is red and the middle is darker.

After buying the beef, it must be refrigerated or frozen. It can be stored in the refrigerator for two to four days after purchase, if correctly wrapped to ensure freshness.

Freezing beef will prolong the freshness, if frozen as soon as possible. Proper wrappings should be used to ensure freshness and avoid freezer burn. Prepackaged meats can be frozen for one to two weeks. For longer freezing, the beef should be rewrapped.

Frozen beef may be defrosted before or during cooking. Beef should be defrosted in its original wrapper and not at room temperature.

Beef can be prepared in many different ways. Many of the methods used increase the taste and texture of the cut of beef.

Dry heat methods of cooking are used for the thinner cuts. Panbroiling, panfrying, broiling and roasting are the cooking methods used for the more tender cuts of meat.

Moist heat methods of cooking are used for the less tender cuts of beef and increase the juiciness and flavor of the cut. Braising and cooking in liquid are two possibilities.

Cooking in a slow-cooker and in a pressure pan are the convenient ways of cooking for the harried cook. The slow cooker gently simmers the beef and is recommended for the lesser cuts of beef.

Beef is a tasty and nutritious way to round out any meal. The increasing health awareness of consumers will find that "Beef Fits."

Information for this article was taken from "Facts About Beef" published by Beef Industry Council and "Basics About Beef" published by The Education Department and the Beef Industry Council.

Immunity debate continues

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Independent counsel Lawrence Walsh on Tuesday renewed his plea that Congress not grant immunity to key Iran-Contra witnesses, while President Reagan said he knew of no diversion of money to the Contras and can't imagine a former aide will testify otherwise.

Former National Security Adviser John Poindexter, the most recent of 13 people voted limited immunity from prosecution by congressional Iran-Contra panels, could talk to investigators in private as early as the end of this week under ground rules worked out between Walsh and the committees.

Poindexter, whose testimony could be crucial concerning Reagan's possible knowledge, isn't expected to testify publicly until next month.

The president, in an interview with six newspaper reporters, said he was not worried that Poindexter might say he had told Reagan about a diversion of some profits from the secret sale of arms to Iran.

"No. John Poindexter's an honorable man," Reagan said. "I was not informed," he added.

If Poindexter didn't tell him, then why not? Reagan was asked. "Well that I don't know," Reagan said. "Maybe he thought he was being, in some way, protective of me."

He was then asked if Poindexter or his aide, Lt. Col. Oliver North, had somehow had the idea Reagan had approved of such a diversion.

"I wouldn't see how, no, no," Reagan said. "We don't know the extent of their knowledge of that and why there was extra money or whether they even participated in that in any way or agreed to it."

Walsh, meanwhile, suggesting he will try to indict "central figures" in the Iran-Contra case, told Congress it would jeopardize prosecutions if it made further grants of immunity in order to compel testimony from such figures.

In a 17-page report on his work so far, he didn't say who might be indicted nor when.

In his report, Walsh said he understood that Senate and House Iran-Contra committees, which begin public hearings next Tuesday, would decide for themselves "the extent to which prosecution for crime shall be subordinated to legislative interests."

However, he said, "despite the rigorous efforts of the independent counsel to protect possible prosecutions, grants of immunity to central figures in the investigation might preclude future prosecution of those individuals."

Sen. Warren B. Rudman, R-N.H., vice chairman of the Senate committee, declined to say whether the panel would vote additional grants of immunity to compel testimony from witnesses during hearings in which Congress hopes to set out the facts of the affair as fully as possible.

Fire blazes in Crum's college; owner says classes to go on

By The Collegian Staff

The Manhattan Fire Department responded to a fire at Crum's Beauty College, 512 Poyntz Ave., late Tuesday night.

"I don't think it's that bad," said Lucille Jelinek, owner of Crum's. "They (fire officials) think that it (the fire) was contained up there on the roof, but of course the water damage will be bad."

"The fire was first reported by a passing police officer, Officer Dina Moore," said Officer Larry Davis of the Riley County Police Department. Davis said the officer was on her regular rounds and called in the fire at 11:46 p.m.

Jelinek said the officer who called in the fire reported seeing "flickers of fire on the roof."

The dispatcher at the Manhattan Fire Department said three trucks were sent to the scene after the call was received.

Jelinek said the worst damage appeared to be in the senior classroom. A contractor had been re-roofing the building Tuesday, she said.

"We just had a roofer come to put on a new roof," Jelinek said. "They got a third of it done today, and they were expecting to finish in two more days. Now we'll really have to put on a new roof."

In addition, she said, "We'll have to have that sign (on the front of the building) sandblasted to get the smoke off it."

"That's what's the devastating part of it — the water and the smoke."

Tuesday's fire was the fourth at the college, Jelinek said. Two fires occurred at the previous building, located across the street from the current facility. Two fires have also occurred at the current address.

"When we had the fire in '69, we used the church next door (from the current building)," she said. The church, St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Sixth Street and Poyntz Avenue, volunteered their facilities after the 1969 fire.

Jelinek said that fire had been labeled as sabotage by fire officials, but it was not publicly declared as such at the time.

Cleanup will probably take place today, she said, but classes should be able to continue as scheduled.

Fire officials were not able to give an estimate of the damage by presstime.

PTL 'banishes' Bakker from club, puts end to secretary's payments

By The Associated Press

FORT MILL, S.C. — The new PTL board banished television evangelist Jim Bakker and his top deputies from the ministry Tuesday and cut off payments to Jessica Hahn, the former church secretary who had sex with Bakker seven years ago.

The Rev. Jerry Falwell said the board decided at a five-hour meeting that Bakker and Bakker's wife, Tammy, no longer will receive salaries or bonuses from PTL and that Bakker will not be allowed to return as head of PTL.

Falwell, who replaced Bakker as PTL head when Bakker resigned, also accepted the resignation of the Rev. Richard Dortch, a board member who succeeded Bakker as president of the ministry.

Falwell said the growing sex-and-money scandal at PTL has caused "a national distrust of all who preach the Gospel. A lot of faith has been shattered."

Falwell said later on "The MacNeil-Lehrer News Hour" that he would start interviewing Wednesday to find a replacement for Dortch and would begin "a candid discussion with the family of supporters and asking for — even pleading for — their time, their indulgence, their continuous support."

Falwell named Harry Hargrave, a Dallas investments consultant, as chief operations officer. Hargrave's job will include sorting through PTL's financial problems.

He said the board's executive committee will investigate claims that Bakker was involved with prostitutes and engaged in homosexual activities. Those allegations were made by another TV evangelist, the Rev. John Ankerberg.

Bakker, who has denied the allegations, will be allowed to "face his accusers" during committee interviews, Falwell said.

The Bakkers, who were co-hosts of PTL's daily television show, reportedly were paid $1.6 million in salary and bonuses in 1986. Those payments were made even though the ministry is at least $50 million in debt, Falwell said.

Collegian Classifieds Cheap, but Effective

Getting summer work shouldn't take all summer.

At ADIA we've got a variety of interesting assignments ready and waiting. Great opportunities with top companies at top pay — right in your area. And our flexible work schedules leave plenty of time to enjoy the summer. So this year spend your summer working at a job. Not looking for one.

Overland Park
913-451-8070
Midtown K.C.
816-756-0340
Gladstone
816-436-9904

ADIA
The Employment People

Introducing

New rigid gas permeable contact lenses that offer sharp vision, long-term comfort and the convenience of daily or extended wear—to anyone who can wear contact lenses, even those with astigmatism. They are firm and easier to handle than soft lenses and will last longer and save you time and money.

PAYMENT PLANS AVAILABLE

Drs. Price, Young, Odle, and Horsch, P.A.
Optometrists
1119 Westloop Place, Manhattan, KS 66502 (913) 537-1118

537-1118

MAZDA VOLKSWAGEN HONDA

IMPORT CAR INC.

PARTS & SERVICE

Complete Line of Foreign Parts

Expert Mechanics

Call 539-0577

315 S. 3rd

8-5:30 Mon.-Fri.

Sat. 9-1

TOYOTA DATSUN SUBARU

Piñata

Restaurante

APPETIZER APPEAL!

Buy any of our 2 Entrees & receive a small Appetizer FREE!

(Offer good Wed., April 29, from 5 p.m.*till close)

1219 Bluemont 539-3166 Open Daily at 11 a.m.

Football Report

•Featuring Stan Parrish

•Update on recruiting signees

•Report on upcoming Spring alumni varsity football game

Coach Parrish will review the football program and answer questions

TODAY

12:30 p.m.

Union 212

All students and Faculty Welcome!

Sponsored by

ICAT

12 HOUR SALE 9 TO 9 THURS. ONLY

ANNE KLEIN Polos.....2 for 19.99

CALVIN KLEIN V-Neck Camisole and Tees...2 for 9.99

CALVIN KLEIN underwear.....3 for 9.99

Cherry Hill shorts and jams.....2 for 9.99

10 Button shirts.....2 for 9.99

Swimwear from Jantzen & Sassafras.....9.99

Coors Beerwolf jams.....14.99

Chambray shorts.....9.99

Chambray coordinates

Skirts.....19.99

Tops.....12.99

Jeans Palmetto's Calvin Klein etc.....9.99

Entire Stock of Dresses.....1/2 price

Free Park Avenue Fragrances with any $20 purchase limited to the first 20 customers

HARDERS

FAMOUS LABEL FASHIONS FOR LESS

331 POYNTZ MANHATTAN 945 MASS. LAWRENCE

YAMAHA INTO SUMMER SIZZLE SALE

You're Invited

Brooks Yamaha is celebrating with an incredible Sizzle Sale. We've got the hottest deals on Yamaha wheels. Like Radian 600 only $2199. You save over $300.

Come to Brooks Yamaha for dynamite prices that will blow you away.

BROOKS YAMAHA

Hwy. 24, East Manhattan, KS

Tues.-Sat. 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

776-6371

YAMAHA We make the difference™

Want To Sell Your Books ?

Question: How does the Union Bookstore determine how much your books are worth when you sell them back?

Answer: If the Bookstore has notification from the instructor that the books are to be re-adapted for use the next semester, and if the Bookstore does not already have a sufficient stock on hand, then you will be offered 60% of the publisher's current list price. For example: if a book sells for $10 new and it meets the requirements noted above, the book would be bought from you for $6. If the Bookstore has not received notice that the book will be used again, or if it already has a sufficient stock on hand, the book would be worth the current wholesale price as indicated by one of the nation's largest jobbers of used textbooks. If you have any questions about the price being paid for a textbook, the buyer will be happy to answer any questions which you may have regarding the price paid.

Question: Is 60% the usual price paid for textbooks around the country?

Answer: Definitely not. Most stores in the United States pay only 50% for books being used again. The Union Bookstore is one of the few stores which pays 60%. And remember, we pay cash. You don't have to take your money out in trade.

Question: What about paperbacks? Does the 60% policy apply to them too?

Answer: Yes. The Union Bookstore does not penalize you on paperbacks. If they are being used again, and if the bookstore needs them, you will receive 60% of the publisher's list price.

Question: If the publisher's price has gone up since I bought my books, will I receive the benefit of that price increase?

Answer: Yes. For instance, if you bought your book for $9 and the publisher's list price is now $10, you will get $6, not $5.40.

We Will Buy:

Monday, May 4th - Friday, May 15th 8:30-4:30

Sat., May 9th 10:30am-3:30pm

Shattering records Kaifes' specialty

Converted outfielder breaks out of slump

By JENNY CHAULK
Sports Writer

Otto Kaifes' baseball career at K-State has been checkered, to say the least. But not in the negative sense. Kaifes' four years at K-State have been anything but bad.

In this, his last season, the four-year starter has rebounded from an early-season slump to break the all-time K-State RBI record and tie the all-time home run record.

"When I came here as a freshman, records didn't mean anything," Kaifes said. "I just wanted to play well. As the years went on, (records) were more like goals to break."

Kaifes eclipsed the RBI mark — 135 by Greg Korbe, 1975-78 — April 8 against Fort Hays State. He has since then upped his total to 152. He tied the home run mark (24 by Gary Colbert, 1982-84) April 18 with a first-inning, three-run blast against Missouri.

Setting records and excelling in athletics is nothing new for Kaifes. At Bishop Ward High School, Kaifes earned 10 varsity letters in football, basketball and baseball. He was an All-State baseball player and an All-Kansas City, Kansas League selection in football.

In fact, Kaifes originally planned to play football in college.

"I signed a letter-of-intent to go to Coffeyville (Community College) and play football," Kaifes said. "But I wanted to play baseball."

While playing American Legion baseball for Kansas City Post 199, Kaifes was approached by then-K-State baseball coach Bill Hickey.

"I was recruited by a lot of junior colleges and small NAIA schools," he said. "During my senior year, I tore (a knee ligament), and I wasn't sure if I was going to be able to play or not. I was playing against the Manhattan legion team and had a couple home runs in one day. It just happened K-State's coach was there and he approached me. He gave me a scholarship."

After his knee injury, Kaifes was converted from an outfielder to a first baseman, a position he secured during his freshman season and has maintained throughout the tenure of three different coaches — Hickey, Gary Vaught and current mentor Mike Clark.

"It (having three different coaches) hasn't affected the way I've played, but it's kind of difficult having to show yourself to each coach," Kaifes said.

Because of the coaching situation, Kaifes considered leaving K-State.

"That (transferring) goes back to the three different coaches," he said. "At one point, I almost did. I didn't, just because of the fact I wanted to prove myself."

Kaifes has more than proven himself. He rebounded from a 3-for-31 hitting slump on K-State's spring trip and is currently batting .346 with a 24-game hitting streak on the line going into Tuesday's game with Wichita State.

But the slump is something Kaifes hasn't forgotten.

"I might as well not have played the first 20 games," he said. "That was just a complete disappointment. I wish we didn't play those first 20 games. I feel I let the team down. I didn't hit the ball well and I didn't drive in runs. The last 20 or 25 games, I've kind of felt better about that."

Another disappointment for Kaifes has been the fact K-State baseball teams have not been considered winners. His freshman year, the Wildcats were 14-24; 1985 saw K-State go 29-33, while they were 24-34 in 1986.

"Teamwise, you can't be satisfied with not being considered a winner," Kaifes said. "Losing is my only complaint. I'm not saying K-State baseball is a loser, but when you're not at the top, it's tough."

All has not been bad for Kaifes, however. He said he enjoyed his sophomore season the most, when he was an honorable mention All Big Eight Conference player and batted .424.

"(Playing baseball) I've been able to travel and meet a lot of different people who, I'm sure," he said, "somewhere down the line I'll need or I'll keep in touch with."

Kaifes will return to K-State next year to complete his education. He is working on a degree in marketing, and has no definite plans to play any more baseball.

"It's time to move on," he said. "Now that I'm done with baseball, I'm just looking to graduate and go on."

File/Andy Nelson

After starting for the K-State baseball team for four years, Otto Kaifes will hang up his glove and "move on" after this season. Kaifes has broken the K-State RBI record and is tied for the home run record.

Late homer lets Shocks defeat 'Cats

By The Collegian Staff

Wichita State's Jim Newlin struck out Jeff Turtle with the tying run on third base Tuesday night to give the Shockers a 3-2 victory over K-State at Eck Stadium in Wichita.

Newlin, 5-2, fanned Turtle with Guy Greco on third base in the top of the ninth inning to preserve the triumph for the Shockers, 43-16.

Greco started the ninth inning by drawing a walk on four pitches. Scott Spangenberg then laid down a sacrifice bunt, enabling Greco to scamper to third base.

Newlin retired Russ Ringgenberg on a pop fly to second baseman Mark Standiford, and caught Turtle looking on a 3-2 pitch.

The Shockers had rallied from a 2-1 deficit in their last two at-bats to post their ninth-straight victory over the 'Cats. K-State, though, leads the overall series 15-11.

K-State, 24-21, took a 2-1 lead over the Shockers with a two-run rally in the fifth inning. With one out, Jim Donohue and Spangenberg walked. After a fly out, Tom Parsons ripped a single to right to score Donohue. Mike Hinkle followed with a run-scoring single to center to score Spangenberg.

Wichita State, however, tied the game in the seventh when Mark Standiford singled in Tim Raley, who had doubled in the inning.

The Shockers grabbed the lead for good in the eighth when Eric Wedge cracked his seventh homer of the season with one out.

Newlin received the victory in relief of Wichita State starter Greg Brummett. Newlin worked the final 3½ innings, yielding no hits, walking three and striking out six.

The Wildcats wasted a fine pitching performance by Marty Darnell, 3-1. Darnell went eight innings, allowed 13 hits and five walks. He struck out five and stranded 11 Shocker runners.

The game also saw Otto Kaifes' hitting streak come to an end. Kaifes, who had hit safely in 24 previous games, went 0-for-4.

The two teams will complete their two-game series with a 7 p.m. contest tonight at Eck Stadium. Paul Iseman, 4-3, will get the starting nod for the 'Cats.

After the series with Wichita State, K-State will stay on the road and play Oral Roberts May 1-2 in Tulsa. The Titans are coached by former K-State mentor Gary Vaught.

K-State's next home game is May 6 when the 'Cats host Wichita State.

University's athletic memoirs contain many fond memories

Journalists are often accused of only reporting the "bad" news. This applies to all areas of journalism — even sports writers.

For example — racial discrimination in professional sports. Recently, this "hot" topic focused on racial discrimination in the managerial levels of major-league baseball. But little has been said about progress made in the past 30 years with minorities in professional sports.

Few, if any, of us remember when Veryl Switzer, an outstanding K-State athlete in track and football, became one of the first blacks drafted into the pros. The Green Bay Packers took Switzer in the first round of the 1954 draft.

So, I've decided to break my mold of writing "bad news" columns for once and instead write about the many accomplishments of Wildcat athletics throughout the years. And yes, I will not say how much I think

K-State needs an athletic fee.

So let's take a stroll down the "purple-brick road" of K-State athletics and see what we can find. Truthfully, there's not a purple-brick road, or even a "memory-book lane," just a lot of old newspaper clippings collecting dust in a corner, but let's pretend anyway.

It's only fair to start with the sport that has drawn most of the criticism in recent years — the Wildcat football team.

It was only five years ago that K-State attended its first bowl game — the 1982 Independence Bowl. Sure it took 87 years to accomplish and the 'Cats lost 14-3 to the University of Wisconsin, but it was still a bowl game — a milestone for the football program.

Maybe one day, if K-State asks the Wizard (of Oz) nicely enough, he'll do another favor for the Wildcats, and K-State will be able to attend

CHASE CLARK
Sports Writer

another bowl game.

Students may have had low hopes for success in football last season, but when it came to basketball there were high hopes everywhere for both the men's and women's squads. Both teams made the NCAA Tournament, but neither one was able to survive past the second round.

But this wasn't the case in 1973 when a young women's program — that had only been in existence at K-State since 1968 — took the state and then the nation by storm, taking fifth place in the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women national basketball tournament.

Not too bad for a program that was still fighting for funds from the Athletic Council and the Student Government Association. It wasn't until 1979 that the Big Eight Conference decided to sanction a conference championship for female basketball teams.

A development that forever changed men's basketball in the Big Eight occurred in 1973.

In February of that year, the Big Eight decided to experiment with using three officials at conference games for the 1973-74 season. Previously, three officials had only been used in the Big Eight's holiday tournaments. Also that year, the 30-second shot clock was being experimented with for the first time in the Big Eight.

K-State students have triumphed in more than University-sanctioned sports.

In July 1981, James Cash won the Senior National Powerlifting Championships and received an automatic berth in the 1981 World Powerlifting Championships.

Cash isn't the only powerlifter from K-State to succeed. In 1984, K-State's Nate Foster was selected as the coach for two World Master's teams and a Junior World United States team in the combined World Powerlifting Championships.

At that time in his career, Foster had broken 24 world records, and held three national and three world powerlifting championships.

Of course this is only a few of the many triumphs in K-State athletics that I found and I'm sure if I looked harder into the old files I could find many more. But I think these convey my meaning well enough — K-State's athletic programs may look bleak at times, underfunded at other times, but somehow it keeps coming up with bright moments and it will keep doing so now and in the future.

Take for example K-State women's tennis player Lena Svensson. She came out after arthroscopic knee surgery just a few months ago and during the weekend placed fifth in the Big Eight women's tourney. A definite highlight of her career.

If this isn't enough to convince you, then consider the fourth-place showing of the K-State men's varsity-eight rowing crew Saturday at the Midwest Regionals. Who knows how much better they would have done if they hadn't had trouble with a broken oar?

K-State has had many bright moments in the past that we can look back upon. And even now K-State is creating more memories for future classes to look back on and will continue doing so years from now.

Problems accompany testing programs

By TOM MORRIS
Sports Editor

Editor's Note: This is the third installment of a five-part series on drug testing in intercollegiate athletics. The series will run throughout the week on the sports page.

Drug testing has become more commonplace in the last two years. As of April 1986, 75 of 207 major-college athletic departments — including K-State — had some type of drug-testing requirement for their athletes, according to an NCAA survey.

The increase is even more notable in the corporate sector, said John Ellsworth, spokesman for Roche Biomedical Labs Inc.

"In the last year (drug testing) has increased dramatically on the corporate level. Athletic testing has increased as well but at a somewhat lower rate," Ellsworth said.

When tests are properly conducted, manufacturers contend their products are virtually foolproof and close to 100 percent accurate. Problems, though, can arise:

Drug Testing In College Athletics

— Urine tests most widely used in initial screening can be rendered "false positive" by masking agents such as bleach, salt or ammonia — dumped in collection vessels.

— Some schools don't confirm initial screenings as recommended by both drug-test kit manufacturers and the NCAA.

— Powdered drug-free urine is now available. When mixed with warm distilled water, a small amount of powdered urine can produce a clean sample "virtually indistinguishable from the real stuff," claims Jeff Nightbyrd, founder of Byrd Labs in Austin, Texas.

Even though there are ways to "cheat" a drug test, Ellsworth said it all depends on how the test is conducted.

"The test itself is not flawed, it is the sample itself that is flawed. (Test results) depend on how absolutely certain the client wishes to be," he said. "If an individual or organization wishes to ensure absolute certainty, the best method is direct-observation collection."

Ellsworth said there are problems with this method from a public relations point of view. Other methods are less awkward and are still reasonably reliable.

"The obvious simple precautions would be to discourage the testee (from cheating). Don't have hot water in the testing area and make the testee wear a physical examination gown to prevent hiding a masking agent, things like that."

False positives on initial screenings can be rectified by confirmation testing. Besides human error, Ellsworth said the only substance that can cause a false positive on a confirmatory test is poppy seeds.

"In a controlled study in our laboratory, we had a volunteer eat poppy seeds and, yes, he turned up positive," Ellsworth said. "Poppy seeds contain a trace amount of opiate — not enough to give you a 'high' because you're ingesting it. What was funny was that the subject

See SERIES, Page 10

Briefly In Sports

Golfers take 7th in tournament

The K-State women's golf squad placed seventh at the Big Eight Conference Women's Golf Championships completed today at the par-72, 6,028-yard Oklahoma City Golf and Country Club.

The Big Eight Championships marked the final action for seniors Paige Harrison, Shelley Sherman and Erin Andrew.

Harrison led the Wildcats with a three-round score of 251 (79-84-88). Besides Harrison, other individual scores included Andrew 270 (100-87-83), Sherman 271 (87-98-86) and Jill Zientara 280 (89-95-96).

Big 8 names Harrison top athlete

K-State long jump and triple jump standout Kenny Harrison has been named the Big Eight Conference's track athlete for the month of April.

Harrison won both the triple and long jumps at the Kansas Relays, April 17-18, as he set meet records with jumps of 57-2 (wind-aided) and 26-8½, respectively. In his latest competition at the Penn Relays last weekend in Philadelphia, Harrison took home a second-place finish in the long jump with a mark of 25-2.

Earlier this month, Harrison took top honors twice at the Texas A&M College Station Relays winning the long and triple jump competitions while breaking the old triple jump mark with an effort of 54-3.

Series

Continued from Page 9

had to eat a half-pound of seeds before he tested positive."

One of the most frequently used methods of initial screening is the Enzyme Multiplied Immunoassay Test developed for the federal government in the 1970s. EMIT does not directly test for drug presence in the urine. Rather, it reacts with drug metabolites — chemicals left over after the body breaks down substances.

As a result, EMIT's manufacturers — Syntex Corp. of California — do not recommend it be used alone, although they do claim a 95-99 percent accuracy rate.

The most widely used method for laboratory confirmation of a positive analysis determined by a screening method such as EMIT is the computerized gas chromatography and mass spectrometry system.

"It's a fairly complicated system, but basically it examines the molecular fingerprint of a drug," Ellsworth said. "Like a fingerprint, no two drugs are alike."

K-State tests each athlete at least once as part of their annual physical. Random testing is then conducted throughout the year to prevent athletes from abstaining from drug use before known test dates.

Carl Cramer, K-State's head trainer, collects athletes' samples and supervises delivery by courier to Roche Labs' Wichita location.

K-State tests only for eight types of drugs — marijuana, cocaine, PCP, amphetamines, barbituates, methaqualone (qualudes), opiates and tranquilizers. To test for the entire NCAA-banned drug list — some 3,000 ingredients — would cost $275 per test.

Cramer collects samples using the direct-observation method.

"I guess the NCAA would call me the specimen validator. In other words, I am the one that says 'that specimen definitely came from that individual,'" Cramer said.

Specimens are identified only by number. Results are mailed back to Dr. Guy Smith, director of sports medicine at Lafene Student Health Center. Smith, the only one who sees K-State's test results, notifies the athlete by sealed envelope.

If the test comes up negative, the athlete's name is put back in rotation. If an athlete tests positive, he or she is brought back in for further testing and counseling until recording a negative test.

"Talk seems to be appropriate," Smith said. "If the drug user in the interview suggests drugs aren't the problem, but there's an emotional problem, then we deal with the emotional problems. But if the drug use is a problem, then we deal in a more final sense with that."

In its two years of existence at K-State, there has not been an athlete dismissed from a team because of a drug-related problem.

"Most people aren't drug addicts...and mostly it's just telling them what their obligation is as far as the (consent form) they signed," Smith said.

Thursday's article will deal with local reaction to drug-testing programs and possible alternatives.

Chiefs 'rush' into draft picking Palmer, Okoye

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The Kansas City Chiefs weren't kidding when they said they wanted running backs.

With the 19th pick in the first round Tuesday, the NFL's poorest rushing team nabbed Paul Palmer, the small-but-accomplished halfback from Temple.

Then, swapping second-round choices with Houston, the Chiefs went for Christian Okoye of Azusa Pacific, a native of Nigeria whose bricked layers of muscle belie the fact that he first touched a football only three years ago.

Palmer, who led the nation in rushing last season, is 5-foot-9 1/4 and about 185 pounds. Okoye, 25, is 6-1 1/2 and 253. He sent his stock soar-ing with a Senior Bowl record of four rushing touchdowns.

In both cases, the Chiefs professed great pleasure.

"We feel extremely confident in Paul's ability," said Les Miller, the Chiefs' head talent scout. "To answer a question some of you may have — no, we do not feel like 5-9 1/4 and 184 pounds is a problem."

"This young man is a real running back," said Chiefs' Coach Frank Ganz. "He can run. He can cut. He can spin with power. He can slash. He can throw the halfback pass. I think he can play in the band."

Okoye was timed by Chiefs' coaches in a 4.45 40-yard dash and seems to hold awesome promise. But he is a raw beginner whose blocking skills are particularly lacking.

Staff Brett Hacker

Defensive line coach Dave Flegal tries to instill in players the work habits he believes will make them winners both on and off the field. "A lot of the time the performance of the individual in the classroom reflects how they'll do on the field," he said.

Flegal realizes classroom's importance

By BILL LANG Sports Writer

K-State defensive line coach Dave Flegal knows it takes more than hard work on the football field to make a winner. He said it is just as important to be successful in the classroom as on the playing field.

Flegal played college football at the University of Akron from 1976 to 1979 and was an academic all-conference choice his senior year in the Midwest Athletic Conference.

"A lot of the time the performance of the individual in the classroom reflects how they'll do on the field," Flegal said. "I try to approach the kids with the work habits it takes to be winner both on and off the field."

Assistant Coaches of K-State

Flegal also got his coaching start with the help of academics.

"When I was a senior, I was giving thoughts to being a high school football coach," Flegal said. "Later in the year, coach (Jim Dennison) came to me and said he would like me to be a graduate assistant."

"I didn't want to at first, but I applied for graduate school and that's where I got my start in coaching."

However, Flegal said he is "very lucky" to be coaching in the college ranks.

"I was an assistant for about three years at Akron, and then I tried the high school scene," Flegal said. "After one year, I was then picked up by Coach (Stan) Parrish to help coach for Marshall University and from there to Kansas State. Once someone leaves the college ranks it's very hard to get back into them."

On the defensive line he's coaching this year, Flegal said his unit can be successful if two things happen on a daily basis — improvement and consistency.

"As a unit we are needing consistency and improvement every day. When I came in last year, the kids didn't know how to practice," said Flegal, referring to K-State's 1-10 campaign in 1985.

"It was hard for them to practice," he added. "Since then the intensity has improved."

Flegal pointed out, though, the line is not the glory position of the field. Judging the line's improvement is harder to do in that view.

"We don't get much of the spotlight," Flegal said. "If we make a play we look great, if we don't, we look terrible. But the line can force the play, so someone else can make the tackle."

Collegian Classifieds Cheap, but Effective

KSU HORT. CLUB
BEDDING PLANT
SALE

annuals perennials herbs
vegetables hanging baskets

APRIL 30 MAY 1,2
8:00 AM - 5:30 PM

lower greenhouses
north of justin hall

Proceeds go to production costs, educational trips, scholarships, and a job-training fund.

MAY DAY MADNESS
SALE
Thursday, Friday, Saturday
Sale starts April 30

Campbell's
GIFT SHOP
1227 Moro

Woody's
LADIES SHOP
1225 Moro

Hours: 9:30 to 5:30 ... 'til 8:30 on Thursday

UPC Wednesday, April 29, 1987 For more information on any UPC event, call 325-1111

WILLIAM HURT PAUL JULIA BRAGA
KISS OF THE SPIDER WOMAN

In a prison cell somewhere in Latin America, two very different men find their lives linked together: Molina (William Hurt), an effeminate homosexual, apolitical and incurable romantic, and Valentin (Paul Julia), a political activist, macho, puritanical. Brilliantly adapted from Manuel Puig's novel, "Kiss Of The Spider Woman" demonstrates that first-rate entertainment can coexist with undiluted political content and formal adventurousness.

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY
7:30 p.m., Forum Hall
THURSDAY at 3:30 p.m.
Little Theatre
Rated R; $1.75; KSU ID required

ACADEMY AWARD WINNER
BEST ACTOR
WILLIAM HURT

k-state union
upc kaleidoscope

WINNER OF 4 ACADEMY AWARDS!
INCLUDING BEST SONG

A perfect mixture of lighthearted comedy and adventure. Robert Redford and Paul Newman are perfectly cast as the outlaw buddies who are running for their lives to Bolivia with Katherine Ross and are unsure of who's chasing them.

$1.50;
Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m., Sunday at 7 p.m.
Forum Hall;
Rated PG;
KSU ID required

20th CENTURY FOX PRESENTS
BUTCH CASSIDY AND THE SUNDANCE KID

k-state union
upc feature films

EDDIE MURPHY IS BACK IN ACTION.

THE GOLDEN CHILD

The fate of an ancient tribe—and quite possibly of the entire world—hangs in balance! And only Eddie Murphy can save the day! Murphy stars in this imaginative comedy-adventure as an expert at recovering missing children. Eddie becomes an unwilling pawn in a deadly game of mystery and mysticism when tracking down the tribe's sacred child.

Friday and Saturday at 7 & 9:30 p.m., Forum Hall Rated PG-13; $1.75; KSU ID required

k-state union
upc feature films

Art Rental Returns

TODAY!
10 a.m.-3 p.m. in Forum Hall lobby

k-state union
upc arts

Africa

Continued from Page 1

600 innocent school children were murdered by the police.

In 1961, the ANC was banned by the National Party, she said.

"The ANC leaders were then faced with a choice — submit or fight," she said. "Of course, we decided we were going to fight to the bitter end."

However, because it was banned, the ANC was forced to become an underground resistance movement. Umkhonto we Sizwe (Spear of the Nation) is the military wing of the movement, Mothobi said.

"The aims of Umkhonto we Sizwe are to hit strategic economic and military regime installations.

"To us, apartheid means all the laws and rules that oppress our people and enforce the neo-Nazi system," she said, "and we are going to fight to the bitter end until this neo-Nazi system is completely destroyed."

Mothobi said police in townships all over the country are licensed to kill in an attempt to stop the South African demands for freedom and democracy.

Other countries are not aware of many of the actions of the South African government because of the state of emergency that includes media control, she said.

"These sins have not ceased to exist, even though the controls of the media don't permit us to see them," she said.

The South African government not only kills the people openly, but also inadvertently through oppressive laws, Mothobi said.

Because of apartheid policies, five children die of a socio-economic disease in the townships every hour. Bantustans are areas designated for the blacks, usually in remote rural areas with no access to health or educational facilities, the pamphlet said.

Although many have said the black Africans will suffer too much by fighting the white minority rule, Mothobi and the ANC do not agree.

"There can be no more suffering than the way we have suffered under the vicious system of apartheid," she said.

Colby

Continued from Page 1

attorneys from presenting new evidence at Thursday's hearings, but has said they can present sworn statements from witnesses.

"Petitioner has a proper avenue to remedy any alleged errors Judge Willoughby or succeeding judge may make through appeal," Gallagher wrote in the state's response. "The court only has prevented live testimony from being presented. If this is error, it is a matter for appeal."

Dunn, who is being held in an Iowa correctional facility for women, was convicted of two counts of felon murder and two counts of kidnapping and was sentenced to four consecutive life terms in prison for her role in a February 1985 crime spree that left three men dead in northwest Kansas.

Kunen sought a new trial two months ago on grounds of new evidence in the case, specifically that Dunn was the victim of a sexual attack in Florida and should be permitted to claim the battered woman syndrome or the hostage syndrome as a defense.

In previous petitions to the Supreme Court, Kunen claimed Dunn so feared Daniel Remeta, her co-defendant in the Colby murder cases, that she could not break away from him but continued to accompany him on the crime spree.

In the latest petition Kunen and Wood argued that Willoughby's order — which followed an April 13 conference call in which he invalidated subpoenas requiring witnesses to appear at Thursday's hearing — deprived Dunn of her constitutional right to confront witnesses, and prohibited her from properly making her case for a new trial.

The petition says the defense planned to call two prosecuting attorneys and the attorney who defended her at her first trial, plus four Kansas Bureau of Investigation agents and a psychologist.

The judge has refused to discuss his reasons and has refused to remove himself from the case "for personal bias and prejudice."

Senate passes funding for directors' stipend

By The Collegian Staff

Student Senate concluded tentative allocations Tuesday night by raising the allocation for the FONE Crisis Center to $10,784.10, an increase of $200.

The increase was for a 3 percent salary hike for the director and assistant director of FONE.

Senate had voted not to approve the salary increase at its April 21 meeting, however, Jeff Wing, sophomore in business administration, requested a reconsideration.

Dan Owens, senior in economics, said those positions deserved the salary increase since they had not had one in three years.

FONE was scheduled for tentative allocations April 21, but Senate voted to table the consideration until Tuesday night in order to evaluate any insurance needs for the center.

The money tentatively allocated for the 1987-88 fiscal year comes from the full-time student's fee of $7.65 and the part-time student's fee of $4.45. Summer-semester students pay a fee of 75 cents per credit hour up to six hours.

Classifieds

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications.

Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $4.95 per inch. Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch. Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch. Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

ANNOUNCEMENTS 01

MARLATT SCHOOL FAIR

May 1, 1987
5:30-8:30 p.m.

Hobbs Dr.
& Browning Ave.

Hot Dogs, Pizza, etc. . .
Come for dinner

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour products. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (119-150)

FIELDS OF FAIR—We are now open for the season and are taking bookings for barn parties, hail and farewell parties, barbecues, cookouts, promotion parties, reunions, graduation parties and weddings. Phone 539-5328. (129-150)

MARY KAY Cosmetics. Check out our new individual lip and eye colors. 539-9469, Janet Milliken. (138-150)

73 OVERWEIGHT people needed to try new chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Call 776-5114, 776-1465. (140-150)

PEOPLE'S GROCERY Co-op, 811 Colorado, is Manhattan's only consumer-owned grocery store. Come check out our expanded inventory, cheese selection and convenient hours. Open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m. (142-145)

ATTENTION 02

OVERWEIGHT? WANT to feel better? New chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry herbal weight control program available. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Get away from diet jitters. On campus daily 784-6065 evenings/weekends. (132-150)

(Continued on page 12)

DAYS OF REMEMBRANCE 1987

"The Holocaust"

WEDNESDAY, April 29, 7 p.m.
KSU Union 212

Forum:

"Holocaust: Psychological and Contemporary Implications"

Speakers: Dr. Leon Rappaport, Psychology
Dr. Jerry Rosenberg, Political Science
Rev. Dave Stewart, Campus Minister

sponsored by the KSU Committee
on Religion—532-6432

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT in JOHNSON COUNTY

Available For

Typists • Word Processors

File Clerks • Data Entry

Light Industrial

BOSSLER-HIX TEMPORARIES

Contact your campus representative
Mary Schmidt 776-2224
evenings

Pictureland Portrait Studio
Exclusively at Wal-Mart

FREE 10x13 WALL PORTRAIT
on a traditional background
($18 retail value)

HURRY OFFER ENDS SOON

Yours with the purchase of our 20-piece portrait package 2-8x10s, 3-5x7s and 15 wallets on a traditional background

$12.95 ONLY plus 95¢ sitting fee

Bring in any lower-priced advertised offer AND WE'LL MATCH IT . . . because Wal-Mart's prices are UNBEATABLE!

We Welcome Everyone . . . BABIES, CHILDREN, ADULTS, and FAMILY GROUPS!

No appointment is ever necessary. Please our selection. Black and White backgrounds. Double exposure and other Special Effects. Portraits not available in advertised package $1.00 for each additional person in portrait. Minors must be accompanied by an adult. Satisfaction guaranteed. *Approximate size.

The photographer will be here through Sun. May 3
Studio Hours: 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Daily
Sunday (where open): Store opening until one hour prior to store closing.

628 TUTTLE CREEK BLVD.
MANHATTAN, KS

Wal-Mart Sells for Less Wal-Mart Sells for Less

A WEEK AT KANSAS STATE

Before you leave for summer vacation, take advantage of the pre-publication price of A Week At Kansas State and order your copy in Kedzie 103. The special rate of $22.00 includes shipping costs so next September it will be delivered to your door. Start planning now for early Christmas presents for your friends and relatives.

LIMITED Special Pre-publication Offer

Please use this card and attach a check for $22.00 (plus $1.10 applicable Kansas sales tax if you are a Kansas resident, total $23.10 per book) to cover the cost of publishing, mailing and handling your copy of the book, A WEEK AT KANSAS STATE. This is a special, pre-publication price for the AWAKS book.

The book will be a 10" x 14", 168-page high-quality "coffee table" publication containing nearly 70 pages of full color. Shipping date is expected to be during September 1987, in time for the Christmas holidays next year. Fill out the card as indicated below and include a check for the proper amount and mail to: KSU Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, KS 66506. You will be allowed to order up to three (3) copies at this special pre-publication price, which includes shipping and handling.

I/we wish to order _____ copy(ies) of the hard-cover book, A WEEK AT KANSAS STATE, at $22.00 each (plus $1.10 applicable Kansas resident sales tax). Enclosed is a check or money order for $_____ to cover total costs of the publication, including shipping and handling. Advance orders will be shipped first (in September 1987).

Book(s) should be sent to:

Name _____

Mailing Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

A WEEK AT
OCTOBER 12, 1986

KANSAS STATE

WENDY'S

WENDY'S® HAMBURGERS ARE ALWAYS SERVED FRESH HOT-OFF-THE-GRILL. THEIRS AREN'T.

99¢ Single

1/4 LB. HAMBURGER

Offer expires 5/13/87

Valid at participating Wendy's
Not valid with any other offer.

Cheese and tax extra. One coupon per customer.

(Continued from page 11)

CAN YOU buy Jeeps, cars, 4 x 4's seized in drug raids for under $100? Call for facts today 602-837-3401. Ext. 744. (145)

FOR RENT—MISC 03

RENTAL TYPEWRITERS—Correcting and non-correcting. Typewriter ribbons for sale, service available. Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-1413. (271)

INEXPENSIVE, SELF-storage units. Why take all your stuff home this summer? Three months storage only $60. Amherst Self-Storage, 776-3804. (138-150)

FOR RENT—APTS 04

TWO and three bedroom near campus. Central air, one and one-half bath. Available June and August. 537-8800. (1101)

LOOKING FOR nice but reasonably priced apartment? One, two, three and four bedroom apartment complexes and houses for now, summer and fall. Most newly new and close to campus. 537-2919, 537-1666. (111-146)

ONE LARGE bedroom, completely furnished, laundry facilities in the complex. One block from the campus. $300. Call 537-7980 or 537-2255. (121)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, close to campus. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities in the complex. Available August. $420. Call 537-7810 or 537-2255. (121)

915 1/2 CLAFIN, walk-out basement, completely furnished two-bedroom. Redecorated August 1986, ample parking. Heat, water, trash paid. $340/month. One-year lease June 1st. 539-3085 or 539-6133. (1311)

COMPLETELY FURNISHED, large basement apartment, suitable for two or three. Available June 1 lease. Everything paid. $400/month. 539-6133. (1311)

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT $190 per month. Gas, heat, and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (143-150)

NOW LEASING for fall—Next to campus, (near Haymaker Hall), two bedrooms in luxury apartment complex, fireplace, laundry, modern kitchen, natural gas heating. Evenings, 539-2702. (134-150)

Now Leasing
12 month Leases
•2 Bdrm. Townhouses
•Large Spacious Apt.
•Close to campus
MONT BLUE APT.
539-4447

NEAR K.S.U., three-bedroom, furnished basement apartment. Central air, washer and dryer, utilities paid. $480. Call 539-0368 after 6:30 p.m. (137-146)

COMPLETE FIRST floor of large apartment house. 724 Poyntz. Will accommodate three-four students. Unfurnished, no pets. 537-8389 for appointment. (1371)

FOR AUGUST, next to KSU, deluxe furnished two-bedroom apartment. Also, one-bedroom apartment. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (1381)

1219 KEARNEY, Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $230/month. 539-5136. (1381)

1219 KEARNEY, Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $230/month. 539-5136. (1381)

SPECIAL
SUMMER DISCOUNT
June & July Leases
2-bedroom,
furnished and unfurnished
776-1222

CENTENNIAL APARTMENTS—1832 Claiton Road (across Goodnow, Marlatt Halls), luxury furnished, two-bedroom ($390). One-bedroom ($290). Phone 539-2702, evenings. (139-150)

ONE AND three-bedroom apartments for June, walk to K.S.U. 776-6063. (1401)

FURNISHED, ONE-bedroom in complex. 1219 Claiton, next to campus. $260 plus electric. New paint and carpet, lease June 1 or August 1. No children or pets. Phone 537-1180. (140-150)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment. $340 per month. Across street from Ahearn Field House. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (143-150)

AVAILABLE, THREE-bedroom apartment, June 1. $400 plus utilities. Nice, newly decorated. 776-8393. (130-146)

NICE, ONE-bedroom in complex on the corner of Lee and Hunting. $325 or $340 with fireplace. June or August leasing. No pets, please. 776-3804. (1311)

FREE RENT last month of yearly lease. Ten months available in August. Various locations, no pets. After April 1 call 537-8389. (1191)

BLOCK WEST of campus, June or August, one-bedroom, furnished. $240. Call 539-5051 after 1 p.m., or see Dave, apartment 4, at 1024 Sunset. (1311)

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM, five blocks from campus. Air conditioning. Available August 1. No pets. $325. Phone 776-0181. (1211)

PRE-LEASING ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. One bedroom, near campus. $275 to $290. Two-bedroom near campus. $335 to $355. Call 776-9124. (1221)

GOOD SELECTION of one and two-bedroom apartments available for June or August leasing. Call McCullough Development, 776-3804. (123-146)

AVAILABLE NOW and August. Unfurnished one-bedroom, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets, $265 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS
3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions. Lowest rates. 776-3624.

AVAILABLE AUGUST 15, nice, furnished one-bedroom apartment. Water, trash and two-thirds gas paid. Laundry facility. Graduate student or couple preferred. $260/month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (1401)

TWO- OR three-bedroom apartments and townhouses with central air in a quiet neighborhood. For June or August. $395. Phone 537-0428 or 776-2425. (140-150)

COTTAGE, LIVE in a cottage for the price of an apartment. Available for fall, located southeast of campus. 539-7277 after 5:30 or weekends. (1401)

LARGE ONE-bedroom basement apartment available June 1. Three blocks south of University Inn. Free washer and dryer, off street parking. $260. Phone 539-5921. (140-150)

ONE- TWO-, three-, four-bedroom apartments, close to campus. June occupancy. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

EFFICIENCIES, ONE and two-bedroom apartments. $165 to $290. Phone 776-6791 or 776-4805. (140-150)

BASEMENT APARTMENTS for June, one-bedroom, $200; three-bedroom, $270; bills paid. 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

KSU Students
Top Quality

Summer and Fall apartments now available, 1/2 block from KSU in newer building. Central A/C, dishwasher, decks (w/ or w/o). Parking permit, furnished and unfurnished.
$360-$399

Lease now while we have our best units available
776-1222
After 5 p.m. and weekends—537-2098

TWO-BEDROOM, furnished or unfurnished, good location, $295. One unit left. 537-3375. (140-149)

NICE TWO-bedroom duplex. Air, gas, carpeted and furnished! Telephone 537-7334. No pets. (141-145)

UNIVERSITY TERRACE—Two- and three-bedroom apartments, swimming pool, spacious yard, laundry hookups and facilities. On the bike path to University. 537-2096. (127-147)

AVAILABLE, LARGE two-bedroom apartment, newly decorated. June 1, $360, plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, nice, large three-bedroom basement apartment, newly remodeled. $330 plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

FALL AND SUMMER
LEASES
Adjacent to Campus
COLLEGE COURT
APARTMENTS
1615 Anderson
PLATT APARTMENTS
1811 Platt

1 & 2 Bedroom Unfurnished
All Appliances
Air Conditioned
Private Parking
Laundry Facilities
$210-$330
KANSAS STATE
UNIVERSITY FOUNDATION
8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
532-7166

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, one-half block from campus. 1212 Bluemont. $400. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

NICE, QUIET, clean place to live. Furnished, one- and two-bedroom apartments. Assorted features include queen-sized bed, carport, paid utilities, dishwasher, laundry, courtyard. For married couple, employed individual, serious student. $216-$330 per month. June lease. No pets, waterbeds. 537-9686. (141-145)

LARGE, TWO—bedroom unfurnished apartment, near campus, available August 1. Heat, water, trash paid. $350. Phone 539-8052 evenings. (1411)

APARTMENT MANAGER and maintenance positions for 32-unit community near University. Ideal position for couple, salary plus apartment. Apply at Mont Blue Apartments, 1431 McCain Lane. (141-146)

Fall and Summer
Apartments
Great Location—Close to KSU
City Park and Aggieville.

Good Quality, New Carpet,
Central Air, Dishwashers. 1,
2 & 3 bedrooms, furnished &
unfurnished. (New, Good Quality)
$290-$445

Call 776-1222
or 539-7260

LARGE, BEAUTIFULLY furnished unit across street from campus. No pets, smoking. Stockwell Real Estate, 539-4073. (1411)

11/2 BLOCKS from campus, across from Aggieville, two-bedroom apartments, available June 1st. Furnished or unfurnished. 539-5702 after 5 p.m. (142-146)

AVAILABLE FOR June or August—Furnished, large two-bedroom with off-campus location. Dishwasher, disposal, central air, carpeting throughout. No pets. $350 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

LARGE THREE-bedroom in a nine-plex with large closets, living room, dining area, fully-equipped kitchen. $150 each for three. $125 each for four. 822 Fremont. Available June 1 or August 1. 1987. Call 537-7087. (1271)

Moore Management
NOW RENTING
APARTMENTS
(All Close to Campus!)
PRID-MOR
APTS.
1215 Bertrand
2-bedroom, 1 1/2 baths,
dishwasher, furnished
$450
RAINTREE
APTS.
1010 Thurston
2-bedroom, furnished,
fireplace, dishwasher
$375-450
PHEASANT
RIDGE
923 Fremont
2-bedroom, dishwasher
$350

For info call 539-1642
or 537-4567 after 7.

Call for special summer rates.

LARGE, TWO-bedroom, one block from campus. Aggieville and park. Available May 1. 537-4648. (1421)

TWO-BEDROOM duplex. 1027 Vattier, garage, available June. Two-bedroom triplex. 818 Bluemont. August. 537-1676. (143-147)

FREE RENT first month of yearly lease on one-bedroom in Westchester Park Apts. Available immediately. $340. After 5 p.m. phone 537-4319 or 537-7022. (143-147)

ONE-HALF block east of campus, one and one-half bedroom, 1212 Thurston. Up to three people. $330 June or August. Also need resident manager. 539-5059. (144-150)

AVAILABLE AUGUST 1. Three-bedroom furnished. 1729 Laramie, heat, water, trash paid, year's lease. $360. Phone 537-2099 or evenings. 539-8052. (144-150)

FURNISHED, THREE-bedroom basement, close to Aggieville. $325 plus utilities. Call 632-5211. Steak supper for those who rent. (145-150)

ONE BLOCK from campus, two-bedroom furnished laundry, central air. Summer sublease. 532-3763. 532-3154. 776-0554. (144-146)

JUNE and July only—Two-bedroom apartment one block from university. Phone 539-0410 or 539-2857. (144-148)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, one block from university. Available June 1. Phone 539-0410 or 539-2857. (144-148)

SUMMER SUBLEASE or year rent. Two-bedroom apartment at 913 Vattier. Rent depends on type of lease. Call 776-3262 for more information. (144-147)

ONE BEDROOM furnished, call 776-6157. (144-148)

ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment—Unfurnished, summer rent. Close to city park, Aggieville and campus. Utilities paid. $200 per month. 539-1124 after 5 p.m. (144-147)

MAY OR June, one-bedrooms. $205-$235. Phone 539-8423 after 6 p.m. (135-150)

NOW RENTING for 1987-88 school year. Two-bedroom unfurnished apartments. 1026 Blue mont. Call 776-2092 for appointment. (136-150)

RENTING FOR 1987-88 school year. Schumann Apartments. 1119 Laramie. Luxury one-bedroom furnished. 776-2092. (136-150)

Summer Leases
available
•1 & 2 Bedroom
•2 Bedroom Townhouses
•Close to Campus
MONT BLUE APT.
539-4447

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, all bills except electricity paid. Has gas heat, garage available. $290. Phone 532-2120. (145-150)

FOUR-BEDROOM furnished. 1521 Leavenworth. $440. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (1451)

THREE-BEDROOM furnished. 815 N. 10th. $420. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (1451)

TWO-BEDROOM furnished. 1408 Fairchild. $260. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (1451)

Fall Leases
* Fremont Apartments
* Sandstone Apartments
Large 2 BR Units
537-9064

FOR RENT—HOUSES 05

ONE-THREE non-smoking roommates. Prefer Vet or Animal Science majors to share modern farm-house. Free stall and pasture for horse, cow, dog, Beef eggs, wood, skiboat furnished. Reply P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan. (138-150)

AVAILABLE JUNE—Two-bedrooms. 1822 Hunting. 917 Kearney. $300. Phone 539-8401. (1451)

THREE-BEDROOM house, carport, very close to campus. Available June 1. Phone 539-5953. (142-146)

THREE-BEDROOM house, washer/dryer, dishwasher, fireplace, garage. $525/month. June 1. 1215 Ratone. Call 539-4564. (142-145)

THREE-BEDROOM house, close to campus. 1411 Vista Lane, clean, no pets, $400 month plus deposit. Phone 235-3550 Topeka, Kansas. evenings. (144-148)

1400 SQUARE feet, washer, dryer, fenced-in back yard. $350. 539-9356 or 537-0069. (145-147)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1st, with appliances, two baths, near campus. $500. Call 537-8420. (145-149)

THREE-BEDROOM duplex, unfurnished. University location. Starting June. $395. Phone 537-1269. (1451)

AVAILABLE JUNE. Four-bedroom, east of campus one block. $500/month. Five-bedroom east of campus. $550/month. Lease and deposit. 539-3672. (145-147)

AVAILABLE MID-May. Efficiency in duplex west of campus three blocks. $190/month. Lease and deposit. 539-3672. (145-147)

FOR SALE—AUTO 06

1979 CHEVROLET Camaro Z-28. 350, recently overhauled, automatic, new tires and battery. 49,500 miles. 776-6240. (142-147)

1980 MAZDA RX-7. five-speed, great condition, sunroof, air conditioned. New AM-FM cassette. Call 539-7491, ask for Phil. (144-150)

DATSUN 710, must sell. $800 with repair. $400 without. 539-9843. Masumi at #320 Seaton. (144-147)

1978 GOLD Trans Am Cruise. tilt air, automatic. AM-FM cassette. $1,200 or best offer. 776-3721. (144-148)

1967 MUSTANG—Runs good, looks nice. $2,300. Phone 537-4211. (145-147)

FOR SALE—MISC 07

BICYCLE—Fuji Del Ray. Perfect condition, less than 100 miles. $250. Phone 537-4376. (141-145)

KING SIZE waterbed, semi-motionless fiber-fill mattress, bookcase headboard, six-drawer pedestal. $300. Greg. 539-5875. (141-145)

FOR SALE: Desk, $20 or best offer. Call 539-9144. (144-146)

SUPER SINGLE waterbed, complete, std or three-drawer base. Huffy 27 inch 10-speed Fender Jaguar guitar with case. Call between 5:10 p.m. 537-9853. (143-145)

LABRADOR PUPS, A.K.C. registered, black, excellent hunting stock. Eastern Shore bloodline. 537-8367. (143-147)

SUNTANNING
SPECIAL
10-30 min. sessions
$20
776-1750

SUN CONNECTION

NOW SELLING
$2
SESSIONS
1126 Laramie 776-2426

Bobby J's
Restaurant and Fundrignery
WEDNESDAYS
16 oz. T-Bone and the works!
$4.79
also 6 oz. Fillet
$2.99
5:30-8:30 p.m.
3240 Kimball—Candlewood
across from Cico Park

(Continued on page 13)

PUTT-PUTT
GOLF COURSES
For the fun of it!
(taken from Wal-Mart)

COUNTRY
GIFT SHOP
Bears • Dolls • Folk Art • Home Decor
"East of Holidome"
Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30 539-3854
2206 Ft. Riley Blvd. Manhattan, Ka. 66502

Open 7 days a week
Free Delivery
11 a.m.-1 a.m.
HUNAM EXPRESS
1116 Moro 537-0886
(regroll & fried rice 99¢)
Call 539-8888 or 537-0886
HUNAM Restaurant
1304 Westloop 539-8888
(10% off with KSU ID)

LOOKING FOR WEDDING PRESENTS?
try
STRECKER GALLERY
We have the presents with the personal touch.
332 POYNTZ 539-2139

Blue River Pub
Tonight
"Satin Rage"
Thursday
Male Strippers
•ID Required
•9-12 p.m.
Next to Tuttle Creek Dam
537-9877

SAFEWAY
222 N. 6th
3011 Anderson
New Store Hours
7 a.m. to 10 p.m.
7 days a week
Specials April 29-May 5
Coke, diet Coke, Classic Coke... .99¢
2-liter
Hamburger, Hot dog... 3/$1
8-count packages
Ozark charcoal... 2/$5
10-pound
Old Milwaukee reg. & light... $3.49
12-12 oz. cans
Check cashing with Student I.D.

MARYSOL
New Bulb
SPECIAL
10 Tanning Sessions $20
(use anytime)
offer expires 5/3/87
1214C Moro 776-7874

thank you!
thank you!
thank you!
thank you!
Recreation
May 4-13
Bowling
70¢ per game
Billards
$1.00 per hour per table
Table Tennis
75¢ per hour per table
Sat. May 8, 9 a.m.-noon, rent-a-lane $2.50 per hour per lane (approximately 40¢ per game)
Without you we would be nothing.
That's why the K-State Union will be running specials throughout the week—May 4-13
k-state union
recreation area 0202
thank you!

Wichita
Family Planning Inc.
Absolutely Confidential Abortion Services
Free Pregnancy Testing
Immediate appointments, days, weekends, and evening hours.
3013 E. Central Wichita, KS., 67214 (316) 688-0107

KSU Credit Union
offers you
Car
loans
Boat
loans
RV
loans
Financing as low as
9.5% APR
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
FEDERAL CREDIT UNION
A service for faculty, staff and qualified graduate assistants
KSU KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
Anderson Hall, Room 24A
Open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Monday through Friday
532-6274

(Continued from page 12)

CONDOMS

Protection Express will deliver to your door Friday and Saturday nights 7 p.m.-3 a.m. Discrete and prompt 539-2159

WEDNESDAYS ROARING '20s
$1.50 DRINKS
peanuts, popcorn, meal of fortune 4-9 p.m.

MALE FERRET, de-scented, litter, food, water bottle, etc. included. $50. Phone 537-7704. (144-146)

FOR SALE—Hide-a-bed sofa. Good condition. Great for apartment! $100, call 539-4518. (145-147)

TWIN BED with headboard. Good condition and comfortable. $50 or best offer (phone 532-6651) 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (145-147)

STEREO, DIGITAL—Ready four-way speakers, $200; Toshiba cassette deck, $65; Akai receiver, $100; as set for $300. Make offer. Call Brad, 537-9652. (145-147)

PLANT SALE: Many large and small indoor plants. Reasonable prices. Wednesday, 4 p.m. 3024 Sandstone Apartments, no. 10. (145)

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY—Own the most sophisticated Mobile D.J. system in the Midwest. Earn your way through school. Call 532-2107. (145-149)

WEDNESDAY
Double your flavor at Double Discount Coupon Night on Sandwiches and Dinners.
Double Your Fun!
50c coupon limit 4-9 p.m.

The Chef
111 S. 4th

LAST CHANCE: Couch, rocker, microwave, stereo and cabinet, best offer. 539-8490. (144-145)

FOR SALE—MOBILE HOMES 08
FOR RENT or For Sale: 10 x 50 mobile home. Stove, refrigerator, air. Unfurnished. 537-7622 after 5 p.m. (134-147)

12 x 60, NICE two-bedroom, two-bath with storage shed. Must sell! 539-8932. (140-145)

THREE-BEDROOM 12 x 65 mobile home. Central air, washer, dryer, two sheds, close to campus. 539-1315. (141-145)

1977 SUULT, 12 x 55, two bedrooms, central air, washer/dryer, stove, refrigerator, shed, dog pen, real nice. 135 Walnut Grove, 532-6285/494-8391. (144-146)

1977, 14 x 56 Skyline, extra nice. Two bedroom with new carpet and skirting. Two large storage sheds and chain-link fenced yard. Appliances included. 539-0150. (144-147)

RENT TO own, 10 x 55, one-bedroom, large living room with study area/deck, weekday evenings. 776-0904. (145-147)

FOR SALE—MOTORCYCLES 09

1985 KAWASAKI GPZ 750. Only 1,400 miles. Asking $2,600. Call 776-9341 after 5:30 p.m. (141-145)

1983 YAMAHA 185. Great school transportation. Only 3,500 miles. New condition. $550 negotiable. 537-2857 or 537-7496. (141-145)

HONDA TWINSTAR 200, good condition. Phone 532-5926 or 537-1696. (143-146)

1982 YAMAHA 650 Maxim, 3,000 miles, perfect condition. $1,200. Phone 537-4910, ask for Russ. (145-147)

MUST SELL—1982 Honda 650 Nighthawk. Faring, AM/FM cassette, new tires, chain, sprockets. $950. Phone 539-6761. (145-147)

1973 HONDA 125cc. Good condition. $200. Call Brad, 537-9652. (145-147)

FOUND 10
FOUND: SET of keys in Cardwell 103. Identify to claim. Jeff, 537-7559. (145-147)

HELP WANTED 13

EARN $480 weekly—$60 per hundred circulars mailed. Guaranteed. Work at home and participate in our Company project mailing circulars and assembling materials. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to JKB Mailing Company, P.O. Box 25, Castaic, California, 91310. (117-148)

BASEMENT APARTMENT in exchange for supervision of two school-age children and light house-keeping. Seeking serious student. Call 776-9401 days, or 776-8037 evenings. (143-145)

SUMMER HELP needed at Ashland Horticulture Farm. Call 539-3991 and ask for Jerry. (143-147)

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT in Johnson County. Bossler-Hix temporary, contact Mary Schmidt. 776-2224, evenings. (144-145)

HELP WANTED

Now accepting applications for full and part-time employment. Experience necessary. Please call 776-4117 for interview appointment time.

DAIRY QUEEN

1015 N. 3rd

ASK FOR MR. FRYE

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY for upper classman completing education. Summer position and possible year-round, on-site leasing assistant. Summers: 20-30 hours/week, afternoons and Saturdays. School year: 10-15 hours/week including Saturdays. Send letter and resume to: Box 7, Kedzie Hall 103, KSU. (141-150)

KANSAS STATE University announces a vacancy for Software/Project Manager, temporary full-time position. To serve as a member of Extension computer support staff and provide leadership in software development projects. Knowledge of and experience in software engineering, program designs, and programming languages as they relate to microcomputers are necessary. A letter of interest, transcript(s) and resume along with three letters of reference must be sent to Dr. Roger Terry, UMBURGER HALL—Room 211, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506 or call (913) 532-6270 by May 20, 1987. Kansas State University is an equal opportunity employer. (141-150)

A SUMMER job on a dairy and swine operation. Free room and board. Wages are negotiable. Call 316-736-2828. (142-146)

HARD-WORKING, fun-loving cook, cleaner and babysitter. Monday through Friday, 3-6 p.m. during May (flexible). 8-5 for summer vacation (vacation?). Own transportation required. Sense of humor?? 539-8016 after 6 p.m. (142-145)

WANTED: DEPENDABLE summer farm help. 45 miles from Manhattan. House available. 922-6796 after 6 p.m. (143-147)

FULL AND part-time help! National Firm is preparing for Spring and Summer work. If accepted, you will earn $8.10 starting. Some evening and weekend positions are available and some flexibility is allowed during final exams. If you qualify, corporate scholarships are awarded. Internships are possible, and you may earn 2, 3, 4 credit quarter or semester. During summer break full-time work is available. Call (913) 345-9675 Monday-Friday between 9 a.m.-5 p.m. (135-148)

FAMILY WANTS college girl to live in for summer. Assist with house and yard in exchange for board and room—Box 3, 1/2 Collegian. (144-148)

NEED A job? Do you like meeting people? Then this is the job for you! Paid weekly, home every night. Meals and transportation furnished. If you're interested, contact Jim Meyers at 537-1578. The Wichita Eagle-Beacon. (144-146)

STUDENT PROGRAMMER Consultant. Programming and experience with both mainframe and microcomputers, along with GPA will be selection criteria. Undergraduates with employment potential of two years given preference. Contact Jacques Meisner, room 23, Cardwell Hall by 5 p.m., May 1. EOE. (144-147)

SUMMER JOB, 15-20 hours/week, typing skills required. Apply before May 5 at 532-6516, extension 25. (144-146)

CAMP COUNSELORS—Camp Wiedemann. Hiring for summer. Call 316-684-6531. EOE. (144-148)

WATERFRONT STAFF—Camp Wiedemann. Now hiring WSI and Lifeguards. Call 316-684-6531. EOE. (144-148)

WANTED BARTENDERS, waiters, cooks. Part time. Experience preferred. Hours and wages open. Junction City Country Club. 913-238-1161. (144-148)

ADMINISTRATIVE COORDINATOR. Probable opening. Experience and skills in financial operations, personnel administration, supervision and office management. Send letter and resume by May 1 to Kathy Whalen, LERN, 1554 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. (145)

California Dreamin'?

Nannies needed on West Coast. Established Midwest firm with excellent reputation arranges your placement. We screen families in their homes. Licensed. No fee. Minimum stay one year. Call or write:

ARCHER DAWSON AGENCY

5136 Spaulding St.

Omaha, NE 68104

402-554-1103

LAST CHANCE is accepting applications for bartenders. In person, 1213 Moro. (145-150)

SUMMER IN New York! Live-in Mother's Helper's needed for young families throughout affluent suburbs of metropolitan New York area. Ideal opportunity for someone who has a fondness for children and is interested in travel, meeting people, and learning more about the East Coast. For information, write or call: Claire Sussman, 5 Laurel Lane, Darien, CT 06820, (203) 656-0707. (145-149)

LOST 14

LOST—FERRET, albino, male. Very friendly. If you've seen him please call me at 537-3123 or come by V-31 Jardine. (142-145)

NOTICES 15

GAYLESBIAN? Write for Kansas/Missouri information. Personally, P.O. Box 218, Daily City, California 94016-0218. Mailed discreetly/confidentially. (131-150)

PERSONAL 16

ANDY. DUE to the fact we are both caught under a spell, don't be surprised by what's coming in the mail. Friends and a lot more. Tiger. (144-145)

ALPHA CHI's: I'm coming home—4 p.m. Friday! Love, Annabelle. (145)

THERE ONCE was a man with a beard, who was followed by women who leered. His traits were astounding, his thrill was accounting. But he knew not of how he appeared. The inquirer (spelled right). (145)

WANTED WOMAN warrior, who knows Micaela, Mimi, or Madama Butterfly for Adventure. Serendipity. (145)

HONDA AND Sponge. Motto o' the day: We come before you do. Discrete and Prompt. (145)

OUR DEAREST Peej. The time has come when you are finally two decades plus one. So pool up the posidon and put on your dancing shoes, cause we've got the C.T. and you've got the moves. Happy Birthday. Nellie and La. (145)

NO THANKS—Stopped at Chapman for some gas. I cruised 90 but you were too fast. Monte Carlo. (145-146)

LORI—A.K.A. Neck. Question: How does one lock oneself in one's trunk? Answer: See Thursday's Personals. (145)

TWO GIRLS in CRX. Guys on motorcycle want to visit our cereal bowls, you took Friday night. Respond in Personals. (145-146)

NEWMAN SOFTBALL is cruising to the playoffs. Let's party Friday with best sound around!! (145)

SIG EP—Deron L. It's about time you asked your KU Alpha Delta Pi, congratulations on your pinning. (145)

INQUIRER, I'm not so shy, just say hi, I'm curious. Are you? Getting away from the bearded look. (145)

ICE CREME Gai—What's the scoop? Are you interested? Reply in Personals. Blue Z. (145)

REMEMBER CHRISTMAS in Miami? Don't miss the Prehistoric Party. May 2nd 9 p.m. Loincloth required. Uughh. (145-146)

TO MY neighbor who looked so sexy with BBO sauce on his tummy! Have a nice day—you know where to find me! (Maybe we can take another motorcycle ride—Ha!) (145)

TO "THE Gang" of Ford I: Thank you so much for always being here when I need you all. I hope I have not been too much a pain. I'm going to miss you all! Love, Kristi. (145)

WANTED BABYSITTERS for well-behaved, oversized boys (age 20 and 22). Must accept dinner and dancing as payments. Signed, the Dutchmill Duo. (145)

TO THE girl wearing the gold shirt, white mini-skirt. We could meet Thursday 9 p.m. at Bushwackers. London Hard Rock. (145)

MIMI (PW) Pretty eyes. I'm crazy for you. Love you tons M.E. (145)

P.J. HAPPY 21st Birthday! G.P. (145)

BOY, OH BOY—Yer not a shorty and now yer 40! Stats fantastic. Love, Mom, Dad, Marti, Mary, Tom and the Manhattan bunch. (145)

PIKE DATES—Forecast says 90° and sunny. We say party... Rites of Spring. (145)

ROOMMATE WANTED 17

ROOMMATE WANTED: Non-smoking female to share a two-bedroom apartment, one-half block east of campus. $150 a month plus utilities. Call 537-0911. (132-147)

NON-SMOKING FEMALE—$180/month/year, all utilities paid. Large house, central air, washer, dryer, sundeck, lots of room. No pets. 539-6628. (138-150)

MATURE FEMALE needed to share house. Lots of privacy. Five blocks from campus. $200 includes utilities. Available summer and fall. Phone 776-7541. (139-148)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice two-bedroom apartment close to campus. Call Carla afternoon and evenings. 539-4301. (141-150)

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apartment. Mid-May to August. Rent negotiable. Call 776-7018. (142-146)

ROOMMATE WANTED: Beginning May. Country living. Pets welcome. $150 pays all. Call Terry. 776-9277, evenings. (142-147)

FEMALE NON-SMOKER for summer and/or fall. Own room, pool, fireplace, etc. $200 includes utilities. Barbara. 539-7464. (143-145)

ROOMMATE WANTED: To share very nice house with a male for the summer. Graduate student preferred. Call Joel at 776-2450. (143-147)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom apartment for summer. Rent negotiable. 537-9589. (143-147)

FEMALE ROOMMATE—own room May 14 to August 1. $80 a month plus utilities. 539-7906. (143-147)

ROOMER—SUMMER, possibly fall. Board optional. Rent for child care. Ideal for person with part-time job or student. Nonsmoker. 539-5170. (144-148)

SUMMER MALE roommate to share three-bedroom house. Close to campus. $130 plus one-third utilities. 776-1767. (144-150)

NON-SMOKING, easy-going person. Own room in spacious, comfortable house three blocks from campus. Features include: fireplace, microwave, dishwasher, cable TV and draught beer. Available now. Bills paid. $175/month. Call Jeff at 776-0203. (145-149)

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment for summer. Own room. Close to campus. Call 532-2126 or 532-5417. (145-150)

ONE OR two non-smoking female roommates wanted to share house. Own room. Two rooms available. 537-1273. (145-149)

NON-SMOKING female wanted to share nice apartment 1 1/2 blocks from campus for fall and spring semesters. $140/month plus utilities. 776-2084 after 5 p.m. (145-147)

SERVICES 18

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S. Fourth St. Suite 25. (11f)

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. 913-841-5716. (39f)

WORD PROCESSING. Letter-quality printing. Type from draft or cassette transcription, data entry. IBM PC compatible. Cathy. 539-5996 evenings. (139-150)

EXPERIENCED TYPIST—Disc storage, letter quality printer, resumes, reports, etc., reasonable rates. 532-5961. 537-9205. Donna. (129-147)

Typing. ANY kind, fast service. Call 494-8369 after 6 p.m. (138-150)

Typing—TERM papers, resumes, cover letters, forms, etc. Call 539-2411. (141-145)

Television—VCR—Stereo Repair

We service ALL BRANDS!

In business since 1970

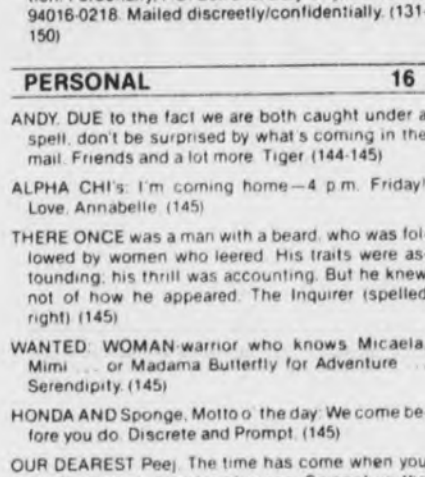

GHRE'S

1917 Ft. Riley Blvd. 776-9259

LIFE and Times

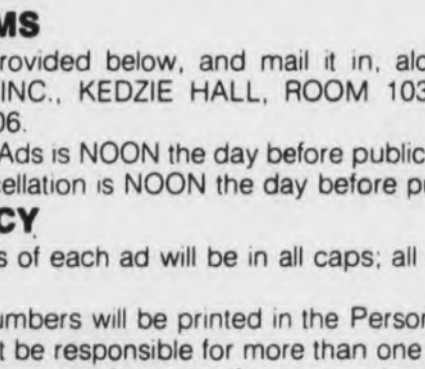

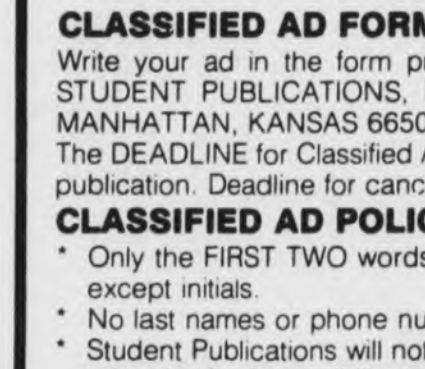

Bloom County

Garfield

Peanuts

Crossword

ACROSS
1 Become entangled
5 Army officer: abbr.
8 "As Long as I Need Me" (song)
12 Recorded proceedings
13 Hawk parrot
14 Lollipop, for one?
15 Business gah
17 Garden tube
18 Role for Roland Young
19 Slip by 21 Sweet potato
22 Resounded
23 Bet in roulette
26 Opener
28 Wading bird
31 Yearn
33 Soak
35 Oil exporter
36 Minute particles
38 Linkletter

DOWN
1 "Two Years Before the —"
2 She loved Narcissus
3 Word before sign or order
4 Glad
5 Fascinating person
6 OPEC's concern
7 Los Angeles cager
8 Region in Ghana
9 Store clerk
10 Sound of displeasure
11 Fencing sword
16 Valuable wood
20 — Vegas
23 Ewe said it!
24 Perform
25 Rob the store
27 One vote
29 New Guinea town
30 High explosive
32 Rival successfully
34 Cocked hat
37 Mineral spring
39 It might be tender
40 Lease
41 Insect stage
43 Mr. Gershwin
45 TV soap
47 Social divisions
51 Met showstopper
52 No longer
54 Float
55 Make public
56 Samoan seaport
57 Grafted: Her.
58 Strong urge
59 Tide

Solution time: 24 mins.
LAPS SKY FRAT
ORLEEE LULU
FLATTOPS AGES
TOY OTT STACK
FRY ROB
ADULT MOTORED
LANA PACAULA
FLATTER STEIN
HAG RAS
PETER EEL ITA
AURA FLATIRON
ARID OIL WALT
REOS PAM AQUA

DOWN
1 "Two Years Before the —"
2 She loved Narcissus
3 Word before sign or order
4 Glad
5 Fascinating person
6 OPEC's concern
7 Los Angeles cager
8 Region in Ghana
9 Store clerk
10 Sound of displeasure
11 Fencing sword
16 Valuable wood
20 — Vegas
23 Ewe said it!
24 Perform
25 Rob the store
27 One vote
29 New Guinea town
30 High explosive
32 Rival successfully
34 Cocked hat
37 Mineral spring
39 It might be tender
40 Lease
41 Insect stage
43 Mr. Gershwin
45 TV soap
47 Social divisions
51 Met showstopper
52 No longer
54 Float
55 Make public
56 Samoan seaport
57 Grafted: Her.
58 Strong urge
59 Tide

Solution time: 24 mins.
LAPS SKY FRAT
ORLEEE LULU
FLATTOPS AGES
TOY OTT STACK
FRY ROB
ADULT MOTORED
LANA PACAULA
FLATTER STEIN
HAG RAS
PETER EEL ITA
AURA FLATIRON
ARID OIL WALT
REOS PAM AQUA

By Eugene Sheffer

CRYPTOQUIP

4-29
DJ EBGLSQ OUBWMSU WMS
KXUQSZSU KSWWGZK DXU
UGSQ NXZWL DS WB OS
GZ WMS NSSQGZK EXUWJ
Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE MURDERER WHO WROTE HIS RISQUE MEMOIRS IS DRAWN AND QUOTED.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Q equals D

Collegian Classified Advertising

CLASSIFIED AD FORMS

Write your ad in the form provided below, and mail it in, along with the correct payment, to STUDENT PUBLICATIONS, INC., KEDZIE HALL, ROOM 103, KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506.

The DEADLINE for Classified Ads is NOON the day before publication; NOON Friday for Monday's publication. Deadline for cancellation is NOON the day before publication.

CLASSIFIED AD POLICY

- Only the FIRST TWO words of each ad will be in all caps; all other words will be in caps/lower, except initials.
- No last names or phone numbers will be printed in the Personals section.
- Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.
- Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.
- The Collegian reserves the right to edit or reject any advertisement at any time.

Classified Ad Rates

Words/Day	1	2	3	4	5	Extra Days
1-15	2.25	3.25	4.00	4.50	4.75	1.00
16	2.40	3.45	4.25	4.80	5.10	1.05
17	2.55	3.65	4.50	5.10	5.45	1.10
18	2.70	3.85	4.75	5.40	5.80	1.15
19	2.85	4.05	5.00	5.70	6.15	1.20
20	3.00	4.25	5.25	6.00	6.50	1.25
21	3.15	4.45	5.50	6.30	6.85	1.30
22	3.30	4.65	5.75	6.60	7.20	1.35
23	3.45	4.85	6.00	6.90	7.55	1.40
24	3.60	5.05	6.25	7.20	7.90	1.45
25	3.75	5.25	6.50	7.50	8.25	1.50
26	3.90	5.45	6.75	7.80	8.60	1.55
27	4.05	5.65	7.00	8.10	8.95	1.60
28	4.20	5.85	7.25	8.40	9.30	1.65
29	4.35	6.05	7.50	8.70	9.65	1.70
30	4.50	6.25	7.75	9.00	10.00	1.75
Over 30 words

Double Coupons

Double Your Savings On All Manufacturer's "Cents Off" Coupons Up To And Including 50¢ In Value.

—Bonus Special—
24 oz. Ctn.

Dillon's Cottage Cheese

Small or Large Curd, Lowfat Small Additional Purchases $1.09 Ctn.

Super Coupon!

Small or Large Curd, Lowfat Small, 24 oz. Ctn.
Dillon's Cottage Cheese

79¢

With This Coupon

Limit One Ctn. With Coupon.
Limit One Coupon Per Customer.
Coupon Good April 29 - May 5, 1987.
Super Coupons Not Included In Double Coupon Program.

—Bonus Special—
2 Liter Plastic Btl.

Rocky Top Pop

Assorted Flavors, Regular or Diet
Additional Purchases 69¢ Btl.

Assorted Flavors, Regular or Diet,
2 Liter Plastic Btl.

Rocky Top Pop

39¢

With This Coupon

Super Coupon!

Limit Two Btls. With Coupon.
Limit One Coupon Per Customer.
Coupon Good April 29 - May 5, 1987.
Super Coupons Not Included In Double Coupon Program.

—Bonus Special—
12 oz. Pkg.
Bar-S Beef Or Meat Franks

Additional Purchases
79¢ Pkg.

Super Coupon!

Beef or Meat,
12 oz. Pkg.
Bar-S Franks

59¢

With This Coupon

Limit One Pkg. With Coupon.
Limit One Coupon Per Customer.
Coupon Good April 29 - May 5, 1987.
Super Coupons Not Included In Double Coupon Program.

—Bonus Special—
Golden Ripe Bananas

"NO COUPON REQUIRED"
25¢ Lb.

Ad Prices Effective
April 29th Thru
May 5th, 1987.
Limit Rights Reserved.
(Ad Not Good In Pittsburg, Ks.)

Deli & Cheese Shop

—Bonus Special—

Let Dillon's
Deli Prepare
Your Dinner
Tonight!

Summer Sausage	Sparrer's Smokey Beef Everyone's Favorite!	Lb.	$2.49
Smoke Cheese	Pauly Sharp Cheddar or Swiss	Lb.	$3.19
Swift Loaf	Mac & Cheese or Olive	Lb.	$2.49
Pasta Salad	Deli Fresh	Lb.	$1.39

Deli Items Available Only In Stores With Delis. Not Available In These Towns: Pratt, Arkansas City, Greensburg, El Dorado, Winfield, Larned, Derby, Mulvane, St. John or Sterling.

Ready-To-Eat Fully Cooked
Hot Dogs, Polish Sausage or Hot Links

Ea. 35¢ or 3/$1

Seafood Shoppe

—Bonus Special—

Bay Scallops	Fresh Florida	Lb.	$4.49
Snapper Fillets	Fresh Pacific	Lb.	$3.09
Salad Shrimp	Cooked & Peeled 250-350 Ct.	Lb.	$4.39
Cocktail or Tartar Sauce	Bookbinders 8 oz. Jar		$1.29

Look For Our Recipes At Our Seafood Counter.
Lobster And Shrimp Spiced And Steamed Free.

No Seafood Shoppes In These Towns: McPherson, Wellington, Augusta, Pratt, Arkansas City, Greensburg, El Dorado, Winfield, Larned, Derby, Mulvane, St. John or Sterling. Some Seafood Items Available In Dodge City, Hays, Great Bend, Junction City or Emporia.

Soup & Salad Bar...

Take home a fresh salad tonight! Make it right in the store at our new self-service Salad Bar. We have over 40 ingredients to choose from, including 5 Marie's Salad Dressings.

(Available only in stores with salad bars. Salad bars not in these towns: Salina, Dodge City, Emporia, Hays, Wellington, Augusta, Pratt, Arkansas City, Greensburg, El Dorado, Winfield, Larned, Derby, Mulvane, St. John or Sterling.)

Flower Shop...

—Bonus Special—

May Day Basket Arrangement
$10.99

Cash 'N' Carry

from our Plant Dept. . .

—Bonus Special—
4" Ceramic Planter
$3.69

Cash 'N' Carry

Delivery Twice Daily - Morning And Afternoon (Sunday - Afternoon Only.)

We Have A Good Selection Of Bedding Plants
In All Dillon Stores.

Available only in towns with Flower Shops. (NO FLOWER SHOPS in these towns: Hays, Augusta, Pratt, Larned, Arkansas City, Greensburg, El Dorado, Derby, St. John, Winfield, Mulvane or Sterling.)

Weather

Mostly Sunny

Mostly sunny today, high 80 to 85. Wind southeast 5 to 15 mph. Mostly clear tonight, low in mid-50s. Mostly sunny Friday, high in mid- to upper 80s.

Inside

Ethnic Bread

As Americans travel abroad, they are discovering ethnic breads as the answer to the standardized-bread blahs. See Page 5.

Sports

International Call

Shawnee Call has been selected to try out for the U.S. international team that will compete this summer in Yugoslavia. See Page 9.

Kansas State

Collegian

Thursday
April 30, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 146

Passing time

Dean Meyer, sophomore in environmental design, passes the time away with studies and some tanning on the front lawn of the Union while waiting for his 4:30 class. Temperatures soared into the 90s Wednesday, and warm weather is expected to continue today with highs reaching the mid-80s under sunny skies.

North ally enters plea of guilty in tax case

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Contra fundraiser Carl R. "Spitz" Channell pleaded guilty Wednesday to conspiring with fired White House aide Oliver L. North to defraud the government of taxes on more than $2 million raised for the Nicaraguan rebels and agreed to cooperate with a federal prosecutor's investigation of the Iran-Contra affair.

Channell, asked by U.S. District Judge Stanley S. Harris to name the persons with whom he conspired to defraud the Treasury, replied, "Col. North, an official of the National Security Council."

Channell could be sentenced to five years' imprisonment and fined $250,000 for his guilty plea of conspiring to defraud the government.

David Zornow, an assistant to independent counsel Lawrence E. Walsh, told the judge that three other members of Channell's organization, the National Endowment for the Preservation of Liberty, had signed written agreements with Walsh's office to cooperate with the continuing investigation.

At the request of prosecutors, Harris postponed Channell's sentencing until the completion of the investigation.

As he left the courtroom, Channell declined to comment on his guilty plea, saying: "No, I've said it all."

Harris ordered that Channell be released on his personal recognizance and directed him to surrender his U.S. passport. He is to be fingerprinted and booked by the FBI within three days.

During the brief hearing, Zornow told the judge that prosecutors could prove that "having obtained the exempt status for the National Endowment for the Preservation of Liberty, Channell and others beginning in 1985 subverted its purposes and operated it" to arm the Nicaraguan rebels.

See CHANNELL, Page 12

Operational changes assist area veterinarians

By TERESA TEMME
Staff Writer

Although the Department of Veterinary Diagnosis has had some communication problems the past year, M.W. Vorhies, director of the department, believes changes in operational methods will help solve these problems.

"It's the beginning," he said. "We have a long way to go."

The communication problems resulted in slow returns on samples sent in for diagnosis by regional veterinarians. Vorhies said. By the time many of the samples were returned to the veterinarians, it was too late for them to take action.

Vorhies said delays forced a few veterinarians to seek diagnostic advice from other institutions.

Progress ensures quick diagnoses

Samples submitted to the department for diagnosis include anything from an entire animal to part of it.

The department, which was established in 1961, serves as a teaching, service and research facility, he said.

"We have a significant responsibility in service, and everything else keys off that," he said. "They are all kind of hand-and-glove activities."

Vorhies said some of the roles of the department include providing acute diagnoses to stop animal death losses; providing diagnoses to veterinarians around the state, and teaching professional and graduate students in animal diagnosis.

DIAGNOSTIC PROBLEMS

Vorhies, in his first year at K-State, said the communication problems at the University's department were brought to his attention while he served as head of veterinary science and director of the animal disease research and diagnostic laboratory at South Dakota State University, Brookings. He said several Kansas veterinarians sent their samples to South Dakota to receive quicker results.

"We had no idea if the sample got to the department," said Dr. Mike Whitehair, practitioner in Abilene and a consulting veterinarian for the Ottawa County Cattle Association. "We always received word back, but it was not always quick enough to use."

"Clients have needs that go beyond school loyalties," Whitehair said, who sought assistance from South Dakota's facilities when Vorhies was the director there.

"Several times it took reports too long to come back (from the K-State department), and we would have to take action before they arrived back," said Dr. Richard Adams, president of the Kansas Veterinarians Medical Association and practitioner in El Dorado and Potwin.

Consequently, Adams said he sent some of his samples for diagnosis to Oklahoma State University in Stillwater because they responded faster.

See CHANGES, Page 12

Panel studies suicide signs

By KARI COMPTON
Collegian Reporter

Recognizing the symptoms of suicide in adolescents can be as simple as taking the time and effort to talk and listen to people, said three speakers at a seminar on adolescent suicide Wednesday evening.

The question-and-answer seminar, sponsored by the Arnold Air Society, was conducted by Tony Jurich, professor of human development and adviser to the FONE Crisis Center; Dave Koran, Manhattan High School counselor; and Tom Coleman, clinical psychologist at Lafene Student Health Center.

One of the questions discussed by the panelists was when and why suicide becomes an option for an adolescent.

Koran said suicide becomes an option to people when coping with life becomes unbearable.

"Suicide is the ultimate inappropriate coping mechanism, and in adolescence there is inadequate time to develop coping skills, so suicide stands out as a way to solve whatever the problem is," he said.

Jurich said adolescents have a limited perspective because often they fail to realize that the crisis in their life will pass and they will survive.

"Death becomes enticing when stress becomes so big that death no longer seems scary. It becomes a seducer, a temptress," he said.

A member of the audience asked if the recent suicide of Stephen

Lobmeyer, who was a K-State student, may have been a cry for help because he chose a slow method of death in a populated area where people could have foiled his attempt at suicide.

Coleman replied that there are varying degrees which people ask for help when contemplating suicide, and each should be taken seriously.

Some people talk openly about committing suicide. Others only hint of suicide, while some people don't say anything at all — they just kill themselves, he said.

"People who put themselves into a dangerous situation, whether or not they plan on committing suicide, might kill themselves anyway by accident," he said. "If you slip off of the eighth floor of Ford Hall, or if you jump, either way you're still dead."

Coleman suggested a relationship between media coverage and the increased rate of suicide.

Jurich said although the media must be used to help create awareness, fictional presentation of suicide (as in popular films) can portray it in a way that could mislead adolescents.

Jurich said there are three ways to recognize and help prevent suicides.

"Go out and talk to people. How many of you have gone up to someone and said, 'You're looking down; do you want to talk about it?'" he asked.

The second step is to let those people know they are not alone, and the third thing is to know what resources are available for the person.

Plans continue for local war memorial

By The Collegian Staff

To remember K-State students who died in the Vietnam war, the K-State Vietnam Memorial Committee is continuing plans for a memorial.

Thirty-one students who attended or graduated from K-State died in connection with war, which ended 12 years ago today with the unconditional surrender of South Vietnam.

More than 57,000 American soldiers were killed in Southeast Asia, and 153,000 more soldiers were wounded.

U.S. troops began combat operations in 1965, and four years later more than 500,000 U.S. servicemen were fighting against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces.

All U.S. military personnel withdrew from Vietnam by March 29, 1973.

In December 1986, Gary Haulmark, sophomore in political science, formed the committee because he saw "the need for an appropriate memorial."

Haulmark, chairman of the committee, said this memorial will be a more fitting representation than the plaque in the Union.

"The plaque in the Union is inadequate when you think of the ultimate sacrifice made by fellow students defending their country, and the hopes that we can learn from our past and never forgetting this tragedy," Haulmark said.

Vietnam veteran Tom Searcy agreed.

"If constructed in the right manner, the memorial can be a reminder to all of us of some tragic event that we don't ever want to be involved in again," said Searcy, a memorial selection committee member.

University planners have identified the most likely location for the memorial — the campus quadrangle north of Nichols Hall and west of McCain Auditorium.

Gov. Mike Hayden has accepted the position of honorary chairman for the K-State Vietnam Memorial Committee. The memorial is progressing on schedule for the dedication day, which has been planned for the observance of Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

Support is being solicited from campus and community groups along with private donations in the form of money and materials.

A contest sponsored by the committee will begin in the next week to design the memorial. A design package will be available in the coming week with a deadline of June 21.

Use of limestone as a building material is the only criterion set for the design, Haulmark said.

"This is a reminder to everyone, and a tribute to those who served," Searcy said.

Experts debate Kansas' role in waste compact

By JONIE R. TRUED
Editor

The crowd gathered Wednesday evening at Manhattan High was small, but discussion flowed on whether Kansas should remain in the Central Interstate Low-level Radioactive Waste Compact.

Two K-State personnel, John P. Lambert, director of public safety for the University, and Larry Erickson, professor of chemical engineering, said they supported remaining in the compact despite several legal and political questions compact opponents say remain unanswered.

"There is a value to staying in the compact," Erickson said. "I have faith that (technology) can work. Whether we stay in the compact or not is not a particular concern of mine, I just want (the facility) to be done right."

Erickson said technology exists for safe storage of radioactive waste but said the public must be willing to trust private enterprises that make a business of storing waste.

"We need public confidence that (radioactive waste storage sites) can be done right," he said.

Lambert said storage of low-level radioactive waste by burial was not a problem particularly since new regulations require waste generators to encase the material in concrete prior to transporting it to a disposal facility.

While Lambert and Erickson both supported allowing a private company to build the regional waste facility, proponents of pulling out of the compact based their arguments on what they call "control and accountability" issues.

Both issues, they claim, would be lacking if a company, rather than the state of Kansas, built the facility.

Steve Boyda, an attorney from Marysville and activist in favor of abandoning the Central Interstate compact, said the legal language binding Kansas to the compact also strips the state of any authority over a regional facility that could be constructed in Kansas.

Boyda explained how the compact, whether it allows Kansas to have "environmental jurisdiction" or not, is the supreme authority in both the construction and operation of any regional facility.

He said, for example, if new technology is developed by a team of K-State engineers between now and when the facility is constructed, and if Kansas wants to implement that new technology into the facility, it must first be approved by the compact.

'...Whether we stay in the compact or not is not a particular concern of mine, I just want (the facility) to be done right.'
— Larry Erickson

The compact says, "Wait a minute — what Kansas wants to do will increase the cost of storing a cubic foot of waste another $45. Kansas is being arbitrary and capricious." And (the compact would) decline allowing any new technology to be implemented in the Kansas facility," Boyda said.

Boyda said the Kansas Department of Health and Environment does not have any control over the quality of a proposed compact facility because the compact is federal law and can force a facility plan on the state if the plan meets minimum Nuclear Regulatory Commission standards.

On the other hand, Boyda said, Kansas residents would have to assume liability and pay for all cleanup if the regional site leaked or otherwise become incapacitated.

"When the developer comes into the state, (the developer) buys the land," Boyda said. "At that moment, the state of Kansas becomes the owner of the land. The deed for the land is given over to the state — the developer is not considered an owner (of the land)."

Proponents for abandoning the compact say their main concern is building the safest possible storage facility. They state developers' profit margins preclude them from being interested in safety features and the safest technology, thereby risking the health of residents.

Briefly

By The Associated Press

INTERNATIONAL

Riot police detain 11 in S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Riot police surrounded a black union headquarters Wednesday while officers went through the 11-story building with masked witnesses, apparently to make arrests for the killing of four railway workers.

The state-run South African Broadcasting Corp. reported on its television news that at least 11 people were detained after police searched the downtown building while it was cordoned off late into the evening. It gave no details.

More than 75 policemen, wearing plastic-visored helmets and tear gas canisters slung over their shoulders, stood guard with shotguns, pistols, dogs and whips in front of barricades of police cars and iron gates.

Officers used dogs to repeatedly push back hundreds of pedestrians and journalists trying to observe the entrance to the building, headquarters of the Congress of South African Trade Unions (COSATU) and its affiliates.

The police swoop occurred as hundreds of members of the South African Railways and Harbor Workers Union were discussing their seven-week strike, which led to mass firing of 16,000 workers last week by the South African Transport Services.

Tuesday night, the bodies of three black men and one of mixed-race were found under a pile of burned tires at a train station, according to a police statement. It said the victims "had been brutally assaulted with knives and pangas (sharpened sticks) and their bodies set alight."

Gorbachev totalitarian, chief says

WASHINGTON — Even though Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev has instituted some "almost revolutionary" liberalizing measures, he remains committed to preserving a totalitarian police state, the State Department's human rights chief says.

Richard Schifter made those observations in an interview this week after conferring with a number of Soviets, including government officials and dissidents, while accompanying Secretary of State George P. Shultz to Moscow earlier this month.

Schifter, assistant secretary of state for human rights and humanitarian affairs, said the most striking change is the way Soviet citizens are now permitted to criticize local officials, police, factory managers and others in the economic sector.

"All of that which was heretofore sacrosanct is now open for discussion," said Schifter, who was born in Austria and served as deputy U.S. representative in the U.N. Security Council before assuming his present duties last year.

House votes in favor of sanctions

WASHINGTON — The House defied a presidential veto threat Wednesday and narrowly approved major legislation to force Japan and other countries to end "excess and unwarranted" trade surpluses or face stringent U.S. sanctions.

The House voted, 218-214, to attach the plan to a sweeping, 900-page trade bill after its sponsor, Rep. Richard A. Gephardt, D-Mo., urged lawmakers to adopt "a new way, a tougher way," to fight the record $166 billion trade deficit and related job losses in some industries.

Under Gephardt's measure, countries with "excess and unwarranted" trade surpluses with the United States would be forced to eliminate them or face 10 percent annual reductions enforced through presidentially decreed sanctions.

Besides Japan, countries that run sufficient surpluses to be affected include West Germany, Taiwan, South Korea, Italy, Hong Kong and Brazil. But Hong Kong would not be liable for sanctions under the legislation, Gephardt said.

"I've been all over this country in the last few months and I think we're beginning to be in a state of decline," said Gephardt, an aspirant for the presidency.

NATIONAL

Dukakis launches campaign for '88

MANCHESTER, N.H. — Massachusetts Gov. Michael S. Dukakis embarked Wednesday on his long-shot quest for the 1988 Democratic presidential nomination, saying Americans "deserve a president who knows what's going on, and who knows what he's doing."

He pledged that if elected, he would make America "greater, better, stronger, prouder and more beautiful" than before.

Dukakis, a son of Greek immigrants who has been elected governor of his state three times, said his fitness for the White House should be judged by his performance in the statehouse. "Because as sitting governor, I'm tested every month, every week, and every hour," he said.

Dukakis' campaign began with a speech that combined soaring rhetoric and an attack on Reagan administration policies, with a subtle jab at Democratic front-runner Gary Hart thrown in.

"Ask more than whether we have new ideas. Ask whether we have already made new ideas work," he said, in words seemingly directed at Hart's self-described campaign of "new ideas."

REGIONAL

80-year-old takes his first skydive

PITTSBURG — Wayne Sipe would agree that going skydiving for the first time is not the way most people would celebrate their 80th birthday.

"It's nothing ordinary," said Sipe, who jumped out of an airplane at 4,500 feet. "I wanted to do it. I hope that maybe older people will take a lesson from it. Lots of 'em say they can't do things because of their age."

"The rocking chair has got them and they're doomed if they take that attitude. I can do anything I want."

Sipe said his wife, Frances, was not happy about the idea.

"So I went to my doctor," Sipe said. "He said, 'You realize you've had two heart attacks within the last year.' I said, 'Yes.' He said, 'You realize you were in the hospital two weeks with a severe inner ear infection.' I said, 'Yes.' He recommended that I not do it."

"I went home and my wife asked me how it went. I told her the doctor said 'Go for it.' I didn't tell her any different until afterwards."

Hot pursuit costs officer his job

HUGOTON — The City Council upheld the firing of a police officer for violating the department pursuit policy while trying to stop a woman in a four-block chase at speeds of 10 mph to 20 mph.

The council voted 5-0 early Wednesday to uphold the termination of Officer Steve Pierzchalski. He had been fired by Police Chief Don Brown in a termination letter dated March 13.

Pierzchalski had twice warned the woman, Twyla Polette, and had twice ticketed her for not having proper Kansas tags and for not having liability insurance, according to James Kuharic, his attorney.

The officer attempted to ticket her again March 10 when he saw her driving away from the post office, following her in a patrol car with lights and siren on, according to testimony at the two-day hearing before the council.

The officer pulled ahead of the woman and turned his car in front of her car to force her to stop. She got out of the car and ran into a nearby house with her two children, witnesses said.

Pierzchalski followed Polette into the house and later got into a shouting match with the owner of the house. A second officer arrived and ended the confrontation.

The city pursuit policy states that a pursuit must be ended whenever there is a clear danger to the public.

Pierzchalski maintained that he had done nothing wrong.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

INCOME TAX ASSISTANCE is available from 2 to 4 p.m. each Tuesday and Friday in the Union SGS Office.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT in Holtz Hall has many services available to students, including career counseling, letter, data sheet and resume preparation advisement, and others.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT: Students who will complete requirements for degrees in the spring or summer should report employment or other plans if firm, or solicit help in Holtz Hall if seeking employment.

COORDINATED UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM IN DIETETICS applications are available in Justin 107 and are due Friday.

CONVERSATIONAL ENGLISH TUTORING PROGRAM offered by the International Student Center needs volunteer tutors for the summer. No experience is required. For more information call Karen at 532-6448.

TODAY

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY, AN-

THROPOLOGY AND SOCIAL WORK will hold a open reception for Eugene A. Friedmann in honor of his retirement from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. in Union Key Room.

SOCIAL WORK ORGANIZATION meets at 4 p.m. at Meadowlark Hills for a tour.

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF BLACK ENGINEERS meets at 6 p.m. in Durland 163.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of George D. Harden at 7:30 a.m. in Blumont 368. The dissertation topic is "The Perennial Vision: From Cardinal Newman to Mortimer Alder."

ICHS CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP meets at 8 p.m. in Union Little Theatre.

SAILING CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

GAY AND LESBIAN RESOURCE CENTER meets at 8 p.m. For more information call 532-6442.

FRIDAY

NEWMAN meets at 9 p.m. at St. Isidore's in the basement.

PREGNANT?

Abortion is not the only solution!
WE OFFER

- Free Residential Care
- Free Medical Expenses
- Educational Opportunities
- You Choose Your Adoptive Family

The L.I.G.H.T. House
Kansas City, Missouri
Call—Ask for Hope
816-361-2233

Open 7 days a week HUNAM
Free Delivery Restaurant
11 a.m.-1 a.m.
1116 Moro 537-0886
Call 539-8888 or 537-0886
1304 Westloop 539-8888
(10% off with KSU ID)

TAKE TIME OUT
play Putt-Putt Golf
open afternoons and evenings
(across from Wal-Mart)

CLAFLIN
Books & Copies
•Professional Resumes
•4¢ Self Service Copies
•Full Service Copy Center
•Quality Dissertation Copying
OPEN DAILY
M-F 8-9 Sat 9-5 Sun 12-9
FirstBank Center Denison & Claflin
776-3771

BONKERS
TONITE
MOVING
VAN GOGH'S
$1.50
ALL DRINKS
1216 Laramie 537-9571

Manhattan Right to Life

Q: Isn't it true that before 1973 when abortion was made legal, that 5,000-10,000 women a year died from "back alley" abortions?

A: Dr. Bernard Nathanson said that this figure is totally false, and he should know, since he was one of the several pro-abortionists who circulated this figure before the 1973 Supreme Court hearings. He now says the figure was closer to 500, and in 1972 (the year before abortion was made legal) only 39 deaths were recorded. He explains he circulated these false figures in order to bring about legal abortion. However, after presiding over 75,000 deaths as the head of the world's largest abortion clinic, Dr. Nathanson came to believe that those infants in the womb were little people, and that he was murdering them. He has written the best seller, Aborting America, and although he remains an atheist, he says that even while involved in abortions, he could not understand how Christian clergymen could promote them when Christianity insists on protection for the weak.

BONKERS
FIRST
FRIDAY
FIESTA
(MAY 1)
featuring Salsa & Merengue Music
1216 Laramie 537-9591

COUNTRY
GIFT SHOP
Bears • Dolls • Folk Art • Home Decor
"East of Holidome"
Mon-Sat. 10-5:30 539-3854
2206 Ft. Riley Blvd. Manhattan, KS. 66502

Auntie
Mac's Parlor
AGGIEVILLE
THURSDAY
$2
Pitchers
$1
Drinks
50¢
Draws
616 N. 12th 539-9967

Dark Horse Saloon
$1.75 Wells
$2.75 Pitchers
Free
Swing Dance
&
Two-Step
Lessons
7 p.m.
619 N. Manhattan

Brother's
KSU
IN AGGIEVILLE USA
TONITE
The "VERANDAS"
$2.25 Pitchers
75¢ Draws
Friday nite only
"The Clique"
with free TGIF
show and barbeque

B.B.A.M.B. burgers
burgers
and more burgers
THURS.
$1.25
BURGERS
AND FRIES
5-9
PLUS $1.50
PREMIUM POUR
MIXED DRINKS!
MIKITE'S
BAR AND GRILL

ROCKY FORD
TAVERN
Old Milwaukee Light
Night
$1.75 Pitchers
Old Milwaukee Light
and Pickled Eggs
It Just Doesn't Get
Any Better Than This!
No dress code, no cover charge,
where it just doesn't make any difference!
Go North on Tuttle Creek Blvd.
then on the back road to the Rocks
Rt. 5 The Finest Little Tavern by a Dam Site! 537-3133

THURSDAY
DOG GONE GOOD DEALS
99¢
WELL
DRINKS
RIP & MO'S
aggieville's rock-n-roll bar

CHARLIE'S
NEIGHBORHOOD BAR
ESTABLISHED 1955
Tonight $DAZES$
Friday
Live Band
"The Beatless"
Saturday May 2nd
4th Annual Wet T-Shirt Contest
—Mega cash prizes for winners—
—Check for details at the bar—
1800 Claflin 539-9619

FISHWALKERS
THE FISHWALKERS
TONIGHT
Delta Upsilon
Calendar Girls
Finals For
Cover Girl &
John Casablanca
Modeling
Contract
Tonight's
Finalists
Cindy Decker
Lisa Clifton
Julie Ellis
Mary Morgan
Amy Morrison
Brenda Umscheid
Karie Humbarger
Tisha Pope
Jennifer Sandberg
Raylene Hodge
Tanya Layer
Annie Yakshaw
All
Mixed Drinks
$1.50
531 N. Manhattan

The Station
THUR.
BIG "C"
NIGHT
(that famous mexican beer with a lime on top)
BIG "C"
MEXICAN BEERS 99¢ DRINKS (ANY BRAND) - $1.50
1115 Moro, Aggieville 776-0030

Holocaust discussed

Panel cites likely causes, implications

By JEANNETTE O'CONNELL
Collegian Reporter

The obedience of the German people to the Nazi government, leading to the death of more than 6 million Jews during the Holocaust, was discussed at a forum Tuesday night in the Union.

The forum, part of the week-long observance of the Holocaust, was led by panelists Jerry Rosenberg, professor of political science, Leon Rappaport, professor of psychology, and the Rev. Dave Stewart, Baptist campus minister. The panel discussed "Holocaust: Psychological and Contemporary Implications."

"One of the main questions (about the Holocaust) is, 'How was it possible that ordinary people could do such atrocious things?'" Rappaport said.

Rosenberg discussed how the possibility might occur.

"Sometimes it is in (the government's) best interest, or very profitable, to do such a thing as this," Rosenberg said.

By channeling aggressions and problems toward a specific ethnic group, as the Nazis did to the Jews, the government was able to unite the nation against a scapegoat — in this case, the Jewish community.

One of the problems of the Holocaust, Rosenberg said, is that people talk about those who committed the act instead of those who looked the other way.

"Nothing infuriates me more than to hear a group of Germans say, 'It was the Nazis,' or 'They did it.'"

Experiments dealing with human nature such as the Milgram experiment, which tested peoples' reactions to pain inflicted on other persons, have proved inconclusive but can be traced to the power of obedience, Rappaport said.

"Although we cannot fully understand or appreciate (the Holocaust), it is important to hear the continuing agony and terror of the experience," Stewart said.

Stewart said the 'Holocaust mentality' is the belief or attitude that one group can visualize itself as being superior to others. These people have stared racism in the face, yet they have chosen to ignore it.

"Too many good, decent people did nothing because it was the problem of somebody else," he said.

Victims of the Holocaust have been medically tested and shown to have more psychological problems — problems with stress and reactions to events — than other people.

"There are no good effects of having been a victim," Rappaport said. "To be a victim is to be permanently traumatized."

"It is impossible for us to have any sense of what the Holocaust was about for our Jewish brothers," Stewart said.

"It is OK to ask questions (about the Holocaust), but don't ever assume we will know the answers. Perhaps we never will," Rappaport said.

Today, a documentary film, "To Bear Witness," will be shown at 7 p.m. in Union 212. The film depicts liberation of Nazi concentration camps by Allied forces in 1945.

Local beauty college sustains considerable damage in fire

By The Collegian Staff

A fire at Crum's Beauty College, 512 Poyntz Ave., Tuesday night caused an estimated $60,000 in damage to the structure and $30,000 worth of damages to the interior contents, said Bill Smith, Manhattan Fire Department fire chief.

The structural damage was mainly contained to the roof on the west side of the building. Smith said because the roof structure received extensive damage, its stability is doubtful and it will have to be replaced.

The interior damage is mainly smoke and water damage, he said.

Some forceful entry was necessary to gain access to the building and roof ventilation was also necessary.

"This will also add to the interior's damage and the cost," Smith said. The school is temporarily out of operation. It is not known when it will reopen.

The Manhattan Fire Department received the call at 11:48 p.m. Tuesday and responded with two pumper trucks, a ladder truck and 30 firefighters. The ladder truck was not needed to fight the fire, he said.

"We had the fire under control in a short time," Smith said. "However, we had to cut down through two ceilings to get to the fire, and this took up some time."

Firefighters cut through both hanging ceiling and the original structure ceiling. The fire trucks and men were back in service at 3:15 a.m. Wednesday.

The Manhattan Fire Department has called in the state fire marshal to help determine the origin and cause of the fire, Smith said.

"We really are not sure what started it, and the fire marshal has been called to help us with that," he said. "He is here to give us a second opinion."

Senators to approve officers

By The Collegian Staff

At the final Student Senate meeting of the semester, senators will consider appointments to Student Governing Association positions at 7 tonight in the Union Big Eight Room.

Senate will first consider the appointment of Beth Galbreath, sophomore in consumer affairs, as director of Consumer Relations Board. Debbie Fields, senior in finance, will be considered for the position of SGA Elections Committee Chairwoman.

Other appointments scheduled for approval include five students to the Union Governing Board and 12 students to the Judicial Council, the Student Review Board and the Traffic Appeals Board.

In other business, Senate will hear first reading of a resolution commending K-State Truman Scholars Janice Norlin, sophomore in political science, and Jeff Wing, sophomore in business administration.

Senate will also consider a bill renewing the student health insurance policy for the 1987-88 academic year. The bill would keep the same rates as the current policy, which is underwritten by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Kansas.

Collegian Classifieds Cheap, but Effective

Getting summer work shouldn't take all summer.

At ADIA, we've got a variety of interesting assignments ready and waiting. Great opportunities with top companies at top pay, right in your area. And our flexible work schedules leave plenty of time to enjoy the summer. So this year, spend your summer working at a job. Not looking for one.

Overland Park
913-451-8070
Midtown K.C.
816-756-0340
Gladstone
816-436-9904

ADIA
The Employment People

GOETSCH-IRVINE CHRYSLER-PLYMOUTH-SUBARU

Graduation is your
to unlock the door
of a new car!

Goetsch-Irvine Chrysler-Plymouth-Subaru offers great deals and custom financing for graduating seniors.

For more information, call us at 776-4875 or stop by 4th and Leavenworth, downtown Manhattan, and drive away in your new car!

YAMAHA INTO SUMMER SIZZLE SALE

You're Invited

Brooks Yamaha is celebrating with an incredible Sizzle Sale. We've got the hottest deals on Yamaha wheels. Like Radian 600 only $2199. You save over $300.

Come to Brooks Yamaha for dynamite prices that will blow you away.

BROOKS

YAMAHA
Hwy. 24, East Manhattan, KS
Tues.-Sat. 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
776-6371

YAMAHA
We make the difference™

THE VACATION SALE

Summer Tees, Tanks

& Polos 9⁹⁹-14⁹⁹

Romantic Blouses . . . 14⁹⁹-19⁹⁹

Washed Walking

Shorts 14⁹⁹-19⁹⁹

Mini's (Denim & Twill) 19⁹⁹

Washed Twill Pants . . 19⁹⁹-24⁹⁹

Summer Dresses . UP TO 1/2 OFF

Swimwear UP TO 1/3 OFF

Selected Groups . UP TO 1/3 OFF

CAROUSEL
1215 Moro Aggieville
Mon.-Sat. 10-6
Thurs. 10-8:30 Sun. 1-5

VANDERBILT'S

Levi's® button-fly 501 blue jeans.
The only jeans that shrink down in the wash for a fit that's yours and yours alone.

SHRINK-TO-FIT
501 Levi's

$15⁹⁹

Compare to $24.95

VISA

DOWNTOWN WAMEGO (HWY 99)
OPEN DAILY 9-8 P.M., SUN. 12-5 P.M. • 456-9100

MasterCard

Will your next Apartment be... 'a Dump or a Dream?

Make Anderson Place "Your Place" next fall

New, nice and near. Anderson Place. Living room, dining room, two bedrooms, kitchen with dishwasher and disposal, bath and on site laundry. Furnished or unfurnished. Anderson Place. just west on Anderson from Denison. . . right next to campus so you can even grab some extra Z's before your first class. Up the street from Aggieville. . . on the way to Westloop. Quality construction with special sound walls. Two buildings only - eighteen units each. So hurry.

Leasing dates: June 1, July 1 or August 1

See us for leasing information now.

Chris Curtin Realtors

1600 Poyntz • Manhattan, Kansas 66502
Phone (913) 776-1222

Aspirations, abilities not always same

I have discovered over the years that two characteristics I possess seem to work against each other — my love for trying to “do it myself” and my inability to ever finish what I start.

Growing up on a small farm provided me with a wealth of opportunities and materials from which to create projects and situations, the memories of which make my parents cringe even today. It was not totally my fault that I went on the inventive warpath; I was only following in the footsteps of an older brother whose past projects can now be seen on display among the brush behind our shed.

During my younger years, I was only the tag-along or the gofer, fetching tools or supplies when needed. It wasn't until later that I was actually allowed to drive nails or saw boards.

I think it was our desire to become expert woodsmen that drove us to such heights as making fish traps from old screen doors or the attempted tanning of a deer skin rug. I remember the excitement we had as we stretched out the hide and tacked it to the inside wall of the granary, scraping here and there to clean it.

But like many of our projects, the rug was dropped further down our priority list, more from a lack of knowledge and skill than interest. The hide then hung over the yard fence, the site of its last washing, until Mom insisted we dispose of it because its hair was falling out. Not only was the loose hair covering the yard like a light snowfall, but it was beginning to make the dog nervous.

It was my brother who dreamed up the earlier projects, and it was I who assisted. Whenever a problem would arise, which was often, Donald would turn to me for a new idea. I wasn't much help due to my lack of knowledge, but I tried — like Watson helping Holmes solve a crime.

I think most of our ideas stemmed from the hours we spent lying on the bed, huddled over a copy of “Field & Stream,” with my brother

RON HONIG
Collegian
Columnist

brother reading stories to me. The articles on new technical gadgets prompted us to design our own versions. One night after happening upon an advertisement for a fish detector, Donald set to work building a not-so-similar device from an old school bell, thumbtacks and a clothespin.

When a fish would strike, the fishing line was pulled from between the tacks in the end of the clothespin and the alarm would sound. Quite clever actually, but after numerous false alarms and the dropping of the battery in the pond, the project was abandoned.

In between the inventions, we tried an ex-orbitant number of outdoorsmanlike activities such as trapping and camping. Our attempt at trapping ended in the catching of the family cat. For weeks after that incident, she would only hiss at us as she limped by.

Our camping excursion in the back yard was somewhat short-lived when I realized just how chilly it gets after dark. After several of my assaults for the blankets were countered by my big brother, I moved to the house and found the living room couch a more suitable adventure.

The day finally came when Donald moved away, and I was left to venture on my own. It was then I noticed my constant motivation to start things and my tragic inability to finish what I start. During my high school years, my room became littered with materials from which I had planned to build the new item I couldn't do without. Obviously, I could do without most of the projects because a high proportion of them never got completed.

I'm still working on some of those endeavors. I regret to admit I have a game bag I've been waiting to sew for nearly six years now. Half-read books line my shelves. In fact, I have one book I have read halfway twice and still haven't finished.

I think it's my desire to want to make things myself that makes me appreciate homemade things so much. Don't get me wrong. I like store-bought things too. However, the high quality items are usually in a price range I have to look up to. So, instead of spending a fortune, I hire or talk someone into making the item I want for me.

Not only do I get a lower-priced quality product, but as a bonus, I have a part of that person, a unique symbol of the crafter's care and attention. Each quilt, each pie, each tool shed is an art form.

I find it sad to think I will probably never possess enough carpentry skills to build much more than a shelf, or know how to sew well enough to make more than a handkerchief. It's sad that machines have replaced the hand and, for that matter, the heart.

I hope someday someone will walk up to me and say, “Hey, that's a nice hunting coat. Is that a Carhart?”

And I will be able to turn to them slowly, look in their eyes and reply, “No, it's a Honig.”

Hayden, ‘experts’ add little insight to debate

In his efforts to get several pieces of final legislation passed in the veto session this week, Gov. Mike Hayden is resolutely ignoring an issue that may drastically affect Kansas' economic future.

This issue involves the Central Interstate Waste Compact Commission and its preparation to select a host state for a low-level nuclear waste dump. This issue should continue to be a concern to Kansas residents because it continues to be a non-concern to our governor.

But hasn't Hayden proved his concern about the matter through his appointment of a special task force to study the matter and advise him on it? Possibly, but it's a superficial concern at best.

The title “Governor's Task Force on Low-Level Radioactive Waste,” sounds impressive, but its efforts and its meetings are anything but impressive.

On April 16 the 19-member task force met for the first time. It spent all of three hours on the issue. The task force members had not been given any literature outlining what facets of their “expertise” were needed prior to the meeting.

At that meeting, Lt. Gov. Jack Walker did most of the talking. That should tell us something.

The task force was formed to give advice, but what it ended up being was Walker pleading for input from the panel members and receiving little or none.

Eight days later, Walker presented several concerns to the compact commissioners. With little effort, three of the compact commission members castigated Walker for bringing up Kansas' concerns. A few of the governor's “experts” attended.

The task force met again Monday. With little discussion — two hours to be exact — it decided to advise the governor to remain in the compact.

One particularly distressing item about this task force is that its members, although experts in their field, apparently have not studied the compact issue, nor have they had any reasonable debate on the issue. Their opinions consider only their particular area of expertise and not the big picture.

The citizens of Kansas cannot afford to relax and allow the “experts” to handle this issue because the real issues are being ignored by our elected officials and their cadre of advisers. Kansans deserve better representation than this regarding decisions affecting the state's future for the next century.

Week gives necessary chances to remember

Activities have been occurring this week on campus in correlation with Days of Remembrance of Victims of the Nazi Holocaust. The purpose of these activities is to make people remember and, in some cases, better understand what happened during the Holocaust of the 1940s.

Many people may not be too interested in these activities, thinking that such actions occurring during the Holocaust are a thing of the past. We should be aware and concerned, however, that extremist groups that share the ideology of the Fascist movement in Nazi Germany do exist and do have large memberships.

Examples of these groups include The Order, and The Cross, The Sword and The Arm of the Lord. Militant organizations such as these have been discovered with stashes of illegal weapons and plans of overthrowing the U.S. government.

Last week, 10 members of one militant group were arrested for attempts to overthrow the government. The members were convicted previously for the murder of Alan Berg, a Jewish talk-show host in Denver who frequently criticized the actions and motives of the groups.

The Holocaust should be remembered this week, as well as the genocides that could and do occur in our world today. These militant organizations mean business, and unless society is willing to confront them, it may be faced with a similar situation in the future.

Letters

Pleasing ads

Editor,

I was really pleased to see the anti-abortion ads in the Collegian provided by pro-life organizations. People might now realize that the unborn fetus is not just a “mass of tissue” but instead is a living, breathing, feeling human being that has a right to live, not a right to be killed.

It makes no difference under what circumstances the pregnancy occurred or in what stage the pregnancy is. The baby is an innocent victim of such an ungracious act. Hopefully, this will encourage women to explore other options such as adoption.

Even if the mother does not want the baby, it still deserves the right to live. There are many, many worthy families that would love to have the opportunity to raise and love that child as it deserves.

Angie Steiner
sophomore in psychology

Iranian's joke

Editor,

Re: The letter, “Union does exist,” by unknown author in the April 23 Collegian. Once again the pro-Khomeini Iranian told us a joke by writing that letter without a name. It seems the writer ignores the Student Governing Association's rule for registering any University organization: Any organization should leave the door open to any person who would like to join it.

The National Union of Iraqi Students and Youth is a student organization and it does not have any political intention. The purpose of NUISY is to promote a friendly and cooperative relation among the Iraqi students and youth and other student organizations. The main functions and activities of the NUISY are to:

- promote the welfare of the union members in the educational and cultural fields;
- try to resolve the difficulties and problems of the union members;
- hold periodic meetings and recreational gatherings for the benefit of the union members;
- and publish a quarterly magazine covering the news about Iraqi students in the United States and Iraq and reproducing any material of interest to the union members.

Those are the goals of NUISY at K-State, which obviously do not satisfy the pro-Khomeini whose dream is the occupation of Iraq by Iran and to make Iraqi people slaves to Aldajal Khomeini who has executed every free voice in Iran under the cover of Islam.

The Iraqi people are not ready to see what happened to the Iranian people happen to them. Iraqi people like President Saddam Hussein and his regime, and they will stay faithful to their country and defeat the enemy on the front and anywhere until the achievement of the victory that will come sooner or later.

Finally, I would like to ask the writer: If you really believe in your opinions, why are you afraid to write your name in your letter?

Dhia S. Hassawi
graduate student in agronomy

Unread document

Editor,

Re: Jerry Anderson's guest column, “Pornography fears unwarranted,” in the April 16 Collegian. It seems to me Anderson is quoting from a document he has not read. The “Report of the Attorney General's Commission on Pornography and Obscenity” is a substantial document involving many findings and 92 specific recommendations to national and local law enforcement agencies and to responsible individuals.

The most significant finding is the vast majority of the material that can be legally defined to be pornographic is in fact harmful to people. This finding is supported by extensive documentation covering both academic research and personal testimony from actual victims of pornography. All 92 recommendations deal with stopping the harm to people.

It is not possible to read a significant part of the report and come away with the idea we are dealing with bare-breasted nudes in Playboy and that the problem is probably no more harmful than being degrading to women. The Meese commission report is filled with intense and appalling detail concerning the socially destructive billion dollar “hard-core” pornography industry that does in fact harm people and can be stopped.

If Anderson wants to do away with all possible censorship — something the report shows to be patently impossible — he should also allow people harmed by printed material (whether obscene or not) to recover damages from the publishers and sellers. Freedom without responsibility is chaos.

Tom Pittman assistant professor of computer science

Confused priorities

Editor,

Sometimes I wonder if K-State is a school stuck out in the boondocks — like Perth, Australia, separated from civilization by a vast, untamed desert. After having grown up in Manhattan, I never thought so; but now I am having serious doubts. After having attended this institution for nearly five years, I can come to no other conclusion. My first doubt came in Comp I. Said the instructor: “You cannot call me at my office. We do not have phones.”

I thought, “Surely, the phone company makes it this far into the interior.”

Then, in succeeding English and history courses, the professors, almost in harmony, vocalized: “We have no paper.”

But recently I have come across a situation that I cannot so easily explain. As I approach my last semester, the Department of Modern Languages may have to drop one of the two sections of French that I need in order to graduate. Why would they do that? Oh, of course. Now I know. There are no trains to France because of the strike. That's it.

If a plumber can earn more money than a full university professor, why does anyone bother with graduate school? The big bucks are in plastic tubing and drain cleaner.

Who cares about Shakespeare, Churchill or Jefferson? Most people do not know who they are anyway. As long as David and Maddie hit the sheets, that's all that matters. After all, Adolf Hitler is dead, right? So forget him.

Whoa, wait a minute. We do get cable and electricity, so surely someone knows we are out here. Surely, it could not be something like...money. After all, we are building that pretty new sports arena so the football stadium won't be lonely. Besides, matched pairs are much more tasteful. And someone is always putting down shiny new sidewalks. Paper, phones, competent instructors are not luxuries after all. Surely, I have overlooked something...like misguided priorities.

Anne Smith
senior in history

Kansas State

Collegian

EDITOR
Jonie Trued
MANAGING EDITOR
Sue Dawson
NEWS EDITOR
Erin Eichler

EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
Deron Johnson
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson
ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinett

EDITORIAL BOARD: Susan Baird, Kirk Caraway, Sue Dawson, Jim Dietz, Erin Eichler, Judy Goldberg, Ron Honig, Pat Lund, Deron Johnson, Sarah Kessinger, Judy Lundstrom, Margaret May, Scott Miller, Andy Nelson, Patti Passon, Julie Heynolds, Chris Stewart, Teresa Temme, Jonie Trued. Unsigned editorials represent the majority opinion of the editorial board.

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291-920) is published by Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, daily except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 332-6666. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Ethnic breads supply variety

By DORI WITHERS
Collegian Reporter

The universal language is said to be love, but what is considered the universal food?

Sharon Davis, chairwoman of the Kansas Wheat Commission, said in a society where the current health trend is diets rich in complex carbohydrates, bread could be that universal food.

Davis said Americans, who are tired of the same old standardized white and wheat bread, are looking to countries where breads and pastas have been a major part of the diet for centuries.

Ethnic breads like bagels, pita breads, croissants, baguettes and hard rolls, hardly heard of five years ago, are now popular across the United States.

As Americans travel abroad, they are discovering ethnic breads as the answer to the standardized-bread blahs, she said.

"It's just like fashion in a way," Davis said. "People are always looking for something different and new. They like the flavor and texture of ethnic breads because it's more authentic."

Joseph Ponte, professor of grain science and industry, said different cultural breads brought to the United States with people from other countries contribute to the exposure and growing popularity of ethnic breads.

Ponte said as people become more affluent, they look for more varieties in their diet, and their interest in experimenting with new breads increases.

The metropolitan areas, where many "yuppies" tend to live, are the most responsive to ethnic breads, he said.

Another contributing factor to the breads' popularity is food features in papers and magazines and eating out in restaurants, Davis said.

Fast-food chains have made a big impact on the popularity of croissants and pita breads, she said.

The Wheat Foods Commission and the National Association of Wheat Growers sponsored a research project on ethnic breads geared to improve the variety of ethnic breads available in restaurants and in-store and retail bakeries. The project accumulated information on how wheat is used around the world and what varieties are found in different countries, Ponte said.

Davis said the project was first developed to understand the end-use of American wheat sold to foreign buyers, but now it is applicable in the United States because of the growing interest in ethnic foods.

'Making Mr. Right' a wrong selection for actor, director

By GARY JOHNSON
Collegian Reviewer

John Malkovich ("The Killing Fields" and "Places in the Heart") is one of the finest actors in America, and Susan Seidelman ("Desperately Seeking Susan") is one of the best young directors to come along in years, but it's a mystery why they were both attracted to the film "Making Mr. Right."

Film Review

Maybe Malkovich thought the double role (a scientist and his look-alike android) would be an intriguing challenge and maybe Seidelman was interested in the plot, which has the movie's heroine falling in love with an android because he's more human than any man she knows. But this is a surprisingly unconvincing film.

Malkovich is even upstaged by his co-star Ann Magnuson. She's a witty and charismatic young actress who often manages to make the film's weak screenplay seem better than it really is. But even her excellent performance can't make up for the story's gaps in logic.

Magnuson plays an advertising expert called in to help promote the android devised by Malkovich. It seems the government is considering withdrawing the project's funding. She decides that if the android had more human characteristics she could sell him more easily, so she tries to give him some social graces.

Malkovich insists this is just "garbage" that will clutter the android's circuits. It soon becomes apparent, though, that Malkovich (as the scientist) is a social misfit. He meant for his android to be a mirror image of himself, but to his surprise, he finds the android is much more capable of love than he'll ever be.

This doesn't sound all that bad on paper. In fact, it could work as a metaphor for the failure of many modern day romances — women aren't finding in men the sensitivity they desire — but the screenplay is too muddled to communicate this point effectively. For this to work we need to know much more about the scientist, but the film almost always uses him as a simple foil for the comedy.

The major strength of "Making Mr. Right" is the direction of Susan Seidelman. She adds a refreshing feminine point of view, as she did in "Desperately Seeking Susan." Whenever Ann Magnuson is on screen, Seidelman's direction becomes inventive.

Seidelman is a genuinely talented director. And on occasion this talent is showcased in "Making Mr. Right," but the contrivances of the plot become irritating after a while. In "Desperately Seeking Susan" the nutty plot twists were fun to follow, but in this film the plot twists are mechanical.

Goetz wanted to kill youths, tape says

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Bernhard Goetz intended "to murder" the four youths he shot on a subway car — "to make them suffer as much as possible," he told police in a recorded statement played Wednesday at his trial.

"I admit, for those guys, all this time, I wanted to do the worst possible that a human being could do," Goetz, sounding nervous and at times emotional, told police in Concord, N.H., where he surrendered Dec. 31, 1984.

Nine days earlier, Goetz drew a gun and shot four young men he claimed were trying to rob him on the subway. His trial on attempted murder charges began Monday in state Supreme Court, the trial-level court in New York.

Goetz described his own actions as "disgusting" and "monstrous" in the two-hour audio tape, interspersing descriptions of the subway encounter with digressions on his background and explanations of his fear of being victimized.

"You have to think in a cold-blooded way in New York," said Goetz, 39, an electronics specialist.

He had carried a gun since he was mugged in 1981, he said; in winter, he went without gloves so he could draw the weapon.

The tape included Goetz's statement that after shooting the youths he checked one, Darrell Cabey, said, "You seem to be all right. Here's another," and shot him again.

If he were thinking more clearly, Goetz said on the tape, he would have "put the barrel against his forehead and fired."

Cabey was paralyzed by his wounds and suffered brain damage. Goetz's prosecutor, Gregory Waples, on Monday called Cabey's shooting "little more than a cold-blooded attempted execution." But defense lawyer Barry Slotnick said Goetz, "full of stress and fear," told the police things that did not actually happen.

Goetz told Concord police Officer Warren Foote and Detective Christopher Domian that his contact with the youths began when one, Troy Canty, lounging on the subway bench on his right, turned toward him and asked, "How are you?"

He felt "a very strong implied threat" at the approach, Goetz said. "I just looked up at him and I said, 'fine.' But you kind of keep them in the corner of your eye."

"...I know this sounds horrible, but my intention was to murder them, to hurt them, to make them suffer as much as possible."

—Bernhard Goetz

Soon Canty and another of the youths rose and stood on his left, Goetz said, while the other two stood on his right. "He said, 'Give me $5,'" Goetz said. When he looked at Canty's face, he said, "his eyes were shiny. He was enjoying himself...at that point, you're in a bad situation." Before he drew his gun, Goetz said,

—SALE—

Thursday, Friday,

Saturday

25% off ALL Sterling Silver

FREE Polishing Cloth with

$10 or more purchase

10 to 25% off Ladies Rings (select group)

15% off Diamond Pendants

REMEMBER—Mother's Day and don't forget that special gift for your graduate!

Diamond Connection

408 Poyntz Avenue

539-3225

KSU HORT. CLUB BEDDING PLANT SALE

annuals perennials herbs

vegetables hanging baskets

APRIL 30 MAY 1, 2

8:00 AM - 5:30 PM

lower greenhouses

north of justin hall

Burke's

404 Poyntz
Downtown Manhattan

Men's Women's Children's

THURSDAY MADNESS

Thursday, April 30
9 a.m.-9 p.m.

SAVE UP TO

25% OFF

STOREWIDE SAVINGS

OPEN
Sunday
1-5 p.m.

For your money's worth
Dutch Maid
Super Markets

Blue Hills
Shopping Center

1522
Poyntz

Plan your weekend party early!
Kegs To Go

Keg of Old Milwaukee Light	$32.98
Keg of Old Milwaukee	$32.98
Keg of Coors	$39.98
Keg of Coors LIGHT	$39.98
Keg of Budweiser	$39.98
Keg of BUD LIGHT	$39.98

We Stock Cold Kegs

Please call 539-2351 or 539-5346 two days ahead to reserve your choice of beer.

Get a closer look at the FACTS:

Poll reveals bookstore pays best text buy-back prices

By KIM GREENWOOD
Collegian Reporter

K-State Union Bookstore pays more for used textbooks than the University of Kansas, Wichita State University and Fort Hays State University.

These are the results after polling Steve Jewett, textbook coordinator of KU; Jack Gillette, textbook supervisor of WSU; and Steve Gonzales, bookstore manager of Fort Hays State campus bookstores. The bookstores were asked when professors have to turn in their book orders to the bookstore; when the bookstore turns in the book orders to the publishers; how much the bookstore marks up new books; how much they buy back used books for, and how much they sell used books for.

The four bookstores vary in the amount they pay for used books. Fort Hays State pays 50 percent of what the student bought the book for, whether the book was new or used when the student bought it, Gonzales said.

KU and WSU pay 50 percent of the current new book price, even if the book was bought used.

K-State pays 60 percent of the publisher's list price (new book price) for books that professors will use again, said Jerry Fields, book department manager of K-State Union Bookstore.

Professors in all four universities are supposed to turn in their book orders to the bookstore in April for the fall semester and in October for the spring semester. Each bookstore gives the professors specific deadlines each semester. These dates give the publishers' representatives time to introduce new textbooks to the professors and allows the bookstores time to contact vendors to buy as many used textbooks as possible.

The bookstores turn in their book orders to the publishers in June for the fall semester and in November for the spring semester. When teachers turn in book orders late, change their order, or if the books are not available, students have a delay in getting their books at the semester start.

All four bookstores mark up new books 20 percent to 25 percent of wholesale. The increase is to pay for overhead and freight expenses.

The four bookstores do not buy back books the professors will not use again. Vendors buy these books to sell to other schools which will continue to use the book. The prices paid to the students for these books are determined by the vendor in accordance with the amount of books he has in inventory and the demand he or she foresees for the book.

KU, WSU and K-State, charge 75 percent of new book price for used books when selling them to the students. The mark up varies from book to book at Fort Hays State.

reported by the Collegian
tuesday, nov. 4, 1986

K-State Union Buy Back
May 4th-15th

Monday-Friday 8:30-4:30

Saturday May 9th 10:30am-3:30pm

K-State Union Bookstore pays more for used textbooks than the University of Kansas, Wichita State University and Fort Hays State University.

k-state union
bookstore

0301

Congress may split GE, NBC

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A congressman suggested on Wednesday that General Electric Corp., a major defense contractor, be required to divest itself of NBC because of potential conflict of interest.

But news chiefs of the three networks insisted there would be no wholesale resignations, including theirs, should any parent company seek to influence a network news division.

"I think we're an enormous porcupine that would be indigestible under those circumstances," CBS News President Howard Stringer told a hearing before the House Energy and Commerce subcommittee on telecommunications and finance.

NBC News President Lawrence K. Grossman said neither GE nor its predecessor, RCA, also a defense contractor, had ever tried to exert influence over NBC News.

However, Rep. Jim Slattery, D-Kans., contended that an appearance of conflict of interest could be as damaging as actual conflict of interest.

"Maybe we should consider legislation requiring GE to divest itself of NBC," Slattery said. "If different people were there, the opportunity would be there where a major network could become the salesperson rather than the watchdog of its owner."

He noted that GE has a financial interest in the Strategic Defense Initiative, the Reagan administration's ambitious missile-defense effort still a subject of debate reported in the news.

Grossman suggested that every corporation has an interest in some area of public policy and that any corporate intrusion upon news would itself be a hot news story.

"If we don't find out about it, our competition will," he said.

Grossman also cited the recent NBC documentary, "A Trillion Dollars for Defense, What Have We Bought?" that, in part, criticized weapons projects produced by GE.

After the hearing, called to examine the effects of corporate takeovers on network news, Dennis E. Eckart, D-Ohio, would research the GE-NBC issue and perhaps introduce legislation.

Grossman told reporters following the session that Slattery's question would be more appropriately put to the network's chief executive officer, Robert C. Wright, who is scheduled to testify with the other network CEO's when the hearing continues Thursday.

"It's a legitimate question, but the track record of GE has been very clear," Grossman said.

Stringer was quizzed about recent layoffs and budget cuts at CBS News, but like his two colleagues, insisted that corporate and management changes have not diminished the capabilities of network news. All three news presidents said they were as committed as ever to maintaining the credibility of network news as a public service.

They also all expressed reservations about participating in the hearing, which one member of the subcommittee suggested was an intrusion by Congress on First Amendment rights.

"I suspect that had we asked the print media to attend a similar hearing, I don't think there would be anybody at this table," said Rep. Dan Coats, R-Ind. "I find it offensive, and I think you should find it offensive...."

Police track snipers after fierce shootout

By The Associated Press

WOLF CREEK, Mont. — Residents kept guns at hand Wednesday as police searched the wild country for up to four snipers, including two escaped killers linked to six slayings, who fled after a four-hour shootout.

Aircraft with heat sensors buzzed through the skies over the foothills around Holter Lake, a Missouri River reservoir, searching for the heavily armed fugitives who slipped away after trading hundreds of rounds with police Monday and wounding two campers.

Lewis and Clark County Sheriff Chuck O'Reilly told reporters that tracks of the fugitives were found at daybreak Wednesday about a mile northeast of the scene of the gun battle.

Four tactical weapons teams and a tracking dog were pursuing the suspects, but O'Reilly declined to say how many searchers were involved, in fear the snipers may have a radio.

"If they give us the chance, we will give them the opportunity to surrender," O'Reilly said. "There's a good chance, assuming they are still in there, to try to pinch them out today."

Subway
Sandwich Shop

We Deliver!
537-DELI

a change
at

State

Get Ready:

The 1987 Royal Purple yearbooks
will be here Monday!
Keep watching the Collegian
for more details.

DAYS OF REMEMBRANCE
1987

THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 7 p.m.
KSU UNION 207

FILM: "To Bear Witness"

DISCUSSANT: Ralph Rundquist, Assaria, KS Served with U.S. Forces during the Liberation of Dachau

Sponsored by the KSU Committee
on Religion—532-6432

GET HEXAPPEAL

1 Session—$4
5 Sessions—$15
10 Sessions—$28.50

SPRING
SALE

60% OFF ALL REMAINING WINTER MERCHANDISE

20% OFF ALL
NEW SPRING ARRIVALS
(sunglasses and T-Shirts excluded)

Thursday, Friday,
Saturday & Sunday

Open Thurs. 10-8,
Fri. & Sat. 10-6, Sun. 1-5

(Bring this ad in for an extra 10% discount)

Aggie Ski & Sport, 1212 Moro, Aggieville, 537-9105

MILLION DOLLAR
SHOE SALE
TWO DAYS!
25% TO 50% OFF
EVERY SHOE IN STOCK

Sale $12

Sugar Babies®

Reg. $16 Canvas oxford in revved-up style and color. Soft to the skin cotton canvas upper. Cotton terry lined. Composition rubber sole.

SAVE ON OUR ENTIRE LINE OF SHOES INCLUDING SUCH FAMOUS BRANDS

Reebok®

NIKE

adidas®

Sutton Plaza®

9-2-5®

Stafford®

Fashion Express®
and many more!!

Sale prices on regularly priced merchandise effective Friday, May 1 & Saturday, May 2. Sale does not include those items designated in our store as JCPenny Smart Values.

© 1987 JCPenny Company, Inc.

JCPenney

4th & Houston

SHOP
9-9 Monday-Friday
9-6 Saturday
12-5 Sunday

TELENET to teach horse management

By KARI COMPTON
Collegian Reporter

In an effort to provide current information and research for horse breeders and others responsible for the rearing of horses, Agriculture Extension is offering a course on horse management.

The course, Horse Management Update, is being offered over the TELENET audio teleconferencing network April 14 through May 12.

The topics covered will include current horse management concepts, such as nutrition and feeding of several classes of horses; breeding for maximum reproductive efficiency; and the economic considerations of the horse farm.

The classes of horses being studied

Course aims to end myths are young growing horses, performance horses and brood mares, said Pete Gibbs, extension horse specialist.

Gibbs said a goal of the course is to help breeders maximize the horse's market potential and minimize the expenses.

Another purpose of the class is to dispel the myths that dominate horse care, he said.

One such myth, which is no longer believed, is that corn will heat a horse up, Gibbs said.

The horse management course is offered to anyone interested and may or may not be taken for credit. Those taking the course for credit may take it for either one or two hours. There is also a graduate and undergraduate option.

The TELENET sessions provide people who normally do not have direct access to the campus with information gained from on-campus research. It is one vehicle whereby K-State can provide a public service across the state, Gibbs said.

TELENET maximizes the use of time through two-way communication without requiring the students to come to campus or the instructor to leave the campus, he said.

Dennis Sigler, assistant professor of animal sciences and industry, said 54 people are enrolled in the TELENET horse management course from 14 conference locations across the state.

"(The TELENET conference) goes hand-in-hand with the goals and mission of the land-grant responsibility of K-State's agriculture program, with minimum expense to the University because we don't have to travel," Sigler said.

Sigler said a surprisingly large number of teachers and county agents are taking the course for graduate credit.

"We want to provide the students with some basic information as well as the current research in the area," Sigler said.

Charity kitchen bans rock band's groupies

By The Associated Press

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. — A charity kitchen that serves about 200 needy people a day has banned groupies of the Grateful Dead rock band.

"They obviously don't want to work, and they don't want to change," said Michael Grabianowski of the St. Francis Catholic Kitchen.

Grabianowski said the so-called "Deadheads" have money to spend and "just try to find places where they can eat for free."

He said as many as 100 fans eat free lunches at the kitchen when the San Francisco band plays in the area.

The ban is to start May 11, when the food service organization begins its sixth year of operation. The Grateful Dead is to play at Laguna Seca on May 9.

Kitchen director Peter Carota said last week he will interview diners to ensure that the kitchen is helping the truly needy.

Volunteers at the kitchen should have little trouble identifying the Deadheads. Their tie-dyed clothes often bear the band's symbol, a smiling skull.

Placement center offers variety of services for job search

By TOM DENZEL
Collegian Reporter

For most graduating seniors, making themselves a marketable product is the name of the game. Providing resources for students to accomplish this task is the function of the Career Planning and Placement Center.

"We see the Career Planning and Placement Center as the window of the University for employers to look through...for prospective employees, and for students to look out at the real world," said Bruce Laughlin, director of the center.

"Our placement center is among the best in the Midwest," he said. The center, located in Holtz Hall, is open to alumni and students who have completed a minimum of eight credit hours at the University.

Close to 50 percent of the students enrolled are registered with the placement center, most of them seniors, Laughlin said.

The center offers career counseling, letter and resume preparation, on-campus employment interviews, job opportunity information and summer employment assistance.

Along with these services, the center has prepared a booklet, "Employers Guide to Graduates," mailed annually to businesses and industries nationwide.

The booklet contains information for arranging procedures for on-campus recruiting visits, a calendar of campus special events such as "career days" for the colleges and University holidays.

Students can be assisted with honing their skills in interviewing with recruiters, writing resumes and cover letters, dressing for the interview, preparing a personal data sheet and devising a plan to aid in the job search.

"I used the placement center a couple of years ago when I tried to find a summer job and then again this year," said Sherry Mooney, senior in management.

"As far as the summer job, I looked through files to see what they had to offer as information on the area of study I was involved with."

CLIP, KEEP & SAVE

kinko's
Great copies. Great people.

Thesis Coupon
7¢ copies
50% cotton bond free collation

present coupon

exp. date May 15th

1110 Laramie

537-7340

IMPRESSIONS
Hair care center

Introducing Kim Giersch, 3 years experience in hair design. Kim is now offering haircut and style at

1/2 OFF

MEN'S REG. $12
WOMEN'S REG. $15

offer good until May 16 with this coupon

TANNING—$3
10—$25

LOWER LEVEL 537-1332

M-F 9-6
Th 9-8
Sat. 8-5

Speedy FREE Delivery

TWO MEDIUM TWO TOPPING PIZZAS $10
TWO LARGE TWO TOPPING PIZZAS $13.50

NOW SERVING THIN CRUST

539-4888
"We Pile It On!"

Mark Farnham, M.P.E.
President, Pyramid Pizza

Now Accepting Visa & MasterCard

PYRAMID PIZZA

Speedy FREE Delivery

1-2-3 OFFER
$1 off a small pizza
$2 off a medium pizza
$3 off a large pizza

NOW SERVING THIN CRUST

539-4888
"We Pile It On!"

Mark Farnham, M.P.E.
President, Pyramid Pizza

Now Accepting Visa & MasterCard

PYRAMID PIZZA

AL-BASHA
اباشا

Greek & Mediterranean Food

FREE DELIVERY of $10 or more 537-7533

1209 Laramie St.
open daily
11 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Try it's Genuine Taste

15% OFF
$6 or more
Expires 5/9/87
with coupon

Free 12 oz. soft drink with the purchase of any Gyro item
Expires 5/9/87

Piñata
Restaurante

DAY BEFORE MAY-DAY SALE!

Any one of our Burritos (Bean, Beef or Combination) & a Medium Soft Drink for only $1.79

(Offer good Thurs., Apr. 30, from 5 p.m. til close)

1219 Bluemont 539-3166 Open Daily at 11 a.m.

Boss' Birthday Special

1/3 OFF Processing of prints

Disc, 110, 126, 35 mm
C-41 only

Camera America

2700 Anderson 539-2519
Offer expires May 15, 1987

Boss' Birthday Special

99¢ 5x7
(35 mm only)
1 5x7 per coupon

Camera America

2700 Anderson 539-2519
Offer expires May 15, 1987

Crum's Beauty College Perm Special

Perm Wave or Chemical Relaxer
25% off with coupon
Monday-Friday 8:45 appts. only

Call 776-4794
Expires 5/15/87

50% off

1 p.m. Haircut Appointments with coupon
Monday through Friday
Expires 5/15/87

Crum's beauty college

512 Poyntz 776-4794

JOYCE'S HAIR FARMERS

PERM SALE

Gals
Warm & Gentle	$38
Apple Pectin	$30
Feels So Lively	$25

Guys

Curly	$25
Body	$20
Partial	$18

All Perms Include Cut and Style

539-TAME or 539-8601
404 Humboldt Exp. 5/6/87

$5.99
FOR A MEDIUM SINGLE TOPPING PIZZA
(original crust)
•dine in •carry out •delivery
Add $1 for delivery

GODFATHER'S PIZZA
WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?
539-5303
Expires 5-8-87

$7.99
FOR A LARGE SINGLE TOPPING PIZZA
(original crust)
•dine in •carry out •delivery
Add $1 for delivery

GODFATHER'S PIZZA
WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?
539-5303
Expires 5-8-87

LORDS'n LADYS
Hair Design & Skin Care Studio

2-for-1 haircuts
Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday
Mornings Only!
Bring a friend and split the cost with this coupon

218 S. 4th Expires 5/15/87 776-5651

Campus

Students, alumnus win fellowships

Two undergraduate students and one alumnus have been named National Science Foundation Fellows for 1987-88. Chosen from a field of 500 applicants, the three will receive funding for a year of graduate work in their field of study.

Robert Kruh, dean of the Graduate School, said winning the competition was "highly prestigious, a credit to the students and the people who work with them."

Winners of the Fellowship are Michael Ekart, 1986 K-State graduate, Paul Lammert, senior in physics, and Vance Unruh, senior in mechanical engineering.

Department head receives award

Charles Deyoe, head of the Department of Grain Science and Industry, has received the National Award for Agricultural Excellence from the National Agri-Marketing Association.

Deyoe, who is also director of the Food and Feed Grains Institution and International Grains Program, was nominated for the award by the Kansas-Missouri chapter of NAMA.

The award was given to Deyoe at NAMA's annual conference April 27 in St. Louis.

Ag chapter named 'outstanding'

At the annual conference of National Agri-Marketing Association, K-State's student chapter was named Outstanding Chapter. John Riley, faculty adviser for the group, has also been selected as NAMA's Outstanding Faculty Adviser Award for 1987-88.

Riley, who is assistant director of resident instruction for the College of Agriculture, has been the group's faculty adviser since 1980. NAMA is a professional organization for persons involved in all phases of agricultural marketing. The organization involves individuals in sales, public relations, advertising, and media.

Student chosen for N.Y. workshop

Selected military historians from around the country will attend a workshop sponsored by the faculty at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, New York.

Twenty people will attend the workshop, which focuses on military history in America and western civilization, said Tom Kirker, graduate student in military history who will be a participant in the workshop. The faculty at West Point, top historians outside the military and individuals who have an impact on military policies are lecturers at the workshop, he said.

K-State has one of the strongest military history programs in the country and has been very lucky to send graduate students to such an informative workshop, said John McCulloh, head of the Department of History.

Contras report engineer killed in war

By The Associated Press

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — An American engineer killed in northern Nicaragua was caught in a firefight between rebel fighters and Sandinista militia, the largest U.S.-supported Contra force said Wednesday.

The account contradicted Nicaraguan statements that 27-year-old Benjamin Ernest Linder, of Portland, Ore., was singled out by the Contras and slain.

The Nicaraguan Democratic Force, or FDN, said that it held the leftist government of Nicaragua responsible for the death of the first American to die in Nicaragua's civil war. Nicaragua said the U.S. government was to blame for supporting the Contras.

"The death of Linder was produced in the midst of a firefight between one of our patrols and a group of militia of the Sandinista army, which accompanied the U.S. citizen," the FDN said in a statement released in Tegucigalpa.

Linder's body on Wednesday was in Matagalpa, a Nicaraguan provincial capital, where a ceremony was held in his honor.

American colleagues of the Oregon engineer joined Sandinista officials in blaming the Reagan administration for his death.

The Contras' statement said Linder was killed Tuesday near La Camaleona, located about 45 miles from the Honduran border.

"This region is a permanent scene of combat between rebel forces and the army of the Nicaraguan government," the statement said.

"The FDN holds the Marxist-Leninist regime of Nicaragua (responsible) for the death of the U.S. citizen by allowing him to enter an area of civil war of our country, which is between Nicaraguans and not foreigners," it said.

"The American, one of the few international volunteers helping the Managua regime, lived in Nicaragua for several years and knew perfectly the risks he ran by being in a war zone accompanied by Sandinista soldiers," the statement said.

Bosco Matamoros, a Contra spokesman in Washington, specifically denied an allegation by one Nicaraguan official that rebels killed Linder in his office. The statement was "absolutely false," he said. Matamoros said Linder died during an "engagement...in which two Sandinista regulars also died."

In Matagalpa, Nicaragua, dozens of wreaths surrounded the casket of the red-bearded engineer, who went to Nicaragua in 1983.

He was the first American volunteer working for the Sandinistas to be killed in the Contras' 5-year-old war against the leftist government. Seven European volunteers have been killed since 1983.

A Nicaraguan government spokesman said Linder's relatives were not expected to arrive until Thursday.

Nicaraguan officials said guerrillas killed Linder and two Sandinista militiamen Tuesday at La Camaleona, a village about 20 miles away in Jinotega province. The U.S.-financed rebels have been increasingly active recently in Jinotega.

There were conflicting reports about the precise circumstances of Linder's death. He was helping build a small hydroelectric plant in La Camaleona.

Manuel Espinoza Henriquez, spokesman for Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega, said in Managua that Linder left a letter asking to be buried in Nicaragua if he was killed, and his family had agreed.

The body was taken to the office of Carlos Zamora, the Sandinistas' representative in Matagalpa. Four men carried the coffin from La Camaleona early Wednesday.

House, Senate debate pari-mutuel bill

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — Negotiations over a pari-mutuel gambling bill broke down Wednesday after senators on a joint conference committee refused to accept House members' compromise plan for taxing bets on dog and horse races.

The panel's two meetings Wednesday were brief, lasting less than 10 minutes each. House members of the panel left each meeting expressing their frustration over senators' unwillingness to accept a compromise.

In fact, House members withdrew an offer that traded their tax plan for a Senate-supported ban on the use of live animals in the training of racing dogs. The panel was scheduled to have another meeting late Wednesday.

At times, the debate became testy.

"Delaying this will only help the people with tracks in other states," said Rep. Robert H. Miller,

R-Wellington, chairman of the conference committee and the House Federal and State Affairs Committee.

Sen. Ben Vidricksen, R-Salina, responded, "All of us want to do what's fair."

The pari-mutuel bill would implement a constitutional amendment voters approved in November. It would set up a five-member racing commission, regulate who can operate race tracks and establish a system for taxing bets. The tax and live lures issues are the two largest the panel must resolve.

When the House passed the measure in March, the tax rates were set at 3 percent on straight bets on races at horse tracks and combination dog-horse tracks. At dog tracks, bets would be taxed at 5 percent. Exotic bets, such as picking winners to more than one race at one time, would be taxed at similar rates.

SUMMER SALE!

FIRST 3 DAYS ONLY!
$10.99 EACH
GARMENT-WASHED
SHIRTS, PANTS & SKIRTS
(Juniors $13; S-M-L VALUES $20-24)

NOW $10.99
TANK
DRESSES
(S-M-L) VALUES $16-21

NOW $10.99-15.99
DUNKIS
ONE & TWO-PIECE Jantzen
SWIMSUITS & OTHERS
(Junior & Misses 5-14) VALUES $27-38

NOW $7.99
100% COTTON
TWEED SHORTS
(S-M-L) VALUE $20

NOW $6.99
AND UNDER!

NOW $6.99
100% COTTON
ROMPERS
(S-M-L) VALUES $10-20

NOW $4.99
KNIT OVERSIZED
CROP TOPS
(S-M-L) VALUE $7

NOW $2.99
RIBBED-KNIT
TANK TOPS
(S-M-L) VALUES $4-8

NOW $4.99
FAMOUS MAKER
JOGGING
SHORTS
(S-M-L) VALUE $12

$11.99-13.99 LIMITED EXPRESS®
100% COTTON
SHIRTS
(S-M-L) VALUE $28

$19.99 OUTBACK RED®
COTTON-BLEND
PANTS
(Misses 6-14)
VALUES $44-52

TOWN EAST CENTER
OPEN HOURS:
Weeknights til 8:30 PM
Saturday til 6 PM
Sunday 12-5:30 PM
FASHION COMPANY
• FREE LAYAWAYS
• RETURN & EXCHANGE
PRIVILEGES

DESIGNER AND NAME BRAND FASHIONS FOR LESS!!

Fashion Company

K-State Singers
A contemporary look at music
Thursday, April 30; Saturday, May 2
Tickets from McCain
Box Office, 532-6428
Noon to 5 p.m.
Public $5
Students & Seniors $3

Oh Thank Heaven 7 ELEVEN
OPEN 24 HOURS 1455 ANDERSON
Super Big Gulps only 59¢
Two Chili Cheese Dogs & a Super Big Gulp 99¢
Offer expires May 8, 1987

UPC

ACADEMY AWARD WINNER
BEST ACTOR
WILLIAM HURT

KISS OF THE SPIDER WOMAN
Today, 3:30 p.m. Little Theatre; 7:30 p.m. Forum Hall; Rated R; KSU I.D. required; $1.75
k-state union
upc kaleidoscope

Thursday, April 30, 1987
For more information on any UPC event, call 532-6571

EDDIE MURPHY IS BACK IN ACTION.

THE GOLDEN CHILD

The fate of an ancient tribe—and quite possibly the entire world—hangs in the balance! And only one man can save the day... Eddie Murphy! Murphy stars in this imaginative comedy-adventure as an expert at recovering missing children. Eddie becomes an unwilling pawn in a deadly game of mystery and mysticism when he agrees to track down the tribe's kidnapped sacred child!

Friday, May 1, and Saturday, May 2, 7 & 9:30 p.m., Forum Hall
Rated PG-13; KSU ID Required: $1.75

WINNER OF 4 ACADEMY AWARDS!

BUTCH CASSIDY AND THE SUNDANCE KID
This enduring classic and winner of four Academy Awards is the perfect mixture of lighthearted comedy and adventure. Robert Redford and Paul Newman are perfectly cast as the outlaw buddies who are not exactly sure who's chasing them.

20th CENTURY FOX PRESENTS
PAUL NEWMAN ROBERT REDFORD KATHARINE ROSS

Saturday, May 2, 2 p.m. and Sunday, May 3, 2 & 7 p.m. All shows in Forum Hall; Rated PG; KSU ID Required: $1.50

Opinions differ on drug testing's basic issues

By TOM MORRIS
Sports Editor

Editor's Note: This is the fourth installment of a five-part series on drug testing in intercollegiate athletics. The series will run throughout the week on the sports page.

With a controversial subject such as drug testing, there are bound to be differing opinions on its basic issues. These include necessity, the NCAA's testing method and banned drug list and confidentiality. Also, it appears as if athletes are being singled out.

During the men's postseason basketball tournament in March, the NCAA tested eight players from each of the 64 teams in the field.

For some players, such as K-State guard Lynn Smith, it was a strenuous ordeal. Specifically, it was reported he was unable to urinate when asked to do so because he was too dehydrated.

K-State Athletic Director Larry Travis said there must be an alternative to testing directly after a game.

"I'm not sure (the NCAA is) doing it at the best time after a game because there are problems with it. I don't know why they couldn't sample the day before the game," Travis said.

"Or if (an athlete is) taking drugs during a game, why couldn't the NCAA test the next day. If you're doing some kind of drug, it's going to be in your system for at least 24-48 hours."

Dr. Guy Smith, director of sports medicine at Lafene Student Health Center, said the NCAA's testing will not curb recreational drug use in college athletics.

"You know it's a one-time test, you know it's coming up, so you're going to temporarily stop using the drug," he said.

Negative discussion has developed about the NCAA's banned drug list, which contains 3,000 substances. It has confused trainers and players to the point that they don't know what can be taken.

Drug Testing In College Athletics

"If they're going to ban things, that's fine; but give the medical community a break," said Carl Cramer, K-State's head trainer. "I mean, there has got to be something we can use that won't (test positive)."

"I think it's important what the NCAA is trying to do...but the NCAA has gotten a little out of hand," said K-State women's basketball player Amy Davidson. "I always wonder when I get a cold if it's safe to take a certain medicine or not."

Smith said problems with banned drug lists started when testing began at the 1968 Olympic Games.

"The International Olympic Committee started out drug testing in kind of a 'blindman's bluff' fashion and took all the drugs that were considered stimulants...and banned everything that was shown in the lab to have a stimulating affect on any physiological reaction.

"Although 99 percent of them would never be used to try to improve performances, the (IOC) banned everyone of them. The NCAA, after 20 years of experience, took lock, stock and barrel the Olympic list," Smith said. "It's ridiculous that no one bothered to go through and look to separate medicines that may be realistically used to improve an athlete's performance."

Even though the NCAA admitted the length of its banned drug list was "terrible," the association plans not to devise a "safe list" as adopted by the IOC and U.S. Olympic Committee.

"The USOC did that and they advised us strongly against it," said Ursula Walsh, the NCAA's director of research and sports sciences.

"They said it caused an awful lot of problems (because) there is no real 'safe drug' that's safe for everybody. We've tossed that idea around, but I think we're pretty well convinced that we don't want to get into it."

Athletes choose to take drugs for a numerous reasons. Still, pressure to perform above expected standards seems to be the No. 1 reason why athletes take banned substances.

"That's the whole rationale behind testing, especially at the Olympic level. There is so much to be gained by winning the gold," Cramer said.

A survey given to Olympians asked if an athlete would take a drug that would produce a gold medal but would cause death five years later. Between 85 percent and 90 percent answered yes.

"It shows you the kind of priority level and the kind of value system

See SERIES, Page 10

Teams either win, lose big in yearly NFL draft

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — The poor got richer in the NFL draft. Some of the rich got richer, too.

While coaches and personnel executives unanimously applauded themselves, and sages pointed out that it will take years to determine the draft's real value, a few winners and losers jumped out of Tuesday's 18-hour selection process.

Winners: the Tampa Bay Bucs, Houston Oilers, Pittsburgh Steelers and Buffalo Bills. And two of the last three Super Bowl winners, the San Francisco 49ers and New York Giants.

Losers: The Chicago Bears and, as usual, the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Bucs, a big loser last year when top pick Bo Jackson opted for baseball, won by default.

By some wheeling and dealing, new coach and general manager Ray Perkins had 20 picks, the most since the 12-round draft was instituted in 1977. The assumption is that 20 new guys can't be any worse than 20 who played on the 2-14 Bucs last year, particularly when No. 1 is Vinny Testaverde, the quarterback around whom Perkins will rebuild.

"We got most of the players we wanted. Now it's just a matter of how good a job we did evaluating," said Perkins, who may have snared a star on the second round in Mississippi State quarterback Don Smith, who will be turned into a running back.

The Oilers, with an extra first-round pick from the trade of Jim Everett to the Los Angeles Rams last year, added two potentially explosive elements in Miami fullback Alonzo Highsmith and Haywood Jeffries of North Carolina State, considered the top wide receiver. They also may have the pass rusher they need in Walter Johnson of Louisiana Tech, one of six straight linebackers picked in the second round.

The Steelers benefitted from sheer luck and curious picking ahead of them, notably by the always curious Cardinals, who took Colorado State quarterback Kelly Stouffer with the draft's sixth pick.

That set off a chain reaction that dropped Purdue defensive back Rod Woodson down to 10th and also allowed Philadelphia to take Miami defensive lineman Jerome Brown with the ninth, setting up a potentially awesome front featuring Brown and Reggie White.

Pittsburgh had tried unsuccessfully to trade to get Woodson, the best defensive back available and maybe the best pure athlete in the draft.

"It's like Christmas in April," said defensive coordinator Tony Dungy and Coach Chuck Noll said: "We spent lots of time looking at other people because we thought he'd go very, very high."

Buffalo, which wanted Penn State linebacker Shane Conlan, had the third pick but figured it could get Conlan lower.

So it exchanged places with Houston, which held the eighth choice, added a high second-round pick, and still got Conlan. Then, the Bills parlayed that second-round choice into a deal with Tampa Bay that gave them the first pick of the second round and another top defensive back, Nate Odomes of Wisconsin.

The 49ers, who stocked up on picks with deals last year, got two replacements for their aging offensive line in Harris Barton of North Carolina and Jeff Bregel of Southern California. They also got a running back to replace Wendell Tyler and Joe Cribbs in Terrence Flagler of Clemson.

Relief pitching carries WSU to 11-7 triumph over 'Cats

By The Collegian Staff

Rick Olivas hit two three-run homers and Rich McIntyre fired 3½ innings of scoreless relief to power the 25th-ranked Wichita State to an 11-7 win over K-State Wednesday at Eck Stadium in Wichita.

Olivas' second three-run homer in the eighth inning put the finishing touches on the Shockers' victory. Olivas, who went 3-for-5 in the game, drove in six runs for Wichita State, 44-16.

The game started on a high note for the Wildcats, 24-22, as Otto Kaifes hit a grand slam home run in the top of the first inning to give the 'Cats a 4-0 lead.

Russ Ringgenberg walked and Mike Hinkle reached on an infield hit to start the rally. After David Chadd walked to load the bases, Kaifes slammed a 3-2 pitch from Wichita State's Pat Cedeno over the left-center-field fence.

Kaifes' home run was his fourth of the season and moved him into the top spot on the all-time K-State home run list. The senior first baseman, who had his 24-game hitting streak snapped Tuesday by the Shockers, now has 25 round-trippers in his four-year career. He surpassed the previous K-State record of 24 set by Cary Colbert from 1982 to 1984.

In addition, the home run was the first homer given up by Cedeno since the 1986 season.

Wichita State tied the game in the bottom of the first inning when Kent Headley reached on an infield single and Mike Lansing was hit by a pitch by K-State starter Paul Iseman, 4-4, to start the rally.

With one out, Mark Standiford doubled in a run and Olivas followed with his 11th homer of the season to score three runs.

The Shockers took the lead in the second when Mike Blankenberger singled in Brian Tann who had walked and stole second base to begin the frame.

Wichita State added a run in the third on an RBI grounder by Jeff Bonacquist, and then scored two runs in the fourth on an RBI single by Tim Raley and a run-scoring double by Standiford.

K-State narrowed the Shockers' lead to 8-7 in the sixth when Tom Parsons walked and Jeff Hulse singled. Jim Donohue then ripped a single to left to drive in Parsons.

Scott Spangenberg sacrificed the runners to third and second, respectively. After a walk to Ringgenberg loaded the bases, Hinkle singled to left off reliever McIntyre to bring in Hulse and Donohue.

That would be all the Wildcats would get off McIntyre who retired 11 of the final 13 Kansas State batters to pick up his first save of the season. Kevin Kelly, 2-2, received credit for the win.

NOTES: Hinkle was selected as the Big Eight Conference's player of the week for his one-hit, 6-0 win over Iowa State. Hinkle fanned three, walked one and allowed the Cyclones only a harmless fourth-inning single while improving his record to 4-2 overall, 2-2 in the Big Eight.

Call earns tryout for U.S. squad

Volleyball standout Shawnee Call has been selected to try out for the U.S. international team competing in the World University Games this July in Yugoslavia.

Selected athletes to travel abroad

By JEFF RAPP
Sports Writer

For Shawnee Call, this is a step in the right direction.

Call, a sophomore volleyball standout for K-State, has been selected to try out for a spot on the U.S. international team that will compete in the World University Games this July at Zagreb, Yugoslavia.

Just a couple of years ago, though, Call was a volleyball star for Ellsworth High School. To K-State Coach Scott Nelson, Call's great strides in her level of competition are amazing.

"To go from a real simple offense in Ellsworth a year and a half ago to an invitation to an international tryout is just a drastic step. It's like fourth-grade basketball compared to the NBA," Nelson said.

Nelson also said Call should be honored just to be considered one of the 30 players to try out for the 12-member squad.

"She should be feeling like it's just a great honor to be invited for the tryout because it's not an open tryout. You have to be selected to be there.

"There are hundreds of thousands of volleyball players in the country and 20,000-30,000 who compete on the collegiate level...so it's a real honor just to be chosen to try out for the team. It will be a good experience for her, whether she makes the team or not," Nelson said.

Call said she was unsure of how prestigious the squad is, but said she was fortunate to be among those considered for the team.

"I don't know exactly how big of an honor it's supposed to be, but from what I've been told, it's pretty big. To me, though, it's a big honor. Actually, I hardly know anything about it at all," Call said.

What Call does know, though, is she'll try out at the Olympic Training Center in San Diego, with a chance to travel abroad as an athlete to represent the United States.

Nelson said the athletes selected will be strongly considered for positions on the 1992 Olympic volleyball squad.

"What the United States' Olympic committee and the national team coaches have done is try to use this team as a first exposure to top international competition for future Olympians. What they're attract at this tryout are hopefuls for the '92 Olympic team," Nelson said.

Because of her youth, Call will be at a disadvantage to some players invited to the competition.

"It will be a good experience for her whether she makes the team or not — just being among that elite set of athletes," Nelson said.

"It's not unusual to try out for national teams and be cut and try out again, and be cut and try out again and make it. Shawnee is very young in the game of volleyball itself. She's doing great stuff. I don't want to undercut what she's done, but it's just leaps and bounds from a collegiate level to an international level.

"She definitely can compete at this level, but there may be more mature players there who have had some international experience, so this is just her first shot. She doesn't have any pressure on her and she's already done the best part, which is to be good enough to be recognized and invited to try out," Nelson said.

Jackson scorns yet another football offer; last pick hopes to make team

By The Associated Press

Owners of professional football teams just can't believe Bo Jackson would rather play baseball. Neither can sportswriters.

The question comes again Tuesday night following the NFL draft.

The Los Angeles Raiders drafted Jackson in the seventh round. Sportswriters crowd around Jackson's locker in the Kansas City Royals clubhouse after a 3-0 loss to the Baltimore Orioles. Football is on their mind.

"Bo," they ask, "wouldn't you rather play football?"

Jackson sighs, and turns to hitting coach Hal McRae.

"I'm going to get a big sign," Jackson says in his deliberate manner, "and write in big, black letters, 'I AM A BASEBALL PLAYER.'"

It's hard to believe a Heisman Trophy winner, the No. 1 draft choice in 1986, turning down $2.5 million a year to carry a football for Tampa Bay. Will he turn down the Raiders too?

"I'm a baseball player," Jackson insists again. "Didn't you see me out there tonight?"

Sure enough, it was Jackson in left field, making a spectacular throw in the eighth inning to nail Alan Wiggins trying to advance from second to third on a deep fly ball.

"It won't help, Bo," McRae said. "They'll still want to talk football with you."

Raiders Coach Tom Flores has come up with a new way to get

Jackson into a football uniform. "We know that no one has ever done it," Flores says. "But we feel he could be the first to play both."

While Jackson keeps turning down a football career, the last draft pick in the NFL is just hoping he can make the team.

Norman Jefferson can take a joke, even when it's an elaborate ribbing directed at his long-shot status as the last man chosen in the NFL draft.

"If you can't laugh at yourself now and then, you're not much of a human being," Jefferson said Wednesday.

Jefferson, a cornerback at Louisiana State University, was the 335th player chosen, at 2:05 Wednesday morning, taken by the Green Bay Packers — the last pick of the last round.

As the last player drafted, Jefferson has been invited to be the guest of honor in June at Newport Beach, Calif., for the 12th annual Irrelevant Week, during which he will receive the annual Lowsman Trophy.

"It's a gorgeous bronze trophy. It features a football player, mouth agape, just dropping the football. It's a laugh, but it's a gorgeous trophy," said Betty Bottorf of Sports Depot, prime sponsor for the civic occasion.

During the week, Jefferson will be part of a boat parade, shake hands with Mickey Mouse during a day at Disneyland, have a race named for him at Hollywood Park and share a dais with baseball Hall of Famer Mickey Mantle at a sports award banquet.

Series

Continued from Page 9

that those people are dealing with that we have to contend with," Cramer said.

Drug problems, though, aren't just limited to athletes.

"If we're really into drugs, then why aren't we helping everybody else (at K-State)?" Travis said. "We're taking a segment of our population and saying 'we're going to closely scrutinize these particular people,' but we have 15,000 other students that we don't really care about. I have a problem with that."

Since an athlete is often in the public eye, it is sometimes difficult to keep a star athlete's drug test results confidential, as the case with University of Oklahoma linebacker Brian Bosworth shows.

While it is important to maintain the confidentiality of any medical test, Bosworth's positive test for anabolic steroids definitely made people notice.

"The Brian Bosworth situation probably did more for curbing the abuse of substances in athletics than any drug education program we could put together," Cramer said.

Because problems are associated with drug-testing programs, some have gone so far as to suggest an alternative such as K-State's "Total Person" drug education program.

"My own personal feeling is that education is better than testing. I firmly believe that," Travis said.

"No one's been able to show that drug testing has an effect on drug usage," Smith said. "I think educational programs are the most effective means concerning recreational drug use and performance-enhancing drug abuse as well."

"It really takes the pressure of society and peer pressure to stop abnormal drug abuse."

Test or no test, there will still be drug-related problems, said Bill Arck, K-State's director of Alcohol and Other Drug Education Services.

"In the past there were no tests, and there were drug problems. Now, there are tests, and there still are drug problems," Arck said.

"I don't think testing will get us away from the problem completely, but it will give a lot of people the incentive to say no."

Sports writer Bill Lang contributed to this report. Friday's article will deal with drug testing's future.

Classifieds

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3.25, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY FOR Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

ANNOUNCEMENTS 01

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour products. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (119-150)

FIELDS OF FAIR—We are now open for the season and are taking bookings for barn parties, hall and farewell parties, barbecues, cookouts, promotion parties, reunions, graduation parties and weddings. Phone 539-5328. (125-150)

MARY KAY Cosmetics. Check out our new individual lip and eye colors. 539-9469, Janet Miliken. (138-150)

539-7657

Mon.-Fri. 10-5, Sun. 1-5
Candlewood Center

73 OVERWEIGHT people needed to try new chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Call 776-5114, 776-1465. (140-150)

STILL LOOKING for summer work? For opportunity to make $4,550 this summer call to set up interview. 776-2564. (146-148)

ATTENTION 02

OVERWEIGHT? WANT to feel better? New chocolate, vanilla and strawberry herbal weight control program available. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Get away from diet jitters. On campus daily. 784-6065 evenings/weekends. (132-150)

Party Subs

4 & 6 ft. lengths
(3 Days Notice, Please)

Open 11 a.m.-7 p.m. Mon.-Sat.

Now Open Sundays 2-7 p.m.

211 Seth Childs 537-2411

FOR RENT—MISC 03

RENTAL TYPEWRITERS—Correcting and non-correcting, typewriter ribbons for sale, service available. Multi Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville. 539-1413. (271)

INEXPENSIVE. SELF-storage units. Why take all your stuff home this summer? Three months storage only $60. Amherst Self-Storage, 776-3804. (138-150)

FOR RENT—APTS 04

TWO AND three bedroom near campus. Central air, one and one-half bath. Available June and August 537-8800. (1101f)

LOOKING FOR nice but reasonably priced apartments? One, two, three and four bedroom apartment complexes and houses for now, summer and fall. Most newly new and close to campus. 537-2919, 537-1666. (111-146)

ONE LARGE bedroom, completely furnished, laundry facilities in the complex. One block from the campus. $300. Call 537-7980 or 537-2255. (1121f)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, close to campus. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities in the complex. Available August. $420. Call 537-7810 or 537-2255. (1121f)

FREE RENT last month of yearly lease. Ten months available in August. Various locations, no pets. After April 1 call 537-8389. (1191f)

BLOCK WEST of campus, June or August, one-bedroom, furnished. $240. Call 539-5051 after 1 p.m. or see Dave, apartment 4, at 1024 Sunset. (1311f)

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM, five blocks from campus. Air conditioning. Available August 1. No pets. $325. Phone 776-0181. (1211f)

PRE-LEASING ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. One bedroom, near campus. $275 to $290. Two-bedroom near campus. $335 to $355. Call 776-9124. (1221f)

GOOD SELECTION of one and two-bedroom apartments available for June or August leasing. Call McCullough Development, 776-3804. (123-146)

AVAILABLE NOW and August. Unfurnished one-bedroom, nicely decorated, campus location, washer/dryer facility, no pets. $265 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS

3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions. Lowest rates. 776-3624.

NICE, ONE-bedroom in complex on the corner of Lee and Hunting. $325 or $340 with fireplace. June or August leasing. No pets, please. 776-3804. (1311f)

915 1/2 CLAFIN, walk-out basement, completely furnished two-bedroom. Redecorated August 1986. ample parking. Heat, water, trash paid. $340/month. One-year lease June 1st 539-3085 or 539-6133. (1311f)

AVAILABLE FOR June or August—Furnished, large two-bedroom with off-campus location. Dishwasher, disposal, central air, carpeting throughout. No pets. $350 plus deposit. Phone 539-1465. (125-146)

LARGE THREE-bedroom in a nine-plex with large closets, living room, dining area, fully-equipped kitchen. $150 each for three. $125 each for four. 822 Fremont. Available June 1 or August 1. 1987. Call 537-7087. (1271f)

UNIVERSITY TERRACE—Two- and three-bedroom apartments, swimming pool, spacious yard, laundry hookups and facilities. On the bike path to University. 537-2096. (127-147)

AVAILABLE LARGE two-bedroom apartment, newly decorated. June 1. $360 plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, nice, large three-bedroom basement apartment, newly remodeled. $330 plus utilities. 776-8393. (130-146)

AVAILABLE THREE-bedroom apartment. June 1. $400 plus utilities. Nice, newly decorated. 776-8393. (130-146)

Now Leasing

12 month Leases

•2 Bdrm. Townhouses

•Large Spacious Apt.

•Close to campus

MONT BLUE APT.

539-4447

NOW LEASING for fall—Next to campus (near Haymaker Hall), two bedrooms in luxury apartment complex, fireplace, laundry, modern kitchen, natural gas heating. Evenings. 539-2702. (134-150)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment. $340 per month. Across street from Ahearn Field House. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (143-150)

MAY OR June, one-bedrooms, $205-$235. Phone 539-8423 after 6 p.m. (135-150)

NOW RENTING for 1987-88 school year, two-bedroom unfurnished apartments, 1026 Bluemont. Call 776-2092 for appointment. (136-150)

RENTING FOR 1987-88 school year, Schumann Apartments, 1119 Laramie. Luxury one bedroom, furnished. 776-2092. (136-150)

Summer Leases

available

•1 & 2 Bedroom

•2 Bedroom Townhouses

•Close to Campus

MONT BLUE APT.

539-4447

NEAR K.S.U., three-bedroom, furnished basement apartment. Central air, washer and dryer, utilities paid. $480. Call 539-0368 after 6:30 p.m. (137-146)

COMPLETE FIRST floor of large apartment house. 724 Poyntz. Will accommodate three-four students. Unfurnished, no pets. 537-8389 for appointment. (1371f)

FOR AUGUST, next to KSU, deluxe furnished two-bedroom apartment. Also, one-bedroom apartment. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (1381f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease. $350/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

1219 KEARNEY Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease. $230/month. 539-5136. (1381f)

ONE and three bedroom apartments for June, walk to K.S.U. 776-6063. (1401f)

FURNISHED, ONE-bedroom in complex. 1219 Clafin, next to campus. $260 plus electric. New paint and carpet, lease June 1 or August 1. No children or pets. Phone 537-1180. (140-150)

AVAILABLE AUGUST 15, nice, furnished one-bedroom apartment. Water, trash and two-thirds gas paid. Laundry facility. Graduate student or couple preferred. $260/month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (1401f)

KSU Students

- * June 1 & August 1 leases
- * 2-Bedroom Apartments—Close to KSU
- * $360-$399
- * Furnished & Unfurnished (Quality Furniture)
- * Decks, Dishwasher
- * Parking Permit

776-1222

After 5 p.m. and weekends—537-2098

TWO OR three-bedroom apartments and townhouses with central air in a quiet neighborhood. For June or August. $395. Phone 537-0428 or 776-2425. (140-150)

COTTAGE: LIVE in a cottage for the price of an apartment. Available for fall, located southeast of campus. 539-7277 after 5:30 or weekends. (1401f)

LARGE ONE-bedroom basement apartment available. Available for fall, located southeast of campus. 539-5921. (140-150)

ONE TWO-, three-, four-bedroom apartments, close to campus. June occupancy. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

Great Apartments

- * Close to KSU & Aggieville
- * 1 & 2 Bedrooms
- * $290-$365
- * Unfurnished or Furnished (New)
- * Dishwasher/Central Air/Carpeted

Call 776-1222 or 539-7260

EFFICIENCIES, ONE and two-bedroom apartments. $165 to $290. Phone 776-6791 or 776-4805. (140-150)

BASEMENT APARTMENTS for June, one-bedroom. $200, three-bedroom. $270; bills paid. 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, one-half block from campus. 1212 Bluemont. $400. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

TWO-BEDROOM, furnished or unfurnished, good location. $295. One unit left. 537-3375. (140-149)

NICE, QUIET, clean place to live. Furnished, one- and two-bedroom apartments. Assorted features include queen-sized bed, carpet, paid utilities, dishwasher, laundry, courtyard. For non-smoking married couple, employed individual, serious student. $216-$330 per month. June lease. No pets. waterbeds. 537-9686. (146-150)

LARGE TWO—bedroom unfurnished apartment, near campus, available August 1. Heat, water, trash paid. $350. Phone 539-8052 evenings. (1411f)

APARTMENT MANAGER and maintenance positions for 32-unit community near University. Ideal position for couple, salary plus apartment. Apply at Mont Blue Apartments. 1431 McCain Lane. (141-146)

LARGE, BEAUTIFULLY furnished unit across street from campus. No pets, smoking. Stockwell Real Estate. 539-4073. (1411f)

119 BLOCKS from campus, across from Aggieville, two-bedroom apartments, available June 1st. Furnished or unfurnished. 539-5702 after 5 p.m. (142-146)

LARGE TWO-bedroom, one block from campus. Aggieville and park. Available May 1. 537-4648. (1421f)

TWO-BEDROOM duplex, 1027 Vatter, garage, available June. Two-bedroom triplex, 818 Bluemont. August. 537-1676. (143-147)

FREE RENT first month of yearly lease on one-bedroom in Westchester Park Apts. Available immediately. $340. After 5 p.m. phone 537-4319 or 537-7022. (143-147)

ONE-HALF block east of campus, one and one-half bedroom, 1212 Thurston. Up to three people. $330. June or August. Also need resident manager. 539-5059. (144-150)

AVAILABLE AUGUST 1. Three-bedroom, furnished. 1729 Laramie, heat, water, trash paid, year's lease. $360. Phone 537-2099 or evenings. 539-8052. (144-150)

FALL AND SUMMER LEASES

Adjacent to Campus

COLLEGE COURT

APARTMENTS

1615 Anderson

PLATT APARTMENTS

1811 Platt

1 & 2 Bedroom Unfurnished

All Appliances

Air Conditioned

Private Parking

Laundry Facilities

$210-$330

KANSAS STATE

UNIVERSITY

FOUNDATION

8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

532-7166

FURNISHED, THREE-bedroom basement, close to Aggieville. $325 plus utilities. Call 632-5211. Steak supper for those who rent. (145-150)

ONE BLOCK from campus, two-bedroom furnished laundry central air. Summer sublease. 532-3763. 532-3154. 776-0554. (144-146)

JUNE AND July only—Two-bedroom apartment one block from university. Phone 539-0410 or 539-2857. (144-148)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, one block from university. Available June 1. Phone 539-0410 or 539-2857. (144-148)

SUMMER SUBLEASE or year rent. Two-bedroom apartment at 913 Vatter. Rent depends on type of lease. Call 776-3262 for more information. (144-147)

ONE BEDROOM furnished, call 776-6157. (144-144)

(Continued on page 11)

A WORD FROM "PYTHON" PISCOPO EX-WRESTLER ABOUT MILLER LITE

© 1986 Miller Brewing Co., Milwaukee, WI

"DUH"*

*TRANSLATION: A SUPERBLY BREWED, FINE TASTING PILSENER BEER.

THERE'S ONLY ONE
LITE BEER

Changes

Continued from Page 1

SYSTEM MODIFICATIONS

Vorhies said one of the changes in the department's operational policy is to assign cases to designated pathologists.

Vorhies said this system works well because one person is responsible for each case sent to the department, and the chance of the case being lost, neglected or delayed has been reduced.

Under this system, the pathologist who has responsibility for the case interprets the results and sends letters out to the submitters of the case. Vorhies said additional submissions are also encouraged by this system.

"This system of operation improves communication and consolidates reporting in each case," Vorhies said.

Additional minor changes have been made.

"We use a computer now to keep track of case materials," he said. "We can tell where (the case materials) are located at a specific time. This gives us a better inventory."

Vorhies said the practitioners noticed an increase in capabilities with the changes made in the department.

ment.

"Submissions are up, and we have received good comments by phone and by letters from the submitters," he said.

There has been a "marked improvement in the department's communications in the last six to eight months," Whitehair said.

Whitehair said practitioners send identification cards in with their samples, enabling the pathologist working on the case to provide feedback on the case's progress to the practitioner.

Whitehair said a recent example of the improvements was the quick action the department took in returning diagnoses for cattle killed in the March blizzards.

"The diagnostic lab was very helpful in giving quick results regarding the insurance claims turned in for cattle," Whitehair said. "We really appreciated the coordination."

Dr. L.L. Hanel, practitioner in Courtland and consulting veterinarian for Republican Valley Feeders, said the service has improved since Vorhies took over.

"Before the changes, some of the samples we sent in would take a little longer, but it was never anything too major," said Hanel, who has used the service since 1971.

Vorhies said the lack of finances caused a shortage in pathologists handling the casework. Additional pathologists have recently been hired to remedy this problem.

"It sure helps to have an adequate staff," Vorhies said.

Whitehair said he is satisfied and encouraged by the improved service.

"The changes were long overdue," he said. "Part of the problems were caused by budget restraints which have a negative impact and are tough to overcome."

Vorhies accepted his post in August, replacing Harry Anthony. Anthony is retired and living in Manhattan.

Anthony refused to comment on the department's performance past or present.

Channell

Continued from Page 1

Zornow said Channell "knew that it was improper to use a tax-exempt organization for a non-deductible purpose, namely military aid."

Zornow said that Channell "knew that the likely result of the subversion was to encourage individual contributors to take improper deductions from their income tax."

Michael Bromwich, another prosecutor in Walsh's office, requested a delay in the Channell sentencing until after "the completion of his cooperation" with the investigation.

In his statement of facts, Zornow

said the foundation had told prospective donors "that the money would be used to purchase military and other non-humanitarian aid" for the Contras.

Channell, a short, red-faced man with a pencil-thin blond moustache, appeared very subdued as he stood before Harris with his attorneys, Alexia Morrison and Elaine Rubin.

"We are here to enter a plea of guilty," Morrison told the judge at the outset of the hearing.

Harris asked Channell whether he knew that Morrison had represented other clients in connection with the Walsh investigation and whether he was concerned that that appeared to be a conflict of interest.

Channell, speaking softly,

answered "yes" when asked if he was satisfied with Morrison's representation.

Channell said he had conspired with North and Richard Miller, a public relations executive.

In a statement afterward, Walsh said, "Today's guilty plea and Mr. Channell's agreement to cooperate is a significant step forward in our continuing investigation of the Iran-Contra matter."

Outside the U.S. Courthouse, Walsh's assistants were asked whether North would eventually be charged with the same offense that Channell pleaded guilty to.

"We're not prepared to do that at this time," said Bromwich.

K-State Players
presents
Still Alive and Well
Living on Planet Earth
Written & Performed by
Joel Climenhaga
May 1 & 2
Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.
Call 532-6398
Mon.-Fri. 12-5
Proceeds to Joel Climenhaga Creative Writing Award

Gifts for Horticulturally Inclined Mothers:

- ✓ Hanging Baskets of Ivy Leaf Geraniums, New Guinea Impatiens, or Begonias.
- ✓ Potted blooming hybrid tea roses. (Including latest varieties)
- ✓ Blooming Hibiscus Bushes for patio use. (3½ ft. tall)
- ✓ Huge Healthy Houseplants
- ✓ Fresh Cut Flower Bouquets

Eastside & Westside Markets
east Hwy. 24 by K-Mart • west K-18 by Holidome

LSAT
GMAT
GRE

WHAT IF YOU DON'T GET INTO THE GRAD SCHOOL OF YOUR CHOICE?

Sure, there are other schools. But why settle? Kaplan prep courses help students raise their scores and their chances of being admitted into their first-choice schools. Fact is, no one has helped students score higher!

KAPLAN
STANLEY H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER LTD.
OTHER COURSES: MCAT, DAT, NCLEX, NTE, CPA, BAR REVIEW, & OTHERS

Take the heat off! This summer study with KAPLAN Now—2 centers
in Kansas City 341-1220
Lawrence 842-5442
—Scholarships Available—

Ballard's BALLARD'S Ballard's
IN MANHATTAN

Spring & Summer Warehouse Sale
Thursday, Friday & Saturday—April 30 to May 2
Sale Location—601 South 5th

SHOES SHOES SHOES SHOES

◀ Kaepa. CONVERSE BROOKS adidas

ONE SELECTION $27.50 PUMA TIGER ONE SELECTION $15

Reebok NIKE YOUTH SHOES $10 Etonic Sports Footwear & Apparel

new balance AVIA FootJoy

SOFTBALL

Aluminum Bats.....$15 to $34.95 Racketballs....reg. $3 can $1.50 can
Ball Gloves.....1/2 Price Soccerballs...reg. $22.95 $10
Softballs.....$30 per doz. Tetherballs....reg. $16.95 $8
$2.50 each to $70 per doz. Leather
Jerseys.....$2 & $3 Basketballs..reg. $62.95 $30

CLOTHES

Socks $1.50 each $15 doz. Shorts $2 each $10 doz.

Warm-ups (one group).....to $86.95 $30 Jams.....to $24.95 $10
Warm-ups (one group).....to $49.95 $10 Heavy Jackets.....to $78.50 $25
Gear Printed Fleece.....to $19.95 $10 Jerseys.....$2 each $20 doz.
Running Shorts.....to $14.95 $5 Jerseys.....$3 each $30 doz.
Mens Tennis Shorts.....to $29.95 $8 Long Sleeve T's.....$3 each $30 doz.
Ladies Tennis Tops & Shorts..to $24.95 $8

Large Selection Russell Fleece all $8 T-Shirts $2 each $10 1/2 doz. $18 doz.

Many unadvertised items at fabulous prices!
Sale Location: 601 South 5th

MasterCard VISA DISCOVER

3 Days Only: Thursday 8-6, Friday 10-6
Saturday 10-6

(Continued from page 10)

ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment—Unfurnished summer rent. Close to city park. Aggieville and campus. Utilities paid. $200 per month. 539-1124 after 5 p.m. (144-147)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, all bills except electricity paid. Has gas heat, garage available. $290. Phone 532-2120. (145-150)

FOUR-BEDROOM furnished, 1521 Leavenworth. $440. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (145-151)

THREE-BEDROOM furnished, 815 N. 10th. $420. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (145-151)

ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment, near city park. Deposit, no pets. $200 per month. Call 539-7677 after 6 p.m. Available June 1st, one-year lease required. (146-150)

Now Renting HORIZON III 1212 Bluemont (across campus & Aggieville)

- 2 Bedrooms
 - All appliances
 - Extended Bath
 - Quality throughout
 - June & August Occupancy
- CALL
776-6791 or 539-8401

ONE BEDROOM across street from campus. $265 to $295. Some furnished, some balcony units. Many recently recarpeted. All have laundry facilities and paid water and trash removal. 776-3804. (146-150)

ONE-BEDROOM apartment, 915 Sunset, 539-5953. (146-150)

SERIOUS STUDENT, furnished one-bedroom. Gas, water, trash paid. Gas heat. Lease. No pets. 539-2546. (146-151)

ONE-BEDROOM, furnished, basement, available June 1. $225 includes utilities. 1006 Pierre, 539-5579. Serious students. (146-150)

LUXURY TWO-BEDROOM apartments, rent by month or lease, near college, reasonable. 539-4363. (146-150)

Moore Management NOW RENTING APARTMENTS (All Close to Campus!) PRID-MOR APTS.

1215 Bertrand
2-bedroom, 1½ baths, dishwasher, furnished
$450

RAINTREE APTS.

1010 Thurston
2-bedroom, furnished,
fireplace, dishwasher
$375-450

PHEASANT RIDGE

923 Fremont
2-bedroom, dishwasher
$350

For info call 539-1642
or 537-4567 after 7.
Call for special summer rates.

Fall Leases

* Fremont Apartments * Sandstone Apartments Large 2 BR Units 537-9064

TWO-BEDROOM furnished, 1408 Fairchild, $260. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (145-151)

FOR RENT—HOUSES 05

ONE-THREE non-smoking roommates. Prefer Vet or Animal Science majors to share modern farm-house. Free stall and pasture for horse, cow, dog, beef, eggs, wood, skiboat furnished. Reply PO Box 1211, Manhattan, (138-150)

AVAILABLE JUNE—Two bedrooms, 1822 Huntington, 917 Kearney, $300. Phone 539-8401. (140-150)

THREE-BEDROOM house, close to campus, 1411 Vista Lane, clean, no pets, $400 month plus deposit. Phone 235-3550 Topeka, Kansas, evenings. (144-148)

1,400 SQUARE feet, washer, dryer, fenced-in back yard $350. 539-9356 or 537-0069. (145-147)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1st, with appliances, two baths, near campus. $500. Call 537-8420. (145-149)

THREE-BEDROOM duplex, unfurnished, University location. Starting June, $395. Phone 537-1269. (145-151)

AVAILABLE JUNE: Four-bedroom, east of campus one block, $500/month. Five-bedroom east of campus, $550/month. Lease and deposit. 539-3672. (145-147)

AVAILABLE MID-May: Efficiency in duplex west of campus three blocks, $190/month. Lease and deposit. 539-3672. (145-147)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, five-bedroom, two-bath at 824 Laramie, $550 per month, lease and deposit. Reduced rent for summer. 539-3672. (146-147)

THREE-BEDROOM house, garage, two blocks west of campus, no pets. $390, available June 1. 539-5496 evenings. (146-147)

FOR SALE—AUTO 06

1979 CHEVROLET Camaro 2-28. 350, recently overhauled, automatic, new tires and battery, 49,500 miles. 776-6240. (142-147)

1980 MAZDA RX-7, five-speed, great condition, sunroof, air conditioned, new AM/FM cassette. Call 539-7491, ask for Phil. (144-150)

DATSUN 710, must sell. $600 with repair, $400 without. 539-9843. Masumi at 9320 Seaton. (144-147)

by Doug 'n' Dick

Bloom County

By Berke Breathed

Garfield

By Jim Davis

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 Coarse file
5 "The Terrible"
9 Sack of a sort
12 Hauthoy
13 Actress Moreno
14 Philosopher—Tse
15 Irving Berlin song
17 Vase
18 Acts the waiter
19 James Bond, e.g.
21 Former spouse
22 Bewitched town?
24 Pokes fun at 27 Traffic snarl
28 Idle
31 Symbol of sagacity
32 Woodsman's prop
33 Keats work
34 Sight-seeing jaunt

DOWN

36 Put on
37 TV reception problem
38 Consumed
40 Lindbergh book
41 Letter before
43 "No," for one
47 Spanish king
48 Leroy Anderson song
51 Wrath
52 Take last
53 "On Your (musical)"
54 Ethane or methane
55 Pitcher
56 Finishes
1 Burgles
2 Competent
3 One type of cream
4 Annoyances
5 Irritates
6 Clock numeral
7 Goddess of discord
8 Like some French vowels
9 Rodgers-Hart song
10 Take in
11 Warning word
16 Gender
20 Toothpaste type
22 Old England
23 "You said it!"
24 Balderdash!
25 —Jima
26 Elton John song
27 Green stone
29 Upor
30 Smattering
35 "King" (movie)
37 Capitol group
39 Ping-pong need
40 Sopping
41 Math course
42 Olympian
43 Bambi, e.g.
44 Privy to
45 Like some cheeses
46 One type of leader?
49 Say "moo"
50 Exploit

Solution time: 23 mins.

Yesterday's answer 4/30

CRYPTOQUIP

LOZ DNJNFOMQSLQ YJUQ
QUA "SY BIPZ S FBMPA
PUNJI QRB DUI MDI"
Yesterday's Cryptoquip: MY POISED BROTHER THE GARDENER, GETTING MARRIED, WANTS ME TO BE IN THE WEDDING PARTY.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: P equals L

1978 GOLD Trans Am Cruise, tilt, air, automatic, AM-FM cassette. $1,200 or best offer 776-3721. (144-148)

1967 MUSTANG—Runs good, looks nice. $2,300. Phone 537-4211. (145-147)

1983 MUSTANG convertible GLX, 37K. Has all options, white on white, clean. $8,900. call 539-1824. (146-150)

FOR SALE: Black 1970 Opel GT, mechanically sound, fast and economical. Call Ferzan, 532-2362, room 604. (146-148)

1975 CAMARO, power steering, power brakes, air, cruise, excellent condition. 537-3848. (146-147)

FOR SALE—MISC 07

LABRADOR PUPS, A.K.G. registered, black, excellent hunting stock. Eastern Shore bloodline. 537-8367. (143-147)

FOR SALE: Desk, $20 or best offer. Call 539-9144. (144-146)

MALE FERRET, de-scented, litter, food, water bottle, etc. included. $50. Call 537-7704. (144-146)

FOR SALE—Hide-a-bed sofa. Good condition. Great for apartment! $100, call 539-4518. (145-147)

TWIN BED with headboard. Good condition and comfortable. $50 or best offer (phone 532-6651) 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (145-147)

STEREO, DIGITAL—Ready four-way speakers. $200. Toshiba cassette deck, $65. Akai receiver, $100, as set for $300. Make offer. Call Brad, 537-9652. (145-147)

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY—Own the most sophisticated Mobile D.J. system in the Midwest. Earn your way through school. Call 532-2107. (145-149)

FOR SALE: Living room furniture, couch, two chairs, coffee table and end tables. Call 776-9117. (146-148)

SANYO MBC550 computer, single drive, Sakata monitor, BMC printer, Wordstar, Calcstar, $1,000 or best offer. Call 539-1824. (146-148)

TENNESSEE HUNTING puppies, English Setters, eight-weeks old, $75 each. Call 537-8946 after 5 p.m. (146-148)

COMMODORE 64, 1541 disk drive, color-sound monitor, Gemini Star 10 printer. Excellent condition. Call 539-8858. (146-150)

KENWOOD LSK-500C speakers, $70/pair; also small Sanyo refrigerator, $90. 776-7052. (146-150)

SONY DISCAM portable CD player and small collection of CD's. $200. Includes adapter for home stereo. 776-1760. (146-148)

FOR SALE—MOBILE HOMES 08

FOR RENT or For Sale: 10 x 50 mobile home. Stove, refrigerator, air. Unfurnished. 537-7622 after 5 p.m. (134-147)

1977 SHULT, 12 x 55, two bedrooms, central air, washer/dryer, stove, refrigerator, shed, dog pen, real nice. 135 Walnut Grove. 532-6285/494-8391. (144-146)

1977, 14 x 56 Skyline, extra nice. Two bedroom with new carpet and skirting. Two large storage sheds and chain-link fenced yard. Appliances included. 539-0150. (144-147)

RENT TO own, 10 x 55, one-bedroom, large living room with study area/desk, weekday evenings. 776-0904. (145-147)

AFFORDABLE STUDENT home, 1974 Buddy 14 x 70. Large-capacity washer and dryer, dishwasher, double oven, range, central air conditioning, large, quiet lot. Check the advantages of owning instead of renting. 537-0923. (146-150)

FOR SALE—MOTORCYCLES 09

HONDA TWINSTAR 200, good condition. Phone 532-5926 or 537-1696. (143-146)

1982 YAMAHA 650 Maxim, 3,000 miles, perfect condition. $1,200. Phone 537-4910, ask for Russ. (145-147)

MUST SELL—1982 Honda 650 Nighthawk. Fairing, AM/FM cassette, new tires, chain, sprockets. $950. Phone 539-6761. (145-147)

1973 HONDA 125cc. Good condition. $200. Call Brad, 537-9652. (145-147)

1980 HONDA XL 500 Enduro. Runs great. $750. Phone 776-3833 or 539-9711. (146-148)

RELIABLE TRANSPORTATION—1972 Honda. New tires, new battery, looks and runs good. $300 negotiable. 776-1760. (146-148)

FOUND 10

FOUND: SET of keys in Cardwell 103. Identify to claim. Jeff, 537-7559. (145-147)

GARAGE SALES 12

MULTI-PERSON yard sale. Saturday, May 2, 7 a.m.-3 p.m. 1012 Rattone. Clothing, furniture, appliances, etc. (146-147)

HELP WANTED 13

EARN $480 weekly—$60 per hundred circulars mailed. Guaranteed Work at home and participate in our Company project mailing circulars and assembling materials. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to J.B.K. Mail Company, P.O. Box 25, Castaic, California, 91310. (117-148)

FULL and part-time help! National Firm is preparing for Spring and Summer work. If accepted, you will earn $8.10 starting. Some evening and weekend positions are available and some flexibility is allowed during final exams. If you qualify, corporate scholarships are awarded, internships are possible, and you may earn 2, 3, 4 credits/quarter or semester. During summer break full-time work is available. Call (913) 245-9675 Monday-Friday between 9 a.m.-5 p.m. (135-148)

HELP WANTED: Men for custom harvest run May 15 to November 1st. Wage guaranteed plus bonus plus room and board. 316-534-2211. (139-150)

EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY for upper classroom completing education. Summer position and possible year-round, on-site leasing assistant. Summers: 20-30 hours/week, afternoons and Saturdays. School year: 10-15 hours/week including Saturdays. Send letter and resume to: Box 7, Kedzie Hall 103, KSU. (141-150)

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY announces a vacancy for Software/Project Manager, temporary full-time position. To serve as a member of Extension computer support staff and provide leadership in software development projects. Knowledge of and experience in software engineering, program designs, and programming languages as they relate to microcomputers are necessary. A letter of interest, transcript(s) and resume along with three letters of reference must be sent to Dr. Roger Terry, Umberger Hall—Room 211, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506 or call (913) 532-6270 by May 20, 1987. Kansas State University is an equal opportunity employer. (141-150)

A SUMMER job on a dairy and swine operation. Free room and board. Wages are negotiable. Call 316-736-2828. (142-146)

WANTED: DEPENDABLE summer farm help. 45 miles from Manhattan. House available. 922-6796 after 6 p.m. (143-147)

SUMMER HELP needed at Ashland Horticulture Farm. Call 539-3991 and ask for Jerry. (143-147)

FAMILY WANTS college girl to live in for summer. Assist with house and yard in exchange for board and room—Box 3, ¼ Collegian. (144-148)

NEED A job? Do you like meeting people? Then this is the job for you! Paid weekly, home every night. Meals and transportation furnished. If you're interested, contact Jim Meyers at 537-1578. The Wichita Eagle-Beacon. (144-146)

STUDENT PROGRAMMER Consultant. Programming and experience with both mainframe and microcomputers, along with GPA will be selection criteria. Undergraduates with employment potential of two years given preference. Contact Jacquie Meisner, room 23, Cardwell Hall by 5 p.m. May 1. EOE. (144-147)

CAMP COUNSELORS—Camp Wiedemann. Hiring for summer. Call 316-684-6531. EOE. (144-148)

WATERFRONT STAFF—Camp Wiedemann. Now hiring VSI and Lifeguards. Call 316-684-6531. EOE. (144-148)

WANTED: BARTENDERS waiters, cooks. Part time. Experience preferred. Hours and wages open. Junction City County Club. 913-238-1161. (144-148)

LAST CHANCE is accepting applications for bartenders. Apply in person, 1213 Moro. (145-150)

SUMMER In New York! Live in Mother's Helper's needed for young families throughout affluent suburbs of metropolitan New York area. Ideal opportunity for someone who has a fondness for children and is interested in travel, meeting people, and learning more about the East Coast. For information, write or call: Claire Sussman, 5 Laconia Lane, Darien, Ct. 06820. (203) 656-0707. (145-149)

NOTICES 15

GAY/LESBIAN? Write for Kansas/Missouri information. Personality, P.O. Box 218, Daly City, California 94016-0218. Masked discreetly/confidentiality. (131-150)

MARLATT SCHOOL FAIR

May 1, 1987
5:30-8:30 p.m.
Hobbs Dr.
& Browning Ave.
Hot Dogs, Pizza, etc. . .
Come for dinner

PERSONAL 16

NO TANKS—Stopped at Chapman for some gas. I cruised 80 but you were too fast. Monte Carlo. (145-148)

TWO GIRLS in CRX. Guys on motorcycle want to visit our cereal bowls you took Friday night. Respond in Personals. (145-146)

REMEMBER CHRISTMAS in Miami? Don't miss the Prehistoric Party, May 2nd, 9 p.m. Loincloth required. Uungh. (145-146)

NECK, ANSWER: Escaping the "carderman." Beware you never know what might be in your bed. (146)

SENIORS: LIFE'S not too bad in the incinerator, but I can't wait to go to the party. Can I drink? Hope so! Annabelle. (146)

M.S.T.—YOU sit with Dave everyday. I hope you know he's only out to play. Come sit with me and I'll light the way to fun and happiness my own way. I'm watching you. Calculus II. (146)

SEXY LADY—Got note!! Answers to questions are: Yes. Definite maybe. Yes. Pop quiz to you: Sunday brunch at Holiday? Saturday trips? Cruising and fireplaces?—Arizona. P.S. Kansas got me, soon I'm RLV 5938. (146-147)

WANTED: WOMAN-warrior who knows Micaela, Mimi or Madama Butterfly for Adventure, Romance, Fun, Reward??? Serendipity. (146)

IRRESISTIBLE STUDS of Goodnow—We're glad you enjoyed it. When finished with the mannequins, call on SAE. (We hear they're in need.)—S & J. (146)

BLACK FORD 4x4. Redhead wearing white on Thursday, but unsure. Vaguely remember, need more information. (146-147)

LONDON HARD Rock—Bushwacker's it is! Thursday, 9 p.m.—Gold shirt, white mini-skirt. (146)

CHI-O's—You guys are something else. How do you do it? What we mean is how can you girls be so much fun? You're the greatest. Love. The other half of the dynamic duo. (146)

CHI-O Jen A.—We're looking forward to some pick-up action along with your big 21 in September. Love, H-dawg and Chalkboard. (146)

GAMMA PHI Derby Days coaches—We took a walk on the wild side, but all the way to #1. You guys are with bottoms to match. Love, The Gamma Phis. (146)

LEASE/SALE: 1976 CHRYSLER, 400 cubic inch, power, brown/brown, Arizona tags. See at 3101 Heritage #138. Call Bruce, 776-3512. (146-147)

ROOMMATE WANTED 17

ROOMMATE WANTED: Non-smoking female to share a two-bedroom apartment, one-half block east of campus. $150 a month plus utilities. Call 537-0911. (132-147)

NON-SMOKING FEMALE—$180/month/year, all utilities paid. Large house, central air/heat, washer, dryer, sundeck, lots of room. No pets. 539-6628. (136-150)

MATURE FEMALE needed to share house. Lots of privacy. Five blocks from campus. $200 includes utilities. Available summer and fall. Phone 776-7541. (139-148)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice two-bedroom apartment close to campus. Call Carla afternoon and evenings. 539-4301. (141-150)

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apartment. Mid May to August. Rent negotiable. Call 776-7018. (142-146)

ROOMMATE WANTED: Beginning May, Country living. Pets welcome. $150 pays all. Call Terri, 776-9277 evenings. (142-147)

ROOMMATE WANTED: To share very nice house with a male for the summer. Graduate student preferred. Call Joel at 776-2450. (143-147)

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom apartment for summer. Rent negotiable. 537-9589. (143-147)

FEMALE ROOMMATE—own room May 14 to August 1. $80 a month plus utilities. 539-7906. (143-147)

ROOMER—SUMMER, possibly fall. Board optional. Rent cut for child care. Ideal for person with part-time job or student. Nonsmoker. 539-5170. (144-148)

SUMMER: MALE roommate to share three-bedroom house. Close to campus. $130 plus one-third utilities. 776-1767. (144-150)

NON-SMOKING, easy-going person. Own room in spacious, comfortable house three blocks from campus. Features include: Fireplace, microwave, dishwasher, cable TV and draught beer. Available now, bills paid. $175/month. Call Jeff at 776-0203. (145-149)

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment for summer. Own room. Close to campus. Call 532-2126 or 532-5417. (145-150)

ONE OR two non-smoking female roommates wanted to share house. Own room. Two rooms available. 537-1273. (145-149)

NON-SMOKING female wanted to share nice apartment 112 blocks from campus for fall and spring semesters. $140/month plus utilities. 776-2084 after 5 p.m. (145-147)

ROOMMATE WANTED—Two-bedroom apartment, dishwasher, close to campus and city park. For summer. Will negotiate cost. Call 532-7009, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. (146-150)

NEED TWO female roommates starting June. Has swimming pool. Call after 6 p.m. 539-8968. (146-148)

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share large two-bedroom, 1½-bath apartment. Available May 14th to August 1. Extra nice, price negotiable. Call Rhonda at 537-0618. (146-147)

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom luxury apartment. Own room. Available June 1. $175. Call 776-2054 ask for Mary Ann. (146-148)

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apartment for summer. Close to campus and Aggieville. Rent negotiable. 539-1203. (146-149)

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share two-bedroom apartment. Five blocks from KSU. $145/month/year, bills paid, no pets. 532-7621 or 539-9393 evenings. (146-150)

Changes

Continued from Page 1

SYSTEM MODIFICATIONS
Vorhies said one of the changes in the department's operational policy is to assign cases to designated pathologists.
Vorhies said this system works well because one person is responsible for each case sent to the department, and the chance of the case being lost, neglected or delayed has been reduced.
Under this system, the pathologist who has responsibility for the case interprets the results and sends letters out to the submitters of the case. Vorhies said additional submissions are also encouraged by this system.
"This system of operation improves communication and consolidates reporting in each case," Vorhies said.
Additional minor changes have been made.
"We use a computer now to keep track of case materials," he said. "We can tell where (the case materials) are located at a specific time. This gives us a better inventory."
Vorhies said the practitioners noticed an increase in capabilities with the changes made in the department.

ment.
"Submissions are up, and we have received good comments by phone and by letters from the submitters," he said.
There has been a "marked improvement in the department's communications in the last six to eight months," Whitehair said.
Whitehair said practitioners send identification cards in with their samples, enabling the pathologist working on the case to provide feedback on the case's progress to the practitioner.
Whitehair said a recent example of the improvements was the quick action the department took in returning diagnoses for cattle killed in the March blizzards.
"The diagnostic lab was very helpful in giving quick results regarding the insurance claims turned in for cattle," Whitehair said. "We really appreciated the coordination."
Dr. L.L. Hanel, practitioner in Courtland and consulting veterinarian for Republican Valley Feeders, said the service has improved since Vorhies took over.
"Before the changes, some of the samples we sent in would take a little longer, but it was never anything too major," said Hanel, who has used the service since 1971.
Vorhies said the lack of finances

caused a shortage in pathologists handling the casework. Additional pathologists have recently been hired to remedy this problem.
"It sure helps to have an adequate staff," Vorhies said.
Whitehair said he is satisfied and encouraged by the improved service.
"The changes were long overdue," he said. "Part of the problems were caused by budget restraints which have a negative impact and are tough to overcome."
Vorhies accepted his post in August, replacing Harry Anthony. Anthony is retired and living in Manhattan.
Anthony refused to comment on the department's performance past or present.

Channell

Continued from Page 1

Zornow said Channell "knew that it was improper to use a tax-exempt organization for a non-deductible purpose, namely military aid."
Zornow said that Channell "knew that the likely result of the subversion was to encourage individual contributors to take improper deductions from their income tax."
Michael Bromwich, another prosecutor in Walsh's office, requested a delay in the Channell sentencing until after "the completion of his cooperation" with the investigation.
In his statement of facts, Zornow

said the foundation had told prospective donors "that the money would be used to purchase military and other non-humanitarian aid" for the Contras.
Channell, a short, red-faced man with a pencil-thin blond moustache, appeared very subdued as he stood before Harris with his attorneys, Alexia Morrison and Elaine Rubin.
"We are here to enter a plea of guilty," Morrison told the judge at the outset of the hearing.
Harris asked Channell whether he knew that Morrison had represented other clients in connection with the Walsh investigation and whether he was concerned that that appeared to be a conflict of interest.
Channell, speaking softly,

answered "yes" when asked if he was satisfied with Morrison's representation.
Channell said he had conspired with North and Richard Miller, a public relations executive.
In a statement afterward, Walsh said, "Today's guilty plea and Mr. Channell's agreement to cooperate is a significant step forward in our continuing investigation of the Iran-Contra matter."
Outside the U.S. Courthouse, Walsh's assistants were asked whether North would eventually be charged with the same offense that Channell pleaded guilty to.
"We're not prepared to do that at this time," said Bromwich.

K-State Players
presents
"Still Alive and Well"
&
"Living on Planet Earth"
Written & Performed by
Joel Climenhaga
May 1 & 2
Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.
Call 532-6398
Mon.-Fri. 12-5
Proceeds to Joel Climenhaga Creative Writing Award

Gifts for Horticulturally Inclined Mothers:

- ✓ Hanging Baskets of Ivy Leaf Geraniums, New Guinea Impatiens, or Begonias.
- ✓ Potted blooming hybrid tea roses. (Including latest varieties)
- ✓ Blooming Hibiscus Bushes for patio use. (3½ ft. tall)
- ✓ Huge Healthy Houseplants
- ✓ Fresh Cut Flower Bouquets

Eastside & Westside Markets
East Hwy. 24 by K-Mart • West K-18 by Haidome

LSAT

GMAT

GRE

WHAT IF YOU DON'T GET INTO THE GRAD SCHOOL OF YOUR CHOICE?
Sure, there are other schools. But why settle? Kaplan prep courses help students raise their scores and their chances of being admitted into their first-choice schools. Fact is, no one has helped students score higher!

KAPLAN
STANLEY H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER LTD.

OTHER COURSES: MCAT, DAT, NCLEX, NTE, CPA, BAR REVIEW, & OTHERS

Take the heat off! This summer study with KAPLAN Now—2 centers

in Kansas City 341-1220
Lawrence 842-5442
—Scholarships Available—

BALLARD'S
IN MANHATTAN

BALLARD'S
IN MANHATTAN

Spring & Summer Warehouse Sale

Thursday, Friday & Saturday—April 30 to May 2
Sale Location—601 South 5th

SHOES

← Kaepa.

ONE SELECTION $27.50

SHOES

CONVERSE

ONE SELECTION $15

SHOES

BROOKS

ONE SELECTION $10

SHOES

adidas

ONE SELECTION $15

Reebok

Because life is not a spectator sport.

NIKE

new balance

AVIA

Foot-Joy

SOFTBALL

Aluminum Bats.....	$15 to $34.95
Ball Gloves.....	½ Price
Softballs.....	$30 per doz.
	$2.50 each to $70 per doz.
Jerseys.....	$2 & $3

BALLS

Racketballs....reg.	$3 can	$1.50 can
Soccerballs....reg.	$22.95	$10
Tetherballs....reg.	$16.95	$8
Leather Basketballs..reg.	$62.95	$30

CLOTHES

Socks

$1.50 each
$15 doz.

Shorts

$2 each
$10 doz.

Warm-ups (one group).....	to $86.95	$30	Jams.....	to $24.95	$10
Warm-ups (one group).....	to $49.95	$10	Heavy Jackets.....	to $78.50	$25
Gear Printed Fleece.....	to $19.95	$10	Jerseys.....	$2 each	$20 doz.
Running Shorts.....	to $14.95	$5	Jerseys.....	$3 each	$30 doz.
Mens Tennis Shorts.....	to $29.95	$8	Long Sleeve T's.....	$3 each	$30 doz.
Ladies Tennis Tops & Shorts..	to $24.95	$8

Large Selection Russell Fleece

all $8

T-Shirts

$2 each
$10 ½ doz.
$18 doz.

Many unadvertised items at fabulous prices!
Sale Location: 601 South 5th

3 Days Only: Thursday 8-6, Friday 10-6
Saturday 10-6

Retrospective

Joel Climenhaga has been writing since he was 15. Now, 50 years later, he will perform a retrospective of his work. See Entertainment Plus.

Mostly Sunny

Mostly sunny today, high in the mid- to upper 80s. Partly cloudy tonight with a 20 percent chance of thunderstorms.

Mr. Intensity

Linebacker Matt Wallerstedt uses a high intensity level to make up for his smaller stature. See Page 6.

Kansas State

Collegian

Friday
May 1, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 147

Building fees may increase

By The Collegian Staff

The cost of renovating Holton Hall may be on the increase.

In a presentation to Student Senate, Larry Garvin, director of facilities planning, said the original student commitment of $780,000 to the project will have to be increased if the hall is to be completed as planned.

The original commitment, which dates from 1983, included an estimated construction cost of $664,000. Today, the cost of construction is an estimated $890,000, and Garvin said the total price of the project is estimated to be $1,069,000.

Much of the increase is because of inflation; however, changes in building codes and user needs have also contributed to the increase.

According to Garvin, a recently passed state law requiring handicap accessibility has necessitated the addition of an elevator to the hall's plans. The elevator, which will cost an estimated $92,000, was listed an alternative in the original plan.

Other additions to the plan include a partition, a fire stairway running to the third floor and additional heating and air conditioning units.

If passed, the cost increases should not affect individual student fees. The cost would simply be spread over a longer period of time, said William Sutton, vice president for educational and student services.

Student fees for the hall's renovation project are currently $3 per semester.

If Senate passes the revised budget for the project this semester, bids for the project could be let early next fall and construction could begin this winter, Garvin said.

However, if Senate does not pass the project or waits until next semester to do so, construction may not start until spring 1988. This could raise the cost of the project even more, Garvin said.

Senate chairwoman Michelle Benoit moved to defer debate on the issue until Senate could do proper research.

A special session of Senate specifically for the Holton Hall issue will be at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Union Big Eight Room.

Taking a break

Mark Feist, senior in engineering technology, uses one of his crutches Thursday to support a broken leg he received in a three-wheeler accident Saturday at the Little Sahara in Oklahoma. Feist was waiting on a railing east of the Union for a ride to his apartment.

Staff/Chris Stewart

AIDS linked with tuberculosis cases

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA — Cases of tuberculosis in the United States are up significantly for the first time in the 34 years records have been kept, and the spread of AIDS may be partly to blame, federal officials reported Thursday.

New TB cases had declined by an average of 1,706 a year from 1982 to 1984, but by only 54 in 1985. In 1986, the number of new cases recorded rose by 374 to 22,575, an increase of 1.7 percent, the Centers for Disease Control reported.

"This indicates to us that we have a very serious problem; we need to pay attention to this," said Dr. Dixie Snider, director of the CDC's tuberculosis division. He warned that an increase of TB among AIDS patients may mean an increase in the disease among the general population.

The report said the matching of lists of AIDS and TB patients in roughly half the states found that 4.2 percent of the AIDS patients in those states also had TB. The relationship between AIDS and TB would be better understood if all states matched AIDS and TB registries, the CDC said.

Acquired immune deficiency syndrome is a fatal condition that destroys the body's ability to fight disease and leaves it open to a variety of infections, including tuberculosis. It has been diagnosed in more than 33,000 Americans, and more than 19,000 have died.

In July, the Journal of the American Medical Association said AIDS patients often suffer severe and unusual forms of TB and said tuberculosis should be seen as a signal of possible AIDS infection.

While TB is usually confined to the lungs, in AIDS patients it appears in bones, the heart lining, the nerves, lymph glands or rectum, the magazine said.

Candidate emphasizes liberal arts awareness

By The Collegian Staff

If chosen Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Kenneth Klabunde, professor and head of the Department of Chemistry, said he would make faculty and students more aware of the importance of liberal arts.

Klabunde, third of five candidates for the position, addressed college faculty Thursday afternoon in Willard Hall.

"When students realize they can receive a good liberal arts education, we will then become a leader in education," he said.

"Our role should teach students how to live rather than to make a living," Klabunde said.

"The college is the heart of the University. When you are the heart you have an obligation to the rest of the University," he said. "In order to fulfill our mission we have to be more comprehensive."

Klabunde said students need courses in the arts and humanities as well as in science within the professional colleges.

"For example, College of Agriculture needs to know the sociological effects of farming and the problem with nutrition," he said. "The College of Business needs social science and math skills. Engineering students need courses in science and language arts."

Klabunde said these professional colleges also have an obligation to the arts and sciences college.

"Professional colleges provide us with students, give us research funds and encouragement," Klabunde said. "When we understand our obligations and they understand their obligations, we will work better together."

Another goal of Klabunde's would be to enhance faculty morale, he said.

"We should dream a little, even in our tight economy, to form ideas," he said.

"The role of a dean should vigorously promote excellence."

The fourth candidate for the position, Edward L. McGlone, dean of Arts and Sciences at the University of Mississippi, Starkville, will make a presentation to college faculty from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Monday in Willard 114.

Kansans lobby lawmakers on waste

By JONIE R. TRUED
Editor

About 500 protesters met at the south steps of the Capitol Thursday morning in Topeka to organize the lobbying efforts they carried out the rest of the day.

Most of the protesters were there as members of North Central Kansas Citizens, a citizens' action committee led by Laura Menheusen, Jewell, and devoted to educating the region about the Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact.

The citizens, calling themselves "The Peoples' Task Force," are in direct opposition to the decision of the governor's appointed task force on low level radioactive waste. Hayden's task force advised him Monday to keep Kansas in the Interstate compact, which includes four other states: Arkansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Louisiana. After the morning organization meeting protesters immediately went in search of their elected representatives. Some said they found it difficult to reach the state officials.

One citizen from Wichita, Donna Hinderliter, made it her purpose to seek out Sen. Robert Talkington (R-Iola). She said she waited 1½ hours and finally got to talk to the senator for about five minutes.

Hinderliter also said she was disappointed in the brief conversation.

"When you ask why they want to stay in (the compact) they don't give you any reasons," Hinderliter said.

"They are either not informed to make an intelligent decision or I don't know what they are avoiding," Hinderliter said. "They didn't give me a valid reason to stay in (the compact)."

Five representatives of the protesters reported a similar response after a 45-minute meeting with Hayden.

"Our first question to the governor was, 'Why do you want to remain in the compact?'" Menheusen said. "His first response was money, and then he said Kansas might not have the know-how to build it alone."

Menheusen described Hayden as "concerned and intent" during the meeting, although he gave no indication of changing his mind about pulling out of the compact.

Steve Boyda, an attorney from Marysville and a member of the group that met with Hayden, said they urged the governor to examine the representation, control and liability issues that did not receive adequate answers at the emergency meeting of the compact commission on April 24 in Kansas City.

The representation issue, protesters claim, involves the frequent change of the Kansas voting representative on the compact commission. There have been three Kansas representatives since the state joined the compact in 1982 and Lt. Gov. Walker, the current representative, will step down in July when Gov. Hayden will name a new ap-

Senators argue compact bill

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — It seems unlikely the Senate will again debate the merits of Kansas' membership in the Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact Commission this legislative session.

Sen. Phil Martin, D-Pittsburg, fell short Thursday in his effort to force debate on a bill that would withdraw Kansas from the five-state treaty. The failure was especially disappointing because it originally appeared Martin had won the first round in his battle to bring the bill to the Senate floor.

However, Senate rules thwarted his attempt and he said later it's doubtful the issue will make it to the floor for debate and action.

"I recognize the sands in the hour glass are slowly slipping away," Martin said. "We may try again. I don't know."

Martin did force a vote on his motion to pull the bill out of the Energy and Natural Resources Committee on Thursday. And it appeared to prevail, with 20 in favor of Martin's idea and 18 opposed. Sens. Frank Gaines, D-Augusta, and Joe Warren, D-Maple City, did not vote.

However, Sen. Merrill Werts, R-Junction City and a supporter of Kansas' membership in the compact, quickly dug into the rulebook of the Senate and turned Martin's victory into defeat.

Werts pointed out that motions to withdraw bills from committees require a constitutional majority, or 21 of the Senate's 40 members, rather than a simple majority. That meant Martin fell one vote shy and the bill stayed in committee.

Martin tried to persuade opponents of his idea to reconsider his action but he said no minds were changed.

"Nobody would reconsider it," Martin said. "We're running out of time."

Simply pulling the bill out of committee would not guarantee action on the bill, anyway. Another vote would be required to place the bill on the debate calendar.

Several senators fiercely oppose Kansas' membership in the compact, which is an association of five states created as a means of finding one central location for a regional low-level radioactive waste dump.

pointee to the position. Representatives from all other compact-member states have remained consistent.

Protesters also object to "environmental jurisdiction," a term used by the compact to describe the liability a host state has if a leak occurs at the regional facility. It means the residents of the host state will have to pay for cleanup if leakage or another type of accident occurs.

Overall, citizens meeting with Hayden were unimpressed.

"We were being politely received and our comments were made with that in mind," Boyda said. "I hope we gave him some things to think about."

Boyda also said the credibility of Hayden's task force was in jeopardy because its members were almost all pro-compact to begin with and the anti-compact members of the panel were not informed of a meeting immediately before the emergency compact commission meeting.

The day ended with an afternoon meeting of the protesters to discuss results of the day's efforts and plan strategy. Menheusen said the message she wanted to get across to the lawmakers was: "We won't give up or go away."

She reminded the remaining crowd they should continue to fight in light of USECology's (one of the bidders for the regional facility) proposal to include toxic, hazardous, PCB's and liquid radioactive waste in the license for the facility.

Provost nominee declines

By The Collegian Staff

The single remaining candidate for the position of University Provost has declined an offer to come K-State.

Milton Glick said he plans to stay at the University of Missouri, Columbia.

President Jon Wefald now has several options to consider.

He can ask the search committee to reconsider the field of applicants, to reopen the search and locate applicants or name a new search committee and begin the process over again.

Other candidates were Dennis G. Brown, dean of the College of Letters and Science and professor of chemistry at Montana State University, Bozeman; Myron S. Henry, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and professor of mathematics at Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant; and J.L. Ozbun, dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics at Washington State University, Pullman.

Briefly

INTERNATIONAL

Alaska may receive nuclear forces

SEATTLE — If a nuclear arms reduction agreement is reached in Geneva, as many as 100 nuclear weapons now deployed in Western Europe may be moved to Alaska, according to a senior European military adviser.

The treaty on intermediate-range nuclear forces being negotiated by the United States and the Soviet Union would leave both countries with 100 missiles that would have to be moved, Simon Lunn, military adviser to NATO Secretary-General Lord Carrington in Brussels, said Wednesday.

"Alaska is where you (the United States) will put them" if the treaty as drafted is approved, Lunn told a meeting of the Seattle World Affairs Council.

Lunn's statement supports published reports that the Defense Department may station a mix of ground-launched cruise missiles and Pershing 2 ballistic missiles at military bases in Alaska if the Euro-missile treaty is signed.

Later Wednesday, a Defense Department spokesman said he couldn't confirm or deny those reports.

NATIONAL

Memos link covert missions, drugs

WASHINGTON — The telephone number of a secret U.S. intelligence operation in Honduras was discovered in papers confiscated by federal drug agents from a plane they seized in Florida last month, The Associated Press has learned.

A knowledgeable U.S. government source indicated this week that the intelligence operation was aiding the U.S.-backed Nicaraguan Contras. The papers, apparently belonging to the plane's pilot, also contain the names and telephone numbers of top Contra leaders.

Lawrence E. Walsh, the independent counsel investigating the Iran-Contra affair, has expressed interest in the papers found aboard the aircraft, it was learned. The AP has obtained copies of some of the documents.

House and Senate investigators are examining the papers as part of a wider inquiry into allegations that crews who ferried supplies to the Nicaraguan rebels brought plane-loads of drugs into the United States while U.S. intelligence officials looked the other way.

In one document, a calendar, the names of two Contra officials are handwritten on a page dated March 7, 1987, just weeks before the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration seized the plane March 24 in Charlotte County, Fla., because it was wanted in connection with an illegal drug operation.

KGB 'prowled' embassy at night

WASHINGTON — Marine guards at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow were provided with combinations for all secure rooms and safes, making the penetration of sensitive areas much easier for KGB agents alleged to have prowled the building at night, intelligence sources said Thursday.

Rooms in which CIA and Defense Intelligence Agency operatives worked, as well as the communications vault, were closed at night by steel doors with combination locks, said one intelligence source, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

A State Department source also said that until 1983, a code expert was stationed in the communications vault 24 hours a day, but after that, no one was assigned to the room between midnight and 6 a.m., another development which would make it easier for the KGB to penetrate the area.

Channell's actions mislead Reagan

WASHINGTON — President Reagan was not part of Carl R. "Spitz" Channell's conspiratorial effort to defraud the government and buy arms for the Contra rebels, a White House spokesman said Thursday.

"In the legal view of the White House, the president is not a part of this conspiracy," presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said. Channell has not implicated the president in his Contra aid effort. But he and others have confirmed that he took contributors to the White House on several occasions and that Reagan met with some of them.

Fitzwater said the president believed he was meeting with Channell's contributors to thank them for financing advertisements to bolster the Contras' cause.

"It was his understanding the money was being raised for advertisement purposes," the spokesman said.

The spokesman denied reporters' requests that he question Reagan anew on the subject in light of Channell's guilty plea Wednesday to a conspiracy charge.

Channell pleaded guilty to conspiracy to defraud the U.S. government of taxes on $2 million in contributions for military aid to the Nicaraguan rebels. He also agreed to cooperate with independent counsel Lawrence E. Walsh in his investigation of the Iran-Contra affair.

Buy a Game and Get One FREE

at

Putt-Putt Golf Course

good 5-1-87 to 5-4-87
Open: afternoons & evenings
Location: 120 Sarber Lane (near Wal-Mart)

For the fun of it!

Friday Live Band: "The Beatless" Saturday Wet T-Shirt Contest —Big Giveaways—

Bud Light posters, hats, T-Shirts & Beer Lights

1800 Claflin 539-9619

The Station

FRIDAY

THE BAR

FREE TGIF BUFFET

ROUND OF BEEF CARVED TO ORDER

DOO-DAHS

CHEESE AND CRACKERS

Plus, May Day Midnight Makeovers by Hair Experts!

THE RESTAURANT

SURF AND TURF SPECIAL

6oz. FILET BUTTERFLY SHRIMP, SALAD BAR, POTATO & BREAD, ONLY $8.95

1115 Moro, Aggieville 776-0030

Auntie Mae's Parlor

AGGIEVILLE

FRIDAY

VODKA DRINKS $1.50

DRAWS 75¢

Free Hors D'oeuvres

616 N. 12th 539-9967

Auntie Mae's Parlor

AGGIEVILLE

SATURDAY

TONIC DRINKS $1.50

SCHNAPPS $1.00

616 N. 12th 539-9967

THIS WEEKEND

RIP & MO MAKE THE DEALS

HEY MO, TGIF TACO BAR AT RIP AND MO'S 5-7!!!

- 99¢ Well Drinks Fri. & Sat.
- 39¢ Bar Burgers Fri. & Sat. (11 p.m.-1 a.m.)
- TACOS for TGIF (5-7 p.m.)

RIP & MO's

aggieville's rock-n-roll bar

710 N. Manhattan, Aggieville tel. 539-9706

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT in Holtz Hall has many services available to students, including career counseling; letter, data sheet and resume preparation advisement; and others.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT: Students who will complete requirements for degrees in the spring or summer should report employment or other plans if firm, or solicit help in Holtz Hall if seeking employment.

CONVERSATIONAL ENGLISH TUTORING PROGRAM offered by the International Student Center needs volunteer tutors for the summer. No experience is required. For more information call Karen at 532-6446.

STUDENTS AGAINST MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS applications for Board of Directors for 1987-88 school year are available in the SGS Office.

TODAY

NEWMAN meets at 9 p.m. at St. Isidore in the basement

ACACIA LITTLE SISTERS meet at 4 p.m. at the Acacia House.

INTER-VARSITY FELLOWSHIP meets at 7 p.m. in Union 213.

SATURDAY

THETA XI LITTLE SISTERS meet at noon at the Theta Xi House.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB meets at 4 p.m. in the International Student Center.

SUNDAY

NEWMAN meets at 7 p.m. at St. Isidore.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA LITTLE SISTERS meet at 3 p.m. at the ATO house.

MONDAY

CHRISTIAN EDUCATORS BIBLE STUDY meets at 7 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

STUDENTS IN SOLIDARITY WITH CENTRAL AMERICA meets at 8:30 p.m. in Union 213.

TGIF

5 p.m.

Congratulations DU Calendar Girls Finalists & Cover Girl

Don't Miss . . . COMEDY INVASION Monday at 9 p.m.

KODAK along with Brian Burgess 531 N. Manhattan

Tonite Only!

"The Clique" with FREE TGIF Show and Barbecue

Coming May 7 "The Producers"

Colbert Retail Liquor

Old Town Mall

Wide Selection of Domestic and Imported Wines and Beers

501 S. 17th 539-5757

Case lot discounts

Varsity Football

AND SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON present

THE PRE-FINAL WILDCAT BASH

All University Party, Sat., May 2-5 p.m. SAE Fraternity

Recreation

May 4-13

Bowling 70¢ per game

Billiards $1.00 per hour per table

Table Tennis 75¢ per hour per table

Sat. May 8, 9 a.m.-noon, rent-a-lane $2.50 per hour per lane (approximately 40¢ per game)

Without you we would be nothing. That's why the K-State Union will be running specials throughout the week—May 4-13

thank you!

thank you!

thank you!

thank you!

thank you!

'Portfolio '87' to unveil unique designs

By ERIN MULCAHY
Collegian Reporter

Everything from a see-through plastic skirt to a wedding dress made of tablecloths and napkins will be featured in apparel design students' 1987 portfolio fashion show Sunday.

"Portfolio '87" will begin at 4 p.m. at the Holidome, 530 Richards Drive.

"This is a big push for apparel design students because it's showcasing their work," said Britta Stolfus, senior in apparel design and publicity chairwoman for the show.

Many of the outfits in the show are original designs created by junior and senior students in apparel design. Freshman and sophomore entry designs are reproduced from commercial patterns.

All of the nearly 60 garments in the fashion show were selected by a panel of judges, Stolfus said.

"Many of the outfits are very expressive. They have an art bent to them," Stolfus said. "There are pragmatic and predictable outfits, some stretch to the imagination."

Included in the show will be a maternity line, summer separates, holiday children's wear, senior collection (three garments shown at once) and evening wear.

A panel of three judges critique the entries and present awards at the end of the show. Awards will be cash, gift certificate or merchandise contributed by local and area merchants.

Awards will be given for construction, tailoring, marketability, creativity, best model and best senior collection. There will also be a runner-up and winner for "Best of Show." Recognition awards are "Honorable Mention Outside of Class" and "Honorable Mention for Student Choice."

Models for the designs went through a series of interviews and workshops. Most of the 35 models are University students, Stolfus said.

K-State is the only school in the area offering a degree in apparel design, besides Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., she said.

"K-State apparel design has a practical, productivity-oriented education...as well as nationally recognized instructors," she said.

"The apparel and textile design department is growing by leaps and bounds," Stolfus said.

During the fashion show, champagne and hors d'oeuvres will be served, Stolfus said. After the show, a string trio will play while models wearing the outfits mingle with the audience to stir interest in purchasing outfits, Stolfus said.

Film, speech recall Holocaust horrors

'Indelible mark' will remain forever in Kansan's memory

By The Collegian Staff

The shock of the Holocaust left a lasting impression on the mind of one Kansan who served with U.S. forces during the liberation of the Dachau concentration camp.

"If I live to be 1,000, the shock of the Holocaust and Dachau and the indelible mark it left in my mind will never be erased," said Ralph Rundquist of Assaria.

Rundquist spoke Thursday evening in the Union following "To Bear Witness," a movie about the Holocaust. The talk and movie were part of the Days of Remembrance of Victims of the Nazi Holocaust sponsored by the K-State Committee on Religion.

"Good and decent people must not close their eyes to evil, must not ignore the suffering of the innocent and must never remain silent in times of moral crisis," he said.

"Although so much has been written and said, words somehow are not enough," Rundquist said. "As a liberator, our most important task now is ensuring that the memory of this greatest of human tragedies, the Holocaust, never fades — that its lessons are never forgotten."

The journey to liberate Dachau was long and rough, Rundquist said.

"We were accustomed to roughness and we were accustomed to death, but we weren't prepared for what we were to see."

"(The prisoners) were living skeletons," he said. "Many of them were too weak to cheer."

"All (the prisoners) had their heads shaved, and I will never forget the look in their eyes," Rundquist said. "The prisoners were so thin and frail, their eyes were sunk deeply into their skulls; we (the soldiers) vomited and we cried, but the prisoners had no tears left."

The movie gave a visual remembrance of what happened during the Nazi takeover of Europe and included pictures of the death camps.

Concert to feature medieval melodies

By JONI MANLEY
Collegian Reporter

The Collegium Musicum will provide music lovers with an opportunity to hear Renaissance and medieval music Sunday.

The spring concert will begin at 3 p.m. in the Education Reading Room on the third floor of Farrell Library.

The Collegium Musicum is made up of vocalists and musicians playing medieval wind instruments including the recorder, shawm, dulcian, krummhorn, harpsichord and zink, said the Collegium's director Sara Funkhouser, associate professor of music.

The instruments are based on the old style oboes and bassoons, Funkhouser said.

The Collegium consists of students, faculty and community members, said Funkhouser, director for 10 years.

"The group has one main concert at the end of every semester, and performs on other occasions as well," Funkhouser said.

They have performed for community events, an art auction, the St. Mary Hospital, St. Marys College in St. Marys and weddings, Funkhouser said.

The group also participates every year in the Renaissance Festival at Bonner Springs.

"One of the requirements for the musical groups that perform there is that they must dress up in costumes from the Renaissance time period,"

Funkhouser said.

The festival has been an annual event for eight years, usually beginning Labor Day weekend and continuing for the next seven Saturdays. The group only goes for one weekend and performs six times a day, Funkhouser said.

Funkhouser said the concerts usually have a good turnout, and people enjoy the Collegium music.

PREGNANT?

Abortion is not the only solution!
WE OFFER

- Free Residential Care
- Educational Opportunities
- Free Medical Expenses
- You Choose Your Adoptive Family

The L.I.G.H.T. House
Kansas City, Missouri
Call—Ask for Hope
816-361-2233

BAKE SALE

Saturday, May 2
8:30 a.m.-5 p.m.
Alco & K-Mart parking lots
Variety Breads & Sweet
Goods for Sale

Falsetto's PIZZA

1127 Moro • Aggieville
539-3830
FREE DELIVERY
We Have Hot Slices Daily!

10" PIZZA single topping
only $4.99 plus tax

12" PIZZA single topping
only $5.99 plus tax

16" PIZZA single topping
only $6.99 plus tax

Win a Night on the Town!

From Falsetto's & LaRide Limousine

Bring this completed entry form to Falsetto's Pizza to register.
Drawing May 7, 1987

Name _____

Address _____

Phone _____

—SALE—

Thursday, Friday,
Saturday

25% off ALL Sterling Silver
FREE Polishing Cloth with
$10 or more purchase

10 to 25% off Ladies Rings (select group)
15% off Diamond Pendants

REMEMBER—Mother's Day and don't forget that special gift for your graduate!

Diamond Connection
408 Poyntz Avenue 539-3225

Rock 'n' Roll
TGIF Party 4 p.m.

Catch some rays while enjoying a FREE KEG in The Beer Garden provided by the guys at 1114 Vattier. (What a party last Saturday!!!)

Nerf Volleyball, Naked Twister
50¢ BBQ Dawgs
Shot Girl with $1 Kamikazis
... and a whole lot more!!!

FREE ADMISSION WITH AD

SPAGHETTI SUNDAY

ALL YOU
CAN EAT
SPAGHETTI
AND GARLIC BREAD!!
ONLY $3.25
SERVING 5-8 p.m.

SUNDAY LUNCH TOO

MIKES
BAR AND GRILLE
619 N. 12TH, Aggieville

VANDERBILT'S

AVIA FITNESS SHOES.
STRENUOUS WORKOUTS
WITHOUT THE STRAIN.

You put yourself through demanding workouts, always pushing yourself to be in top condition. That can take a toll on your ankles and knees. AVIA fitness shoes help you eliminate the pain and strain that comes with extra effort workouts.

AVIA fitness shoes are biomechanically designed to safeguard against injuries that can occur from strenuous exercise such as racketball, squash, aerobics, weightlifting and other fitness workouts.

All AVIA fitness shoes feature AVIA's patented convave cantilever outsole which works to prevent injuries by providing superior foot stability and excellent shock absorption simultaneously.

The unique cantilever sole flares out on impact, creating superior cushioning, and directing shock away from the foot.

AVIA fitness shoes. For your physically demanding workouts, without the strain.

Men's & Ladies' compare at $49.95 to $54.95

$37.99

VISA

DOWNTOWN WAMEGO (HWY 99)
OPEN DAILY 9-8 P.M., SUN. 12-5 P.M. • 456-9100

MasterCard

For Mother's Day

A Collectible Gnome
Brass & Copper Gifts

Antiques
LAKIN'S GIFT SHOP and Metal Polishing

2040 Ft. Riley Blvd.
537-7712
Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30

Enjoy smooth, creamy
Frozen Yogurt
that tastes like Ice Cream
but with 80% less fat!
—FREE SAMPLES—

I Can't Believe It's
YOGURT!
Frozen Yogurt Slices

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily
Noon-11 p.m. Sundays
Neutius Towers—Aggieville

BONKERS TONITE

Rocky Mountain
FIRE
1216 Lawrence

Subway Sandwich Shop

We Deliver!
537-DELI

Getting summer work shouldn't take all summer.

At Adia we've got a variety of interesting assignments ready and waiting. Great opportunities with top companies at top pay, right in your area. And our flexible work schedules leave plenty of time to enjoy the summer. So this year spend your summer working at a job. Not looking for one.

Overland Park
913-451-8070
Midtown K.C.
816-756-0340
Gladstone
816-436-9904

ADIA
The Employment People

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR
Jonie Trued
MANAGING EDITOR
Sue Dawson
NEWS EDITOR
Erin Eicher

EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
Deron Johnson
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson
ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinet

EDITORIAL BOARD: Susan Baird, Kirk Caraway, Sue Dawson, Jim Dietz, Erin Eicher, Judy Goldberg, Ron Honig, Pat Hund, Deron Johnson, Sarah Kessinger, Judy Lundstrom, Margaret May, Scott Miller, Andy Nelson, Patti Paxson, Julie Reynolds, Chris Stewart, Teresa Temme, Jonie Trued. Unsigned editorials represent the majority opinion of the editorial board.

THE COLLEGIAN (USPS 291 020) is published by Student Publications Inc., Kansas State University, daily except Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and University vacation periods. OFFICES are in the north wing of Kedzie Hall, phone 532-6555. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: calendar year, $40; academic year, $35; semester, $20; summer term, $10. Address changes and letters to the editor should be sent to the Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Channell's agreement might shed legal light

The first of what will likely be many criminal convictions related to the Iran scam scandal occurred Wednesday when conservative fund-raiser Carl Russell Channell pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court to charges of conspiracy to defraud the government of taxes.

Channell's naming of Lt. Col. Oliver North as a co-conspirator will only strengthen the United States' already impressive case against North. In addition, it may solidify charges against other key Iran scam players.

In a plea bargain agreement,

Channell has agreed to cooperate with special prosecutor Lawrence Walsh. That cooperation will reportedly include the assistance of three of Channell's key allies.

Undoubtedly, those close to the sordid affair are sweating.

This country and the Reagan administration need to hear some answers and soon. If "singing" participants and a savvy Walsh are what it takes, let's hope we hear a hearty melody in the future.

And what sweet music to Ronald Reagan's ears.

Protest of U.S. policies shows positive change

Recent protests against Reagan administration activities in Central America and South Africa indicate that at least some Americans still hold their government accountable for its actions.

More than 150 shouting protestors were arrested in Washington, D.C., Monday for blocking entrances to CIA headquarters. The demonstration created a traffic jam 2½ miles long.

Two of the prominent people involved were Daniel Ellsberg, who uncovered the Pentagon Papers, and John Stockwell, former CIA official who has subsequently turned his back on the organization. Ellsberg was arrested for his involvement in the protest.

Even a child of the '70s, Amy Carter, former president Jimmy Carter's daughter, has found more meaning in the words of Abbie Hoffman, a political activist who began his noted career protesting Vietnam, than in any peer.

Carter is young enough and dedicated enough to pursue her possibly naive but at least ambitious hopes for the future of a country she obviously cares about a great deal.

Not so surprisingly, the protest at CIA headquarters took on a '60s-type feel. Reminiscent of the Vietnam protests, a dozen participants dropped their pants to display peace signs painted on their bare backsides.

Buttons and posters displayed by protestors supported everything from abortion to protection of the environment.

In the '80s, the hip thing seems to be to agree with officials. Protestors have to turn to the '60s for a role model most people can relate to without feeling uncomfortable.

Although most people sit at home and agree with the government or don't, very few people say anything one way or the other. It's encouraging that some people believed strongly enough to risk arrest for their views.

These protestors showed that what they believed in was more important to them than what others thought of them. They backed up traffic to prove a point: Just because the government is in control, it doesn't mean it is right.

Especially today, blind obedience can be permanently damaging to a society and the rights it values.

Letters

'Special' weeks

Editor,

The last few weeks have been very "special" to me and a group of athletes in Manhattan. Our first surprise was when we learned that Goodnow Hall had a Snow Softball game in February and the entry fees and donations were raised to benefit our Manhattan Special Olympics Athletics Club.

Next, the Lambda Chi fraternity staged the 24th Annual Chariot Relays with donations benefiting Special Olympics. The efforts of these students and organizations at K-State contribute greatly to our success in being able to offer Special Olympics opportunities in Manhattan.

Icing on the cake goes to the many volunteers who helped stage a successful Area 3 Special Olympics Games at K-State and Bishop Stadium last Saturday. The many long hours of planning and staging the games were overwhelming. Many organizations have contributed financially to our efforts and to them we are extremely grateful.

Thank you on behalf of many for all your help. The support of students and staff at K-State, local businesses and countless volunteers throughout this area, Fort Riley and Junction City help make us a leader in our efforts to provide Special Olympic opportunities.

Thanks so much.

Bill Butler
Executive Director,
Manhattan Special Olympics
Athletic Club

Brutal regime

Editor,

This letter is to warn against the reincarnation of Hitler. On April 4, the Iraqi Muslim students held a meeting in the K-State Union which emphasized the crimes of the Iraqi regime. The public was given firsthand shocking news that revealed the brutal nature of Saddam's regime.

Dr. Yaser Al-Hamdani referenced the 1986 general report of Amnesty International that has attested to the crimes of the regime of Iraq, especially the killing of innocent children under torture in order to extract confessions from their parents.

Time magazine (March 1987) reported a similar event in which 500 children were kidnapped and their bodies with their eyes taken out were returned to their families.

This brutality, which only preceded by Hitler in history, would probably shock even Hitler. It has been the nature of the Battist regime in Iraq since its establishment by a coup in 1969.

It is only natural there is strong opposition against Saddam's regime inside as well as outside Iraq. This opposition is reflected by the Iraqi Muslim students here at K-State, but it is certainly not limited to them. Every logical, peace-loving person would oppose such brutality instead of siding with it.

History has shown that there are brutal and criminal regimes such as Hitler of Germany and Saddam of Iraq. These criminals are destined to fall. Surely the Muslim people of Iraq will establish their own government to preserve freedom and dignity of the people. The truth will come out and the world will witness the trial of the criminals of the Iraqi regime. Beware that the Iraqi Norenberg like courts are near and criminals will be punished.

Mohsen Pournazari
graduate student in agronomy

Great experience

Editor,

As one of the 1987 Truman Scholarship recipients, I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to Nancy Twiss, other family members, students, friends and my family for their support, encouragement, friendship and patience over the past months. The warm congratulations I have received from all over campus have been overwhelming.

It has been an honor and a privilege to represent K-State in the Truman Scholarship competition. Not only has it given me the opportunity to represent an outstanding university, but it has also allowed me to represent myself and begin to realize my own personal goals.

Thank you all for contributing to this experience which has greatly enriched my life as well as my family's.

Janice Norlin
sophomore in political science

Residents' thanks

Editor,

We, as residents of Jardine Terrace, would like to thank all people involved in the organization and running of the events at the carnival held at Jardine Terrace on April 25.

As we understand, it was the effort of the volunteers, and we thank them all for their time and energy spent in giving us a good time.

We really enjoyed ourselves and are already looking forward to next year's carnival.

Janaka Jayasuriya
Jardine Terrace resident

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. All letters must be typewritten or neatly printed and signed by the author and should not exceed 300 words.

Clarification

It should be clarified that the letter "Union does exist" in the April 23 Collegian was written by an Iraqi student, not an Iranian, as Dhia S. Hassawi, graduate student in agronomy, inferred in the letter "Iranian's joke" in Thursday's Collegian.

Thank you, all, for the sweet memories

K-State years, acquaintances not forgotten

This is my last column of the year and probably the last column I'll ever write. That is, unless I become a famous national syndicated columnist, which won't happen in a million years. But one can dream.

It's been fun writing these columns. I hope I haven't bored too many of you to tears and I hope I have touched a few people with what I've written. I really enjoyed the comments from friends and people I don't know. They made this column a fun and rewarding experience.

Looking back on the two years I've been in Manhattan is a little strange. It seems a lot longer — not because it has been such a harrowing time, but because of the people I've met and the events which have been packed into such a short period of time. I think I can safely say it has been the most enjoyable and profitable two years I've ever had.

And all because of the people, places and events of KSU.

What can possibly be said during a last column? If I recount all the positive experiences I've been through, this column would be longer than the entire paper and I would undoubtedly put the majority of you to sleep. So what can be said?

It can be said I will miss this campus and this town. Yes, I know. Many of you will be saying, "Ha, I'd never miss THIS place." But I will. I always leave a place with some regrets, even though I may be looking forward to a new situation, a new place and new faces. I always miss the familiar places and faces. It's hard to imagine when I begin a new phase of my life that when it is over, I may never see those friends again or visit the same haunts ever again.

A friend recently asked me how I cope with moving to new places and leaving friends behind. I really couldn't answer. Because each one of us reacts to the change differently. I put the fact of losing friends to the back of my mind and try not to think about it. I treat the last day of classes/work as if it were any other day. I never say goodbye, just "see ya later."

There are so many things I would like to say to people, to my friends and colleagues, to you. Some of those things I will never say, and some I may eventually express to certain people. I would like to let my friends know how I feel about them. I would like to let them know how much they mean to me, how much I care, how much they will be missed. But I will probably never say those things.

JEAN
TELLER
Collegian
Columnist

I'd like to let all of you know exactly what to expect in the years to come and how you can become successful and happy. But even if I had the wisdom and the foreknowledge, you'd never listen to me. We all have to find our future on our own, without any outside interference or help. (Tim, no pearls of wisdom. But I think you've already found your answer. It's called loving what you do, laughter and living in the present tense.)

Your future is built on your past experiences. If that holds true, then my future looks pretty good. If my future is based on these past two years, it will be filled with good times, good friends and lots of fun. It will be based on laughter, solid relationships, learning, reaching out to others and holding on to what's real for me.

My future has been shaped by the experiences I've had as a copy editor, columnist and managing editor for the Collegian, and as a copy editor for the Royal Purple. My original purpose in returning to school was to broaden my scope as a communicator. Thanks to this paper and the yearbook, I've done that. I'm a better communicator because of my varied background, because I'm both a broadcast person and a print person, because I am able to communicate in any medium. It's something other communicators and educators need to remember and work on.

My future has been shaped by the experiences I've had as a graduate teaching assistant for the radio-television program. I've learned about other peoples' views of the broadcasting industry and I've learned how varied and unique the people are who work in the industry.

My future has been shaped by the experiences I've had in the classroom. There is no way to mention all of the instructors or the classmates, there is no way to let the world know what I've learned and what I've assimilated over the past two years. Let it suffice to say I have learned a lot and I've expanded my horizons as a person and in the field of mass communications.

My future has been shaped by the experiences I've had outside of the classroom. The K-State Players and the theater productions have been a big part of my learning experience. Thanks for the laughter, the tears and the chills of watching such a talented and versatile group. The two seasons I've been privileged to attend have only enhanced my admiration and envy of those in theater.

Aggieville was not a large part of my off-campus experiences until this year. The jiffing crew helped me hone my socializing skills and my ability to relax and laugh. The restaurants in Manhattan may not be all that varied, but those "indigenous" to the town have been unbeatable and a godsend to someone who doesn't cook. And where would I have been the last two years without 13 (or more) movie theaters?

But the biggest influence on my future will be the people of K-State. The staffs of five semesters of the Collegian, the 1987 Royal Purple staff, four semesters of KSDB personnel, four semesters of Video II classes. Each and every instructor I've had the sometimes dubious honor of attending classes under, every person I've worked with, attended classes with, every person who has been in the classes I've taught. They have been special and unique. The laughter and fun of those people will not be forgotten.

And that is what my future will be based on. My K-State experiences have been unique and the K-State people have been terrific. It will be hard to leave; yet it is time for a change, time to move on. But because of my two years in Manhattan, I'm prepared for the change.

Fees to cover program costs

By CHAD L. SANBORN
Staff Writer

In order to make the transition from high school to college easier, K-State has expanded its orientation program to a full day of events.

However, due to the expanded program and budget cuts, prospective students will be charged $10 to take part in the program. Parents attending the orientation will be charged $8, while siblings will not be charged.

Pat Bosco, assistant vice president for institutional advancement, said orientation expansion will give prospective students and their parents more time on campus.

"We found that the (old) orientation program hasn't been the kind that would develop a bond between the new student and the University," Bosco said. "A half-day program didn't give faculty members and student leaders the opportunity to convey the excitement of K-State."

Under the new program, prospective students and their parents will receive the necessary enrollment

Orientation to cost $8, $10

materials.

In addition, they will be guests at a morning coffee, juice and doughnut reception and an afternoon luncheon. They will also receive a purple portfolio.

However, prospective students must attend orientation on selected dates in June and July to receive the full program.

Enrollment periods in August will be designated, but the visitors will not receive the full orientation program, he said. The August dates will be free of charge.

Enrollment before the assigned dates is being discouraged so prospective students will have the opportunity to benefit from the full orientation program, Bosco said.

Individual colleges dean's approval is required for early enrollment.

Bosco said the $10 and $8 fees are being charged in order to cover program costs, not to make a profit.

Although the fee is new to K-State, Bosco said Emporia State University is the only Kansas Board of Regent's institution which does not charge for orientation.

Bosco said also the fees will place more value on the orientation for the visitors.

"When something is given away it is not thought of as special or important," he said. "A nominal fee creates a sense of expectation. By expanding the orientation and charging the fee we are asking for a commitment from the students and their parents."

Bosco said he sees the expanded orientation as a long-term investment for the University.

"The payoff (from the expansion) is in the long run. Our recruitment is not seeking isolated short-term commitments," he said. "We want a quality enrollment program that will help ensure that the students remain at K-State through graduation."

The expansion is also an effort to re-establish K-State as a leader in orientation programs, Bosco said.

In the 1970s the University had one of the premier orientation programs in the country, he said.

"People were coming from universities all over the country to see how we ran our orientation program," Bosco said.

However in the early 1980s, budget cuts and changes in administrative philosophies shortened the program to a half-day event, he said.

In conjunction with recent recruitment efforts, the administration decided to revive the program.

"Now we have created a full-service orientation program that establishes a day on campus for visitors to experience the serious, personal, responsive orientation that K-State was famous for," he said.

Senators disclose director nominees

By The Collegian Staff

Four candidates for the position of director of the Fred Bramlage Coliseum will attend open meetings Monday through Thursday, said Student Body President Kent Bradley, junior in nutritional science.

Bradley addressed Student Senate Thursday evening in the Union Big Eight Room.

The first candidate, Mark North, assistant director at the University of Nevada, Reno, will have an open meeting from 11 a.m. to noon Monday in Union 213.

The other candidates are Michael R. Barber, former director of the Cajun Dome at the University of Southwestern Louisiana, Lafayette; George Riedel, assistant director of the Hearnes Center at the University of Missouri-Columbia; and Charles E. Thomas, assistant director of the Sun Dome at the University of South Florida, Tampa.

The first report from the Ad Hoc Committee on Student Representation was given by committee chairman Eric Crowell, sophomore in business administration.

The committee distributed a survey to senators regarding Senate's current representation and what senators believe are determining factors in making decisions. Possible factors include living group of the senator and college represented.

Charge amended in driver's death

By The Associated Press

JUNCTION CITY — A second amended complaint was filed Thursday in the death of a Manhattan taxi driver.

The new complaint against Stephen Stratton, 18, of Junction City, accuses him of felony murder rather than attempted murder. A similar change was made Monday in the case against Jerry Odell, 18, of Manhattan.

The charges were amended after the death last week of taxi driver Charles Primm, 42, of Manhattan, who was stabbed and robbed Jan. 4 after he picked up two men in Manhattan and drove them to Geary County.

Stratton and Odell, both being held at the Geary County Jail, are also charged with aggravated robbery, conspiracy to commit aggravated robbery and aggravated kidnapping.

In filing the amended complaint against Stratton, prosecutor Steve Opat asked that his bond be increased from $50,000 to $100,000. A hearing on that request will be held May 15, the same day as the preliminary hearing.

Stratton also has a preliminary hearing May 29 on unrelated charges of theft and writing bad checks.

After a hearing earlier this week, Odell's bond was left at $50,000. Odell, who was 17 at the time of the attack, also will have a hearing May 11 on whether he should be tried as an adult.

KSU HORT. CLUB BEDDING PLANT SALE

annuals perennials herbs

vegetables hanging baskets

APRIL 30 MAY 1, 2

8:00 AM - 5:30 PM

lower greenhouses
north of justin hall

Proceeds to go to production costs, educational trips, scholarships, and club activities.

a change at State

Get Ready:

The 1987 Royal Purple yearbooks
will be here Monday!

Keep watching the Collegian
for more details.

Open 7 days a week
Free Delivery
11 a.m. - 1 a.m.
Call 539-8888 or 537-0886

HUNAM Restaurant
1304 Westloop 539-8888
(10% off with KSU ID)

HUNAM EXPRESS
1116 Moro 537-0886
(eggroll & fried rice 99¢)

THE WOMB

ONCE
THE SAFEST PLACE
IN THE WORLD FOR A BABY
NOW
THE MOST DEADLY

One of every three children conceived in the United States is killed in the womb through abortion. That is nearly one million five hundred thousand unborn children killed every year. The womb has literally become a death chamber for babies.

There are alternatives to abortion.
There have to be.

Manhattan Right to Life
P.O. Box 604

Will your next Apartment be...

a Dump

or a Dream?

Make Anderson Place "Your Place" next fall

New, nice and near. Anderson Place. Living room, dining room, two bedrooms, kitchen with dishwasher and disposal, bath and on site laundry. Furnished or unfurnished. Anderson Place... just west on Anderson from Denison... right next to campus so you can even grab some extra Z's before your first class. Up the street from Aggieville... on the way to Westloop. Quality construction with special sound walls. Two buildings only - eighteen units each. So hurry.

Leasing dates: June 1, July 1 or August 1
See us for leasing information now.

Chris Curtin
Realtors

1600 Poyntz • Manhattan, Kansas 66502
Phone (913) 776-1222

WE'RE PAYING CASH FOR YOUR BOOKS NOW

10% off any Non Textbook
Items at

Varney's
BOOK STORE

SELL YOUR BOOKS
AT VARNEY'S
(regardless of where you bought them)
AND GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN

Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non textbook items, when you sell your books during dead week or final week. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for gifts to take home, for something for yourself or for next semester when you buy your school supplies.

FREE PEPSI and COUPON GOOD for 20% OFF K-STATE SPORTSWEAR
WHEN YOU SELL YOUR BOOKS
DURING DEAD WEEK AND FINAL WEEK

BUY BACK SCHEDULE

DEAD WEEK
9:00 a.m. - 9:00 p.m.
(except Saturday 9:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.)

FINAL WEEK
8:00 a.m. - 9:00 p.m.
Mon., Tues., Wed.

Varney's
BOOK STORE
IN AGGIEVILLE

9-9
MON.-SAT.

12-5
SUN.

Football weekend concludes with scrimmage

By JENNY CHAULK
Sports Writer

When K-State's football players put on the pads for the final workout of spring practices Saturday, they won't be suiting up for a run-of-the-mill, purple/white intrasquad scrimmage.

Instead, the Wildcats will suit up for the second annual K-State Alumni-Varsity football game. Kick off is set for 1 p.m. at KSU Stadium.

But the kick off for what can be termed a "football weekend" took place Thursday.

K-State football Coach Stan Parrish said alumni began arriving Thursday morning for a weekend of not only football, but fun and fraternizing with old teammates.

Last year, the varsity-alumni game was the only activity of the weekend.

"Getting just the game together takes an immense amount of work," Parrish said. "This year, we've added a golf tournament and a luncheon for the players' wives. We want to make a weekend of it."

And what a weekend it's going to be.

Alumni arrived Thursday and picked up equipment. Parrish estimated about 90 alumni will suit up for the scrimmage, while a "couple hundred or so" will return to Manhattan for the festivities.

Today a full slate of events, commencing at 7:30 a.m., are planned. In addition to the golf tournament and wives' luncheon, K-State alumni will conduct a 1½ hour practice. Following practice, an alumni football team "conditioning party" will be held at Kite's Bar & Grille.

Saturday, autograph sessions at KSU Stadium will begin at 11 a.m. Game warm-up will start at noon, followed by the 1 p.m. kick off. Following the scrimmage, the alumni will treat themselves to a postgame party and prime rib buffet at Kennedy's Claim.

Parrish said K-State chose to end its spring workouts with an alumni event instead of a traditional intrasquad scrimmage for two reasons.

"First, it's fun," he said. "Secondly, it links alums with current coaches and players. In all aspects, it adds. We get more out of it. Practicing against yourself gets boring. It's always exciting when you have a different group of guys on the other side of the line."

Parrish said the scrimmage would be run exactly like a regulation game — four 15-minute quarters with a 20-minute halftime. He said he will start his first-teamers, with Gary Swim at the offensive helm.

But don't look for a passing exhibition at the scrimmage because Parrish said the Wildcats will run the ball more in 1987.

"If we can't win passing, we'll run the ball more," Parrish told "I Contributed A Twenty" members Wednesday.

He said the alumni would have its own coaching staff. Honorary alumni coach is Veryl Switzer (1953). Offensive coaches are Paul Coffman (1977) and Dan Manucci (1979).

Defensive coaches are Gary Spani (1978) and Russ Riederer (1979).

With all the pregame hoopla, it might be easy to forget the main focus of the weekend is the game. But Parrish said the 1987 edition of the Wildcats are ready.

"I'm very pleased with our spring workouts," he said. "It's been better than I anticipated. They've been as good as any I've ever been involved in. The guys are working harder than ever and we are better at every position on the field."

Collegian Reporter Shelly Shaffer contributed to this report.

Colt earns top seeding for Derby

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Phil Hauswald, who failed to win the 1986 Kentucky Derby with a 60-1 shot, will go after the 113th Derby Saturday with favored Demons Begone.

"He thinks he's king of the world right now," the 28-year-old trainer said of the colt, who is unbeaten in three starts this year, including the Arkansas Derby.

"He thinks he can beat anybody."

Demons Begone was the 5-2 early favorite to beat 16 other 3-year-olds and give Hauswald, a native of nearby New Albany, Ind., a Derby victory in his second try. Last year, he saddled Bachelor Beau to finish 14th in a 16-horse field.

The last favorite to win the 1½-mile Derby at Churchill Downs was Spectacular Bid, who went off at 3-5.

The wide open aspect of this year's Derby is reflected in the morning line.

The entry of Gulch and Leo Castelli, trained by LeRoy Jolley, was made 4-1, while Cryptoclearance was listed at 5-1, and Alysheba, Masterful Advocate and Bet Twice each were rated 6-1. Trainer D. Wayne Lukas' entry of Capote, War, and On The Line was made 8-1.

Demons Begone, owned by John Ed Anthony, can earn a $1 million bonus offered by Oaklawn Park to any horse who sweeps the Rebel and Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn and the Kentucky Derby.

Saturday's winner also will take a first step toward one of two bonuses.

Triple Crown Productions, Inc., is guaranteeing $5 million, including winners' purses in the three races, to any 3-year-old who sweeps.

'Cats' Wallerstedt maintains No. 59's reputation

By BILL LANG
Sports Writer

No. 59 will always be remembered, at least in this part of the state, as being on the back of K-State linebacker Gary Spani.

Spani, who left K-State in 1978, is now wearing the same number as a member of the Kansas City Chiefs.

No. 59 is still around KSU Stadium, though. It can currently be seen on the spring practice field, delivering a crunching hit and sending some offensive player back to his huddle to figure out what hit him.

The man behind the No. 59 nowadays is linebacker Matt Wallerstedt. At 5-foot-10 and 220-pounds, Wallerstedt doesn't exactly strike an intimidating pose. That doesn't bother him, though. It's the intensity in his style of play that keeps him going.

"At my size — which isn't that big — I have to be intense," Wallerstedt said. "I'm that way off the field, also. If I get knocked down or don't do something right, I get right back up and go at it again."

Wallerstedt said intensity is a required part of the game. Calling the Big Eight Conference an intense league, he said there is a challenge for him and the Wildcats to succeed.

"The Big Eight is a really physical league and it's easy to get banged up," he said. "But one also has to be able to bang up the other guy."

Wallerstedt said he has come a long way since his playing days at Manhattan High School.

"When I was in high school I had a chance to see K-State play," Wallerstedt said. "I had fun, just plain fun, playing high school football. If there was one thing I knew about K-State, it was that they had a losing history."

"When I signed, though, I went through a lot of hard work. A lot harder than I ever expected. I went through a lot just to get better myself. It's starting to pay off. The team is playing better and our future is looking better and we should do a lot better than most people might expect."

Wallerstedt has seen a change in K-State's practices and attitudes since Stan Parrish arrived on the scene at the end of the 1985 season.

"The team has become more of a team," Wallerstedt said. "We care more about each other, we pick each other up and push each other to get better."

And the team's attitude and physical improvement has Wallerstedt feeling optimistic about the upcoming season.

"I think that we have a lot of potential going for us this year," he said. "We have some experienced

See FOOTBALL, Page 7

Staff/Brett Hacker

At 5-foot-10 and 220-pounds, linebacker Matt Wallerstedt (59) doesn't strike as intimidating a pose as some of his other Big Eight counterparts, but he makes up for it in intensity. Wallerstedt has never started a game at K-State, but Wildcat coaches say he is having strong spring practices.

Drug testing experiences growing pains

By TOM MORRIS
Sports Editor

Editor's Note: This is the final installment of a five-part series on drug testing in intercollegiate athletics.

Drug testing in NCAA-championship events is still in its infancy, turning two in August. Since testing was started on amateur athletes at the 1968 Olympic Games, techniques have improved, allowing results to be of unquestionable scientific validity.

Enough of the history. What does the future hold for drug testing?

"First you have to look at the history of the NCAA — three-point shot, no three-point shot. Rules come and go, it seems like in the NCAA," said Bill Arck, K-State's director of Alcohol and Other Drug Education Services.

Arck said drug testing will have national influences as well.

"The current Reagan Administration seems to push testing. I think there is a growing national concern that if you're flying somewhere, is the pilot 'straight'? The same applies with other modes of transportation."

"Personally, I think we'll see more testing in the private and corporate sectors," Arck added. "Hopefully, we can get where you can look at an athletic contest and say, 'Everyone down there is straight and it's healthy bodies unaltered by stimulants or other performance-enhancing drugs.'"

From a legal standpoint, Associate University Attorney Dorothy Thompson said drug testing will not be fought as much in court as legal boundaries are explored.

Drug Testing In College Athletics

Thompson also said testing will probably be limited to those areas where there is a clear need for them in terms of safety — not excluding athletics.

"The justification for drug testing seems to be that athletes are required to have unusual coordination and judgment because obviously their activities are highly physical and somebody who is impaired (by drugs) could hurt someone else," she said.

Head trainer Carl Cramer will work with Thompson to draft K-State's comprehensive policy covering due process, invasion of privacy and civil rights in addition to the standard consent form.

Cramer said, though, the NCAA must work on its extensive banned drug list and testing guidelines.

"There are some athletes who are taking their policies to court and having them tested in front of a judge and jury, and that's one of the things we've got to settle because we're not immediately saying 'if you test positive, you're out.' We're leaving a lot of the decisions in the athlete's hands," Cramer said.

Dr. Guy Smith, director of sports medicine at Lafene Student Health Center, is a staunch supporter of drug education programs. Smith said he wants to see a switch to educational aspects such as K-State's "Total Person" concept.

In this program, Wildcat athletes attend sessions each semester aimed at educating them on the effects drugs can have upon their lives and athletic performances.

Smith said he wasn't sure if recreational drug testing programs were politically, or socially, worthwhile.

"You need a lot of drug abuse to make a drug-testing program worthwhile, and I think most schools aren't faced with that situation," he said. "I'd think we'd get a lot more out of our dollars by switching primarily to educational programs."

K-State athletic director Larry Travis agreed with Smith that more universities will begin education programs, but said colleges will expand as opposed to discontinuing testing.

With the expansion of education and testing, Travis said drug abuse on the collegiate level will diminish.

"I don't foresee drug use among the athletes continuing to be a problem," Travis said. "I think the good thing about drug testing programs is that it gives you a chance to possibly help someone who has been involved with drugs."

The Board of Regents, as instructed by Gov. Mike Hayden, is working to establish testing guidelines for all of its member schools.

All Big Eight Conference schools have drug testing programs. Assistant commissioner Prentice Gott said the Big Eight has no immediate plans to test athletes at conference-sponsored events.

NCAA Chairman John Toner said Tuesday the NCAA's drug-testing committee is considering adding tobacco — cigarettes, cigars, chewing tobacco and snuff — to its banned list and expanding a ban on alcohol from shooting events to all sports.

A final decision would be left to the NCAA Executive Committee, which won't forward a recommendation until August.

F. Don Miller, executive director of the United States Olympic Committee, said in announcing a strict drug testing program: "I want to

See SERIES, Page 7

Gooden says he regrets decision to use cocaine

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Dwight Gooden, warned by Commissioner Peter Ueberroth that he faces at least a one-year suspension if he goes back to drugs, admitted Thursday he made a mistake by using cocaine and said he hoped he could put his problem behind him.

Gooden, who rejoined his New York Mets teammates 24 hours after ending a 28-day stay at a drug treatment center, will face frequent drug testing.

"I know I made a mistake and I regret it, but I must turn the page once again because life goes on and I want to put all this behind me," Gooden said, reading from a prepared statement. "I want to get back to doing the things that I like, and that's playing baseball and having fun again."

The 1985 Cy Young award winner appeared nervous and uncomfortable as he rushed through his remarks in less than a minute at a briefing at Shea Stadium. The Mets had said he would not answer questions.

Earlier, the 22-year-old pitcher was presented with his 1986 World Series ring and then spent a short time throwing from the mound and running in the outfield. He did not get any exercise other than climbing steps during his stay at the Smithers Alcoholism and Drug Treatment Center.

The Mets hope Gooden can resume pitching in the major leagues by the first week of June, but General Manager Frank Cashen emphasized the team would not hurry him.

Mets Manager Davey Johnson said Gooden would begin 15 minutes of light throwing on Friday.

Staff/Ed Porter

Overthrown

Alpha Xi Delta first baseman Kris Nelson reaches for an overthrown ball as Alpha Gamma Delta Anna Mueller runs safely to first base during intramural softball Thursday at the L.P. Washburn Recreational Area. Alpha Xi won the contest, 8-5. The contest against the Alpha Gams was the second of the day for the Alpha Xis, who defeated West 5 in their first game of the day to earn the right to play the AGDs.

Briefly In Sports

Tracksters to compete in dual meet

K-State's track teams travel to Ames, Iowa, this weekend for a "dual" meet with Iowa State along with competitors from the University of Kansas.

"The main competition we'll have is from Iowa State. Kansas isn't sending that many athletes," Assistant Coach Ray Hansen said.

Golfers to compete in Illinois

The K-State men's golf team will compete in the inaugural Midwestern Invitational Friday and Saturday at DeKalb, Ill. Fourteen teams will play at the par 70, 6,236-yard Kishwaukee Country Club course with Ohio State University ranked as the pre-tournament favorite.

First-round action begins at 7:30 a.m. today with 36 holes of play. The final 18 holes are scheduled to get underway at 7:30 a.m. Saturday.

Baseball squad to test Oral Roberts

K-State's baseball team, 24-22 overall, will conclude its eight-game road swing Friday and Saturday with a two-game series against Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla.

Oral Roberts, 40-11, is coached by former K-State mentor Gary Vaught.

Hinkle, Kaifes earn Big 8 honors

K-State baseball players Otto Kaifes and Mike Hinkle have been named academic All-Big Eight selections. Hinkle, a senior first baseman, has a 3.141 GPA in social sciences. Hinkle, senior in accounting, carried a 3.488 GPA.

Drake helping athletes realize potential

By LORI LINDSTROM
Collegian Reporter

Terry Drake, K-State's assistant track and cross country coach, said his personal goal is to see Wildcat athletes fulfill the potential he believes they possess.

Drake said since junior and senior athletes are further along in training than the younger athletes, an elder athlete's main goals are to qualify for and place at national meets.

On the other hand, Drake said, he tries to make younger athletes realize they have the ability to compete on the national level, and to realize they have the potential to compete.

"I want them to strive for that realization," Drake said.

Drake came to K-State three years ago to train under coach Steve Miller for the Olympic Trials and stayed to be an assistant coach.

Now in his third year of assisting with K-State's track and cross country teams, Drake is in a "different role" this year because this is his first as a full-time assistant coach under head coach John Capriotti.

"My role has shifted from coaching to more administrative work. I have known and competed against Coach Capriotti for a long time and the athletes can see this good relationship," Drake said.

Drake said another role he has is to keep up the team's morale. By running with the athletes as they train, he can tell what they're going through.

"I see the athletes in a different light than John," Drake said. "I can see when a guy needs a day off or a rest."

Drake said his participation in the workouts helps the team mentally.

"It kind of registered to the team that 'Hey, he's doing the same things I'm doing. I'm going to be getting these things, too,'" Drake said.

Assistant Coaches of K-State

Another area Drake has worked with is taking five incoming freshmen and sophomores and teaching them stress management to help them adjust to competing on the collegiate level. He said he teaches them to handle problems that would take away from their running. Drake also works with them on test anxiety, how to study and time management.

Of the five students Drake has worked with, four competed in the national cross country meet last fall.

"They went to nationals when no one expected them to do anything and they ran the race of their lives," he said. "The mental stuff really helped give them confidence."

Drake, who is finishing work on his master's in student personnel administration, said a couple of schools have talked to him.

"If the right job comes along, I'll probably leave K-State," Drake said. "I'm looking forward to having my own team."

Staff/Steve Wolgast

Terry Drake, graduate student in student personnel administration, came to K-State three years ago to train for the Olympic trials and remained to become an assistant track and cross country coach.

Football

Continued from Page 6

players and some really good transfer players and some good players coming in next fall.

"(David) Wallace and I are having a good spring and that should carry over into the fall," he added.

Linebacker coach Rich Rachel was quick to agree the two are having a good spring.

"Matt, along with David, gives us good foundation to work with," he said. "They're definitely not the stereotypical linebackers, but both have good movement and the intensity in their game to go for a long game."

For Wallerstedt, the better he gets, the goals he has set for himself are within reach — if the playing time is there. Wallerstedt has never started a game at K-State. That could change since he has been having a phenomenal season, according to the 'Cat coaches.

"I have never started a season," he said. "I'm wanting to start this season-opener (against Austin-Peay), because I have a personal goal of 100 tackles. I think I can reach that if I play every game and not get hurt."

Series

Continued from Page 6

emphasize that this is a war on drugs, and not a war on our athletes. We want to wipe out this danger, once and for all, and obliterate the image of the 'chemical athlete' that is starting to shape itself in the public mind."

But just as a child grows, issues and controversy surrounding drug testing in collegiate athletics will probably multiply until university-run testing programs reach a mature age.

65¢

1/4-Pound RUNZA HAMBURGER

Now for a limited time get our award-winning 1/4-pound, freshly-ground hamburger for just 65¢!! That's half off our regular price ($1.30). Try the best-tasting, freshest burger in town today.

Come on and get a taste

Coupon expires May 10, 1987

One coupon per customer

per visit

Not valid with any other offer.

10:30 a.m.-10 p.m.

1101 Moro, Manhattan

Budweiser TGIF at: BUD LIGHT

Fast Eddys

and try your hand at the
"Great Shootout"
for prizes!

Have an ice cold Bud,
Bud Light or Michelob draft and start your weekend right.

NOT A STUDENT THIS SUMMER
BUT NEED HEALTH CARE?
You can be eligible for services.

SUMMER HEALTH CARE SERVICES

- *24 Hours
- *7 days a week
- *All Summer

Register at Lafene Health Center
May 1-June 5

*if you are a current KSU student

or

*pre-enrolled for fall

Cost $15

LAFENE
STUDENT HEALTH
532-6544

KSU WILDCAT

SOCCER

KSU vs. KU
Saturday, May 2
23rd & Iowa, St. Lawrence
2 p.m.

G-r-r-reat News!

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas will be available again next year. Same rates. Same benefit level.

So keep in touch. If you have a change of address please let us know. Call our Teleorder toll free number 1-800-346-2227 and leave the message or include your new address with your next payment.

Because you never outgrow your need for Security.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas

An equal opportunity employer

* Registered Marks Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association

Hotdog, it's that time of year!

CHI OMEGA BBQ
May 2nd

Classifieds

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.25, 15 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $3.25, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.50, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $4.95 per inch; Three consecutive days: $4.75 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.50 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.25 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MARY KAY Cosmetics—Skin care—glamour products. Free facial, call Floris Taylor, 539-2070. Handicapped accessible. (119-150)

FIELDS OF FAIR—We are now open for the season and are taking bookings for barn parties, hall and farewell parties, barbecues, cookouts, promotion parties, reunions, graduation parties and weddings. Phone 539-5328. (125-150)

MARY KAY Cosmetics. Check out our new individual lip and eye colors. 539-9469, Janet Milliken. (138-150)

73 OVERWEIGHT people needed to try new chocolate, vanilla and strawberry herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Call 776-5114, 776-1465. (140-150)

STILL LOOKING for summer work? For opportunity to make $4.50 this summer call to set up interview. 776-2564. (146-148)

PICK UP $100 FMA Scholarship applications in C110 for all finance students. (147)

ATTENTION

OVERWEIGHT? WANT to feel better? New chocolate, vanilla and strawberry herbal weight control program available. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. Get away from diet jitters. On campus daily. 784-6065 evenings/weekends. (132-150)

FOR RENT—MISC

RENTAL TYPEWRITERS—Correcting and non-correcting. Typewriter ribbons for sale, service available. Hull Business Machines, 715 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-1413. (271)

INEXPENSIVE, SELF-storage units. Why take all your stuff home this summer? Three months storage only $60. Amherst Self-Storage, 776-3804. (138-150)

FOR RENT—APTS

TWO AND three bedroom near campus. Central air, one and one-half bath. Available June and August. 537-8800. (1101)

ONE LARGE bedroom, completely furnished, laundry facilities in the complex. One block from the campus. $300. Call 537-7980 or 537-2255. (1121)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, close to campus. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities in the complex. Available August. $420. Call 537-7810 or 537-2255. (1121)

BLOCK WEST of campus, June or August, one-bedroom, furnished, $240. Call 539-5051 after 1 p.m., or see Dave, apartment 4, at 1024 Sunset. (1311)

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM, five blocks from campus. Air conditioning. Available August 1. No pets. $325. Phone 776-0181. (1211)

PRE-LEASING ONE- and two-bedroom apartments. One bedroom, near campus, $275 to $290. Two-bedroom near campus, $335 to $355. Call 776-9124. (1221)

FREE RENT last month of yearly lease. Ten months available in August. Various locations, no pets. After April 1 call 537-8389. (1191)

LARGE THREE-bedroom in a nine-plex with large closets, living room, dining area, fully-equipped kitchen. $150 each for three, $125 each for four. 822 Fremont. Available June 1 or August 1, 1987. Call 537-7087. (1271)

UNIVERSITY TERRACE—Two- and three-bedroom apartments, swimming pool, spacious yard, laundry hookups and facilities. On the bike path to University. 537-2096. (127-147)

NICE, ONE-bedroom in complex on the corner of Lee and Hunting. $325 or $340 with fireplace, June or August leasing. No pets. 776-3804. (1311)

915 1/2 CLAFIN, walk-out basement, completely furnished two-bedroom. Redecorated August 1986. month. One-year lease June 1st. 539-3085 or 539-6133. (1311)

NOW LEASING for fall—Next to campus, (near Haymaker Hall), two bedrooms in luxury apartment complex, fireplace, laundry, modern kitchen, natural gas heating. Evenings. 539-2702. (134-150)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment. $340 per month. Across street from Ahearn Field House. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings or weekends. (143-150)

MAY OR June, one-bedrooms, $205-$235. Phone 539-8423 after 6 p.m. (135-150)

NOW RENTING for 1987-88 school year, two-bedroom unfurnished apartments, 1026 Blue-mont. Call 776-2092 for appointment. (136-150)

RENTING FOR 1987-88 school year, Schumann Apartments, 1119 Laramie. Luxury one-bedroom, furnished. 776-2092. (136-150)

COMPLETE FIRST floor of large apartment house, 724 Poyntz. Will accommodate three-four students. Unfurnished, no pets. 537-8389 for appointment. (1371)

FOR AUGUST, next to KSU, deluxe furnished two-bedroom apartment. Also, one-bedroom apartment. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (1381)

1219 KEARNEY, Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $350/month. 539-5136. (1381)

1219 KEARNEY, Available June. Two-bedroom, partially furnished. Gas/water included. Lease, $320/month. 539-5136. (1381)

Fall Leases

- * Fremont Apartments
 - * Sandstone Apartments
- Large 2 BR Units
537-9064

ONE AND three-bedroom apartments for June, walk to K.S.U. 776-6063. (1401)

FURNISHED, ONE-bedroom in complex, 1219 Clafin, next to campus. $260 plus electric. New paint and carpet, lease June 1 or August 1. No children or pets. Phone 537-1180. (140-150)

AVAILABLE AUGUST 15, nice, furnished one-bedroom apartment. Water, trash and two-thirds gas paid. Laundry facility. Graduate student or couple preferred. $260/month. 539-2482 after 4 p.m. (1401)

TWO- OR three-bedroom apartments and townhouses with central air in a quiet neighborhood. For June or August. $395. Phone 537-0428 or 776-2425. (140-150)

COTTAGE: LIVE in a cottage for the price of an apartment. Available for fall, located southeast of campus. 539-7277 after 5:30 or weekends. (1401)

LARGE ONE-bedroom basement apartment available June 1. Three blocks south of University Inn. Free washer and dryer, off street parking. $260. Phone 539-5921. (140-150)

ONE, TWO-, three-, four-bedroom apartments, close to campus, June occupancy. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

EFFICIENCIES, ONE and two-bedroom apartments. $165 to $290. Phone 776-6791 or 776-4805. (140-150)

BASEMENT APARTMENTS for June, one-bedroom, $200; three-bedroom, $270; bills paid. 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom, one-half block from campus. 1212 Bluemont, $400. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (140-150)

TWO-BEDROOM, furnished or unfurnished, good location, $295. One unit left. 537-3375. (140-149)

NICE, QUIET, clean place to live. Furnished, one- and two-bedroom apartments. Assorted features include queen-sized bed, carpet, paid utilities, dishwasher, laundry, courtyard. For non-smoking married couple, employed individual, serious student. $216-$330 per month. June lease. No pets, waterbeds. 537-9686. (146-150)

Now Leasing 12 month Leases

- 2 Bdrm. Townhouses
 - Large Spacious Apt.
 - Close to campus
- MONT BLUE APT.
539-4447

LARGE, TWO-bedroom unfurnished apartment, near campus, available August 1. Heat, water, trash paid. $350. Phone 539-8052 evenings. (1411)

LARGE, BEAUTIFULLY furnished unit across street from campus. No pets, smoking. Stockwell Real Estate, 539-4073. (1411)

TWO-BEDROOM duplex, 1027 Vattier, garage, available June. Two-bedroom triplex, 818 Bluemont, August. 537-1676. (143-147)

FREE RENT first month of yearly lease on one-bedroom in Westchester Park Apts. Available immediately. $340. After 5 p.m. phone 537-4319 or 537-7022. (143-147)

ONE-HALF block east of campus, one and one-half bedroom, 1212 Thurston. Up to three people, $330. June or August. Also need resident manager. 539-5059. (144-150)

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS
3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions. Lowest rates. 776-3624.

AVAILABLE AUGUST 1: Three-bedroom furnished, 1229 Laramie, heat, water, trash paid, year's lease; $360. Phone 537-2099 or evenings. 539-8052. (144-150)

FURNISHED, THREE-bedroom basement, close to Aggieville, $325 plus utilities. Call 632-5211. Steak supper for those who rent. (145-150)

SPECIAL
SUMMER DISCOUNT
June & July Leases
2-bedroom,
furnished and unfurnished
776-1222

JUNE AND July only—Two-bedroom apartment one block from university. Phone 539-0410 or 539-2857. (144-148)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, one block from university. Available June 1. Phone 539-0410 or 539-2857. (144-148)

SUMMER SUBLEASE or year rent. Two-bedroom apartment at 913 Vattier. Rent depends on type of lease. Call 776-3262 for more information. (144-147)

ONE BEDROOM furnished, call 776-6157. (144-148)

ONE-BEDROOM basement apartment—Unfurnished, summer rent. Close to city park, Aggieville and campus. Utilities paid, $200 per month. 539-1124 after 5 p.m. (144-147)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, all bills except electricity paid. Has gas heat, garage available. $290. Phone 532-2120. (145-150)

FOUR-BEDROOM furnished, 1521 Leavenworth, $440. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (1451)

THREE-BEDROOM furnished, 815 N. 10th, $420. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (1451)

TWO-BEDROOM furnished, 1408 Fairchild, $260. Phone 776-6791 or 539-8401. (1451)

ONE-BEDROOM across street from campus, $265 to $295. Some furnished, some balcony units. Many recently recarpeted. All have laundry facilities and paid water and trash removal. 776-3804. (146-150)

ONE-BEDROOM apartment, 915 Sunset, 539-5953. (146-150)

Summer Leases available

- 1 & 2 Bedroom
 - 2 Bedroom Townhouses
 - Close to Campus
- MONT BLUE APT.
539-4447

SERIOUS STUDENT, furnished one-bedroom. Gas, water, trash paid. Gas heat. Lease. No pets. 539-2546. (1401)

ONE-BEDROOM, furnished, basement, available June 1. $225 includes utilities, 1006 Pierre, 539-5579. Serious students. (146-150)

LUXURY TWO-bedroom apartments, rent by month or lease, near college, reasonable. 539-4363. (146-150)

ONE-BEDROOM, large furnished basement apartment, near city park. Deposit, no pets. $200 per month. Call 539-7677 after 6 p.m. Available June 1st, one-year lease required. (146-150)

ONE-BEDROOM furnished, 1215 Thurston, $230. Phone 539-8401. (147-150)

THREE-BEDROOM house, one block from campus. Available June 1. Fireplace, laundry, dishwasher. 776-9561. (147-150)

TWO-BEDROOM basement apartment, one block from campus, available August 1. Washer/dryer. 776-9561. (147-150)

Last Minute Housing Decision for next year?

Call
McCullough Development
776-3804

Good selection of one,
two and three bedroom
apartments
for June or August.
Locations near campus or Aggieville
Prices from $225

FOUR-BEDROOM for singles. Close to campus. 776-6083 after 5 p.m. (147-148)

TWO-BEDROOM apartment, $165/month. Furnished, utilities paid. For summer only. Female. Call Andrea, 537-2913. (147-148)

FURNISHED BASEMENT apartment. Windows, new paint and carpet, utilities paid. Near campus. 537-7060. (147-150)

1 1/2 BLOCKS from campus, across from Aggieville, two-bedroom apartments, available June 1st. Furnished or unfurnished. 539-5702 after 5 p.m. (147-150)

Now Renting
HORIZON III
1212 Bluemont
(across campus & Aggieville)

- 2 Bedrooms
 - All appliances
 - Extended Bath
 - Quality throughout
 - June & August Occupancy
- CALL
776-6791 or 539-8401

FOR RENT—HOUSES

ONE-THREE non-smoking roommates. Prefer Vet or Animal Science majors to share modern farm-house. Free stall and pasture for horse, cow, dog, beef, eggs, wood, skiboat furnished. Reply P.O. Box 121, Manhattan. (138-150)

THREE-BEDROOM house, close to campus, 1411 Vista Lane, clean, no pets, $400 month plus deposit. Phone 235-3550 Topeka, Kansas, evenings. (144-148)

1,400 SQUARE feet, washer, dryer, fenced-in backyard. $350. 539-9356 or 537-0069. (145-147)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1st, with appliances, two baths, near campus, $500. Call 537-8420. (145-149)

THREE-BEDROOM duplex, unfurnished. University location. Starting June. $395. Phone 537-1269. (1451)

AVAILABLE JUNE: Four-bedroom, east of campus one block. $500/month. Five-bedroom east of campus, $550/month. Lease and deposit. 539-3672. (145-147)

AVAILABLE MID-May: Efficiency in duplex west of campus three blocks. $190/month. Lease and deposit. 539-3672. (145-147)

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, five-bedroom, two-bath at 824 Laramie, $550 per month, lease and deposit. Reduced rent for summer. 539-3672. (146-147)

THREE-BEDROOM house, garage, two blocks west of campus, no pets, $390, available June 1. 539-5496 evenings. (146-147)

FOR SALE—AUTO

1979 CHEVROLET Camaro Z-28. 350, recently overhauled, automatic, new tires and battery, 49,500 miles. 776-6240. (142-147)

1980 MAZDA RX-7, five-speed, great condition, sunroof, air conditioned. New AM/FM cassette. Call 539-7491, ask for Phil. (144-150)

DATSUN-710, must sell. $800 with repair. $400 without. 539-9843. Masumi at #320 Seaton. (144-147)

1978 GOLD Trans Am. Cruise, tilt, air, automatic, AM-FM cassette. $1,200 or best offer. 776-3721. (144-148)

1967 MUSTANG—Runs good, looks nice. $2,300. Phone 537-4211. (145-147)

1983 MUSTANG convertible GLX. 37K. Has all options, white on white, clean, $8,900, call 539-1624. (146-150)

FOR SALE: Black 1970 Opel GT, mechanically sound, fast and economical. Call Ferzan, 532-2362, room 604. (146-148)

1975 CAMARO, power steering, power brakes, air, cruise, excellent condition. 537-3848. (146-147)

1979 CADILLAC El Dorado. Call 539-7926. (147)

SELLING/BUYING a car, truck, motorcycle, RV, boat, trailer, etc.? See Wheel 'n Deal, Blue Hills Shopping Center, Saturday, 8-5. Parking spot. For Sale sign, area advertising, $10. Manhattan Emergency Shelter 537-3113. (147)

1977 VOLKSWAGEN Super Beetle, with sunroof. Gets great mileage, good tires, good condition. $2,200 or best offer. Raina at 539-3138. (147-150)

1978 SCIROCCO air conditioning, AM/FM cassette, new brakes, excellent condition. $1,850 negotiable. 537-4152 (after 6 p.m.). (147-149)

1977 4.4 CUTLASS, 88,000 miles, all tires, maps, tinted glass. Pioneer stereo, clean. 539-6501. (147-150)

1978 TOYOTA Corolla, automatic, runs good. Call 5-7 p.m. weekdays. 776-4860. (147-150)

FOR SALE—MISC

LABRADOR PUPS. A.K.C. registered, black. Excellent hunting stock. Eastern Shore bloodline. 537-8367. (143-147)

FOR SALE—Hide-a-bed sofa. Good condition. Great for apartment! $100. Call 539-4516. (145-147)

TWIN BED with headboard. Good condition and comfortable. $50 or best offer (phone 532-6651) 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (145-147)

STEREO: DIGITAL—Ready four-way speakers, $200. Toshiba cassette deck. $65. Akai receiver. $100. as set for $300. Make offer. Call Brad. 537-9652. (145-147)

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY—Own the most sophisticated Mobile D.J. system in the Midwest. Earn your way through school. Call 532-2107. (145-149)

FOR SALE: Living room furniture, couch, two chairs, coffee table and end tables. Call 776-9117. (146-148)

Party Subs
4 & 6 ft. lengths

(3 Days Notice, Please)

Open 11 a.m.-7 p.m. Mon.-Sat.
Now Open Sundays 2-7 p.m.

211 Seth Childs 537-2411

SANYO MBC550 computer, single drive. Sakata monitor. BMC printer. Wordstar. Calstar. $1,000 or best offer. Call 539-1824. (146-148)

TENNESSEE HUNTING puppies, English Setters, eight-weeks old. $75 each. Call 537-8948 after 5 p.m. (146-148)

COMMODORE 64, 1541 disk drive, color sound monitor. Gemini Star 10 printer. Excellent condition. Call 539-6858. (146-150)

KENWOOD LSK 500C speakers, $70 pair, also small Sanyo refrigerator. $90. 776-7052. (146-150)

Brother EM-30
Typewriters

A Graduate Graduation
Gift!

Now on sale for $199.95

Buzzell's
OFFICE SUPPLY

511 Leavenworth 776-9469

(Continued on page 9)

GETTING THIS WASN'T EASY.

WITH FORD CREDIT GETTING THIS...

FROM DICK EDWARDS IS.

At (DEALER NAME), we know getting that degree wasn't easy. But when it comes to a new car, we can help with pre-approved credit from Ford Credit. If you are working on an advanced degree or graduating with a Bachelor's degree between October 1, 1986 and September 30, 1987, you may qualify for this special college graduate purchase program.

If you do, you'll receive a $400 cash allowance from Ford. Make your best deal on any qualifying vehicle and use the money toward your down payment.

Ford Motor
Credit
Company

or Ford will send you a $400 check after the purchase or lease. The money is yours whether you finance or not.

The amount of your credit depends on which of these qualified vehicles you choose:

Ford cars: Escort, Escort EXP, Tempo, Mustang, Thunderbird, Taurus.
Ford trucks: Aerostar, Bronco II, Ranger.

So hurry. If a vehicle is not in dealer stock you must order by June 1, 1987, and you must take delivery of any vehicle by August 31, 1987.

MAKE IT EASY ON YOURSELF. GET ALL THE DETAILS TODAY AT

DICK EDWARDS

30 MINUTES GUARANTEED!

Two Smalls For The Price of a Large!

Get two 12" small pizzas for the price of a 16" large pizza. One coupon per pizza. Good at listed locations only. Expires 5/15/87

(Continued from page 8)

SPELLbinders inc.
INNOVATIVE INTERIORS
ART APPAREL

539-7657
Mon.-Fri. 10-5, Sun. 1-5
Candlewood Center

SONY DISCMAN portable CD player and small collection of CDs, $200. Includes adapter for home stereo. 776-1760. (146-148)

ZENITH COLOR computer monitor RGB, composite, internal speaker. Like new, must sell. Call 776-8775. (147-150)

MOVING TO an apartment? Have no furniture? For sale, furnishings, bedroom, dining and living room sets. Kitchenware and appliances clean and in excellent shape. Call 539-6267. Leave message. (147-150)

BUCKSKIN MARE, $300, and white leopard spotted Appaloosa gelding, $400. Phone 776-3352. (147-148)

Slender You
Figure Salons

- First Visit Free
- No Membership Fee
- Call for Appointment

776-3308

3232 Kimball—Candlewood

LIFE

I SUDDENLY HAD A THOUGHT.

AND WHAT MIGHT THAT BE?

by Doug 'n' Dick

Bloom County

By Berke Breathed

Garfield

By Jim Davis

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 School dance

4 Dancer's concern

8 Ambush

12 — Marie Saint

13 — Street Blues

14 Not fooled by 15 Southern bloom

17 Schnozz

18 Where to wear one's heart?

19 Droop

21 Unite

22 Selleck role

26 Petite

29 Cote cry

30 "Rose" — rose...

31 Comic Tomlin

32 Tank filler

33 Valley

34 Top pilot

35 Arthur's "brother"

36 Lock

DOWN

1 Skirt

2 Track edges

3 Half a sheet

4 Spade's kin

5 Like bath floors

6 Yalie

7 Blood fluids

8 Mah... 9 Numero

10 Range: abbr.

11 Early mystery author

12 Afresh

20 Driver's org.

23 Cleo's river

24 Avails

25 "A" — home is...

26 Bridge coup

27 Layered mineral

28 "Break —"

29 Howl

30 Sentries

31 Water bird

32 Beer bash

33 need

34 Inclinations

35 "City" —

36 Advantages

37 Movie dog

38 Anna's workplace

39 Lawman Wyatt

40 Nabokov novel

41 TV's —

42 "A Chorus Line" song

43 Yes, Cap'n!

44

45

46

47

48

49

Solution time: 21 mins.

ACROSS

1 SCHOOL

4 DANCE

8 AMBUSH

12 MARIE

13 STREET

14 NOT

15 SOUTHERN

17 SNOZZ

18 WHERE

19 DROOP

21 UNITE

22 SELLECK

26 PETITE

29 COTE

30 ROSE

31 COMIC

32 TANK

33 VALLEY

34 PILOT

35 ARTHUR

36 LOCK

DOWN

1 SKIRT

2 TRACK

3 HALF

4 SPADE

5 BATH

6 YALIE

7 BLOOD

8 MAH

9 NUMERO

10 RANGE

11 EARLY

12 AFRESH

20 DRIVER'S

23 CLEO'S

24 AVAILS

25 "A"

26 BRIDGE

27 LAYERED

28 "BREAK"

29 HOWL

30 SENTRIES

31 WATER

32 BEER

33 NEED

34 INCLINATIONS

35 "CITY"

36 ADVANTAGES

37 MOVIE

38 ANNA'S

39 LAWMAN

40 NABOKOV

41 TV'S

42 "A CHORUS"

43 YES, CAP'N!

44

45

46

47

48

49

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Yesterday's answer 5/1

Lecturer to head revival meetings

By The Collegian Staff

Argentine author, lecturer and evangelist Luis Palau will be in Manhattan this weekend "to share his heart" with Christians in the community and meet with farmers who are economically strapped, said Ray Contreras, regional director of the Heart of America Crusade.

Palau will lead two church revival meetings while he is in Manhattan, at 7:30 Friday night in McCain Auditorium and 7:30 Saturday night at the Manhattan First Presbyterian Church, 801 Leavenworth St.

"He will bring hope and spiritual backbone to the community," Contreras said.

Palau will arrive Friday from Nairobi, Kenya, where he has been addressing religious issues. He has also conducted campaigns in Zambia and Zimbabwe.

In addition to the two appearances in Manhattan, Palau will be present at the filming of a video, "Hope for the Heartland," which is to offer encouragement to the economically distressed farmers in the area.

The video will be filmed on the farm of Ken Goodyear, who lives near Dwight, Contreras said.

Palau, an evangelist for 25 years, will speak about how Christians can help touch financially distressed farmers in the area.

Doyle Rahjes, Kansas Farm Bureau president, and other business and religious leaders in the community are planning to bring Palau back in October for five nights of meetings tentatively planned to be in Ahearn Field House.

Although Palau has conducted most of his religious crusades in the European, African and Asian continents, he has increased his tours to the United States, Contreras said.

Contreras is willing to come to Kansas because he feels "a sense of unity in the area" with a large Christian following.

Even though Palau is relatively unknown in the Manhattan community, Contreras said he expects many people in the area to attend the meetings, which are open to the public.

"He is non-aligned as far as religious denominations go," he said. "In his speeches, he will tie in the message of the Gospel."

Cancer research walk to aid victim, students

By The Collegian Staff

A walkathon to raise money for cancer research will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday in front of Ackert Hall.

The second annual Don Marrs Walkathon will honor Marrs, a cancer victim, who walked 2,200 miles from Illinois to San Francisco in 1981 to draw attention to the need for cancer research.

Marrs is a Cincinnati postal worker. His Kansas counterparts have solicited monetary pledges that will go into an endowment fund for the "Donald Marrs Cancer Research Award," a $500 annual scholarship for a K-State undergraduate in biology, and for money to help Marrs with medical expenses.

The walk, sponsored by the Center for Basic Cancer Research and postal workers statewide, will end in Lawrence at the Kansas Postmaster's state convention.

Marrs is in the final stages of his bout with cancer and in poor condition, but he is scheduled to attend Saturday's Walkathon, said Pat Adams, administrative assistant for the Division of Biology. All students and faculty are encouraged to attend.

OUR NEIGHBORHOOD

Hardee's

DELIVERY SERVICE

537-2526

LAFENE STUDENT HEALTH CENTER

OPEN TO SERVE YOU

- *24 Hours
- *7 Days A Week
- *All Summer

Available Services:

- Outpatient Clinic
- Lafemme (Gyn) Clinic
- Allergy Clinic
- Mental Health Clinic
- Laboratory
- Physical Therapy Department
- Pharmacy
- X-Ray Dept.
- Dietary Counseling
- Sports Medicine Clinic
- Wart Clinic
- Health Education Dept.

532-6544

PUTT-PUTT GOLF

TAKE TIME OUT

play Putt-Putt Golf

open afternoons and evenings

(across from Wal-Mart)

PUTT-PUTT GOLF

COUNTRY GIFT SHOP

Bears • Dolls • Folk Art • Home Decor

"East of Holidome"

Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30 536-3854

2206 Ft. Riley Blvd. Manhattan, Ks. 66502

CLAFLIN

Books & Copies

- Professional Resumes
- 4¢ Self Service Copies
- Full Service Copy Center
- Quality Dissertation Copying

OPEN DAILY

M-F 8-9 Sat. 9-5 Sun. 12-9

FirstBank Center Denison & Claflin

776-3771

Happy 21st

Dan Walker

K-State Players

presents

Still Alive and Well

Living on Planet Earth

Written & Performed by

Joel Climenhaga

May 1 & 2

Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.

Call 532-6398

Mon.-Fri. 12-5

Proceeds to Joel Climenhaga Creative Writing Award

An alternative to the rent-a-truck move . . .

You pack, you inventory, you load. Then you travel to your new house comfortably and leisurely. Having arrived refreshed, you're ready to unload your belongings and to devote yourself to making your new home and your new life all you want them to be.

NORTH AMERICAN PAYMENT PLAN AVAILABLE

King's

northAmerican.

Phone 537-3360

WeDrive

RELOCATION SERVICES

A Cut Above

Upstairs FULL SERVICE SALON Mon.-Thurs. 9-9

1st Bank Center 537-3200 Fri.-Sat. 9-5

Denison & Claflin 537-3200 Sundays 1-5

OPEN SUNDAYS

Let our imagination go to your Head

Conveniently located on Northwest Corner of KSU Campus

REDKEN MODAFINI Products

25% off Full Priced Perms with this coupon.

Expires May 16, 1987

A Cut Above

$1.25

PERSONAL PAN PIZZA

READY IN 5 MINUTES GUARANTEED

11:30 a.m.-1 p.m. MONDAY-FRIDAY

Guarantee applies to our 2 selections on orders of 5 or less per table, or 3 or less per carryout customer.

$1.25 SINGLE TOPPING NOW THRU MAY 15, 1987

•Pepperoni guaranteed in 5 minutes—all other single toppings take just a few minutes longer.

Pizza Hut

AGGIEVILLE ONLY 539-7666

Ballard's BALLARD'S Ballard's

IN MANHATTAN

Spring & Summer Warehouse Sale

Thursday, Friday & Saturday—April 30 to May 2

Sale Location—601 South 5th

SHOES SHOES SHOES SHOES

Kaepa. CONVERSE BROOKS adidas

ONE SELECTION $27.50

ONE SELECTION $15

Reebok NIKE YOUTH SHOES $10 Etonic Foot-Joy

SOFTBALL

Aluminum Bats.....$15 to $34.95 Racketballs...reg. $3 can $1.50 can

Ball Gloves.....1/2 Price Soccerballs...reg. $22.95 $10

Softballs.....$30 per doz. Tetherballs...reg. $16.95 $8

$2.50 each to $70 per doz. Leather Jerseys.....$2 & $3 Basketballs...reg. $62.95 $30

CLOTHES

Socks $1.50 each $15 doz. Shorts $2 each $10 doz.

Warm-ups (one group).....to $86.95 $30 Jams.....to $24.95 $10

Warm-ups (one group).....to $49.95 $10 Heavy Jackets.....to $78.50 $25

Gear Printed Fleece.....to $19.95 $10 Jerseys.....$2 each $20 doz.

Running Shorts.....to $14.95 $5 Jerseys.....$3 each $30 doz.

Mens Tennis Shorts.....to $29.95 $8 Long Sleeve T's.....$3 each $30 doz.

Ladies Tennis Tops & Shorts...to $24.95 $8

Large Selection Russell Fleece all $8

T-Shirts $2 each $10 1/2 doz. $18 doz.

Many unadvertised items at fabulous prices!

Sale Location: 601 South 5th

3 Days Only: Thursday 8-6, Friday 10-6 Saturday 10-6

Inside

Just Ducky
Brett Houdyshell has found his niche in carving wooden ducks. See Page 7.

Weather

Cloudy
Cloudy and cooler today with a 60 percent chance for showers and thunderstorms, high 65 to 70.

Sport

Varsity Wins
The K-State varsity squad downs the alumni, 21-0, in the annual spring contest. See Page 8.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
May 4, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 148

Cancer victim leads walkers

March raises funding for cancer research aid

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

Still recovering from a heart attack suffered three weeks ago, terminal cancer victim Don Marrs proved determination can provide any physical for a cause.

Marrs led postmasters staff members in a second annual march for cancer research.

Though the rain halfhearted spirits were participants walked from the back of the Hall to downtown

'It rained a mile but any spirit

The walk, the "Donald Award," a $4,000 given to a K-State biology student. The established Cancer Research Postmasters Marrs, a senior from his home in Ohio, to participate. When greeted old friends with a strong

"I think these postmasters (and for the said.

Marrs was from Illinois to St. Louis to draw attention to research. My lymphocytes the lymph

Now, postmasters solicit money for

Most of participants even along the way

The postmaster Lawrence Postmaster where Marrs today.

They were driven one mile outside of the Holiday Inn and Holidome in Lawrence to walk with around 75 Kansas postmasters, letter carriers and others.

"It rained and hailed the last mile

Stabbing victims flee 'loon'

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

The man who was arrested for stabbing both Gov. Mike Hayden's brother, Paul, and a friend, was recently released from a Florida prison after serving a sentence for disarming three policemen, said Paul Hayden's roommate.

Hayden, senior in agricultural administration, he arm before ne police.

was arraigned of aggravated at $100,000. He ey County Jail. ore in pre-law mmate, said his uncle and e at 1855 Platt seemed normal

ng "profusely" is said. He said g pretty wild" the television ene Scott, a is sleeping on floor and they edroom door Denizio was a e to sleep in his a.m. Friday. /den's door and to talk to him. out in the hall n in the left and ran back in ked Vrbas for o Hayden's arm ing and went in spital.

t Rocco was go- erson," he said. bas on the back aid.

ran back in the i broke open the e up when he am and tried to ntion while the said he did not uld stab him nd of Ray's un-

Denizio what he izio said, "You you?"

BING, Page 12

be

directing, coor- g military aid to

Contra support ible, Rodriguez ectly to the vice in August 1986, as concerned of the Contra riguez turned to who set up a State Depart- White House of- hose concerns.

1 October 1986, plane was shot and American ptured by the ez twice called amuel Watson, ding to Bush's son then advis- situation room ing established

ashington Post itly ordered regg about the BUSH, Page 11

Entertainment Plus

A Viewer's Guide to Leisure Arts — A Weekly Feature of the Collegian

Friday, May 1, 1987

Joel Climenhaga

Visions of a Playwright

See Page 4

Jun
for

By

A ju Manhat damage suit file came to
The Kimber
Winfiel
Hunger
1982 inc used in broke o tooth.
In an
the file pushed jawn
Testi
Riley
Judge over 12
jury.
Jack
ford

Inside

Just Ducky
Brett Houdyshell has found his niche in carving wooden ducks. See Page 7.

Weather

Cloudy
Cloudy and cooler today with a 60 percent chance for showers and thunderstorms, high 65 to 70.

Sport

Varsity Wins
The K-State varsity squad downs the alumni, 21-0, in the annual spring contest. See Page 8.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
May 4, 1987

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 93, Number 148

Cancer victim leads walkers

March raises funding for cancer research aid

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

Still recovering from a heart attack suffered three weeks ago, terminal cancer victim determined to provide any physical for a cause.

Marrs led postmasters staff member cond annual for cancer r

Though th rain halfwa spirits were ticipants w from the bac Hall to down

'It rained a mile but any spirits

The walk-a the "Donald Award," a $ given to a K-biology. Th established a Cancer Res postmasters.

Marrs, a from his he Ohio, to par thon. When greeted old tances with and a strong "I think th these poststr (and for the said.

Marrs wa ilinois to S draw attent research. M lymphocyt the lymph

Now, pos sas solicit money for

Most of ticipants e van alongs led the way

The pos Lawrence Postmast where Mar today.

They were driven one mile outside of the Holiday Inn and Holidome in Lawrence to walk with around 75 Kansas postmasters, letter carriers and others.

"It rained and hailed the last mile

Stabbing victims flee 'loon'

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

The man who was arrested for stabbing both Gov. Mike Hayden's brother, Paul, and a friend, was recently released from a Florida prison after serving a sentence for disarming three policemen, said Paul Hayden's roommate.

Hayden, senior in agricultural Rick Vrbas, administration, he arm before he police.

was arraigned of aggravated at $100,000. He ey County Jail. ore in pre-law mmate, said (his uncle and se at 1855 Platt

seemed normal

ig "profusely" s said. He said "pretty wild" the television ne Scott, a s sleeping on loor and they edroom door Denizio was a to sleep in his a.m. Friday, den's door and o talk to him. out in the hall n in the left and ran back in ked Vrbas for o Hayden's arm ling and went in spinal.

t Rocco was go-erson," he said. bas on the back said.

ran back in the i broke open the e up when he am and tried to ntion while the said he did not ild stab him end of Ray's un-

2 Friday, May 1, 1987

Television Index

Manhattan Cable

KSNT (NBC)	7
WIBW (CBS)	3
KLDH (ABC)	2
KSHB (IND)	8
KTWU (PBS)	11
WGN (IND)	10
WTBS (IND)	12

Premium cable:
HBO, Showtime, CINEMAX, ESPN
Additional cable channels not listed in guide: Manhattan cable channels 4 (NBC), 5 (CBS) and 9 (ABC) correspond to channels 7, 3 and 2, respectively.

Entertainment Plus

EDITOR
Jonie Trued

ARTS EDITOR
Sarah Kessinger

PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson

ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutinett

On Our Cover
Through the eyes of Joel Climenhaga, associate professor of theater, one sees the history of a man whose father wanted him to be a missionary. Instead, he took on a different mission — spreading the word of theater, training young playwrights and giving dramatic direction. See Page 4.

Cover by Andy Nelson

FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom And Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeanie Bewitched	"Animals Are Beautiful"	I Don't Know Who I Am	Movie: "Short"	Business SportsCenter
8:00	Program		Bugs Bunny Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Heathcliff	Down To Earth Movie: Lou Grant	People's Desert Fox	Motown: Marvin Gaye	Circuit	Women's Volleyball
9:00 Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street		"Butterfield 8"	Movie: "Agnes Of"	Movie: "It Happened"	Movie: "A Woman"	Teams TBA Bodybuilding
10:00 Jeopardy!	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hatha Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple		God	At The World's Fair	Called Golda	SportsLook
11:00 Password	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Ecology Ecology	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	Movie: "The"	Movie: "The Man With"		Aerobics Getting Fit
12:00 News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & B'ful	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke Hillbillies	Sesame Street	News	Movie: "Kiss Me, Kill"	Candidate	One Red Shoe	"I'd Climb The"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
1:00 Lives Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Mystery!	Dick Van Dyke Andy Griffith	Me! WomanWatch	Movie: "Megaforce"	Movie: "The Great"	Adams or Patrick Div.	Final NFL Draft
2:00 Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoobilee Zoo	At Julia's Painting	Beaver Lead-Off Man	Tom & Jerry And Friends		Adventure Stupid Kid	Movie: "Love And"	Skiing Horse Racing
3:00 Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Ghostbusters Dennis	Scooby Doo Smurfs	We're Cooking	Baseball San Diego	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Willy Bill Movie: "1001 Arabian Nights"	Umbrella Jack	Death: "Mr. Love"	Kentucky Oaks
4:00 Facts Of Life	Magnum, P.I.	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flintstones	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	Padres at Chicago	Rocky Road Baseball	"1001 Arabian Nights"	Movie: "The Man With"	Movie: "Fallen Angel"	SportsLook Running
5:00 News NBC News	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Cubs	Houston Astros at	Movie: "Can't Stop"	I Don't Know Who I Am	Movie: "Short"	Special Billiards
6:00 News Wheel Fortune	News Newsweds	Buddies M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	Atlanta Braves	The Music	Tall Tales & Legends		SportsCenter SpeedWeek
7:00 Roomsies Amaz. Stories	Ringing Bros. Circus	Webster Mr. Belvedere	National Geogr.	Wash. Week Wall St. Wk.	"Porky's II: The Next Day"	Basketball Playoffs	Hand	One Red Shoe	Circuit	Stanley Cup
8:00 Miami Vice	Dallas	Movie: "Goldfinger"	Movie: "Hero At Large"	Faces Japan Market	News	First Round Game	Movie: "Cut And"	Cheech Bizarre	Movie: "48 HRS."	Playoffs Norris or
9:00 Stingray	Falcon Crest
10:00 News Tonight Show	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Solid Gold	Honeymooners Magnum, P.I.	NBA Basketball	Run	Motown: Marvin Gaye	A Soul	Smythe Div. Final
11:00 MTV Video	Lifestyles	Benson Nightline	Movie: "The Front"	MacNeil / Lehrer	"Yor, The Hunter From The Future"	Game Night Tracks	Movie	"Foreplay"		Auto Racing
12:00 Countdown Gene Scott	Mind Power	700 Club	Page

SATURDAY, MAY 2, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Kissyfur Gummi Bears	B'stain Bears Wildfire	Wuzzles Care Bears	Tom And Jerry Kideo TV	Algebra	Farm Report World Tom.	Wrestling	"Eddie And The Cruisers"	Movie Cont'd	Movie: "Tex" Cont'd	SportsCenter Truck And
8:00 Smurfs	Muppet Babies	Flintstone Kids		Bodywatch Microwaves	Charlando People	National Geographic	Cont'd Movie: "Sweet Liberty"	Movie: "Plymouth"	Adventure: Real Buddy	Outdoors Fishing
9:00 Alvin	Pee-wee Teen Wolf	Ghostbusters G.I. Joe	New Gidget Solid Gold	S. Previews Old House	Business Wild Kingdom	Explorer	Movie: "Dark Victory"	Movie: "Adventure"	Holly Story Movie: "Hole"	Fishin' Hole
10:00 Footur Tom And Jerry	Galaxy High Circus	Bugs Bunny Ewoks	Puttin' On	Motorweek Animals	Superman Wild, Wild	Movie: "The Leopard Woman"	Movie: "On One"	Movie: "Amadeus"	"Angel And The Badman"	SpoCtr. Horse Show
11:00 Universe TBA	Hulk Hogan	Kentucky Derby Parade	Lifestyles	Painting Vict. Garden	West Movie: "The Paleface"	"Ambush At Cimarron Pass"	Survival		Movie: "Sphinx"	H. Racing Horse Racing
12:00 Baseball Montreal	News Sports	Cosman	Lost In Space	Sesame Street	"The Paleface"	"Ambush At Cimarron Pass"	Survival		Movie: "Sphinx"	H. Racing Horse Racing
1:00 Expos at New York Mets	Saturday Sports	Dukes Of Hazzard	Incredible Hulk	Studebaker	"Tarzan And The Leopard Woman"	Gunsmoke	"Tribute"	Movie: "Family"	Movie: "Taps"	Women's Volleyball Teams TBA
2:00 PGA Golf	Basketball Playoffs	Kentucky Derby	Buck Rogers	Ecology Ecology	Music Mach. It's A Living	R. Martin O. Wilson	Movie: "The Bridge"	Movie: "Manny's Orphans"	Movie: "Once Bitten"	Boardsailing Scholastic
3:00 Drag Racing	First Round or Conf. Semi.			Earthquake Alert	Charles Big Family	Wrestling	On The River Kwal	Movie: "The Ratings"	Movie: "Critters"	SpoCtr. Stanley Cup
4:00 Wild Kingdom CBS News	Your Backyard CBS News	ABC News Illustrated	Matt Houston	Country At The Movies	Baseball	Movie: "Conan The Destroyer"	Atlanta Braves	Hard Knocks	Movie: "Night Shift"	Greatest Hits
5:00 Hee Haw	Mama's Family Crook	Buddies 9 To 5	Throb Big Family	All Creatures	Movie: "Conan The Destroyer"	Atlanta Braves	Hard Knocks	Movie: "Night Shift"	Greatest Hits
6:00 Facts Of Life Sw. Surrender	Outlaws	Starman	Movie: "Rio Bravo"	WndrWks.	Movie: "Conan The Destroyer"	Atlanta Braves	Hard Knocks	Movie: "Night Shift"	Greatest Hits
7:00 Golden Girls Me And Mrs. C	Movie: "Thompson's"	Ohara		Austin City Limits	Country Express Bobby Jones	News	Bonanza	Rodney Dangerfield	Movie: "Vision Quest"	NFL Films SpoCtr.
8:00 Hunter	Last Run	Spenser: For Hire		Ctry. Express Bobby Jones	News	Bonanza	Rodney Dangerfield	Movie: "Vision Quest"	NFL Films SpoCtr.
9:00 News Stetel & Ebert	News Solid Gold	News Movie: "Loain' It"	Tales Movie: "Curse Of The Werewolf"	Fall Of Eagles	"Patton"	Night Tracks	"Eddie And The Cruisers"	"Happy Hooker Goes"	Movie: "Lucky 13"	Wrestling
10:00 Saturday Night's Main	It's A Living					Night Tracks	"Heated Vengeance"	Hollywood	Movie	Karate
11:00 Event	At The Movies	Cosman	Solid Gold

Kentucky Fried Chicken.

2 pieces of chicken, biscuit, potatoes & gravy

For Only $1.89!!

901 N. 3rd Offer Expires 5-7-87 3002 Anderson

Dental Associates

of Manhattan

1133 College Ave. Bldg. D
Manhattan, KS 66502
(913) 539-7401

- 24 Hour Emergency Service
- Saturday and Evening Appointments
- Here to serve you when you're away from home

be directing, coor- g military aid to

Contra support ible, Rodriguez ectly to the vice in August 1986, was concerned of the Contra liguez turned to who set up a State Depart- White House of those concerns. n October 1986, y plane was shot and American aptured by the ez twice called amuel Watson, rding to Bush's son then advi- situation room ing established ashington Post city ordered Gregg about the

BUSH, Page 14

Inside

Just Ducky

Brett Houdyshell has found his niche in carving wooden ducks. See Page 7.

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy and cooler today with a 60 percent chance for showers and thunderstorms, high 65 to 70.

Sport

Varsity Wins

The K-State varsity squad downs the alumni, 21-0, in the annual spring contest. See Page 8.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday

May 4, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 148

Cancer victim leads walkers

March raises funding for cancer research aid

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

Still recovering from a heart attack suffered three weeks ago, terminal cancer victim can provide any physical for a cause. Marris, a postmaster staff member, cond annual for cancer r. Though th rain halfwa spirits were ticipants w from the bac Hall to down

'It rained a mile but any spirits

The walk-a the "Donald Award," a $ given to a K-biology. T established a Cancer Res postmasters. Marris, a from his he Ohio, to pa thon. When greeted old t lances with and a strong "I think t these posttr (and for the said.

Marris was linois to S draw atten research. N lymphocyt the lymph Now, pos sas solicit money for Most of ticipants e van alongs led the way The pos Lawrence Postmast where Ma today.

They were driven one mile outside of the Holiday Inn and Holidayme in Lawrence to walk with around 75 Kansas postmasters, letter carriers and others. "It rained and hailed the last mile

Stabbing victims flee 'loon'

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

The man who was arrested for stabbing both Gov. Mike Hayden's brother, Paul, and a friend, was recently released from a Florida prison after serving a sentence for disarming three policemen, said Paul Hayden's roommate.

Hayden, senior in agricultural Rick Vrbas, administration, he arm before he police.

was arraigned of aggravated at $100,000. He ey County Jail. ore in pre-law mmate, said (his uncle and se at 1855 Platt

seemed normal

ng "profusely" is said. He said g pretty wild" the television ene Scott, a as sleeping on floor and they bedroom door Denizio was a e to sleep in his

a.m. Friday, yden's door and to talk to him. out in the hall m in the left and ran back in icked Vrbas for o Hayden's arm fing and went in ospital.

t Rocco was go- erson," he said. bas on the back said.

s ran back in the n broke open the l.

se up when he am and tried to ention while the said he did not ould stab him end of Ray's un-(Denizio what he nizio said, "You b you?"

BBING, Page 12

be

directing, coor- ing military aid to he Contra support ouble, Rodriguez irectly to the vice as in August 1986, was concerned cy of the Contra odriquez turned to , who set up a A, State Depart- d White House of- g those concerns.

in October 1986, ply plane was shot ia and American captured by the guez twice called Samuel Watson, cording to Bush's fatson then advi- se situation room owing established

Washington Post ictly ordered d Gregg about the ee BUSH, Page 11

SUNDAY, MAY 3, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 James Kennedy	Jerry Falwell	Jimmy Swaggart	Superfriends	Algebra	R. Schuller Heritage	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Fraggle Rock Seabert	"Mystery Mansion"	Movie: Cont'd	SportsCenter Golf
8:00 L. Lundstrom	Discovery Truth	Kenneth Copeland	Wrestling	Sesame Street	Sunday Mass Porky Pig	Cont'd Andy Griffith	Movie: "Legend"	Come Along With Me	"Short Circuit"	In The PGA SpeedWeek
9:00 Schuller Jimmy	Oral Roberts Larry Jones	It Is Written	Wild, Wild West	Mister Rogers Special	Bugs Bunny	Good News	Animation	Movie: "Table For Five"	Movie: "What Comes Around"	Auto Racing Scholastic
10:00 Swaggart Muppets	Sunday Morning	Abb. & Cost.	Maverick	Sesame Street	Cisco Kid Lone Ranger	"The Searchers"	"Baby: Secret Of The Lost"	"The Jewel Of	Movie: "The Jewel Of	This Week In Sports
11:00 World Tom. Main Street	Face Nation	Wrestling	Star Trek	Sherlock KnowZone	Rawhide	"	Legend: Movie: "Seven Brides"	Paper Chase	Movie: "The Jewel Of	SpoCtr. Hits
12:00 Harold Enslay	NBA Basketball	Movie: "Loser" It"	Movie: "Tarzan, The	Wash. Week Wall St. Wk.	Wild, Wild West	Portrait Of America	"Silver Bears"	Movie: "The Jewel Of	The Nile"	Airshow
1:00 Rodeo	Playoffs First Round or	"	Fearless"	Money World Computer	Baseball Houston	Baseball Houston	Will Rogers	For Seven Brothers"	Movie: "Bells Are Ringing"	Auto Racing NASCAR
2:00 Auto Racing Miller 200	Conf. Semi. NBA	Rifleman	Movie: "Gorath"	Kansas Literature	Padres at Chicago	Astros at Atlanta	Movie: "The Buddy Holy Story"	Long Day's Journey Into	Movie: "The Jewel Of	Winston 500
3:00 PGA Golf Panasonic	Basketball Playoffs	Cyz vs. MacDonald	"	Firing Line	Cubs	Braves	"	Night	Movie: "The Jewel Of	"
4:00 Invitational Final Round	First Round or Conf. Semi.	Spirit Of Adventure	Movie: "A Song Is Born"	Report Of State	Communad Espanol	Kung Fu	Animals Wrestling	"	"The Empire Strikes Back"	Auto Racing
5:00 Motorsports Wheel Fortune	CBS News	Fame	"	Puttin' On	New Beaver	Movie: "My Science Project"	Movie: "Ladyhawk"	"	"	San Marino Grand Prix
6:00 Our House	60 Minutes	Movie: "Mary Poppins"	With Children Tracey Ullman	Nature	Lifestyles	"	Movie: "Legend"	Movie: "Table For Five"	Movie: "The Jewel Of	Stanley Cup Playoffs
7:00 Movie: "Police Story"	Murder, She Wrote	"	Mr. President Duet	Masterpiece Theatre	Love Boat	National Geographic	"Baby: Secret	"	Movie: "The Jewel Of	Norris or Smythe Div.
8:00 The Freeway Killings"	Movie: "Murder"	"	"	"The Death of the Heart"	News	Explorer	Of The Lost Legend"	Movie: "Rustlers"	The Nile"	Final
9:00 "Ordnance"	Superstars & Their Moms	It's A Living Runaway	"	"	"	"	"	"	"	"
10:00 News Throb	News High Q	News Movie: "The Private Navy Of Sgt. Boy"	"The Stone Boy"	Silk Screen Tony Brown	Country	J. Ankerberg	Movie: "Crestor"	Movie: "Nomads"	Movie: "Malibu Express"	Women's Volleyball
11:00 Happy Days Community	Movie: "Being There"	"	"	"	"	"	"	"	"	"
12:00 Gene Scott	"	O'Farrell"	"	"	"	"	"	"	"	"

MONDAY, MAY 4, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom And Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeanie Bewitched	Movie: "Memories"	Movie: "Sweet Liberty"	Movie: "Smooth Talk"	Business SportsCenter
8:00 "Program	"	"	Bugs Bunny Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Heathcliff	Down To Earth I Love Lucy	Never Die"	"	"	Volleyball U.S. vs.
9:00 Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	Movie: "No Time For Comedy"	The Talk Show	Movie: "Scream Of Fear"	"	Brazil Outdoors
10:00 Jeopardy! Scrabble	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hathia Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	"	"	"	"	Golf SportsLook
11:00 Password Wheel Fortune	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Literature Algebra	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	Movie: "Hog Wild"	"	"	Aerobics Getting Fit
12:00 News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & S'ul	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke Hillbillies	Sesame Street	News	"I Am A Fugitive From	Movie: "Say Yes"	Movie: "Man With One Red Shoe"	Movie: "Haywire"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
1:00 Lives Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Nature	Dick Van Dyke	A Chain Gang"	"	"	"	Norris or Smythe Div.
2:00 Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoolikee Zoo	Natura Profiles McLaughlin	Beaver Bugs Bunny	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Movie: "Gremlins"	I Don't Know Who I Am	"	Final
3:00 "Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Ghostbusters Dennis	Scooby Doo Smurfs	We're Cooking Aerobics	Baseball Los Angeles	Scooby Doo Flintstones	"	Secr. Of Dickens	Movie: "East Of Eden"	Wrestling
4:00 Facts Of Life	Magnum, P.I.	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flintstones Jetsons	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	Dodgers at Chicago	Gilligan Beaver	The Talk Show Rumpel.	Race For Number One	"	Bodybuilding
5:00 3's Company NBC News	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Cubs	New Beaver Down To Earth	Movie: "The Wonder"	Movie: "Love Me Or Leave Me"	"	SportsLook Fishing
6:00 News Wheel Fortune	News Newsweds	Buddies M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	Sanford Baseball	Of It All" Fraggle Rock	Leeve Me"	"Smooth Talk"	SportsCenter Stanley Cup
7:00 ALF Valerie	Kate & Allie My Sister Sam	MacGyver	Barnaby Jones	Adventure	Movie: "A Fistful Of Dollars"	Atlanta Braves	Fire"	Liberty"	In Paris"	Playoffs Wales Cont.
8:00 Movie: "Teen Wolf"	Newhart D. Women	Movie: "Rhinstone"	Movie: "The Pride Of The Yankees"	American Playhouse	"	"	"	"	"	Champ. Game One
9:00 "Cagney & Lacey"	"	"	"	Ossie & Ruby	News	Movie: "Tribute To A Bad Man"	Movie: "The Last Innocent Man"	3"	"	Greatest Hits
10:00 News Best Of	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Honeymooners Magnum, P.I.	"	"	"	"	Marathon SportsCenter
11:00 Carson David	Night Heat	Sensan Nightline	Benny Hill Hitchcock	MacNeil / Lehrer	"Ford: The Man And The Machine"	National Geographic	Sam Kinison	Movie: "Cocoon"	"Crossroads"	SportsLook Fishin' Hole
12:00 Letterman Gene Scott	Movie	700 Club	"Last Hard Men"	"	"	"	Movie: "Gremlins"	"	Movie	Greatest Hits

This Note is a Legal Tender for $5 off your next Hairdesign except for specials.

The Hair Experts

$5 off your next Hairdesign w/student ID

- Regular price $17 for women $14 for men
- includes shampoo & style

(Expires May 9, 1987)

1209 Moro Place—Aggieville 776-4455

FIVE DOLLARS

OPEN 'TIL 2 A.M. DAILY!

Sub & Stuff
Sandwich Shop

FREE MEDIUM SOFT DRINK with the purchase of any sub

12th & Moro—Aggieville

Expires 5-30-87 Void with any offers

Inside

Just Ducky

Brett Houdyshell has found his niche in carving wooden ducks. See Page 7.

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy and cooler today with a 60 percent chance for showers and thunderstorms, high 65 to 70.

Sport

Varsity Wins

The K-State varsity squad downs the alumni, 21-0, in the annual spring contest. See Page 8.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
May 4, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 148

Cancer victim leads walkers

March raises funding for cancer research aid

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

Still recovering from a heart attack suffered three weeks ago, terminal cancer victim Don Mays pro-

They were driven one mile outside of the Holiday Inn and Holidome in Lawrence to walk with around 75 Kansas postmasters, letter carriers and others.

"It rained and hailed the last mile

Stabbing victims flee 'loon'

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

The man who was arrested for stabbing both Gov. Mike Hayden's brother, Paul, and a friend, was recently released from a Florida prison after serving a sentence for disarming three policemen, said Paul Hayden's roommate.

Hayden, senior in agricultural administration, the arm before the police.

was arraigned of aggravated at $100,000. He ley County Jail. nore in pre-law mmate, said f his uncle and se at 1855 Platt

seemed normal

ing "profusely" as said. He said g pretty wild" the television jene Scott, a

as sleeping on floor and they bedroom door Denizio was a e to sleep in his

a.m. Friday, yden's door and to talk to him. out in the hall m in the left and ran back in sked Vrbas for o Hayden's arm ding and went in ospital.

it Rocco was go- person," he said. rbas on the back said.

s ran back in the n broke open the 1.

ke up when he eam and tried to ention while the said he did not ould stab him iend of Ray's un-

1 Denizio what he nizio said, "You b you?"

BBING, Page 12

be

directing, coor- ing military aid to he Contra support ouble, Rodriguez directly to the vice

as in August 1986. was concerned cy of the Contra odriguez turned to who set up a A, State Depart- id White House of- g those concerns. in October 1986, ply plane was shot a and American captured by the iguez twice called , Samuel Watson. cording to Bush's Watson then advise- situation room lowing established

Washington Post plicitly ordered all Gregg about the see BUSH, Page 14

4 Friday, May 1, 1987

"It's difficult to look back and give a retrospective view of my 50 years of writing," says Joel Climenhaga, associate professor of theater. He will perform some of his works in "Still Alive a

Climenhaga proves he's 'still alive a

By STEVE LAWRENCE
Collegian Reporter

It's been 19 years since Joel Climenhaga taught his first theater class at K-State. He'll retire from the University in May, but that doesn't mean much.

"I'll retire when I die," Climenhaga, associate professor of theater, said. "The matter of creating words on paper is a lot like breathing to me. If I stopped doing that I would die."

Climenhaga will present "Still Alive and Well and Living On Planet Earth," a mixture of his dramatic and poetic works, at 8 p.m. today and Saturday in Nichols Theatre.

Climenhaga said he probably isn't the best teacher in the world but he hopes he is one of the most respected.

"It is crucial that in a performing personality there must be a massive ego," Climenhaga said. "But also there should be a humility."

When Climenhaga was a graduate student at the University of California in Los Angeles, he won The Samuel Goldwyn Award in Creative Writing for his play "Marriage Wheel."

That was in 1955, and the award was $1,000. "That award is probably now worth about $5,000," he said.

When he won the award he was given the opportunity to meet Samuel Goldwyn, one of the original owners of Metro, Goldwyn & Mayer Co.

"I was 33 years old, and Samuel Goldwyn was afraid of me," Climenhaga said. "He only had a third grade education, and he was afraid of me because I was college educated."

When Goldwyn spotted Climenhaga he was shooting the movie "Guys and Dolls." He grabbed the first person who walked by and directed him to talk to Climenhaga. That person happened to be Marlon Brando.

Climenhaga said he talked to Brando and got him to agree to speak to about 1,500 people at a banquet for Climenhaga's theater group. Brando gave about a five-minute speech and then opened the floor for questions, Climenhaga said.

Climenhaga met his wife at that banquet. Another award Climenhaga received in 1955 was a $3,000 Rockefeller Playwriting Grant, which enabled him to continue writing and also get married, he said.

Since he was so fortunate when he was just beginning his career, he said he'd like to give students the same opportunity he had.

"It is difficult for creative artists to get that first recognition," he said.

In order to help future students get recognition he will be setting up the Joel Climenhaga Awards in Creative Writing.

"What I'm trying to do is help other writers to come after me," Climenhaga said.

There will be two separate categories for the awards: Dramatic writing, and poetry and fiction. The poetry and fiction award will be given in alternate years, he said.

The box office receipt money from "Still Alive and Well and Living On Planet Earth" combined with contributions will make up principle for the fund, he said. The inter from the fund will be the money given to winners of his award.

The awards will be open to all univer students across the nation, Climenhaga said. He said this award will strengthen particu ly the theater graduate program at K-State.

Climenhaga will remain active even in retirement, he said. He said retirement means he won't be teaching at K-State now.

This weekend's show will be diffi because he is condensing many years writing to a one-night presentation, he said.

"I've been writing since I was 15 years of he said. "It's difficult to look back and giv retrospective view of my 50 years of writi

Some of Climenhaga's former students be special guests at this weekend's per mances, he said.

Guests will be Velina Houston, Norr Bert, Clay Bodine, Gerry Glombecki, Cu

Inside

Just Ducky

Brett Houdyshell has found his niche in carving wooden ducks. See Page 7.

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy and cooler today with a 60 percent chance for showers and thunderstorms, high 65 to 70.

Sport

Varsity Wins

The K-State varsity squad downs the alumni, 21-0, in the annual spring contest. See Page 8.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
May 4, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 148

Cancer victim leads walkers

March raises funding for cancer research aid

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

Still recovering from a heart attack suffered three weeks ago, terminal cancer victim Don Marrs proved determined to provide any physical for a cause.

Marrs is postmasters staff member and cond annual for cancer r. Though the rain halfway spirits were participants w from the back Hall to down

'It rained mile but any spirits

The walk-a-the "Donald Award," a $ given to a K-biology. Th established a Cancer Res postmasters. Marrs, a p from his h Ohio, to par thon. When greeted old tances with and a strong

"I think these posttr (and for the said. Marrs wa linois to S draw attent research. M lymphocyt the lymph Now, pos sas solicit money for Most of ticipants e van alongs led the way. The pos Lawrence Postmast where Ma today.

They were driven one mile outside of the Holiday Inn and Holidome in Lawrence to walk with around 75 Kansas postmasters, letter carriers and others.

"It rained and hailed the last mile

Stabbing victims flee 'loon'

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

The man who was arrested for stabbing both Gov. Mike Hayden's brother, Paul, and a friend, was recently released from a Florida prison after serving a sentence for disarming three policemen, said Paul Hayden's roommate.

Hayden, senior in agricultural Rick Vrbas, administration, the arm before the police.

was arraigned of aggravated at $100,000. He ley County Jail. nore in pre-law mmate, said f his uncle and se at 1855 Platt

seemed normal

ing "profusely" as said. He said ig pretty wild" the television gene Scott, a as sleeping on floor and they bedroom door Denizio was a ie to sleep in his a.m. Friday, yden's door and to talk to him. out in the hall im in the left and ran back in sked Vrbas for to Hayden's arm ding and went in ospital.

it Rocco was go- person," he said. rbas on the back said.

s ran back in the broke open the l.

ke up when he eam and tried to ention while the said he did not ould stab him iend of Ray's un-

Denizio what he nizio said, "You ib you?"

BBING, Page 12

be directing, coo- ing military aid to he Contra support rouble, Rodriguez directly to the vice

as in August 1986, was concerned cy of the Contra odriguez turned to , who set up a A. State Depart- id White House of- g those concerns. i in October 1986, ply plane was shot a and American captured by the iguez twice called , Samuel Watson, 'cording to Bush's Watson then advi- se situation room lowing established

Washington Post plicitly ordered al Gregg about the see BUSH, Page 14

Dramatist reflects on her roots

K-State grad notes encouragement from school's professors

By JEFFREY J. BIELSER
Staff Writer

Velina Hasu Houston has been labeled Japanese, black and even "The New American-Asian Playwright," but the label she likes the most came from a New York critic.

"What she (the critic) said was, 'The author herself is half Japanese, a quarter native American Indian and a quarter black and entirely dramatist,'" Houston said, quoting from a review in The New Yorker.

"I think her labeling me entirely dramatist was the thing that I like to hear the most," said Houston, a 1979 K-State graduate in journalism and mass communications and philosophy. She returned to Manhattan this week to assist with a dramatic production by Joel Climenhaga, retiring associate professor of theater.

Being called an Asian-American playwright doesn't bother her, she said. "But at the same time, I don't want to be pigeon-holed in a way as if to say, 'That is all I want to write about or all that I will write about.'"

She said there are too many other facets of her life "that may at some point become the seed from which a seed for a new play might come" to limit her to one type of play.

While at K-State, Houston said she received most of her encouragement from two people in the theater department. She believes they helped get her play, "Nobody Like Us," produced while she was a graduate student at the University of California, Los Angeles. The play was produced in the Purple Masque Theatre in 1979.

"I think a lot of momentum for getting it produced...came from people like Doc (Norman Fedder, professor of speech)...and people like Joel, who encouraged the work of new playwrights, whatever their origins might be," Houston said.

Fedder, her first playwriting instructor, taught her structure and helped her explore ideas and gain confidence, she said. She wrote a play in high school, but began to write more under Fedder.

"With Joel, it was more," Houston said. "He would always try and make me think a lot about the content of what I was writing."

She said Climenhaga became familiar with her writing through her columns published in the Collegian.

"He knew there were a lot of issues about humanity, larger...controversial social issues that I really cared deeply about," Houston said. "He urged me to think about those things in terms of my writing."

"It indeed, as he said it would, led me to richer plateaus about some of the things I wanted to write."

Houston said she appreciates the support she did receive here, but "I wish that while I was in school here I would have had more opportunity to exercise my craft—I feel I was denied that."

When she does write plays or is commissioned to write drama, Houston said her training in journalism helps her write under the pressure of deadline.

"My catalyst has always been the writ-

Staff/Andy Nelson

Valina Hasu Houston has been labeled many things, but prefers the label "entirely dramatist," a compliment given to her by a New York critic.

ten word...the fascination with the word, the pen and the paper and wanting to express ideas."

Writing can take different forms and none are any more or less creative than others, Houston said, so she has never separated herself from journalism.

"I think my ability to wordsmith has enabled me to do a lot of different things," she said.

The desire to write meant leaving Kansas, which Houston refers to as an "escape."

"I stayed until I felt my mother was comfortable, and then I guess it really was an escape," she said about the family ties that kept her in Kansas until she graduated.

"I needed to live in a place that was more culturally suitable and artistically suitable for my tastes and my needs as an artist," Houston said.

She found that place at UCLA. There she wrote some of her earlier plays based on the life of her mother, a Japanese immigrant married to a soldier who was half black and half American Indian.

Houston said she began to see her parents as "multi-dimensional" human beings who had gone through "patterns similar to what we did as we were growing up as children."

"I began to really take a look at my mother and how hard it must have been for her to survive in the Midwestern environment in Kansas as a Japanese immigrant woman," she said.

"I became so impassioned about my mother's history, her experience and her hardship and struggle that I sat down to write a play," Houston said.

Her writings about her mother and life in Kansas became a trilogy of plays.

"In writing those plays, I never intended to make them Japanese-American plays, I just simply was writing about something about which I felt really passionate," Houston said.

However, she said that her plays are not just about the Japanese experience or the black experience in America because she said she is neither.

"What I have written about is the multi-cultural experience—the Amerasian experience—and that's really my own."

"I'm very happy to help document the creation in history of my people in this country."

To Houston, being multi-ethnic means making herself comfortable wherever she is.

"It's just like a crowded room. You can't say to yourself, 'I'm not going into that room because it's crowded,'" she said. "Especially if it is an important room to be in."

"You should go in politely and make room for yourself, and I think that is what I have done in all the various cultural groups I have been involved in."

Houston has made room for herself with plays like "Asa Ga Kimashita (Morning Has Come)," "American Dreams," and "Tea."

Her plays have won two first-prize awards from The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, American College Theatre Festival. She received a Rockefeller Foundation Playwriting Fellowship in 1984 for "Tea," which was also named one of the top 10 plays by a woman writer by The Susan Smith Blackburn Prize Foundation of London.

To add to the list, she won a 1987 Rockefeller fellowship and has been commissioned to write a play for the Mark Taper Forum of Los Angeles.

The play, called "Tips on How to Store Breast Milk," is about the cycle of life in men's and women's relationships in a 1980s urban environment, Houston said.

"It's an interesting examination of the important relationships in my life and what they mean to the larger picture," she said.

Just for

By

A ju Manhat damage the suit file came to the The Kimber Winfield Hunger 1982 inc used in his broke only tooth. for In an the file pushed jawbon. Testid, Riley re a Judge g. over the jury. Jack ford h an rmi and Well and Living on Planet Earth."

Staff/Andy Nelson

and well'

Price, Frederick O. Kiel and Wesley VanTas-

le. Climenhaga said he has written one piece specifically for Friday's event. Also he has written something about his love for jazz.

"Drama cannot be presented by the playwright," Climenhaga said. "You have to hear different voices in a play, and it has to be read on stage."

While he will present his play writing on Friday, he will be reading his poetry on Saturday. Since he has written so many poems, he said it will be impossible to give a complete retrospective view of all of them.

"For me to give a truly retrospective view of over 2,000 poems, I just can't do that," he said. A career in theater was not what Climenhaga's father had in mind as a future. His father was a missionary, and he wanted his son to follow in his footsteps.

"I was called to convert a different set of heathen," Climenhaga said. "My heathen are called students."

Inside

Just Ducky

Brett Houdyshell has found his niche in carving wooden ducks. See Page 7.

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy and cooler to-day with a 60 percent chance for showers and thunderstorms, high 65 to 70.

Sport

Varsity Wins

The K-State varsity squad downs the alumni, 21-0, in the annual spring contest. See Page 8.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
May 4, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 148

Cancer victim leads walkers

March raises funding for cancer research aid

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

Still recovering from a heart attack suffered three weeks ago, terminal cancer victim Don Marrs proved determination and inspiration

They were driven one mile outside of the Holiday Inn and Holidayme in Lawrence to walk with around 75 Kansas postmasters, letter carriers and others.

"It rained and hailed the last mile but it didn't dampen any spirits."

Stabbing victims flee 'loon'

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

The man who was arrested for stabbing both Gov. Mike Hayden's brother, Paul, and a friend, was recently released from a Florida prison after serving a sentence for disarming three policemen, said Paul Hayden's roommate.

Hayden, senior in agricultural and Rick Vrbas, 's administration, in the arm before the police.

49, was arraigned on charges of aggravated battery at $100,000. He Riley County Jail. He more in pre-law roommate, said 1 of his uncle and ouse at 1855 Platt o seemed normal nk. nking "profusely" rbas said. He said ting pretty wild" at the television Gene Scott, a st.

was sleeping on n floor and they bedroom door w Denizio was a one to sleep in his all.

10 a.m. Friday, Hayden's door and ed to talk to him. nt out in the hall him in the left id.

ed and ran back in asked Vrbas for n to Hayden's arm eeding and went in hospital.

hat Rocco was gor person," he said. Vrbas on the back re said.

as ran back in the den broke open the ed.

oke up when he cream and tried to attention while the fe said he did not would stab him friend of Ray's un-

ed Denizio what he Denizio said, "You tab you?"

FABING, Page 12

be in directing, coord- wing military aid to the Contra support trouble, Rodriguez directly to the vice was in August 1986, z was concerned icy of the Contra Rodriguez turned to g, who set up a JA, State Depart- and White House of- ing those concerns. is in October 1986, pply plane was shot gua and American s captured by the riguez twice called t, Samuel Watson, ecoming to Bush's Watson then advis- use situation room flowing established e Washington Post plicitly ordered ell Gregg about the See BUSH, Page 14

6 Friday, May 1, 1987

Film Review

Military film monkeys with primate stars

By ANDRE KELLEY
Collegian Reviewer

Matthew Broderick is notorious for giving people a hard time. He hacked off the Pentagon in "Wargames," an entire kingdom in "LadyHawke," a school principal in "Ferris Bueller's Day Off" and now the U.S. Air Force in "Project X."

His trademark sheepish grin and sly, boyish affability are only part of the secrets of his success. The fact that he lands juicy roles hasn't hurt either. With all this going for him he should be the last person to play second banana to a chimp. But he's doing exactly that as airman Garrett in a top secret military experiment, Project X.

As expected, he's playing the smart-aleck airman who's always in trouble. He's just been grounded for making out with his girlfriend in the back seat...of a jet fighter.

As punishment he's assigned to work with about 15 chimpanzees in a program supposedly designed to teach them to fly military aircraft. It's here he meets and falls for an adorable young chimp named Virgil, who's just as new to the program as he is. There's also a whole cast of primates with distinctive personalities reflected in their names. There's the noisy Razzberry, the not-so-bright Goofy, the old, gray-haired, moody Bluebeard and the infamous, cigarette-smoking circus ape named Goliath.

Raised by a university professor, Virgil is the most accomplished of his classmates. His knowledge of sign language catches not only the attention of his fellow apes, but that of Garrett as well. This and other peculiar occurrences inspire him to contact Virgil's previous owner, Terry McDonald (played by Helen Hunt).

Garrett doesn't find out what Project X is until it's too late — not only for the chimp he's come to love, but his conscience too.

No one can fault this film for its

See PROJECT, Page 7

TUESDAY, MAY 5, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom And Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeannie Bewitched	Movie: "Can't Stop"	Movie: "Amadeus"	"Treasure Island" Cont'd	Business SportsCenter
8:00 " "	Program	" "	Bugs Bunny Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Heathcliff	Down To Earth I Love Lucy	The Music	Cont'd	Movie: "Don't Go"	Auto Racing San Marino
9:00 Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	Movie: "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof"	Movie: "The Elephant"	Movie: "Don't Make Waves"	Near The Water	Grand Prix Auto Racing
10:00 Jeopardy! Scrabble	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hatha Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	Tin Roof	Man	" "	A Soul Session	SportsLook
11:00 Password Wheel Fortune	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Write Course Tornado	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	Movie: "The Bridge"	Movie: "The Ratings"	Movie: "Short"	Aerobics Getting Fit
12:00 News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & B'lul	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke Hillbillies	Sesame Street	News	Movie: "Escape"	On The River Kwal	Game	Circuit	Stanley Cup Playoffs
1:00 News Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Masterpiece Theatre	Baseball Los Angeles	" "	" "	Movie: "Off Beat"	Movie: "The Gig"	Wales Conference
2:00 Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoobilee Zoo	" "	Dodgers at Chicago	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Movie: "On The Edge"	" "	Movie: " "	Championship Game One
3:00 Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Ghostbusters Dennis	Scooby Doo Smurfs	We're Cooking Aerobics	Cubs	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Edge Chicken	Arthur & The Square	"Home From The Hill"	Wrestling
4:00 Facts Of Life	Magnum, P.I.	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flintstones Jetsons	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	Transformers	Gilligan Baseball	Jellybean	Knight's Movie	" "	Wrestling Scholastic
5:00 3's Company NBC News	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Facts Of Life WKRP	Montreal Expos at	Movie: "Megaforce"	"The Great Adventure"	Movie: "Absolute"	SportsLook NBA Today
6:00 News Wheel Fortune	News Newsweds	Buddies M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	Atlanta Braves	" "	Paper Chase	Beginners	SportsCenter In The PGA
7:00 Matlock	West 57th	Who's Boss? Growing Pains	Barnaby Jones	Nova	Movie: "Joe Kidd"	Games NBA	Movie: "The Elephant"	Movie: "Amadeus"	Movie: "Short"	Greatest Hits Bodybuilding
8:00 Gimme Break The Tortellis	Movie: "Murder"	Moonlighting	National Geographic	Frontline	" "	Basketball Playoffs	Man	" "	Circuit	Stanley Cup
9:00 Hill Street Blues	Ordained	Max Headroom	National Geographic	Tenko	News	Conference Semifinal	The Hitchhiker	" "	A Soul Session	Playoffs Campbell
10:00 News Tonight Show	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Honeymooners Magnum, P.I.	NBA Basketball	"On The Edge"	Movie: "Off Beat"	Movie: "The Gig"	Conf. Champ. Game One
11:00 David	Simon & Simon	Benson Nightline	Benny Hill Hitchcock	MacNeil / Lehrer	"Ford: The Man And The Machine"	Playoffs Conference	Movie: "My Man"	Movie: " "	Movie: " "	SportsCenter Wrestling
12:00 Letterman Gene Scott	Movie: "Mae West"	700 Club	"Yank In The RAF"	" "	" "	Semifinal Movie	Adam	"Wise Guys"	"L'Addition"	SportsLook Wrestling

WEDNESDAY, MAY 6, 1987

KSNT	WIBW	KTKA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00 Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom And Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeannie Bewitched	Movie: "Fletch"	Movie: "Ladyhawke"	"Bombs Away" Cont'd	Business SportsCenter
8:00 " "	Program	" "	Bugs Bunny Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Heathcliff	Down To Earth I Love Lucy	" "	Movie: "Spies Like Us"	Movie: " "	Horse Show Jumping
9:00 Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	Movie: "My Reputation"	Movie: "Sweet Liberty"	Movie: "Young Man With A Horn"	Movie: "Lone Wolf"	NBA Today SportsLook
10:00 Jeopardy! Scrabble	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hatha Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	Reputation	Liberty	With A Horn	Movie: "Lone Wolf"	Aerobics Getting Fit
11:00 Password Wheel Fortune	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Literature Algebra	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	Movie: "Tribute"	Motown: Marvin Gaye	McQuade	SportsCenter In The PGA
12:00 News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & B'lul	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke Hillbillies	Sesame Street	News	Movie: "The Hostage"	" "	Long Day's Journey Into Night	Movie: "The Molly Maguires"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
1:00 News Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Nova	Dick Van Dyke Andy Griffith	Heart	Movie: "Jake Speed"	Night	" "	Campbell Conference
2:00 Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoobilee Zoo	Tenko	Beaver Bugs Bunny	Tom & Jerry And Friends	" "	" "	Crazy About The Movies	Championship Game One
3:00 Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Ghostbusters Dennis	Scooby Doo Smurfs	We're Cooking Aerobics	Ghostbusters Smurfs	Scooby Doo Flintstones	Willy Bill The Wilder	Trumpeter Tall Tales & Legends	Movie: "The Damned"	Wrestling
4:00 Facts Of Life	Magnum, P.I.	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flintstones Jetsons	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Transformers	Gilligan Baseball	Summer B.W.	" "	Movie: "The Story Of"	SportsLook In The PGA
5:00 3's Company NBC News	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Facts Of Life WKRP	Montreal Expos at	"The Candidate"	Motown: Marvin Gaye	Will Rogers	SportsCenter Stanley Cup
6:00 News Wheel Fortune	News Newsweds	Buddies M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	Atlanta Braves	Games NBA	Movie: "Fletch"	Movie: "Legend"	Playoffs Wales Conf.
7:00 Highway To Heaven	New Mike Hammer	P. Strangers Head Of Class	Barnaby Jones	Live From The Met	"Two Mules For Sister Sara"	Basketball Playoffs	" "	" "	" "	Champ. Game Two
8:00 Night Court Easy Street	Magnum, P.I.	Dynasty	Movie: "Conan The Destroyer"	"Dialogues of the Carmelites"	News Baseball	Conference Semifinal	Movie: "Jake Speed"	"The Killing Fields"	Movie: "48 HRS."	Fishin' Hole
9:00 Bronx Zoo	Equalizer	Mariah	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "	" "
10:00 News Tonight Show	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Chicago Cubs at San Francisco Giants	" "	Movie: "Dark Victory"	" "	" "	SportsCenter
11:00 David	T.J. Hooker	Benson Nightline	Benny Hill Hitchcock	MacNeil / Lehrer	Francisco Giants	" "	Movie: "Sweet Liberty"	"It's Not The Size That Counts"	Movie: "Lone Wolf McQuade"	SportsLook Outdoors
12:00 Letterman Gene Scott	Movie: "The Bandits"	700 Club	Movie: "Movie Movie"	" "	INN News	Movie: "The Key"	Liberty Movie	Countess Cheech	Movie	Tom Mann NBA Today

PLAY THE $15,000,000 "MAGIC BIRTHDAY WISH" GAME
YOU CAN WIN
INSTANTLY
ONE OF 100 TRIPS TO Walt Disney World
...AND MILLIONS OF DOLLARS
CASH AND FOOD PRIZES

Long John Silver's

THE MOVIES
K-state union
Uppe feature films

EDDIE MURPHY IS BACK IN ACTION.
THE GOLDEN CHILD
PG-13 A PARENT STRONGLY CAUTIONED
Some Material May Be Inappropriate for Children Under 13

WINNER OF 4 ACADEMY AWARDS!
INCLUDING BEST SONG
BUTCH CASSIDY AND THE SUNDANCE KID
Saturday 2 p.m., Sunday 2 & 7 p.m.,
Forum Hall, $1.50

Friday & Saturday 7 & 9:30 p.m. Forum Hall, $1.75, KSU
ID required

Inside

Just Ducky
Brett Houdyshell has found his niche in carving wooden ducks. See Page 7.

Weather

Cloudy
Cloudy and cooler today with a 60 percent chance for showers and thunderstorms, high 65 to 70.

Sport

Varsity Wins
The K-State varsity squad downs the alumni, 21-0, in the annual spring contest. See Page 8.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
May 4, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 148

Cancer victim leads walkers

March raises funding for cancer research aid

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

Still recovering from a heart attack suffered three weeks ago, terminal cancer victim Don Marrs proved determination and inspiration can provide any physician for a cause.

Marrs, postmaster staff member, conducted annual for cancer.

Though rain half spirits participants from the hall to do.

'It rained one mile but any spirit.

The walk-the "Donal Award," a given to a biology. established Cancer Research postmaster Marrs, a from his Ohio, to p thon. Wh greeted old dances wi and a stro "I think these post (and for t said. Marrs v liniois to draw atte research. lymphocy the lymph Now, pcc sas solicit money fo Most c ticipants van along led the w The p Lawren Postmas where M today.

They were driven one mile outside of the Holiday Inn and Holidome in Lawrence to walk with around 75 Kansas postmasters, letter carriers and others.

"It rained and hailed the last mile but it didn't dampen any spirits,"

Stabbing victims flee 'loon'

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

The man who was arrested for stabbing both Gov. Mike Hayden's brother, Paul, and a friend, was recently released from a Florida prison after serving a sentence for disarming three policemen, said Paul Hayden's roommate.

Hayden, senior in agricultural mechanization, and Rick Vrbas, in the arm before the police.

19, was arraigned nts of aggravated et at $100,000. He Riley County Jail, omore in pre-law oommate, said l of his uncle and ouse at 1855 Platt o seemed normal nk. aking "profusely" rbas said. He said ting pretty wild" at the television Gene Scott, a st.

was sleeping on n floor and they bedroom door w Denizio was a one to sleep in his all.

10 a.m. Friday, Hayden's door and ed to talk to him. nt out in the hall him in the left id.

ed and ran back in asked Vrbas for n to Hayden's arm eeding and went in hospital.

hat Rocco was gor person," he said. Vrbas on the back e said.

as ran back in the den broke open the jed.

oke up when he cream and tried to attention while the fe said he did not would stab him friend of Ray's un-

ed Denizio what he Denizio said, "You tab you?"

CABBING, Page 12

be in directing, coor- iving military aid to the Contra support trouble, Rodriguez directly to the vice was in August 1986, z was concerned tacy of the Contra Rodriguez turned to ig, who set up a IIA, State Depart- and White House of- ng those concerns. as in October 1986, pply plane was shot gua and American is captured by the riguez twice called it, Samuel Watson. According to Bush's Watson then advi- use situation room allowing established ie Washington Post plicitly ordered tell Gregg about the

See BUSH, Page 14

THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1987

	KSNT	WIBW	KTCA	KSHB	KTWU	WGN	WTBS	HBO	SHOW	MAX	ESPN
7:00	Today	CBS AM News Morning	Good Morning America	My Little Pony Tom And Jerry	Special Mister Rogers	Bozo	Jeannie Bewitched	Movie: "Hog Wild"	Movie: "Family"	Movie Cont'd "Pee-wee's"	Business SportsCenter
8:00	"	Program	"	Bugs Bunny Brady Bunch	Sesame Street	Heathcliff	Down To Earth I Love Lucy	Movie: "Eddie And The Cruisers"	Movie: "Business"	Big Adventure	Auto Racing NASCAR
9:00	Hour Magazine	Pyramid Card Sharks	Ask Dr. Ruth $1 Mil. Chance	Webster Day At A Time	Sesame Street	Lou Grant	Movie: "Mr. Lucky"	"Eddie And The Cruisers"	Movie: "Heaven With A Gun"	Movie: "American Flyers"	Winston 500
10:00	Jeopardy! Scrabble	Price Is Right	Fame Fortune Webster	Mary Tyler Moore	Body Electric Hatha Yoga	Hillbillies Odd Couple	"	Desert Fox	"A Gun"	Flyers	Soccer SportsLook
11:00	Password Wheel Fortune	Young And The Restless	Ryan's Hope Loving	Green Acres Bewitched	Write Course Tornado	H's Heroes Twilight Zone	Perry Mason	Movie: "Your Place Or Mine"	Movie: "Murder In Space"	Movie: "My Other Husband"	Aerobics Getting Fit
12:00	News Days Of Our	Midday Bold & B'ful	All My Children	Dick Van Dyke Hillbillies	Sesame Street	News	Movie: "Sol Madrid"	Or Mine	Space	Movie: "Husband"	Stanley Cup Playoffs
1:00	Lives Another World	As The World Turns	One Life To Live	For Daddy My 3 Sons	Anna Karenina	Dick Van Dyke Andy Griffith	Movie: "Heidi"	Movie: "Table For Five"	Movie: "Act Of Violence"	Movie: "Wales Conference"	Championship Game Two
2:00	Santa Barbara	Guiding Light	General Hospital	Munsters Zoobles Zoo	War And Peace	Beaver Bugs Bunny	Tom & Jerry And Friends	Survival	"	"Violence"	Wrestling
3:00	Oprah Winfrey	Donahue	Ghostbusters Dennis	Scooby Doo Smurfs	We're Cooking Aerobics	Ghostbusters Smurfs	Will Rogers	Movie: "Young David Movie"	Movie: "Short"	Movie: "Fishin' Hole"	Wrestling
4:00	Facts Of Life	Magnum, P.I.	ThunderCats G.I. Joe	Flintstones Jetsons	Square 1 TV 3-2-1 Contact	G.I. Joe Transformers	Gilligan Beaver	Movie: "Manny's Orphans"	Circuit	"	Fishin' Hole
5:00	3's Company	News CBS News	People's Court ABC News	Facts Of Life Gimme Break	Sesame Street	Facts Of Life WKRP	Hillbillies Andy Griffith	"My Science Project"	Umbrella Jack "Animals Are"	Movie: "Once Bitten"	SportsCenter SpeedWeek
6:00	News Wheel Fortune	News Newlyweds	Buddies M*A*S*H	WKRP Barney Miller	MacNeil / Lehrer	Barney Miller Jeffersons	Sanford Honeymooners	Movie: "Beautiful People"	"Pee-wee's"	"Pee-wee's"	SportsCenter SpeedWeek
7:00	Cosby Show Family Ties	Scarecrow And Mrs. King	Our World	Barnaby Jones	Fall Of Eagles	Movie: "Kelly's News"	Movie: "Destry Rides Again"	Movie: "Eddie And The Cruisers"	Movie: "Murder In Space"	Movie: "American Flyers"	Top Rank Boxing
8:00	Cheers Not Common	Simon & Simon	Jack And Mike	Movie: "Loser"	Mystery!	Heroes	News	Movie: "Band Of The Hand"	Movie: "Flyers"	Movie: "Terrance Alli vs. Rodney Moore"	Top Rank Boxing
9:00	L.A. Law	Knots Landing	20 / 20	"	Harry Truman S. Previews	Baseball	NBA Basketball	Hand	Movie: "Table For Five"	Movie: "Short"	Moore SportsCenter
10:00	News Tonight Show	News Dating Game	News M*A*S*H	Late Show	Wild America Business Rpt.	Chicago Cubs at San	Playoffs Conference	The Hitchhiker Movie	Five	Movie: "Circuit"	SportsCenter NFL Stars
11:00	David	Adderly	Benson Children	Benny Hill Hitchcock	MacNeil / Lehrer	Francisco Giants	Semifinal "Tell Them"	"Final Justice"	Movie: "Family Business"	Movie: "The Quiet Earth"	Australian Football
12:00	Letterman Gene Scott	"Three For The Road"	700 Club	Movie: "S.P.Y.S."	Kung Fu	"	Willie Boy Is Here"	Sam Kinison	Business Movie	"The Quiet Earth"	Australian Football

Friday, May 1, 1987 7

Project

Continued from Page 6

statement about animal cruelty, but it's top-heavy with its message. Even the mega-budgeted "Star Trek IV," with its stellar cast and time traveling plot, said more about the animal issue with its attention to a couple of whales.

The film is crammed with tight close-ups of chimp faces, incessant, irritating flute music and a hokey situation which never comes together. Even the title is generic considering when it's revealed, the secret of Project X isn't such a big surprise. Faulty alarm systems and armed M.P.'s running away from chimps make the entire film come off like a bad Disney episode.

Kids will love it, but if you care anything about animals, you'll feel cheated and manipulated. The film works too hard to elicit emotion, then provides no viable outlet in this lukewarm story with its corny Saturday morning pat ending.

As an animal flick, which at best makes you cry, "Project X" is a one trick pony that should be shot.

All shows starting before 6 p.m.—all seats $2.50
Movie info. 539-1291
Tuesday is bargain night!

CAMPUS

EXTREME PREJUDICE
DAILY AT 7 AND 9
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 3 AND 5
RATED R

WESTLOOP

WANTED DEAD OR ALIVE
DAILY AT 4:30-7-9:30
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2
RATED R

ARISTOCATS
DAILY AT 4:40-7:10-9:20
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:10
RATED G

LETHAL WEAPON
DAILY AT 4:30-7-9:30
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2
RATED R

RAISING ARIZONA
DAILY AT 4:45-7:20-9:25
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:20
RATED PG-13

NIGHTMARE AT SHADOW WOODS
DAILY AT 4:45-7:20-9:25
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:20
RATED R

THE ALLNIGHTER
DAILY AT 4:40-7:10-9:20
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:10
RATED PG-13

Litchfield Theatres

MOVIE INFO 775-9886
Bargain Matinees every Sat./Sun.
All Movies Starting Before 6 p.m.
Adults Only $2.50

SETH CHILDS CINEMAS
Seth Childs At Farm Bureau Rd.

BURT REYNOLDS MALONE
DAILY 7:15, 9:20-SAT./SUN. 2:45, 4:50
R

MICHAEL J. FOX THE SECRET OF MY SUCCESS
DAILY 7, 9:25-SAT. 2, 4:30
PG-13

PLATOON
TOM BERENGER
CHARLIE SHEEN
DAILY 7:10 ONLY
SAT./SUN. 2:10, 7:10
R

EVIL DEAD 2
DAILY 7:25, 9:35-SAT./SUN. 2:50, 5

DEAD BY DAWN
Starring Bruce Campbell

KIM BASINGER BRUCE WILLIS Blind Date
DAILY 7:25, 9:30
SAT./SUN. 2:15, 4:30
PG-13

MATTHEW BRODERICK PROJECT X
DAILY 7:10, 9:35
SAT./SUN. 2:15, 4:35
PG

MY DEMON LOVER
Falling in Love can be very scary (PG-13)
DAILY 9:40 ONLY
SAT./SUN. 4:50, 9:40

WARNING: THIS FILM CONTAINS SCENES WHICH MAY BE TOO INTENSE FOR PERSONS UNDER THE AGE OF SEVENTEEN

Quality Is Our Promise

Ju fo

By

A j Manha damag suit fil came t The Kimbe Winfie Hungu 1982 in used i broke tooth. In a the fil pushed jawbot Testi Riley Judge over t jury. Jack ford b

Inside

Just Ducky

Brett Houdyshell has found his niche in carving wooden ducks. See Page 7.

Weather

Cloudy

Cloudy and cooler today with a 60 percent chance for showers and thunderstorms, high 65 to 70.

Sport

Varsity Wins

The K-State varsity squad downs the alumni, 21-0, in the annual spring contest. See Page 8.

Kansas State

Collegian

Monday
May 4, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 148

Cancer victim leads walkers

March raises funding for cancer research aid

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

Still recovering from a heart attack suffered three weeks ago, terminal cancer victim Don Marrs proved determination and inspiration can prove any physical ailment for a cause. Marrs, postmaster, staff member, and condorman for cancer, though rain half spirits, participants from the Hall to d

'It rained a mile but any spi

The way the "Don Award," given to a biology, established Cancer I postmaster Marrs, from his Ohio, to thon. Will greeted ol tances wi and a strc "I think these pos (and for t said.

Marrs v linois to draw after research. lymphocy the lymph Now, pos solic money for Most o ticipants van along led the wa The po Lawrence Postmast where Ma today.

They were driven one mile outside of the Holiday Inn and Holidome in Lawrence to walk with around 75 Kansas postmasters, letter carriers and others.

"It rained and hailed the last mile but it didn't dampen any spirits."

Stabbing victims flee 'loon'

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

The man who was arrested for stabbing both Gov. Mike Hayden's brother, Paul, and a friend, was recently released from a Florida prison after serving a sentence for disarming three policemen, said Paul Hayden's roommate.

Hayden, senior in agricultural and Rick Vrbas, ss administration, d in the arm before ing the police.

49, was arraigned nts of aggravated I set at $100,000. He e Riley County Jail. homore in pre-law roommate, said id of his uncle and house at 1855 Platt izio seemed normal "unk. "brinking "profusely" Vrbas said. He said getting pretty wild" ng at the television lg Gene Scott, a elist.

e was sleeping on om floor and they ne bedroom door ne Denizio was a gone to sleep in his hall.

3:30 a.m. Friday. i Hayden's door and ted to talk to him. ent out in the hall him in the left aid.

ed and ran back in asked Vrbas for n to Hayden's arm eeding and went in ' hospital.

hat Rocco was gor person," he said. Vrbas on the back ie said.

as ran back in the den broke open the ed.

oke up when he ream and tried to tention while the e said he did not would stab him riend of Ray's uned Denizio what he enizio said, "You ab you?"

ABBING, Page 12

be

directing, coor- ing military aid to

he Contra support ouble, Rodriguez directly to the vice as in August 1986, was concerned cy of the Contra odriguez turned to who set up a A, State Depart- d White House of- g those concerns. in October 1986, ily plane was shot a and American captured by the guez twice called Samuel Watson, ording to Bush's atson then advise- se situation room owing established

Washington Post licitly ordered l Gregg about the

e BUSH, Page 14

All Videos 99¢ Every Day

All videos are only 99¢ every day of the week!

Coming in May!
Color of Money Children of a Lesser God Streets of Gold
Fire Walker Heartbreak Ridge Jumping Jack Flash
Mona Lisa

Over 1500 Titles—All at 99¢

Now open 10-8 Mon.-Thurs., 10-9 Fri.-Sat., 12-5 Sun.

1122 Laramie St.
next to Godfather's Pizza
in Aggieville
539-8786

CROSSROADS

Don't Miss

Ralph Macchio
Joe Seneca
He was born to play the blues. But first, he'll have to live them.

Cinemax
ENTERTAINMENT TO THE MAX
Manhattan Cable TV
610 Humboldt
776-9239

SOOTHING SMOOTHING MASSAGE

Give yourself or someone you love a gift of total relaxation. Relieve stress and increase blood flow to muscles without lifting a finger. It feels good and its great for you. Call now for your appointment and take advantage of our May Special. Save over 30% off of current rates.

1/2 hour—$10
1 hour—$20

776-1654

Nautilus Total Fitness Club

1100 MORO
AGGIEVILLE
MANHATTAN

Community Health Care

Think of

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Working together for a healthier you

SUNSET AVENUE AT CLAFLIN ROAD, MANHATTAN, KS

- Out-patient services
- Surgery
- Day/Stay Surgery
- Laser Surgery
- Intensive Care
- Obstetrics
- Level II Intensive Care nursery
- Birthing room, Birthing chair
- Rooming-in
- Pediatrics
- X-ray services
- Mammography
- Nuclear medicine
- C.T. scanning
- Respiratory Therapy
- Physical Therapy
- Durable Medical Equipment Center

EMERGENCY CARE CENTER

913-776-3300
Full Physician Coverage
Weekends and Holidays

the new
DB92

If you would like to be a vacation volunteer for the summer, there will be a meeting Monday, May 4th at 7 p.m.

McCain 325

CRABTREE & EVELYN

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggieville • 539-7654
Mon.-Thurs. 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m. • Fri.-Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Sun. Noon-5 p.m.

Jun
for

By

A ju Manhatt damages suit files came to
The Kimberly
Winfield
Hungerf
1982 inci
used in broke of tooth.
In an
the file, pushed i jawbone.
Testim
Riley C
Judge P over the jury.
Jackso
ford had

Just Ducky

Brett Houdyshell has found his niche in carving wooden ducks. See Page 7.

Cloudy

Cloudy and cooler today with a 60 percent chance for showers and thunderstorms, high 65 to 70.

Varsity Wins

The K-State varsity squad downs the alumni, 21-0, in the annual spring contest. See Page 8.

Kansas
State

Collegian

Monday

May 4, 1987

Kansas State University

Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 93, Number 148

Cancer victim leads walkers

March raises funding for cancer research aid

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

Still recovering from a heart attack suffered three weeks ago, terminal cancer victim Don Marrs proved determination and inspiration can provide the strength to battle any physical ailment when working for a cause.

Marrs led about 50 Kansas postmasters, biology department staff members and others in the second annual Don Marrs Walk-A-Thon for cancer research Saturday.

Though they were caught in the rain halfway through their course, spirits were not dampened as participants walked about two miles from the back parking lot of Durland Hall to downtown Manhattan.

'It rained and hailed the last mile but it didn't dampen any spirits.'

— Dave McBride

The walk-a-thon raised money for the "Donald Marrs Cancer Research Award," a $500 annual scholarship given to a K-State undergraduate in biology. The scholarship was established at the Center for Basic Cancer Research by the Kansas postmasters in 1983.

Marrs, a postal worker, traveled from his hometown of Cincinnati, Ohio, to participate in the walk-a-thon. When he arrived, Marrs greeted old friends and new acquaintances with a heartwarming smile and a strong bear hug.

"I think the great thing is what all these postmasters are doing for me (and for the cancer center)," Marrs said.

Marrs walked 2,200 miles from Illinois to San Francisco in 1981 to draw attention to the need for cancer research. Marrs was diagnosed with lymphocytic lymphoma, cancer of the lymph system, in 1980.

Now, postmasters throughout Kansas solicit pledges and walk to raise money for cancer research.

Most of the walk-a-thon participants expected him to ride in a van alongside the walkers, but Marrs led the way.

The postmasters then went to Lawrence for the Kansas Postmasters State Convention, where Marrs is scheduled to speak today.

They were driven one mile outside of the Holiday Inn and Holidome in Lawrence to walk with around 75 Kansas postmasters, letter carriers and others.

"It rained and hailed the last mile but it didn't dampen any spirits," said Dave McBride, Ottawa postmaster, and one of four responsible for starting the scholarship.

McBride said he and others tried to persuade Marrs not to walk in Lawrence because he was experiencing intense pain after the walk in Manhattan, but Marrs insisted upon leading the group.

"This weekend means so much to him," McBride said Sunday. "He wouldn't have it any other way."

Cancer has spread through Marrs's body, and he has been taken off chemotherapy treatments because they are no longer effective. He suffered the heart attack while undergoing treatment with interleukin 2, an experimental cancer drug.

Though no one walked the entire distance from Manhattan to Lawrence, about 85 miles, the route on U.S. Highway 24 was covered Saturday by postmasters in surrounding areas, said Mike Schaeffer, walk-a-thon chairman and Atchison postmaster.

Postmasters from other areas in Kansas walked in their hometowns and covered around 1000 miles, McBride said. He said an estimated $5,000 was raised.

Half of the money raised this year will go to the Marrs family to help them with finances that have been depleted by medical expenses, McBride said. Marrs has used all of his medical and sick-leave pay.

Catherine Mulzen, Belvue postmaster, said she collected about $150 in walking 16½ miles.

She said she admired Marrs, whom she met at a postmasters' convention.

"He's a terrific person to be so sick and then to come back here and walk after he's been through so much," she said.

Sandi Compton, Palco postmaster, said she did not participate last year, but after hearing about the event from other postmasters, decided to walk Saturday.

"Last year everyone was so elated after doing it," she said.

See WALK, Page 12

Staff/Rob Squires

Terminal cancer victim Don Marrs leads about 50 Kansas postmasters, biology department staff members and others Saturday in the second annual Don Marrs Walk-A-Thon for cancer research.

Stabbing victims flee 'loon'

By JUDY GOLDBERG
Staff Writer

The man who was arrested for stabbing both Gov. Mike Hayden's brother, Paul, and a friend, was recently released from a Florida prison after serving a sentence for disarming three policemen, said Paul Hayden's roommate.

Hayden, senior in agricultural mechanization, and Rick Vrbas, senior in business administration, were both stabbed in the arm before escaping and calling the police.

Rocco Denizio, 49, was arraigned Friday on two counts of aggravated battery with bond set at $100,000. He is being held in the Riley County Jail.

Loren Ray, sophomore in pre-law and Hayden's roommate, said Denizio is a friend of his uncle and had come to the house at 1855 Platt St. last Sunday.

Ray said Denizio seemed normal unless he was drunk.

Denizio was drinking "profusely" Thursday night, Vrbas said. He said Denizio "was getting pretty wild" and was yelling at the television while watching Gene Scott, a television evangelist.

Vrbas said he was sleeping on Hayden's bedroom floor and they had locked the bedroom door because they knew Denizio was a "loon." Ray had gone to sleep in his room across the hall.

At around 3:30 a.m. Friday, Denizio kicked in Hayden's door and told him he wanted to talk to him. When Hayden went out in the hall Denizio stabbed him in the left forearm, Vrbas said.

Hayden screamed and ran back in the bedroom and asked Vrbas for help. Vrbas held on to Hayden's arm to help stop the bleeding and went in the hall to call the hospital.

"I didn't think that Rocco was going to stab another person," he said. Denizio slashed Vrbas on the back of his left tricep, he said.

Hayden and Vrbas ran back in the bedroom and Hayden broke open the window and escaped.

Ray said he woke up when he heard Hayden's scream and tried to divert Denizio's attention while the others escaped. He said he did not believe Denizio would stab him because he was a friend of Ray's uncle.

Ray said he asked Denizio what he was doing, and Denizio said, "You think I'm gonna stab you?"

See STABBING, Page 12

Jury awards $75,000 for malpractice suit

By JUDY LUNDSTROM
Staff Writer

A jury awarded a former Manhattan resident $75,000 in damages Friday as a malpractice suit filed against a local dentist came to an end.

The lawsuit was filed by Kimberly Jackson, 24, now of Winfield, against Dr. Mark Hungerford. It stemmed from a 1982 incident in which part of a file used in performing a root canal broke off deep inside Jackson's tooth.

In an attempt later to retrieve the file, Hungerford accidentally pushed it further into Jackson's jawbone.

Testimony began April 27 in Riley County District Court. Judge Paul E. Miller presided over the 10-man, three-woman jury.

Jackson testified that Hungerford had never informed her of the incident until May 29, 1985, after she had made repeated visits to his office complaining of a continual pain in her mouth.

After performing two additional root canals, Hungerford said he decided the pain may have been caused by the file. In May 1985, he referred Jackson to experts at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln.

Jackson underwent surgery for removal of the file fragment July 7, 1985, at the University Hospital Medical Center, Omaha.

Several medical experts testified at the trial, including Dr. Harold Tu, the oral surgeon who performed the surgery.

Surgery showed the file fragment had partially severed a nerve in Jackson's jaw, Tu said. Jackson testified that the right side of her face is paralyzed and that the severing of the nerve

See DENTIST, Page 14

Bush's record focus of probe

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Iran-Contra investigators are looking into Vice President George Bush's connections to the supply of weapons to the Nicaraguan Contras, including a record of involvement from start to finish by a former CIA agent who is a top aide to the vice president.

Reporting to Congress on the progress of his investigation, independent counsel Lawrence Walsh specifically listed the office of the vice president as among the objects of his ongoing criminal investigation. He said those inquiries were "proving fruitful," and none has been abandoned.

While there have been questions about the vice president's role since last winter, only recently has the focus sharpened on Bush and his aides. The Tower commission's report released in February made scant mention of Bush's role despite signs of involvement in the affair by him and his staff. But the Tower panel interviewed only Bush and none of his staff.

Wary that Bush's 1988 presidential chances could be wrecked on the shoals of the Iran-Contra affair, the vice president's political advisers insist they do not have a problem as congressional hearings open Tuesday.

But Donald Gregg, the CIA agent who is Bush's national security adviser, as well as two of his own aides, bring the investigative trial into the office of the vice president. Investigators have talked to former White House staffers about Gregg's activities.

In addition, Bush, himself a former CIA director, has had meetings with key figures in both the arms sales to Iran and the private aid network for supplying the Contras.

Moreover, Bush attended the daily intelligence briefings for President Reagan where a number of key decisions in the case were made, including the one at which the Iran initiative was formally approved.

"The office is being looked at," a source familiar with the congressional investigation said Thursday. "There are people being talked to."

Bush's campaign manager Lee Atwater said last week, "I do not see Don Gregg as a political liability for the vice president."

Gregg acknowledges that in December 1984 he recommended his friend from his days in Vietnam, Cuban-born former CIA agent Felix Rodriguez, as an on-the-scene adviser to the Salvadoran air force at Ilopango air base in El Salvador.

Gregg refused to be interviewed for this story. He has maintained there is evidence fired National Security Council aide Lt. Col. Oliver North recruited Rodriguez into the network providing support to the Contras and that he was unaware of that involvement.

This was in 1985, during the two-year period when Congress had made it illegal for the government to provide lethal support to the Contras trying to overthrow Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government.

Bush spokesman Steve Hart, in relaying Gregg's refusal to comment, pointed to a chronology of events issued by the vice president last December. In it, Gregg acknowledged he and his staff "maintained periodic communication with Felix Rodriguez but were never involved in directing, coordinating or approving military aid to the Contras."

But twice when the Contra support program ran into trouble, Rodriguez took the problem directly to the vice president's office.

The first time was in August 1986, when Rodriguez was concerned about the adequacy of the Contra supply program. Rodriguez turned to his friend Gregg, who set up a meeting with CIA, State Department, Pentagon and White House officials to pass along those concerns.

The second was in October 1986, when a Contra supply plane was shot down in Nicaragua and American Eugene Hasenfus captured by the Sandinistas. Rodriguez twice called Gregg's assistant, Samuel Watson, with the news. According to Bush's own chronology, Watson then advised the White House situation room and the NSC "following established practice."

Gregg told The Washington Post that North explicitly ordered Rodriguez not to tell Gregg about the

See BUSH, Page 14

Briefly

By The Associated Press

INTERNATIONAL

Pope beatifies priest for sermons

MUNICH, West Germany — Pope John Paul II on Sunday beatified a German priest who defiantly preached the gospel of peace to the Nazis, and the pontiff called for greater religious fervor to counter today's "de-Christianization."

"Where God and his laws are not respected, man's rights, too, will not be respected," the pope said. "This was clear from the conduct of the Nazi rulers."

A cheering crowd of more than 85,000 gathered in Munich's Olympic stadium Sunday morning for the beatification of the Rev. Rupert Mayer. Many wore traditional green Bavarian costumes with plumed hats.

On the stadium scoreboard, an electric outline of Mayer's face glowed through a soft rain.

The pope, wearing a gold robe and miter, said of Mayer: "As an incorruptible witness to the truth, he openly opposed the false prophets of those (Nazi) years, always prepared to fight for the gospel of peace."

"Equipped with the shield of a deep, unwavering faith, he braved in his famous sermons the sword of the spirit, the word of God," he said, blaming the "tactics of the devil" for the crimes of Nazi Germany.

Mayer, a German Jesuit, was jailed three times for his sermons against Nazism, and was sent to a concentration camp. He died in 1945, after World War II ended, while serving in a Munich parish. Beatification is a step toward possible sainthood.

Waite may be swapped for Iranian

LONDON — The archbishop of Canterbury's office said Sunday it cannot substantiate reports that Lebanese militiamen kidnapped an Iranian Embassy official in west Beirut to exchange him for missing church envoy Terry Waite.

Without citing its sources, the Beirut magazine Ash-Shiraa reported Thursday that "armed elements have kidnapped Mohammed Khatami, an employee of the Iranian Embassy in Beirut...offering to swap him for Waite."

Ash-Shiraa did not name the organization responsible, but strongly hinted at Druse leader Walid Jumblatt's Progressive Socialist Party, which was in charge of Waite's security before he disappeared Jan. 20 while on a mission to free foreign hostages held in Beirut.

The Iranian Embassy in west Beirut denied employing anyone named Mohammed Khatami.

Waite is the personal envoy of the Most Rev. Robert Runcie, archbishop of Canterbury and spiritual head of the Church of England.

S. African executive urges equality

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — The chairman of South Africa's most powerful corporation said Sunday that apartheid "has made fools of us all" and urged whites to vote this week for candidates committed to racial equality.

Gavin Relly, chairman of the Anglo American Corp. mining and banking conglomerate, said in a newspaper column that the governing National Party has turned away from reform and should be defeated in Wednesday's elections for the white chamber of Parliament.

"The privileged white electorate, in my view, should support as far as possible candidates who have the courage to move forward to a policy of putting all South Africans first, irrespective of race, color or creed," Relly wrote in the Sunday Times, the country's largest-selling newspaper.

Relly was among the leaders of a delegation of South African businessmen who traveled to Zambia in September 1986 for talks with officials of the outlawed African National Congress.

NATIONAL

Talk of tax hike worries officials

SANTA FE, N.M. — All the talk by congressional Democrats of the need for a tax increase to help reduce the federal budget deficit is making many party officials uneasy as they look ahead to the 1988 election.

"It's playing Russian roulette again," said Charles Whitehead, Florida Democratic Party chairman.

"It will absolutely kill us in the state of Florida," he added.

Whitehead is one of the party leaders who believes the Democrats paid a heavy price in 1984 when Walter F. Mondale told the nation as he accepted the presidential nomination that a tax increase would be needed to reduce the record budget deficits.

"The politics of saying you're going to raise taxes is bad, no question about it," said Donald Fowler of South Carolina, a member of the Democratic National Committee.

But, Fowler added, advocating new revenues when they are needed is "a matter of political leadership."

Many of the Democrats said the party is in the uncomfortable position of taking the lead in calling for new revenues to deal with the budget deficits run up during the Reagan presidency.

"We're advocating taxes to bail out eight years of Reagan," Whitehead complained.

REGIONAL

Betting bill awaits final approval

If Hayden signs the bill, pari-mutuel wagering could begin in September at Eureka Downs in Greenwood County, where horse racing has occurred for more than 100 years. Eureka Downs officials have said they already have decided what days to have racing if a license is granted.

The pari-mutuel bill is the last of three measures implementing constitutional amendments to pass the Legislature. Hayden already has signed lottery and liquor-by-the-drink legislation into law.

Lawmakers originally had predicted the pari-mutuel measure would win approval early in the veto session. A conference committee reached an agreement Wednesday, but the Senate rejected it Friday after two senators on the panel said they misunderstood the compromise.

The second conference committee's report was approved without debate in either chamber.

Mini-series wrong, reverend says

LANSING — The Rev. Thomas P. Bird, serving prison sentences for killing his wife and plotting to murder his lover's spouse, said a television mini-series airing this week about the case could destroy his chances for a fair retrial, according to a newspaper report.

In a copyright story published in Sunday's editions of the Kansas City Star, the Lutheran pastor from Emporia said his convictions were based solely on his romance with Lorna Anderson Eldridge and gossip in a small town.

The remarried Eldridge, who is serving a prison sentence for plotting to murder her husband, was charged Friday in the 1983 shooting death of her husband, Martin K. Anderson.

Bird, 36, has not spoken publicly about his case since his first trial in July 1984, but told the Star last week he was breaking his silence because of the airing of the movie, "Murder Ordained."

Although he had not seen the movie, Bird criticized its authenticity based on a copy of the first half of the script he said he had obtained. Mike Robe, a native Kansan and the writer and director of "Murder Ordained," said he stands by the accuracy of the production.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT in Holt Hall has many services available to students, including career counseling, letter, data sheet and resume preparation advisement, and others.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT: Students who will complete requirements for degrees in the spring or summer should report employment or other plans if firm, or solicit help in Holt Hall if seeking employment.

CONVERSATIONAL ENGLISH TUTORING PROGRAM offered by the International Student Center needs volunteer tutors for the summer. No experience is required. For more information call Karen at 532-6448.

STUDENTS AGAINST MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS applications for board of directors for 1987-88 school year are available in the SGA office.

TODAY

STUDENTS IN SOLIDARITY WITH CENTRAL AMERICA meets at 8:30 p.m. in Union 213.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATORS BIBLE STUDY meets at 7 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

THE EXCEPTIONAL THEATER COMPANY presents the play "Daniel Boone" at 4:30 p.m. in Blumont 217.

PI SIGMA EPSILON meets at 7 p.m. in Union 206.

TUESDAY

PARACHUTE CLUB meets at 7 p.m. in Union Big Eight Room.

THE EXCEPTIONAL THEATER COMPANY presents the play "Daniel Boone" at 9:30 a.m. in the Purple Masque Theatre.

Notices

The 1987 Royal Purple yearbooks will be distributed today through Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at tables between the Union and Seaton Hall. Students should present their student identification cards or spring semester fee cards when claiming yearbooks. After Wednesday, yearbooks can be picked up in Kedzie 103 during business hours.

Farrell Library hours have been extended for the rest of the spring semester. Today through Saturday the library will be open from 7:30 a.m. to midnight. Sunday hours will be 1 p.m. to midnight. From May 11 to May 13, hours will again be from 7:30 a.m. to midnight. On May 14, the library will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The Union Stateroom hours have been extended from 7:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. through May 12. The general building will be open until midnight.

Last day for Collegian publication will be Wednesday.

Looking for an apartment? Check Collegian Classifieds

All Videos 99¢ Every Day

All videos are only 99¢ every day of the week!

Coming in May!

Color of Money Heartbreak Ridge
Fire Walker Streets of Gold
Mona Lisa Jumping Jack Flash
Children of a Lesser God

Over 1500 Titles—All at 99¢

Now open 10-8 Mon.-Thurs., 10-9 Fri.-Sat., 12-5 Sun.

1122 Laramie St.
next to Godfather's Pizza in Aggieville
539-8786

Wichita Family Planning Inc.

Absolutely Confidential Abortion Services

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate appointments, days, weekends, and evening hours.

3013 E. Central Wichita, KS., 67214 (316) 688-0107

Open 7 days a week
Free Delivery
HUNAM Restaurant
1116 Moro 537-0886
1304 Westloop 539-8888
Call 539-8888 or 537-0886
(10% off with KSU ID)

IMPRESSIONS
Hair care center
What makes some men so confident?
The perfect cut. Let us help you find it.
Free consultation for body wave and highlights.
Tanning available
LOWER LEVEL 411 POYNTZ 537-1332
M-F 9-5
Th 9-8
Sat. 8-5

BUSHWALKERS
THE HUNTRICKER
COMEDY INVASION
Tonight at 9
Kodak
along with Brian Burgess
IT'S A CRACK UP
531 N. Manhattan

Auntie Mae's Parlor
AGGIEVILLE
Monday HIGH ROLLERS
Any Call or Premium Drink only
$1.75
616 N. 12th 539-9967

PREGNANT?
Abortion is not the only solution!
WE OFFER
•Free Residential Care •Educational Opportunities
•Free Medical Expenses •You Choose Your Adoptive Family
The L.I.G.H.T. House
Kansas City, Missouri
Call—Ask for Hope
816-361-2233

MONDAY BURGER BATTLE
- 25¢ Bar Burgers
- $1.40 1/2 Dozen
- $2.70 Dozen
5:00pm - 10:00pm
rip & mo's
aggievilles rock-n-roll bar

THE EXAM-CRAM Runza Care Package
Take a study break...take your favorite mate...and take off to Runza for food that's great!
You Get:
• 2 freshly ground, quarter-pound hamburgers
• 2 tasty-great, home-baked Mini Runza sandwiches
• 1 order of homemade onion rings
• 1 order of golden french fries
• 2 large soft drinks
$3.99
All for just...
You save...$2.66
Come on and get a taste
Coupon Expires May 10, 1987
One coupon per customer per visit
Not valid with any other offer.
10:30 a.m.-10 p.m.
1101 Moro, Manhattan
KSU
RUNZA DRIVE INN RESTAURANT

Piñata
Restaurante
Monday Night Special
Buy any of our 6 Dinner Combinations, & get a Medium Soft Drink, FREE!
(Offer good Mon., May 4, from 5 til close)
1219 Blumont 539-3166 Open Daily at 11 a.m.

NOT A STUDENT THIS SUMMER BUT NEED HEALTH CARE?
You can be eligible for services.
SUMMER HEALTH CARE SERVICES
*24 Hours
*7 days a week
*All Summer
Register at Lafene Health Center
May 1-June 5
*if you are a current KSU student
or
*pre-enrolled for fall
Cost $15
LAFENE STUDENT HEALTH
532-6544

GOOD LUCK ON FINALS!
Come to Scrumptillyishusland
for all your favorite
Dairy Queen Treats!
Dairy Queen
brazier.
1015 N. 3rd Manhattan
12th & Moro Aggieville
*Reg. U.S. Pat. Off. Am. D. Q. Corp.
© 1973 Am. D. Q. Corp.

Argentine evangelist advises on returning to Christianity

By PAT HUND
Campus Editor

While many other countries in the world are undergoing a revival in Christianity, people in the United States still need to be spiritually renewed, said Argentine evangelist Luis Palau Friday night to a near-capacity crowd in McCain Auditorium.

"We need to see a spiritual renewal in the heart of America," he said. "Going to church doesn't make you a Christian, but most Christians do go to church."

An evangelist for 25 years, Palau continued his Christian revival meeting Saturday night at the Manhattan First Presbyterian Church, 801 Leavenworth St.

Palau said the embarrassing actions of evangelists — especially Jim Bakker — that have been reported in newspapers are "what is going on in many bedrooms."

"We must be filled with the Holy Spirit," he said. "The flesh stinks before God."

Palau stressed the importance of living in holiness without sin.

"If you think sin is fun, you should try holiness," Palau said.

"Let us be shaken by the Holy Spirit and be ready to reach with the Lord's word to those who are lost," he said.

Palau outlined steps Christians need to pursue to be filled with the spirit of God.

First, he said Christians need to triumph over the appeals of the world and the temptations of the flesh.

"That is what destroyed Jim Bakker," he said.

The next step in attaining a Christian life is holiness.

"Holiness doesn't mean you are perfect, it means you're walking in the light with God," Palau said.

By repenting their sins, people can create a transparency in their souls, and then they will have nothing to hide, he said.

"It's fabulous to live a life where you're not hiding anything," Palau said. "We all have little skeletons in the closet, but we need to bring them out."

The third step for living a fully Christian life is to be filled with God through the Holy Spirit, he said.

"If we can be victorious in Christ, we can live a holy life filled with God itself," Palau said.

Palau said one underlying reason prevents people from living a holy life through these three steps.

"There is only one reason you can't do this: Sin," he said. "It is an ugly cancer that needs to be removed. There can be no revival (in Christianity) until we deal with the cancer."

"No one can kill the joy in your life but sin."

Not only does sin prevent people from enjoying a life with God, it also makes people ego-centered — bitter, angry and resentful of how they live, Palau said.

People in the United States are obsessed with their own "self" through self-fulfillment, selfishness and self-esteem, he said.

The Bible, however, calls for self-denial, Palau said.

"The only place for 'self' is on the cross with Christ," he said.

He will return in October for the five-day "Heart of America Crusade with Luis Palau" scheduled to take place in Ahearn Field House.

While Palau said that this weekend he spoke mostly to Christians who need a spiritual renewal in their lives, his return trip will be aimed at people who are not Christians.

Staff/Rob Squires

Argentine evangelist Luis Palau speaks to a near-capacity crowd Saturday at the Manhattan First Presbyterian Church. Palau, an internationally recognized religious leader who has spoken in more than 40 countries, called for a revival of Christianity in the United States.

Weber receives lab funding

By The Collegian Staff

A Hutchinson-based meat-packing plant, has donated $10,000 for new classroom and lab equipment for use in Weber Hall.

Doskocil Companies Inc., gave the money to the KSU Foundation, designating it as a Livestock and Meat Industry Council account for the purchase of movable equipment for new classrooms and labs in Weber.

The $7.2 million in state allocations for Weber's renovation and addition covers building construction but does not cover any equipment replacement costs.

The Department of Animal Sciences and Industry needs about $500,000 to purchase equipment for use in the building and will rely on donations for this money, said Melvin Hunt, professor of animal sciences and industry.

"(Doskocil's) intention was that their donation would be applied to a piece, or pieces, of equipment that would help make the meat labs more state of the art," Hunt said.

The animal sciences and industry faculty and Doskocil Companies Inc. have had a good working relationship through mutually beneficial research efforts, he said.

"Their donation was made partly because they want to be supporters of the meat industry in the state of Kansas," he said. When completed, the laboratories will be capable of all functions of a modern meat-processing facility.

The company has hired graduates from many different curricula on campus for all phases of the operation, he said.

Authorities believe explosion at lake home killed 2 snipers

By The Associated Press

WOLF CREEK, Mont. — Two bodies authorities believe are those of fugitives sought for nearly a week after an ambush on police were removed Sunday from the burned-out rubble of a summer home, the county coroner said.

The bodies were taken for identification to the morgue at Columbus Hospital in Great Falls. Lewis and Clark County Coroner M.E. Nelson, reached at the morgue, said "There were only two bodies at the site."

Authorities said three people fired on them April 27, two men and a woman. Asked if the burned bodies were men, Nelson replied, "I'm not that far yet."

Nelson said earlier that it could be days or weeks before positive identifications are made, but law enforcement officials said they believe the people who died were the snipers sought since a four-hour gun battle with sheriff's deputies on April 27.

Lewis and Clark County Sheriff Chuck O'Reilly said a limited search would continue, "as a precautionary measure," in case one of the fugitives remained at large.

Lingering heat prevented searches from inspecting the rubble closely on Saturday, but the sheriff said he saw at least two automatic weapons in the debris of the mobile home near Holter Lake.

An FBI forensics team from Washington, D.C., was at the site Sunday, O'Reilly said, and would "grid" the site, subdividing it into squares to begin the painstaking process of collecting evidence.

Many of the more than 100 county, state and federal officers involved in the search were leaving Sunday, said Lee Mongeon, owner of the Holter Lake Lodge, which served as the command post for the manhunt.

The police barricade blocking the only road into the area was removed at 3 p.m. Sunday, and sheriff's Capt. Bill Fleiner said only about 25 or 30 county, state and federal officers were still on duty.

Residents had been evacuated from the sparsely populated area Monday night.

"We are making checks through the area. We'll continue to do that until we feel that no longer needs to be done," Fleiner said.

Three heavily armed snipers — two men believed to be escaped murderers from California and an

as-yet-identified woman — ambushed O'Reilly and eight deputies last Monday from a ridge overlooking a campground on Holter Lake, a popular spot on the Missouri River between Helena and Great Falls.

They slipped away after the gunfight and were not seen again.

Then, on Saturday, an FBI special weapons team was fired on by automatic weapons while approaching a summer home along the lakeshore.

Officers surrounded the home and could see people inside. FBI negotiators telephoned from their command post. A man answered, and an FBI agent told him the house was surrounded and asked him to surrender.

The man's response was "give us a couple of minutes," said Toby Harding, the FBI agent-in-charge for Montana and Idaho.

Officers then heard an explosion and saw smoke from the house, then flames, followed by more gunshots, Harding said.

Looking for an apartment?
Check Collegian Classifieds

Falsetto's
PIZZA

1127 Moro • Aggieville
539-3830

FREE DELIVERY

Every Monday It's
2-fer-1's

Buy any Pizza and receive one of equal value FREE!

539-3830

SAVE $5.45

FREE VCR RENTAL

WHEN YOU RENT 2 MOVIES
SUN-THURS*
CALL AHEAD FOR RESERVATIONS

Offer expires 5/31/87
Void 5/24 & 5/25

1123 Westloop
537-0089

*Movies must be rented at the regular price. Cannot be combined with any other special offer or coupon. Offer not valid on rentals on the day before holidays. Movies and VCR (or MovieMate) must be returned by 4 PM on day following rental. VIP MovieCard or security deposit and ID may be required. Regulations and fees may vary at participating National Video stores only. Limited to stock on hand.

Request a largest chain of video stores, to call 800-547-1310 or (503) 284-2965. Total investment is $90,000 to $250,000. National video stores are independently owned and operated franchises of National Video, Inc., P.O. Box 18220, Portland, OR 97218. © 1986 National Video, Inc. All rights reserved. This advertisement is not an offering. An offering can only be made by a prospectus filed first with the Department of Law of the State of New York. Such filing does not constitute approval by the Department of Law.

Chiropractic
works!
It gets results and that's what counts!

Dr. Mark Hatesohl
Call 537-8305
3252 Kimball Ave
(in the Candlewood Center)

Subway
Sandwich Shop

We Deliver!
537-DELI

SUMMER
KICK-OFF
PARTY

with NAUTILUS and THE STATION

Thur. May 7th at The Station
Steak-Out from 6-8 p.m.

8oz. Rib-Eye
Potato Salad
Coleslaw
Bread

Aerobics Demonstration starting at 8:00 p.m.

Bathing Suit Style Show starting
at 8:30 p.m.

ALL FOR $3.00

Purchase your tickets at Nautilus or The Station by 11 pm May 5.

Nautilus®

The Station

1115 MORO • 776-0030

CONGRATULATIONS!

GRADUATES

You've Earned Your Degree and have an Exciting Career Ahead. Laird Noller Ford in Topeka would like to reward your efforts with a $400 CASH REBATE toward a
New Ford Car or Truck and Offer You a SPECIAL FINANCE PLAN through Ford Motor Credit.

For V.I.P. treatment and more information, please call or stop by Laird Noller Ford in Topeka. But Hurry, this program is available for a limited time.

Laird Noller
FORD • SAAB

P.O. BOX 946 • TOPEKA, KANSAS 66601 • 913-235-9211

21st to 23rd & Topeka
Topeka, Ks 235-9211

8 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon., Tues., Thurs.

8 a.m.-6 p.m. Wed., Fri.

9 a.m.-6 p.m. Sat.

BUD LIGHT

girl
Night Out

with America's Most Notorious Hunks
THE GANGSTERS
ALL MALE REVUE
Manhattan's Finest

ROCKY MOUNTAIN
BONKERS

MONDAY-TUESDAY- BONKERS -THURSDAY

$1.50 DRINKS—ALL DAY—ALL WEEK

1216 Laramie 537-9591

Wednesday
May 6, 7 p.m.

- Free Hors D'oeuvres served from 7 til 8
- Show starts at 8:00
- Guys admitted after 11:30
- Reserve seating available in our stage side pit area.
- $5 cover

Banning of Waldheim appropriate U.S. step

By barring Austrian President Kurt Waldheim from entering the country, the United States has finally taken a definitive plan of action against a world leader — and hopefully other Nazis — who aided in the killing of millions of Jews during World War II.

A U.S. report stated Waldheim was aware of his actions that led to the death of the Jews.

It is hoped this action will serve as a reminder to Nazis and others who condone human slaughters. The United States has taken the lead among world leaders in condemning such brutal and inhumane actions and ensuring that a tragedy of that magnitude will never occur again.

Yet, we should also hope the United States does not stop here in its battle against violators of human rights.

Inconsistencies do remain in the U.S. government's policy of what is inhumane and what isn't.

Under Augusto Pinochet, the government of Chile has been recognized by some as being the worst violator of human rights in the world.

The United States, however, continues to recognize and support Chile even though the country is well-known for its gross crimes against its own people.

Thousands of Chileans are tortured and slaughtered every year right under the nose of the U.S. government, but it chooses to ignore it.

While the United States has condemned Waldheim as an individual, strong relations should remain with Austria. Maybe our action will open the eyes of the Austrian people to the fact their leader has participated in some of the most heinous crimes of the 20th century.

In retaliation, however, the Austrian government has recalled Austrian Ambassador Thomas Klestil from Washington.

Austrians need to realize their mistake of voting Waldheim to the presidency, but they should not take retaliatory steps against the United States.

President Ronald Reagan was quoted by an Austrian official as saying the action was "in no way reflecting the adverse feelings to the Austrian people."

The people of Austria should not interpret the action directed by the U.S. government as being anti-Austrian sentiment, but they should re-evaluate the reasons why they chose Waldheim as president, and they must ensure he will not let mass killings happen again for any cause.

Contra rebel policies backfiring on Reagan

Last week, Benjamin Linder, a mechanical engineer from Portland, Ore., lost his life. The irony of this tragic event is that Linder died as a result of the Reagan administration's support of the Contra rebels in Nicaragua. America has in effect killed one of its own.

Linder, 27, was killed during a Contra attack in La Camaleona, a small village 85 miles Northeast of Managua. He was working on the construction of a small hydroelectric plant to bring electricity to this rural area for the first time.

Linder was one of thousands of foreign volunteers from the United States and Western Europe who provide technical and other assistance to Nicaragua.

The Contras have blamed the Sandinista government for Linder's death since it allowed him to enter an area of rebel activity. However, this flies in the face of the reality of the situation.

The Contras have stated repeatedly that foreign technicians helping the Sandinistas are considered targets for assassination. Blaming the Sandinistas is nothing more than a feeble attempt to disguise reality in order to ensure further funding from the U.S. Congress.

The name of Benjamin Linder has been added to the list of seven other foreign technicians who have been killed by the Contras in this six-year war. These were people just like Linder who sought to help the people of Nicaragua and were killed by weapons supplied by the Reagan administration.

Their only crime was their compassion.

It is time for Reagan to live up to his word and stop terrorism against Americans abroad. Only this time, he should start at home since his policies represent the aggressors and not the victims.

The Reagan administration is to blame for the death of Linder and the other seven technicians, as well as the deaths of 17,000 Nicaraguans killed in this war. Once again, the Contras have proved they deserve American prison terms and not American money.

I did it my way

Work proves to be enlightening

"Now the end is near / So I face the final curtain...." This is the last column of my life. To those of you who will miss your few chuckles on Monday morning, thank you very much. To those who won't, I really don't think you are wasting your time helping Mondale back on his feet.

I thought I would begin and end this column with lines from my favorite Chairman of the Board song, "My Way." For that is exactly what I did this semester.

When I began this job, I had every intention of trying to imitate George Will. I wrote a very serious column about Iran-Contra and nobody noticed. Out of pure frustration I decided to let you have what some have coined "Life According to Muir." And I haven't regretted it for a minute.

I would like to thank this paper for the practice of allowing us non-journalism majors the opportunity to write these columns. Along the way I found out this is not a common practice. It's a pity I didn't do it earlier because I might have switched majors. A scary thought for journalism and a dream for libel lawyers.

So what have I learned over the last semester? First of all, the University of Kansas doesn't have a sense of humor. After my meager effort to evaluate KU's worth, its student newspaper, The University Daily Kansan, responded with a hard news story. The story hinted that KU and K-State might still have a rivalry based upon such evidence as my column. I really want to know the Kansan's definition of "scoop." This kind of news could only fit its definition.

I also discovered Anderson Hall contains more arrogance than one episode of "Miami Vice." After you deal with the administration for awhile, you wonder whether it's true administrators are ex-teachers who couldn't teach. From purple trash cans to 3 percent surcharges, I'd call Ripley but even he wouldn't believe it.

The other awareness I developed is all the world really is a critic. All over this campus I had people let me know exactly how they felt about my columns. From administrators, teachers, to even a guy named Bubblehead, I've heard it all. This kind of input was really helpful during those weeks of hate mail.

The most surprising fact was more people prefer to let you know personally through the mail instead of through the newspaper. These letters were many times funnier and sometimes touching.

PATRICK
MUIR
Collegian
Columnist

To current and future Collegian columnists, I have a little advice: lighten up. The majority of this campus doesn't care what side of the Central American conflict you support. This kind of information is more than evident by seeing your backpack buttons. If we want that kind of information we can look it up from professional sources, not Last Chance groupies.

It is my hope that next semester someone will continue to notice what's going on around Manhattan while being lighthearted about it. With the cast of characters in this community it really is quite easy. You have the administration, the faculty, the Aggieville merchants and a cast of thousands that need to be checked on quite often. And for someone not involved in student government, plenty of material could be found from that body.

It is my belief the University is at a crossroads. The decisions made in the very near future have the potential to shape us permanently. Many people suggested to me while I was trying to be campus-oriented that students really don't care. It is my opinion they don't care because they are not well-informed.

If students can't make a difference, then who is responsible — for better or for worse — for that skeleton of a building out by the stadium? We are. Look at the major highlights of this University that were funded by us. Just a few examples are the Union and Nichols Hall. When you realize how much money all the students committed to these projects and the few students having input about them it's enough to scare anybody out of apathy.

But our impact can be greater than simply our combined funds. Education is a huge interest in this state. When you total all the students, faculty and their families, we have a huge influence on public policy. But we don't even attempt to use it. When tuition goes up, everybody whines after the fact. If people wrote letters or utilized our lobby group we would be taken more seriously in Topeka.

Other comparable groups such as farmers and the elderly have all been vocal. But what about the students? Are we waiting for another war to be taken seriously in the political arena? If we are, the education level in this country will be sacrificed beyond repair.

This kind of potential has been ignored for too long. It frustrates me that for three years I've witnessed student columnists tackle every foreseeable national and international topic or concern. They try to motivate us to make a difference. But if we are apathetic on the local level today, how will we change the world tomorrow?

My editor had a problem with me being too political about student issues. He thought my position as a student senator produced a conflict of interest. To future columnists without this conflict, let us know what is happening at the University. It does affect us all and if you motivate today on this level it will progress into those other arenas.

This kind of journalism has been characterized as the fourth branch of government. The press in this country has been so protected because such information was considered crucial by the founding fathers. If we are to make a difference on this level we must utilize it. But first we have to be made aware.

Well, that is the end of my sermon on our potential. I'm sure it's discounted since many of you think I'm preoccupied with trash cans and mobiles. But think about it for no other reason than your checkbook is involved.

I really am going to miss this opportunity each week. It has been great therapy and a lot of fun.

I would like to thank the University of Kansas and all you hate mailers for all your support and encouragement. I would honestly like to thank my parents for having me, Mike Riley for his input and President Jon Wefald for putting up with all my garbage this semester. But I don't feel too bad about hazing the University president since he can just throw it away in his custom-colored trashcans.

At this point I think I will let Frank Sinatra finish up for me:

"To think I did all that / And let me say, not in a shy way / More, much more than this, I did it my way."

Kansas State Collegian

EDITOR
Jonie Trued
MANAGING EDITOR
Sue Dawson
NEWS EDITOR
Erin Eicher
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
Deron Johnson
CAMPUS EDITORS
Susan Baird
Pat Hund
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR
Andy Nelson
BUS./AGR./GOV'T. EDITOR
Julie Reynolds
FEATURES EDITOR
Margaret May
SPORTS EDITOR
Tom Morris
ARTS/ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
Sarah Kessinger
COPY EDITORS
Laurie Fairburn
Valerie Johnson
Jim Schmidt
STAFF WRITERS
Jeff Bielzer
Chris Doll
Judy Goldberg
Becky Howard
Jennifer Lindsey
SPORTS WRITERS
Jennifer Chaulk
Chase Clark
Jeff Rapp
David Wagner
REVIEWERS
Andre Kelly
Gary Johnson

COLUMNISTS
Kirk Caraway
Ron Honig
Scott Miller
CARTOONIST
Richard Broadfoot
PHOTOGRAPHERS
Jim Dietz
Brad Fanshler
Brett Hacker
John LaBarge
Gary Lytle
Steve Rasmussen
Rob Squires
EDITORIAL BOARD
Susan Baird
Kirk Caraway
Sue Dawson
Jim Dwyer
Erin Eicher
Judy Goldberg
Ron Honig
Pat Hund
Deron Johnson
Sarah Kessinger
Judy Lundstrom
Margaret May
Scott Miller
Andy Nelson
Patti Paxson
Julie Reynolds
Chris Stewart
Teresa Temme
Jonie Trued
ADVERTISING MANAGER
Sheila Hutten
ASSISTANT ADVERTISING MANAGER
Todd Schultz
CAMPUS ACCOUNTS/TEARSHEET REP.
Jada Aillerheiligen
SALES REPRESENTATIVES
Kim Greenwood
Judy Haeffle
Mark Holly
Bill Sherbert
Greg Vogel
Jeff Weatherly
Steve Wolgast
ADV. GRAPHIC ARTISTS
Greg Crawford
Alex Menez

Letters

Porn controversy

Editor,
Re: Katherine W. Parker's letter "Porn untruths" in Wednesday's Collegian. Thank you so very much for saying what needed to be said in response to Jerry Anderson's guest column of April 16.

Everyone must agree that all violence against women, not just as it is portrayed in pornography, is WRONG, WRONG, WRONG. Just as there is no moral justification for pornography, there is no reason to censor all sexually explicit materials.

Thank you for presenting a balanced, healthy opinion on this very controversial topic. Your voice, I am sure, spoke for many besides myself. Thank you.

Mary Moreland
Office Assistant II
Department of Administration and Foundations of Education

'Tunneling' costs

Editor,
Approximately four months ago, two other fellows and I decided to go "tunneling," which is illegally entering the steam tunnels beneath K-State. We thought this would be a fun way to spend the evening, but we were wrong.

The night turned out to be a very bad experience. As we emerged from the tunnels, three policemen from the University caught us, pulled us from the tunnels, frisked and cuffed us, and took us to the Riley County Police Department and put us in jail on $300 bond. We were wet and muddy and were forced to call a bail bondsman to get us out.

Then we went to court and had to pay $88 in court costs and do 10 hours of public service as well as write this letter for criminally trespassing on University grounds. If you're thinking of going "tunneling," stop and think. It's not worth it and it's not fun in any way.

Barry Beck
sophomore in general

Confused priorities

Editor,
There seems to be a lot of talk these days about confused priorities, and once again the administration has screwed up. With all the problems the University has retaining qualified instructors, should we be dismissing one of the best?

Recently, a mechanical engineering instructor was not rehired due to financial cutbacks. This instructor, Jon Held, has contributed a great deal to the University and the College of Engineering. He was a major participant in the winning redesign of the NASA space glove.

This design brought national recognition and funding to the University. He is currently assisting three mechanical engineering students in another national design competition.

This year, as in years past, Held volunteered many hours of his time helping students with Open House projects, displays and floats.

Also, unlike many instructors, his priorities lie with instruction of the students rather than his own personal research. As students, we feel slighted that a competent instructor who is really interested in teaching will not be able to.

Held's popularity with students is indicated by the 150-plus signatures on a petition submitted to the dean of engineering requesting his retention and by his nomination for Engineering Instructor of the Year.

As mechanical engineering students, we feel that the College of Engineering is losing one of its best instructors. We hope those responsible for this decision really do have their priorities straight.

Sheryl Burton
senior in mechanical engineering
and 73 others

Director handles two choirs

By SANDRA M. SIEBERT
Collegian Reporter

The sound of the Wichita Symphony Orchestra and Chorus doesn't carry as far as Rod Walker, professor of music, travels to conduct it.

Every Thursday afternoon, for seven weeks before performance dates, Walker, symphony chorus master, drives from Manhattan to Wichita, arriving just one hour before rehearsal time of the Wichita Symphony Chorus.

Walker estimates that he spends 21-26 hours in rehearsal with the chorus for each of the two to three series of performances each year.

"It's a challenge to put the works together so quickly, in that amount of time. We work very hard and very fast," Walker said.

"It's an all-adult chorus (older than average college students).

Because of the maturity of the voices we're able to do things we can't do here (at K-State) sometimes," said Walker, who also conducts the K-State Concert Choir.

"It's a totally different environment in which to work (compared to K-State)," he said. "There's a very professional atmosphere, and I enjoy that."

He said that his work with the K-State choir is probably what brought him to the attention of the symphony. The University group had performed with the symphony from time to time, so his work was known to them.

"It's been a challenge to build the chorus and to build it from a distance," Walker said. "It's a very comfortable atmosphere to work in. The people in the chorus are very appreciative. There's a good spirit in the chorus now."

Sometimes the distance can present a problem. When the weather is bad, the drive to Wichita can be unpleasant, he said. But he said an assistant in Wichita can take over if he can't make it.

Walker must also conduct auditions when new voices are needed.

"When I was hired, part of my responsibility was to reorganize the chorus," Walker said. To begin the process he re-auditioned everyone in the chorus and selected the voices he felt would contribute the most to the chorus. Some of the people had to be let go, he said.

"From then on I started trying to add the kind of voices and people that I feel best contribute to a quality product," he said.

The chorus is made up of amateur singers. Most of them are from Wichita, but many come from other towns, Walker said. The singers are a very diverse group and "come from all walks of life," he said.

"It's very rewarding for me musically and personally to be associated with the orchestra," Walker said.

Walker is also one of the three members of the symphony's artistic staff, which determines the programming and repertoire of the orchestra and chorus. The other two members of the artistic staff are the orchestra conductor and the assistant conductor.

The orchestra is a semi-professional group. Most of the principle players are faculty at The Wichita State University. The symphony is not an affiliation of the university, but maintains a good relationship with it, Walker said.

Director applicants to speak at forums

By The Collegian Staff

Four candidates for the newly created position of director of the Fred Bramlage Coliseum will be visiting campus this week for tours and interviews with faculty, staff and students.

The first candidate, Mark A. North, will speak at an open forum from 11 a.m. to noon today in Union 213.

North is director of operations at the Lawlor Events Center at the University of Nevada, Reno. He has a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from Iowa State University, Ames, and is currently a graduate student in business administration at Nevada.

Charles E. Thomas Jr., the second candidate, will have an open meeting from 9:55 to 10:55 a.m. Tuesday in Union 213.

Thomas is associate director of Sun Dome Inc. at the University of South Florida, Tampa. He has a bachelor's degree in mass communications from the University of South Florida.

Wednesday, the third candidate, Charles R. Barber, will talk to the public from 2:45 to 3:45 p.m. in Union 206.

Barber is director of the public assembly facilities at The Cajundome in Lafayette, La. He received a bachelor's degree from California State University, Fresno, and a master's degree in education from the University of Toledo, Ohio.

The final candidate, George Riedel, will present an open discussion from 9:55 to 10:45 a.m. Thursday in Union 206.

Riedel is assistant director of the Hearn Multipurpose Building at the University of Missouri, Columbia. Riedel has a bachelor's degree in business administration and economics from Culver-Stockton College, Canton, Ohio.

The coliseum director will be responsible for achieving maximum utilization of the building; developing contacts with local, state and regional agencies and organizations to facilitate building usage; negotiating contracts with talent agencies and traveling shows; assisting campus organizations and the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics with their uses of the building; and preparing budgets, supervising spending and presenting financial reports.

Newsman visit jungle camps

By The Associated Press

ON THE RIO BOCAV, Nicaragua — Commandante Renato pulls off his jungle boots, strips to the waist and dives into the murky, green water of the Bocav River, splashing playfully with his guerrillas on a steaming tropical morning.

Later, as his men sprawl lazily in the shade of the jungle, the Nicaraguan rebel commander sits on a sandy river bank in wet fatigue pants and reads a Harold Robbins novel in Spanish.

"The Sandinistas cannot attack us here," the burly officer says confidently. "We control this territory."

A four-day visit to rebel camps along the Bocav last week by an Associated Press reporter and photographer and an American television crew seemed to bear out the commander's claim.

No fighting was seen or heard along a 10-mile stretch of the river, which has become a vital supply line for the Contras in the newest phase of their 5-year war to topple Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government.

The Bocav begins in the northern province of Jinotega and runs northeast about 50 miles to its confluence with the Coco River, on the Honduran border.

From that juncture, men and supplies move down the Bocav into north-central Nicaragua, which has recently been the scene of heavy fighting.

The offensive began in January, when new supplies of weapons, uniforms and other military gear began to arrive in abundance for the first time in two years, bought with the $100 million in aid approved by the U.S. Congress last September.

Two days before the American reporters began their trip, Gen. Humberto Ortega, the commander of the Sandinista army and brother of Nicaragua's president, announced

Contras see few fights

the start of a major offensive to reclaim the Bocav.

But if Sandinista troops were operating in the area, they were not seen. Rebel supply boats moved up and down the river with apparent impunity, and the banks of the stream were dotted with guerrillas who casually built campfires and played portable radios.

Most of the supply boats are long dugout canoes, some powered by new outboard motors, others poled up and down the river by hand.

The Contras also have a few larger launches, and some supplies move on the backs of men and mules.

The supply channel begins at a clandestine dirt airstrip on a low bluff overlooking the Coco River.

Regular air drops of rice, beans, corn, arms and ammunition are delivered by low-flying cargo planes, some piloted by Americans working on contract.

From the airstrip, the trip to the interior of Nicaragua can take up to 30 days on foot. Air resupply drops are also made regularly to more remote rebel units inside Nicaragua.

Renato says he controls 700 rebel fighters, some providing security along the river and others engaged in the supply effort. The men interviewed used only their war names to protect from reprisals to family members still in Nicaragua.

The Contras claim to have infiltrated 11,000 men into Nicaragua from Honduras along the Bocav in the past five months.

"We own the river," says Panchito, 28, who was assigned to guide the reporters, as he draws a crude map of Nicaragua in soft dirt with a stick.

"We're here, see," says Panchito, jabbing his stick into the ground to indicate a spot near the mouth of the Bocav. "We control everything south of here for about 35 or 40 kilometers (22 to 25 miles)."

Moving his stick, he indicates a broad swath of northern Nicaragua and a vast tract of jungle in eastern Nicaragua that extends south to the Costa Rican border.

"We control all of this, too," Panchito says, "except for this narrow strip here."

The strip he outlined is about 20 miles wide and runs the length of Nicaragua's Atlantic coast.

The Sandinistas vigorously deny the Contras' claim of control over such a large region. The claims cannot be independently verified because of tight travel restrictions in Nicaragua.

But on this stretch of the Bocav, at least, the rebels seem to face no immediate threat.

The last major fighting in the area was in March 1986, when 3,000 Sandinistas swept the Contras away from the river and attempted to overrun the main rebel camps in southern Honduras.

That attack was pushed back in several days of hard fighting that was marked by the first use of U.S. helicopters and crews to ferry Honduran troops to the battle zone.

Although Honduran commanders claimed their efforts were responsible for the Sandinista retreat, the Contras say they did virtually all of the fighting.

Commandante Coca Cola, who operates under Renato in a guerrilla army that designates no other ranks, said the Sandinistas are afraid to send their helicopters into the area.

"Now that we have the SAM-7s, they won't risk coming into these mountains with their helicopters, and our patrols spot their men on the ground before they even get close to the river," Coca Cola said, referring to surface-to-air missiles.

Coca Cola is called that because he once drove a soft-drink delivery truck in Managua.

Contras claim to have shot down five Sandinista helicopters so far this year, but have offered no proof. The Sandinistas deny having lost any of their fleet of more than 30 Soviet-built assault and supply helicopters in enemy action.

The reporters saw no SAM-7s in visits to three small Contra camps along the river, but Renato and Coca Cola said a number of larger camps each have two of the missiles.

Nearly all of the 100 rebel fighters seen by the reporters wore new, U.S.-made jungle boots, camouflage fatigues, backpacks and webbed belts with cartridge pouches.

They carried Soviet bloc AK-47 and Belgian FAL assault rifles, Israeli Uzi submachine guns, American

See JUNGLE, Page 14

Group seeks donations of food from students

By The Collegian Staff

As the end of the semester approaches, students and faculty may wonder what to do with leftover food too bulky to pack up and take home.

The Flint Hills Breadbasket, 901 Yuma St., is asking for donations of food that might otherwise end up in the garbage.

Manhattan and the surrounding area have hundreds of low-income families who will need food assistance this summer, said Atina Hanna, executive director of the Breadbasket.

"It's a real resource that doesn't cost anybody anything," Hanna said. "Last year we received 300-400 pounds of food in the two weeks before school let out for the summer."

Frozen meats and vegetables, canned and non-perishable goods are food items that may be too bulky and cumbersome to pack, Hanna said.

The Breadbasket distributes donated food among several area agencies and charitable organizations serving the community's neediest families.

Hanna said the task force for food solicitation at the Breadbasket is using a new slogan — SOS: Salvage Our Surplus — in its effort to minimize hunger at the local level.

Food donations can be brought to the Breadbasket between 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. on weekdays. If donations cannot be dropped off at these times, call 537-0730 and the staff will make arrangements.

COUNTRY GIFT SHOP

Bears • Dolls • Folk Art • Home Decor
"East of Holidome"
Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30 539-3854
2206 Ft. Riley Blvd. Manhattan, KS. 66502

Maidenform® available in sizes:

- A-32,34,36
- B-32,34,36,38
- C-32,34,36,38
- D-32,34,36

UNDERCOVER

1224 Moro
Aggieville
Mon.-Fri. 10-5:30
Sat. 10-5
Sun. 1-5
Open late Thurs. til 8
Undercover Understands Underwear

Buried by more than just books? Laundry Land will do your laundry for you!

- Same day service on laundry
- Next day service on dry cleaning

Laundry Land

2048 Tuttle Creek

7:30 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon.-Fri.
8 a.m.-7 p.m. Saturday
8 a.m.-9 p.m. Sunday

HARDEES in Aggieville DELIVERY SERVICE 537-2526

"Food for Thought"

Mon.-Thurs. 5 p.m.-1 a.m.
Friday 5 p.m.-3 a.m.

Saturday 9 a.m.-3 a.m.
Sunday 9 a.m.-1 a.m.

Godfather's Pizza™ Coupon Specials

Use these coupons and invite the gang over for a Giant 16" special pizza loaded with toppings. Or, treat yourself to a delicious Hot Slice™. You'll love the taste and the savings! But hurry, offer ends soon!

1118 Laramie / 539-5303

Early Week Special

$10.99/$8.99 plus tax
LARGE MEDIUM
COMBO PIZZA

or up to 4 toppings
Original Crust
Plus FREE 20 oz. drinks!
4 drinks with large
3 drinks with medium

Offer good Monday through Wednesday only.
Dine-in, carryout or delivery (no added delivery charge). Not valid with Tapper or other promotional offers. Limited delivery area.
Expires 5-20-87
Offer good in Manhattan only

GODFATHER'S
PIZZA

Anytime Special

Pizza & Pop plus tax
for $14.99!

Get TWO Giant 16" special pizzas (The Super Pepperoni or The Four Topper) and FOUR 20 oz. soft drinks for just $14.99!

Dine-in, carryout or delivery
On Sunday, choose either this coupon special or take advantage of our free drink offer. Sorry, can't do both. Not valid with Tapper or other promotional offers. Limited delivery area.
Expires 5-22-87
Offer good in Manhattan only

GODFATHER'S
PIZZA

Luncheon Special

Hot Slice™ 2 for $2
with this coupon

Mon.-Fri. 11:30-1:30
Dine-in or Carryout Only
Not valid with other promotional offers.
One coupon per person per visit
Expires 5-22-87
Offer good in Manhattan only

GODFATHER'S
PIZZA

Weekend Special

Any Large, 2-Topping Original Pizza Plus 3 / 20 oz. Soft Drinks For Only $10! plus tax

Friday, Saturday or Sunday Only.
Dine-in, carryout or delivery

On Sunday, choose either this coupon special or take advantage of our free drink offer. Sorry, can't do both. Not valid with Tapper or other promotional offers. Limited delivery area.
Expires 5-17-87
Offer good in Manhattan only

GODFATHER'S
PIZZA

Anytime Special

Buy any LARGE pizza for the price of a MEDIUM

Dine-in, carryout or delivery
On Sunday, choose either this coupon special or take advantage of our free drink offer. Sorry, can't do both. Not valid with Tapper or other promotional offers. Limited delivery area.
Expires 5-22-87
Offer good in Manhattan only

GODFATHER'S
PIZZA

Bill may limit personal injury awards

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — In an effort to hold down the spiraling cost of liability insurance, the Kansas House passed and sent the governor a bill Sunday that would limit pain-and-suffering awards to $250,000 in most personal injury lawsuits.

Lawmakers voted 79-46 to accept a compromise version of the bill, which had passed both chambers of the Legislature earlier in the session. It applies to all personal injury lawsuits except medical malpractice actions.

Before sending the measure to Gov. Mike Hayden, however, the chamber rejected an attempt to return the bill to the conference committee to include a provision the original House version contained making an exception to the $250,000 award limit.

That provision would have increased the award limit beyond $250,000 by whatever amount a victim's lost wages and other economic damages exceed $250,000.

The Senate version eliminated that exception and also stripped out House-passed language, included in the final compromise measure, that exempts noneconomic losses for disability and disfigurement from the award limit.

Although supporters claimed the bill is needed to hold down liability insurance costs, opponents said there is no evidence to show pain and suffering awards in Kansas are excessive.

In other action, the House passed and sent Hayden the state's "community right-to-know act" that establishes a framework for reporting the types of hazardous chemicals in the possession of any business with a workforce of more than 10 employees.

Rep. Tom Walker, R-Newton, who promoted the compromise version of hazardous waste bill on the House floor, said the bill has an estimated pricetag of $538,000 and is intended to bring Kansas into compliance with a federal mandate.

Walker said the bill requires businesses to report quantities of some 402 chemicals they may possess to a local emergency planning committee, which would be set up by the state Division of Emergency Preparedness.

The committees will distribute information they collect to local public safety agencies and to members of the public, Walker said. Most provisions in the legislation will go into effect by mid-1988.

Several other issues stood unresolved and played a role in delaying adjournment Sunday night. Despite two attempts, lawmakers still were unable to strike a deal on a pension plan improvement for the state's 35,000 employees.

Lawmakers still are trying to find a compromise the House will accept on a bill which increases benefits for members of the Kansas Public Employees Retirement System by 2 percent overall. However, the Legislature may adjourn and not do anything to the pension plan.

Friends help custodian waiting for new heart

By The Collegian Staff

Friends and co-workers of Christopher Hill, a University custodial worker, collected $137.77 Saturday to help Hill's family with some everyday expenses.

Hill, 29, is awaiting a heart transplant at Stormont-Vail Hospital in Topeka.

Robert Redman, custodial worker, is heading a group on campus raising funds to help Hill's wife, Barbara, and their three children: Christopher, 3; Chrischella, 5; and Chrischana, 6. The family resides in Junction City.

The fund-raising group placed stations at two local discount stores Saturday and asked for donations. Rain brought their efforts to an end around 2 p.m., said Charlene Redman, library assistant.

Hill has been a patient at Stormont-Vail for about four months after suffering cardiac arrest last Thanksgiving.

Two weeks ago Hill was upgraded to the number one status of priority for a heart transplant.

Charlene Redman said donations will be taken through the end of the week. The family is having trouble now just buying food and clothing, she said. Renee Wurmlinger, custodial supervisor, said both cash donations and canned food donations are needed for the family.

All donations can be given to Bob or Charlene Redman on campus. Both can be reached at campus phone numbers listed in the campus directory or at their home number after 3 p.m.

Texas, Kansas lead expertise on Longhorns

By ERIN MULCAHY
Collegian Reporter

The Texas longhorn became the foundation of the American cattle industry a little over 500 years ago and is still the breed of choice for some beef ranchers.

"The Texas longhorn is truly an American breed," said Jerry Gillespie, head of the Department of Surgery and Medicine in the College of Veterinary Medicine. The Texas longhorn is the only cattle to adapt to the environment without man's assistance, he said.

Gillespie's interest in the longhorn was influenced by his father, who raised the unusual breed of cattle in Nebraska. Since 1960, he and his wife, Martha, have spent time breeding the Texas longhorn. Gillespie said actually his wife is the expert.

"I married a city girl, and now she's a first-rate cowhand," he said.

The Texas longhorn has many desirable characteristics that rate above any type of domestic or European cattle, Gillespie said.

"It has strong mothering instincts," he said.

Gillespie said he has never observed any longhorn dying or needing assistance while calving. Also, the longhorn's high fertility is an important economic trait in the beef industry today.

Another desirable characteristic of the longhorn is its genetic resistance to diseases and parasites. This breed of cattle has no problem with shipping fever and other common diseases that most cattle come into contact with, he said. The Texas longhorn's resistance could reduce losses in cattle number and cut costs in producing beef.

The comeback of the Texas longhorn is due to its adaptability to the environment, and people like them, he said.

"People like the cattle because they're pretty and they behave entirely different than other cattle," Gillespie said.

Gillespie said the Texas longhorn has the least amount of scientific data recorded about them.

"All the information received on the longhorn is observational," he said.

One economic advantage of the Texas longhorn is it produces high-quality beef, Gillespie said.

"No hot-trimming is required, which means less contamination," Gillespie said. "(The longhorn) also produces a larger rib-eye area found in the premium cuts."

The quality, flavor and tenderness of the Texas longhorn meat has restaurant owners wanting to add longhorn beef to their menu selection in the future, Gillespie said. The demand for the longhorn is greater than what livestock can supply.

"The Texas longhorn is becoming a bigger thing, and the livestock needs to pay attention to its quality," he said.

Next to Texas, Kansas is the most influential and up-to-date state in Texas longhorn status, Gillespie said. The president of the Texas Longhorn Breeders Association of America is from Kansas, and three Kansans serve on the board of directors. Gillespie said there is a certain prejudice and ignorance about this breed of cattle.

"There are very few objective studies on the longhorn. What people know is what they see in old Western movies and on television scenes," he said.

The cattle are profitable and require less care, Gillespie said.

"The Texas longhorn may not be an answer for every rancher, but it is for us," he said.

RESOURCE PLANNING, COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT, CITY PLANNING, HISTORIC PRESERVATION, URBAN DESIGN, ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT, THIRD WORLD PLANNING

Interested in a career in these exciting fields? Pursue them through graduate studies in Regional and Community Planning at Kansas State University.

CONTACT:

Department of Regional and Community Planning
Seaton Hall Room 302
532-5958

All Seasons MOTEL

1501 TUTTLE CREEK BLVD.
MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66502
(913) 539-5391

Spring Student Special

Peace and quiet to study or just get away

$13 Single $18 Double

Day Rate 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.—$10

(Offer good Sunday-Thursday, May 10-14, 1987)

Student I.D. Required

Call for reservations 539-5391

Get a closer look at the FACTS:

Poll reveals bookstore pays best text buy-back prices

By KIM GREENWOOD
Collegian Reporter

K-State Union Bookstore pays more for used textbooks than the University of Kansas, Wichita State University and Fort Hays State University.

These are the results after polling Steve Jewett, textbook coordinator of KU; Jack Gillette, textbook supervisor of WSU; and Steve Gonzales, bookstore manager of Fort Hays State campus bookstores. The bookstores were asked when professors have to turn in their book orders to the bookstore; when the bookstore turns in the book orders to the publishers; how much the bookstore marks up new books; how much they buy back used books for, and how much they sell used books for.

The four bookstores vary in the amount they pay for used books.

Fort Hays State pays 50 percent of what the student bought the book for, whether the book was new or used when the student bought it, Gonzales said.

KU and WSU pay 50 percent of the current new book price, even if the book was bought used.

K-State pays 60 percent of the publisher's list price (new book price) for books that professors will use again, said Jerry Fields, book department manager of K-State Union Bookstore.

Professors in all four universities are supposed to turn in their book orders to the bookstore in April for the fall semester and in October for the spring semester. Each bookstore gives the professors specific deadlines each semester. These dates give the publishers' representatives time to introduce new textbooks to the professors and allows the bookstores time to contact vendors to buy as many used textbooks as possible.

The bookstores turn in their book orders to the publishers in June for the fall semester and in November for the spring semester. When teachers turn in book orders late, change their order, or if the books are not available, students have a delay in getting their books at the semester start.

All four bookstores mark up new books 20 percent to 25 percent of wholesale. The increase is to pay for overhead and freight expenses.

The four bookstores do not buy back books the professors will not use again. Vendors buy these books to sell to other schools which will continue to use the book. The prices paid to the students for these books are determined by the vendor in accordance with the amount of books he has in inventory and the demand he or she foresees for the book.

KU, WSU and K-State, charge 75 percent of new book price for used books when selling them to the students. The mark-up varies from book to book at Fort Hays State

reported by the Collegian
tuesday, nov. 4, 1986

K-State Union Buy Back

May 4th-15th

Monday-Friday 8:30-4:30

Saturday May 9th 10:30am-3:30pm

K-State Union Bookstore pays more for used textbooks than the University of Kansas, Wichita State University and Fort Hays State University.

k-state union
bookstore

0301

Lower rate now on used car/truck loans

~~12%~~ APR
36 months
maximum length

10.8% APR
48 months
maximum length

Finance your next used car or truck, model year 1986-1981, and receive this lower rate. We've also expanded the maximum contract length to 48 months to make monthly payments fit your budget. Contact a loan officer today at the Credit Union.

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
FEDERAL CREDIT UNION

A service for faculty, staff and qualified graduate assistants

Anderson Hall, Room 24A
Open 9 a.m.-4 p.m.
Monday through Friday
532-6274

Student whittles ducks from wood

Activity is relaxing, profitable

By JUDD ANNIS
Collegian Reporter

After making precise measurements, the more than 80 hours of careful carving, tedious chiseling and wood burning begins as a simple block of wood is slowly transformed, feather by feather, into the graceful form of a duck.

Brett Houdyshell, senior in fisheries and wildlife biology, began his hobby of duck carving three years ago when he purchased a pre-cut duck carving kit. After completing two kits, Houdyshell attempted his first carving from scratch.

That carving was responsible for his first-place finish in the three-dimensional art competition at the University of Michigan. The duck, a wooden re-creation of a Canvasback duck, won out of 25 entries.

"That was the first competition I'd sent something to," Houdyshell said.

To begin a carving, Houdyshell starts with a piece of bass wood, known for its texture and manageability. Bass wood is derived from the Linden tree, which mainly grows in northern United States.

"I buy it from a cabinet maker in Salina," Houdyshell said. "He special orders it because he deals with a lot more hard wood and this stuff is pretty soft."

Houdyshell finds this particular wood easiest to carve, although each bird still takes him about 80 hours to complete.

Once the wood is purchased, Houdyshell uses a band saw to make the initial cuts.

"When I start them out, I just cut them to length, and then cut the basic silhouette out," Houdyshell said. "Then I start shaping the bird with little chisels."

Houdyshell said he uses several books on dimensions of specific bird species to calculate the actual size of a duck he is interested in carving.

"I have to then look at the shape of it and make my patterns," Houdyshell said. "As I get closer to the shape I want, I start laying out the back feathers with a pencil so I can start cutting them down."

To get the desired look from each

Staff/Rob Squires

Brett Houdyshell, senior in fisheries and wildlife biology, carves ducks from blocks of bass wood. Houdyshell won first place in a competition at the carving, Houdyshell uses several tools including a set of palm chisels and a wood burning pen. Palm chisels are small chisels made for woodcarving.

"Each one of those lines is burned in so that each is just a single stroke. I just have to do one feather at a time," Houdyshell said. "I cut each individual feather like the ones that are going to stand out and the tail."

Houdyshell said putting in the amount of hours needed for each carving takes patience and a steady hand.

"I mess up every now and then," Houdyshell said. "Then I'll have to pull out the sand paper, sand it down, and try again."

Added features for each duck include glass eyes, carved and polished beak and feet, if the duck is standing.

"The eyes are the same kind of eyes they use in taxidermy. I just cut the hole and set them in there with a little bit of plastic wood," Houdyshell said.

"On the bill, I do all my cutting and details underneath and on top, drill out the nostrils and carve them in, and then stain the wood and put on a decoupage finish to give it a gloss," he said.

'I can work on it for two or three hours at a time, and it just seems to fly by.'

— Brett Houdyshell

The feet are a part Houdyshell admits he hasn't figured out how to carve yet, so he orders metal feet for each bird to keep his carving authentic-looking and properly balanced.

Houdyshell said he is still perfecting many of his techniques although he does find valuable information and instruction from books on the subject.

University of Michigan and he will display his work at the Smokey Hill River Festival in Salina this summer.

In the coming year, Houdyshell said he plans to devote more time to his carving and to improving the quality of his work.

"I'm doing a loon right now for a lady, and I've got a songbird ordered but haven't started on it yet," Houdyshell said. "I get started on one of these and it takes a lot of time, especially with school and everything, although I'm going to try to put a little bit more time into it now."

Houdyshell would like to try carving a full-wing spread of a duck and to try to give his ducks more action.

"When I was starting out, they were sitting still, so I'm trying to get some pictures of them where they're moving and try to bend them around and convert them over to the actual species size," Houdyshell said.

Houdyshell's work will also be featured at this year's Smokey Hill River Festival in Salina June 12-14.

The festival is an annual arts and crafts show.

"I was invited there to show my work and to demonstrate carving and burning," he said.

Houdyshell prices his ducks by their size, detail and the amount of time involved with each one. A green-winged teal that he is finishing for the festival will carry a $500 price tag, while smaller carvings run about $100.

"If you figured it out, (the pay) wouldn't add up to a lot an hour, but it's mainly to burn up my time and relax," Houdyshell said.

"I kind of do it just to unwind because it's a good way to burn up some time after a test or something," he said.

Houdyshell said he likes to be able to pull out his work and carve for short periods of time during the day.

"I can work on it for two or three hours at a time, and it just seems to fly by," he said.

Minister takes on PTL lead

By The Associated Press

OLATHE — Chuck Millhuff, the first of several temporary hosts of the "PTL Club" television show, was cautious about accepting the position because of the controversy circling the ministry, his pastor in Olathe said Sunday.

Millhuff, 49, of Olathe, an ordained elder of the Church of the Nazarene, agreed Saturday to host the show, formerly run by Evangelist Jim Bakker. Bakker turned control of the "Praise The Lord" mission over to the Rev. Jerry Falwell in March after admitting to a sexual relationship in 1980 with a secretary.

"He was very cautious and very reluctant to accept the invitation because of the obvious clouds that circle that ministry," said the Rev. Paul G. Cunningham, pastor of College Church of the Nazarene where Millhuff is a member. "But he has complete confidence in Jerry Falwell and his integrity."

The Rev. Richard Dortch stepped in to substitute for Bakker on the show before resigning Tuesday. Falwell filled in on the program for the remainder of the week.

Millhuff will host the show for one week beginning Monday. Mark DeMoss, administrative assistant to Falwell, said Millhuff also was a candidate for the full-time position.

"At the end of this week, he (Millhuff) and Dr. Falwell, they'll have a conference and review what has happened this week and decide then whether he'll go on or not," said Jeanne Millhuff, his wife. "He was not committing himself to more than one week of it."

Cunningham said he shared with Millhuff his own concerns about the PTL ministry.

"Everybody is going to be looking under every blade of grass. The one confidence that I have in him is that there's nothing to find," he said.

MAY REC REPORT

LITTLE APPLE TRIATHLON

September 12, 1987

Entry blanks will be available on Wednesday, May 6!

OUTDOOR RENTAL CENTER

Available Equipment:
Canoes, backpacks, tents, sleeping bags, bicycle touring gear, cookstoves, lanterns and more!!

Our rates are VERY REASONABLE!
Call 532-6894 during rental hour for more information

Recreational Services

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday
CODES RC - REC COMPLEX P - POOL ORC - OUTDOOR RENTAL CENTER A - AEROBICS AQF - AQUA FITNESS		Phone Numbers Rec Check - 532-6000 IM Hotline - 532-6292 Rec Complex: Equipment/Courts - 532-6951 Outdoor Rental Center - 532-6894 Rec Services - 532-6980	LOCKERS Spring Semester Lockers Expire 5/31. Don't forget to: 1) Renew for summer or 2) Remove your personal belongings
3 RC Noon - 11pm P 1 - 5pm 7 - 10pm ORC 4 - 6pm	4 RC 6am - 11pm P 6 - 7:30am 11:30am-1:30pm 7:30 - 10pm ORC 4 - 6pm A 4:30 - 5:15pm 5:30 - 6:15pm	5 RC 6am - 11pm P 6 - 7:30am 11:30am-1:30pm 7:30 - 10pm ORC 4 - 6pm A 4:30 - 5:15pm 5:30 - 6:15pm AQF 7:30 - 8:15pm	6 RC 6am - 11pm P 6 - 7:30am 11:30am-1:30pm 7:30 - 10pm ORC 4 - 6pm A 4:30 - 5:15pm 5:30 - 6:15pm	7 RC 6am - 11pm P 6 - 7:30am 11:30am-1:30pm 7:30 - 10pm ORC 4 - 6pm A 4:30 - 5:15pm 5:30 - 6:15pm AQF 7:30 - 8:15pm LAST DAY FOR AEROBICS UNTIL JUNE 9
10 RC Noon - 10pm P 1 - 5pm 7 - 9pm ORC 4 - 6pm	11 RC 8am - 10pm P 11:30am-1:30pm 7:30 - 9pm ORC 4:30 - 5:10pm FINALS	12 RC 8am - 10pm P 11:30am-1:30pm 7:30 - 9pm ORC 4:30 - 5:10pm FINALS FINAL INTRAMURAL POINT TOTAL AVAILABLE	13 RC 8am - 10pm P 11:30am-1:30pm 7:30 - 9pm ORC 4:30 - 5:10pm FINALS	14 RC 8am - 6pm P 11:30am-1:30pm ORC 4 - 5:30pm NOTE: Rec Complex closes at 6pm tonight
17 RC 1 - 9pm P 1 - 4pm 7 - 9pm ORC 4 - 6pm	18 RC 11am - 9pm P 11:30am-1:30pm ORC 4:30 - 5:10pm	19 RC 11am - 9pm P 11:30am-1:30pm 7:30-9:30pm ORC 4:30 - 5:10pm	20 RC 11am - 9pm P 11:30am-1:30pm ORC 4:30 - 5:10pm	21 RC 11am - 9pm P 11:30am-1:30pm 7:30-9:30pm ORC 4:30 - 5:10pm
24/31 RC 1 - 9pm P 1 - 4pm 7 - 9pm ORC 4 - 6pm	25 MEMORIAL DAY ALL FACILITIES CLOSED	26 RC 11am - 9pm P 11:30am-1:30pm 7:30-9:30pm ORC 4:30 - 5:10pm JUNE facility use cards go on sale	27 RC 11am - 9pm P 11:30am-1:30pm ORC 4:30 - 5:10pm	28 RC 11am - 9pm P 11:30am-1:30pm 7:30-9:30pm ORC 4:30 - 5:10pm

OFFICE CLOSED NOON - 1 PM THIS WEEK

ACTIVITIES CALENDAR

Friday	Saturday
1 RC 6am - 11pm P 6 - 7:30am 11:30am-1:30pm 7:30 - 10pm ORC 4 - 6pm A 6:30 - 7:15am Noon - 12:45pm LAST DAY FOR EARLY BIRD AND NOON AEROBICS	2 RC 9am - 10pm P 1 - 5pm 7 - 10pm ORC 11am - Noon
8 RC 8am - 10pm P no early bird 11:30am-1:30pm 7:30 - 9pm ORC 4 - 6pm FINALS	9 RC 9am - 10pm P CLOSED FOR 1-70 CLOSING SWIM MEET ORC 11am - Noon FINALS
15 RC 8am - 10pm P 11:30am-1:30pm ORC 4:30 - 5:10pm COMMENCEMENT	16 RC 1 - 8pm P CLOSED ORC 11am - Noon ALL-UNIVERSITY COMMENCEMENT
22 RC 11am - 9pm P 11:30am-1:30pm ORC 4:30 - 5:10pm	23 RC 1 - 8pm P CLOSED ORC 11am - Noon
29 RC 11am - 9pm P 11:30am-1:30pm ORC 4:30 - 5:10pm	30 RC 1 - 8pm P CLOSED ORC 11am - Noon

INTRAMURAL POINT TOTALS will be available on Tuesday, May 12

FINALS STUDY BREAK

Don't forget the Rec or the pool for a refreshing study break!

Rec Services office
532-6980

Rec Complex
(Court Reservation)
532-6951

Outdoor Rental Center
532-6894

Rec Check
532-6000

Intramural Hotline
532-6292

K-State finishes 'productive spring' with win

By The Collegian Staff

K-State's football team took a giant stride toward improving its 2-9 record last season with a 21-0 defeat of the alumni team during the second annual Alumni-Varsity scrimmage Saturday at KSU Stadium.

About the only downpoint of the contest for K-State was the loss of some current players due to minor injuries. These included running backs Tony Jordan and Terry Richards, and starters Eric Harper, Rob Goode and Chad Faulkner.

Still, Coach Stan Parrish said it was a fitting end to a successful spring season.

"We lost seven or eight guys and that's a little disconcerting," Parrish said, "but I think the players played hard and the alumni played a good game."

"We had a lot of new guys and I think they were nervous today, but all in all we had a very productive spring."

One of K-State's "new guys," starting quarterback Gary Swim, was on the field for two of the Wildcats' three scoring drives and completed 10-of-14 passes for 82 yards and no interceptions in his initial start.

The transfer from Snow Junior College in Utah was effective on the short passes, which K-State will probably emphasize most on offense next season. His longest completion was a 16-yard pass to tight end Kent Dean.

"I think (Swim) can make the throws for us," Parrish said. "Physically he has more tools than (Tim) Hanson. He's bigger, he's got the best arm strength of our quarterbacks, and he's got good touch."

Parrish told "I Contributed A Twenty" club members last Wednesday, "If we can't win passing, we'll run the ball more." The 'Cats had 33 rushing attempts compared to 21 passing tries Saturday.

K-State scored in the first quarter on a 11-yard run from Terry Richards. The 'Cats took a 14-0 lead in the second period on an eight-yard scoring toss from Hanson to Kent Dean. The varsity added to their lead after a 99-yard, 13-play scoring drive in the third quarter with Rick Lewis capping the drive on a one-yard run.

Overall, K-State picked up 271 total yards — 162 rushing and 145 passing. Leading rushers in the game were Richards with 49 yards on seven carries and alumni quarterback Stan Weber with 15 yards on seven carries.

Weber also completed seven passes for 85 yards against the 'Cats and drove the alumni to K-State's 19-yard line once in the contest before they were stopped on downs.

"I played pretty good," Weber said. "I was just a quarter-inch from being a lot better on several plays."

The only other scoring threat from the alumni came when Calvin Switzer "scored" on a 70-yard fumble return in the third quarter. But in college ball, fumbles may not be advanced.

The alumni finished with 157 total yards. K-State picked up 21 first downs to the alumni's 11. On the down side, the current 'Cats had six fumbles and lost three.

Seventy-eight players returned to play for the alumni team, and several more came back but did not suit up for the football weekend that included a golf tournament, wives' luncheon, a "conditioning party," autograph session and postgame party and prime rib buffet.

Honorary alumni coach was Veryl Switzer (1953).

"The team played strong," Switzer said. "I thought we utilized our experience to offset the youth and organization of the varsity. We played with enthusiasm, interest, plus we had fun."

Offensive coaches were Paul Coffman (1977) and Dan Manucci (1979). Defensive coaches were Gary Spani (1978) and former strength and conditioning coach Russ Riederer (1979).

The game was run exactly like a regulation contest — four 15-minute quarters with a 20-minute halftime. Will Cokely — under contract with Montreal in the Canadian Football League — led the alumni's defensive corps with six tackles.

Making a guest appearance for the alumni was University President Jon Wefald. He took two snaps to open the third quarter, attempted two passes and completed a throw to tight end Randall Godinet for a first down.

	Varsity	Alumni
First Downs	21	11
Rushes-Yards	33-162	25-73
Passing Yards	145	120
Total Yards	271	157
Return Yards	0	0
Passes	15-21-0	11-30-1
Punts	3-40.3	6-57
Fumbles-Lost	6-3	1-1
Penalties-Yards	4-44	6-57

INDIVIDUAL STATISTICS

RUSHING — Varsity: Jordan 5-30, Richards 7-49, Lewis 5-38, Pickett 7-27, Williams 1-12, Hurd 1-2, Dillon 3-4, Hanson 1-(-6), Swim 3-(-23). Alumni: Weber 7-47, Meyers 3-10, James 3-9, Strahm 1-1, Taluao 3-4, Morris 2-0, Elder 6-2.

PASSING — Varsity: Swim 10-14-82-0, Hanson 4-4-52-0, Straw 1-2-11-0, Cobb 0-1-0-0. Alumni: Weber 7-22-81-1, Elder 4-7-35-0, Pickard 0-1-0-0.

RECEIVING — Varsity: Dean 3-40, Wyatt 3-40, Richard 2-22, Jordan 2-8, Lewis 2-6, Gray 1-11, Tolbert 1-11, Pickett 1-7. Alumni: Warren 2-29, Long 2-20, Pickard 2-19, Darland 1-24, Whitley 1-13, Elder 1-6, Meyers 1-5, Taluao 1-4.

TOP TACKLERS — Varsity: Miller 5, Oehm 4, Snyder 4, Higgins 4, Wallace 4. Alumni: Cokely 6, Horchem 5, Voelker 4, Koenig 4, Schugter 4.

Staff/Andy Nelson

Varsity defenders haul down alumni running back Masi Tolua (9) as he tries to return a punt during the second quarter of the K-State

Varsity - Alumni game Saturday in KSU Stadium. The varsity squad won the contest 21-0.

Alumni coaches praise '87 Wildcats

By JEFF RAPP
Sports Writer

Similar to the spirited bunch of New York Giants who won last year's Super Bowl, the K-State alumni squad dumped a cooler of ice water on honorary coach Gary Spani near the end of its 21-0 loss to K-State's varsity football team Saturday in KSU Stadium.

That practical joke could have provided Spani with a humorous distraction from some serious unanswered questions in his life.

Among those questions are whether he will successfully recover from back surgery to continue his professional football career with the Kansas City Chiefs next season.

Spani, who collected numerous honors while starring as a linebacker for the Wildcats from 1974-77, is unsure of the future.

His primary goal is to make it to training camp in July.

"(As far as training camp goes), I'll probably make that decision in July. That will give me two more months of training. (My back) is coming along well, but I haven't been able to do a lot of things and if I can't do them in July, then I'll have to make that decision then," Spani said.

Spani said even though he has led a fairly sedentary lifestyle because of the back surgery, he is very anxious to make a comeback.

"I surely want to come back and play. I mean, my desire is to play, but that decision will have to come later," he said.

As far as his future is concerned in the Chiefs' organization and in pro football, Spani is leaving that up to fate.

"I think the decision of whether or not to play this year will be made in July and the decision of whether or not I'll continue to play if I can't this season will be made in two or three months. It just all depends on my back," he said.

Aside from his health problems, Spani was able to draw a few parallels between new Chiefs' head coach Frank Gansz and second-year K-State head coach Stan Parrish.

"I probably don't know Stan as well as I know (Gansz), but the biggest similarities I see between them are they're honest with their players and honest with themselves. They see reality and know what kind of players they have and they're honest with those players. That's real important," he said.

Spani said there has been a change in K-State's football program since the arrival of Parrish and his staff.

"I think the biggest change is (Parrish's) ability to change the attitude of the players. That's a long, drawn-out process, but I think (Parrish) knows it is and he knows what he has to face up to."

"He also knows it takes players to make a great team and he's bringing in junior college transfers and that's a smart way to go," Spani said.

Tight end Paul Coffman, another Chief and K-State alumnus, said the football tide at K-State should take a positive turn with the administrative and structural support it has gained.

"Well, up here at K-State, I have helped recruit a little bit recently and met the new president (Jon Wefald), and he seems like he's really behind the program."

"Once you get the president of the university behind the program and a new head coach, I think it's going to generate enthusiasm in the players as well as the fans and alumni. Everybody's looking for a good year from K-State," Coffman said.

Staff/Andy Nelson

Running back Terry Richards (18) beats alumni defensive back Barton Hundley (1) to score the Wildcats' first touchdown. Richards led the varsity with 49 yards on seven carries.

Assistant track coach emphasizes academics to help athlete's future

By KIM GREER
Collegian Reporter

As far as K-State assistant track coach Darryl Anderson is concerned, student athletes should give academics equal or greater importance in their lives.

"When recruiting athletes, I ask them what they are going to do the longest — think or run," Anderson said.

He said he would like to see the athletes he coaches become well-rounded individuals with the ability to handle the stress of being a student as well.

"One of the important things to me as a coach is stressing the importance of academics and making athletes aware that after athletics are over, you have to be ready to do something else," Anderson said. "The student part is more important than the athlete part."

Anderson has had first-hand experience with the stress of being both a student and an athlete. He was a sprinter at K-State during the 1982-83 season under former head coach Steve Miller. He then served as student assistant for Miller until 1985, when he moved up to the position of assistant coach.

Assistant Coaches of K-State

During this time, Anderson also made time to earn both a bachelor's degree in social science and a master's degree in personnel administration from K-State.

Anderson coaches the sprint, hurdle and sprint-relay events. He said he has run into no difficulties with coaching that are not "normal" for the job, since he deals with several different personalities. He cited sprinters as an example.

"When you coach sprinters, you're dealing with people with big egos. Most good sprinters do have big egos. It's just the nature of the sport. It's an event where most likely the person with the best natural ability will win," Anderson said.

Anderson's duties as assistant coach require him not only to develop and implement workout schedules, but to help in the recruiting effort.

"Through our (K-State's) recruitment efforts, we're making a bigger impact in the Big Eight and (in the) nation...allowing K-State to become more visible in the sprint areas," Anderson said.

Anderson said K-State is prestigious enough in track and field that he will have no problems finding a job later. He said his goal is to become a head coach wherever the opportunity arises. He said being an assistant coach at K-State is furthering his career and helping him reach his ultimate goal, a head coaching position.

Staff/Steve Wolgast

Sprinters coach Darryl Anderson stresses the importance of academics to athletes. A former sprinter for the Wildcats, Anderson earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees at K-State.

Briefly In Sports

'Cat baseball team splits with ORU

K-State's baseball team split a two-game series with Oral Roberts University Friday and Saturday at Tulsa, Okla.

The Wildcats, 25-23 overall, pounded out a season-high 23 hits and dumped the 26th-ranked Titans, 17-9, in the opener. Zack Kimbell, 5-3, got the win for K-State.

But Oral Roberts, 41-12, squeaked out an 8-7 victory Saturday when Rick Vaughn hit a one-out homer in the bottom of the 11th inning. For K-State starter Mike Hinkle, 4-3, it was the second time this season he had been beaten by a home run in extra innings.

Golf team captures 10th in tourney

The K-State men's golf team placed 10th at the 54-hole Midwestern Intercollegiate Invitational hosted by Northern Illinois Friday and Saturday in DeKalb, Ill.

K-State golfer Jeff Sedorek led the Wildcats with a 224 (72-74-78). Other 'Cat scores were Daran Neuschafer 230 (77-79-74), Todd Fowler 230 (81-77-72), John Shields 237 (80-79-78) and Troy Keller 236 (79-83-74).

Jones sets record at ISU track meet

Freshman Joy Jones led K-State's track teams with a school record 11.3 in the 100-meter dash at the Iowa State Veishea Invitational Saturday in Ames.

Other Wildcats placing first at the meet were Kim Kilpatrick (100-meter hurdles), Betsy Silzer (5,000-meter run), Felicia Carpenter (triple jump), Pinkie Suggs (shot put), Wendy Adkins (javelin), Jan Jonsson (men's 3,000-meter run) and Jacque Struckhoff (women's 3,000-meter run).

Women's Results
Javelin — 1. Wendy Adkins, 138-9; Long Jump — 2. Felicia Carpenter, 16-4; 3. Karen McQuaghey, 18-2; 100-meter hurdles — 1. Kim Kilpatrick, 13.94; 5,000-meter run — 1. Betsy Silzer, 17:12.7; Triple jump — 1. Carpenter, 39-3; 100-meter dash — 1. Joy Jones, 11.3; 2. Anita Isom, 11.6; 3,000-meter run — 1. Jacque Struckhoff, 2. Becky Ives, 3. Marge Eddy (times unknown at press time).

Men's Results
Shot put — 3. Dan O'Mara, 54-4½; 4. Dan Meyers, 53-9½; 5. Ken Nash, 50-10½; Javelin — 3. Doug Brown, 207-8; 1,500-meter run — 2. Pat Hessini, 3:56.4; 400-meter dash — 3. Sean Banks, 46.92; 5. Aaron Roberson, 48.48; 3,000-meter run — 1. Jan Jonsson, 8:41.0; 3. David Keller, 8:46.9; High jump — 2. Kelly Williams, 6-9½.

Bonser signs with Emporia State

Howard Bonser, who quit the K-State men's basketball team in February, signed a letter of intent Saturday with Emporia State University. Bonser was sidelined for most of the 1986-87 campaign with back problems and mononucleosis before his decision to leave the 'Cat squad.

Bonser's arrival at Emporia State will add to K-State's flavor on the Hornets' program. Ex-'Cat Derrick Howse started for Emporia State last season and Coach Ron Slaymaker said Saturday he would sign Ty Walker. Walker, a former K-Stater, is currently enrolled at Garden City Community College.

K-State rowing teams dominate regatta

By CHASE CLARK
Sports Writer

K-State's rowing crews finished the spring season in fine order Saturday at the Heart of America Regatta at Shawnee Mission Park Lake in Kansas City, Kan. The Wildcats won six of the eight races they entered.

"We have completed the regular season in extraordinary fashion," K-State Coach Don Rose said. "It was a great windup for the crew. We've shown our wash four times to archrival Kansas."

The K-State men's varsity-eight crew, after suffering its only loss of the season the previous weekend in the Midwest Regionals, came back strong and defeated an all-star crew from the University of Iowa and the University of Nebraska by 16.2 seconds with a time of 4:13.3 in the 1,400-yard race.

The men's varsity-eight crew placed fourth in the Midwest Regionals even though they had trouble with a broken oarlock.

The spring season may be over for K-State, but the men's varsity-eight crew is still rowing next week on the hope that Rose will decide to send them to the national intercollegiate rowing championships the first week of June in Syracuse, N.Y. There are several factors Rose said he must consider before making a decision.

"If we go or not depends on the number of men that can go during the summer because of summer jobs and other things besides that," Rose said. "It won't be the same crew as it was at Wisconsin. If I think we can't put out a boat at least as fast as that one, then we won't go. I'll be watching the crew's determination this week in practice."

A decision is expected to be announced by Rose sometime later this week.

Special to the Collegian/Dave Kaup/Olathe Daily News

The K-State men's varsity eight tosses coxswain William Bueck into Shawnee Mission Park Lake Saturday after beating an all-star crew from the University of Nebraska and University of Iowa in the Heart of America Regatta.

nounced by Rose sometime later this week.

The women's varsity-eight showed they had some stuff of their own by rowing a 4:54.2, easily defeating Nebraska's 5:55. K-State's other victories came in the men's freshmen-eight, the mixed varsity-eight, men's freshmen-four and the women's freshmen-four.

Nebraska pulled out its lone victory by winning the men's lightweight-four. Former K-State varsity crew member Tim Keechman lost a close race, 5:38.7 to 5:39.7, to a sculler from the Sooner Rowing Club out of Tulsa, Okla. Keechman represented the K.C. Rowing Club.

Rose said he is pleased with the crew's performance this season, and expects more of the same next fall.

"I look for next year to produce faster and tougher crews," Rose said. "I feel that by having a good overall view of the crews...having started it at K-State and watching it for most of its 24 years...I can say that K-State is getting back to where it used to be many years ago. The morale is where it once was and the strength of the crew is very good."

Rose plans to have a summer crew program with practice starting the first day of summer classes. Anyone interested is invited to join.

Will your next Apartment be... a Dump or a Dream?

Make Anderson Place "Your Place" next fall

New, nice and near. Anderson Place. Living room, dining room, two bedrooms, kitchen with dishwasher and disposal, bath and on site laundry. Furnished or unfurnished. Anderson Place. ... just west on Anderson from Denison. ... right next to campus so you can even grab some extra Z's before your first class. Up the street from Aggieville. ... on the way to Westloop. Quality construction with special sound walls. Two buildings only - eighteen units each. So hurry.

Leasing dates: June 1, July 1 or August 1

See us for leasing information now.

Chris Curtin
Realtors

1600 Poyntz • Manhattan, Kansas 66502
Phone (913) 776-1222

GRADUATE with STYLE

Holiday Inn®

Graduation Day Buffet

11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Regency Ballroom

Ideal for groups of 6 or more

Adults $7.95
Senior Citizens $6.95
Children 25¢ per year

FREE Gift For Each
Graduate Accompanied
By Diploma

Cocktails and Wine Available to Burgundys
Members and Reciprocals

Reservations Requested
539-5315

UPC

Monday, May 4, 1987
For more information on any UPC event, call 532-6571

UPC

STAR TREK IV THE VOYAGE HOME

THE FATE OF THE FUTURE LIES HIDDEN IN THE PAST, SOMEWHERE ON EARTH...1986.

They're back so trekkies rejoice! The crew of the U.S.S. Enterprise is together again and off on another thrilling adventure. Earth is in desperate trouble, and it only has one chance - Capt. Kirk must risk his crew by traveling back in time to the late 20th century in hopes of finding a solution to Earth's dilemma. This fantastically funny new episode combines all the elements that have kept the spirit of the Star Trek universe alive for over 20 years.

Friday, May 8 and Saturday, May 9, 7 and 9:30 p.m.
All shows in Forum Hall. $1.75; KSU ID Required;
Rated PG

k-state union
upc feature films

MORON MOVIES

OVER 100 INCREDIBLY STUPID, OUTRAGEOUSLY
FUNNY, UNBELIEVABLY DUMB SHORT FILMS TOGETHER
IN ONE AMAZINGLY MORONIC MOVIE!

HELPFUL HINTS FOR MORONS
JELLO MAKES A LOUSY
DOORSTOP • TIPS FOR MURDERERS • THE DANGER OF WALKING BACKWARD •
BOWLING ETIQUETTE • ANOTHER
USE FOR A BAD PRESIDENT • THE TROUBLE WITH WEARING A BUCKET • GETTING RID OF RAISINS • BEST PLACE TO FIND YOUR COMB • THE ADVANTAGE OF GROWING WARTS • BABY ADVICE • THE PROBLEM WITH EATING IN THE DARK • EXERCISE FOR FAT EARS • SPAGHETTI
MAKES LOUSY BOOKENDS •
WALKING A PET 2 x 4 •

This movie is just the thing to take your mind off finals and relax a bit. Some of the bits have been featured on the "Tonight Show" and "TV's Bloopers and Practical Jokes." They are often offensive and rude but also often hilarious. Not for children or polite adults.

Wed. May 6, 7:30 p.m., Forum Hall $1.75; KSU
ID required; Unrated.

k-state union
upc kaleidoscope

HOW TO BE A MORON
HOW TO KNOW IF YOU'RE DEAD
• HOW TO MAKE ENEMIES •
HOW TO AGGRAVATE • HOW TO KICK YOURSELF • HOW TO KNOW IF YOU'RE UGLY • HOW TO GET THINGS OUT OF YOUR EYE •
HOW TO LIVE LONGER • HOW TO LIVE LONGER • HOW TO SURVIVE A PUBLIC TOILET • HOW TO KNOW IF YOU'RE AN AIRHEAD
• HOW TO BUTT IN LINE • HOW TO KNOW IF YOU'RE OLD • HOW TO SELL DAMN NEAR ANYTHING
(AND MANY MORE...)
WARNING: NOT FOR CHILDREN OR POLITE ADULTS

Legislators pass funding bill

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — House Republicans rebuffed an effort to send the omnibus appropriations bill back to a conference committee to force the addition of more state aid for public education, representing a major step toward adjourning the 1987 legislative session Sunday night.

However, the Senate still had to consider the compromise version of the final funding measure of the session, and an even tougher fight was expected by education advocates in that body to restore a $3.2 million appropriation for state aid to Kansas' 304 local school districts.

If the Senate also adopted the conference committee report on the omnibus bill, the Legislature was expected to adjourn late Sunday night.

On a vote of 60-64, the House defeated a motion by House Assistant Minority Leader Donald Mainey, D-Topeka, to reject the omnibus conference committee report and send budget negotiators back to the bargaining table with the message the House wanted the $3.2 million in state school aid restored.

All 64 votes against Mainey's motion came from Republicans. Nine Republicans joined 51 Democrats in voting for more school aid.

After rejecting Mainey's motion, the House passed the omnibus bill, 68-57, or five votes more than required.

Debate over the school aid issue got heated in the House, with Democrats accusing the Republican leadership of using intimidation tactics to try to scare their colleagues into voting for the omnibus bill as it came out of a conference committee late Saturday night.

"I understand everyone is being threatened with removal of this and removal of that (money they wanted included in the omnibus bill)," said Mainey. "I had 75 votes for my motion last night. I don't any more. I understand why."

Majority Leader Joe Knopp, R-Manhattan, rebutted Mainey's contention that GOP leader had applied pressure, and claimed Democrats had done the same thing to get their members to support a bill to change state payments for nursing homes.

"A lot of us are taking pressure on this school district aid," Knopp told the House. "A reason the money is tight on this is we opted to put more money into special education. So I don't want anybody questioning our support of education."

The GOP leadership opposed putting in the school money in order to maintain as high an ending balance at the end of next fiscal year as possible.

The omnibus bill, a catch-all funding measure which puts money into the state budget to finance programs and projects approved late in the session that were not included in earlier appropriations bills, wound up adding $33.56 million to the $3.86 billion state budget. Of that, $19.11 million comes from the state general fund.

The omnibus should leave the state with a balance of $137.7 million at end of Fiscal Year 1988, state Budget Director Gary Stotts said. Of the total state budget of $3.86 billion, $1.864 billion will come from the general fund.

Agreement on the omnibus bill was achieved Saturday night, following about 10 hours of tedious negotiations by the budget conference committee.

The conference committee finally agreed not to put in an extra $3.2 million the Senate badly wants. However, Senate budget committee chairman Gus Bogina of Lenexa questioned whether the House would accept the compromise package without any more money for local school districts in it.

Chief House budget negotiator Bill Buntin of Topeka steadfastly refused to add any new money for school finance, and the frustrated Senate negotiators finally agreed to the tentative agreement after getting some concessions from the House in other areas.

Here are key elements of the budget compromises worked out by the conference committee:

— No more money for state general school aid, meaning the conference committee accepted the House position. That puts $454.28 million into the school aid distribution formula, which is only $1.73 million more than the districts had appropriated to them this year. The Senate had wanted $3.3 million more to match Gov. Mike Hayden's recommendation.

— $8.5 million was added for expansion of the state prison system by 539 beds. They would be for minimum security inmates, adding 240 beds at renovated facilities at Norton State Hospital, 149 more beds at an existing facility at Winfield State Hospital and Training Center, 60 beds each at Osawatomie State Hospital and Forbes Field at Topeka, and 30 beds at Topeka State Hospital.

— $700,000 was added to the Department of Corrections budget to beef up its mental health and alcohol and drug abuse counseling programs, which is aimed at speeding up the paroling of inmates who must complete such programs before they can be released.

— $2.4 million was included to reduce the number of mental retardation patients in its hospitals — moving 96 patients out of the hospitals and into community-based treatment facilities at a cost of $760,000, and reducing a waiting list as much as possible by spending $1.34 million to place them in community and private facilities.

Report discloses high toxin levels

By The Associated Press

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Selenium levels dangerous to humans and animals have been found in or near wildlife refuges in six Western states, according to a report published Sunday.

The new findings by federal scientists represent the first evidence of selenium outside of California in levels high enough to be a risk to humans who eat too much tainted fish or fowl, the Sacramento Bee said.

The high selenium counts were found in Montana, Utah, Wyoming, along the lower Colorado River between Arizona and Nevada, and at the Salton Sea and the Tulare Lake basin in California, according to the Bee, which said it obtained its information from internal Department of Interior reports.

Government officials plan to check for selenium at 10 other Western wildlife refuges starting this fall.

